SILENCE SHROUDS MEXICAN SITUATION

EIGHT THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS AND WITHOUT FOOD AT PARIS, TEXAS

Loss of Property Placed By Early Estimate at $5,000,000.

No Loss of Life or Serious Injuries Have Been Reported.

Paris, Tex., March 22.—A conservative estimate of the number of people made homeless by last night's fire in the business districts here was 8,000, made early today by Mayor Ed McCuiston. Although the city is without food, there was apparently little suffering, and a good-natured though dazed view was taken of the disaster by a majority of the citizens.

Estimates of the monetary damage done by the fire were placed today at about $5,000,000, although it was impossible to get an accurate accounting of the loss. An unusual fact in connection with the fire was that there was no loss of life, and so far as reported no injuries.

Daybreak showed this city, yesterday a thriving population center of North Texas, a bed of embers, with fires still burning in some sections and with only about one-third of the city untouched by the flames.

Brick walls, blackened by heavy smoke, were being razed with dynamite.

Thousands Homeless.

Thousands of homeless men, women and children were being cared for as

LA FOLLETTE VOTE NOT AS BIG AS EXPECTED

Majority Over Estabrook in North Dakota Proves Disappointing.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—United States Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin apparently has defeated Henry D. Estabrook of New York for choice in yesterday's presidential preference primary, but by a majority greatly less than anticipated by his supporters. From returns from the eastern end of the state reports favored La Follette, and it is anticipated that the grand total will show him in the lead by a considerable margin.

Estabrook is showing remarkable strength in the southwestern districts, and the count shows that the race in that section will be close.

Storm Hampers Returns.

The returns are being slowly received, due to severe snow storms, which are said to have caused an entire abandonment of the election in many sections. Only a small fraction of the precincts, mostly cities, have been received. Both La Follette and Estabrook forces are today claiming the victory.

For president, the Socialists indorsed Arthur Lasoure of Minot without opposition. Gunder Olson has been named national committeeman of the Republicans.

Returns so far available give H. H. Perry the choice over John Bruegger for Democratic national committeeman.

BIG LINERS TO CARRY TROOPS

Capable of Landing 10,000 Soldiers Every Three Weeks.

New York, March 22.—The White Star liners Baltic and Cedric, which are in port here, and the Adriatic, which will arrive next week, will carry Canadian troops from Halifax on their next trip to England. It was reported that these three ships, carrying 2,500 Canadians apiece, would start from Halifax together, under a convoy of torpedo boat destroyers.

The White Star line announced late in February that no passengers would be carried to England on any of its ships in March, and possibly not in April. It was explained that the demand for speedy shipment of munitions was so great that it was necessary to avoid the delay incident to passenger travel. The Lapland, however, instead of trying to make its best time on the trip across, stopped at Halifax two days.

Of Great Capacity.

These four ships are capable of landing in England about 10,000 sol-

RETURNS ARE INCOMPLETE

Primary Election Figures Missing Yet From Three Counties.

Stevens' Lead Over Larson Is Reduced By Latest Returns.

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lead of Former Congressman F. C. Stevens for fourth place in the Republican delegate-at-large contest was slightly reduced by returns received today at the capitol. With three counties missing he now has a total vote of 24,625, against 24,146 for O. J. Larson of Duluth, his nearest competitor.

Showing the closeness of the vote for the last place, James Manahan has 24,018 votes to his credit to date. The missing counties are Koochiching, Aitkin and Beltrami.

Z. H. Austin of Minneapolis is regarded as the winner of fourth in the Democratic delegateship contest. The count today was: Austin, 24,008; W. A. Just, 23,374; A. C. Weiss, 22,961. The three missing counties are not expected to make any material change in the Democratic situation.

Rumors as to Delay.

Rumors have been current about the capital for the last two days that the delay on the part of some of the counties was in the interest of candidates whose vote did not come up to expectation.

Today it was admitted that the discrepancy between telephone returns and the official returns might lead to the belief that something was wrong, still there were no reports in the office of the secretary of state to show that things were not correct as returned.

Which Is Correct?

In Hubbard county telephone returns gave O. J. Larson of Duluth 137 votes, but the report of the canvassing board only credited him with 37 votes. There is still doubt as to which figure is correct. Cook county, the most distant district in the state, reported two days ago. St. Louis county, another district where the returns are difficult to collect, was also on time. Officials are unable to explain the delay of Koochiching and the other two counties.

BATTLESHIP SAILS AWAY IN A HURRY

Kentucky Leaves Galveston Under Sealed Orders Without Coaling.

Galveston, Tex., March 22.—The United States battleship Kentucky, which arrived here yesterday morning and put to sea under sealed orders late yesterday afternoon sailed before it was possible to make deliveries of coal and supplies which had been ordered. There are persistent rumors that the Kentucky was sent to Tampico, but no confirmation of these reports was had today.

Four Killed in Train Wreck.

Quebec, March 22.—Four men were killed and a number injured in a collision between two freight trains at midnight at Val Brilliant, on the Intercolonial railway. The victims were railroad employes.

CZERNOWITZ IS ABANDONED BY AUSTRIANS

Rome Dispatch Says Capital of Bukowina Left to Russians.

No Further Infantry Attacks Made on the Verdun Front.

Berlin Declares Russians Are Making No Gains in East.

London, March 22.—Abandonment of Czernowitz, capital of Bukowina, by the Austrians, is reported in an official wireless dispatch received here today from Rome.

No Infantry Attacks.

Paris, March 22, noon.—No infantry attacks were made on the Verdun front last night, the war office announced this afternoon. The Germans bombarded Malancourt heavily and there were artillery exchange of less intensity east of the Meuse.

The statement follows:

"West of the Meuse the artillery duel was very lively in the region of Malancourt, Esnes and Hill 304. A particularly violent fire was directed against Haucourt hill.

"East of the Meuse the bombardment was intense in the region of Vaux and Damloup.

"There was no infantry actions. The night was calm on the remainder of the front."

No Gain By Russians.

Berlin, March 22, via London, 4:10 p. m.—The Russians have gained no success in their great extended offensive against the German lines, the war office announced today.

Wholesalers Pick Fargo.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—At the annual meeting of the North Dakota Wholesale Grocers' association Fargo was selected as the next meeting place, and the following officers were elected: President, H. J. Duemeland, Bismarck; vice president, A. C. Crowl, Fargo; secretary and treasurer, C. O. Hagen, Grand Forks. The jobbers declared themselves well pleased with business conditions.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Senator Sherman introduced a resolution authorizing the president to call for 50,000 volunteers for Mexican service.

Senator Chamberlain called up bill to increase West Point cadets.

Hearings were held on railway mail pay, Porto Rican labor conditions and bill to exclude convict labor products from interstate commerce.

HOUSE.

VIOLENT STORM RAGES IN THE MIDDLE WEST

Minn Historical Society D H

FIERCE GALE IN CHICAGO

Traffic Delayed, Windows Broken and Shade Trees Uprooted in City.

Rain, Sleet, Hail and Snow With Lightning in Many Places.

Chicago, March 22.—Northeast gales bearing with them rain, sleet, hail and snow accompanied by frequent lightning flashes swept over Eastern Indiana, Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin today. The storm which was of unusual violence, caused many injuries and great property damage.

Several Illinois cities, among them Kankakee and Beaversville, suffered severely, while Chicago sustained all the ill-effects of a blizzard.

Not for twenty years had the waters of Lake Michigan piled so high against the Chicago breakwater as today. Wave after wave driven by the northeast gale surged into the harbor and against the piers.

Traffic Delayed.

Railroad transportation was delayed, street cars were held up; windows were broken and shade trees uprooted in various sections of the city.

Seven steamships operating from this port rode safely through the storm according to wireless reports received from their captains today.

The Lake Michigan passenger line's association issued this statement: "The Alabama and the Indiana arrived safely in Chicago; the Nevada in Milwaukee, and the Arizona in Manitowoc. The Missouri is safe in Chicago, the Illinois in Milwaukee and the Puritan in Holland, Mich. Service on all lines is continuing without interruption."

The sleet storms of last night today changed to heavy fall of snow, which, accompanied by a northeast wind estimated at forty miles an hour, caused serious trouble for street cars and steam roads, crippled wire communication within the city and seriously impaired telegraphic communication with other points.

CANNOT SAY MASSES "FOR EVER AND EVER;" DECLINE BEQUEST.

La Crosse, Wis., March 22.—On the ground that it was impossible for them to accept the condition that they say masses for her "for ever and ever," Rev. Joseph Riesterer of La Crosse and Rev. H. F. Flock of Sparta today notified the county judge that they could not accept bequests of the late Helen Brieske. Mrs. Brieske, a well-to-do German woman, after caring for relatives, left the rest of her property to the two priests on the condition mentioned. The clergymen informed the court that the condition was beyond them and that they would not take the money.

HEAVY LOSS BY LIGHTNING

Sixty Head of Blooded Cattle Burn When Barn Is Struck.

Milwaukee Visited By the Heaviest Snow Storm of Season.

Freeport, Ill., March 22.—Sixty head of blooded Holstein cattle, valued at $50,000, were burned at Winslow, near here, when the barn in which they were housed was struck by lightning during the storm last night. They were owned by Fred K. Karlen.

Heavy Snow in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 22.—The heaviest snow storm of the season prevailed in Milwaukee since midnight, and this morning the ground is covered to a depth of about a foot. Sev-

SECOND SON OF BULGARIAN KING SAID TO BE AT THE WAR FRONT

PRINCE CYRIL.

Prince Cyril, the second son of the king of Bulgaria, is reported to be at the front. He was 21 years old in November and has had a military training. There are four children of Ferdinand by his first wife—the Crown Prince Boris, Prince Cyril and two younger sisters.

THREE DEAD IN INDIANA

One Man Found Fifty Yards From Where Home Had Been.

More Than Fifty Persons Receive Minor Injuries in Storm.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22.—Three men were killed, two women and two men were seriously hurt, more than fifty persons received minor injuries and much property was damaged by the wind storm which swept Northern Indiana late last night, according to reports here today.

Sila Williams, 71, was killed when his home near Jalapa, Ind., collapsed, crushing him to death in his bed.

James Rector of Monon, Ind., was killed when his home was destroyed by the storm. His body was found fifty yards away from where his home had been.

W. J. Ricketts was killed at Logansport when the roof from a factory building was blown off and crashed against his home.

Mrs. Jerry Carter of St. Louis, Mo., an Italian woman by the name of Pasquale of Trinidad, Col., William Hutchins, Frankfort, Ind., and E. H. Moore, Vanburen, Ind., were severely injured when three coaches of the Clover Leaf passenger train No. 5 were lifted from the rails and turned over in a ditch near Marion, Ind. The four were taken to the hospital in Marion. Moore and Hutchins were brakemen on the train.

The engine and tender of the Clover Leaf train remained on the track and rushed to Marion with the first news of the wreck. A number of other passengers on the train received minor injuries, according to reports. A number of houses and factories were unroofed in Marion.

The storm prostrated wire service throughout the northern part of the state. The property damage in the rural districts was said to be heavy. In Logansport the storm, it was said, confined itself to a narrow stretch, but wrecked practically everything in its path as it swept across the city.

THREE MEN KILLED IN REAR-END COLLISION

Three Others Injured When Trains Come Together Near New Richland.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three men were killed and three injured, two seriously, when a freight train on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad crashed into the rear of another freight train a mile and a half east of New Richland, Minn., during a snowstorm today, according to reports to central offices of the road here.

The dead:

A. C. STOVER, Minneapolis, engineer.

FRED HART, stockman.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN.

The injured are: E. J. Sims, conductor; A. J. McBride, brakeman, and R. A. Dalson, fireman.

The caboose and three stock cars burned. The victims were caught in the burning wreckage.

UNRELIABLE REPORTS ANNOY PRESIDENT

Alleged Peace Report From Ambassador Gerard Is Denied.

Washington, March 22.—President Wilson was represented at the White House today as being resentful of the publication of stories that Ambassador Gerard had reported Germany was about to make a move for peace. The published reports were characterized as being based on inferences. This statement was issued:

"President Wilson, through Secretary Tumulty today authorized a denial of stories appearing in papers to the effect that the purpose of Ambassador Gerard's remaining in Berlin was to await Germany's proposals for peace. There is no justification for that inference being drawn."

Winona, Minn., March 22.—As a result of swallowing a coffee bean, Wade Marsolek, aged 2, of Independence, Wis., died in the Winona hospital Monday.

VILLA MAY HAVE MADE HIS ESCAPE

No Report From Pershing of Any Encounter With Bandits.

Wireless Reports Are Again Coming From the Army Front.

One of Missing Aviators Lands South of Casas Grandes.

San Antonio, Tex., March 22.—Gen. Pershing's failure to report an encounter of his troops and those of Francisco Villa and the absence of news from Mexican sources relative to the outcome of the fighting between Villa's men and Carranza troops near Namaquipa caused some army officers at Fort Sam Houston today to believe that once more the elusive Villa had escaped.

A few wireless reports from Casas Grandes were received but early today only routine messages had come from Gen. Pershing.

No time will be lost in the dispatch of the Twenty-fourth infantry and the Fifth cavalry, both should reach Columbus before the end of the week and it is the intention of Gen. Funston to send them forward immediately.

Wireless Restored.

Columbus, N. M., March 22.—Wireless communication with the advanced base of the American expeditionary force at Casas Grandes was restored today. Several messages, all in code, were received, but none gave word of the two missing lieutenants of the army aero corps. Search for the missing men is being continued.

DULUTH BILL IS FAVORED

Miller's Measure for New Postoffice to Cost $1,000,000 Indorsed.

Committee Will Give Hearing on Bill Next Wednesday.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 22.—Practical indorsement of Representative Miller's bill for the erection of a postoffice at Duluth to cost one million dollars is contained in a report to the house committee on public buildings and grounds from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury R. B. Newton.

The committee will give Representative Miller a hearing on the bill next Wednesday.

The department's report is as follows: "In reference to your request of March 15, 1916, the following report is submitted on H. R. 6459, which provides for a public building at Duluth. The branches of the service to be accommodated, the space desired and the rental paid at Duluth are as follows: Postoffice, 18,300 square feet, $1,840 rent; department of justice, 14,506 square feet, no rent; internal revenue, 512 square feet, no rent; customs service, 8,200 feet, no rent; department of commerce, 1,500 square feet, no rent; department of interior, 1,980 square feet, no rent; department of labor, 812 square feet, no rent; department of agriculture, 2,480 square feet, no rent; navy department, 1,700 square feet, $900 rent; war department, 864 square feet, no rent; civil service commission, 1,000 square feet, no rent. The census of 1910 reports the population of 78,466. The postal receipts for the fiscal year 1915 were $429,124.11 and for the fiscal year 1905 were $189,080.96. It is estimated that a three-story building covering a ground area of 30,000 square feet will be required and that the cost of such a building will be $1,000,000.

"Under authority congress granted a site, which has been acquired at a cost of $260,870.07. The main postoffice is now in the Federal building at Duluth and it is understood that the rental paid, $1,840, is for outside quarters."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The battle for Verdun now well in its fourth week, continues with intensity, but at present the infantry is held in leash while the big guns prepare for further assaults.

The powerful German thrust west of the Meuse, which developed early this week, halted when it reached the southern edge of Avocourt wood. But the activity of the German artillery in this sector, which Paris reports today particularly violent, indicates that the German intention probably is to make further determined attempts to advance this important flanking operation.

The situation on the eastern bank of the Meuse is unchanged, but here, too, the artillery fire continues intense near Vaux and Damloup.

Russian warships are reported active in the Black sea, where the 7,000-ton German steamer Esperanza, said to be loaded with foodstuffs, has been sunk off the Roumanian coast, according to advices from Bucharest. Sinking of a score of small sailing ships also is reported.

REVISING CHARTER IN THIEF RIVER FALLS

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The charter commission, now working on a draft for a new city charter, will hold another meeting Wednesday night in the auditorium. Fred Roth, A. H. Akre and Milton Forder were appointed a committee last week to report on certain of the proposed provisions and will likely have their report ready. Lars Backa has been chosen chairman of the commission, E. J. Overland clerk and H. C. Rowberg attorney.

PROVIDE FOR RECREATION

Council Will Authorize the Equipment for Playgrounds and Tennis Courts.

Batchelor Gives List of Apparatus Needed; Work to Begin May 1.

Equipment for seven new playgrounds and six tennis courts will be authorized by the city commissioners at the council meeting next Monday.

Recreational Director Batchelor yesterday prepared a statement showing the equipment necessary for the operation of ten playgrounds during next summer, and on Monday Mayor Prince will introduce a resolution authorizing him to advertise for bids on furnishing the apparatus.

Seven complete outfits are desired by Director Batchelor for the new playgrounds to be established at Lester Park, Hunter's Park, Munger school, Franklin school, Washington school, Ninth avenue west and Third street, and the Madison school. The playgrounds at Chester and Harrison parks will be continued, while the equipment at the Fifty-second avenue grounds will be moved to the Irving school. The tennis courts will be laid out at Chester and Harrison parks and on the Munger school grounds.

The playgrounds will be opened on May 1 and continued in operation until late in the fall, according to Director Batchelor, who will be assisted by twenty members of the playground normal class, which meets every Monday evening at the high school.

Director Batchelor's statement calls for the following equipment and material: Seven complete playground outfits, one-half dozen tennis nets, two swings, two slides, six baby hammocks, six box-chair swings, several croquet sets, several checker boards, one-half dozen volley ball nets and several dozen baseballs, footballs, basket balls and volley balls.

OBITUARY

Dr. Mary Strong, said to have been the first woman physician in Nebraska, died at Omaha, March 21, aged 62 years. She practiced medicine in Omaha twenty-three years and was a professor of operative and clinical surgery at Creighton university.

Rev. Albert Bushnell of Kansas City, superintendent of the Missouri anti-saloon league, was found dead in his room at Chillicothe, Mo., March 21. Death was pronounced due to heart disease, by the coroner. Rev. Bushnell arrived there at noon and was to have spoken in one of the churches in the interest of a local option campaign.

Dr. Leon Labbe, widely known French surgeon, member of the institute of France and of the Academy of Medicine, is dead.

Singing Priest Buried.

Janesville, Minn., March 22.—The funeral of Rev. Father J. P. Fox, aged 58, of the local parish, who was well known as a singer and lecturer, was buried yesterday as he requested, beside Rev. Father Herman, a pioneer missionary of this district. He was educated in Dublin, Ireland, and was ordained to the priesthood in 1880. On arriving in this country he located first at St. Paul and later served as priest at Mapleton, New Richland and Janesville.

WILL REDUCE ARMOR PLATE

Bethlehem Steel Company Makes Proposition to U. S. Government.

Will Make Armor Plate at Reduction of $30 Per Ton.

Washington, March 22.—When the house naval committee today received the Tillman bill for a government armor plant which passed the senate yesterday, it also received a proposal from the Bethlehem Steel company to cut the price of armor from the present price of $425 a ton to $395.

This offer previously was made to the senate committee and ignored. In the face of threats after the senate committee's refusal to entertain the proposal that the armor makers would raise the price if the bill passed, the company's renewed offer caused much surprise. The proposal was submitted by President Grace of the Bethlehem company, who repeated his statement that if the government erected a plant, private works worth more than $20,000,000 would be made useless.

Proposal Made.

"The Bethlehem Steel company, altogether aside from its financial interests, recognizing its obligation as a citizen and in order that its position may be clearly understood, now desires formally to submit the following proposition to the Federal government: We will manufacture one-third or such additional quantities as may be awarded to us of the armor-plate required for the contemplated five-year naval program, estimated as approximately 120,000 tons at a price of $395 per ton for side armor as compared with the price of $425 now obtaining.

"The proposed price is lower than has been paid by the government for more than ten years.

"If the foregoing price is not satisfactory we will agree to permit any well-known firm of chartered accountants or the Federal trade commission to inventory our plant and make careful estimates of the cost of manufacture; with that data in hand we will meet the secretary of the navy and agree to manufacture armor at a price which will be entirely satisfactory to him as being quite as low as the lowest price at which the government could possibly manufacture armor on its own account after taking into account all proper charges.

Have Invested $7,000,000.

"We make the foregoing proposition rather than have our plant put out of existence. We have invested, as actually inventoried today, over $7,000,000 in that plant. This figure does not take into account the large expenditures, certainly $2,000,000, for the plants and equipment which have been abandoned on account of being obsolete.

"We are today selling armor to the United States government at a lower price than England, Germany, France, Austria and Japan are paying even where the government itself, (Japan) has embarked in the business. Not only is that true, but the specifications of the United States are much more rigid and the wages paid are very much higher than those prevailing in any foreign country.

"Steel prices are continually going up and they are today much higher than has been the case for many years. In spite of that we offer to make armor at a lower price than the United States has paid for twenty-nine years and we agree to accept this price for the next five years. We also call attention to the fact, though since the war began, we have been able in Europe to get almost any price we chose to ask for ordnance, we have during the period made no addition to the selling price to the United States government for any of the ordnance products which we manufacture."

MINNESOTA NATIONAL GUARD IS ALL READY

Could Be Mobilized at Fort Snelling in Twenty-Four Hours.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 22.—Representative Charles R. Davis today told the house that the Minnesota National Guard is ready for active service at any time.

"I am informed that applications for enlistment are coming in rapidly," he said, "due to the possibility of difficulty in Mexico, and that the Minnesota National Guard could be ready, fully equipped and ready to be mobilized at Fort Snelling within twenty-four hours if necessary."

Mr. Davis spoke in opposition to a proposition to have the National Guard officers chosen by the Federal government instead of by the states or the National Guard itself.

MINNESOTA OWNS WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state of Minnesota is owner and publisher of a weekly newspaper, the Osseo Review, which is controlled by A. H. Turrittin of the state banking department.

The paper came into the possession of the state when Cashier Thompson of the wrecked Osseo State bank was taken in charge by the authorities. Thompson was the publisher, owned the building in which the paper was published and had given a note sufficient to install the paper. Mr. Turrittin at once proceeded to take building, plant and paper over for the benefit of the depositors.

The paper, according to Mr. Turrittin, is doing a nice little business and the bank will ultimately get back its investment.

SIXTY DAYS FOR KISS.

Ray Forrest Sent to County Jail for Molesting Girl.

Sixty days at the county jail will be the price that Ray Forrest, 18, will pay for kissing Inez Stenberg, 19, of 3240 Minnesota avenue, without her consent.

The boy met the girl at a dance, and after several dances, she consented to allow him to escort her to her home. She didn't know his name, she said, and he didn't know hers.

When they arrived at the Stenberg home, the young man lingered, and was rude to her. Someone in the house, hearing the scuffle, opened the window, and the girl screamed.

She was sent to police headquarters to ask for the boy's arrest on an assault charge, and gave a description which did not correspond to that of her alleged assailant, police maintained. Despite that, Forrest was found, and admitted that he was the boy in question.

Judge W. H. Smallwood, in pronouncing sentence after he pleaded guilty yesterday, said Forrest's age was all that prevented him from imposing a maximum sentence.

DRANK ON TRAIN.

Three Arrested, One Forfeits Bail, But Two Are Fined.

Three men from Two Harbors had a drunk Monday night. The unusual part about it was that they were sitting in the smoking car of a Duluth & Iron Range train, and Special Officer Christensen saw them pass the bottle.

John Aune said it was the first drink he had ever taken in his life. Martin Knudson and Ben Hagen, the other two, made no such claim, but the officer treated them all alike.

Aune forfeited $10 bail when he failed to appear yesterday afternoon, while the other two were sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs, or serve fifteen days at the work farm.

"CON" STARTS ANEW.

"Con" Desmond turned over a new leaf this morning, and policemen, popularly supposed to be hard-hearted, wished him good luck.

Once he was Cornelius Desmond, Esq., but that was years ago. Since then he has lost his property, family, friends and even his god name. He has served "time" and his picture is in many rogues' galleries.

Late last summer he was brought in by a policeman, after a long, losing fight with John Barleycorn, and was given a short work farm sentence.

When released, he left Duluth, determined to start over again and "keep away from the liquor." He went to work in a Wisconsin sawmill, and kept his promise faithfully.

On St. Patrick's day the sawmill burned down, and "Con" was out of a job. He came to Duluth with $118 in his pocket.

Last night he was brought in by Detectives Roberg and Barber, who knew him of old. He had $17, his eyes were badly blackened and his nose was cut, from a fall on the sidewalk.

"I'm not so young any more," he said today, "but I think I can make good. I wish you'd give me one more chance."

He was taken to a priest, signed the pledge, and has started out to show his friends, the police, that he can "make good."

THREW IRISH CONFETTI.

And No Man Named Leoni Szpak Has Right to Do That.

Irish confetti, St. Patrick's day, and a fight figured in police court today, during the trial of a case, but the names of the principals were Leoni Szpak and Rody Grozdanich.

Szpak (make a sound like you would in kissing your wife) is a lumberjack, and he wanted to get a room at a boarding house conducted by Grozdanich at 23 Mesaba avenue.

"All full," said Grozdanich.

Szpak said he wasn't full, at all, and he wanted a room. Furthermore, he wanted it in a hurry.

Then the fight started, and Szpak, who was handicapped because of his size, was gently but firmly ejected, put out, or thrown out. Witnesses differed in regard to just what happened.

Szpak siezed a brick which was used to hold back the storm door, and heaved it through the window glass, value $8.

SAILORS NEARLY FOUNDER.

Ole Johnson is a sailor, but his little craft struck many a bar when it cruised up and down West Michigan street yesterday, and Johnson landed in jail with a headache.

"Wow! what a head," he said when sleep and cold water, judiciously mixed, brought him to his senses.

"Where's my money?" was his second remark. His hand slid into his back pocket, where he usually keeps his money, and $3 was missing. He was broke, as well as in jail.

Forgetting that the jailer might have relieved him of the money, Johnson started wandering around the cell block, looking for the thief. He spotted Fred Peterson, 28, another sailor, and said:

Peterson confessed to the theft after a little quizzing, and was sentenced to pay a $52.50 fine or serve sixty days at the work farm. Johnson drew a fine of $7 and will serve a week at the "farm" in default of it.

Both men were arrested last night by Patrolman Wanvick, who acted as a tug and led the two craft to a safe harbor when the bars loomed too dangerously.

ARMY TO RUSH ENLISTMENTS

Four Men Will Be Stationed in Duluth for Recruiting.

Veteran in Charge Here; Twenty Men Already Apply for Entry.

Orders from the war department at Washington received at the new army recruiting station at 218 West Superior street urge all haste possible in securing eligible men for the army. Four men will be stationed here, it was announced today. The government asks for 25,000 more men immediately. Plans are also being made to meet the recruiting rush that is expected to follow if the Hay bill, calling for additional men, is passed by congress.

Sergeant John Smeets, a veteran of twenty-eight years' service, arrived in Duluth from Minneapolis yesterday afternoon, and has taken charge of the local office. Corporal Vincent Morkowsky will assist him, and two more officers will arrive here this month.

Considerable work has been entailed in getting the quarters equipped, but Sergeant Smeets said that the United States flag would be placed in front of the office this afternoon.

The fact that the United States army has actually crossed the Mexican border has brought out enlistments from all parts of the country, said Sergeant Smeets. Twenty men have already applied for enlistment here, but only four were accepted. This proportion is better than usual as only about one out of six applicants can qualify as a rule.

The local office will remain open evenings as well as days. The regular hours for weeks days are from 9 a. m. to 8:20 p. m. and on Sundays 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Offices have either been reopened or established at La Crosse, Mankato, Fargo and Aberdeen. Offices will soon be opened at Superior, Virginia, Ashland and Bemidji if the schedule recommended is carried out.

Men are wanted for the cavalry, field and coast artillery, infantry, hospital corps, engineers, signal corps and army bands.

CLOQUET PREPARES FOR STATE MEETING

Gathering of Postal Clerks and Carriers to Be Held in July.

Cloquet, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are already under way for the entertainment of the delegates of the joint convention of postal clerks and carriers, to be held here on July 15 and 16.

At a joint meeting of Branch No. 1682, United National Association of Postoffice Clerks, and Branch No. 1243, National Association of Letter Carriers, held in the local postoffice, preliminary plans were made for the entertainment of the visitors who are expected to attend.

As this is the first state joint convention of carriers and postoffice clerks, according to O. W. Samuelson, president of the local branch, and Robert Monroe, secretary, this will be one of the largest gatherings of postal employes ever held in the state, as delegates will be sent from every city of the first, second and third class where clerks and carriers are employed. There will also be national and state officers of each organization in the state. It has been customary in the past that some official representative of the post-office department at Washington, D. C., appointed by the postmaster general, attend these conventions, also one or more members of congress or the house of representatives act as the principal speaker at these gatherings, all of which the local committees are making an effort to secure for the banquet.

Those on Committees.

Following are the officers of the local branches and the committees in charge of the program: O. W. Samuelson, president, and Robert Monroe, secretary of the postal clerks; Joseph Franklin, president, and O. H. Elphick, secretary of the letter carriers' association; advertising, Elton L. Sanborn and O. W. Samuelson; smoker, Joseph Franklin and Walter Grunig; banquet, Gertrude McNitt and Robert A. Monroe; program, O. H. Elphick, Joseph Franklin, O. W. Samuelson and Walter Grunig; automobiles, Edward S. Scholbe and O. W. Samuelson; halls, William Boyer and Walter Grunig; badges, Robert Monroe and Elton L. Sanborn; hotels, William Boyer and Joseph Franklin; finance, William Boyer and O. H. Elphick.

CLOQUET Y. P. U. AFFAIR.

Entertainment Given By the Two Churches Draws Large Audience.

Cloquet, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Cloquet Young People's union, an organization formed last fall for the purpose of getting the young people of the several different churches of the city together and thus better promote the church work, held their regular monthly meeting in the First M. E. church parlors Monday evening, which proved to be one of the best attended meetings of the season, over 100 people being present. The young people of the Episcopal church furnished the program and the young people of the Methodist church the refreshments. The following program was presented: Vocal duet, Misses Rachel Harris and Helen McNair; reading by Ruth Logan; piano solo, Murle Redfield; address, Rev. J. G. Ward; piano duet, Margaret Johnson and Marcia Case; charades by several young people; vocal selection, male quartet.

AAD TEMPLE PATROL.

Arab patrol of Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will attend the forty-second annual session of the imperial council to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., July 11, 12 and 13, according to an announcement made by John Jenswold, Jr., potentate of Aad temple.

Preparations for the pilgrimage are already being made and Duluth is expected to take a prominent part at the national gathering. Four delegates will be sent to the imperial council sessions, while thirty-five members of the patrol will represent Aad temple in the parades and drill contests during the conclave. Mr. Jenswold and A. H. Paul, captain of the patrol, will head the local delegation, which will include approximately 100 Shriners and their wives.

Aad's pilgrimage will start on July 9, arriving at Buffalo on the evening of the following day. Two special cars will be chartered for the trip.

Mr. Jenswold announced that Aad temple has pledged itself to assist Minneapolis in landing the 1917 council meeting and the local delegates and Shriners will work hard at the Buffalo gathering to help the Mill City in its campaign. Charles E. Ovenshire of Minneapolis, imperial chief rabban, is in line for imperial potentate to succeed J. Putnam Stevens of Portland, Me., present head of Shrinedom.

According to word received by Potentate Jenswold from Buffalo, at least 250,000 visitors will assemble. Every temple in America, the Philippines and the Hawaiian island will send its patrol and band, while large delegations are expected from the many temples throughout the East. There will be two monster parades, one in daylight and one at night, these being considered the biggest and most picturesque of American pageants. Prof. A. F. M. Custance of this city, who has been selected to take charge of the ceremonial music at Buffalo, will leave two weeks before the patrol.

Members of Arab patrol, who will take the trip, follow:: A. H. Paul, captain; Wallace Welbanks, first lieutenant; Charles C. Jones, second lieutenant; George A. Sherwood, first sergeant; Claude L. Haney, second sergeant; J. T. Lundquist, bugler; R. K. Abraham, Philip Bayha, H. C. Buchanan, Emmet J. Carland, John E. Carlson, Christian E. Evens, Frank H. Farrell, George M. Fay, William F. NOTICE—We advise buying your colored wash fabrics now.

This is going to be a season of colored cottons; there's no doubt about that. A tremendous scarcity of fine foreign and domestic fabrics such as Linen, Voiles and Ginghams, and do you realize that American dyes are not guaranteed fast dye? And that is what you will have to contend with later on.

DENFELD BOYS TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

The Denfeld Boys' club will present its second annual minstrel show at the Denfeld school Friday evening, March 31. The club has been practicing for the last six weeks, and the show promises to be the best the boys have ever attempted. Leo Deutch, Rollin Clark, Frank Martin and Stanley Lamb will occupy the places on the end. They have a fund of jokes that promise to keep the audience in a continual roar of laughter. Norman D. McLeod will be the interlocutor.

The first part of the program will be vaudeville, with the following numbers: Sketch, "An Extra Guest," Stanley Lamb and Laurence Duby; Denfeld school orchestra; speciality, Dwight Heistand; accordion solo; violin solo, Gustave Jackson.

The second part will feature the minstrels.

Opening Chorus.

"Sweetest Girl on Monteray," Clarence Jacobson; "Landing of the Mandy Lee," Reginald La Faivre; "Norway," Leonard Hedman; "Reuben Rastus," Walter Yeager; "Shine," Laurence Duby; "Old Bill Bailey," Stanley Lamb; "America, I Love You," John Batchelor; "Harmony Band," Walmer Fosberg; "Wedding in the Sunshine," Romeo Duetch; "Malinda's Wedding Day," Leo Deutch; "Don't Bite the Hand That Feeds You," Frank Martin; "Back Home in Tennessee," Rollin Clark.

The minstrel managing committee is composed of Ralph Nichols, Halfdon Eire, Herbert Nelson and Romeo Deutch. This committee is offering to the boy who sells the most tickets a trip to Camp Miller for one week with all expenses paid. Every boy who sells twenty-five tickets will be known as a booster, and will be guests of honor at a dinner the club will give after the show.

FACE OFFICIALLY UNSLAPPED, RULING

Mrs. Setterquist, Charged By J. J. Frey With Assault, Is Discharged.

Mrs. J. D. Setterquist, who was arrested last week on complaint of John J. Frey, in which he alleged that she had assaulted him on the street by slapping his face, was acquitted in police court yesterday afternoon in a trial before Judge H. W. Lanners. Mrs. Setterquist convinced the judge that she had not slapped the complainant.

"If I had slapped his face, witnesses to the act would not have been necessary," said Mrs. Setterquist, in testifying in her own behalf. "I would have left a mark that would have been sufficient to prove the act. I got a little excited and waved my hands when I called him a thief and crook, but I did not strike him."

The argument took place on Central avenue between Roosevelt and Bristol streets on March 10, according to the complaint. The argument was over a real estate transaction, in which Mrs. Setterquist said she had been worsted. Other witnesses to the meeting of Mrs. Setterquist and Mr. Frey testified yesterday afternoon that the woman had struck no blow.

Farewell Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlson, 3927 West Third street, were tendered a farewell surprise party last evening at their home by their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson will leave in a few days for Barnum, where they will make their home. They were presented with a number of handsome presents. Games and music featured the entertainment. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames H. M. Carr, J. H. Anderson, E. Sundberg, H. Dennison, J. Peterson, C. O. Anderson, E. Nelson, G. Rosin, L. Armstrong, C. W. Johnston, A. Johnson, C. INDUSTRIES WILL BE ON DISPLAY

Progress of West Duluth Will Be Shown at Banquet.

An industrial exhibition together with statistics concerning the various industries of West Duluth will be one of the features now being arranged for the banquet to be held by the West Duluth Commercial club on April 27 at Dormedy hall. Some product from each industry will be on display.

Emil J. Zauft, president of the club, will be furnished with statistics concerning each industry. These statistics will be in relation to the number of men employed, the monthly payroll, the amount of production each month, when first established, and other interesting matter. He will read off this information at the banquet.

The club recently was presented with a slab of steel, taken from the first billet rolled at the Duluth steel plant. This will be among the exhibits. Interesting statistics concerning the steel plant and the Universal Portland Cement company will be given.

Arrangements for the banquet are rapidly nearing completion. The attendance is to be limited to 300 guests. More than half of these tickets have already been promised.

Infant Dies.

Helen, the 2-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Nedecky, 5912 Raleigh street, died last evening following a short illness. The funeral was held today with interment in Oneota cemetery.

With the Curlers.

The Donald rink moved into the finals of the Western Curling club championship buttons last evening by winning from the F. H. Wade rink, 13 to 9. Despite the mild weather the ice at 8 o'clock was in good condition. The rinks from Superior did not show up on account of the warm weather, but promised to be over on the first cold evening, and may arrive this evening.

Only one game has been scheduled for tonight, it being between Joe McDonald and E. J. Zauft. The other three sheets of ice will be reserved in case the Superior men show up.

SAYS HOT WATER EACH DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

Drink Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast to Wash Out the Poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

SIGN ACROSS SUPERIOR ST. MUST COME DOWN

There is a sign hanging across Superior street in violation of a city ordinance.

Permission to hang the sign was granted the Austrian-German relief bazar committee by Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, who said that the banner would have to come down if there were any objections raised. This morning a protest was made by the Commercial club and the sign will have to be removed.

The sign ordinance passed a year ago prohibits the hanging of signs across any street in the city of Duluth. It was passed because the signs were so numerous as to constitute a nuisance.

PRISONERS WILL BE SENTENCED IN APRIL

Fifteen prisoners held here for violating the Federal liquor laws will be transferred to Minneapolis next Monday, according to an order issued by Federal Judge Booth at Minneapolis and received in Duluth yesterday afternoon. Most of these prisoners have already admitted their guilt, and the remainder have expressed their willingness to do so, and are eager to receive their sentence and begin serving their term. There will be no term of the Federal court here until July, while the term in Minneapolis will begin April 4.

OPPOSITION TO GUARD FEATURE

Plan to Federalize Militia Subject of Debate in House.

Washington, March 22.—The debate in the house on the army bill today at once developed opposition to the proposal to put the National Guard under Federal control. Representative Fields, Democrat, of Kentucky, asserting that court decisions showed the guard could not be federalized without a constitutional amendment.

Representative Tilson, Republican, of Connecticut, a member of the committee, offered an amendment specifying oaths of enlistment for officers and men of the National Guard, providing obligations to both the Federal and state governments, the Federal right to their services to precede that of the state.

The Tilson amendment was rejected without a division. Those who opposed it insisted that the bill already accomplished everything the amendment sought.

Representative London, Socialist, proposed an amendment forbidding the use of National Guard troops for strike duty. It went out on a point of order.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TO GET "Y" MEETING

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to W. A. Reynolds and C. D. Gustafson, Pennington county delegates to the state Y. M. C. A. convention at Faribault, Thief River Falls is practically assured of having the state convention here next year. Between 500 and 700 delegates will attend. As this city has the best public auditorium in this section of the state and ample hotel and other accommodations, it is thought that it is a certainty that the convention will be held here.

New Thief River Church.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement is made by Rev. O. P. Stevens of our Savior's United Lutheran church that an $8,000 brick and tile church would be rushed to completion by that denomination here as soon as possible. They have purchased a site on Horace avenue and the edifice will cover a ground space 40 by 80 feet.

BETTING ON END OF WAR

Canadians Wagering That Peace Will Come By Sept. 1.

Osborne Scott, assistant general passenger agent of the Canadian Northern railway, who is in the city today, declared that they are betting in Western Canada, and particularly in the city of Winnipeg, that the European war will not continue after the first of September.

"They are making books on this proposition," said Mr. Scott today at the Spalding. "Lloyds of London has perhaps set the example, as they are offering insurance that the war will end by the first of September and maybe this has led to betting in Canada, as they are surely doing there now."

Declaring that many of the Canadian soldiers will be granted a leave of absence to assist in the seeding of what is expected to be the greatest acreage ever planted in Canada, Mr. Scott stated that the need of laborers is proving a very great problem in the industrial life of the dominion.

"Many of the soldiers in the camps and barracks will be sent to the farms of Canada to help in seeding and preparing for the crop," said Mr. Scott. "In addition to the soldiers that will be sent back to the farms, immigration officers of the dominion government are in various parts of the United States attempting to secure American laborers.

"Wages are high and it is expected that a large number of American laborers will be attracted to Canada by the pay Canadians must offer for men. Despite war, the general industrial outlook in Canada this year is excellent, with the prospects of the greatest acreage ever put under cultivation, and also the assurance of a market for all products."

Space Plan Declared Unjust.

Washington, March 22.—The space plan of paying for railway mail transportation, proposed in the house postoffice appropriation bill, was declared today before the senate postoffice committee by Victor J. Bradley, mail traffic supervisor of the Pennsylvania railroad, to be revolutionary, unscientific, unjust to the roads and at times confiscatory.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—Advertisement.

SENATE APPROVES ARMOR FACTORY

Passes Bill for Erection or Purchase of One By Government.

Washington, March 22.—The Tillman bill to provide for the erection or purchase of an armor plate factory at a cost not to exceed $11,000,000 was passed by the senate late yesterday by a vote of 58 to 23.

Democratic senators supported the bill solidly, regarding it as one of the important measures included in the national preparedness program now being hastened to completion. Nine Progressive Republicans joined with the majority in voting for the bill. They were Senators Borah, Clapp, Cummins, Gronna, Kenyon, Norris, Poindexter, Sterling and Works.

Passage of the measure in the house is regarded as assured. Administration leaders are planning to bring it up soon after passage of the army reorganization and immigration bills.

At committee meetings on the measure, officials of the Bethlehem and Midvale steel companies, two of the three concerns which furnish armor to the government, appeared and the threat was made that their plants would have to be dismantled as soon as the government entered upon the business, leaving no source of supply for the navy's immediate needs. The opposition in the senate was led by Senators Penrose, Oliver, Lippitt and Lodge.

Test Vote Taken.

The test vote on the issue came when Senator Weeks of Massachusetts offered a substitute which would have authorized the secretary of the navy to enter, if possible, into a five-year contract with the Bethlehem, Midvale and Carnegie companies to supply all the armor plate needed at a price 6 per cent in excess of cost, maintenance and depreciation. The substitute after considerable debate, was rejected 60 to 25, Democrats voting solidly with the nine Progressive Republicans against it. Numerous other amendments were proposed and rejected. One of them by Senator Newlands proposed to delay construction of the government plant, if private concerns would agree to furnish armor needed for five years at a price not to exceed $280 a ton.

Senators Oliver and Penrose insisted that the proposed action of the government was confiscatory, and that it would force the private plate manufacturers out of business at a time when they are most needed by the government.

Senators Swanson, Reed and Tillman closed the general discussion for the administration, maintaining that the private manufacturers had never dealt fairly with the government, and that government manufacture in competition with private manufacture was necessary. Senator Tillman declared it was not designed to run the private manufacturers out of business, and predicted that it would not.

CLEAN-UP ACTIVITY WILL BE GENERAL

Paint and Oil Club Members Will Discuss Plans Thursday.

Duluth business men and merchants will join in the annual "clean-up and paint-up" campaign this year.

Members of the Duluth Paint and Oil club, which organization instituted the clean-up idea a year ago, will meet at the Hotel McKay tomorrow evening to devise ways and means of conducting a similar program this year. The week selected will probably be during the early part of May, it was announced this morning.

City officials and residents throughout the city will be called upon to clean-up during the week.

The officers of the Paint club include R. D. Annis, president, and John N. Neipp, secretary-treasurer.

MONEY FOR SMALL BOY

Old Papers and Rags Becoming Far Too Valuable to Burn.

Chance for Children to Earn Pocket Money This Spring.

When spring cleaning time comes around and the cellars and garrets give up their annual winter accumulation of newspapers, old magazines, discarded clothing, rags and other odds and ends, the first thought that comes to the mind of the average housekeeper is to "burn the old truck."

Perhaps she discovers that it does not burn as readily as she thought and then, of course, she is obliged to feed it into the furnace in installments. On a warm spring day the temperature of the house jumps to midsummer proportions and then everyone boils over.

But what is more important, the housekeeper is destroying real wealth when she burns old papers and rags. And it is wealth really worth saving. Of course, she is not aware that paper manufacturers all over the country are in desperate straits for all kinds of paper-making material. She does not know that the lack of wood pulp has caused many of the mills to close and that waste paper today is worth more than it has ever been.

Higher Prices Quoted.

For instance, here are some prices which the Duluth housewife can command for the collection in her cellar or attic:

Old newspapers and scrap paper, per cwt. ..... 20c to 25c
Magazines or old books, cwt. 50c to 60c
Old rags, per pound ..... 1½c to 4c

Although there are a few concerns buying baled paper from the big stores and office buildings downtown, the Duluth Paper Stock company is the only firm in the city at the present time that is making a systematic effort to collect the paper from the houses as well. They will collect small quantities from the home, but, of course, prefer to have the housekeeper save it until she has a wagon load.

"The trouble with a good many housewives," said Hymon Segal, manager of the company, "is that they think they have more paper than they have and that they are sometimes disappointed in their weights. Newspapers, especially, are bulky and weigh little in proportion, but if they are folded flat, the results will be more satisfactory. Carelessly crumpled paper will burn readily because the air is admitted to feed the fire, but newspapers and magazines properly placed in the attic need not be a fire menace. If the matter of taking care of old newspapers and magazines is attended to regularly, it gets to be a habit and an economical one.

"Papers and magazines should be kept separate and clean. We, of course, have to sort our stuff, and we pay more where it is already sorted and free from other refuse. A magazine will weigh about a pound and is worth about a half-cent.

Chance for Youngsters.

"There is a chance for the frugal boy to make some money. Let him visit the homes for several blocks around his neighborhood and ask for the waste paper. If these people have no place to store it, as many have not, they will be glad to give him the opportunity to regularly collect the small quantities they accumulate. He can carry it home or use a push cart, and in a little while he will find he has a load.

"Organizations also will find paper collecting profitable. Schools and Sunday schools in some cities have made a success of it, and are finding that it pays for the trouble it takes.

"It is a mystery where all the paper goes. I understand that The Herald company alone distributes between five and six tons of paper every day in Duluth alone, yet a relatively small proportion is collected by the concerns shipping waste. There are probably thousands of tons of old records, ledgers, letter files and papers stored in vaults and office buildings, much of it thirty years old and of no possible use to anyone."

The Salvation Army industrial department also collects and sells waste paper. The manager said yesterday that the price of waste paper had advanced greatly. For instance, dealers in waste paper are now getting as high as $12 a ton for the scrap paper where formerly from $8 to $10 was paid, and the price of magazine stock paper has increased in proportion. Book stock paper is now commanding nearly $30 a ton where formerly it sold for $23.50.

Uncle Sam Takes Hand.

The scarcity of paper-making material is of national importance, and the secretary of commerce at Washington has sent to about 4,000 commercial organizations letters inviting their cooperation in efforts to relieve the present serious shortage of paper material.

Something like 15,000 tons of different kinds of paper and paper board are manufactured every day in the United States, and a large proportion of this, after it has served its purpose, could be used over again in some class of paper. A large part of it, however, is either burned or otherwise destroyed. This, of course, has to be replaced by new materials. In the early history of the paper industry publicity was given to the importance of saving rags. It is of no less importance now, and a little attention to the saving of rags and old papers will mean genuine relief to the paper industry and a diminishing drain on the sources of supply for new materials.

COLE YOUNGER DIES IN MISSOURI, AGE 72

Once Noted Outlaw Passes Away, Respected as Good Citizen.

Lees Summit, Mo., March 22.—Cole Younger, famous outlaw of border days, but of late a devout church attendant and peaceful citizen, died at his home here last night after a lingering illness. He was 72 years old and unmarried.

Younger was one of the last of the members of the notorious robber bands that infested Western Missouri during and after the Civil war. He was a member of the Quantrell band of guerrilas and with his two brothers took part with the "James Boys" in bank and train robberies in Missouri and neighboring states that netted the looters more than $100,000. The leading members of these bands are dead, some at the hands of the law, some by suicide and others from natural causes. Younger, after a term in the penitentiary, became a law-abiding Missouri citizen.

Captured in Minnesota.

The three Younger brothers were captured in Minnesota, after a raid on a bank at Northfield, Minn., in 1876, and in the course of which Cashier Haywood was killed. The Youngers were shot many times in battles with a posse, but finally were taken alive after a battle at Shieldsville, Minn.

Cole and his brothers pleaded guilty and were sentenced to prison for life. They entered the penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn., and became model prisoners. Bob died in the penitentiary in 1889. Cole and James Younger were paroled in 1901. The next year James shot himself, leaving a note ascribing his action to a refusal of the parole board to permit him to marry the girl he loved.

After Cole was paroled he was forced by Minnesota law to live in that state for three years. Then he returned to Missouri and settled down in a vine-covered cottage which he bought for a niece in Lees Summit, the scene of his boyhood days. For a time he was connected with a show and later went on the lecture platform and became a good citizen.

PRINCE AS FIRST AID TO LOVELORN

Mayor Prince now has another chance to make good as Cupid.

Three times in the last year the mayor has received appeals for assistance in finding wives for lonely bachelors, but each time he has failed. Yesterday he received another request, this time from William Opitz, a farmer at Barnum, Minn., who writes that he is anxious to find a "good congenial woman."

"Just why they ask me for help, I don't know," said the mayor, "but I will do my best."

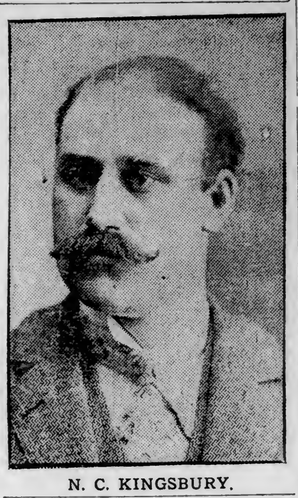
FORMER DULUTHIAN ONE OF BIG CORPORATION MEN IN NEW YORK

Merit and Sheer Ability Push N. C. Kingsbury to One of Most Important Positions of American Telephone and Telegraph Company—Record One of Progress Over Difficulties.



N. C. KINGSBURY.

Mentioned in the list of officers of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, which owns the Bell telephone system in the United States and other large companies, is the name of N. C. Kingsbury as one of the vice presidents, second in line, in fact; and this circumstance is of particular interest to Duluthians for the reason that Mr. Kingsbury was formerly a resident of this city. More properly speaking, he was a resident of West Duluth both before and after that community became a part of the city of Duluth as a whole. He was quite well known at the time, and is known still to many of the older residents of the city.

Mr. Kingsbury's former associates here take particular interest in him because of the fact that his rise to his present position is the result of sheer ability, merit and business acumen, unassisted by any patronizing relatives or friends. In short, Mr. Kingsbury is a self-made man and owes his truly phenomenal rise to no outside influence.

Was With Iron Works Here.

In the old days, Mr. Kingsbury was employed by the Marinette Iron woks at West Duluth, operated at that time by his father-in-law, D. Clint Prescott, then one of the best known men in Duluth. Mr. Kingsbury had met and succumbed to Miss Lillian Prescott when they were students at Oberlin college. In Duluth he was popular and was looked upon as a young business man of promise, but his later climb was by no means looked for. C. H. Bagley of Duluth, a close personal friend, has closely followed Mr. Kingsbury's career with pleasure. Mrs. Bagley is now a guest at the Kingsbury home in New York.

When the Marinette Iron works went out of business here, and the Prescott family moved away, Mr. and Mrs. Kingsbury went to Toledo, Ohio, where he obtained employment with the Jeffries Iron works, having charge of their chain department. While managing that department, Mr. Kingsbury studied law at night, and, following the obtaining of his sheepskin and admission to the Ohio bar, took up the additional duty of being legal adviser to the company, which gave him an intimate knowledge of the business in all departments. In the meantime he was making a big success of his own department and as a result of his dual triumph, stood out as one of the remarkable young men of Toledo and of the Iron business.

Called to a Rescue.

At the height of his career in Toledo, interests that had been attracted by his achievements and energy induced him to take hold of the then crippled Michigan Central Telephone company, a bankrupt concern, believing that if anybody could, Kingsbury would bring order out of chaos and save something for the stockholders and bondholders.

This step proved the great one in his life. It does not often happen that success comes through the handling of a bankrupt concern, and particularly of a small one, where spectacular achievements seem impossible, and nothing but the fact that the concern is insolvent stands out; but it turned out that Mr. Kingsbury could give the golden touch even to failure.

After a struggle of three years, Mr. Kingsbury did the seemingly impossible, the thing which the interests concerned merely hoped that he would, and without much hope at that. He restored the struggling telephone company to its feet, got some money out of it for its stockholders and bondholders, and then sold it to the Bell company at a good price, enough to make those who had their money sunk in it call him blessed.

Gets Important Place.

This job finished, the interests that had turned to him to save their money, which was in the shape of bonds in the Michigan Central, thought him too good to be permitted to rest in a small job, and took him to Chicago, where he was connected with a large bonding house at a salary of $25,000 a year. He concluded that that was about the best that he would ever do, and definitely settled down. It looked like no more moves for him. It was the end of the passage. He was content, for with a good salary, a pleasant occupation, grateful employers, and prospects for making considerably more money outside of his regular line, it seemed as though there was not much more to wish for.

But Madame Fortune had decided otherwise. In Kingsbury's negotiations for the sale of the Michigan Central Telephone company he had attracted the attention of Theodore Vail, president of the Bell company and now president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company. Mr. Vail insisted that Kingsbury should come to him. Mr. Kingsbury did not feel like emulating the dog and the meat, as told by Aesop, and felt that he had a good enough thing where he already was placed; so he refused—in fact, refused several times.

Names His Own Salary.

But, as the Socialists say, "The corporations will git you," even if you do watch out; and they finally got Mr. Kingsbury.

No wonder. When it is put up to a person, as it was to Mr. Kingsbury, "name your own salary; it isn't a question of what we will give, but what you will come for. Go on, name it." what is one going to do?

Most probably just what Mr. Kingsbury did. He named his salary and his proposal was so promptly accepted that maybe he was sore at himself that he didn't ask for more. At any rate the salary is big enough to tempt men even in the millionaire class, and is said to be at least double that which he received in Chicago.

He is one of the really big men of the American Telephone & Telegraph company and is what might be termed as the public representative of the organization. His speeches are widely quoted and he is given place in the reports of speeches with the leading orators of the nation, although he is not an orator, but, rather, a man who knows business and conditions, and has the faculty of making his knowledge clear to others: a man who can think while on his feet. Only recently the New York papers printed one of his speeches in full, which is an exceptional tribute, for mighty few speeches outside of those of the president of the United States get full publication in Gotham papers, where space is too valuable to throw away.

That, in brief, is the story of Mr. Kingsbury since he left Duluth; and it seems small wonder that his old friends and associates here are proud of him.

TRYING TO OPEN LAKE RATE CASE

St. Paul May Intervene in Rate Contest Started By Duluth.

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—St. Paul business men probably will intervene in the complaint of the Commercial club of Duluth against the Pennsylvania railway and other Eastern carriers relating to the differential between Duluth and St. Paul on shipments from the East.

The case is an echo of the Duluth lake-and-rail rate cases which cost the St. Paul Association of Commerce $10,000. It may lead to the reopening of the entire case before the interstate commerce commission.

The case in which St. Paul plans to intervene is that filed in January by the Duluth traffic commission, in which protest is made against the roads making their lake-and-rail rates from C. F. A. territory a combination of locals instead of on a proportional rate basis. At present the system in vogue from that territory, which takes in Pittsburgh and that district, is discriminatory against Duluth, but, as in most cases fought, favors the Twin Cities.

The St. Paul dispatch quoted above: says that the lake-and-rail case cost St. Paul $10,000, and it was defeated, Duluth's contentions meeting with the approval of the members of the interstate commerce commission. The Twin Cities have never gotten over their chagrin at their defeat and have sought, and are still seeking every opportunity to nullify Duluth's victory.

MILL CITY BUSINESS MAN IS INDICTED

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—The Hennepin county grand jury, which for some time has been investigating vice conditions in Minneapolis as a result of stories told by a number of young girls, last night returned an indictment against Joseph W. Bragdon, second vice president of a large local wholesale firm, charging alleged misconduct toward minor girls. Other indictments are expected to follow.

BORDER CITY ELECTION.

International Falls, Minn., March 22.—Filings are completed for the city election to held April 4 as follows:

Alderman-at-large—Pat Lynch, J. J. Doran.

Aldermen—First ward, Ed Sommers; Second ward, S. N. Rubin, M. J. Nolan, T. J. Doty, Dan Holler.

The vacancy in the office of alderman-at-large was caused by the removal of L. W. Wilson from the city. Pat Lynch is now serving as alderman of the Second ward by appointment and J. J. Doran, who will oppose him for the new position, has also served on the council.

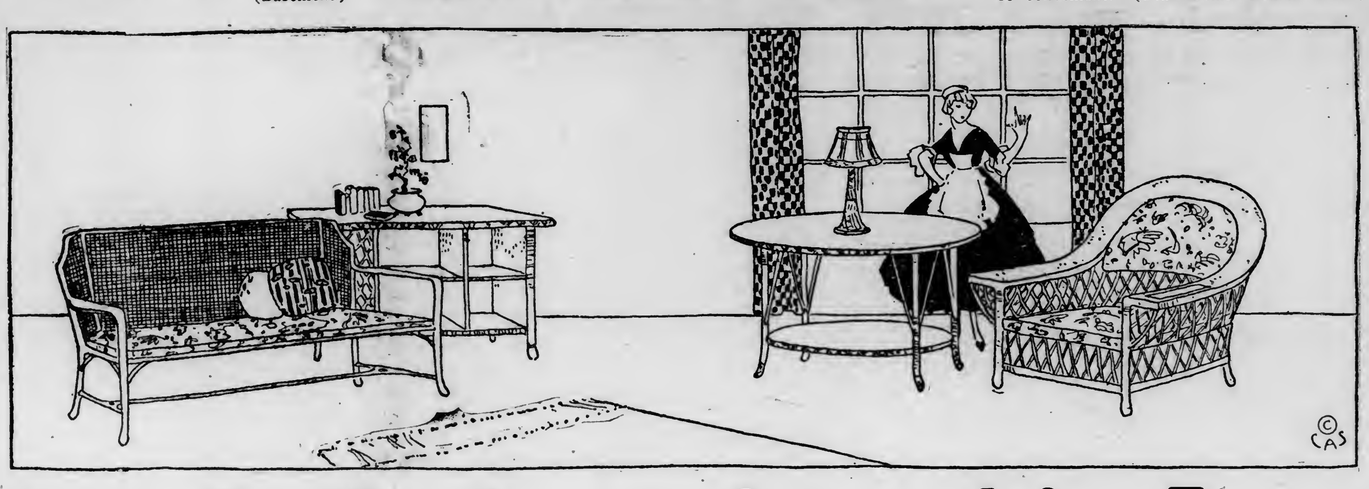
The Glass Block

"Tea in the Tea Rooms"

Have you tried it yet? Tea and cakes (or tea and sandwiches, or toast-and-marmalade) only 20c, in the Tea Rooms—any afternoon between 2 and 5. You'll find it wonderfully restful—and so convenient! (Tea Rooms—Fourth Floor.)



Another Glass Block Innovation---Inexpensive Willow Furniture!

WHEN you hear some one comment on the Glass Block's surprising progress, remember that there's a simple explanation for it—progressive methods. This newest of Glass Block innovations—the introduction of genuine "willow" furniture—as airily light and attractive as any furniture made, yet wonderfully inexpensive—is due to a new idea—the conviction that there is no more reason why people should have to pay exorbitant prices for furniture than for any other commodity! Just to indicate how low prices run on this alluring furniture, here's an example:—Chairs, $4.50 and up; tables, $5.75 and up; lounges, $22 and up. (And we're showing lovely new cretonnes to go with this furniture!)

New Cretonnes, Black and White Effects, Etc.

Far more beautiful than ever — new ideas in designs and color combination. The new black and white stripes produce strikingly attractive results when used as bedroom hangings, chair coverings, etc.

Stripes with heavier colors are very popular in the East, especially for sun, living and dining rooms. We show a most interesting line of these pretty materials, which come 40 inches wide, priced at 25c to $2.00 yard.

12½c Percales for 10c

Extra good quality Percales, in light and dark patterns, especially suitable for house dresses, wrappers, aprons, waists and children's wear. (An unusual bargain opportunity, considering the steady advance in the price of wash fabrics of this type!) (Basement.)

SILKS

Black and White Effects You'll Wish to See.

We're showing the popular black-and-white silks, which are supreme in favor for Spring and Summer, and which because of the condition of the Silk market are quite impossible to "re-order" at present. They're here in 36 and 40-inch widths, at $1.25 to $2.50 a yard. (This includes stripes and checks (all widths and sizes) brilliant Chiffon Taffetas, lustrous satins, rich mellow Radiums, etc.—as well as plaids, dotted and figured designs of the newest and most exclusive type.)

are "vogue" just now, for modish gowns. At no other Duluth store will you find so fine a variety in these new and captivating styles! From the quaint subdued effects to the most elaborate color combinations, the range is adequate—a style and quality for every woman's taste. Prices, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00 a yard.

Chiffon Dress Taffetas

35-inch widths in rich, soft supple "dependable" Chiffon Taffetas. Black, white, ivory and all of the new Spring shades for street, afternoon and evening wear. (You'll be impressed by the delicate evening tints; glace and chameleon two-tone effects, surprisingly priced at fully one-third less than the present rising market would lead you to expect. Only $1.25.)

Silk Dept.—Main Floor.)

Rugs

Rag rugs for bedroom, etc.—a handsome new line. Many sizes never shown before this season. (Think of a neat small rug, size 18x36 inch that sells at 85c!)

The 36x72-inch size sells at $2.75.
The 4 ft. 6 in. by 7 ft. 6 in. size sells at $5.50.
The 6x9 ft. size sells at $8.75.

Rugs

Oriental rugs made in this country by Armenians—Turkish yarn used throughout. Excellent in both weave and pattern — rugs that will wear and wear!

The 2 ft. 5 in. by 4 ft. 6 in. size sells at $10.00.

The 4 ft. by 7 ft. size sells at $25.00.
The 9 ft. by 12 ft. sell at $80.00.

QUILTING parties and husking bees were economic devices by which the hostess in one case and the host in the other provided refreshments, which were, by the way, worthy of the name, in exchange for labor. The guests incidentally furnished sociability for each other and everyone was satisfied.

But quilting parties and husking bees passed away with chin whiskers, silk gowns that lasted more than one season, top buggies and the like, and have been succeeded by "weed" parties. Even the most sedate may attend, as "weed" has no reference to anything to smoke. "Come to my party and pull my weeds," means just what it says.

A Pasadena, Cal., woman invited her neighbors to come over and pull up all the clover, dandelions and other hardy and unwelcome plants that had taken firm root in her lawn. She hypnotized them into thinking it was fun to pull weeds and then rewarded them by a hot luncheon.

Duluth Girl Gives Recital at Oberlin

Miss Marguerite McDonald, daughter of Mrs. K. I. McDonald, who is a senior this year in the Oberlin Conservatory of Music gave a piano recital last Thursday at the conservatory. Her program was as follows:

Italian Concerto ..... Bach
Allegro, Andante, Presto.....
Nocturne Op. 15, No. 2.....Chopin
"Liebestraum" in A flat.....Liszt
"Apres l'ete".....Florent Schmitt
"Un Soir" .....Florent Schmitt
"Sous la Feuillee" .....Godard
Rhapsody ..... Dohnanyi
Trio in F major..... Godard
Adagio Allegro .....

Although voice is Miss McDonald's major study, her recital in piano was said to be of a character which would do credit to a principal subject. In the Godard trio she was assisted by Miss Doris Bugbey, violinist of the class of 1916, and Friederich Goerner, professor of 'cello.

Miss McDonald will be graduated in June, and will receive the degree of Bachelor of Music. She has completed the course in three years work.

Noted Scientist Will Lecture Here Monday

Prof. Ray Moulton of the department of astronomy of the University of Chicago will be in Duluth next Monday and deliver a lecture on "The Wonderful Heavens," at 8:15 at the First M. E. church, under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. Dr. Moulton is declared to be one of the leading authorities in the country on his subject. He is connected with the Chicago faculty of astronomy, which has attracted to itself some of the foremost astronomers of the day, such as Professors E. E. Barnard, S. W. Burnham and E. B. Frost. These men carry on practical astronomical work at the Yerkes observatory at Lake Geneva, where is situated the largest refracting telescope in the world. Prof. Moulton, at the university, assists in training students in theoretical astronomy and mathematics, thus preparing them for work at the observatory. Although not yet 44 years old, he has after his name an imposing list of the societies to which his eminence as a scientist has gained him admission, among them being the Royal Astronomical Society of England, of which he is a fellow. He is best known by his work on a new hypothesis of the evolution of world systems, which he has done in connection with the Geologist Chamberlain.

Prof. Moulton realizes that in the field of astronomy the vast majority of people are wholly without knowledge. He knows how to make his lectures not only plain to the uninitiated, but absorbingly interesting, as he throws upon the screen many views of the wonders of the heavens taken from observations at the Yerkes observatory.

He is not on the professional lecture platform. When asked to come to Duluth he said he did not care to come unless persons were really interested. Those who were corresponding with him assured him that persons were really interested, and therefore the public will have a chance to hear him.

Efficient Housekeeping

Converting the Family

ONE of the temper-trying, provoking things in the home woman's life is to have her family refuse to like foods that every other family she knows of enjoys. Think of the fun she misses in comparing recipes and trying to outdo her neighbors in results. Perfectly womanly is such effort and to be expected of every woman.

Of course you are thinking of the same thing I am, and that is salads. It is as hard to educate husbands and brothers to eat salad as it is to educate the public to attending a picture show where the film has been recommended by the leading ministers and club women of the city. But there is always a way. We made a mistake when we first began serving a salad course by introducing the contrary ones to sensible salads like lettuce, endive, cold vegetable and scrap-meat ones. Now turn over a new leaf and make a frivolous fruit affair. Heap whipped cream on it. Tell the folks it is very rich, indigestible and bad for them, and see how they will reach for it.

Here is the sort of salad for an introduction:

Pineapple and Celery Salad—Mix a can of shredded pineapple with one cup of diced celery hearts. Cover with white mayonnaise and dot with Mareschino cherries. Arrange this in the salad bowl with or without lettuce leaves. (I use cress.) Set the salad bowl on a round mirror decorated with cut-flowers or with holly and berries. When time for the salad course give this handsome dish the place of honor in the front of the host. If the family still declare they "don't like salad," hurl Elia Wheeler W——'s immortal lines at them:

"Eat and the world eats with you,
Starve and you starve alone."

To make white mayonnaise use the recipe for mayonnaise, but instead of the yolk of an egg use a tablespoon of unsweetened condensed cream. Beat the olive or salad oil into this and add the vinegar as usual.

When the family capitulates and agrees with you it is good form to have salad you may be as economical as you please to make up for the whipped cream and winter fruits you have educated them to their present state of mind with. Give them bean salad next. There is a small green lima bean sold in cans and in the dried form. Boil them until tender drain and cool and marinate with salt, pepper and vinegar. Make cups of heart leaves of lettuce with the help of orangewood toothpicks. Dress the beans with French dressing and place in the cups on individual plates. Cut tiny crisp red radishes into "roses," and garnish with these; add a little minced parsley over the top. Chill before serving. I mention the orangewood toothpicks because these are so smooth they do not shed slivers of wood when drawn out. Even tiny splinters are dangerous in foods, but these are safe to use as skewers.

Questions and Answers.

Can you recommend something to keep my small daughter's hair curly? It has always been so, but is now becoming straight.—Anxious.

Reply—Doubtless your little lass is growing up and losing her baby hair along with other precious things. Nothing will make her hair curly if nature has not endowed her with it. Brush it regularly night and morning and wait patiently. It may grow curly again.

Duluth Girl Writes Prize Composition

Miss Estelle St. Germain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. St. Germain of this city, carried off second prize in a composition contest open to the pupils of all the schools in Winnipeg, Manitoba and district.

"There is no sweeter nor more inspiring word than 'mother.' It is the name dearest to the heart of all mankind. The mere thought of its thrills me with joy. To me it is a beautiful musical strain. Mother is the word dearest to us all, because it is given to the one we love and cherish above all persons. Our mother is the ever blooming flower that adorns the home. Whether in poverty or wealth, she is God's greatest earthly gift to us. She brings us into the world. Under her careful guidance we learn to walk and talk. Her loving words and kisses fill our hearts with joy. Through babyhood and childhood she is our faithful guide and protectress. When we mention the word 'mother,' a beautiful vision appears before our eyes. We see our mother, our truest friend, guardian and consoler. She is our one and only friend in time of sadness or misfortune. We hasten to her side for consolation, and she takes us into her loving arms. When success comes our way, she is the first one to rejoice over our happy fortune. Our mother is our most precious treasure and, therefore, should be well taken care of. We should treat her with profound respect and love. When we are away from home and feeling sad our thoughts wonder back to one who is always thinking of us. Our sorrows soon vanish and sweet memories take their place. The sweetest word is indeed that of 'mother.'"

Mrs. Mitchell Will Speak on Literature

Mrs. Charles S. Mitchell will speak on "The Literature of Yesterday and Today" at the last meeting of the year which the department of education and home of the Twentieth Century club will hold at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the library clubroom. A social hour, with tea, will conclude the afternoon. The members of the other departments of the club and all other women who are interested are invited to attend.

Careful Preparations for Handling New York Orchestra Concert Crowd

The engagement of the New York Symphony orchestra, scheduled to appear in Duluth next Tuesday, bids fair to be like everything else the Matinee Musicale undertakes—an unqualified success. The advance sale has been larger than expected, and more than 2,000 reservations have already been made.

The local management has planned for special and adequate door service as well as a simple seating arrangement. For an orchestra of the size of the one scheduled for Tuesday there should not be a poor seat in the armory.

Commissioner Silberstein has detailed police at the corners of Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues on Superior street, on London road and Jefferson street corners, and inside the armory, to prevent any congestion. Thirteenth avenue will be used only for street car patrons. All automobiles, both from the east and west, will go down Fourteenth avenue, turning west on London road, and go up either Twelfth avenue or on down London road.

The street car company will give five-minute service on the East end, West end and West Duluth lines, while special Lakeside, Woodland and Hunter's Park cars will be added. A schedule for East Fourth cars, which will be announced later, is also planned, while cars will be run direct from the Superior hotel to the Armory on that night.

Besides regular cars for going home, special cars will be put into service. In fact, every available car and man in the company's employ will be called upon to help handle the crowds as quickly and conveniently as possible.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Influence of Man

"As the husband is the wife is," contrary to all that has been said about woman's power over man. Of course, there are a few exceptions to the rule, few, when you consider the men and women who have lived and died and been influenced either by one or the other.

History, everyone knows is replete with marvelous stories of the influences women have wielded over great men, of men who have sold their souls for a kiss or less, and then gladly laid their heads upon the block. The press has chronicled similar happenings. Men high in finance and public service, and in fact in all walks of life, yield to temptation and barter honor and position for a woman.

The woman in every such actual case is unworthy and holds sway over what is unworthy in man. A good wife or a good woman never leads a man to a sacrifice of this sort and it is doubtful if it is as much womanly influence as manly inclination that leads a man to his so-called sacrifice of all he should revere and hold sacred. I believe that there is scarcely a man who for the love of a woman alone has thrown everything to the winds in order to be all and all to her or to win favor in her eyes.

To prove the very slight influence women hold over men, look about among your women friends, those who are married, and compare their mannerisms, conduct and views upon every subject under the sun with those that they had before marriage. You will find that almost every single one of them are made over into duplicate editions of their lords and masters.

Men of manly qualities and strength of character are rarely influenced against their better judgment or against their will by women. Women, on the other hand, at least many of them, will sacrifice every principle they possess to please the man they love if the man is selfish enough to ask the tribute. It has always been that the woman has been subservient to the man. If women could wield any considerable influence over men, don't you think that there would be better men in the world? Most women's influence would be for good.

It is not because the woman does not sacrifice enough, pray and plead enough. It is that men are not the wielding sex. And when they do wield it is as much personal desire as any wish to please the woman in the case, and generally a little bit more.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson

Famine in the Woods

THERE came a day in the late, late winter, when even the old, experienced creatures went hungry. And the worst of it was they had thought the winter was almost over! Then, one day, without a speck of warning, the worst storm of the season swept the woods, covering everything eatable so deeply that it would take days to dig food out.

Slippy and Milly White-mouse in their well-stocked home in the cornfield fared the best of any, for they only had to dig deep enough into the stack to find all they could eat and more.

Bushy Beaver had a lean fare, but he had something, for the creek was not frozen solid, and he could find a stray bit here and there in its bottom.

But the flying squirrels and the owls and the raccoons and the weasels had a hungry time of it, poor things!

When at last the wind abated and they dared to stick their noses out of the shelters they had hidden in, the hungry folk peeped out to see what food was to be had.

"Ah me!" sighed mother Raccoon, "I hope my children are all safe. It isn't as though they were babies, of course, but I will feel safer when I know where they are." She sniffed around in the snow a bit and then she said, "I think I'll find something to eat; then I'll hunt up Billy and tell him where he, too, can find food."

So she slipped out from the dense thicket, where she had hidden during the storm, and hunted around for food, but not a bit could she find!

After a long hunt she gave it up—and just then she saw Billy! He, too, was hunting, and hunting busily—not a trace of his laziness was to be seen just then.

"Have you found anything to eat?" he asked, anxiously.

"Not a morsel," replied mother Raccoon.

"Then what shall we do?" asked Billy.

Mother Raccoon thought a minute.

"I had thought we would not have to do it this winter," she said, slowly, "for this has been what men of the woods call an 'open' winter. But I really believe that we had better sleep awhile."

"Have you found anything to eat?" he asked, anxiously.

"Sleep awhile!" exclaimed Billy. "What good will that do?"

Mother Raccoon laughed. "Such a question from a first cousin to a bear!" she exclaimed. "Didn't you know that you could go to sleep and sleep the whole winter without food if you wished?"

Billy stared.

"Yes, sir!" said mother Raccoon, her mind now fully made up. "There'll be no good food here till this snow begins to go. Let's go to that hollow sycamore and sleep!"

So Billy and his mother crept over to the hollow sycamore; crawled into the hollow, curled themselves into tight, warm balls, and went to sleep.

Sane Clothes for School Girls Advocated By Kansas City Club

"Resolved, That the Athenaeum commends the General Federation of Women's Clubs for its campaign on simplified, becoming and appropriate dress for women and school children, especially for girls of high school age, and offers its hearty co-operation in furthering education in this direction."

That's the straight-from-the-shoulder method the Athenaeum club of Kansas City has adopted for dress reform for school girls and, in addition to recommending the matter to the attention of the general federation, it recently devoted a meeting to the discussion of it. Kansas City women are heartily in sympathy with the proposed change from furbelows to plain clothes.

Rules to Be Followed.

As the consideration of appropriate clothes is part of the work of the General Federation of Women's clubs, it has drawn up the following rules, which have been recommended by Mrs. George W. Fuller, president of the Athenaeum club:

"First, individualism—every child should be trained to express her own ideas in her dress.

"Second, modesty, and by this is meant decency, not puritanism.

"Third, good taste, which will teach each woman the artistic way of bringing out her own individuality.

"Fourth, appropriateness. Young girls should not wear the styles made for middle-aged women and old women should not affect the modes of a 16-year-old.

"In all lines extremes are frowned upon."

To these Mrs. Fuller adds: "Appropriateness to the time of day is a rule which every woman should observe in her dress. Decollete should not be worn at afternoon affairs, nor are half-worn-out afternoon dresses suitable garb for shopping days. A few years ago several high school girls started wearing silk skirts to school. The fad spread so that the girl who did not have a silk skirt for school wear was not considered well dressed. To my mind silk dresses and skirts are most unsuitable for school wear."

At the special meeting held by the Athenaeum members and other Kansas City women who are interested in the subject, a principal of one of the schools said:

"I believe in the old fashioned doll baby teaching at home before the little girl is old enough for school. If the mothers would help their little daughters dress dolls; teach them what color combinations to make and what styles were best, the children would in time apply the things they learned to themselves."

Question of Uniforms.

The old question of uniforms, which has worked out satisfactorily in many boarding schools, has been discussed by the Kansas City girls.

"High school girls' clubs which are affiliated with the Y. W. C. A. are doing a great deal to make the girls' attitude toward dress more sane and sensible," said a woman who has taken the high school girl's dress seriously for several years and who finds many points in favor of a Peter Thompson.

"Recently one of these clubs brought the subject up for debate. The girls did not question the need of modifying the styles of high school girls' clothes. They only argued for and against a uniform.

"The affirmative said that a plain, modest uniform would promote democracy, would settle the problem of unsuitability, and teach a girl the need of proper grooming. One of the strongest arguments for the negative was that not all girls could afford a Peter Thompson. Also, they feared that a uniform would make for monotony. No conclusions were reached. The girls all agreed after the debate that if girls would all dress suitably the uniform would be unnecessary. And still many of them, especially those most poorly dressed, like the idea of a uniform."

Dress and Study.

Contrary to the opinion of most persons that the girls who pay a great deal of attention to their clothes are poor students, were the remarks of a teacher. She said:

"You will find," she says, "that often the girl who is a 'fussy dresser' is an excellent student. Sometimes the 'sloppy' girl shows a careless mind, but not always. And neatness and propriety in dress do not mean good grades.

"Girls who are working their way through school are often the most appropriately dressed students we have. Needless to say, they are never over dressed, and they usually have good taste and judgment in making their money buy suitable clothes."

This same teacher recommended domestic art as the most practical way of substituting suitable clothes for "fluffy ruffles." "Girls learn the proper textiles to buy and how to make their money go the farthest," she said. "They criticize fashions and decide upon the most becoming colors and lines for each girl in the class. This is helping to create a certain amount of student sentiment on the suitable way to dress, which will in time I think, be the real solution as to reform."

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

The "Common" Habit

"Common" has lately become the favorite word of a little neighbor of mine. She uses it on all occasions to describe anything which offends a recently-acquired exactingness of taste.

Now this little person was a very nice little person once on a time, unaffected, enthusiastic, friendly. And then a sad thing happened—a group of girls from a class a little better off financially than her own took her up. Her head was turned, she became affected, blase in her manner (at 17), and has acquired that odious habit to which I referred, of constantly finding people and faces and gowns, and goodness knows what, too "common" for her taste.

Equivalent to a Turned-Up Nose.

You know the way she says the word. It is equivalent to a turned-up nose in a less sophisticated person.

Of course you have met people who have the "common" habit! And don't you hate it—and sometimes find yourself on the verge of hating them, too? I must say I do.

If I were a minister I would take the text from Peter's lesson on the subject of religious snobbishness, "What God hath cleansed that call not thou common," and preach a good hot sermon on it to this class of people.

As if it made a thing odious that it was common and nothing could be beautiful unless it were uncommon!

Some of the Most Beautiful Things Common.

Why, some of the commonest things of life are the most beautiful—things like plain, ordinary sunshine and roadside flowers and clouds and dawns and stars and snowflakes and green grass and a mother's love and human kindliness and the first fluttering awakenings of sex love.

I know that the little person who calls everything she doesn't like "common," vaguely feels that she is elevating herself to an upper class by these distastes.

Poor, foolish little girl! She doesn't realize that the only upper class worth belonging to cannot be reached so easily and cheaply. The real aristocracy, the aristocracy of breeding in the finest sense of the word, is only to be reached by the toilsome road of self-improvement and self-conquest.

Don't try to get into it by shutting other people out with the word "common."

On the other hand, don't be blatant in your democracy—that's just as bad.

Say "Everybody Is as Good as I."

Don't say, "I'm as good as anybody!" If you must proclaim your democracy that way, say, "Everybody is as good as I," though, as a matter of fact, neither is true.

The right way to look at it, it seems to me, is that we're all just folks together, trying for better things, falling and trying again. Some have done better than others, some have been born with greater opportunities, some poor creatures have even stopped trying; no one on earth can know enough about motives and handicaps and opportunities and weaknesses and temptations to judge another or even himself; and to omniscience that can judge, perhaps, the difference between the best and the worst, the wisest and the most ignorant, the most refined and the coarsest is smaller far than we guess.

At the annual meeting of the Matinee Musicale here yesterday afternoon officers were elected for the coming year.

Mrs. J. N. McKindley was re-elected president. Mrs. E. D. Edson is first vice president, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. K. A. Ostergren. Mrs. Edson's office of second vice president will be filled by Miss Ruth Rogers, and Miss Carlotta Simonds is third vice president. Miss Bernice Crowley was re-elected treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Currie, re-elected recording secretary, and Mrs. Archibald L. McDonald re-elected corresponding secretary. Miss Gertrude Logan will act as librarian, taking the place of Mrs. Frank W. Spicer. Mrs. O. J. Larson, Mrs. George Richards and Mrs. Wayne E. Richardson were elected directors for two years, and those who still have a year to serve are Mrs. F. G. Bradbury, Mrs. Arthur N. Collins and Mrs. W. D. McGill.

Mrs. McKindly gave a short address in opening the program, paying particular tribute to those who have worked so earnestly for the success of the Matinee Musicale this year.

She expressed appreciation to the chorus and soloists for their faithful work in attending rehearsals of the cantata, "Undine," which was presented yesterday afternoon, and to the accompanists, Mrs. Dworshak, Mrs. Spicer and Miss Smith, who ably assisted, and to Miss Rogers for her energy and persistence in conducting.

The musical part of the program consisted of tenor numbers by Paul H. Van Hoven and violin numbers by Herbert Miska. Mr. Van Hoven, with Miss Florence Hyland as accompanist, sang "Roses" (Stephen Adams), "If You Would Love Me" (James G. MacDermid) and "Because" (d'Hardelot). Mr. Miska gave "Serenade" (Franz Drdla), accompanied by Erling Sodahl.

Master Owen J. Hunt, who was to have given a vocal number, was unable to sing.

School Survey Not Muck Raking, But Effort to Learn the Students' Needs

Suggestions for changes in the public school systems that would make them co-operate with the industries, and concrete examples taken from the Minneapolis survey and the work that is now being accomplished at the Dunwoody Industrial institute of that city, were given by C. A. Prosser of the Dunwoody institute, who spoke at the Commercial club last night, under the auspices of the Woman's Council, on "What an Educational Survey Means."

The audience of about 300, included school principals and teachers, club women and business men. The assembly room at the Commercial club was filled to its capacity, many standing throughout the lecture. Supt. R. E. Denfeld introduced the speaker.

Not Muck Raking.

"An educational survey is not muck raking," Mr. Prosser said. "It means the diagraming of the facts connected with the school system, after a careful investigation of the individual needs of the various industries in the community and the making of the school system to conform to those needs. To find out the needs go to the employers. They can tell you the needs, but it requires educators to formulate the courses, as business men are not used to thinking in terms of programs."

Mr. Prosser confined his talk to industrial courses only. He said that he held 186 conferences last summer with men representing all the angles of each trade, employers, employes, union men and non-union men. One result of the survey is that boys who have taken two years' industrial training in a particular kind of work are hired at the wages that are paid to one who has worked two years at the trade.

Value of Short Courses.

It was the general opinion of those who met in conference that a series of short courses would be of far greater value than one long course. Acting on this suggestion, the Dunwoody institute has introduced ten short courses to a series. The entire series may be taken or a man may take only certain ones. For instance, the courses offered to carpenters include one in arithmatic, one in stair building, one in roof making and so on. About 70 per cent of the men are taking all the courses.

"We are going to give a certificate for each short course," said Mr. Prosser. "We have engaged a hall and we are going to fill it and have the men who have earned the certificates seated down in front and President Vincent is going to make a rapid fire speech and the Dunwoody band is going to play. We are going to make it just as important an event as we can. We want to show those men that society appreciates their efforts to become more efficient. That, after all, is patriotism."

Regarding the impractical courses that are offered in some schools, Mr. Prosser told of visiting a class in pattern making in a school in a distant city. There were sixty-four boys in the class and investigation showed that only four men were employed as pattern makers in the entire community.

Useful and Useless Courses.

"There are more persons engaged in salesmenship in Minneapolis than in any other single occupation," he said. "There are more sales persons than there are stenographers and bookkeepers combined, but it is only recently that courses in salesmenship have been given.

"We found the high schools giving four-year commercial courses. In the freshmen and sophomore years commercial branches were barely touched on, and when we asked the cause of this, we were told, 'We don't want to give them anything useful in the first two years, because if we did, they would not complete the course.' That is very well for those who can afford to stay in school four years, but what about those who can afford only two years in high school? They are entitled to instruction as well as the others. We found the commercial colleges crowded to the doors, and the tuitions were paid by those who could least afford them.

"Correspondence schools take a great deal of money out of a city. They are all right for the 10 per cent who have high school, or even elementary education, who are quick and who have the will to make themselves study; but for the other 90 per cent they are not of great help, and the schools should be doing their work."

Buying School Property.

Mr. Prosser spoke also of the problem of school property, recommending that the school board buy land in new districts when for a small amount a large lot could be obtained, instead of waiting until the demand for a school was urgent and a great deal had to be paid for a small lot that would not give sufficient playgrounds. "The telephone companies know in which directions the city is going to grow," he said. "They have planned their branch exchanges ten years ahead. Go to them to find out where you ought to buy property for the schools of the future."

Mr. Prosser spoke to the school principals at a dinner which they held at the Glass Block tearooms last night.

HELEN WARE AT ORPHEUM-STRAND

"Divine Sarah" Bernhardt Will Appear in Photoplay Friday.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt in "Jeanne Dore" will be seen at the Orpheum-Strand for four days beginning Friday.

This will be the first time the famous French tragedienne has been seen in photoplay in Duluth and the Orpheum-Strand management looks upon the event as the most important engagement since the theater has been showing motion pictures.

The current attraction at the Orpheum-Strand is Miss Helen Ware in "Secret Love," a picturization of Frances Hodgson Burnett's famous story, "That Lass O' Lowrie's."

Miss Ware in a recent interview spoke of her role as follows: "The role I have in 'Secret Love' is about the most congenial I ever played. The emotions of the rugged child of the coal-mining life, as I adapt them to myself, carry an appeal that amounts almost to fascination.

"The portrayal of the leading character in 'Secret Love' calls for the widest possible sweep of emotion. First is seen the girl as the rugged worker in the coal pits—doing a man's work in a man's way. As the story develops there is opportunity for the display of every possible feeling from the heights of joy to the depths of despair; for a show of tender womanliness and for a resort to the firmer texture of womanly nature.

"Those who have read Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's engaging novel, 'That Lass o' Lowrie's,' will see the novel visualized in 'Secret Love.' The original title was not descriptive enough for theatrical purposes, and so the new title was given to the film that those who had not read the book would understand something of its literary construction. It is a rugged tale, forcefully drawn by Miss Ware and a splendid supporting company; full of sensations and with three different love stories entwined around the 'thrills.'"

Theater Gossip.

MR. WARFIELD'S LEADING WOMAN

There is no position perhaps that is so much sought after by aspiring young actresses as that of leading woman for David Warfield, who comes to the Lyceum theater for two nights, commencing Monday, March 27, in the latest Belasco play, "Van Der Decken." The young actress who is fortunate enough to be chosen for this post is certain to be denoted from the rank and file of the profession, and to acquire a certain prestige which is undeniable. Mr. Warfield has been appearing before the public in his various successes for the last fifteen years, and during this entire period he has had but four leading women.

In "The Music Master," the leading feminine role, that of Helen Stanton, Von Barwig's daughter, was first played by Frances Starr. She appeared in the role but four weeks, however, as Mr. Belasco then elevated her to a stellar position in "The Rose of the Rancho." Miss Starr was succeeded in turn by Minnie Dupree, who also attained a stellar position later, and has since retired from the stage. Janet Dunbar followed Miss Dupree in the leading role of "The Music Master." Later she originated the ingenue lead in "The Return of Peter Grimm," and also played Helga in Mr. Warfield's revival of "The Auctioneer."

Miss Jane Cooper, Mr. Warfield's newest leading woman in "Van Der Decken," is a California girl, a graduate of Leland Stanford university, and studied for the stage under the guidance of Mme. Marie Samary, the noted French elocutionist. Most of Miss Cooper's dramatic preparation was gained in France, where she studied all of the leading feminine roles in the plays of Moliere and Racine. Going to London she made her first appearance on the English stage in Cyril Maude's company when that actor-manager produced "The Little Cafe." Her first American appearance was in the company of Mrs. Patrick Campbell in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," which play the noted English star put on for special matinee performances during her engagement at Wallack's theater, New York, in "Pygmalion."

MAY ROBSON IN COMEDY AT ZELDA.

For three days beginning with today's show, the Zelda theater will present May Robson in a five part feature comedy, "A Night Out." This is said to be Miss Robson's greatest success. Those unfortunates who are to toe the line of rigid conservatism and to over-subdue their spirits during youth, often, when old age arrives, leap from the fetters of self-restraint and proceed to make up for lost time in enjoying the pleasures of life. Such a one is "Granmum" (May Robson), the main figure in this play. When now and again "Granmum's" safety valve pops off, and she just must do some "wicked" thing or other—such as play cards or read trashy novels—she has to keep her weather eye peeled for storms, which are sure to emanate from her ultra-strict daughter, Mrs. Haslem (Flora Finch), who positively cannot countenance anything that departs from absolute decorum. She even sees to it that her own two wild, spirited sons are in bed at 10 o'clock each night.

This, however, does not prevent these two clever youths from escaping shortly after and sneaking forth to the Three Lights cafe. "Granmum" catches them and makes the boys take her out for one big "time," then the fun begins.

BILLIE BURKE CLOSES AT REX.

"Hell's Hinges" is a lawless, rough town of the West. In conquering it, William S. Hart, a Triangle star, goes through many perils that even in making the pictures are real dangers and not imaginary. Being a dead-shot, the parts the playwright has given him, put him to the supreme tests of daring. The story itself is both touching and thrilling.

Rev. Robert Henley (Jack Standing) and his sister Faith (Clara Williams) come to "Hell's Hinges" from the East. A band of "tough" men and women from the dance hall kept by Silk Miller (Alfred Hollingsworth) disturb the minister's meeting. Blaze Tracy (William S. Hart) drives out the "bunch," when one offers insult to Faith. Hart is a "good sort" of 'bad man." The play as written for him is clean and wholesome.

Beginning tomorrow, Hart in "Hell's Hinges" with a Keystone comedy are to be seen at the Rex. Today and tonight Billie Burke will close her return engagement at the Rex.

THRILLING ALPINE PLAY AT LYRIC.

"Out of the Drifts," which comes to the Lyric today and tomorrow, is a story of the Alps and the everlasting snows, in which Marguerite Clark, is seen battling not only for life itself against the elements, but to save herself from a fiend in human form with whom she became penned in a cabin, when an avalanche of snow submerges them.

The scenery makes possible some of the finest camera work. This vivacious little satellite, Marguerite Clark, shines in the plot. Strong supporters, such as William Courtleigh, Jr., J. W. Johnston, Ivan Simpson, Robert Conville and Kitty Brown, give Miss Clark all the co-operation in her emotional part that could be desired. It is a Daniel Frohman production.

DISCUSS CREAMERY WITH PALO FARMERS

Aurora, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent, and M. R. Benedict, agricultural instructor in the local schools, went into the farming country south of Aurora this morning to discuss the creamery situation and other agricultural matters with the farmers of the Palo district. There are about 300 farmers south of Aurora. They have several farmers' clubs and are making rapid progress on the land.

ASHLAND WOMAN IS CALLED TO BAUDETTE

Baudette, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Peter E. Rude of Ashland, Wis., was called here by the serious illness of her daughter, Mrs. C. J. Johnson. When she arrived Mrs. Johnson had been taken on a stretcher to International Falls to the hospital to be operated on. Mr. Johnson, Miss Zimmerman, a trained nurse, and her sister, Mrs. Iver M. Nesje, went with her.

CASHES ANOTHER'S CHECK.

Lumberjack Arrested on a Forgery Charge at Mellen, Wis.

Mellen, Wis., March 22.—James Riley, lumberjack, working for the Foster-Latimer Lumber company in a camp near here, is under arrest charged with forging and cashing a pay check belonging to another woodsman for $35. It is said that when Riley went to the office of the concern to draw his time, the clerk instead of giving him a check for $11 due him, by mistake gave him a $35 check due another, which Riley took, cashed and proceeded to spend when he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Haliday at Marengo.

HERALD IS READ IN BELGIAN TRENCHES

At least two former Duluthians now serving in the trenches on the Belgian battle front are readers of The Herald, and are pursuing with interest the daily happenings of the city at the Head of the Lakes. These soldiers are M. Lapeau, whose address is now "A 103, Second regiment, de legne Belge, Fourth battalion, First companie, Armie Belge, Belgium, Europe," and Gunner F. Coker, 6562, A battery, R. C. H. A., Belgium, Europe.

Both of these men wrote to The Herald some time ago, saying that they wished to keep in touch with the "home" folks. Mr. Lapeau asked for a few copies of The Herald and was placed on the subscription list. A letter was received from him today, acknowledging receipt of the papers sent him and giving his new address.

Mrs. Millen was called to Miles early in the winter an account of the continued illness of her father and has been there ever since.

HOAN LEADS BADING.

Social Democrat Got More Votes Than Milwaukee Mayor.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 22.—The total vote at yesterday's primary election for the two nominees for mayor was: Hoan, Social Democrat, 21,298, and Bading, present incumbent, non-partisan, 16,122. There was but one Social Democratic candidate for head of the ticket. The total non-partisan vote for mayor was 28,446.

GRAND FORKS HAS RE-ELECTED DINNIE

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—James A. Dinnie was re-elected mayor of Grand Forks yesterday, defeating his opponent, A. G. Sorlie, by a plurality of 259 votes.

Election day fell on the thirty-fifth anniversary of Dinnie's arrival in Grand Forks. His plurality was greater than when he defeated Sorlie two years ago. Other officers elected were Jacob Welsh, treasurer; Max Rabinovich, park commissioner, and R. J. Purcell, city justice.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Sir Anthony Van Dyck born, 1599.

Next to Rubens, the most important portrait painter of the Flemish school; also figure painter and etcher. Father a silk mercer, mother famed for skill in embroidery. Became Ruben's assistant and friend, and lived in his house. Began the best part of his life's work in Genoa, where his style, founded on Rubens but developing an ingenuity of its own, was influenced by the Venetian masters, rivaling Titian in splendor of color. Returning to Antwerp, did his best work in friendly rivalry with Rubens. Invited to England, 1632, by English king, was knighted and pensioned, and his royal portraits are among his best known work. Married an English lady at the king's request. Died in London, 1641.

DULUTH NEEDS A SCHOOL SURVEY.

There can be few in the surprisingly and encouragingly large number of citizens that heard C. A. Prosser at the Commercial club last night who remain today unconvinced that a school survey would be a splendid investment for Duluth.

An educational system should conform to the requirements of its community—to its industrial requirements no less than to its cultural. Indeed, what value is culture to a man or woman who, through the fault of a defective educational system, has not found or been trained for his proper niche in life, and who therefore lacks the contentment and comfort of one who has found his task and gets joy and profit in doing it?

Mr. Prosser, to illustrate the point, told a story. There was an Eastern community with a high school where a complete and practical course in pattern-making, designed to turn out equipped pattern-makers, was provided. This course had sixty students. The survey showed that in that territory but four pattern-makers were employed, and that there was small chance for the employment of more.

On the other hand—and much more likely—there might be a great demand in a community for pattern-makers or other skilled workers, and the schools might be taking no steps at all to meet the demand.

A school survey would show what this community needs and what it will need. It will show whether or not the schools are meeting those needs. If they are not, it will show how the need can be met.

A school survey would show whether the community is getting due value for its large investment in its school plant. It would show whether the school system is or is not aimed in the right direction and is or is not taking the proper route to the end in view.

A school survey would be simply a common sense, businesslike method of producing full efficiency in the school system.

Duluth by all means should have a school survey, and the Woman's Council, which is working for one, should have all possible support.

Dr. Brady's castigation of castor oil should endear him to the juvenile heart for all time to come.

THE PUZZLE OF RAILROAD CONTROL.

Clifford Thorne, chairman of the Iowa railroad commission, has been asked by railroad commissioners of other states, including Minnesota, to take steps to investigate reports that the railroads are seeking to put themselves wholly under Federal control, thus doing away entirely with state regulation.

It is only theoretically that this would be a bad thing. Practically it is a thing that the country probably will have to come to.

The present situation is anomalous. The railroads are interstate institutions. They knit the several parts of the country together, and though they transact business in the several states, their business is largely interstate and it is as interstate carriers that they are most largely considered.

The Federal government now regulates traffic betwen the states, and the states—some of them at least—are supposed to regulate traffic within their own borders. Yet, as the Minnesota cases showed, the dividing line between interstate and intrastate traffic is invisible, if it exists at all. State laws governing rates between points in Minnesota, for instance, inevitably affect interstate rates, and vice versa. It is hard for a state to fix intrastate rates without affecting interstate conditions as well, and it is virtually impossible for the Federal government to fix interstate rates without affecting intrastate rates.

There is one national government, and forty-eight states. No railroad runs through all the states, but nearly all of them touch two or more, and some of them cross many states. No two state systems of regulation are alike. A railroad crossing a dozen states must abide by, if it can, the Federal regulations and the dozen different sets—perhaps contradictory—provided by the states.

Obviously, the move to put the railroads wholly under Federal regulation is in the direction of simplicity and efficiency. It will be better for the railroads, naturally, and that's why they want it. But it will be better for the patrons of the railroads also, and will give the states a chance to turn their machinery to other uses.

The opposition to a single Federal system of railroad regulation is based on a theory of state rights, but its arguments so far are unconvincing.

If Mr. Estabrook continues to make the same showing in the primaries that he did in Minnesota and North Dakota he will eventually develop into a darkened horse.

A SCORE FOR B. SUNDAY.

Billy Sunday, who seems to be the Charley Chaplin of the pulpit, is very active and much talked about. On the whole, though his theology seems barbarously antiquated, probably he is doing a great deal of good.

There are complaints that he is making too much money. Until we are more critical than we usually are of how other people's money is made, we ought not to be captiously critical of Sunday's profits. At any rate he is making his money in a work that is beyond cavil.

And one can forgive him a good deal of money-making for one such story of his work as this:

One of his converts in Trenton, New Jersey, was W. C. Foster. Foster is manager of the Straus Woolen Mills. One night he went up the sawdust trail, and the very next day he raised the wages of his hundreds of employes ten per cent, increasing the pay roll at his mills twenty thousand dollars a year.

Asked to explain why he did it, he said: "Christianity that doesn't work for the good of the folks associated with you, as well as for your own good, is not of much account."

Billy Sunday's theology may be atrocious, but this sample of the results of his Christianity analyzes a hundred per cent fine gold.

At any rate Paris, Texas, probably wasn't set afire by bombs from a Zeppelin.

A GREAT TAX COLLECTOR.

Something to worry about: Uncle John Rockefeller is said to have been a tax collector in a former incarnation.—Toledo Blade.

For Mr. Rockefeller has been the greatest and most successful tax collector of his or any other day. Out of the necessity of his fellow man he has collected a tax mounting to something like a billion dollars, more or less.

But then, by shrewdly taking up and applying practically the ingenious inventions and ideas of men who mostly remained poor, he has EARNED part of this tax he has collected—say about a million, which is enough for any man and about all that can be EARNED.

The rest has been a tax which he collected and kept. One redeeming feature of this great tax collector is that he is so unlike some of his royal predecessors, who spent their collections in sumptuous luxuries and riotous living. He hasn't spent very much of his collections at all, but has lived frugally and simply, and still lives so; hence his good fortune in living to an advanced age and having strength left for daily golf.

MAKES IT SO MUCH EASIER.

What a blessing it is for some congressmen that there is no Mexican-American vote in the home districts to worry about!

No doubt Villa, too, is asking his countrymen whether they feel in a heroic mood.

CIVILIANS KILLED IN THE WAR.

According to Premier Asquith, the war has taken toll of the lives of British civilian non-combatants to the number of 3,153. These lives have been taken in Zeppelin raids and through the sinking of merchant vessels by mines or submarines.

A Berlin official report puts the number of German civilians killed by hostile artillery and by air raids at 1,043, "including many women and children." Asquith might have added the same note to his statement.

This is one of the ugliest sides of the unredeemed ugliness of war. But what stands out above all else is the gross stupidity of it. The British lives taken by the sinking of the Lusitania and the Zeppelin air raids, and the German lives taken by French and English air machines, not to speak of the neutrals who have suffered, not only resulted in no gain for those who took them, but a deadly injury to their cause. Nothing has harmed the cause of any of the belligerents more than such depredations. Yet they still continue, and are no prettier or more helpful when they are labeled "reprisals."

And yet it is doubtful if Villa's love for his fellow countrymen goes to the extent of being willing to be the central figure in the making of a Mexican holiday.

Plotting.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "The cook wants to borrow something from the library. Shall I let her have it?"

"Certainly. If she gets interested in a story she may stay until she finishes it. Give her one of those long English novels in four volumes."

Many Do It.

Washington Star: "Are you going to make a professional man of your boy Josh?"

"Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel. "He's got to do something that'll give him a chance of gettin' by by sittin' still an' lookin' like he was thinkin.'."

Talks on Thrift

Issued by the American Bankers' Association.

Discounting a Note.

It so happens in business that all payments cannot be made in cash, for most of the business is done on credit in one form or another. Small purchases and many of the daily expenditures are cash transactions; but business as a whole moves on credit, the form depending upon the customs characteristic of that peculiar business. The most common form of credit is the book account, where goods are sold and "charged" to the purchaser. When you go into the grocer's and tell him to "charge it," you are opening a credit with him in the form of a book account. This is common to all retailing transactions. But in the larger dealings, the credit is in the form of a promissory note, which is merely a written promise to pay a sum certain, in money, to a designated person, firm or corporation, at a stipulated time. Hundreds of thousands of these notes are made every day. They are given, merchant to merchant, in payment of debts resulting from the sale of goods, and while they settle the debt must themselves be paid in money, in order that the obligation may be finally discharged, for a promise never liquidates a debt.

If these promises could be treated as money and passed from hand to hand, they might answer very well, but they are of non-uniform denomination, their goodness is a matter not commonly known, and even though the maker might be "as good as the government," few know it and few would take the risk.

And if the holder could wait until maturity, he would get cash from the promiser. But he does not want to wait that long—he wants to turn his evidence of debt into money at once; for with money—real money—he can get better terms, and for certain purposes, such as paying laborers, he must use cash. There must, therefore, be some medium through which he can turn this promise into money before it is due—for a price—and that medium is the bank. The process of doing this is called discounting, which in other words means buying the paper. A simple illustration will explain.

Suppose A sells B a bill of goods on three months' credit. A does not want to wait while B sells the goods and gets the money to pay him, and, therefore, offers to take B's note for the amount. But the note is not money, and if A would use the money, he must find someone who will give him money for it. He might find someone who, for the hope of gain, would advance the money; but the logical place to get this done is the bank, for the bank always has money. It knows men and their ability to keep their promises, and can judge the quality of the risk. A therefore offers the note to his banker, who says in substance: "I think B is good for this amount. If you will indorse—promise to pay if he does not—I will buy that paper evidence of debt from you." Let us say it is for $100, due in three months. The banker knows that at the end of three months he will get the $100, and so gives A $98.50 for it, the $1.50 being interest on the money for that time at 6 per cent. Ordinarily the banker would not give A the cash, but credit his account, with the privilege of checking against it, which is virtually the same thing.

Now, what is the result. A sold his goods and got his money at once. B had three months to sell the goods to get the money to pay the note when the banker presented it at maturity. A could use the $98.50 to buy more goods to sell to C, and the bank has made a profit of $1.50 for taking the risk. That is what banks are for—to take risks, to know men, to help business and make profits for itself. And this it does to a very marked degree. We could not do business very well without this help. It is one of the indispensable adjuncts of business. The promises of business men held in the national banks of the country alone amount to more than three billion dollars.

Standing By the Country

New York Times: In a letter to a constituent who congratulated him upon his vote, the solitary Minnesota vote, against the Gore resolution, Senator Knute Nelson writes:

> I was not surprised at Senator Clapp's action. I am surprised at our delegation in the house. If they thought they were playing smart politics, they are mistaken; and if they knuckled down to the German propaganda in favor of the German vote, they made a mistake, because all of our voters are not of German descent. As for me, I felt that I could not do otherwise than stand by the American government in this matter.
> America has done so much for me that I owe it everything and I could not do less than stand by our country; and I mean to stand by it at all hazards in time of war or peace.

Plain, straightforward Americanism. How can the crawlers, fourteen of the senate, the 142 of the house, read without shame and hanging of the head these words of an American who stands by his country all the time? And while they are counting noses and nationalities among their constituents, they are losing votes by the very means they seek to get them. There would be no hope for the United States if the mass of its people were divided into groups whose birth or descent was to affect or determine its policies. The majority of Americans feel and act as Senator Nelson does: they stand by the country in peace or war; and they have mighty little use for a public man who thinks more of a handful of votes or the demands of an alien group than he does of his country.

Awful!

New Orleans States: Everybody will agree that if Sweden should plunge into the European war it will put a terrible strain on Minnesota's neutrality.

Rippling Rhymes

Learning the Auto.

I'm learning the automobile; as, trembling, I sit at the wheel, and steer her along, through the hurrying throng, how nervous and awkward I feel. I jolt people out of their lids, I run over chickens and kids; a spurt she will throw when I want to go slow, she scampers, skedaddles and skids. I sweat, and I'm weak in the knees, when swift around corners she flees, she whimpers and whirs and she gurgles and purrs, and runs into fences and trees. My courage she constantly damps by running down bow-wows and tramps; she collided today with a big heavy dray, and busted her fenders and lamps. I drive her around for an hour, this engine of terrible power; wherever I stray, on my death-dealing way, of feathers and fur there's a shower. At night, when I go to my bed, fierce nightmares abide in my head; I dream my new truck is just running amuck, and leaving a windrow of dead. I run over chickens and goats, I run over roosters and shotes; and oft, in my dream, do I raucously scream, "My auto is feeling her oats!"

A World's Center

By F. W. Fitzpatrick.

In a recent editorial the Saturday Evening Post sapiently remarks: "A customs union embracing the twenty-odd states that now compose the German empire was a precursor of the empire. Teutonic advices indicate that a customs union including Germany and Austria-Hungary is coming. It may well prove the forerunner of a closer political bond between the two empires. Mutual tariff arrangements for England, France, Russia and Italy are discussed. That also may bring more extensive federation.

"At first, of course, the two great tariff combinations would confront each other hostilely. But the moment peace is signed war hatreds will begin to cool before the civilizing desire for trade. Trade has been the great civilizer, breaking the barriers and opening the roads between nations. It will play its beneficent part again. One can imagine a time when the states of Europe will sit down together to discuss tariff—and then other things.

"If that imagining should come true, what will the United States be doing? We believe finally in a more or less closely articulated world federation; in a coming time when a man will put no more emphasis on his citizenship in France, as against citizenship in England or Germany, than a man now puts on citizenship in Minnesota as against citizenship in Texas. Certainly he will be a Frenchman, with French culture, ideals, modes of thought and feeling, producing French art and philosophy. But he will have complete respect for the English, German and Russian man; he will not want to set up invidious comparisons and animosities against them; he will be content to be French, yet co-operate fully with them in many large common intertests."

In other serious journals, in congress, in colleges and societies, wherever thinking men assemble or express themselves you'll find similar tendencies toward internationalism, suggestions of an international court, the abolition of national militarism and the substitution of an international police force, inviolable freedom of the seas, etc., etc. The great war seems to have centered the world's attention upon internationalism as the salve nearest to a panacea it can think of for the ills that so sorely afflict it today.

All this brings to mind the oldest and most advanced scheme of all in the field of nationalism, the movement started many years ago to establish at some central point a great world's center, a world's capital city, really an international clearing house for all matters of state, things scientific, financial, educational and sociological, etc., etc., the creation of a world library, a world university and perhaps a world market. A project that may appear visionary but that is most practical, sane and feasible.

A society with branches in every European country has been established. Good work has already been done, but strangely enough, less of it here—the land of its birth—than in any other country. The king of Italy is the president of that society, King George, Emperor William, the czar and President Poincare have taken and—though some of them are not now exactly on speaking terms—they are severelly taking a very lively interest in the matter and all the great national societies of Europe are working at it with renewed vigor. It may seem a bit paradoxical, perhaps, but the war has really advanced the project farther than it could have traveled in twenty years of peace.

The American sculptor, Hendrik Christian Andersen, the conceiver of the idea and the active head of the society, has his headquarters in Rome. He has had most careful surveys made of perhaps twenty different locations, including the possible one in this country on our New Jersey shore, and has supervised the making of a really wonderful set of drawings, designs of the different proposed buildings and groups and plans of the city, by the great French architect, Benard. Mr. Andersen will exhibit all these plans at The Hague this summer and in this country next autumn, an exhibition that it is hoped will create a general interest in the project in this country. It is but seemly that the greatest advocate and exponent of peace should take a prominent part among nations in the establishment of what can so well be called "A Peace City."

What Wilson Has Done

Philadelphia Public Ledger (Rep.): Our foreign affairs are not in a satisfactory position. Will any opponent of the president name a country whose foreign affairs are satisfactory to it? A war involving thirteen nations, including five of the greatest in the world, is not likely to leave the relations of any nation with the others entirely satisfactory.

The president has kept the country at peace, and yet has constantly and firmly maintained the obligations of international law, even amid arms. Could anyone else have done more? Could the president have maintained the obligations of international law and the rights of Americans more vigorously, unless he had involved the country in war? Ex-Senator Burton's notion that some Republican president could have averted all controversy with both Germany or Great Britain is too childish to discuss. We refer to it again merely to show how ridiculous and unscrupulous the attacks on the president are. Root, Beck, Choate and Burton, who have denounced the president, are very careful not to specify what he ought to have done.

The Knocker and the Booster.

Chicago Press Club Scoop: The card hereunder was sent by Billy Pinkerton to Lou M. Houseman at New York. Its authorship is unknown, but it is worth keeping:

"When the Creator had made all the good and beautiful things in order that they might be truly appreciated, He made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects.

"When He had finished, He had left-over scraps that were too bad to put in the Rattlesnake, the Hyena, the Scorpion or the Skunk; so He placed all these together, covered the awful heap with Suspicion, wrapped it with Jealousy, marked it with a Yellow Streak, and called it a Knocker.

"Then, as a compensation for this fearful product, He took a sunbeam and put it in the heart of a child, the love of a mother, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet and a grasp of steel, and called it a Booster.

"He made him a lover of fields and flowers, and manly sports; a believer in equality and justice.

"Ever since these two were created, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates."

Gold! Gold!

Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold!
Bright and yellow, hard and cold,
Molten, graven, hammered and rolled;
Heavy to get and light to hold;
Hoarded, bartered, bought and sold,
Stolen, borrowed, squandered, doled,
Spurned by the young, but hugged by the old,
To the very verge of the churchyard mold;
Price of many a crime untold.

Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold!
Good or bad a thousandfold,
How widely its agencies vary;
To save, to ruin, to curse, to bless,
As even its minted coins express,
Now stamped with the image of Good Queen Bess,
And now of a Bloody Mary.

Amendment No. 1

How a Most Vital Proposal is Being Brought to the Front.

The Good Work Has Begun.

It isn't often that a state is offered such a good proposal for general action by the voters that the entire press can unite in enthusiastic support of it. But that is the case in Minnesota this year. Here is what the Bemidji Pioneer says of it: "Amendment No. 1 provides for a $250,000 revolving fund to be used to clear small tracts on state lands before its sale to settlers. The idea is simply that the state will extend the use of its credit and in return there will be placed on the tax rolls a large number of prosperous farmers in every county in which the state has lands for sale."

Get Into the Campaign.

It isn't a one-paper or a one-section affair, this proposed change in our state Constitution. The press is taking it up with a will, for it is generally recognized that the whole state needs the benefits that it will make possible. If you are unfamiliar with its terms, here they are as told by the Brainerd Dispatch: "At the general election this fall 'Amendment No. 1' will come before the voters for their approval or rejection and a campaign of education has already been started in order that the voters may become familiar with its provisions. The amendment provides that 'a revolving fund of not over two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) may be set apart from the fund derived from the sale of school lands and swamp lands, to be used in constructing roads, ditches and fire-breaks, through, in and around and in clearing such lands, such fund to be replenished as long as needed from the enhanced value realized from the sale of such lands as benefited.'"

It Needs a Majority of All Votes Cast.

No mere majority of the votes cast on this proposition will do the work—it will need a majority of all the votes cast in the election. And as there will be a lot of them—probably more than ever before—this from the St. Hilaire Spectator is timely: "The people of Minnesota will vote on several proposed amendments to the Constitution this fall and the most important one is Amendment No. 1. Few amendments proposed in later years have had the merits of this one, and the people should see that it gets a solid vote."

"All Be Boosters."

It's a matter of interest to everybody to have this amendment adopted. Senator Nord is doing some good work for it, and so are others. The Northome Record swelled the chorus thus: "We are in receipt of a letter from Senator L. H. Nord, in which he gives information about Amendment No. 1 and the importance and need of its adoption to Koochiching county. We should all be boosters and do all we can to give this amendment the widest publicity."

It Is Placed Well.

Being first in importance among the amendments proposed, it is only right that this should be Amendment No. 1 on the ballots next fall—a fact that is getting praise from the state press, including the following from the Warroad Pioneer: "Julius Schmahl used his ordinary good sense in making up the ballot on constitutional amendments. The revolving fund is No. 1, farm loans is No. 2, and the sale of ore under lake beds is No. 3. Vote for amendments Nos. 1, 2 and 3 next fall. The other five are of minor importance."

Keep It in Mind.

The Laporte News does well to remind its readers not to forget No. 1 in the mass of other things to vote on. The News says: "As there is not only a United States president to be elected this fall, but also a senator, representatives and other state officers, as well as members of the legislature, it will not be surprising if many voters should lose sight of the proposed constitutional amendment which means so much to the people of the state, especially the people in Northern Minnesota."

Brief Paragraphs From the Wolverine State Press.

What Villa Overlooked.

Marquette Chronicle: Villa should have talked things over with Aguinaldo before starting anything so rash. He might have learned some things about one Gen. Funston that would have caused Villa to hesitate.

The Minnesota Delegation.

Marquette Mining Journal: Senator Cummins has the Minnesota delegates to the Republican national convention. He got them without opposition, and is assured of possessing them for a ballot or two. If they stick longer it will be for the reason that the unexpected has happened and that the senator has become a real presidential possibility. But their major interest will likely be shown in the debate over Roosevelt, Hughes and Root, and the question which one of this outstanding trio shall be put forward as the party's candidate.

What's In a Name.

Hancock Copper Journal: At this distance from the scene of operations it looks a bit odd that the merchants of the Bowery, one of New York's most famous streets, should be so short-sighted as to petition the board of aldermen that their immortal thoroughfare be rechristened Central Broadway. What a change from a thrilling to a pale and characterless name. The Bowery people say that the once popular ditty about the socks in the auction store and the refrain, "I'll never go there any more," has hurt business. On the contrary, the advertising must have brought countless thousands of visitors into the street, with inevitable trade in their wake. Central Broadway, indeed! Where is the age, the flavor, the pulling power of such a name as that?

Then He'd Lose By Default.

Saginaw News: Possibly by the time the senate gets ready to report on the Brandeis nomination the appointee will conclude that he doesn't care for the job anyway.

Yet the Irish Do Not Love War.

Manchester Guardian: A contingent of Irish recruits were leaving their native village for the military center, amid cheers from the assembled villagers and the departing men. Suddenly one of the recruits called for "Three cheers for the kaiser." When the contingent arrived at its destination this man was called up before the officer in charge and asked what he meant by such conduct. He was quite cheerful about it. "Och, colonel," he said, "you don't understand Ireland. If it hadn't been for the kaiser there'd have been no blooming war."

The Endless Walk

From Current Opinion.

The following is from a letter of a Jewish mother somewhere in the war zone, propably in Galicia. It was read at a recent meeting held in New York city for the purpose of raising funds for Jewish victims of the war.

It is winter; not a mild winter, a cold one; bitter cold.

All day we have been walking.

We have no idea where we are going. When a soldier says "Move," a Jew must obey. So Chaia, Berl and I move.

Our furniture we left behind.

Chaim, our eldest son, is in the army, and we are walking.

We have been walking since 6 o'clock in the morning.

Chaia leans on me, I lean on my stick, and Berl is carried, sometimes in my arms and sometimes in Chaia's.

I look at old Reb Srul, bent and worn like a reed in the wind; he, too, walks. Occasionally I talk to him. I try to console him; soon, soon it shall end, this constant walking. We will be placed somewhere and be allowed to remain.

But he only sighs, looks up to heaven, and repeats the word "Peace."

Night comes. We have been walking for twelve hours. Some have fallen by the road, but we cannot stop, we must walk.

We are crowded into a dilapidated barn; it's cold, bitter cold in there.

Surah, the feeble-minded one, has just had an epileptic fit. Reb Srul does not feel well. He is pale; I go to the door to speak to a soldier.

"A doctor, please," I plead. "The old man is dying."

All night we watch Reb Srul die. We repeat prayers with him. Nobody sleeps.

In the morning Reb Srul is at peace. No more walking for him; the women cry; some of us wish we could take his place. We are glad that he has been excused by the Almighty One from walking.

Someone suggests burial. We are about to ask for the privilege when the door opens and a soldier commands us to get ready to walk.

"More walking" is the pathetic echo that rings through the room.

We point to the body. A soldier commands us to walk. A Jew must obey, so we leave the old man in the hands of his God, and we walk.

Just a Moment

The Larger Waters—1. Thessalonians iv 13-18.—Death is not an end; it is only a new beginning. Death is not the master of the house; he is only the porter at the king's lodge, appointed to open the gate, and let in the king's guests into the realms of eternal day. "And so shall we be ever with the Lord."

And so the range of three score years and ten is not the limit of our life. Our life is not a land-locked lake enclosed within the short lines of seventy years. It is an arm of the sea, and where the shore lines seem to meet in old age they open out into the infinite. And so we must lay our life plans on the scale of the infinite, not as though we were only pilgrims of time, but as children of eternity! We are immortal! I was positively chagrined. My financee was chagrined; we were all chagrined. How much for fifty copies of the paper?

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

DENIES NEUTRALITY OF "EMBARGO CONFERENCE"

To the Editor of The Herald:

Mr. Janes stated in an article to the Open Court (March 17), that the founders of the American Embargo conference "have the spirit of true neutrality."

Well, let's see!

Last week all voters with Scandinavian names (or at least as many as voted at the primary election), received letters from these neutral gentlemen. I suppose they culled our names from the election books. No doubt they know that the Scandinavians have a "racial sympathy" for the Germans.

Well, the letters contained some nicely written petitions addressed to Congressman Miller, and would he please vote for the "embargo resolution" that is now in congress. They asked me to sign the petition and get as many of my friends as possible to sign it, and mail it to Congressman Miller. The petition is, of course, written in English, and seems neutral enough to anyone favoring the Central powers.

But enclosed in the letters were some pamphlets (in Swedish) that are certainly not neutral unless the man who said, "Of course, I'm neutral. I don't care who kills the kaiser," was neutral. The secretary of the American Embargo conference, Mr. C. Hjalmar Lundquist, thus sums up the causes of the war (in Swedish):

"The reason of the world war is these three words: 'Made in Germany.'

"The English confess that they intend to destroy German commerce. • • • England's jealousy of Germany's growing world commerce, and her hatred of that successful trade mark, 'Made in Germany,' was the motive power behind the 'engine of destruction' built by the Triple Entente for the destruction of Germany.

"But why is this inhuman butchery continued? Again three words, 'Made in America.'"

This is followed by a tirade against the administration, the American public and press. Only for the United States supplying the allies, the war would long since have ended (no doubt to the complete satisfaction of Kaiser Wilhelm and the American Embargo conference).

And so on ad nauseum, half a dozen pamphlets (in Swedish), each one full of British hatred and admiration for Germany.

If Mr. Janes doubts this, I will send him the pamphlets and he can have them translated. The few sentences translated here ought to show the readers of the Open Court whether the gentlemen composing the "conference" are "neutral" or not. Yours truly,

L. A. ERICKSON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Ever since this Mexican fracas came to a head I have been watching patiently and expectantly for the announcement that certain prominent citizens of Duluth had enlisted, or had at least asked leave to go with the troops that are chasing the outlaw. These men whom I have in mind have persistently, and almost viciously, criticized President Wilson for not sending a lot of our American boys into Mexico to die so as to help these men and their mates get still richer out of their mining and other interests there. And now when there is even a meager chance that somebody may be injured or killed we don't hear anything about them.

It seemed as if they might at least have been smoked out by John Lind's declaration that Villa's activity was inspired by American concessionaires in Mexico. But evidently our said prom. cits. don't care to discuss that point.

The "carpet knights" of olden time were detested because they stayed at home in safety and bragged of what they might have done. But even they did not urge that others should be sent into danger for the benefit of the carpet knights' interests.

However, Funston said it would be a long, hard chase before they get Villa. Maybe our above mentioned prom. cits. are simply waiting for the climax, and then they'll rush down there and put their precious skins in the same kind of a position they've advocated putting other people's skins into—in range of hostile bullets.

A NON-INVESTOR IN MEXICO.

SEES DAWN OF NEW ERA.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some people seem to want the president to stop the shipping of ammunition to Europe, and they think the war would end sooner then. They might be right, because the allies would possibly be out of ammunition before the Central powers, and on account of that they would have to give in. But that would not be fair play. No, give them all the ammunition they need so they can keep up with the Central powers, but no more.

I think the war is going on nicely now. There is no reason that anyone should win, because they have all broken international law, and that makes them outlaws. It is best they fight until the war spirit gets out of them. Then they can lay down their arms, and come to Uncle Sam and tell him it is a draw. The allies can say, "If you had gone in on our side, we would have won," and the Central powers can stay, "If you had not sold ammunition to them, then we would have won."

They are in a deadlock now, and they will stay there until they come to Uncle Sam and tell him, "I am not licked, but I am satisfied. You, Sam, please tell the other fellows, so then we can establish a civilized government so we don't have to fight any more."

Will they come? Sure they will come! That is the only way for them to get out of the death grasp they are in. When they come, that will end the 6,000-year-old Babylonian war era. Then the people can yell, "Fallen, fallen, is the great Babylon!" By that shall the royal headgear come off royal princes. No matter whether they are secular or ecclesiastical princes, they must all go. Let the one step forward when the time comes that thinks he can prevent it, and let us know how he is to do it. We can look for such a powerful man, but he will never come forward. The time has come for the books to be closed about the past ages and eras, and a new book will open up for a new era and we will soon date our writing from the foundation of the kingdom of ———. Respectfully,

SAYS HOLDINGFORD MAYOR WAS LEGALLY ELECTED

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have noticed in your paper today, dated March 18, on page 21, column 7, the article entitled "Holdingford Elects Mayor Not Citizen." Herman Benolken has lived in Stearns county all his life. Holdingford is in Stearns county, and the fact that he had a farm in Morrison county would make no difference when it came to voting. We knew that Mr. Benolken was a citizen or we would not have elected him. Would appreciate it very much if you put the correction in your paper. Very truly yours,

VAL. HERMAN.

ELMER DAHLGREN WRITES OF HIS OWN EXPERIENCES

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly allow me to occupy a little space in your column in regard to a little matter which I think will prove interesting to you and your readers, and in the meantime give me a chance to speak in my own behalf.

I noticed an article printed about me on page 11 of your issue of March 17 (Friday evening), and I will say that I feel inclined to think that such an article as that is no doubt well meant from the writer's side, but evidently it does not convey the truth—such as is due the public as well as the individuals mentioned.

It is true that I made an appeal in a personal letter to the governor of Minnesota; but not until I had made several efforts to persuade our local school board to provide for my education, and met their refusal just as many times. The first effort to attain an education for me was made in 1903. I was then 11 years old. Why did not the local school board comply with my wish then? Why did they not strive for my own good while there was yet time? I am convinced that they feared a greater cost and nothing else, and the reason why I wrote to the governor was because I know, and felt also in my youth as well as now, that I was and always will be entitled to an education until the local authorities pay the debt either in cash or credit. Until then the shame is theirs and not mine.

I can say, like Lincoln said, "My mother made me what I am." She taught me courage and patience, but I am also taught to acquire knowledge through my own efforts, as mother's schooling is only limited, and besides she could not find time on account of her constant occupation, to devote any time toward teaching me. Therefore my education is largely through my own efforts, except the most particular points, where mother's assistance was sought, which she supplied to the best of her ability.

It is these points that I wish to correct. The writer of said article says, "Although Elmer is 24 years old he has never walked a step in his life (correct), and has never seen the inside of a school house." I have seen the inside of a schoolroom several times, although very young at the time—too young to learn.

The writer gives my mother's name as Mrs. Olina Dahlgren, and also states that she is a widow. This is not so. She is not a widow now—although she once was. She was married on Oct. 4, 1913, to Andrew Erickson of Vancouver, B. C., and they are now residing at 5019 Wadena street, West Duluth, Minn. Furthermore, I am a paralytic, yet not helpless; for if I had due equipment I am positive of my ability to get around. My limbs were amputated on March 10, 1910.

I never received any wheel chair or money from St. Paul; the wheel chair mentioned was given to me by one lone little girl from Ellsworth, Minn., who became acquainted with me through the Comfort magazine or the Comfort League of Cousins, which are in no way connected with said Sunshine society.

I am also a member of said organization, which is not a charitable society.

As to having seen a circus or theater, I have seen both; but as space is quite expensive, I shall not refer to said matter.

As to my pension, that has expired a long time ago. It ceased to come immediately upon the failure of the Invalids' Pension association. I note that the writer says that hundreds of cripples around the country received pensions made possible through the efforts of Mr. Gordon, the magazine man of Omaha, Neb. I regret to say that although the number is now reduced to seven, it never has exceeded eighteen.

My grandmother is 88 years old and is staying with my uncle in Poplar, Wis., at present. Hoping that you will correct the previous mistakes, Yours very truly, ELMER DAHLGREN.

NEW WATER DEPARTMENT RESERVOIR IS LEAKING

To the Editor of The Herald:

For some reason best known to themselves the water department management is hushing up the fact that the new reservoir situated at Thirteenth street and Second avenue east, finished a little over one year ago at an expense of some $50,000, is in a dangerous condition, and by reason of that fact Manager Reed ordered the water in the reservoir lowered to about ten feet below the top.

There are several serious defects in the wall on the north and east sides and water has been running therefrom during the greater part of the past two months and to such an extent that ice formed many feet thick over a very large area of ground.

An investigation should be started at once to determine who is to blame for this condition of affairs, also to find out how much longer the taxpayers of this community are going to contribute their hard-earned money towards the education and training of the kindergarten bunch which constructed this alleged reservoir. They are still in the employ of the city and I doubt if they could obtain employment elsewhere at one-half the salary paid them.

If one of your "live wires" will get busy and get at the inside facts it will be interesting reading for the public.

More anon. TAXPAYER.

THE HERALD'S EDITORIALS HAVE MADE HER BLOOD BOIL

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have here before me two of those editorials in The Herald which make my blood boil. One of them is rubricated "Knute Nelson, American," which Norwegian octogenarian is lauded with many gaudy words and phrases. The other is an anathema, a calling down of shame and disgrace over those eleven Minnesota members of congress who voted according to their conscience, who did not give to the executive of the will of the people carte blanche in this so very subtle submarine controversy (made subtle by Mr. Wilson); who did not turn over the power of congress into the hands of one single man; who did not make one man in this republic more mighty in a serious case than the Russian czar (who by the way is a mere puppet in the hands of the Bojars of Russia).

It is a shame on the part of The Herald to use such ultra-rude and abusive language about honest, conscientious, well known, good Americans, representatives of the people, and in this case spokesmen for, I am sure, the bulk of the voters and in opposition to a few Wilson fanatics, who put Wilson before the country. They were accused of poltrooncry, timidity, partisan copperheadism, and, worst, base reaction to allen influence. In the face of such execrations, were not instead these men brave, unafraid, uninfluenced by anything except the command of their conscience? While on the other hand the obeying Democratic majority timidly (though unwillingly as we know through the columns of The Herald) submitted to the boss system, voted against their pronounced persuasion and against their conscience.

I am grieved and I am puzzled, and I ask myself: Where am I? Must I subdue my conscience in free America? Or is the press shedding a false light over true Americanism? Very truly yours, IDA FRIDELOM.

THE GUILTY ONLOOKER COMES UP TO BAT

To the Editor of The Herald:

We had with us again lately "The Innocent Bystander." Will you kindly loan me a little of your valuable space and ink to tap this gentleman lightly three times upon the wrist?

My grievance is this: Speaking softly, I accuse him of writing vaguely and obscurely. I challenge him for lack of competency, relevancy and materiality. Like the "gentle correspondent from Schroeder," I fancy him sailing in the blue ether of heaven, far above mortal heads.

Will you not persuade the gentleman, therefore, without passion and without prejudice, to come to earth and tell us in plain English what he is driving at? Does he propose to abolish war? If so, just what is his method? Can't he set it forth for us in a simple sentence, such as: Resolved, That universal peace can be secured and maintained (1) by substituting educational ideals for our natural instincts, or (2) by joining the Society of Friends, or (3) by establishing an international police, or perhaps (?), (4) by taking an early morning pill for the liver? On any of these propositions, or others of a like simple nature, I submit that we can comprehend and either agree or disagree, applaud or (alas!) hiss—as the case may be.

Providing that "Innocent's" further elucidation of method turns out to be a sermon, a la Bryan, rather than a means, allow me the pleasure of strangling in deep water before your readers, thusly: Resolved, That war will be abolished when society has so organized all its individuals into organs, interests, industries, trades and professions that they will be represented according to value and function in government by experts who will hold each other at bay through the tension of natural law. Amen!

THE GUILTY ONLOOKER.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Josephine Haley, Tower, Minn.: Kindly inform me what is the length and width of the Panama canal.

Ans.: Length from deep water in the Pacific to deep water in the Atlantic, about 50 miles; from shore to shore, 41½ miles. Width, from 300 to 1,000 feet; average bottom width, 649 feet.

"An Interested Reader," Two Harbors, Minn.: Kindly advise me whether The Netherlands means Holland and Belgium, or Holland alone. If not, has it ever included Belgium?

Ans.: "The Netherlands" now includes only Holland. Belgium was formed out of provinces that seceded from Holland in 1830. It was once included as part of The Netherlands.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

Requests have been received for the following:

"The Swede's Lament" and "The Cyclone at Louisville," from Mrs. Lena Johnson of Duluth.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Ingrowing Nail

Two factors enter into the etiology of ingrowing nail—tight, narrow shoes, and improper cutting of the nail. Of course there is no use in preaching about tight shoes; those who wear them will wear them, come what may. We will dwell upon the right way to trim the nails. The function of the toe-nails, if they can be considered to have a function in the civilized individual, is to protect the sensitive tips of the toes. This being true, the nail should not be too closely trimmed, and when it is trimmed it should be cut straight across, without any attempt to round the corners. The starting-point of "ingrowing nail" (which is a misnomer, in spite of the opinions of chiropodists) is often this very effort to round off the corners.

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

Supposing prevention has been ignored and an ingrowing nail has arrived. The condition is as follows: The outside edge of the nail appears imbedded in an inflamed, hypertrophied or thickened mass of granulation tissue, from which more or less fluid, watery or purulent, exudes. The granulations have grown up over the edge of the nail, and not vice versa, as the name implies. The treatment consists in removal of the granulations, not removal of the nail.

Exuberant granulations ("proud flesh") in any situation may be cut without giving pain, since granulation tissue has no nerves. But the cutting must be done by a physician, not by the patient or any untrained operator. Ingrowing nail unintelligently treated sometimes brings on septicemia (blood-poisoning) and is therefore distinctly not a condition for the chiropodist.

The skin may be drawn away from the edge of the nail by carefully applied Z. O. adhesive plaster straps extending spirally backward outside, under and around the great toe. Of course this maneuver is useless unless the shoes are correct—straight inside sole lines, fairly broad, rounded toes. It is a waste of time treating this condition if faulty footwear is persistently worn—that is why ingrowing nail is so hard to cure, short of surgery.

The groove in which the granulations grow may be kept filled with any simple astringent, such as powdered alum, nitrate of lead (this should be used for only four days), or tannic acid. Scraping the nail is seldom beneficial and often institutes severe inflammatory reaction.

The surgical cure consists of making an incision in the skin outside the outer edge of the nail and removing an elliptical wedge of tissue. It is a simple and effectual means of curing a very painful and troublesome condition.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Thyroidectyne.

What is thyroidectyne, and is it good for exophthalmic goiter?

Answer—It is a product obtained from the blood of animals which have been thyroidectomized—that is, the thyroid gland has been removed. The product is of doubtful value. Personally, we think it is useless. Still, it is prescribed by good physicians.

A Treatment for Ringworm.

Is there any new treatment likely to cure a chronic, obstinate ringworm?

Answer—Have the doctor paint the lesion with half-strength iodine, then freeze it with whichever agent he prefers (carbon dioxide snow, ethyl chloride). Freezing destroys the parasite.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address, Dr. William Brady, care of this newspaper. Protected by The Adams Newspaper Service.

TEUTON BAZAR WILL BEGIN THURSDAY

Imperial Consuls and Prominent Duluth Men Will Speak.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the sale at the different booths and buildings, which have been erected for the Red Cross and war relief bazar and fair at the Duluth auditorium will begin. Everything will be ready in time and a good vocal and instrumental program is promised for the afternoon and evening. At 7:45 the official opening will take place and a delegation of prominent business men will receive the German and Austro-Hungarian consuls, who come from St. Paul, at the Soo Line depot. They will arrive at 7:20. A band of local musicians will play at the station and the out-of-town men will be brought in automobiles direct to the auditorium. Percy S. Anneke is chairman of the reception committee.

The auditorium will be brightly illuminated and the lights will be visible from every part of the city. Streamers and arc lights have been installed. Every booth will be illuminated in different colors. The two Dutch booths, in the east end of the building, are the interesting features. The general admission fee to the fair is 10 cents. The program for the opening day is as follows:

NO ARRESTS UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

Indictments of Nine Hibbing Residents Held Up; Arraignments Made.

Six men and three women who were arrested in Hibbing by deputy sheriffs Saturday night were arraigned late yesterday afternoon in Judge Cant's division of the district court and pleaded not guilty to the charges lodged against them. M. H. McMahon of Virginia appeared as their counsel and asked to have the cases transferred to the range for trial.

The indictments were returned by the March grand jury in connection with the investigation into the vice situation in the range villages. No arrests were made nor publicity given to the indictments until after the annual village election had been held in Hibbing, which took place about one week after the grand jury reported. The raid was made four days after election. Those arraigned were:

Louis Ruymann, one indictment chanrging him with having obscene pictures in his possession with intention of showing them; two indictments for illegal liquor selling, and one for permitting gambling devices on his premises.

Joseph Flower, an indictment charging him with having obscene pictures in his possession.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 GIVEN FINE BOOST

Governor Burnquist and Other State Officers Strong for It.

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—The campaign for the passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 1, the revolving road fund amendment, was given a good boost at the meeting of the amendment publicity committee in the office of the immigration bureau yesterday, when Governor Burnquist, after talking with Secretary McCarthy of the Northern Minnesota Development association and assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, signed a statement setting forth the benefits to accrue to the whole state by the passage of the amendment and urging voters to support it. Other state officers are also signing the document, and Secretary McCarthy will scatter it broadcast as a campaign document.

The rural credits committee was not able to meet yesterday because of a lack of a quorum. Others who attended the meeting of the publicity committee of Amendment No. 1, besides Secretary McCarthy, were L. B. Arnold of Duluth, Senator L. H. Nord of International Falls, Fred D. Sherman, immigration commissioner, and Clarence Wiprud, representing State Auditor J. A. O. Preus.

Rupture Cure Secret Free

I Was Ruptured and Was Cured and Want to Tell Others How It Was Accomplished.

Nothing to Sell — No Charge Made.

I will tell you how my severe rupture was cured, and how I believe yours can be cured. The information will not cost you a cent,—I will be glad to feel that I have helped you, and that knowledge will amply repay me. If you will just send your address (a postal will do), I will do the rest.

My rupture occurred from a strain while at work, just as most ruptures occur. I am a carpenter by trade. Through the best of good luck I found a means to obtain a cure, and was soon strong and well again and back at work.

It seems only fair that I should let others share in my good fortune, and that is why I am inviting all ruptured people to send me their addresses. Please remember that I don't want a single cent of your money. All I want is your address. Send it to me now, and I feel sure you will never regret it. Address: Eugene M. MAKING READY FOR SEASON

Engineers of steamers lying in this harbor are arriving daily to get their boats ready for the opening of navigation, and the work preliminary to the coming season is being pushed rapidly in all parts of the harbor. Most of the work of preparation on the greater number of the boats was done as soon as they laid up last fall, but there are always a few things to look after immediately prior to the opening of the season, and these are being gotten out of the way now.

Fewer boats wintered in this harbor than in several years. Twenty-one steamers and eight barges tied up here. Only eighteen wintered at the Canadian Head of the Lakes. The reason was that with the desire to get grain down to the other end of the lakes, steamers took loads as late as they possibly dared, and some even made the venture without insurance after the time limit had expired to get the grain to Buffalo. The steamers and barges which are wintering here this year are as follows:

diers and about 60,000 tons of munitions every three weeks. According to a statement made by Gen. Sir Sam Hughes on Feb. 17 of this year, there were then 125,000 Canadians at the front and 125,000 Canadians, fully trained, who would be taken to the front as fast as ships could be found for them.

The Ninety-seventh Canadian regiment, which is composed almost entirely of Americans, will be carried across on the Baltic some time this week, according to a report from reliable sources.

Other ships besides the White Star fleet are believed to be engaged in carrying Canadian troops across the Atlantic. It was stated in parliament in London several weeks ago that the Cunarder Mauretania had been withdrawn from the service in which she was engaged almost since the beginning of the war, and this was interpreted to mean that the liner would be restored to service in carrying passengers and munitions between this port and England. Officials of the line, however, have received no word concerning the Mauretania.

eral of the street car lines in Milawukee were blockaded and wire companies report damage, principally in the southwestern portion of the state, where the storm was heaviest.

Thousands of persons were compelled to wade through the snow to places of employment.

An unusual incident in connection with the storm was violent peals of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning.

Upper Peninsula Trains Delayed.

Calumet, Mich., March 22.—Because of the blizzard raging through the southern part of the Upper Peninsula and further south train service to points along the shore of Lake Superior is delayed and mail service is hours late. Chicago and Southern Michigan trains are arriving late. Extreme cold characterizes the storm here with a forty-mile wind from the north, the temperature ranging to 10 degs. below zero, following a thaw of three days. The snow is four feet in depth but none falling.

best possible early today in private residences, railroad stations and the few remaining public buildings. The question of making definite arrangements to care for these unfortunates was expected to be taken up by the city authorities early in the morning. Food supplies will be the most serious problem, every hotel, restaurant and grocery in the city having been destroyed.

The wind, which was blowing a gale when the fire started and which had abated considerably shortly after midnight, shifted at daylight and the fire was slowly traveling in a southerly direction, spreading the flames throughout the southern residence district, but, in a freakish manner jumping whole blocks in its progress.

Residences Razed.

Large residences in the fashionable part of the city, smaller houses in the factory and residence districts, and substantial brick buildings were razed by the fire, which was fanned by a brisk south wind.

This section has been without rain for more than fifty days and the frame buildings were quickly consumed. The Paris fire department was powerless to stop the onrushing flames. Scarcity of water was also an impediment.

It is eighteen blocks from the compress to the center of the business district. This district was swept by flames and laid in ruins in less than an hour, the fire leaving in its wake a path from one to three blocks wide. A total of twenty-seven blocks comprised the burned area in the residence district.

Sweeping almost due north, the fire reached the public square on which large business buildings face. On these are located the exchanges of two telephone companies and one telegraph company. Telephone girls were forced to flee from their posts, in danger of being swept by the flames.

The chief operator of one telephone company risked her life to go back into the burning exchange to rescue the company's books and records.

Merrick Hotel Gutted.

On the east side of the public square the Merrick hotel was gutted by the flames and the fire was extended to the north side of the square by the burning of this building. North of the hotel are more business buildings of a less substantial character.

Probably the heaviest loser by the disaster is Crook, Record & Co., a large wholesale concern, which lost a four-story brick building, and stock of an estimated value of $400,000.

The Gibraltar hotel, a newer structure than the Merrick, which cost about $300,000, was threatened early last night. This is about two blocks east of the Merrick hotel, and has a chance, it is said, of escaping the flames.

The Burton-Teel Dry Goods company, another large wholesale concern, lost its plant and stock valued at $200,000. The Smiley apartments in the residential district, completed last fall at a cost of $300,000, were a total loss.

The palatial home of R. F. Scott, completed about three weeks ago, was completely destroyed.

The first known casualty in last night's fire became known here at 10 o'clock today when the body of John Straub, negro, was found in the ruins of his home in the negro quarter. Until that time it was not believed anyone had perished.

Mrs. W. K. Bailey, aged about 50, died early this morning from heart failure caused by excitement. Mrs. A. C. Poul, an aged woman whose house on South Main street was burned, is missing. It is feared that she was burned to death.

A statement issued by Mayor McQuistion today placed the damage in last night's fire at between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000. The known deaths are three.

of the aviators missing from the squadron that went to join Gen. Pershing's column, descended somewhere south of Casas Grandes, it was learned at Gen. Funston's headquarters today. His name was not given.

Earlier reports had indicated that both came down somewhere along the line of communication between the border line and Casas Grandes, Gen. Pershing's advanced base of operations.

Reports today explained that one reached Casas Grandes and was sent south over the country in which the three detachments of cavalry are operating. No details relative to his disappearance were received.

Asks For Another Regiment.

San Antonio, Tex., March 22.—Gen. Funston asked the war department yesterday for more troops to send into Mexico, only after long consideration of the advisability of continuing the operations against Francisco Villa with the forces now commanded by Gen. Pershing. Gen. Pershing suggested that another regiment be sent to him and Gen. Funston asked the department for what he characterized as an adequate force.

It was announced at Gen. Funston's headquarters that the Fifth cavalry, of which one squadron is at Fort Myer, Va., another at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and the third at Fort Sheridan, Ill., would be brought to the border at once, and sent forward along Pershing's line of communications to Casas Grandes. Whether he had asked for more troops, Gen. Funston would not say.

The only reason given for strengthening Gen. Pershing's force, known by the public generally to be considerably more than 4,000, was that his field of operations had become so extended that his main line of communication and subsidiary lines were much weaker than they should be.

Merely Precautionary Move.

"Merely a precautionary move," was the way Gen. Funston answered all suggestions as to his motives, other than that it was desired to strengthen the lines. He was asked if the reported movement of troops of the de facto government of the garrison in the interior, to posts on the border, and the failure of Carranza troops in one or two instances to show active co-operation in the pursuit of Villa, had anything to do with his decision to ask for more strength, but he declined to answer.

Some little uneasiness was displayed for a moment at his headquarters when it was reported that the telegraph wires between Casas Grandes and the border had been cut, but an official report stating that the line cut was a "buzzer" line, Gen. Pershing had laid, and that it had been broken accidentally by some of the American forces crossing it, allayed apprehension.

Funston Not Worried.

It is not believed here that Gen. Funston is worried to any extent by reports of alleged growing antagonism among Carranza troops, although he is carefully studying all reports, official and unofficial on that phase of the situation.

It has not been forgotten at his headquarters, however, that Villa has many troops somewhere in Northern Mexico, than the few hundred said to be riding with him in his flight before the pursuing troops of the two countries. Realizing the mobile character of Villa's bands, it was not considered wise to expose too much of Pershing's lines.

Lake Babricora, toward which one of his columns was reported to be moving, is almost 200 miles from the border, and by the time the columns directed toward Carmen and Namiquipa arrive at their destinations, they also will be almost as far south. South of Casas Grandes, the cavalry detachments that are following the trails into the heart of the country, where Villa is known to have gone, are operating in a triangle of approximately 3,000 square miles area.

ELEVATORS NEARLY FULL

Storage Space Remaining in Duluth Warehouses About 3,000,000 Bus.

Only Brisk All-Rail Movement Will Prevent Congestion Now.

With stocks of all grain in Duluth standing at 26,000,000 bu, there is approximately only 3,000,000 bu storage space now remaining at this point after allowance is made for divisions of grades in the bins. Whether congestion in handling and storage facilities can be avoided between now and the opening of navigation is regarded as an open question by grain dealers.

Largely on account of the heavy movement of Canadian bonded grain this way during the last six weeks, amounting to around 150 cars daily, stocks in the elevators at this Head of the Lakes have been increasing at the rate of from 1,500,000 to 1,750,000 bu weekly of late, so that the time when all the storage plants will be filled to their roofs can easily be computed. It will all depend, operators say, upon the extent of the all-rail movement to the seaboard during the next two weeks. As the embargoes against grain shipments have been partially lifted during the last few days, dealers are hopeful that sufficient relief will be afforded to enable them to continue doing business. It is also expected that ice conditions in the harbor will be sufficiently relaxed within the next two weeks to enable the shifting of some of the steamers that wintered in the harbor over to the elevators for loads. The necessity of cleaning out the elevators so as to obviate a blockade at the interior houses through the West, has contributed to a scramble for steamer space, and 5½c per bu is now being bid for boats to clear around the opening of navigation. This compares with a rate of 1½c current last spring.

Record Grain Movement.

Duluth elevators are holding larger stocks of grain than at any time in four years. The movement of Canadian bonded grain this way has been the heaviest this season since 1912, due to the congestion existing at Fort William and Port Arthur elevators. Receipts of it from Aug. 1 to last Saturday amounted to 10,726,452 bu against only 1,948,959 bu during the same time last year, and supplies from the three Western provinces at this point now aggregate over 5,000,000 bu. It can thus be appreciated that Duluth elevator men have been doing their share towards warding off what might otherwise have been serious losses to grain growers up there.

New high records have been set by the local elevators in point of grain handling during the present crop year. Receipts of all grains at this point from Aug. 1 up till the end of last week aggregated 115,517,000 bu, as compared with 82,777,000 bu during the same period last year. The bulk of the gain was shown in the wheat movement, which amounted to 90,068,000 bu against 54,777,000 bu a year ago.

Expect Busy Spring.

Dealers are looking forward to a remarkably heavy movement after the opening of navigation and the completion of seeding this spring, as it is conceded that large supplies of wheat and coarse grains still remain in farmers' hands to be marketed. On that score predictions are made that receipts here will be relatively heavy right through the early summer.

That elevator storage facilities at this point will be materially increased during the present year is regarded as certain. In that connection it is to be noted that the Capitol Elevator company has a 1,750,000-bu addition to its plant now under erection, and it is intimated that the contract will be let shortly for a 2,500,000-bu addition to the Great Northern railroad's elevator system, operated by A. D. Thomson & Co. The plans for that structure were prepared three years ago, but the carrying through of the proposal was deferred. The Itasca Elevator company purchased a site last fall for an addition to its plant, but no arrangements have been outlined for the carrying through of any new construction in the near future.

International Falls, Minn., March 22.—The first of a series of raids planned since Koochiching county went dry was carried on late yesterday when Sheriff White and Chief of Police Kirkpatrick raided the Koochiching hotel and confiscated ten drayloads of beer and whisky and locked Julius Anseth, proprietor, in the city jail.

FARGO ARSON CASE STILL DRAGS ALONG

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of John Wyman, real estate and loan man of this city, on a charge of arson was resumed in the district court here today after a recess over Tuesday because of the primary election.

The case is long drawn out and one of the hardest fought criminal cases tried here in years. Although the trial started a week ago Tuesday, the case cannot be placed in the hands of the jury until some time tomorrow.

The cross-examination of Mr. Wyman continued this morning, the state being unable to break his testimony to any great extent.

COMPANY A "ROOKIES" IS INSPECTED

TWO LIEUTENANTS ARE ELECTED

Company "A," Third Regiment, M. N. G., went through its paces before a reviewing staff composed of Capt. Charles A. Danforth, U. S. A., Col. F. E. Resche and Lieut.-Col. H. V. Eva at the National Guard armory last night.

All but two of the seventy-six men on the company roster fell into line at the assembly call, with complete equipment. Company "A," commanded by Capt. Elmer W. McDevitt, was mustered in a little more than a month ago, replacing the old company "A," which was mustered out. It is recruited to full "peace" strength.

Following the inspection and drill, the soldiers assembled in their club rooms, and elected a first and second lieutenant. The election was under the supervision of Lieut.-Col. Eva.

After several ballots, J. Harris Trux, secretary to Mayor W. I. Prince, was unanimously elected first lieutenant, and Alfred C. Ott of the N. J. Upham company was elected second lieutenant.

Non-commissioned officers will be appointed by Col. Resche and Capt. McDevitt after a series of competitive examinations and drills, to be held later.

Capt. Danforth's report to the Federal government on the ranking of the various companies is secret, but the new company was congratulated on its showing, which was considered excellent because of the short time it has been organized.

The regimental band was inspected by Capt. Danforth this noon, and "C" company will pass before the reviewing officer tonight. The regimental company also will be inspected tonight.

Should Report for Instructions.

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—It was learned here today that quartermasters and commissary officers of the Illinois National Guard have been informed that it would be well for them to report as soon as possible to the United States army depot quartermasters either in St. Louis or Chicago, for instructions in event of mobilization of the National Guard.

THE "COME-BACK"

The "Come-back" man was really never down-and-out. His weakened condition, because of over-work, lack of exercise, improper eating and living, demands stimulation to satisfy the cry for a health-giving appetite and the refreshing sleep essential to strength. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, the National Remedy of Holland, will do the work. They are wonderful! Three of these capsules each day will put a man on his feet before he knows it; whether his trouble comes from uric acid poisoning, the kidneys, gravel or stone in the bladder, stomach derangement or other ailments that befall the over-zealous American. Don't wait until you are entirely down-and-out, but take them today. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if they do not help you. 25c, 50c and $1.00 per box. Accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box. They are the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil Capsules.—Advertisement.

BAY CITY WOMAN FILLING FARGO JOB

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being without a police woman for several months, this city again has such an officer, Miss Alice Duffy of Bay City, Mich., having arrived and assumed such duties.

Miss Duffy was for the past year acting superintendent of the children's home of Bay City and has been actively connected with social and settlement work in Chicago.

She succeeds Mrs. Ewrim Poppler, who resigned the first of the year. A change has been made in the ordinance governing the work of the police woman which makes her in part independent of the police department.

WARREN ELECTS TARALSETH MAYOR

Warren, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. B. Taralseth, a leading young business man, was elected Tuesday to be mayor, succeeding C. Wittensten, who declined to run. On the city light and water commission the following were elected: A. B. Nelson, C. K. Lundquist and H. M. Swanson. W. R. Dixon, Fred Johnson and R. Hage were elected aldermen.

For Forest Patrolmen.

Cloquet, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Forest Ranger Percy Vibert of this city announces that there will be an examination for patrolmen in the Minnesota forest service held on March 25 at Cloquet, also at each ranger's headquarters and at the forestry office at St. Paul.

VICTOR EVA HEADS INTER-SOCIETY COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Inter-society council of the Central high school yesterday afternoon Victor Eva was elected president and Raymond Brenton secretary. The former is a representative of the agricultural club and the latter represents the Thalian society. Several members being absent, the business session was postponed until Friday.

At this meeting plans will be formulated for the remainder of the semester and different scholastic matters will be discussed. Each society of the school is represented by two members.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY TO EMBEZZLEMENT

International Falls, Minn., March 22.—Deputy Sheriff Van Ettan and County Attorney Jevne left last evening for Aitkin, accompanied by Ole Terrud, the young man who embezzled funds belonging to the Paper Makers' union and the Federation of Labor. Terrud is going to plead guilty before Judge McClenahan of the district court and throw himself on the mercy of the court.

CRYSTAL FALLS NIGHT SCHOOL IS POPULAR

Crystal Falls, Mich., March 22.—The initial enrollment of the Crystal Falls night school was fifty-five. The school will be open both afternoon and evening, for the reason that many who work night shift cannot attend the evening school. In classifying the applicants it was found that fifteen of them were absolute beginners in English, twelve of them had advanced to about the third grade and the balance belonged in about the seventh or eighth grades. Special attention is given to English at first.

THIEF RIVER FALLS JUNIORS ARE FAMOUS

Auxiliary of Commercial Club Is Attracting Attention.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Junior Commercial club of Thief River Falls is famous in a night, judging from the many inquiries being received at the office of the secretary of the Commercial club, of which the Juniors are an auxiliary.

The idea was suggested at a meeting of the directors and put into effect on Washington's birthday. Since then applications for memberships have come in rapidly, fathers and mothers have heartily indorsed the plan and State Secretary Peck of the Y. M. C. A., who visited Thief River Falls in the interest of the establishment of a branch Y. M. C. A., gave his hearty approval of the idea, stating that it was novel, but in his opinion one which would work out well and do much to solve the problem of the young men of a community.

Have Own Constitution.

The juniors have drafted their own constitution and by-laws, which conform to those of the parent organization, and have already taken a keen interest in civic problems. They propose to participate in the annual clean-up week of the city, will go before the park board and ask for bathhouses on the river, parks and playgrounds and will make a trip to the North Dakota State fair the coming fall.

The annual auto run of the Commercial club this year will be made to the Lake of the Woods, on the Canadian line, and the Juniors will have charge of the pathfinder car on this tour. Buttons, indicating membership in good standing, will be ordered and the young men consider their position as community workers seriously, aiming to set an example in activity that even their elders might emulate to advantage.

AUTOMOBILE TRUCKS RUSHED TO MEXICO

Detroit, Mich., March 22.—Twenty-seven automobile trucks, manufactured on a rush order from the war department for use in Mexico, left Detroit late yesterday afternoon for the Mexican border. The order was received Monday and the machines, designed for military use, were loaded into a special car and started South one hour and 23 minutes ahead of schedule time.

When a call was made at the automobile plant for volunteers to handle the cars in Mexico, there was almost a riot. Hundreds of workers rushed forward, eager to enlist for the work. Thirty-four men were selected, and they are on their way to the front with the trucks. The train is due at the border in fifty-one hours.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY PROCLAIMED

The season of the year has again arrived when every home in Minnesota can be beautified by the planting of trees, shrubbery and flowers, and when in our schools special study of arboreal life should be encouraged by fitting exercises and all of our citizens by proper activity be made to realize more fully the practical and esthetic value of plant culture and tree life.

It is remarkable what a difference the manifestation of even a little community interest in the promotion of arboriculture makes in the appearance of the grounds of our schools and public buildings and of all of our farms and municipalities. An illustration of the combination of beauty and utility is the present day practice on the part of many employers of labor of making the surroundings of those working for them pleasant by having contiguous to their factories and shops grassy plots and lawns on which have been planted shade trees, vines and flowers. This custom cannot be too highly commended, and with very little expense and work could be adopted by a much larger number in our different communities and in all walks of life, whereby many places that are now eye-sores would be transformed into spots of health and beauty.

Closely associated with the care and growth of trees and plants is the protection of bird life. The hostility and indifference of mankind to the feathered creatures of the woods should be eliminated and all possible efforts advanced to save from extermination these friends and companions of man, who not only gladden him with their charm and the melodies they pour forth, but who are of much practical value in destroying many of the enemies of trees and crops.

In order to set apart a certain day for the observing of which, wherever convenient, appropriate ceremonies may be held, I, J. A. A. Burnquist, governor of the state of Minnesota, do hereby designate and proclaim Friday, April 28, 1916, to be Arbor and Bird day.

Witness my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Minnesota affixed hereto this Twenty-second day of March, 1916.

J. A. A. BURNQUIST, Governor.

SPRING OPENING PLANS.

West End Men Will Outline Program at Luncheon.

Plans for celebrating the spring opening will be made this evening by the business and professional men of the West end at a luncheon to be held at the Esmond hotel.

The luncheon will be served at 8 o'clock, following which the business meeting will take place. The purpose is to arrange for some special feature for "spring opening days," April 3, 4 and 5.

An industrial parade with every line of business in this end of the city represented is proposed. "Open house" will be kept by the merchants each evening when goods wil be "on display" only.

FEAR OUTSIDE STAIRWAY WILL BE BUILT AT NIGHT

Members of the West End Commercial club fear that the contractors building the Stack block on Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, are going to "slip something over" on the club. This "something" is the building of the outside stairway to the basement of the building on Twenty-first avenue at night, according to information which one of the members obtained yesterday.

"The contractor has everything in readiness to put in that stairway on Twenty-first avenue some night when no interference from city officials will take place," said the merchant. "The doorway and windows have been provided for at that place and excavation under the sidewalk have been made so that there will be little trouble in putting in the stairway. This is to take place when we are not looking, according to information I was given this morning."

A delegation from the club will wait on the city commissioners, and ask to have instructions given to the police department to arrest workmen who attempt this job, if no permit is shown. The members will also oppose the granting of such a permit.

DR. OREDSON GIVEN FEDERAL POSITION

DR. O. A. OREDSON.

Notification of his appointment was received by Dr. Oredson yesterday. Dr. Oredson has practiced in this end of the city for a number of years and recently moved his offices uptown.

AFTER CASH FOR CHILDREN'S HOME

Bethany Home Managers Will Solicit Sum for Final Payment.

In an effort to raise $10,000 before May 1, which sum is required to make final payment on the Bethany Children's Home, which is to open on May 1 at Thirty-ninth avenue west and Ninth street, the board of managers will send out 8,000 letters to members of congregations throughout the Minnesota conference of the Augustana Synod of the Swedish Lutheran church.

The board recently completed arrangements for the purchase of the Alfred Merritt home at the summit of Thirty-ninth avenue, agreeing to pay $12,000 for it, and the sum of $2,000 has been paid. The balance is to be paid on or before May 1. The property includes, in addition to the buildings, four and one-tenth acres of land.

The children's home is to be opened on May 1 with elaborate ceremonies. Erick Myhrman, 3917 Magellan street, has been appointed superintendent of the home, but, as yet, has not informed the board whether he will accept. His answer is expected to be given before April 1.

Will Buy Pipe Organ.

Plans for the purchase of a new pipe organ for the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will be made this evening at a meeting of the choir and organ committee. Only a small organ and piano are now in use.

CONCRETE BENCHES ALONG LAKE SHORE

Other Improvements Are Promised for Lester Park This Year.

This spring the park department will place concrete benches along the lake shore in Lester park, according to an announcement made at the meeting of the Lester Park Business Men's club held last evening at the Lester Park M. E. church.

W. G. Starkey, chairman of the committee on improvements reported to the club that Mayor Prince had promised to improve Lester park, beautifying the two and one-half mile boulevard, extending from the northeast end of the park to the Janet Pollay park, which was given to the city two years ago by Mrs. William M. Prindle, in memory of her mother. The concrete benches will be placed along the lake shore on the east side of the river, while many smaller improvements will be made within the park proper, Mr. Starkey said.

About sixty members of the club were present at the meeting. J. F. Ingersoll, president of the club, presided during the evening, while the principal address was made by Fred Ward, superintendent of the work farm, who spoke on "Moral Delinquency; Its Causes and Effect."

A. G. McKnight entertained the members with Scotch stories, after which several selections were rendered by the double quartet consisting of J. C. Myron, H. L. George, M. W. George, A. B. Anderson, Carl Munch, J. A. Sund, Louis Junker and Leslie Ruh.

The next meeting of the club will be held on April 11.

FARGO VICE PROBE IS BEING AGITATED

Claim Liquor Laws Are Not Enforced and Recall Rumored.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fargo Ministerial association has called a meeting of the city and county officials for April 3 to consider law enforcement in Fargo, especially as it relates to the apprehension and prosecution of bootleggers.

The ministers claim there are continual violations of the state prohibition laws; that they had taken the matter up with the police department; that they had been informed that the department had no power as the state law did not provide for the cities making appropriations for the employing of "spotters"; that the power to apprehend bootleggers rests with the county officials, and believing that the county officials should be present when such matters were discussed the meeting was called.

There are persistent rumors that this is the beginning of a recall with reference to the police commissioner, but this cannot be verified and it is probable that no action in this direction will be taken until it is learned just what the authority of the police officers is and if there is means for carrying on a campaign against the illicit sale of intoxicants in the city.

ASKING BIDS TO PAVE EAST SUPERIOR STREET

Bids on paving Superior street, from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenue east, are being advertised for by Commissioner Farrell, works head. They will be opened on April 4.

At the council meeting Monday, the commissioners rejected all bids on the pavement, as the result of an opinion handed down by the city attorney to the effect that the proposals submitted were illegal. The contractors, he stated, failed to comply with the specifications.

Moorhead Hotel Man Fined.

Moorhead, Minn., March 22.—W. W. Hunt, proprietor of the Comstock hotel, pleaded guilty to a charge of blind-pigging and was fined $100. Calvin Dargan, a bellboy in the hotel, was bound over to the district court and Clint Longenfield was found guilty, both of peddling liquor. All were victims of a recent raid.

LATE NEWS FROM BIRDLAND

At Least Two Robins Wintered in Duluth—Travelers From South Have Come as Far North as Iowa.

If you see a "robin red breast" hopping around on the snow and ice where the family lawn was last summer, don't imagine it is a sure sign of summer.

Two robins, at least, wintered in Duluth, as Woodland residents can testify, and the one you see may have stayed here all winter. S. George Stevens, Duluth's most prominent ornithologist, is authority for the statement that several red breasts stayed through the cold weather.

There have been real signs of spring, however, within the last week or two, Mr. Stevens says, and the birds which are here show plainly, by their actions, that the time for warmer weather has come. His Pond du Lac home is a haven for many birds which have learned that Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are bird lovers.

"There were two little strangers in with our chickadees the other day," Mr. Stevens said today. (He speaks of "our chickadees" as a farmer would speak of "my chickens"). I tried for half an hour to get close enough to see what they were, but they stayed in the trees.

"Their call sounded like that of a warbler, but it is too early for warblers. I believe that they are two of the earliest arrivals from the sunny South, however.

"Have you watched our friends, the English sparrows, recently?" Mr. Stevens asked. "You will notice that they assemble in flocks and then suddenly swoop upward, scattering in a hundred directions suddenly when they are 300 or 400 feet in the air and returning to earth as suddenly as they went.

"I have decided that these antics merely are a show of their feelings, and it corresponds to the migratory instinct in other members of the feathery kingdom who come north as soon as the snow disappears.

"It is early yet for the summer or early spring birds and probably will be two or three weeks before they arrive. They are on their way, though, for a friend of mine at Davenport, Iowa, in a letter recently, said that many of them had passed through that city on their way north."

NOT WORRIED ABOUT LOSING FARM SCHOOL

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargoans refuse to be frightened by the Agricultural college removal stories, believing that the entire matter is made for the sole purpose of keeping the people of this city out of the capital removal proposition. Those who have had occasion to investigate the latest story, to the effect that the college did not hold a deed to the land on which it is situated, say this is untrue.

It is alleged that the land belongs to the common school fund of the state and that the school fund administrators will be called upon to eject the institution. Those who have investigated state that if there are any irregularities they are all technical ones. The same board controls the public school lands and public institution lands and even should there be irregularities the matter is one of easy adjustment.

WATCH SORE THROATS

because swollen glands or inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and lung trouble easily follows.

As Nature's corrector of throat troubles the pure cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while this wholesome emulsion relieves the trouble and upbuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which usually follows.

If any member of your family has a tender throat, get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion to-day. Physicians prescribe it to avert throat troubles, overcome bronchial disorders and strengthen the lungs. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Always insist on Scott's.

GIBBONS TELLS TORTURES OF MAKING LOW WEIGHT

The Phantom Suffered Grief in Reducing to 147 Pounds for Packey McFarland; Fred Beell in a Comeback; Ten Eyck Due Today; Darby to Play Bench.

BY BRUCE.

IF you want to gain a most vivid impression of the tortures suffered by the fighting man in making a low poundage, get Mike Gibbons to describe the modernized Dante's inferno he went through in preparing for the bout with Packey McFarland. If the suffering of Dante's lost souls was more acute than that endured by Gibbons, the lost soul galloped some along the agony route.

"I got down to 151 pounds and the weight began to stick on," said Gibbons yesterday in relating the terrible experience he went through in making 147 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon he met McFarland at Brighton Beach. "The torture began at 150 pounds. I began to feel bad right there. I would want to sleep and didn't feel right when I got up in the morning. By real working and by doing some drying out, which really means going without water, I hit a fraction above 149 pounds. Finally I got down to 148 pounds and then, to my dismay, discovered that the scales we had been using in my training quarters were a pound off and that really I weighed 149 pounds.

"Right here I almost broke down. I believe I cried. For a minute I almost packed my belongings and started back to St. Paul. I had a $2,500 weight forfeit up and I came near deciding to give that up. But then I was afraid that perhaps Emil Thiry would claim the forfeit and then call off the match.

"To make 147 pounds I went without water for nearly forty-eight hours. At night I dreamed I was lying under the trees near a rippling spring and that some person was approaching me with a cup of cool water. Just as I was about to receive the water. I woke up with froth on my parched lips and a fever consuming me.

"When my desire for water became unbearable I would pour just a thimbleful in a glass and then before I knew it I would seize the glass and drain it. I could hardly trust myself. On the morning of the fight I weighed over the stipulated weight figure. I put on some duds and walked out two miles and then ran back in the sweltering weather. I was giddy; half crazy. My work was mechanical, and yet all the time there was the burning desire for water.

"I never moved the beam at 147 pounds. I had made the weight all right, but no one will really ever know the suffering I went through. Sometimes at night, when the thirst was on me. I would go out on the beach and try to inhale the moisture that came up off the ocean. I was just loony, I guess, and was suffering with all the tortures of the damned."

Maybe this story as told by the famous Minnesota native son, will serve in some manner to explain why Gibbons didn't annihilate McFarland. It was after the McFarland fight that Gibbons declared he was through with the fighting game. Yesterday he declared that he was most sincere at that time. Then Mike came home and went out to his country place and loafed for a couple of months. When health and strength began to return to him, Gibbons decided that he would go on with the game. Ask Gibbons if he thinks fighting is a tough game—ask him—he'll convince you that it is.

Another Comeback.

YESTERDAY the writer received a letter from Fred Beell. It seems that the comeback stunt of Frank Gotch has been emulated upon the part of the great little Badger. Fred really believes that he has come back—is better right now than he has been for a couple of years. Here is what the little Dutchman says in part:

"The old shoulder that Americus cracked when he beat me, in the only bad match of my entire career on the mat, has entirely recovered. With my shoulder sound again, there is no reason why there should not be one more good match left in me. I have never dissipated and have always done hard work when not wrestling. I am fit all the year round and never allowed myself to go really bad. Outdoor life and hard work started my career as a wrestler and kept me feeling great. I have not found training nearly as hard as I thought it would be. My contest in Ashland surprised me. If I land a match with Stecher, it is my ambition to make a great showing against him. If I fasten the old headlock on him, maybe he will squirm some."

Ten Eyck Due Today.

JAMES E. TEN EYCK is due here today. James is a very busy man these days. He has covered a great part of the country since late last fall, and now he is picking up a few odds and ends in the business he is engaged in." It is expected that Jimmy will have finished his work within a week or two and will then join Brother Ned in building some great crews to compete in the National.

Darby to Play the Bench.

DARBY O'BRIEN states that he will play the bench this year. While the Irish Orator may bat in a pinch or fill in when needed, he has stated definitely that he will not go out for the second base position.

In the passing of O'Brien as a player baseball will lose a player who is one of its real veterans and one of its great cards on the field. O'Brien has played in legions of leagues all over the country. Many of the great stars of the game have played with the little Irishman. One of the headiest players in the game, injuries and passing years have slowed the once crack infielder up to an extent where he has deemed it wise to manage the team from the bench.

MICHIGAN AGGIES LOSE GREAT COACH

Macklin Quits to Enter Private Business; Had Great Success.

East Lansing, Mich., March 22.—John F. Macklin, for five years director of athletics at the Michigan Agricultural college here, whose resignation has been handed in this week, is generally credited with having been one of the most successful football coaches in the United States.

During the five years that he coached the Michigan Aggies, Macklin placed the athletic affairs of the college on a high plane and the success of his football teams during the last three years won them nation-wide recognition.

The University of Michigan is M. A. C.'s leading opponent on the gridiron. Until Macklin took charge, the best showing the Aggies had made against Michigan was a scoreless tie. With a green team, in 1911, M. A. C. held a powerful Maize and Blue eleven to a 15-to-3 count. Until the final quarter, the local college was leading. Coach Yost then sent a new backfield into the game, and won. In 1912, Michigan won, 50 to 7. Then the worm turned. M. A. C.'s great machine swept over Michigan, 12 to 7 in 1913, and on the next Saturday defeated Wisconsin by a similar score.

A goal from the field gave Michigan a 3-to-0 victory in 1914. Last season, Macklin sent a veteran eleven to Ann Arbor and Michigan's green team was defeated, 21 to 0.

In baseball, track and basket ball, M. A. C. teams have also made credible records under Macklin, but it was in football that the former Pennsylvania star achieved greatest fame as a coach and a player. He was a member of the Pennsylvnia eleven when Mike Murphy was trainer. He put many of Murphy's ideas into practice at M. A. C., and the fine condition of the local athletes often asserted itself in gruelling struggles.

Macklin was offered a position as head coach of the University of Wisconsin football squad last fall. He announced at the time that he was preparing to enter private business and said he would have accepted the Wisconsin offer if he had intended to continue coaching.

It is believed that the Michigan state board of agriculture will act upon Macklin's recommendation, in naming his successor.

GIBBONS TO TAKE A REST

Phantom Declares He Will Not Fight Again Until Next Fall.

Mike Gibbons will not not meet Jack Dillon Decoration day, nor will the Phantom engage in a ring battle before next fall, according to the positive statement made by the famous St. Paul boxer last evening.

It is generally believed that officials of the Capital City Athletic club of St. Paul are endeavoring to arrange an open air meeting between Mike and Jack Dillon, the contest to be staged in the Twin Citty motordrome, Decoration day. If Mike adheres to the announcement he made last evening, the plans of the Capital City officials might as well be abandoned.

"I have made up my mind not to engage in another contest until next fall," said the Phantom. "I want several matches for Tommy. George Chip is one of the middlewelghts I want Tom to meet. If Tom geats Chip I am going to take him East. Tom is a great fighter and can beat most of the present day middleweights. I am through with the game until fall. That's final."

BRAUTIGAN AS MANAGER

Former Appleton Player to Lead Superior; Schreiber May Come Here.

Officials of the Superior Baseball club yesterday decided to appoint George Brautigan, former manager of the Appleton, Wis., team, as pilot of the Superior Red Sox during the 1916 season. It is expected that Brautigan will play an infield position with the Red Sox. He hit .302 with Appleton and swatted the pill to the lilting tune of .288 with Terre Haute in the Central league.

After his appointment the newly elected manager left for the Twin Cities on a quest for players. Brautigan will return to the Head of the Lakes within the next few days and begin the work of lining up a number of ball players.

The appointment of Brautigan as manager of the Superior team completes the league roster of managers with the single exception of Virginia. Just who will pilot the Ore Diggers has not been definitely decided as yet. There was some desultory conversation to the end that Unglaub would come to Virginia, but the follower of the Kaiser has been reappointed at Fargo.

Owner Blume declared today that there is a possibility that "Bunny" Schreiber, former Chicago American and St. Paul American association outfielder, may come to the Duluth club. Schreiber has written here that he is a free agent. Darby has sent terms to the speed boy and Schreiber may be seen in a Duluth uniform.

Speaking of uniforms, brings to mind that the new uniforms of the Dooks have been ordered. The vivid colors of the 1916 suits will astonish the fans. A new color scheme of blue gray predominates with some vivid coloring worked in a diamond decoration on the blouses. When the athletes trot out onto the field in their new uniforms, there will be some startling exclamations from the fans.

OARSMEN HAVE HARD TIME IN PRACTICING

Cambridge, Mass., March 22.—Harvard university oarsmen have decided to go to Lynn, Mass., for practice in the harbor. The Charles River basin here is still frozen over and the crew is a month behind that of last year in beginning water practice.

New Haven, Conn., March 22.—Yale oarsmen donned heavy sweaters and mittens yesterday and managed to find enough open water in the harbor for a four-mile row. The practice was a perilous one and the coxswains were kept busy dodging floating ice. Several times chunks of ice grazed the varsity shell, but no damage was done.

ST. PAUL HARP IS FIGHTING IN EAST

MIKE O'DOWD.

STIRRING THE OLD TOWN UP

Finnegan Predicts That the "Regatty" Is Going to Arouse Spirit Duluth Has Not Known for Years.

"Well, Mr. Regan," said Finnegan, "I see th' boat club landed th' regatty."

"'Tis well," said Mr. Regan. "'Tis now up t' th' people av our fair city t' git behind an' boost. If they do that, th' club can pull off a regatty that will make th' country set up an' take notice, an' if they won't do ut fer an evint av national importance, they're a hopeless bunch. Have ye started learnin' t' row yet, Finnegan?"

"Sure I have," replied Finnegan. "I've cut out booze, tobacco an' cigarettes, an' am runnin' me little four miles a day, besides doin' me trick on th' machine, an' let me tell ye, Mr. Regan, there's th' makin' av a champeen in me, if I do say ut mesilf."

"Good fer ye," said Mr. Regan. "I hope ye'll stay by ut until th' races is over wit'. 'Twill be some regatty, all right."

"Did ye ever attend wan, Mr. Regan?" asked Finnegan.

"I did" exclaimed Mr. Regan. "In th' early nineties I had a frind who was an enthusiastic mimber av th' boat club, an' I wint wit' him wan year t' Minnetonky t' th' races. In thim days they wasn't many from Duluth attindin' thim, aside from th' oarsmen. I ramimber at this wan there was me frind, who was a bank cashier, an' his wife; th' cashier av a railroad an' his wife; th' junior mimber av th' leadin' real estate firm an' his wife, an' Jack McLaren. Jack was a spry young lad in thim days. We made up a small but representative crowd, an' if th' rest av th' people didn't know we was from th' Zenith City av th' Unsalted Seas, 'twas their own fault."

"Well," said Mr. Regan, "'twas like this: Me frind hired th' fastest thing on th' lake, aside from th' Duluth crews. 'Twas a steam launch called th' Wist Point. She could carry about fifteen, mebbe, an' she had a peach av a whistle, which was in action after each race our lads won. I ramimber after a junior four race we won that time, we was pullin' th' rope so hard th' skipper asked us t' quit, as all th' steam was goin' out through th' whistle an' he couldn't run th' boat. We should worry about th' boat not runnin', an' kept pullin' th' rope, an' th' skipper cut ut. Th' banker's wife says t' Jack, 'Here, Jack, you climb up on th' roof an' keep that whistle blowin' till th' b'ys gits back t' th' float.' So up he wint, an' sat on th' thing th' skipper cut th' rope from, but he didn't set there long. Pretty soon he knelt down an' grabbed ut wit' his hands, but let go av ut almost at wanst. Thin he stood an' put wan av his feet on ut an' kept ut blowin' till th' crew reached th' float."

"Why didn't he keep settin' on ut?" asked Finnegan.

"Well, ye see," replied Mr. Regan, "whin th' whistle had been blowin' a minnit or two ut got so warm 'twas not what ye'd call an aisy seat. Th' poor lad didn't set comfortable fer siveral days, an' his hands was a sight, but he kept th' whistle blowin', per instructions. He was doin' ut fer Duluth. That's th' spirit we had in thim days, Finnegan. 'Twould be well if more av th' same spirit was in evidence now."

"Ye mark me words, Mr. Regan," said Finnegan, "I'm tellin' ye that th' ol' town is goin' t' wake up an' git so busy by th' time fer th' regatty that annywan here last year wouldn't know 'twas th' same place, an' that's sayin' somethin', I guess."

"I'm hopin' ye're right, an' if ye are, 'twill be th' first step av a new era that has been comin' fer a long time. Boost, Finnegan, boost! an' keep boostin', an' git others t' boost, an' we'll spring a regatty that'll make th' country wonder why ut never knew before that Duluth was in th' grand ol' state av Minnesoty," said Mr. Regan.

SPORT NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Brief Items of Interest Gathered From All Corners of the Country—Gossip of the Baseball Training Camps.

Detroit—For the first time since Detroit has been represented by an American league baeball club, local fans seem more interested in the success of the battery coach at the spring training camp, than in the manager.

Hugh Jennings, the manager, is whipping his squad into shape at Waxahachie, Tex. Billy Sullivan, former manager of the Chicago White Sox and, in his day regarded as one of the best catchers in the American league, has full charge of the battery men. Detroit fandom believes that a strong pitching staff means a pennant and possibly a world's championship for the Tigers. It is quite generally conceded that Detroit will open its season with a veteran lineup. Reports from the training camp indicate that none of the infielders or outfielders is in danger of being supplanted by a recruit. But a corps of pitchers, including several veterans, are working out at Waxachachie and stories concerning Sullivan's successful methods are reaching Detroit each week.

Dauss and Coveloski are the only twirlers whose normal form has been approved by Jennings and Sullivan. Boehler, Lowdermilk, Dubuc, Boland and "Rube" Marshall—the latter a recruit—are the men whom Jennings hopes will profit by Sullivan's teaching. Pitcher Bill James, purchased from St. Louis last season, may also receive some attention.

Des Moines—What is believed to be a movement to cut down the number of passes issued by baseball clubs of the Western league is in the process of formation here. Following a statement issued at St. Joseph, Mo., by Jack Holland, owner of the St. Joseph Western league club, Sam Larrimer, president of the Des Moines Booster club, has gone on record as favoring the number of passes issued.

Mr. Larrimer in a statement issued here said he favored the limiting of passes to ministers, head city officials, county and state officials and newspapermen.

"Everybody will agree that 500 passes to the Des Moines park is an absurd number," said Mr. Larrimer. "I favor cutting out all those, except the men who actually are entitled to free tickets and giving the owners of the ball club a chance to make a little profit."

Milwaukee—The Wisconsin Kennel club has sent out entry blanks for the coming show which opens on April 13. The entry list will close April 1.

Already inquries have been received from all parts of the country while the breeders in the state also are showing a lot of interest.

St. Louis—Entries in the kennel club show to be held here April 3-6 closed March 23 on all classes. The hunting dog class has been given a big boost by the entry of ten fox hounds owned by Snyder Carlton of Houston, Tex. Other classes are well represented, especially by out-of-town exhibitors.

Dallas, Tex.—Dallas baseball fans are congratulating themselves on being the first baseball enthusiasts to see Tyrus Cobb and Benny Kauff as opponents on the diamond. Cobb, who is now at Waxahachie training camp, will meet Kauff here March 25-26, when the New York Giants, now at Marlin, start on their tour home. Kauff's signing with the Giants a few days ago assured this meeting.

Oklahoma City—For some time the place as manager of some of the teams in the Western association has been uncertain but recently the teams announced their pilots for the 1916 season as follows: Oklahoma City, Earl Snapp; Muskogee, "Heinie" Mang; McAlester, James Humphries; Paris, John Fillman; Sherman, Walter Evantz; Tulsa, Howard Price and Fort Smith, St. Thomas.

Cincinnati—The plan of introducing the finger print system into semi-pro and amateur baseball is being discussed by members of the National Baseball Federation here. The subject was brought up by one of the Cleveland delegates who told of an incident last summer when a player's name was signed to two contracts. The player claimed that one was a forgery and after this incident was related numerous others were told, so it is probable that the introduction of finger print methods of identification will at least be taken up by the federation at its next meeting.

St. Louis—David Suttle, a former Chicago swimmer, has been signed by Tom Whitaker, swimming coach of the Missouri Athletic association, and will join the St. Louis team. Suttle has a record of 24 3-5 seconds for fifty yards. He made this record in the tank of the Hamilton club, Chicago. He is by far the fastest swimmer in the Missouri Athletic association team.

Omaha, Neb.—Four Omaha Indians, former students at Carlisle Indian school, will be among the entries at the annual indoor athletic and gymnastic meet of the Omaha Young Men's Christian association to be held at the municipal auditorium here March 31. A letter received by Physical Director Kearns from Andrew F. Solomon, one of the Indians, applying for entry in the mile and half mile races, says:

"We are Omaha Indians living near Walthill. We are formerly of Carlisle Indian school. You know that Carlisle always has good athletes. We intend to make things hum in the events we enter."

It is announced that a number of high class athletes from western universities have promised to enter for the various events of the meet.

St. Louis, Mo.—Teams from Harvard, Cornell, and from the universities of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Pennsylvania will compete in the indoor relay games of the Missouri Athletic association, which will be held in St. Louis, March 25. The C. A. A. and I. A. C. of Chicago, also will be represented. In addition, several smaller colleges and universities will enter one or two men.

On the same day, the St. Louis Nationals and Americans will open their spring series. Especial interest is evinced this year owing to the amalgamation of the local American leaguers and Federals under the leadership of Fielder Jones.

In the evening, Harry Trendall and Sailor Jerabek, said to be St. Louis' two best welterweights, will box eight rounds.

Dallas, Tex.—It will be a rejuvenated Texas league that opens its season in the seven cities of Texas and Shreveport, La., on Wednesday, April 12. Physically speaking the league failed to weather the storm which swept the Texas coast in August, 1915, and the homes of three clubs—Beaumont, Houston and Galveston—were demolished in the fury of the wind and rain. The 1915 season was automatically closed with this disaster.

This year, however, new parks and grandstands have been built in each of these cities, and an abundance of new material, under new management has been in the front ranks in the early spring training. These Texas teams, as well as Shreveport, have been getting much valuable practice this year in the pre-season exhibition games with the five major league teams training in Texas.

Detroit, Mich.—Pitcher Raymond Fagan, of the Detroit Americans must spend another season in the minors. Dispatches from local baseball writers with the Tigers, at the Waxahachie, Tex., training camp, said that Manager Jennings has decided to leave Fagan with the Beaumont, Tex., club when the Tigers break camp. Fagan, last season, established a record pitching thirteen games for the Oklahoma City club of the Western association and winning them all. He recently pitched part of a practice game for Detroit and Manager Jennings, after looking him over, decided he needed more experience.

LEADERS UNTOUCHED.

High Bowing Scores Stand Despite Assaults of Experts.

Toledo, Ohio, March 22.—Picked men from a dozen cities battled fruitlessly in an endeavor to pass the leaders in the minor events of the American bowling congress tournament, the best mark of the day being 660, which ran John Reynolds of Cleveland into a tie for tenth place in the singles with two other men. L. Woods, and J. Frankenberry of Uniontown, Pa., were best in the doubles with 1,211, that gave them thirteenth place.

Indianapolis had its star men on the alleys during the day, A. G. Rabe being high with 627. Eight 600 counts were made. No changes were made in the all events.

The Capitol Alley five of Indianapolis rolled into sixth place in the late shift of five-men teams last night with a score of 2,863. The Overlands of Chicago took tenth place with 2,817.

CENTRAL BOY HAS GREAT LOCAL RECORD AS ATHLETE

"BABE" MASON.

"Babe" Mason is one of the best all-round athletes at the local Central high school. What he lacks in size, he makes up in extraordinary ability, and he has made a great name for himself in the school in the last few years.

Mason has been a member of his class basket ball team for four years, and this year is one of the biggest mainstays on the school team. He also shone as a star player on the crack "gym" team last year. He is an exceptionally hard plugger, and it takes a fast guard to keep up to him.

He shines in other lines besides basket ball. He is one of the fastest baseball infield players at the local school and has made a great name on several independent nines at the Head of the Lakes. Although he did not try out for the school football team last fall, he is a gridiron star of unusual ability. He was the most sensational player in the big game last fall between the agricultural and industrial clubs of Central high school.

Yesterday Mason was elected captain of the senior indoor baseball team and is confident of leading his team to victory over the faculty team in the big annual clash next week. He is one of the best baseball players in the school and also a speedy man on the cinder path.

SAYS PASTOR IS IMMORAL

St. Hilaire Woman Makes Allegations Against Spouse in Divorce Suit.

Former Pennington County Belle Alleges Naughty Acts By Husband.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charges that he is "of a vicious disposition and immoral character," and that he is guilty of the "vilest and most inhuman treatment," are some of the allegations made in a complaint for divorce filed here yesterday in the district court by Mrs. Annie Sophie Gryting, wife of Rev. Theodore Lewis Gryting, pastor of the Synod Norwegian Lutheran church at St. Hilaire.

Rev. Mr. Gryting was ordained in 1907 and has had charge of the pastorate at St. Hilaire ever since. His family reside near Belview, Minn., and are reputed wealthy, as Mrs. Gryting charges in the complaint that he was in the habit of receiving frequent remittances from there to supplement his $700 annual salary.

Before her marriage in Minneapolis on March 10 last, Mrs. Gryting was Miss Annie Sophie Nettland, one of the belles of Pennington county and the daughter of Lars K. Nettland, who has been clerk of Roxbury for the past twenty years.

Ill Treated on Honeymoon.

Mrs. Gryting is not yet 20 years of age, Rev. Gryting is 36. Less than a month after their marriage, according to the complaint, they started on a honeymoon to the Pacific coast. During the entire time they were absent on this trip, Mrs. Gryting alleges she was forced to submit to the vilest abuse, culminating in San Francisco in her being struck in the mouth and knocked across the room when she refused to acquiesce to some of her minister-husband's demands.

Mrs. Gryting alleges that Rev. Gryting seemed to glory in his perverted notions, and called all to witness who would, and that witnesses of his deeds are scattered from Minnesota to the Pacific coast. Even after their return the clergyman did not cease his practices, but violence and other unspeakable abuses were the girl-bride's lot, until she was forced to leave him to save the life of their unborn child.

Mrs. Gryting asks for an absolute divorce, for the custody of her unborn child and her expenses during confinement, for the use of her maiden name, alimony and attorney's fees. The case should come up for trial at the June term of court. It is understood that Rev. Mr. Gryting will resign his charge before that time.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWITT SINCEBAUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT MINOT NORMAL

Plans Being Arranged for Successful Affair Next Summer.

Minot, N. D., March 22.—The county superintendents of a number of the counties affiliated with the summer school at the Minot normal school held a conference here at the normal and decided to join forces again this season to make the summer training school for teachers the best of its kind in the entire state. They indorsed the work of last year and were strongly in favor of continuing the model school as was done last year in order that the teachers might have the advantage of the experience this departure provides.

Executive Committee Named.

An executive committee consisting of President Crane of the normal school and County Superintendent A. C. Berg of McHenry, W. D. Wendt of Ward and H. E. Layne of Bottineau was appointed who will have charge of the preliminary work in connection with the school.

The county superintendents attending the preliminary meeting were as follows:

H. E. Layne of Bottineau county; C. H. Worf of Burke, A. C. Berge of McHenry, V. A. Lovell of Mountrail, L. M. Rockne of Renville, E. O. Kleve of Sheridan, W. D. Wendt of Ward, Miss Anna Peterson of Williams county.

WARREN EXPECTS LOT OF BUILDING

New High School, Addition to Hospital and Other Work Planned.

Warren, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warren anticipates a very active building season this year. Contractors and retail lumber men expect it to be one of the most stirring in the history of the city.

A new $50,000 high school building will be constructed, a $20,000 addition to the Warren hospital will be built, and plans have been drawn for a new $20,000 bank building. It is probable that a new modern forty-room brick hotel will be built. The municipal light and water plant is now completing a $20,000 addition to its already modern plant. A movement has been started to spend $20,000 either for graveling or paving the main streets of the city. The increased demand for residences will require at least ten or fifteen houses to be erected.

SOO SOLDIERS READY.

Militiamen at Lock City Anxious to Go to Front.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 22.—Immediate efforts are being made to place Company M here on a war footing. A meeting of citizens, representatives of the Civic and Commercial association, retired military men and representatives of Company M was held at the armory for the purpose of discussing the possible departure of Company M for the border. During the discussion, the point was brought out forcibly that all signs point to an extended campaign in Mexico. Those who are in a position to judge felt that every opportunity should be offered young men of the Soo to take advantage of this opportunity to secure military training.

PLAN FOR WAR CALL.

Badger Officials Confer About Getting Militiamen Ready.

Madison, Wis., March 22.—Governor E. L. Philip conferred yesterday with Adjt.-Gen. Orlando Holway regarding plans for getting the Wisconsin National Guard prepared for service in case a call is made in connection with the Mexican situation. Adjt-Gen. Holway said 1,503 horses and mules would be needed by the Guard. He also discussed with the governor the steps being taken to furnish adequate depots for the equipment of batteries to be organized at Racine and Green Bay.

IN CHARGE OF SPIES.

Cleveland-Cliffs' Gwinn Engineer Goes to Iron River.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 22.—William R. Meyers, who, for the past seven years, has been a mining engineer for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company in the Gwinn district, has been promoted to the superintendency of the Spies mine at Iron River, and will assume his new position about April 15.

The Spies mine promises to be a fine property. A record is being made in the sinking of the shaft, as well as with the other work around the mine. A number of dwelling houses, to be used by employes of the company, are now in the course of construction, while several have already been completed.

J. S. Wahlman of this city has the contract for most of the building work and already has completed building some of the most important structures. The shaft sinking operations were started in January and it is now down to a depth of about seventy-five feet. About thirty-five feet of the distance is already sunk in through a ledge. Capt. James H. Rough of Negaunee has been in charge of the mining operations. William H. Bath of Negaunee is the mining captain, and Charles Stackle, who was recently made superintendent at Republic, has been the engineer in charge of the work.

SAYS SCHOOL LAND GRANT IS ILLEGAL

Member of North Dakota Constitutional Convention Raises Nice Point.

Bismarck, N. D., March 22.—John M. Alman of Grafton, who was a member of the constitutional convention, has raised a question as to the constitutionality of the act granting section 36, township 140, range 49, to the agricultural college for a site. The then attorney general advised the second state legislature that the act would be unconstitutional, but suggested that congress would grant permission and that the state constitution could be amended to conform.

Never Amended Constitution.

Congress passed the act, but the state never amended its Constitution, which leaves the grant to the college incomplete. Alman insists that Attorney General H. J. Linde take action. Linde is not yet undecided. The land on which the college stands still appears on the land department map as unsold and subject to sale.

Albert Lea, Minn., March 22.—George Prange, a farmer living near Wells, has sold a hog that tipped the scales at 811 pounds. Prange received a check for $64.88 for the big fellow.

DIXON FOR ROOSEVELT.

Former Manager of Bull Moose Campaign Files as Republican.

Helena, Mont., March 22.—Former United States Senator Joseph M. Dixon of Missoula, who four years ago managed Col. Roosevelt's campaign for the presidency on the Bull Moose ticket, has filed as candidate before the primaries for delegate to the Republican national convention. He announces that he is for Roosevelt first, Cummins second and then if neither can be nominated for "any other whom the convention considers the best candidate."

Dixon's filing as a Republican is construed to mean he will file later in the year as a candidate for United States senator on the Republican ticket.

E. O. Selday of Dillon, chairman of the Republican state central committee; A. A. Braten of Havre and J. M. Stevens of Kalispel announce themselves as candidates for places on the Republican delegation to the Chicago convention. Charles M. Mansur of Polson announces himself as a candidate for presidential elector on the Democratic ticket, P. H. McCarthy of Butte as a candidate for a place on the Democratic delegation to the St. Louis convention and W. T. Dawe of Livingston as a candidate for a place on the Progressive delegation.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

If Cross, Bilious, Sick, Feverish, or Full of Cold, Take No Chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

MINNESOTA SPANISH WAR VETERANS READY

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—According to W. A. Curtis, department commander of the United Spanish war veterans of Minnesota, a regiment of veterans could be organized on short notice for service in Mexico. Mr. Curtis has made a survey on orders from the chief commander of the order, Congressman L. C. Dyer of Missouri. By Sunday he will report the number in Minnesota who are willing to enlist.

Returning from Duluth Monday night, Mr. Curtis said there were about 500 of the Spanish war veterans there and on the Iron Range who would serve and enough to recruit a regiment there and in the Twin Cities. There are 1,000 in the order in Minnesota and twice that many not allied with the order, many of whom might answer a call to colors.

LAST OF CHICAGO'S "FIRST BORN" DIES

Hancock, Wis., March 22.—William Patterson Stevens, who was born in Fort Dearborn while the fort was menaced by Chief Black Hawk and his Indians in 1832, died Monday morning at the age of 83 years. He was the last survivor of Chicago's "first born," the winter of 1831-32 being the first that whites had spent in what is now Chicago. He lived many years in Wisconsin and served in a Badger regiment in the Civil war.

Returning from the war, Mr. Stevens married Fannie Morgan in Ripon in 1866. Later he married Delia Hyde and in 1881 Mary E. Fay. Two children were born of the latter union who with the widow survive, Orrin R. Stevens of Oneida, N. Y., and Mrs. Belle E. Goodwin and Mary E. Stevens of Hancock. A sister, Mrs. Belle S. Leach, is a resident of Miami, Fla.

Interment will be in Ripon, the Capt. H. C. Eggleton post, G. A. R., being in charge.

BROUGHT FROM CHICAGO ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Crookston, Minn., March 22.—Joseph Jannick, who was brought here from Chicago by Deputy Sheriff Oscar Bolstad, when arraigned before Judge William Watts in district court on a charge of selling mortgaged property asked that his plea may be made at a later date. The request was granted and Jannick is being held in the county jail being unable to raise $1,000 bail.

Jannick, it is alleged, sold his property in Nesbit, which was mortgaged, and went to Chicago, where he entered into the saloon business.

The recent grand jury brought in six indictments against Jannick and a bench warrant was issued. After the Chicago sheriff had been notified a search was made of that city with the resulting arrest.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA LAKES ROBBED OF FISH

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—Reports that some of the lakes near the international boundary in the Rainy lake region have been sadly depleted of fish, either by illegal fishing on a large scale or by some unknown cause, have stirred Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, to investigate. He is in the north country and will remain a few days to size up the situation.

NORTH DAKOTAN DIES WHILE AT FUNERAL

Detroit, Minn., March 22.—Seated at his wife's side in a church here while attending the funeral of Mrs. Otelia Osten, his cousin, C. M. Scoville of Forman, N. D., gasped and fell over on his wife's shoulder dead. Heart disease was the trouble, physicians say. His tragic death threw consternation into the small congregation gathered about the bier of his relative.

SOO LINE TO BUILD MELLEN, WIS., CUTOFF

Ashland, Wis., March 22.—Secretary Brown of the Ashland Commercial club, after a conference at Minneapolis with the officials of the Soo line, says that President Pennington announced that the Soo would start the construction of its cutoff from Reserve to Mellen at once.

The road now has a spur from its main line out of Minneapolis running from Amery to Reserve. This spur will be extended to meet the Wisconsin Central at Mellen, a distance of 100 miles.

TREATING PEAT BOG WILL BE DISCUSSED

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Skilled testimony as to the proper method of treating peat, bog and reclaimed lowlands will be given farmers, landmen and others interested, at the Commercial club next Friday, when Prof. Hoverstad, agricultural commissioner for the Soo line and formerly in charge of the agricultural station at Crookston, will lecture on that subject. Prof. Hay will have charge of the program, and the work of the horticultural schools and their methods of meeting this problem will be explained.

THIEF RIVER'S MORAL BETTER AS DRY TOWN

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instead of from fifteen to twenty drunks weekly, as was the rule during the time saloons were in this city, the records of the municipal court show that there have been but six arrests for intoxication since Jan. 1, four in January and two last month. All of the business locations occupied by the fifteen saloons that were driven out of business here Dec. 18 have been occupied.

THIEF RIVER BANKS MADE GOOD SHOWING

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—In response to the March call for statements from local banking institutions, a summary of their condition shows that more than a million and half dollars are on deposit, the big high mark for this city, a $225,000 increase over the statement a year ago.

Loans have increased $82,000 in the like period and coming spring demands for needed cash, with plenty of money available, makes the bankers exceedingly optimistic.

PIGGER AGAIN NABBED IN IRON COUNTY

Crystal Falls, Mich., March 22.—Charles Lee, a blindpigger, who pleaded guilty in Iron county last month and paid a fine of $400 and costs, was arrested again when his place was raided by Deputy Sheriffs Jessen, Lind and Urban, who found a quantity of liquor. The raid was the cause of a tussle between Jessen and Lee on the floor, but Lee soon quieted down.

Iowan Dies in Minot.

Minot, N. D., March 22.—C. S. Mills, aged 80 years, died here at the home of his son, F. N. Mills, of old age superinduced by heart trouble. He had been making his home with his son for the last two years. The remains were shipped to Ackley, Iowa, his old home, for interment, accompanied by the son and his family.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—The site of an old Indian village on a farm on the shore of Lake Koshkonong, near Edgerton, is the source of a large collection of Indian relics which Halvor L. Skavlem of Janesville, has recently given to the Wisconsin Historical society.

Grand Rapids—Joseph Gokey, 98 years old, a brother-in-law of Solomon Juneau, founder of Milwaukee, died at the Wood county poor farm on Monday. He had been an inmate of the institution for four years and had been sick for several months.

Lake Geneva—Mrs. Marie Souther and the Misses Ellen Elamm and Helga Fredin, charged with kidnaping Jerome and Walter Kalver from the Oakleigh sanatorium because they claimed that they had salary coming from the institution, were granted an adjournment to April 3, when the case came before Justice W. F. Best on Monday. They are out on a bond of $500.

Milwaukee—The American flag will fly from a 40-foot flag pole, erected on the lawn at the home of Joseph J. Hasenmiller, 678 Buffum street, until the end of the European war. The flag was raised on Lincoln's birthday and has been flying in the breeze ever since. It is 6 by 9 feet.

Rochester—Charles E. Fawcett, superintendent of the Racine county agricultural school here, will have charge of the erection of a new barn on the school farm this spring, on which only student labor will be used.

NEARLY WILD WITH BURNING ITCHING

Eczema. From Hands to Elbows One Mass. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Could Not Sleep.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My daughter was poisoned by salt and it turned into eczema and from her hands to her elbows was one mass of red, burning, itching eruptions. It began with a rash which was of such a burning itching nature that at times she was nearly wild. For many weeks she could not put her hands in water and she could not sleep.

"She suffered intensely for several weeks and I tried wringing towels out of hot water and putting a rubber sheet across her, but she wasn't helped. The Doctor said to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did and the itching and burning left her, and I used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap and she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Ida Brown, 7029 Eggleston Ave., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22, 1915.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Escanaba—Rev. Raymond Jacques of Menominee has been transferred to be pastor of St. Ann's church at Escanaba to succeed Father Marceau, who has been granted leave of absence by Bishop Eis.

Houghton—Kate Salo of Houghton was arraigned in Justice Rouleau's court Monday on complaint of Herman Heikkila of Ontonagon, who alleged that he was robbed of about $78 in the place last Friday night, also that he had purchased some beer from the Salo woman. The case was dismissed because of lack of evidence.

Calumet—As a result of injuries received on Friday last, Anthony Luchessi, aged 45, died at the Tamarack hospital. The injuries consisted of a fractured neck from accounts of his fellow workmen, caused by the skip striking a piece of timber which he and his partner were carrying across the shaft, the deceased being employed as a timber man. Mr. Luchessi is survived by his widow and several children.

Ontonagon—John Bresnahan, aged 55, died here Saturday and is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Patrick of Butte, Mont.; Edward of L'Anse, Michael of Calumet, Mrs. J. Ojo of Hancock, Mrs. Smiley of Canada, Mrs. Vial of Trimountain and Miss Kate Bresnahan of Hancock. The funeral was held at Calumet Tuesday.

Calumet—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Kakkela, who died Saturday, was held Monday afternoon from the Allouez Finnish Lutheran church, Rev. Ojala officiating. Interment was at Lake View cemetery. She was 78 years old and is survived by one son, Arthur, and two daughters, also a brother in Calumet.

Ishpeming—The funeral of F. A. Killstrom, who died in Duluth Friday night, was held here Monday from the home of Oscar Anderson. The late Mr. Killstrom had been a resident of this city for forty years prior to two years ago, when he went to live with his daughter, Mrs. John Anderson of Duluth, following the death of his wife.

Calumet—Deputy Sheriff W. H. Dee confiscated a number of punch boards in drug stores, confectionery stores and billiard halls here, the names of the owners having been withheld by the authorities. The devices will be destroyed.

Ishpeming—The funeral of Isaac Moss, aged 68, who lived here for forty-nine years, was held Tuesday. A widow, three sons and four daughters survive; Miss Josina Moss, Milwaukee; Mrs. H. Robare, Escanaba; William, Marquette, and Victoria, Rose, George and Louis of this city. He was one of the Cleveland Cliffs company's oldest workmen and was retired on a pension by that company several years ago. Mr. Moss first entered this company's employ as a switchman.

Escanaba—John Lemmer of this city, now a student at Notre Dame university at South Bend, Ind., has been awarded third place in a debating contest at the university and in addition won a cash prize of $20. Out of sixty contestants eight were chosen for the two debating teams and Mr. Lemmer was the third in the list selected.

Houghton—Allen F. Rees of Houghton, former navigating officer of the training ship Yantic, has been appointed delegate to the annual convention of the Navy League of the United States, to be held in Washington, D. C., next month.

TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

City Would Safeguard the Public Against Coal Holes and Traps.

Warnings Will Be Issued to Building Owners and Managers.

City commissioners will institute a vigorous campaign to prevent accidents and the subsequent lawsuits caused by open coal holes or traps in downtown sidewalks.

Next Monday Commissioner Farrell will be authorized to distribute the following notice to all building owners, managers and tenants along Superior, Michigan and First streets in the downtown business section:

"You will please take notice, and you are hereby directed, that whenever a coal hole or trap in the sidewalk in front of or adjacent to your premises is in use, you are required to station a person of suitable age and discretion at such openings while in use, to protect pedestrians from falling into the same, and to see that said opening is properly and securely closed and fastened after such use.

"Several accidents have occurred lately by reason of persons walking along sidewalks, falling into openings in the walks; and this is to notify you that in case any accident or injury occurs by reason of the use of any opening in the walk adjacent to your premises, and not properly guarded by an individual looking after the same, you will be held to strict account for any damage that may ensue by reason thereof."

At a conference last Saturday City Attorney Samuelson brought up the question of taking some steps to prevent sidewalk accidents in the future. He was directed to prepare the above notice and this morning he submitted it to Commissioner Farrell, who will have charge of the campaign.

French Dancer at Grand.

Verna Mersereau, the talented French dancer who is headlining the show at the New Grand the first half of the week, is one of the most pleasing attractions seen at that playhouse in some time. Large crowds have been present at all performances. Her act, which is entitled "A Romance of Old Egypt," is composed of a number of classic dances, which are declared to represent the Terpiscorean art of the Egyptians.

Lamb's Manikins, a well-known act of merit, is entertaining because of its novelty features. A number of marionettes, performing on a stage, represent all kinds of players such as would appear on a vaudeville stage. The Avondo Prince Trio, with their xylophones and accordions, are clever entertainers. Carter and Waters offer a corking good burlesque on suffrage. The picture program is toplined by Joseph Kilgore in "Miss Warren's Brother."

Tomorrow there will be a new show and Gus Edward's "School Days," one of the most popular vaudeville acts of its kind on the road, will headline the show. The management promises one of the best bills of the season for the week-end.

FUNERAL OF MRS. RICH ON THURSDAY MORNING

MRS. CHRISTINA RICH.

Funeral services for Mrs. Christina Rich, wife of Carl Rich, 18 West Second street, who is one of the prominent members of Duluth's Italian colony, will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter's Italian Catholic church. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Rich was 55 years old and had been an invalid for some time prior to her death. She died Tuesday morning. She had been a resident of the city for about twenty-five years.

In addition to her husband, she leaves six children, Mrs. A. J. Hass, Mrs. Frank Priley, Joseph, Michael, Rose and Regina. There also is a brother, H. H. Priley of 221 West Third street.

CHEAPER TO STAY AND PAY RENT NOW

The prices of moving household goods will advance April 1.

The transfer companies say that owing to the high cost of grain and hay as well as of labor, they are compelled to advance their prices 15 cents per hour for the moving of furniture.

The companies further state that even at the advanced price, their rates for this class of work are much lower than Minneapolis, St. Paul or any of the other cities in the country.

IRONWOOD FIRE DOES ABOUT $1,000 DAMAGE

Ironwood, Mich., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out late yesterday afternoon at 208 South Mansfield street and for a time the entire building was in danger of destruction. The house is owned by Mrs. John Phillips and was occupied by two families, those of Mrs. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Gean. The fire department was called at noon to Mrs. Scott's apartment by a chimney fire and, thinking the fire was extinguished, left at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Scott noticed flames break through the roof and immediately the fire department was called again. The loss by fire and water is estimated at $1,000, the building being insured. Mrs. Scott was the chief loser as most of her household goods were practically destroyed by either fire, smoke or water.

REED DENIES THAT TANK IS LEAKING

Residents near the water reservoir at Second avenue east and Thirteenth street are unduly alarmed over the report that the huge tank is leaking, according to Manager Reed of the water and light department.

A collection of ice near the tank has started the rumor that the reservoir is leaking, but Manager Reed said that there is no trouble with the tank as far as can be learned at this time. There is a possibility of the existence of springs in the vicinity, he said.

"There is no need for alarm at this time," he said, "but we will know more about it after warm weather sets in. We find trouble with the ice and snow each spring."

The discovery of a considerable deposit of uranium ore in South Australia is believed to indicate a new source of radium.

WITNESS HAD BAD RECORD

Made to Admit Several Arrests Under Cross-Examination.

Had Tried to Establish Alibi for Alleged Shoplifter.

If William Lauren, alleged shoplifter now on trial in District Judge Cant's court, could have eliminated the unpleasant cross-examination of witnesses called in his behalf today, he might have established an alibi which would easily have cleared him.

But, unfortunately for Lauren, his alibi went a-glimmering because he pinned his faith to a witness of questionable character and one who was obliged to admit that he has a "record."

County Attorney Warren E. Greene patiently lounged about in his chair for more than a half hour this morning while he listened to the story told by Frank Maki, alias William Myllymaa, who represented himself as having been the proprietor of a boarding house at Washburn, Wis., and who claimed that Lauren was working for him in Washburn on Oct. 28, last, when he is alleged to have stolen a dress from the National store in this city, escaping after a spectacular chase.

Strong for Lauren.

According to Maki's story, Lauren was in Washburn all during the month of October. Maki said that he was conducting a boarding house there at that time and that Lauren was employed by him. Maki swore positively that Lauren was at no time, during the month of October, away from the city of Washburn and that other witnesses could testify that they saw him there.

Then came Mr. Greene's turn at the witness. The prosecuting attorney wanted to know something about Mr. Maki himself. He wanted to find out if he was the same gentleman who had been arrested several times by the Duluth police. He inquired about Aug. 13, 1913.

"Were you arrested on that date?" Maki hesitated. He finally asked: "On what charge?"

"On the charge of forgery," said the county attorney.

With his mind sufficiently refreshed, Maki admitted that he did remember something about being arrested at that time.

Then Mr. Greene shot questions at him concerning other deals in which he was involved.

Reveals His Record.

"How about it? On March 9, 1915, as Frank Maki or Lippermaki, were you not arrested at Superior, Wis., for arson in the first degree and held for trial at Black River Falls, Wis?"

"Yes, I guess you're right," was the answer.

"And on April 20, 1915, was not the case dismissed and you turned over to the authorities at Red Granite, Wis., on a charge of burglary?"

"I think so."

"And only on Jan. 21, 1916, in this city, were you not arrested for assault in the third degree and held for the authorities at Washburn on a charge of keeping a house of ill fame?"

Maki admitted the fact. Then the county attorney asked him if it was not a fact that he was keeping a house of ill fame in Washburn instead of a boarding house as he would have the jury believe.

Maki attempted to grow indignant. "I should say not," he said.

"Oh, no, far be it from such," retorted Mr. Greene.

"Nothing like that."

"Oh, no, of course not."

Gets a Respite.

At this point Judge Cant ordered the noon adjournment of court. This afternoon County Attorney Green will conclude his examination of Maki.

Lauren is on trial under an indictment charging him with grand larceny in the second degree. It is charged that he and a woman whom the police have under surveillance came into the National store at 29 West Superior street on Oct. 29 and that Lauren helped himself to a silk frock of his lady's liking and tucking it under his coat, attempted to make a get-away unobserved.

G. A. Oreck, proprietor of the store, detected a bulge in Lauren's clothing and when Lauren made a bolt, he grabbed him, but was unable to restrain him. His son, Lyle Oreck, also chased him. Lauren, it is claimed, ran down to Michigan street and through a commission house into the railroad yards.

G. A. Oreck positively identified the prisoner as being the thief. He was also identified by Lyle Oreck and others.

DENIES HIBBING PROBE COST $10,000

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Examiner Andrew Fritz dropped into town just before noon today, but on what mission declined to say, although it is presumed he is here in connection with the examination of village books being made by his department.

Mr. Fritz characterized as ridiculous a statement recently printed as to the examination of Hibbing books costing $10,000. He said the cost would be no where near that sum.

POSTAL SERVICE TO BE REORGANIZED

The complete reorganization of the postal service in Duluth is expected to be begun in the near future.

Orders were received from Washington today by Postmaster William E. McEwen, asking that all mail be weighed and each letter and parcel counted during the week of April 3. The results will be used by the government officials in their inspection of the service.

Postmaster McEwen said today that it was the aim of the department to bring the service up to requirements.

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that has been used for many years with great success. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils should open, air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, or hard cold or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial.

SUPERIOR

BANDITS IN TWO STORES

Bold Robbers Make Two Hauls Within Short Time.

A confectionery store in Billings Park and a drug store on Tower avenue were entered last night within a space of half an hour by two bold highwaymen who secured more than $70 from the clerks and customers. The police, although furnished with a good description of the men, have so far failed to find them.

The first robbery took place at about 9:30 o'clock in the confectionery store of James G. Watterson on Twenty-first street and Iowa avenue. Mr. Watterson and P. D. Sprowell, clerk for the Superior Hardware company, were in the store. After firing one shot to scare the men the robbers rifled the till, taking between $5 and $7 in change, and robbed Mr. Sprowell of about $40 in cash.

The police were immediately notified and arrived a few moments later. After investigating, they returned to the station. They had just got into the station house when the call was received from the Holmberg drug store, Twenty-first street and Tower avenue, saying that the place had been held up. Here the two men, answering to the same description given by Mr. Watterson, had walked into the store although the place was well filled with customers and held up the clerk, robbing him of $25 which was in the till. Matt Jorgensen, the clerk, immediately notified the police.

DEAD MAN RECEIVES SUPERIOR NOMINATION

James McMullen, who died a few days ago, but who some time previous had filed for the nomination of supervisor of the Fourth ward in Superior, received the highest number of votes cast in the ward at the primary election held yesterday. Through a technicality his name had been retained on the ballot. He received a total of 252 votes against H. M. Parks 246 and Charles Frank's 67.

Just what will be done in the case is as yet not decided. It is probable that the names of Parks and Frank will be placed on the ballot for the spring election, according to belief of officials.

LICENSE QUESTION IS ASSURED FOR SUPERIOR

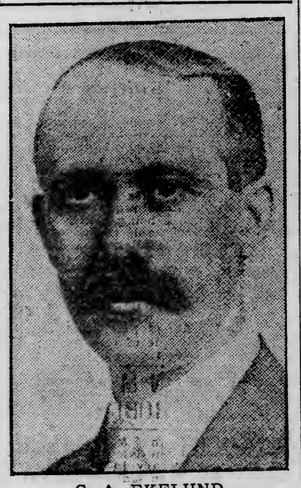
Following an address by Father A. B. C. Dunne of Eau Claire, here last night, the no-license forces announced today that enough names had been secured to the petition to bring the issue before the voters at the election on April 4.

The wet and dry fight a year ago resulted in a wet victory by a margin of 15 votes.

Tomlinson Polls Big Vote.

Fred C. Tomlinson, present city commissioner, received nearly as many votes as were cast for his three opponents in the election yesterday. His total vote was 2,033. John Schafer won out for second place, getting 934 votes; John P. Jensen, 895, and Fred O. Anderson, 219. Mr. Tomlinson and Mr. Schafer will be the opponents in the spring election.

GRAND REGENT GUEST OF ROYAL ARCANUM HERE



G. A. EKELUND.

G. A. Ekelund, twenty-fifth grand regent of the Royal Arcanum, will be guest of honor of Duluth Council No. 1483 at its big meeting and banquet to be held next Tuesday evening. The affair will be held at Maccabee hall, 21 Lake avenue north.

In addition to Mr. Ekelund, several other high officials of the society will be present. Among them will be George Leigh, grand vice regent, and S. C. Horton, grand secretary.

A class initiation to be followed by a banquet and musical program and speeches has been planned for the evening.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM ACUTE

May Bring Real Crisis Between United States and Carranza.

El Paso Tex., March 22.—The Mexican railroad problem again took first place in public interest on the border today, following a report that the American military authorities were contemplating sending a new column into Mexico from Fabens, a village thirty miles east of here. It was reported that this plan was under consideration as an alternative should Gen. Carranza refuse the request of the Washington government for the use of the Mexican Northwestern railroad over which to transport supplies. Gen. Bell declined to discuss the report.

From Guadulupe across the border from Fabens, one of the best wagon roads in Northern Mexico leads south and southwest through Chrcos to the lake region about Ahumada and El Carrizal.

From El Carrizal it follows the Rio De Carmen to a spot scarcely fifteen miles from El Valle, the most southerly town known to have been reached by the American troops.

That the railroad problem will bring a real crisis in the relations between the Carranzistas and Americans is believed here. Reports continue to seep through the censorship at Columbus concerning difficulties the American military authorities are experiencing in forwarding adequate supplies by pack horses and wagon trains. Admissions which confirm the story that the transportation problem is an increasingly serious one have been made.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

COMMISSION "IN THE DARK"

Will Seek More Information Before Acting on Firemen's Petition.

Declaring that they are "in the dark" regarding the proposed double platoon system being demanded by the firemen, the city commissioners at an informal conference in Mayor Prince's office this morning decided to make a thorough investigation of the proposition at once.

Commissioner Silberstein was requested to consult with Fire Chief Randall and prepare a statement on the present payroll and salary expenses of the fire department in Duluth, the number of men needed to man the apparatus at each station and other information that might be considered necessary in adopting plans for a complete revision of the system. Firemen behind the initiative petition for a double platoon will be invited to present their plan in detail, so that the commission will be able to determine the exact cost of the system.

Wants Are Mystery.

"I am unable to determine just exactly what the firemen want," said Commissioner Voss. "If they mean to have two twelve-hour shifts, that would require more than thirty additional men. I would like to see some actual figures before taking sides in the matter. However, an expense of $75,000 is out of the question as it would necessitate the increasing of the 23-mill tax levy, or eliminating the appropriation for hydrant rental amounting to about $50,000, thereby severely crippling the water and light department."

"The firemen have never appeared before the council or addressed a communication to the commissioners, explaining their plan," said Mayor Prince. "Maybe we could get together and decide on some feasible plan for handling the proposition without embarrassing the other department funds."

ON THE IRON RANGES

VIRGINIA SALOON REDUCTION BEATEN

Proposal to Cut Down Grog Shops Defeated Two to One.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 6 to 3 the city council last night defeated Alderman E. F. Murray's ordinance to reduce the liquor licenses to be issued in this city by July 1, 1917, from 48 to 25. The ayes were: E. F. Murray, Arthur Walsh and A. D. Heritage. Nays: R. J. McGhee, H. H. Lein, Dan Coffey, Fred Mollan, Elmer Matheson and George Harvey.

The decision was reached without debate, although Alderman McGhee declared the issue was one on which there was such a wide difference of opinion and so many different angles that it should properly be submitted to the people on a referendum vote. It was his personal belief that the city had too many saloons.

Looks Like Referendum.

That the issue will go to a referendum vote there is small doubt. Those in favor of the strictest regulations of licensed drinking places favor the referendum and openly indorse it. More than half the retail liquor dealers of the city are also said to favor it.

Alderman Lein stated that upon the request of numerous citizens he had been asked to bring up the question of the legality of the appointment of Thomas H. Moodie to the position of clerk to the committees of the city council. The matter was referred to the city attorney for a report at the meeting on Tuesday evening next.

An ordinance providing for the renaming of the city's streets north and south of Chestnut street numerically was ordered prepared and presented to the council.

ITALIAN CONSUL FILES JUDGMENT

Asks Hibbing to Settle for Alien Killed While Working for Village.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council met yesterday afternoon and the oath of office was taken by all members and by the village treasurer.

The annual report of the park board was filed. The report of the municipal court for the week ending March 1 showed receipts of $63.35 and for the week ending March 8 $20.

A notice of judgment in the sum of $2,973.54 against the village was filed by Attilio Castigliano, Italian consul, acting for the estate of Gean or Virginio Armando, an alien, who was killed while working for the village. The judgment was obtained in February in the district court at Duluth and was filed March 10.

Numerous applications for positions in the city employ were all placed on file.

The incinerator plant and a new fire engine were not discussed but it is expected that they will be at the next meeting.

SENIORS RANKED FIRST.

They Led Last Month in Eveleth Public Schools.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the average marks for the last month in the high school the seniors ranked first with 92 2-3. The juniors and freshmen came next with an average of 91⅔ and the sophomores followed with 90⅔. For the seniors Edwin Culbert reached the highest mark, which was 97 1-3. Ellis Huttula represented the freshmen class with an average of 97; Arthur Lampi for the juniors came next with 96 and Selma Torikkola 95, the highest of the sophomore class. The final average for the three classes was 91 1-3.

The freshmen and junior classes will debate Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the high school auditorium on "Woman Suffrage."

J. P. Brown will leave Monday for Superior to attend a party given in his honor.

ACCUSED EVELETH MAN IS FREED

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Victor Maccani, a Tyrolean, accused of having stolen $700 from underneath the mattress in the rooms of Battista Briday, was given a hearing before Municipal Judge Moylan and found not guilty, as the state failed to produce anything other than weak circumstantial evidence against Maccani.

Duja Masich was found guilty of assaulting Joseph Rebrovich with a knife, injuring him about the neck and face and was fined $100 and costs. The fine was paid. The assault was alleged to have been committed on the evening of March 15.

CAN BE LOYAL TO CHURCH AND STATE

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Peacemaker," given for the benefit of St. Patrick's church Monday evening at the auditorium, was a success in every way. The room was nearly filled with people, who were pleased with the program.

The program was begun with two selections by the Williams orchestra, and was followed by a clever sparring match by the Bice twins.

Father Floyd of Duluth, who had the local parish for a number of years, spoke on "The Relation of the Catholic Church to the Government of the United States." He said he was sorry that he had ever left Eveleth, which was the best city on the range, and then showed how it was absurd for people to believe that a person cannot be loyal to the government and also to the church.

"The Peacemaker" was played without a break. Between acts several vocal numbers by Miss Dora Zini, Miss Ruth McCormick, Miss Inez Davey, Capt. W. M. Mahon and a whistling and dancing specialty by Elmer Lindsay were rendered very effectively. Capt. Mahon also did some character work in which he impersonated a negro minister. He is a delightful entertainer and won the applause of the audience several times. The program closed with another selection by the Williams orchestra.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

Rub Pain From Back With Small Trial Bottle of Old "St. Jacob's Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly, it never disappoints.—Advertisement.

WILLIAM HAYES IS NEW NASHWAUK CHIEF

Nashwauk, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new village council met in the new village hall Monday evening and a large crowd was present to hear the discussions on the various appointments. President H. T. Reifel appointed William Hayes chief of police to succeed Arthur White and the appointment met with unanimous approval of the council. Another applicant for the job was Ray Cearv. John C. Lewis was reappointed village attorney at a salary of $50 per month. The following applications were read for the position of street commissioner but action was laid on the table until the next regular meeting Monday night, April 3. Charles Tammilnen, Frank Secroman, M. D. Jackson and Emil Shullo. The appointments of two patrolmen were also deferred until the next regular meeting. Applicants are Vincent Blanchini, John Koski, Corrodo Michelettl, Pasquale D'aiessio, Antonio Nicoletti, Tony di Guiseppe and Warren Clough. Dr. M. F. Hayes was reappointed health officer.

Five Would Be Poundmaster.

Five applications for poundmaster were read and laid on the table as follows: Tom Brown, William Kennedy, August Lindewall, Angelo Lorenzato and Elno Rantala. It is expected that the arrangement of this position will be changed at the next meeting of the council. Pay for common labor was raised from $2.25 to $2.50 per day and the team labor was set at $5.50 per day. About twenty men were put to work Tuesday morning shoveling ice and snow from the walks about town and also to open up catch basins and thawing hydrants as it is feared that much damage will be done to property by water and action is being taken at once to prevent it.

GRAND JURY IS BUSY.

Itasca County Inquisitors Considering Pending Criminal Cases.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury, charged by Judge Wright in district court yesterday and placed at work probing pending criminal cases, worked till late yesterday and resumed its session this morning.

MISSABE ROAD IS BUILDING BIG BRIDGE

Coleraine, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trains on the Coleraine branch of the Missabe railroad now run over the Great Northern tracks between Taconite and Calumet. This will continue for about three weeks while the new steel trestle work is being installed over the Little Lawrence Lake valley. This will take the place of a wooden structure used during the past ten years. When completed it will be the largest steel bridge in the D., M. & N. system.

COLERAINE HIGH HAS QUINT COURT

Coleraine, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A basket ball court has just been completed in the auditorium of the Greenway high school. In order to protect walls and border lights, about 5,000 square feet of netting has been hung from the ceiling to the floor surrounding the court. The baskets have also been suspended from the ceiling. On the floor both basket ball and indoor baseball courts have been marked out. This improvement has long been needed, as the high school has never been provided with a gymnasium. In another year the high school hopes to develop a basket ball team which can compete with other high schools of the range.

GRAND RAPIDS BAR TO BECOME GARAGE

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two new business enterprises and one change will take place in the buildings on the L. R. Root lots.

The livery stable, which the past winter has been conducted by C. J. Dauphinee and Carl Becker, has been leased to W. A. Vaneps, who will take charge at once. Mr. Vaneps will continue in the automobile livery, and will have horses and rigs in the livery service, aside from doing all kinds of heavy hauling and toting.

In the room adjoining the livery stable, for a time occupied by Alec Clusiau of Cohasset as a garage, Will Scott will open up a new blacksmith shop.

Mr. Root is having the bar room of the old Great Northern hotel remodeled into a garage, and in this D. B. Perrault, recently of Kansas City, Mo., who moved up with his parents, who are making their home on the Billock place near Shoal Lake, which they bought some time ago, will open a garage. He will not run any livery cars, but will only do repairing.

Supt. Mitchell Returns.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. J. Mitchell, superintendent of the Adams district for the Oliver Iron Mining company, returned Monday from California. Mrs. Mitchell and son stopped at Colorado Springs, Colo., and will return later.

Eveleth Child Burned.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 3-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sandred Vera of Leonidas died Sunday morning. The funeral was held Monday afternoon and burial made at the Eveleth cemetery.

BALKAN TOWNSHIP TO SPEND $75,000

Large Amount of Road and Other Work Planned This Year.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a levy of $75,000 made at the town meeting in the town of Balkan considerable work is planned. The levy is divided as follows: Road and bridge fund, $68,000; general fund, $4,000, and construction of new town hall, $3,000.

No decision has been made as to the possible location of the new town hall. The old office, located at the Monroe location, is too small. The board wants a substantial building erected, containing vault space for storage of town records. If there are no legal barriers, it is very probable that the new hall will be built in the village.

Extensive road construction will be undertaken next summer. Particular attention will be given to the resurfacing of the Hibbing-Chisholm road within the township.

The Coloumb road will be extended about one mile for the convenience of settlers in that territory. The Long Lake road will be extended two miles to completion, making that highway four miles long.

To Rebuild Sturgeon Road.

Rebuilding of Sturgeon River road, grading, cutting down hills and filling swamps on that highway north of the Ramsey farm will be the big task of the summer. It is the intention of the board to complete this road with a quality of work equal to that on the same road in Fern township. When the south end of this highway is completed within Balkan township it will be one of the best automobile drives in this section, and will shorten the distance between Chisholm and Lake Vermillion by fifteen miles.

Numerous branch roads, aggregating in all about three miles, will be built from the Sturgeon River road to connect farms with the main highway.

UNIVERSITY DEAN CHISHOLM SPEAKER

L. D. Coffman Addresses Independent School Officers of County.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—With L. D. Coffman, dean of education at the University of Minnesota, as the chief speaker the annual meeting of the St. Louis County association of boards of education and superintendents of the independent districts of the county is being held here today. The meeting was called to order by President R. J. Hughes of Aurora. The domestic science class of the high school served lunch.

Mr. Coffman and others spoke this afternoon. Officers will be elected.

Attending Chisholm Meeting.

Ely, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education and the superintendent of schools left this morning for Chisholm to attend a meeting of the school boards of independent districts which is being held today.

OPERETTA AT ELY.

"Sylvia" Will Be Presented in Washington School Friday Night.

Ely, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The operetta "Sylvia" will be given by the pupils of the high school at the Washington auditorium, Friday evening. The cast follows: Sylvia, Margaret Brown; Betty, Agnes Beckstrom; Sir William, Clifford Neff; Prince Tobbytum, Eli Rosenbloom; Lord Roland, Bryan Russell; Arabella, Helen Laurence; Araminta, Eva Rosenbloom; Polly, Margaret Mattson; Molly, Florence Spreitzer; Dolly, Katherine Gianotti; Robin, Willard Moonan; Kloni, Williamette Petherick; chorus of farmers' daughters, farm lads, haymakers and gypsies in costume. The operetta is in two acts. The scenes: A hay field, a summer morning. The accompanist is Gunborg Burglund; director, Miss Esther Englund.

CONFISCATED HORSES RETURNED TO OWNERS

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two teams of horses that the Indian agents captured in a recent early morning raid on the road leading from Buhl to Hibbing were replevined back by their owners and are now in their possession.

Attorneys Power and White represented the plaintiffs and when the government agents did not furnish bonds within a reasonable time the horses were delivered to their original owners.

The Indian agents, in the early morning hours of Feb. 29, swooped down upon the men and drivers carrying liquor into Hibbing and arrested several.

It is thought that the horses, which belonged to no one connected in any way with the raid, were not contested for by the Indian agents when their owners claimed them because the men who were bringing in the wet contraband were what the government officials were after.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventualy settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism, get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

WARMER

H. W. R. said yesterday that it would be much colder today, and when it comes to dire reports, you've got to hand it to that man up on the hill for making good. Cold! Everybody is shivering and complaining and even the bright sunlight fails to take the curse off. Old man Winter must have had a chiropractic specialist at work on his backbone.

A year ago today was foggy. The sun rose this morning at 6:05 and will set this evening at 6:24, giving twelve hours and sixteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The barometric depression of marked intensity overlying the Ohio valley caused light to heavy snow or rain and high winds during Tuesday or last night over North Atlantic states, lake region, Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys and the Northwest. Light to heavy rain also fell over North Pacific districts in connection with the depression overlying Alberta. High temperatures prevail over the lower Ohio valley and Tennessee. Much colder weather prevails over the upper lake region, the Northwest and Rocky mountains. The lowest reported temperature was 6 deg. below at Port Arthur, Ontario. Sleet was falling at New York city this morning."

FOR STATE FIREMEN.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preliminary steps in arranging for the state firemen's convention to be held here June 7 were taken on Tuesday by Mayor E. E. Webster when a committee on arrangements consisting of R. M. Heskett, Ernest Drew, D. J. Harrington, Morris Peck, Albert McAlpin, R. S. O'Neil, A. H. Kleffman and Clyde Blough were appointed to outline the necessary arrangements and report to the council for final action.

TO BOOST ATTENDANCE AT VIRGINIA GAMES

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Committees of the Commercial club will undertake within a short time to sell $3,000 worth of season tickets to the home games of the Virginia Northern league baseball team with excellent prospects of success. Last season more than $2,500 worth of season tickets were disposed of in advance of the season.

BROOKLYN WOMAN'S FUNERAL IS HELD

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Mike Gross, for many years a respected resident of the Brooklyn location, was held yesterday morning from the Swedish Lutheran church with burial in the Hibbing cemetery.

Mrs. Gross, who had been ill for ten years, died on Saturday afternoon.

PLACE CHECK ON SUPPLIES GOING OUT

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the water and light commissioners last evening Chairman Ryder made a motion, which was adopted, ordering the superintendent at the power plant to give out no more supplies without a requisition from the commission.

The report of the accountant's office was placed on file, as was a petition from employes of the water and light department for an increase in salary.

Many Hear Scientist.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Bell, C. S., member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., spoke on Christian Science at the Socialist hall last evening to a large audience, made up of people from all sections of the Mesaba range.

FINAL AURORA GAME NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Aurora, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing and Aurora high schools will meet on the basket ball floor here Friday night in the last game on the Aurora schedule. Aurora defeated Hibbing on the Hibbing floor early in the season and a fast game is looked for.

CHISHOLM MAN'S TUBERS DESIRED

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Stukel, "potato king," who captured the national prize awarded his potato exhibits at Madison Square Garden two years ago and carried off first honors at the St. Louis county exhibit last year, is receiving requests from persons throughout the Middle West for seed potatoes. Mr. Stukel has so far refused all requests giving as his excuse a desire to supply the home market first.

TOWN OF NICHOLS SWELLS ROAD LEVY

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The township of Nichols this year made a levy of $40,000, most of which is intended for the improvement of roads. The township made a small levy last year, but the board went ahead with its road building operations and consequently begins this season with a deficit.

The levy will wipe out the deficit and leave a substantial sum for the improvement of roads and the construction of new highways. The town is under the control of a capable board, which believes in getting full value for all money spent, and great progress has been made in the last few years.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

LEAVE FOR NORTHFIELD.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—With banners streaming from their special car a delegation of local people left here today over the Canadian Northern for Northfield, Minn., with the local quint team for the state basket ball tournament. Among those who left were: Supt. P. P. Colgrove, W. H. Eaton, A. Hawkinson, H. J. Scharr, O. A. Stangel, R. Trotter, C. P. Crawford, Judge J. P. Carey, Alderman A. D. Heritage, George Cusson and L. Lucas.

Chisholm Eastern Star.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Chisholm order of the Eastern Star has been organized, those belonging in other places being accepted as charter members. The officers are: Mrs. C. M. Beek, worthy matron; O. H. Higbee, worthy patron; Mrs. L. M. Chapman, associate matron; Mrs. O. H. Higbee, conductress; E. A. Myers, treasurer. A meeting will be held again this evening.

AVOID ST. VITUS' DANCE

Physicians are baffled by St. Vitus' dance because it is a nervous disease in which they can find nothing actually wrong with the nervous system.

Long before the child becomes awkward and begins dropping things there is a period in which the appetite is fickle and the patient is tired and listless. The jerking movements characteristic of the disease come much later.

In the early stages a good tonic for the blood and nerves will go far toward preventing the development of the disease. But the tonic must be free from alcohol and opiates for these make the nervous condition worse. When your child appears listless, prefers to sit and read rather than go out and play and requires entirely too much time to get his or her lessons, give a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They cannot do harm, the system is sure to be benefited and you may avoid serious trouble.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write for free booklet on "Nervous Disorders."

PAUN BROUGHT BACK.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—Peter Paun, sought since Dec. 26 last for stabbing Nick Spehar in the throat and nearly killing him during a christening celebration on the North side, was returned from South Deering, near Chicago, last night by Deputy Sheriff J. W. McDonald and will be arraigned before Judge Carey today, charged with assault. Spehar, who is still suffering from his wounds and can hardly speak above a whisper, did a little bluffing in the case himself, going to South Deering, where he found Paun working in a factory and had him arrested and held till an officer arrived from St. Louis county. Paun's family lives here.

Chisholm Drunks Fined.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Allen, Jalmer Anderson and Ed Heino, all of this village, were arraigned before Judge Masters in the municipal court Tuesday on a charge of drunkenness and each was given the option of paying a fine of $2.50 or spending three days in the jail. All paid their fine.

Measles, Then Scarlet Fever.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Melville Drew, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Drew, was taken to the detention hospital Monday morning, suffering from an attack of scarlet fever. He had just recovered from the measles.

ITASCA COUNTY HAS INSURANCE COMPANY

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Itasca county has a farmers' mutual insurance company. The Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Bigfork recently completed its organization, and received a license, and as soon as the proper forms upon which to write policies have been secured, the company will be ready to write insurance on farm properties, according to Fred Peloquin of Bigfork, treasurer of the company, who was here yesterday to attend the meeting of the assessors. Insurance will be written on farm properties anywhere in Itasca country. The company's by-laws provides for a fee of $1.25 per $100 of protection carried for insurance, the amount to be charged for future insurance to be pro rated according to the losses paid. The officers of the company are: President, Oscar Pearson; secretary, C. E. Holycross; treasurer, Alfred Peloquin. The president and secretary are two of the nine directors, the others being: Gust Gustafson, Ed Johnson, Axel Damgren, Axel Skallman, C. E. Nordlin, Mike Braa and Dave Nylen.

MOUNTAIN IRON NOTES.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harold Evenstad moved his family from Virginia to the Brunt location Monday. He was formerly bookkeeper at the Virginia store, but is now bookkeeper at the Brunt mine office.

M. A. Morse, superintendent of the Buhl schools, visited Supt. Muench on Sunday.

Miss Simonds of Virginia visited Miss Morrison on Sunday.

The local basket ball team closed the season Friday evening at Buhl by defeating the high school team there 19 to 16 after the hardest and closest game of the year. The team is composed of John and Frank Endrizz, John and Frank Simonich and Edwin Hinkley with Richard McCarthy, Emmet Hinkley and Orville Hanson as substitutes. The local team has not lost a game on its own floor in two years and lost but one game this year.

R. L. Moore of the Wacoutah mine has been visiting at his old home in Indiana.

Poles are being set from the Brunt shops to the pit of the Brunt mine for the purpose of installing an electric pump in the pit of that mine. Draining this pit is a big job at the beginning of each season and heretofore steam pumps have been used.

Capt. Kneebone, superintendent of the Deacon mine, in the Kinney district, was in town Saturday on business.

W. T. Caddy, bookkeeper at the Iroquois mine for several years, contemplates moving to his farm near Wolf in a short time. He will move his residence in which he lives here to the farm.

Douglas Milliams began work Tuesday morning as a conductor on the Mesaba electric car line.

EVELETH PLANS SEWERS

City Council Decides to Build Three Blocks This Year.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city councilmen decided last night to construct three blocks of sewer in the western part of the city, a storm sewer for the new cemetery and concrete floor with other repairs in the mausoleum. There were seven bids for a fire truck ranging from $2,200 to $6,300 but before reaching a decision it was decided to look over similar concerns in Duluth and other cities and decide the matter next Monday evening.

It was decided to pay $20 toward the expense of litigating the question of whether the city is liable to the Cameron Septic Tank company for alleged infringement of patents. Forty-one Minnesota municipalities are banded together in an effort to resist payment of royalties claimed by the company. The council's action was taken after City Attorney J. C. McGilveray had submitted his report of his visit to the headquarters of the Municipalities league.

Each boy will bring 10 cents car fare, some lunch and wear good heavy boots or rubber packs.

At 7:30 all boys taking part in the Hexathlon contest will report at the gymnasium.

Sunday the Knights of Sir Galahad will meet at 3 o'clock and at 4 o'clock the Sunday club will meet and Police Chief Robert McKercher will give a talk.

JURY TURNS DOWN CLAIM

Refuses to Grant Mrs. Olson Pay From Husband's Undertaking Firm.

It required less than ten minutes for a jury in District Judge Ensign's division of the district court this morning to decide that the claim of Mrs. Anna M. Olson, wife of Joseph Olson, West end undertaker, for $1,170 as compensation for four years' services was without merit.

Mrs. Olson sued the West End Undertaking company, a partnership firm in which her husband and J. L. Crawford were the joint owners, but the jury returned a verdict for the defendants. Spencer & Spencer appeared for the plaintiffs and A. E. McManus represented the defendant company and J. L. Crawford.

Grand Forks Inspection.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—Members of company M and the machine company of the North Dakota National Guard, passed inspection Monday night with flying colors before a large crowd of interested spectators.

Col. J. H. Fraine, First Infantry, North Dakota National Guard, and Lieut. F. H. Turner, U. S. A., who acted as the inspecting officers, expressed themselves as well pleased with the maneuvers of the local militia men.

STREET CAR DELAYS

The Duluth-Superior line was blocked for 25 minutes from 7:30 a. m. by workmen repairing the Lamborn avenue bridge.

Vehicles along the track on Superior street delayed an eastbound East Fourth and Fifty-seventh avenue west car 9 minutes from 5:07 p. m.

INVESTIGATES OIL PRICES

Federal Inspector Here Probing Advance in Rates of Crude Oil.

In connection with the investigation being made by the government relative to the bill before congress regulating the prices of gasoline, an inspector arrived here yesterday to prepare an official report on gasoline costs in Duluth, Superior and vicinity. He obtained the wholesale prices paid by automobile dealers from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1915, learning, in this way, how the gasoline advanced during the last year.

The identity of the inspector is not disclosed, although he presented the necessary credentials from the government, according to several of the dealers in Duluth and Superior.

Investigation Widespread.

Federal inspectors are making investigations throughout the country under the direction of Secretary Lane with a view to preparing a statement on the conditions relative to the crude oil and gasoline industries and the markets and prices of this commodity.

Several solutions of the gasoline problem are now before congress and it is expected action will be taken by the legislative bodies after Secretary Lane makes his report.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. —Advertisement.

FIRE DOES $1,500,000 DAMAGE IN OIL FIELDS

Tulsa, Okla., March 22.—Damage estimated at $1,500,000 has been caused in the fire swept district of the Cushing oil field.

Except for a few burning wells, the conflagration covering four sections of oil leases located two and one-half miles southeast of Drumright, was out at 1:30 p. m. today. Sixty rigs in all were destroyed, entailing a loss estimated at $1,500,000.

OSHKOSH NORMAL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Oshkosh, Wis., March 22.—The main portion of the Oshkosh Normal school was destroyed by fire early today. The loss cannot be estimated, for the reason that the fire is still burning.

The old portion, the historical tower, was destroyed, also the science building. Between 500 and 600 students are without quarters today.

The original normal school was established and dedicated in September, 1871. It has been enlarged five times.

Fire in Nashville, Tenn.

Nashville, Tenn., March 22.—A fire, which started in a small dwelling near the corner of Sixth and Main streets, this afternoon, driven by a high wind, is sweeping southeast through East Nashville. Houses in two blocks are on fire.

To Double Number of Cadets.

Washington, March 22.—The national defense program was advanced another stage today when the senate passed Senator Chamberlain's bill to double the number of cadets at the West Point military academy.

Spray, N. C., Is Burning.

Greensboro, N. C., March 22.—Spray, N. C., north of here, was burning this afternoon. Practically all structures in the business district were reported destroyed and the flames were spreading. Spray has 6,000 population and ten of the largest cotton and woolen mills in the state.

It has been estimated that nearly 300,000,000 feet, or more than 55,000 miles, of film are used up yearly to satisfy the world's demand for moving pictures.

Finland in the first half of 1914 exported 33,000 tons of paper pulp.

RUSS OPERATIONS ARE INCREASING

Take Advantage of German Preoccupation on Verdun Front.

Petrograd, March 22, via London, 4:15 p. m.—The Russian operations on the northern front promise to develop into the most serious movement undertaken by either side in this theater of war since Field Marshal von Hindenberg's campaign against Dvinsk last autumn.

Taking advantage of the German preoccupation at Verdun, the Russian staff decided to anticipate possible German plans for an offensive in the Dvinsk region by a series of manœuvers which, if successful, will not only make it impossible for them to institute the advance they apparently intended, but will force them out of the positions now held.

FOUR BIG DISTILLERIES QUIT WHISKY MAKING

Lexington, Ky., March 22.—With announcement of the sale at Midway, Ky., of one of the largest distilleries in that section of Kentucky, to Cincinnati and Louisville interests, it became known that this one and three others of Kentucky's leading manufacturers of whisky would cease making this product and devote their energies to making alcohol to fill orders for export to European nations engaged in war. The other three distilleries are located near Lexington.

DETROIT BOWLERS GO AFTER HIGH SCORES

Toledo, Ohio, March 22.—Sixteen bowling clubs of Detroit, including several of the most famous fives of that city will try to oust the Commodore Barrys of Chicago from first place in the American Bowling congress tournament. The standing at the opening of play today was:

Five-man teams—Commodore Barrys, Chicago, 2,905; Riehls, Columbus, 2,895; Wittmans, Rochester, 2,892.

Two-man event—Thoma-Marino, Chicago, 1,279; Faetz-Hildebrandt, Chicago, 1,272; W.-G. Dernbach, Chicago, 1,266; Hatch-Nelson, Racine, 1,261.

WHEAT AGAIN SELLS DOWN

Market Weak on Bearish Foreign News; Export Demand Lacking.

Flaxseed Slumps With Lower Cables and Heavy Selling at Close.

May wheat closed ⅜c off, and July ¼c off.

May durum closed ⅝c off, and July, 1c off. Oats closed ⅜c off at 40½@41c for on the track; rye, unchanged at 88@90c; barley, unchanged at from 61 to 69c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 42⅝c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.08⅛, and calls at $1.12⅛.

A strong tone prevailed in the wheat markets today, quotations showing moderate advances over yesterday's closing figures. That was attributed mainly to reports of further damage to the winter wheat plant over a wide area of the country and to intimations that some export business had been put through at the seaboard. As far as Duluth operators knew, though, export bids were considerably out of line with the current market and it was quoted that Manitobas at Liverpool closed weak and materially off from the opening. A falling off in receipts had a strengthening market influence and the expectations are that country marketings are likely to be materially lighter as soon as spring farm operations begin. Duluth operators are more hopeful now that they will be able to squeeze along with the small space still remaining in the elevators. That more cars are available for loading for Eastern shipment was shown today in the sending forward of a substantial tonnage of bonded wheat and oats.

Receipts of Canadian grain here fell off today to 103 cars, including 90 cars of wheat, whereas they had been running around the 200-cars-a-day mark. Elevator operators are keeping the railroads in close touch with storage conditions at this point and the flow of grain is being governed accordingly.

There were just 51 cars of wheat inspected here today. Minneapolis had 284 cars against 96 last year and Winnipeg reported arrivals of 543 cars. The movement of grain at the Southwest markets has become light.

May wheat opened ½c up at $1.11¾, sold up to $1.12⅝, eased off to $1.11¼ and recovered ⅝c at the noon hour. July opened ⅞c up at $1.12⅜, gained ¼c more and later weakened ⅝c to $1.12.

The market in durum was comparatively steady. May durum opened ¼c up at $1.07 and eased off ⅝c. July opened unchanged at $1.07½ and weakened fractionally.

Slump in Flaxseed.

Flaxseed was easier at the start, and it slumped in the late trading with the catching of stop-loss orders. The market was affected by uncertainty over the extent of Argentine shipments to this country and weak foreign markets. The slump started after cables came in. Receipts of the seed are light, but there appeared to be no crushers' support. Declines extending to 7c were recorded in the day.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.25, and closed 7c off at $2.18 asked. July opened ⅝c off at $2.24½, and closed 6⅜c off at $2.18 asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 5¾c off at $1.97¼.

At Buenos Aires flax closed 3⅜c off at $1.27⅜, and London 5⅛c off at $2.61.

MARKET GOSSIP.

As illustrating the strong demand for boats to load wheat from the elevators down the lakes at the opening of navigation it was reported that 6½c was bid at Winnipeg this morning without any tonnage coming out. The call for steamers at the Canadian Head of the Lakes is said to be remarkably heavy. The bulk of the grain being carried in elevators at Port Arthur and Fort William is estimated to have been already sold for export.

Millers were active bidders for all the good milling wheat offering in the Duluth market today. This led to a stiffening up in the bids on the off-grade grain. The cash basis was unchanged, No. 1 northern selling at ½c under the May price to 2c over. Cash No. 1 durum sold at ½c under May.

Price Current says: "Winter wheat damage is increasing. Heavy damage is reported from Indiana, Ohio and Missouri. It looks as if the acreage will be further contracted from 37,200,000 bu reported as seeded last fall. It is too early, however, to determine the extent of the abandoned acreage."

Weather forecast: Illinois—Cloudy and much colder tonight; probably snow flurries in east; Thursday partly cloudy, colder.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy and colder tonight; Thursday fair and warmer.

Iowa—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; colder tonight and warmer Thursday.

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight, and Thursday, unsettled and probably snow in west; warmer.

Nebraska—Part cloudy tonight and colder; warmer Thursday.

Kansas—Fair and colder tonight; Thursday partly cloudy.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Wheat was very steady at the opening but later it eased to unchanged. Manitoba offers were dearer, but arrivals are light and the freight situation is easier. Spot was unchanged; parcel market nervous; winters and Plates unchanged; Manitobas early were 1s 6d dearer on speculative covering."

The production of durum wheat last year in Minnesota and the Dakotas (which produced 95 per cent of the total crop at the time of the last census) was about 37,900,000 bu, as compared with 18,800,000 in 1914, and 21,529,000 bu in 1913. The yield per acre averaged 19.3 bu, whereas other spring wheats averaged 17.4 bu, or about 1.9 bu less per acre.

In February the price of durum wheat averaged to producers about $1.07.7 per bushel, which was 7.4c under the price of other spring wheats. Notwithstanding the lower price at which durum sold, the higher yield per acre made the value per acre higher than that of other spring wheats, the average for durum being $20.77 against $20.04 for other spring wheats. These figures are estimates based upon reports made by correspondents of the bureau of crop estimates, U. S. department of agriculture.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Winnipeg: "Understand some cable business has been worked. One of our exporters cabled Liverpool last night asking to explain foreign weakness. Reply is 'large shipments, easier freights, quiet demand and politics explains weakness.' There is more disposition, however, to buy cash wheat this morning by the shipping branch of the trade."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, March 22.—Fears of a late spring in the Northwest and of a delayed movement there had a bullish effect today on wheat. Peace talk, however, acted later as something of an offset. The fact that Liverpool reported arrivals liberal with most of the buying controlled by the government tended also to check upturns in prices. The opening here, which varied from ⅛ to ⅜@⅞c higher, with May at $1.09¼ to $1.09⅝ and July at $1.08¼ to $1.08⅝, was followed by a slight further advance and then a material reaction.

Unfavorable crop reports from the far Southwest and the soft winter wheat states prevented for a time any decline under last night level, but finally the market turned down grade, influenced by continued gossip as to peace. The close was unsettled, ¼@⅜ to ½@⅝ net lower with May at $1.08¼@1.08⅝, and July at $1.07½.

Corn weakened owing to lack of support. Wheat strength operated only as a temporary prop. After opening ¼c to ¼@⅜c higher, the market sagged to below yesterday's finish.

Increasing supplies and the smallness of eastern demand led afterward to an additional setback. The close was weak at 1⅛ to 1¼@1⅜c net decline.

Oats paralleled the changes in corn. Selling pressure, though, was not heavy.

Steadiness characterized provisions. The recent buying enthusiasm as to lard seemed to have come to a halt.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, March 22.—Hogs advanced in price today owing to stormy weather that curtailed the receipts. Cattle also were less plentiful than expected. Wet fleeces tended to deter buyers of sheep and lambs, but eventually the market strengthened.

Hogs—Receipts, 35,000; slow at 5c above yesterday's average; bulk, $9.55@9.70; light, $9.15@9.75; mixed, $9.35@9.75; heavy, $9.20@9.75; rough, $9.30@9.45; pigs, $7.50@8.80.

Cattle — Receipts, 13,000; market steady to unevenly higher; native beef steers, $7.50@9.90; western steers, $7.50@8.65; stockers and feeders, $6.00@8.30; cows and heifers, $3.80@8.70; calves, $8.00@10.50.

Sheep — Receipts, 10,000; market steady; wethers, $8.40@9.15; lambs, $9.75@11.70.

New York Money.

New York, March 22.—Mercantile paper, 3@3¼ per cent. Sterling 60-day bills, 4.72½; demand, 4.76⅜; cables, 4.77. Francs, demand, 5.96½; cables, 5.94½. Marks, demand, 71⅝; cables, 71½. DECLINES IN SPECIALTIES

Recover Partly in Final Hour on Covering By Shorts.

New York, March 22.—Special stocks, more particularly the war group, were again singled out for sale at the opening of today's market, while shares of the representative class were comparatively firm. Bethlehem Steel yielded 5 points, and 1 to 2-point losses were scored by Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Tennessee Copper, Industrial Alcohol, Butte & Superior and American Zinc. New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio were the only strong features among the rails, and United States Steel held at yesterday's final price. Specialties rallied later, with strength in Marine preferred.

Heaviness of leading industrials and equipments, especially United States Steel, Crucible Steel and Baldwin Locomotive provoked fresh selling on the stock market rally today. Petroleums were adversely affected by reports of further revolutionary disturbances in Mexico and high priced specialties declined abruptly on moderate offerings. General Chemical fell 20 to 330; General Motors 10 to 475, and South Porto Rico Sugar 4 to 186. Dealings were lighter than usual and more narrow. Anglo-French five manifested increased strength, but exchange to the Teutonic countries was again weak. Bonds were steady.

Prices hardened again at midday, the improvement following official denials of peace rumors at Washington. On the recovery, however, the market lapsed into extreme dullness.

Specialties, including oils and motors, rose 2 to 4 points on short covering in the final hour. The closing was firm.

DULUTH VETERANS OF WAR WITH SPAIN ORGANIZING A COMPANY TO GO TO MEXICO

WILL OFFER SERVICES TO GOVERNMENT

Meeting of Camp McEwen Members Called for Friday Night.

Duluth Has 200 Men Available—Have Kept Up Target Practice.

Spanish-American war veterans in Duluth are making hurried preparations to respond to a call to go to Mexico at once.

Today Commander Frank L. Bradley of Camp John G. McEwen, United Spanish War Veterans, received an order from National Commander L. C. Dwyer, Washington, D. C., to organize a company in Duluth at once, and be ready to respond to an emergency call at any moment. There was an executive meeting of the officers of the camp this noon, and arrangements were made for a meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at Memorial hall, courthouse, for the purpose of organizing a company. There are about 200 names on the roster of Camp McEwen, and it is expected that a full company of 108 members will be formed tomorrow night. The Spanish veterans have kept up drill and rifle practice ever since the war in 1898, and are thoroughly drilled and seasoned men.

When the order came to Commander Bradley this morning, and its import spread among the Spanish veterans of the city, great excitment reigned, and members of the camp immediately began to make preparations to be in readiness to leave home at a moment's

NORWEGIAN BARK SENT TO BOTTOM

London, March 23.—The Norwegian bark Lindfield has been sunk. Thirty of the crew were rescued and are aboard the Norwegian bark Silas, which is approaching Queenstown.

The Lindfield was of 2,276 tons gross and owned by the Lindfield company, with Porsgrund as port of entry. She left Portland, Or., on Nov. 7 last for United Kingdom ports.

BRITISH HOLD TEUTON SHIPS

Hamburg-American Liners Condemned as Prizes By Court.

Prinz Adalbert and Kronprinzessin Cecile Seized at Falmouth.

London, March 23.—The Hamburg-American liners Prinz Adalbert and Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which were seized at Falmouth at the outbreak of the war, were condemned in prize court today as prizes.

The Kronprinzessin Cecile, not the better known North German Lloyd liner of that name, which has been at Boston since the early days of the war, was engaged in tourist service when the war began. She sailed from New York July 25, 1914, and being pursued by a French cruiser, put in at Falmouth, as England had not declared war on Germany at that time.

The Kronprinzessin Cecile was a freighter. She came into prominence at the time of the difficulties between the United States and the Huerta regime of Mexico. In March, 1914, she arrived at Vera Cruz with a large shipment of war materials for the Huerta government. The United States objected to the landing of these supplies and the steamship sailed for Puerto Mexico, but returned to Vera Cruz without having landed the cargo. She is 471 feet long, 8,689 tons gross and was built at Kiel in 1905.

The Prinz Adalbert was on her way to a German port when the war began. Her captain testified yesterday that he put in at Falmouth at the request of American passengers, England not having entered the war then. She is 403 feet long, 6,030 tons gross and was built at Vegesack, Germany, in 1902.

BOMBARDING DIMINISHES

German Fire to West of the Meuse Is Not So Heavy.

Infantry Attacks on Little Hill at Haucort Not Renewed.

Paris, March 23.—The French official statement this morning says that during the night a violent bombardment took place to the east of the Meuse river. To the west of the Meuse the fire diminished in intensity and the general situation is unchanged.

The French war office this afternoon gave out the following statement:

"West of the river Meuse the bombardment diminished last night. The enemy did not renew his attacks on the little hill of Haucourt (about one kilometer southwest of Malancourt), part of which we hold.

"East of the Meuse the bombardment has continued with violence at several points on our front.

"In the Woevre there has been no important development to report, with the exception of an intermittent cannonading.

"West of Pont-a-Mousson a surprise attack upon a trench of the enemy in the vicinity of Fey-En-Haye resulted in our taking several prisoners.

"The night passed quietly on the remainder of the front."

BATTLES IN AIR AROUND VERDUN

German Pursue Same Tactics as Adopted in Field Movements.

Paris, March 23.—The battle of Verdun furnished the occasion for the first encounters resembling the air battles popularly pictured in the imagination before the war when German aircraft were sent up in considerable groups to take note of the effect produced on French field works by the heavy guns massed there so thickly and which had to be dispersed when the French began sending six and eight-inch projectiles among them.

After assembling their heaviest artillery and their best regiments before Verdun the Germans sent their air experts to the scene for overhead work. All of their best aviators were on hand with the exception of Lieut. Immelman, who remained in the Artois. At their head was the famous Lieut. Boelke. They found adversaries worthy of them in Lieut. Guyenemer, Adjutant Nauvarre and such emulators of their exploits as the still anonymous recruit of the 1916 contingent who brought down a German flyer on his first trip in actual warfare.

The German tactics in the air are the same as on the field, their aim apparently being to overwhelm their adversary by numbers. They found the French to be sending up men singly to observe the movements of troops and the positions of the artillery and they began sending their men up in couples. The French accordingly doubled their scouts. Then the Germans quadrupled theirs and since the first week in March their flying squadrons here never have comprised less than ten machines, and often were numerically larger.

Lightship Not Torpedoed.

London, March 23, 1:50 p. m.—It is reported unofficially that the Gallopor lightship at the mouth of the Thames has not been torpedoed as was reported yesterday by Lloyds, but has been withdrawn from its station.

LARGE SUMS RAISED FOR PARIS SUFFERERS

Work of Relief Is Proceeding Rapidly in Texas City.

Paris, Tex., March 23.—Work of relieving the sufferers and the homeless in Paris, after the disastrous fire of Tuesday night was carried along swiftly today. Large sums of money, raised in Paris and in cities nearby, were distributed to the needy by the relief committee, headed by Mayor E. H. McCuistion.

The 8,000 homeless spent last night in the homes of friends and relatives, on lawns and in such public buildings as remained. Railroad waiting rooms were turned into dormitories for the women and children.

The greatest task today was clearing the business district of the debris. Of the five banks in Paris, three were razed. Officers of these three expected to make attempts at opening their vaults today and believed they would find the contents unharmed.

The death list remained today at three with one person missing.

Killed By Youthful Bandits.

Chicago, March 23.—Samuel Marcus, a cigar store owner, was shot and killed today by two youthful bandits, who attempted to hold up his store.

NORTH MEXICO SEETHES WITH OPEN REBELLION AGAINST GEN. CARRANZA

Little Doubt But What Herrera Has Joined Villa Forces.

Torreon Declared to Be in Hands of Bandit's Followers.

Situation Reaches Point Filled With Serious Consequences.

El Paso, Tex., March 23.—Private advices reaching here today confirmed reports that Gen. Luis Herrera had joined the Villistas and left little room for doubt that the Mexican affair had reached a point fraught with the most far-reaching and serious consequences to this country.

Not only was it accepted here as definite that Herrera had declared against both Carranza and the United States, but it was asserted with equal confidence that Torreon was also in the hands of the Villa forces and that all Northern Mexico was seething with open rebellion against the de facto government.

So grave was the situation regarded here that the military authorities planned today drastic steps to relieve all Mexicans in El Paso of any arms they might have concealed in their houses and enforce what would be practically martial law in El Paso's Mexican section.

The police last night arrested about twenty Mexicans suspected of anti-American plotting. The most important arrest was that of Melchor Herrera, brother of Gen. Luis Herrera. Herrera was arrested as he crossed the international bridge after a prolonged conference with Gen. Gavira at Juarez. Police say they have proof that a plot

EDITORS CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON

Three Socialists at Stockholm Are Placed Under Arrest.

Stockholm, via London, March 23.—Three Socialist editors, Messrs. Hoeglund, Oljelund and Hedon, have been arrested on a charge of high treason in consequence of the passing of a resolution at a conference of Swedish Socialist organizations that a general strike and a revolution be started in case Sweden enters the war. The arrests followed a demand by Royalist newspapers that the leaders of the conference be punished. A great sensation has been aroused over the incident, as Mr. Hoeglund is one of the most prominent members of the Swedish parliament.

CARRANZA COMMANDER SAID TO HAVE JOINED VILLA FORCES

—Copyright by Bain News Service.

GEN. LUIS HERRERA.

FRENCH BARK HAS BEEN SENT DOWN

London, March 23.—Lloyds reports that the French bark Bougainville has been sunk. Twenty-three members of her crew were picked up.

The Bougainville sailed from San Francisco Aug. 21, last, for London, and was last reported as having sailed from Falmouth in February. She was owned in Nantes, where she was built in 1902. Her gross tonnage was 2,248.

ESTABLISHES BASE WEST OF NAMIQUIPA TO RECRUIT NEW MEN

Said to Be Laying Plans to Operate With Force of Gen. Herrera Who Is Reported to Have Revolted.

Washington Has Received No Official Report of the Defection of De Facto Troops in Chihuahua.

SAYS HERRERA REMAINS LOYAL.

El Paso, Tex., March 23.—Ignacio Enriquez, civil governor of the state of Chihuahua, sent a telegram to Consul Garcia at El Paso today declaring that Gen. Luis Herrera, commanding the garrison at Chihuahua City, still was loyal to the first chief and not to credit reports of his defection to Villa.

El Paso, Tex., March 23.—Francisco Villa has established a base to the westward of Namiquipa to reorganize his command and recruit new men for his army, is a report current here today. At this new base, it was said, Villa would lay his plans to operate with the force of Gen. Luis Herrera, who is understood to have renounced the de facto government. The American army base at Columbus has had no news of Villa for more than two days.

Gen. Luis Herrera, until a few days ago in command of the Carranza garrison, is said to be moving northwestward to effect a juncture with Villa and this, in connection with the report that the Carranza garrison at Torreon had revolted, has occasioned grave concern among the American army officers in El Paso. Villa men, augmented by the command of Gen. Herrera, said to number 2,000 well equipped soldiers, might be in a position to harrass Gen. Pershing's army and seriously interrupt the line of communication between the advanced base of American forces at Casas Grandes and the main base at Columbus.

Early Agreement Desired.

An early agreement with the Carranza government for permission to use Mexican railway lines is greatly desired by army officers. The main base would then be transferred from Columbus to this city and the Mexico Northwestern railway could be used to ship men and supplies to Casas Grandes. The railroad could be easily maintained against interruption while the present line southward out of Columbus over a desert might be readily cut should Villa recruit a formidable body of men. Villa is said to have sent agents among the populace in the mountain districts urging them to support him against the Americans. He is reported to be equipping his men with arms and ammunition which he has had cached for some time. He has plenty of good mounts and once his command is ready Villa will be in a position to start a guerrilla campaign against the American army.

There is no confirmation of a report that Col. Cano of Carranza's army has joined forces with Villa.

All was quiet in Juarez early today

FUNSTON ASKS FOR REPORTS

Orders Pershing to Send Them Earlier and More Detailed.

General Proceeds With Plans to Meet Altered Situation.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—Gen. Funston proceeded today with his plan of preparation to meet the altered situation that would be created by the injection of new forces into the Villa organization that Pershing is fighting; although no additional evidence confirming the reported defection of Gen. Luis Herrera and 2,000 Carranza troops in Chihuahua was received.

No report has been made to Gen. Funston of a revolt at Torreon or in Sonora.

Gen. Funston today sent to Gen. Pershing at Casas Grandes, orders to make earlier and more detailed reports of his operations. The latest report from him was that received yesterday, telling of conditions last Monday.

Whether the Seventh cavalry had encountered and defeated a detachment of Villa's men near Namiquipa, as reported last night, was not known at headquarters. Gen. Funston admitted that such an action probably had occurred. The general admitted that the field telegraph wire had been rendered useless for the present by Mexicans cutting it at several places south of Eepia.

No additional troops have been asked for since the Fifth cavalry and Twenty-fourth infantry were ordered to the border.

Gen. Funston is yet anxious to use the Northwestern railway for the movement of supplies.

No official information that Gen. Pershing is using a section of the Northwestern railroad for the transportation of troops was available here, but Gen. Funston said it might be true. If he was using it, Gen. Funston said, it was with the consent of the local commander.

LIFE SAVERS WILL ACCOMPANY SHIP

Rotterdam, March 23, via London.—The Holland-American line announced definitely today that the Nieuw Amsterdam would sail at 11 o'clock tonight. She will be accompanied as far as The Downs by tugs with life-saving materials. These tugs also will escort the steamship Rotterdam, incoming from New York, from The Downs to this port.

The Hague, March 23, via London.—At a meeting in Amsterdam, held under the auspices of the Sailor's union, the crews of half a dozen ocean-going steamships due to sail today, resolved by an overwhelming majority, not to join their ships until more definite arrangements had been reached with the government for the safety of the vessels. This decision affected also the Holland-American line, whose steamship Nieuw Amsterdam is scheduled to sail tonight.

A disptach from Rotterdam under yesterday's date said that officials of the Holland-American line had informed the Associated Press representative in that city that the line's ships would continue to sail as scheduled unless prevented from doing so by the refusal of the crews to muster.

Soukhomlinoff Removed.

Petrograd, via London, March 23.—Gen. Soukhomlinoff, former minister of war, has been removed from the council of the empire, says a semi-official news agency.

STILL LINGERING IN THE LAP OF SPRING.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The French are still clinging to a part of the little hill of Haucourt, southwest of Malancourt, on which the Germans gained a footing last evening in an attack along the front between Avocourt wood and Malancourt, northwest of Verdun.

Paris announces today that the German infantry attacks in this sector were not resumed during the night and even the fire of the heavy artillery diminished in violence.

The bombardment east of the Meuse was continued with undiminished intensity. The persistence with which the Germans are pounding the French positions near Vaux and Damloup in this region indicates that they probably are preparing for new attempts to break through in the sector where their lines have been pushed nearest to the heart of the stronghold.

Besides striving hard against German positions along the Dvina and below Dvinsk on the northern end of the Russian line, where Petrograd declares some successes have been scored, the Russians are displaying notable activity in Galicia. The Austrians report lively artillery fire along their front there, with infantry advances at some points. These are declared to have been repulsed.

Sinking of the Norwegian bark Lindfield of 2,276 tons, bound from Portland, Or., for United Kingdom ports, is announced from London. Thirty members of the crew were rescued. Another vessel sunk was the French bark Bougainville of 2,248 tons. From this ship twenty-three of the crew were picked up.

MANY PUPILS ARE EXAMINED

More Than 600 Seventh and Eighth Grade Students Involved.

State examinations are being conducted in the rural and semi-graded schools of St. Louis county today, according to N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools. The following schedule for today and tomorrow is being followed:

Today, spelling, English grammar and American history, and tomorrow, arithmetic, composition and geography.

The object of the examinations is to determine who are eligible to receive certificates entitling them to enter high schools. The examinations are for pupils of the seventh and eighth grades in all schools of the county except those of the Duluth city schools.

All papers will be graded in the office of the county superintendent before being forwarded to the state examiner.

Many Pupils Take Exams.

About 620 seventh and eighth grade pupils are taking the examinations and the superintendent's office expects to receive about 1,500 different papers from these pupils. The papers will be graded, the marks recorded and the papers forwarded to the state department not later than April 5.

The examination for teachers' certificates will be held in this city on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 24, 25 and 26, probably at the Central high school. No winter examination for teachers will be held in Minnesota this year.

In case a teacher holds a certificate which expires this month, it may be extended so as to cover the rest of the school term, by sending it to the office of the county superintendent.

NAME STREETS TO BE OILED

Fifty-Two Thoroughfares Are Included in Sprinkling List.

Streets to be oiled during 1916 will be designated by the city commissioners at the regular meeting next Monday afternoon.

This morning James Lawson, superintendent of the street maintenance division, submitted a list of the oil sprinkling districts for this year and a resolution designating the fifty-two streets will be introduced at the council meeting by Commissioner Farrell, works head. Thirteen water sprinkling districts were designated last Monday.

Last month the commissioners awarded the oil contract to the Standard Oil company on its bid of 5.21 cents a gallon, a total of 200,000 being needed for this year, according to Supt. Lawson's estimates. Street oiling will cost approximately $15,000, the amount to be assessed later against the property fronting the fifty-two streets.

The oiling districts to be designated next Monday follow:

VETERANS FORM LOCAL BOLO CLUB

Soldiers of Two Wars Organize Branch of Veterans' Club.

Veterans of the Spanish-American war and some of those of the Civil war met last night at Memorial hall and formed a Bolo club. These clubs are organized at different places in the country, where veterans of any American wars still survive, and have for their object the care of veterans, political activity where the interests of veterans are concerned, and the urging of legislation valuable in a military way. About 250 veterans of the Spanish war and about fifty veterans of the Civil war live in Duluth, and last night about 100 of them organized the local club.

More meetings will be held in the near future and it is expected that the membership will be greatly added to as the work goes on. Officers were elected as follows last night:

President, Capt. C. C. Teare; first vice president, Lieut. J. Scott Cash; second vice president, Asa Dalley; secretary, H. M. Hutchins; treasurer, M. B. Orchard; sergeant-at-arms, Nick Berguson, and doorkeeper, H. Rosenberg.

PERUNA in Your Home

A housewife must give the first aid in colds, coughs and other ailments. Her promptness in applying the remedy often saves a serious illness. Her experience with remedies has led her to know that PERUNA is always reliable, that she should have it on hand for the immediate treatment of coughs and colds, and that it is always to her

Mrs. George Parker, 419 Water St., Menasha, Wis., writes: "We have used Peruna in our family for a number of years, and have found it a perfectly reliable medicine. It soon rids the system of any traces of a cold, and prevents serious consequences. "I began using it for catarrh, which I suffered with a good many years but had not been very serious until recently. Since I have taken Peruna the dropping in my throat has discontinued, and my head and nose are not so stopped up in the morning. I am pleased with the results, and shall continue to use it until I am entirely rid of catarrh. "I heartily recommend it as an honest medicine." What it does for her it is ready to do for you.

The Family Safeguard

The experience of one woman, given herewith, is typical of thousands of letters that reach the Peruna Company from grateful friends who have found their homes incomplete, and their family safety in danger without PERUNA.

Colds and Catarrh

The great weight of testimony that has accumulated in the 44 years that PERUNA has been on the market proves it, beyond question, to be the reliable family remedy, ever ready to take, preventing the serious effects of colds, coughs, grip and derangements of the digestive organs. This proof is published from time to time and many families have profited by it.

Remember you can obtain PERUNA in tablet form for your convenience. Carry it with you and be fortified against sudden attacks.

BIG REGATTA IS PROMISED

Jimmy Ten Eyck Declares Some Great Crews Will Row Here.

Duluth Was Forced to Offer Big Inducements to Land Meet.

James E. Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, arrived here from New York late today. Ten Eyck is enthusiastic regarding the national, declaring that if present plans materialize, the followers of the game here will see some of the greatest crews in the United States in competition with the representatives of the Duluth Boat club.

According to Jimmy, Duluth was compelled to offer big inducements to secure the regatta. Just what these inducements were, Jim stated that he would rather not disclose at this time. It is known, however, that in order to secure the consent of the board of governors to award the regatta to Duluth, provision had to be made to defray the transportation expenses of many of the Eastern oarsmen.

"Duluth is going to stage a great regatta," said Jimmy. "We had to offer the regatta some real inducements, but there is nothing backward about Duluth when it goes after anything it really wants. The executive committee members were really greatly surprised by the display of enthusiasm upon the part of the citizens of Duluth, as reflected by the petitions, and by the representatives at the meeting. Mr. Barnes quickly convinced the members of the committee that we were very much in earnest."

Jimmy was emphatic in declaring that this was the year of all years that it was up to Duluth to make a great success in the national races.

"To win laces or make a great showing in the national, it will be absolutely necessary for us to have some great material," said he. "We need big men and a lot of them. Material is essential in the development of winning crews. It is my hope to make a great showing this year, but we can't expect to accomplish anything without material to work on."

It is expected that Jim and Ned Ten Eyck, together with some of the older oarsmen, will plan an active campaign for material. Jimmy Ten Eyck is dead set on making the greatest showing ever made by the Duluth Boat club crews, and no one knows better than he that to accomplish this end will require some excellent new material.

FIGHT TICKETS IN BIG DEMAND

Cheaper Seats Go Fast and Soon Sell Out.

New York, March 23.—The box office at Madison Square Garden was besieged early today by a crowd of several hundred persons when the $3 and $5 tickets for the Willard-Moran fight were placed on sale. Many of them had been standing in line since midnight, some bringing breakfast with them. A number of those in line waiting for the sale of seats to open this morning were women.

The ticket sellers said they had only 2,000 of the lower priced seats to sell, but could have disposed of 20,000. Only two tickets were sold to a person, officials said, "in an effort to keep them out of the hands of speculators.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the windows of the ticket offices were closed and it was announced that all the seats had been sold. A great number of persons were still in line and were turned away disappointed.

H. S. Beats Marquette College.

SENTENCED FOR BEATING MOTHER

William Switzer Given Severe Lecture Also By Court.

Beating his mother about the head and body was the charge against William Switzer, 31, in municipal court this morning.

It was the first time within the memory of some of the court officers that such a charge had been preferred against a prisoner. After lecturing Switzer severely, Judge W. H. Smallwood sentenced him to pay a fine of $52.50 or serve sixty days at the work farm.

Mrs. Georgiana Switzer, the mother, lives at 807 West Michigan street. When the complaint, signed by her, was read, Judge Smallwood took the case to be one of wife beating.

After Switzer entered a plea of guilty, and just before sentence was pronounced, Assistant City Attorney O'Donnell explained that Georgiana Switzer was the mother, instead of the wife.

Makes Anti-Preparedness Speech.

WARROAD BANKER AGAIN PRESIDENT OF VILLAGE

T. F. SPREITER.

Warroad, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the recent village election T. F. Spreiter was re-elected president, or mayor as he is called, being chosen to the position for a second time. He is the president of the Security State bank and is closely identified with all movements for progress in Warroad and Northern Minnesota. His careful and conservative administration of the city's affairs is credited with bringing about his re-election, with very little opposition, his vote being 139 to 71 for his opponent.

SITUATION IN LAKE FREIGHT

Tomlinson Company Gives Information of Pre-Season Conditions.

The Tomlinson company, vessel brokers and owners of Duluth, has just sent a letter to an Eastern correspondent in which the lake freight situation is sized up pretty clearly as it is today. Considerable information of value to vessel men and shippers is given, the result of close investigation by the company, and the boiled down information is given as follows in the letter:

In Elevators.
Wheat	11,762,062	14,787,447
Wheat, bonded	192,150	3,929,173
Barley	701,426	889,361
Barley, bonded	6,285	157,117
Flax	468,436	1,636,841
Flax, bonded	281,089	38,147
Oats	2,970,955	636,425
Oats, bonded	24,846	1,735,534
Rye	39,414	36,525
Rye, bonded		1,068
Corn	1,983,426
Totals	18,430,098	23,847,638
Grain Afloat.
Wheat		752,000
Corn	257,800
Oats	333,743
Totals	591,543	752,000

"We figure the elevators here will be able to receive about 3,000,000 bushels more grain. Receipts at present are averaging 250,000 to 300,000 bu a day.

"The following table indicates temperatures as recorded by the Duluth weather bureau compared with normal for 1916:

"January, mean, 5 above zero; normal, 10 above zero.

"February, mean, 7 above zero; normal, 14 above zero.

"March to date, mean, 14 above zero; normal, 22 above zero.

Weather Conditions.

"Ice in the harbor averages thirty-five inches in thickness, which is ten inches more than the average; two inches more than at this time last year. In the lake the ice averages twenty inches in thickness, which is seven inches more than normal; five inches more than last year. A solid field extends twenty miles down the lake and beyond this a field of broken ice, blown in by a northeast gale, extending beyond vision from Two Harbors. This year we have experienced forty-seven days during which the thermometer has registered zero or below; last year there were thirty such days. On April 17, 1915, there was no ice of any consequence in the lake or in the bay. However, April, 1915, was the warmest April in forty-five years.

"Stocks of coal on local docks March 22, 1916, are estimated at 2,250,000 tons. Shipments are averaging 20,000 tons per day, and it is estimated there will be not more than 1,500,000 tons on the docks at the opening."

Burlesque shows at the Lyceum must be further "refined."

Assurance that they would be was given today to Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, by J. L. Morrissey, manager of the local playhouse, and Barney Bernard, manager of the company.

Reports received by Commissioner Silberstein for the last two days from many who had seen "The American Burlesquers" at the Lyceum caused him to take the matter up with Manager Morrissey. Unless the performances are modified, he said, steps will be taken to prevent their appearance altogether if the revocation of the theater license is necessary.

Manager Morrissey and Barney Bernard, manager of "The American Burlesquers," came down to the city hall immediately after Commissioner Silberstein had called the former up in connection with the show.

"We'll cut out anything you suggest," said Manager Morrissey.

"The complaints are made against the entire show," declared the safety head, "and everything objectionable must be thrown out. These rotten shows will not be allowed in Duluth during my administration."

After a short conference both managers agreed to tone the production down for the two final performances today. Those in the future will be modified, Manager Morrissey promised.

Mayor Prince and Commissioner Silberstein are going down to see the performance this afternoon.

SAYS U. S. CANNOT MAKE ARMOR PLATE

Washington, March 23.—To support the contention of private manufacturers that a government armor plant cannot be successful, Vice President Barba of the Midvale Steel company, told the house naval committee today that his plant with all its facilities and technical equipment had already lost $300,000 on a contract to make armor piercing shells for the navy.

"And when we make delivery," said he, "we are through for all time with making projectiles for the navy under its present specifications of testing at ten degree angle. Every naval officer we have talked to has said he hoped he would not be assigned to armor making for he could not do it."

"This is why I take the place!"

Once let a woman enjoy a Winter's experience with the ample, genial, cleanly flow of warmth from radiator heating and never again can you change her from the decision—not to try keeping house without this greatest of home comforts. If you have not experienced our way of heating, ask any woman who has, or ask any real-estate man whether property does not sell or rent quicker and at big-paying advance when building is outfitted with

"The surest, biggest comfort in housekeeping is radiator heating"

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

If planning to build, ask your architect to let you read over the specifications of a dozen or fifty of his latest buildings. You will find that of all the many different articles or materials entering into the construction of a building, the only ones invariably mentioned in all the specifications are IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators.

Why? Because a million users know that this outfit is the one feature which invariably gives greatest satisfaction, and soon repays its original cost in the economies its use brings about—a fine investment, not an expense. Pays far higher returns than 6% bonds. No other building feature produces such permanent returns.

A No. 4-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 422 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $195, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

Greatest comfort at lowest price

Every architect and real-estate man knows that IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are the best heating outfits that money can buy, yet the great volume of sales makes their cost the lowest. Then, most important, IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are fully guaranteed, backed by our world-wide business and reputation.

Don't think you have to build a new house—the outfit is put in without tearing up. Easily put in old or new stores, schools, churches, farm-houses, banks, theatres, etc. You will need our book of illustrations from which to make selection. Sent free. Puts you under no obligations to buy. Phone or write us to-day.

IDEAL Boilers will supply ample heat on one charging of coal for 8 to 24 hours, depending on severity of weather. Every ounce of fuel is made to yield utmost results.

Built-in, genuine Vacuum Cleaner—iron suction pipe runs to each floor. Price, $150

We also make the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, connected by iron suction pipe to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, etc. Through a light-weight hose ALL the dirt, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into big, sealed dust-bucket in cellar. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable cleaner—instead you have a practical outfit that is part of the building—like radiator heating. Ask for catalog—it does not obligate you to buy.

'OLD H. C. OF L.' SOARS AGAIN

War Boosts Prices of Sugar; Coffees Are Also Higher.

Fruits and Vegetables Are Plentiful and Quotations Are Low.

With quotations in many edibles working higher, living costs are creeping up, and where the top will be in some lines more especially affected by the war, wholesale grocers do not care to predict.

Advances in sugars are especially interesting consumers at present. Standard granulated, for example, is now quoted wholesale on this market at 7.26 cents per pound, compared with 6.25 at this time last year. The strength in that market has been brought about through the competition of European buyers for Cuban raws and the scarcity of boats and high freight for transporting supplies from there to ports on the Atlantic seaboard. Dealers predict that sugar will be advanced substantially yet above its present levels, and they are reported to be endeavoring to cover their requirements as far as possible on the current market basis.

"It is now impossible to obtain some lines of imported goods, and the markets in canned goods are being affected by the jump in quotations of the tin cans and glass bottles in which they are put up," said Neil Smith of the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company, Superior, today.

Fruit Prices Low.

He pointed out though that low prices prevail in fruits and vegetables in consequence of the large supplies of both put up last season, and the large yields of California and Florida fruits this year.

Rio coffees are 2 cents a pound higher than a year ago, wholesale. Raisins are up slightly from last year, as are also prunes. The spot market in the latter is, however, weaker at present though futures are higher, showing that the trade is generally bullish. The rise in Rio coffees is largely ascribable to the stringent shipping conditions. The market in teas has been steady for some time back, not showing any move either way.

In spices there have been declines recently in cloves, ginger and white pepper.

Some relief has been afforded householders in lower prices for flour during the past month, due to the slump in the wheat market. The best spring patent flour is now quoted wholesale at $6.25 per barrel, as compared with a high mark of $7.50 set during the winter.

Officials of the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company reported that its trade is remarkably good for the season. Retail grocers over the West are placing orders freely and a substantial increase is being shown in the house's volume of trade. It was recently found necessary to increase its force of traveling salesmen.

OUTLOOK POOR FOR EARLY NAVIGATION

Ice Heavier in Lake Superior Than Since 1912; Extensive Fields.

Weather bureau reports on ice conditions on the lakes certainly are not encouraging for those who hope to see an early opening of navigation.

A report just issued from the Detroit office of the lake marine service shows unusually heavy ice in Lake Superior, at the Sault and at Mackinaw. The report says specifically that there is more and heavier ice over Lake Superior than has been reported since 1912; that the fields appear to extend from Duluth to Whitefish point, and that the eastern fields are heavy and windrowed. It is also declared that the cold weather of the last week has increased the ice in St. Mary's river. Ice in Lake Huron is also heavier than usual and has increased materially in the last week.

In general it is stated that "in comparison with last season there is more ice and it is firmer than then reported. In comparison with the ten-year average at Duluth the ice is 9 inches heavier; at the Sault, 7 inches; at Mackinaw, 6 inches, and at Escanaba, 1 inch."

The ice in this harbor is reported at 35 inches and it is also stated that the ice in the lake continues solid for at least fifteen miles out, with large fields of ice visible still farther out; and that the lake ice averages 20 inches in thickness. The ice field at Two Harbors extends beyond vision, the ice in Ashland harbor is 16 to 18 inches thick and solid, and that at Port Arthur, where ice-breakers began work yesterday, is reported to be 12 to 22 inches thick and is solid for about ten miles out and covered with about a foot of snow.

In that other important connecting water, between Lakes Huron and Erie, the field of ice in Lake St. Clair is reported as extending beyond vision from Detroit and is stationary; also that the Detroit river is filled with broken ice below Wyandotte, but clear above.

REFUSED TO SALUTE FLAG; BOY PUNISHED

Des Moines, Iowa, March 23.—Because of refusal to salute the American flag, Hubert Eyes, an 11-year-old negro boy, was ousted yesterday from the public schools of this city, and sentenced to nine years in the Eldora reformatory.

The order was issued by the district judge, C. A. Dudley, after a hearing to which the public was not admitted. The court suspended sentence and paroled the boy to his parents on their promise that he would be placed in a private school, where education demanded by the Iowa statutes is given.

Hubert, a member of the so-called "Sanctified cult," refused to repeat the oath of allegiance or salute the flag because "it had no God in it, and there was nothing about saluting the flag in the Bible."

END HILLIS CASE BY ARBITRATION

Chicago, March 23.—Peace between Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Brooklyn pastor, and his nephew, Percy D. Hillis, of Victoria, B. C., has been effected by arbitration, according to announcement here yesterday. The nephew brought suit for $50,000 last summer, alleging slander because of a newspaper article which quoted the pastor as saying that he had paid the debts of Percy Hillis. Each agreed to arbitrate and as T. K. Webster, Sr., formerly of Evanston, was acquainted with the uncle and nephew, he was agreed upon, and acted as the arbitrator.

NO MONARCHY FOR CHINESE

Plan Abandoned and Republic Will Be Continued.

Yuan Shi Kai Rejects Emperorship and Resumes Presidency.

Pekin, March 23.—A state department mandate issued last night announces the abandonment of the monarchy and resumption of the republic.

YUAN SHI KAI.

The mandate says the revolution shows that the demand for a monarchical form of government is not unanimous and that therefore Yuan Shi Kai rejects the emperorship and resumes the presidency.

The imperial documents, the mandate adds, will be returned by Yuan Shi Kai to the state council, which will reconvene as the senate, preparatory to the resumption of the republic.

Yuan Shi Kai was elected president of China in October, 1913, after centuries of Manchu rule. His term originally was to run for five years. In his inaugural address, Yuan announced that he would maintain a firm and steady policy for China and he immediately began to rule the country with a strong hand. Several of the reformers of note were compelled to flee from China, the opposition party was expelled from parliament, district councils were abolished and Confucianism was restored. In August, 1914, the first talk of a return of the country to monarchy began. It continued until December, 1915, with much agitation against it. The council of state, however, by a vote of 2,043 to 1,993 decided in favor of the re-establishment of the throne and Yuan was invited to become monarch. At first he declined to accept, but upon being pressed, acquiesced with the proviso that he should continue to act as president until a convenient time for the coronation.

Powers Protest.

Japan, Russia and Great Britain protested strongly against a change in government, and Yuan indefinitely postponed the time for ascending the throne.

Almost immediately after the announcement that the monarchy would be restored there began a rebellion in the south, similar to that which caused the downfall of the Manchu dynasty, and the selection of Yuan as president. Several southern provinces declared their independence of the rule of Yuan, and Yunnan province was declared to be a republic. Later the government troops in Hupeh and Nanking, joined the rebels who declared Fukien and Hunan independent.

Although Yuan had belittled the revolt in the south in January, Yuan, in a speech to the bureau entrusted with the preparations for the enthronement postponed the coronation ceremonies, declaring he was profoundly grieved to confess that a portion of the people were dissatisfied with him, and that to perform the ceremony of enthronement until the affairs in the south were again under control, would "set our heart on thorns."

DULUTH PROGRESSIVE IN FIRE EQUIPMENT.

Duluth is classed as one of the progressive cities of the country in discarding its horse-drawn fire apparatus, according to figures prepared by the Firemen's Herald. Five years ago this city did not have a single automobile in its fire department, while today there are fifteen motor units in service. There are only twenty-five horses in the entire department, according to the report.

UNRELIABILITY OF THE EYE-WITNESS TESTIMONY IS SHOWN BY AN EXPERIMENT

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—An experiment to demonstrate the unreliability of eye-witnessed testimony was performed a few days ago before the psychology class of Prof. Edgar James Swift, at Washington university, and as a result the students are now convinced they cannot believe the evidence of their own eyes.

While the professor was lecturing, the door suddenly opened and two men, gesticulating angrily and quarreling, entered. Two young women followed them. The young women screamed, one of the men drew what looked like a revolver, the report of the firing of a gun was heard, and one of the men fell over a chair, apparently wounded.

The professor then asked the students to write down their impressions of what had occurred, he having staged the affair for this purpose.

Of the thirty-two members of the class, most of them wrote that they had seen one man draw a revolver. The "revolver" in fact was a yellow banana. Others were sure they heard the report of a revolver. The sound was the explosion of a paper torpedo.

Though four persons took part in the affair, one student wrote that he saw six, another wrote that he saw ten and another told only of the two women. Apparently he did not see the two men who first entered the room.

None of the students recognized the actors in the "shooting scrape" as fellow students, though none of the four was disguised.

CHAPTER HOST AT BIG "STAG" PARTY

Three Hundred Masons Enjoy Fine Program at Temple.

More than 300 Masons attended the entertainment and smoker given last evening at the Masonic temple by Keystone chapter, No. 20, Royal Arch Masons. The affair, which followed a short business meeting of the chapter, was in the nature of a reception given to the "blue lodge" Masons.

The program consisted of the following numbers: Selection by Temple band, reading by Miss Fieldman, talk on "The York Rite Side" by C. W. Wilson, selection by quartet, vocal solo by Miss Loretta O'Gorman, cornet solo by Charles Helmer, vocal solo by C. O. Applehagen, selection by Temple band and a singing and talking act by professional entertainers.

The program was followed by a lunch in the banquet hall and a smoker. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of W. B. Arper, C. B. Cannon, G. L. Hargraves and John D. Jenswold.

IS MERELY ADVISORY.

Wisconsin Ruling as to Resolution Concerning Buying Public Utility.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—That proceedings for municipal purchase of a utility does not require a determination of the amount to be paid for the property before an election, is the opinion of Attorney General Owen, given to Mayor J. A. Brooks of Chippewa Falls. The attorney general holds that a resolution prepared by the mayor for submission to the common council and submitted by him for consideration by Attorney General Owen, was merely advisory and would not commit the city to municipal purchase if passed.

HOW TO STOCK YOUR FISH POND WITH FISH AND WITHOUT ANY COST

If you have a good fish pond on your farm and wish to have it stocked with fish without cost, address the section of economic vertebrate zoology at University farm, St. Paul, and if your request is in in time, it will be granted.

This is a new line of endeavor for the Minnesota experiment station and has been brought about through a plan by which the station will cooperate with the United States bureau of fisheries.

Requests for fish will be received by the section named, and will be indorsed and passed on to A. F. Woods, director of the experiment station. Director Woods will affix his indorsement and the application will then be forwarded to Washington.

F. L. Washburn, speaking for the section of economic vertebrate zoology, says that the service on the part of the bureau of fisheries will necessarily be limited, because of the necessity of keeping the yearly grants within the supply of fish available. The number of farms which can be supplied each year will not be large. A waiting list will probably result. The most worthy of first consideration because of natural conditions, nearness to its express office and railroad stations will receive attention first.

Application blanks will be sent to any who desire them, who can make known their desires by addressing F. L. Washburn, University farm, St. Paul.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.—Advertisement.

DULUTH JEWS TO ORGANIZE BRANCH

Will Formulate Plans Next Sunday to Join Jewish Congress.

Duluth Jews will organize a local branch of the American Jewish congress at a meeting to be held at the Talmud Torah next Sunday afternoon.

This city will not be represented at the first conference of the congress, to be held at Philadelphia next Sunday and Monday, but it is the aim of those behind the movement to organize the Jews of Duluth at this time. Delegates will be selected to represent the branch at any future conferences of the American body.

The aim of the congress is to bring together representative Jews of the nation in a general body to discuss ways and means of assisting the European Jews after the war. Participation in the peace conferences and interceding in behalf of those Jews now persecuted and denied political and religious liberty are among the plans of the organization.

The meeting Sunday will be held at 2 o'clock and there will be representatives from the B'rith Abraham lodges, the Sisters of Israel, the Zion lodges and the Kisereth Israel and Adas Israel congregations.

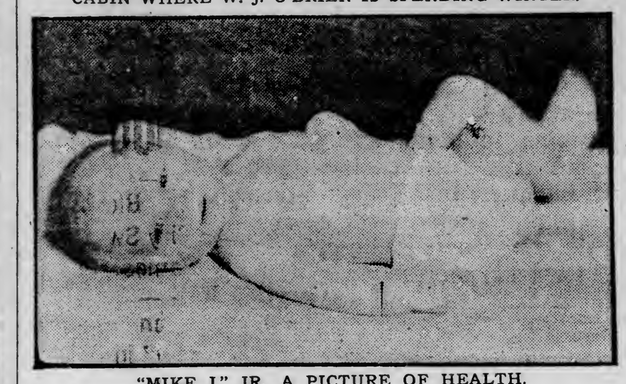
PINERIES PLACE FOR REARING OF BABIES, SAYS PROUD GRAND-DAD

CABIN WHERE W. J. O'BRIEN IS SPENDING WINTER.



"MIKE J." JR., A PICTURE OF HEALTH.

There is no place like the pineries in which to bring up children in the best of health, according to the opinion of Michael J. O'Brien, 737 Garfield avenue, superintendent of the Alger-Smith sawmill, whose son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William J. O'Brien, and his 4-months-old grandson, Michael J., Jr., are spending the winter in the northern part of the county. The picture of the baby, who was 4 months old on the day the photo was taken, is that of a child in perfect health.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien have been in the woods since early in December. Mr. O'Brien is one of the company's inspectors and is located at mile post 81 on the Alger-Smith road known as Meredith. Their cabin is located in the heart of the heavy pine region in the northern part of Cook county.

Mrs. O'Brien was formerly Miss May Connolly of West Duluth.

PLANNING TWO CELEBRATIONS

West End Business Men Will Observe "Style Week."

Will Also Hold Special Festivities During May.

At a luncheon given at the Esmond hotel last night business men of the West end planned to take an active part in the "style show" week to be staged during April 3, 4 and 5, and also to hold some form of general celebration on some day in May. The luncheon was attended by about fifty of the business and professional men of this end of the city.

A committee, consisting of Ben F. Schweiger, chairman; A. O. Anderson, Matt Koneczny, Alfred Moe and Victor Juten, was appointed to plan the demonstration to be held in this end of the city during the style show week. Just what this will be will be worked out during the next week.

All business men of the section who were present promised to place their stores on "dress parade" during the three days. The windows are to be especially trimmed for this occasion and special lighting effects will be installed.

May Celebration Plans.

The committee to have charge of the proposed May celebration will be appointed during the next week or two by A. B. Anderson, who presided at the luncheon last evening. The proposed celebration is to be somewhat similar to the affair held a year ago in May.

Arrangements are to be made to hold another meeting about the middle of April. A committee to complete these arrangements consists of Walter A. Swanstrom and Emil H. Olson.

The gathering last night was the first held by the business men since early in November. Enthusiasm ran high and many predictions that this year will be a banner year for the West end were made. George M. Jensen acted as secretary for the organization.

PATRICK OFFERS FREE MARKET SITE

City May Use Vacant Property; Oredson Lots May Be Leased.

An offer of the free use of the vacant property on Twenty-ninth avenue west and First street for a public market place was received yesterday afternoon by Mayor W. I. Prince from the F. A. Patrick company through Bentley P. Neff. The city may have the free use of the property for an indefinite length of time, and the offer states that the city will get a notice a long time in advance before it will be necessary to vacate.

The communication says: "Eventually, of course we shall need this ground, but in the meantime it can be used for market purposes if you so desire, and we will see to it that you get a long time notice in case the vacation of the premises becomes necessary."

Mayor Prince says that the city commissioners appreciated the offer, and that although the property may be too remote from the West end business district, still it will be considered.

Mayor Prince has had under consideration the selection of Dr. O. A. Oredson's lots at Twenty-second avenue and First street for a market site. This property has been offered to the city, it is said, at a rental of $100 a year. No definite action has been taken on this proposal.

TO RAISE ORGAN FUND.

Committee of Twenty to Conduct Campaign for Swedish Baptists.

The task of raising $2,000 for the purchase of a pipe organ for the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and First street before April 15, was assumed by a committee of twenty members of the choir at a meeting held last night in the church. A canvas of the church members and friends is to begin at once.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church, heads the committee. It is planned to raise at least half of the sum in cash and the other half by subscription, which will probably extend over a period of three months. A small part of the sum has already been raised by members of the choir.

POSTPONED ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE GIVEN FRIDAY

The Epworth League of the Grace Methodist church will entertain at its postponed St. Patrick's day party tomorrow evening at the home of Alfred Milligan, 2814 West Michigan street. The affair was planned for last Friday evening but had to be postponed.

The social is given by the "workers" division of the league, which is captained by Miss Gisa Perry. The society was recently divided into two sections, the "workers" and "winners." A contest between these two sides for additional members and for raising money for the church has been going on for the last month.

West End Briefs.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will speak on "Christian Experience" at the midweek services at the church tonight.

Mrs. C. L. Haney, 430 North Twenty-third avenue west, returned yesterday from a short visit to Minneapolis.

Miss Jennie Wilner, 2116 West Third street, has returned from a week's visit with relatives in the Twin Cities.

Max Gottschald, 6 South Thirteenth avenue west, left this morning for a short visit in Brainerd, Minn.

Plans for a basket social to be held next Wednesday evening at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, were made at the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert May, 223 Restormel street. The social will mark the end of a membership contest.

OKLAHOMA REPUBLICANS WRANGLE IN CONVENTION

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 23.—Beginning as a love feast with the election of John Fields of Oklahoma City as chairman, the Republican state convention yesterday developed a series of factional contests between the supporters of James A. Harris of Wagoner, and J. J. McGraw of Ponca City, rival candidates for the position of national committeeman, which, after several turbulent hours, culminated in the refusal of Harris' friends to present his name to the convention. They announced in a formal protest that they could contest the election of a national committeeman before the Republican national convention, but they had no intention of "bolting."

Discussion of the report of the credentials committee in the state committee evoked wild disorder and several fisticuff battles. The report advocated seating two rival delegations from Muskogee county. Police quelled the belligerent delegates and an old soldier fife and drum corps helped divert the attention until quiet was restored.

Going to Montana Church.

Bismarck, N. D., March 23.—Dr. C. W. Harris, who for the last ten years has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has presented his resignation to his congregation to accept the pastorate of the Bozeman, Mont., Presbyterian church.

Brainerd Fire Alarms.

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the nominal cost of $1 a year and repairs, to be paid by the city, the Tri-State Telephone company will install a rotary automatic fire alarm system in Brainerd, the council giving the Minnesota Telephone company, as the local subsidiary is called, a ten-year least to that effect.

JURY CONVICTS LAUREN QUICKLY

Alleged Shoplifter Not Helped By His Alibi Witnesses.

Ten minutes was all the time required by a jury in District Judge Cant's court yesterday afternoon to decide that William Lauren, alleged shoplifter, was guilty of the crime for which he was tried. The jury retired at 4:50 o'clock and returned with a verdict of conviction at 5 o'clock.

Lauren was accused of stealing a silk dress from the National store in this city on Oct. 28 last. He claimed an alibi and brought in five or six witnesses who swore positively that on Oct. 28 the accused man was in Washburn working in a boarding house kept by one John Maki, who himself took the stand.

Maki's testimony, however, was discredited with the jury when it was established by the state that he had a record and had been arrested several times. Gust Lahti, Bertillon expert and chief of the city detective force, testified that Maki had the reputation of being "a smooth crook."

County Attorney Greene, in his address to the jury, declared that he believed that he had "rooted into one of the worst nests in the northern part of the United States," and he branded the testimony of the "Maki crowd" as perjury.

John Swinlund, attorney for Lauren, argued that the jury should give Lauren the benefit of the doubt, which necessarily would be raised by the conflicting testimony.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

SMASHING ATTACK ON INDICTMENTS

Attorneys Appear for Gary and Six Steel Companies.

Youngstown, Ohio, March 23.—A smashing attack on the indictments recently returned by the Mahoning county grand jury against six steel companies and E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation, was made in common pleas court here yesterday when Judge W. S. Anderson heard arguments on a motion to quash the indictments.

The motion to quash was made by attorneys for the five local steel companies included in the indictment charging a conspiracy to fix the price of wages and steel products.

A battery of legal talent, led by William N. Day, former Federal judge at Cleveland, and Former Congressman James Kennedy, poured a heavy fire of criticism upon the indictments which Prosecuting Attorney Henderson has secured.

The motion to quash the indictments contained eight grounds for action which are included in the two general grounds that the indictments were faulty because of duplicity and that they are too indefinite and uncertain. Attorneys for the defense intimated that an influence that did not dare show its face was responsible for the indictments.

Only One Building Burned.

Greensboro, N. C., March 23.—The burning of a building at Spray, N. C., in which the telephone exchange was located, gave rise to a report yesterday that the town was being swept by a disastrous fire. When wire communication was restored, it was learned that only one building had been destroyed.

ITCHY SALT RHEUM

Sometimes Called Eczema—Removed By Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Salt rheum is one of the worst and unfortunately one of the most common of all diseases. How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales, and then does this all over again! Sometimes it covers the whole body with inflamed, burning patches and causes intense suffering, which is commonly worse at night.

Local applications may do some good, but they cannot permanently relieve. The disease will continue to annoy, pain and perhaps agonize, until the blood has been purified and the general health improved.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, the good old reliable family remedy. It has given perfect satisfaction in thousands of cases. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla, for no substitute acts like it. Get it today.

DRUGGIST IN EVERY STATE RELY ON THIS KIDNEY MEDICINE

We have been handling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for twelve years and during that time we have not received a single complaint from those who have used it, all speak in the highest terms of the good results obtained from its use. We know of cases of Catarrh or Inflammation of the Bladder and Liver trouble where Swamp-Root proved very valuable. One old lady 80 years old will not be without Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. We believe it is a very good medicine in the diseases for which it is intended.

Very truly yours,

PIONEER GIRL PROVES HER METTLE

Cares for Household of Six; Cultivates "Claim" for Three Years.

Although the days of "pioneering" have passed, it seems that the same traits of character that made the men and women of those days famous, still exist. A case of this kind was brought to light at the office of the Federal land register and receiver here yesterday when Miss Flora L. Carlson, still under age, made special arrangements to prove-up on her claim at Arthyde, Aitkin county. Although but a slender, young woman, Miss Carlson is the sole support of her parents and their four children.

Miss Carlson filed on her homestead Oct. 9, 1912, when she was less than 18 years old. A certificate of patent was issued, and it is expected that the final patent will be issued within two or three months. Yesterday she asked the land office for an affidavit presenting the facts in the case.

During the three years required for residence on the homestead Miss Carlson has cultivated the soil and made all of the necessary improvements. Part of the time allowed her for absence from her "claim," she worked in Duluth to earn funds to make necessary improvements and secure agricultural equipment.

Her father is only 49 years old, but because of illness has been unable to work for ten years. Her mother also has been incapacitated during a good share of the time. In working the claim, she hopes to prepare a home for her parents where they may live during their declining years.

"WHY SWEAR, DEAR? USE 'GETS-IT' FOR CORNS!"

It's the New Plan. Simple. Sure as Fate. Applied in a Few Seconds.

"Why, John, I never knew you to use such language! I've told you several times it's no use to try those bandages, salves, tapes, plasters, and contraptions for corns. Here's some 'Gets-It.' It's just wonderful how easy, 'clear and clean' it makes any corn come right off. Takes but a few seconds to apply. It dries at once. Put your sock on right over it—there's nothing to stick or roll up, form a bundle of your toe, or press on the corn. It's painless, simple as rolling off a log. Now put away those knives, razors and scissors, use 'Gets-It' and you'll have a sweeter disposition and no more corns and calluses."

"You Wouldn't Lose Your Temper, John, If You Used 'Gets-It' for Those Corns!"

TO DISPLAY MINE AND MACHINE GUN

Duluthians, who have read almost daily of machine guns and mines since the beginning of the European war, will have an opportunity of seeing one of each in the near future. A United States naval contact mine and a Colt's machine gun will be received here soon by E. A. Nippa, local recruiting officer for the navy, and these will be put on display on Superior street. The display is to be arranged through the efforts of Lieut. F. J. Wille, head of the naval recruiting work of this district.

The naval mine is said to be powerful enough to blow up a superdreadnaught and is of the same type as used in the Baltic and North seas. The gun is capable of shooting 300 rifle balls a minute and can fire 5,000 balls before becoming heated.

ASHLAND MILK DEALER IS FINED $33.70

Ashland, Wis., March 23.— D. W. Emerson was arraigned in municipal court yesterday on two charges, that of selling milk without a license and selling milk taken from unclean cows. He pleaded guilty to both charges against him. For the violation of the city ordinance he was fined $6, for violating the state law a fine of $27.70 was imposed.

NAVAL MILITIA WILL GIVE BRAINERD ARMORY

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—By the formation here of an engineers' division of the naval militia of Minnesota, an enrollment of at least sixty men would assure for Brainerd an armory.

Commander Guy A. Eaton of the Duluth naval militia so declared here, but if Brainerd wants to enter the lists for this division, the recruiting must be done soon, before St. Paul or Minneapolis accepts the offer.

With Capt. Eaton were Lieuteant Commander C. H. Fisher and Lieut. A. H. Howze, U. S. N., who had inspected the naval militia at Bemidji. Lieutenant Commander Fisher said Bemidji had a fine body of men, above the average. On March 21 the Crosby division was inspected, then the Pine City and Lindstrom contingents.

ST. MICHAEL CLUB FORMED.

Catholic Men of Lakeside Organize for Social Purposes.

The St. Michael's club was organized last evening at the residence of F. X. Farrell, 4527 Regent street.

The membership of the club consists of men connected with the Catholic parish at Lakeside, the object of the organization being to stage social entertainments from time to time.

The officers elected last evening follow: F. X. Farrell, president; V. D. Vincent, vice president; T. J. Bernhardt, financial secretary; Swan M. Johnson, treasurer; G. A. Bush, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. Michael Boland, captain, and G. E. Valencourt, J. H. O'Brien and Joseph Hicken, trustees.

Priests Leaving Mexico.

Nogales, Ariz., March 23.—The exodus of Roman Catholic priests, who have been ordered expelled from Sonora by Gen. Calles, commenced yesterday. Six already have crossed the line. They were followed to the front by weeping crowds, many members of which crossed the border with them.

AUGUSTA LOSS IS $5,000,000

Ten Business Blocks of Georgia City Swept By Flames.

Warehouses on Historic "Cotton Row" in Path of Fire.

Augusta, Ga., March 23.—One of a series of fires which have caused millions of dollars worth of damage in the last few days in the South and Southwest, swept through ten business blocks of Augusta and twenty adjoining residence blocks last night and early today and before being got under control had caused damage which was conservatively estimated at $5,000,000. No lives were reported lost in the Augusta fire, although there were scores of narrow escapes.

The flame-swept area included the city's largest office and business buildings on the north side of Broad street, warehouses on historic "Cotton Row," containing thousands of bales of cotton, some 600 homes, many of them in the city's most exclusive residence section, and St. Paul's Episcopal church, built 135 years ago.

Firemen Powerless.

The Augusta firemen were powerless and fire apparatus was sent from Columbia, Charleston, Atlanta, Macon, Savannah and Waynesboro. The wind subsided early today and it was not until then that the firemen could gain in their fight. Many of the homeless spent the night walking the streets, while others slept in the halls of the large hotels.

Officials of the fire department today began an investigation into the cause of the fire, but as yet no explanation has been offered.

The twelve-story building owned by the Augusta Chronicle was practically destroyed. The Augusta Herald building also was burned.

Cotton interests today estimated that the fire destroyed about $2,000,000 worth of cotton stored in the warehouses along the river front.

The Chronicle established an office in a job-printing plant and was issued this morning. The Herald will be issued this afternoon from a temporary plant.

LA FOLLETTE IS NOW WAY AHEAD

May Lead Estabrook in North Dakota Three to One.

Fargo, N. D., March 23.—Robert La Follette has been indorsed by North Dakota Republicans as their choice for president of the United States by a margin of a least 3 to 1. and probably 4 to 1 over H. D. Estabrook of New York city.

Slowly arriving returns from every section of the state, except the Missouri slope, place La Follette far in the lead. The Missouri slope, or German settled communities, are returning majorities for Estabrook, but they bid fair to disappear before they go very far eastward.

Gunder Olson has been made national committee man of the Republican party, defeating William Lemke, the Progressive Republican league, or "La Follette ticket" candidate, by a big margin. The total may run 5 to 1 and even 6 to 1 in favor of Olson, former state treasurer.

La Follette Leaders Pleased.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—The La Follette leaders here are highly pleased with the results at the primary election for selection of the delegates to the Republican national convention held in North Dakota. Charles H. Crownhart of the La Follette committee, said that telegrams from North Dakota indicate that the senator was the victor by a 3 to 1 vote.

CLAIMS PRIZE FOR BIGGEST GAIN IN VOTE

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The township of Evergreen, Becker county, has claimed the $200 prize offered by the Cummins' committe for the biggest percentage of gain in the presidential primary over the general election. In 1914 there were 62 votes cast. At the primary last week there were 83, of which Cummins received 81 and Wilson 2.

CAUGHT IN MACHINERY; KNEE BADLY TORN

Ashland, Wis., March 23.—Paul Kozake of Lugersville was brought to the St. Joseph's hospital with a badly lacerated knee. Kozake was an employe of the mill at Lugerville and while in the operation of one of the machines, was caught in the machinery and was quite seriously injured.

Herman Zimmer of this city was injured at the Northwestern ore docks yesterday to the extent of a crushed finger.

Elmer Aho, an employe of the Guerney Lumber company is confined in the hospital with an injury, the extent of which has not been learned.

GLASS BLOCK

STRIKING GAINS IN COPPER PRICES

New Record Set at 28½ Cents; Metal in Great Demand.

Current production returns of the larger copper producing companies present some striking contrasts to the early months of 1915, when the copper mining industry was just emerging from the acute depression that followed the outbreak of the war.

While an enormous increase in output has come about, copper supplies are insufficient to meet the heavy demands from all quarters, with the result that the spot quotation of the metal at 28½ cents a pound is the highest on record. It is expected that this year and during the first half of 1917 hundreds of millions of pounds will be added to the available supply of copper through the development of the Braden, Chile, Cerro de Pasco and other mines as large producers.

Anaconda has made the best showing in production during the last two months despite operations being handicapped through severe weather in the Butte district. Its February copper output was 23,300,000 pounds, compared with 15,100,000 pounds a year ago. Greene-Cananea established a record last month with an output of 5,180,000 pounds. This is considered a remarkable achievement as it was accomplished within two months after operations were resumed after a protracted shutdown owing to the war in Mexico. Kennecott and Inspiration are other companies that have become heavy producers, their outputs for the present month being expected to reach 10,000,000 pounds each.

February output figures are not available for all the companies, but a partial comparison of February and January of this year with February, 1915, will illustrate the stimulus given copper production by the unprecedented demand and high prices now prevailing.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

MAINE REPUBLICANS IN STATE CONVENTION

Portland, Me., March 23.—The Republican state convention to select four delegates-at-large to the national convention and to nominate six presidential electors was held here today. The district conventions to complete the national delegation were set for this noon, during a recess of the state gathering.

There were no evidences of any contest at the state convention and it was expected an uninstructed delegation would be selected.

Mott, N. D., March 23.—Breaking into his bedroom in a local hotel, investigators found the body of Nick Gagel, 60 years old. Gagel had hanged himself by tying a rope to the bedstead.

GET IT FIRST—NOT LAST

When a cold grips your system it is convincing proof that your condition is weakened—remember that. It is risky indeed to simply trust your strength to throw it off, because neglected colds have brought more serious sickness than any other one thing, while weakening cathartics and stimulating syrups are often depressing and dangerous.

The one best treatment for any cold —the one so often relied on when others fail, is the powerful blood-nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the very sources of bodily strength to suppress the present cold and generate strength to thwart further sickness.

Get Scott's first, not last—and insist on the genuine—always free from alcohol and injurious drugs.

IS THERE anything more disheartening these near-spring days than to go into a millinery store? You are going about feeling snappy and proud of your faithful old suit which has so successfully pulled you through the winter, and begin to figure that with a few feminine touches, such as wrenching the ratty fur off of it bodily, it might be made to pull you through the summer, if not through the rest of your life, when you stumble across the threshold of a hat shop!

Everything goes blank before you. You are in a maze of color and delight and just about deciding that "this color will brighten up my suit for another season," when you get a bird's-eye view of yourself in the mirror!

It's all off. The suit won't do and you know it.

Stay away, if you are blissfully happy and feeling stylish now. You never will again—once you enter.

Will Tell Wonderful Story of Heavens

Without a knowledge of the heavens, modern progress would be impossible. Time is reckoned and corrected according to astronomical laws. No fear comes when navigating the seas, for navigators can direct their course with precision. The boundaries of countries and even of the lots on which houses are erected, are accurately surveyed by means derived from astronomical laws. The very principles upon which geniuses have developed machinery are based upon these same laws. Even the present war could not be conducted so skillfully nor efficiently without a knowledge of the heavens, for the path of every projectile is predetermined to a nicety by calculations that are only possible because of knowledge gained by studies in astronomy.

Dr. Forest Ray Moulton of the University of Chicago, one of the world's foremost astronomers, will reveal many of the secrets of the heavens to the people of Duluth next Monday night. He will tell of the progress of this most ancient of all sciences; he will make his audience acquainted with that galaxy of stars among men, Copernicus, Galileo, Kepler and Newton, who devoted their lives to astronomy that posterity might enjoy life the more.

Dr. Moulton will lecture under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae Monday night, March 27, at the First Methodist church.

No Shortage of Dyes For Easter Eggs

Here's gloomy news for the killjoys. The dye dealers say there are enough dyes on hand to color all the eggs in the country this Easter. It is said, too, there will be no advance in the price of the commodity.

The majority of Easter egg dyes are not made of aniline, or coal tar coloring, but from fruits, nuts, berries, barks and the gay and festive cochineal bug that is a native of Spain. As only aniline dyes are short because of the war, there will be a plentiful supply of all the brilliantly-colored Easter eggs for the game of "bust," which is really a game of chance, depending upon how long the eggs were boiled.

Sought Nomination for Vice Presidency

—Copyright by Gerhard Sisters.

KATE RICHARDS O'HARA.

Kate Richards O'Hara is the first woman to be a serious candidate for the nomination for vice president. She went before the Socialists and made a good fight; but she was beaten. Mrs. O'Hara's home is in St. Louis.

Last Concert By Duluth Orchestra

The last opportunity of hearing the Duluth orchestra this season will be next Sunday afternoon, when the final concert of the series of ten will be given, after which the orchestra will disband for the season, and several musicians who were specially engaged will leave for their homes.

The orchestra's delightful twilight concerts have been particularly successful from a musical standpoint, and much credit is due Director Fred G. Bradbury, who arranged the programs and rehearsed and conducted them. It was Mr. Bradbury who also secured the guaranty fund, which made possible the maintenance of so excellent an orchestra for the pleasure of Duluth's music lovers. With the aid of the guaranty fund, the management was enabled to secure musicians from other cities and the educational work done through the introduction of soloists performing on instruments not heard heretofore has been a particularly pleasing feature of the concerts. Many compositions which were new to Duluth have also been given, particularly the several symphonies which were given excellent readings under Mr. Bradbury's baton.

Next Sunday's program should prove especially interesting, as it is made up of request numbers from the several programs that have been given during the season, which will comprise several notable selections that were extremely popular on the several programs on which they were played.

The program of prose and poetry, which Adele McClaren Liggett will give at the Rex theater Saturday morning, April 15, under the auspices of the local clubs belonging to the state federation, will be a children's story hour, but will be made interesting for grown-ups as well. Mrs. Liggett will tell a group of stories planned to interest children of all ages, including a group of Kipling's tales, King Arthur and Robin Hood stories, Indian legends, animal stories by Ernest Seton Thompson, Japanese stories and fairy tales for the smaller children.

The Garden Flower society, the Bryant School Mothers' club, the Lester Park Literary club, the Linnaea club, the Saturday club, the Twentieth Century club and the Woman's Rotary club will all join their forces for the project. The proceeds of the entertainment will go to the $10,000 endowment fund of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be used in extending the educational, civic and philanthropic activity of the organization in all parts of this state. Every district of the federation is expected to raise its share of the fund. Mrs. Liggett has taken an active part in Duluth club work and is an active worker in the state federation. She is giving her series of readings in every part of the state for the benefit of the endowment fund.

A Chapter on Omelets

OF all egg dishes omelet is the most difficult to make, until you have learned how, when it suddenly becomes most interesting and you are not satisfied to make the plain or garden variety but must attempt the French or frilly kind.

A perfect omelet should be high in the center, somewhat pointed at the ends, slightly browned on the surface, moist, tender and full of delicate flavor. It is difficult for a beginner to turn an omelet with sufficient deftness. Even experienced cooks achieve the brown surface with a searing lid. It will suffice if you merely brown it delicately on the under side and let it cook through, then turn it upon itself by folding it over lightly.

Before using the omelet pan scour it with dry salt to insure smoothness. The best omelet makers do not wash this utensil, but clean it with salt and vinegar and a dry cloth, thinking washing it would make the eggs stick.

I always have my pupils make several small omelets before attempting a large one. A small omelet is made with not more than three eggs; a large one may consist of ten eggs; though this is unusual size.

Beat the eggs with ten strokes or just enough to mix them; add salt, pepper and, for three eggs, a tablespoon of melted butter and a tablespoon of water or milk to each egg used. Water makes a more tender omelet, milk a richer one. Have the pan evenly hot, it need not be scorching but should be really hot. Butter the pan and pour the eggs in the center. Stand by with a fork and perforate the omelet in several places to let the uncooked egg run under, also press the omelet from the edges of the pan and lift it slightly for the same purpose. Do this just at the beginning or the surface will not be even.

When the omelet is cooked through and still soft on top, slip a thin knife (spatula) beneath it and with its help fold the omelet over or roll it up. Place on a hot dish, brush with melted butter, sprinkle with parsley and serve immediately, as omelet is no respecter of persons and will not bear to be kept waiting. Tomorrow I will give you some variations of omelettes, as the fancy ones are spelled.

Questions and Answers.

Please tell me how to make window glass opaque; how paraffine oil is made and which is the best gelatine for candy-making.—Elizabeth A. Ashton.

Reply—Alum dissolved in as little water as possible and painted over glass will make it opaque, but you can buy sheets of prepared or glazed paper at the housefurnishing shop for this that will be more lasting. Paraffine oil is a thin liquid that looks precisely like glycerine; it is not the paraffine cake such as we use for sealing jelly and for irons. In cities it sells at 25 cents a pint, and this quantity will saturate a mop for oiling floors and make several cheese-cloth dusters. Equal parts of this oil and turpentine makes a very good oil polish.

Woman Finds Men's Neckties Key to Character of Wearers

A woman with an analytical mind, writing in the Spokesman Review, has card-catalogued men according to their neckties, giving examples that range from the most sedate to the most flamboyant neckwear. She calls this art of reading a man's character by his tie a new science and an infallible guide. "Every father and every mother should be versed in it," she says. "It provides a recommendation or warning of the character of the swains who admire daughter. Intellect, feeling and all sides of a man's nature are portrayed by the simple knot of color he wears at his throat. His tie may be a boost or an indictment."

The analist gives the following laws that govern neckties and their wearers:

At Turning Point.

"The office boy was just in and his tie was of many colors, green, red and brown in a spiked design. That tie represents the adolescent whose disposition is not yet settled. He may become the sort of man who wears modest, rich-looking brown effects or he may dash through life wearing a bright red cravat. He is at the turning point.

"One man wears a gray tie. It denotes a settled, nonrufflable character; one not eager for life for himself but who has a calm delight in the actions of his fellow men. A philosopher's tie. Its quality is good, denoting a substantial enjoyment in the comforts and amenities of existence.

"Another man wears a small gray checked tie, quality not so good. That man does not like to spend any money on himself and hates to keep up to date in matters of haberdashery. He has a fondness for Greek tragedy in German translation.

"Another large man wears a narrow bow black tie, knotted four-in-hand denoting absent mindedness and carelessness of the little fine points. He is even diffident as the narrowness and shrinking nature of his cravat shows.

Luxurious Nature.

"A youth in a black and white biased tie, which has been laundered, shows a luxurious nature forced to be economical.

"The dull brown, almost old rose, tie of a Scotchman shows the national thrift, also a canny love of being inconspicuous.

"A man in a bright plaid tie boldly barred with yellow and reds and fixed with a turquoise scarf pin, is aggressive, pugnacious, energetic and frank.

"The dark blue tie with almost invisible raised dots of white is the tie of a scholar and recluse who loves quiet elegance.

"There is the tie made of dress goods remnants worn by the young man, which tie denotes a dutiful son who will wear whatever his mother makes him. He will prove a manageable and loving husband. There is an infinite range in the field. You need no longer guess at the nature of the man on the street, one glance at his neck betrays him."

Bushy Beaver Helps Slippy

ONE evening, some days after the snow from the hard storm had melted away, Slippy White-mouse resolved to go over near the creek for food.

"I've nibbled and nibbled at all these trees near here," he said to himself, "and I think it's high time that I hunted my food somewhere else."

You see, while the heavy snow was on the ground, Slippy and all the members of his family were glad indeed to eat the good corn they found in the center of the corn shocks. Ordinarily, they might have made tiny tunnels through the snow and have gone some distance for their food—that was what they often did.

But this particular snow was very icy and hard; it had come to the earth in the form of sleet and had frozen so solidly that digging through it hardly seemed worth while; especially when there was food close at hand.

So the mice had stayed close in their home all the days that the snow was on the ground — no wonder Slippy was glad to get out and stretch his legs now that the snow was over!

And the first thing that he did was to get him some bark to eat. "Corn is very fine," he had said to himself, "but I've had it too much. I need bark." And that was why he had set to work at the trees.

By the time he had eaten choice morsels from several trees, he was ready for something else.

"Guess I'll go down by the creek," he said, and down he went.

And who do you suppose he ran into—straight into?

Bushy Beaver! Yes, sir, he ran straight into Bushy Beaver's arms! And this is how it happened.

You see Bushy Beaver had been shut up by the storm too, and now, in the evening twilight he had started on a hunt for tree bark, for he likes that, too. And he was sitting there on the bank—just as still as could be—except for working his dainty jaws on a bit of bark he had stripped off a tree near at hand.

He ran straight into Bushy Beaver's arms!

"May you find plenty of good food," said Slippy hastily, to show Bushy that he had not meant to be rude.

"And may you never be frightened," retorted Bushy kindly. "Don't you want some of this good bark?"

Of course Slippy did, so Bushy showed him just which tree had the juiciest bits and Slippy had a fine dessert. "That Bushy Beaver is a very kind creature," he reported at home. "And I hope I can do him a good turn some day."

Duluthian Is Member of Artists' Colony

Clarence B. Stewart, formerly of Duluth but now a member of a colony of landscape painters at Lambertville, N. J., has written to Duluth friends, telling of the winning of the Inness gold medal at the National academy exhibition by Charles Rosen, also formerly of Duluth. A landscape by Mr. Rosen, the only picture ever bought by the Duluth Art association, is now in the assembly hall of the Y. M. C. A. Bishop James McGolrick is president of the association and C. C. Rosencranz is the director.

Mr. Stewart said that Mr. Rosen's prize picture, although a fine painting, is not a good example of his work, as he has taken up a different style of painting in recent years.

"Charles Rosen, A. N. A., is a brilliant painter of snow scenes along the Delaware," writes Mr. Stewart. "His pictures are always a center of interest in the big exhibitions."

The Lambertville Colony.

The Lambertville, N. J., colony of painters centers around W. L. Lathrop, N. A., whose son, Joe Lathrop, rowed for many years with the Duluth boat club crews.

"Mr. Lathrop lives in a big old stone house on the bank of an old canal, a house with fire places that take five-foot logs, and some way Mr. Lathrop is the kind of a man who goes with that sort of a house," is the compliment which Mr. Stewart pays him. "It is about these fires that the painters gather, not only the local men, but often some well-known painter or writer from the outside will join them, and it is the inter-change of ideas, it seems to me, that goes on here, that has made this group of painters what they are. Mr. Lathrop is a painter of landscapes of a quiet nature that, like a well-bred man, doesn't insist on being seen or heard, but that grow more interesting the longer you associate with them. He is one of those painters, so the men here think, whose pictures will become very precious in the years to come. A. M. Marshall, I believe, owns some of his paintings."

Church Meetings.

The Mission Study class of the First Presbyterian church will meet at 7 o'clock tonight. "The South Sea Islands" will be the subject and Miss G. M. Hall will be the leader.

A social hour will follow the mid-week prayer service of the First Presbyterian church, which will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight. "The Friendly Church" will be the subject and Rev. George Brewer will be in charge. Members are asked to take their friends.

Saturday, March 25, the festival of the Annunciation will be celebrated at Trinity cathedral, with services at 10 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Canon Thomas W. MacLean will deliver an address at the afternoon service.

What Retail Markets Offer The Housewife

New Brazil nuts, 20 cents per lb.
Watercress, 5 cents a bunch.
Lima beans, 10 cents per qt.
Spinach, 30 cents per pk.
Rhubarb, 10 cents per lb.
Florida tomatoes, 25 cents per basket.
White turnips, 5 cents per bunch.
Smelts, 20 cents per lb.

All the nuts do not come from Brazil, contrary to "Charley's Aunt," but how many housewives know that February is the month that Brazil devotes to gathering these members of the vegetable family and that now they are just in, fresh from the nut fields, or the asylum, or the Ford peace ship, or wherever nuts come from?

Watercress makes a salad seem imminent these days, while to see a wall-eyed pike fully dressed and ready for the pan, is almost more than any housewife can resist. It is so seldom one runs across a fish completely dressed. It leaves a large field of possibilities open to suggestion.

Oysters "in blankets" have become rather a common place until these wall-eyed pike decided to go them one better and leave nothing to the imagination—only 20 cents a lb., too!

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Spoiled Child

I know a little boy who seldom is denied the pennies that he has asked his parents and relatives to give him. The result is that he has not the slightest idea of the value of money. He is, to be sure, a very little boy, and of course cannot be expected to hold any very intelligent ideas upon the subject. Still he might show some concern, some childish grief, over the loss of a precious penny. It would be but a natural expression of the ordinary child's feelings, at least to a child trained as I was.

Simply because he has never been denied any of his requests for pennies and coins of a larger denomination, the loss of a penny means nothing to him, because it has always happened that his loss has immediately been made up to him. When I was a child the conditions were reversed. I wept if the penny was lost, because it meant that I was not to have the pleasure of spending it. It meant, too, often times when my parents learned of it that I was scolded for my carelessness and possibly made to do without the next penny that would come to me in the natural course of distribution.

But this little man knows nothing of the unhappy side of spending pennies. The grounds about his home are supposed to be seeded with coppers. If any member of his family lacks a cent to make up some small change, that member runs her hands or fingers in the crevices of couches or chairs, looks under the sofa, among his playthings or anywhere that a penny could secret itself and usually returns triumphant from the search.

I find on looking about among the 4, 5 and 6-year-old acquaintances of mine that each and every one of them have more money to spend than is good for them. They demand 5-cent pieces, where I humbly begged for a penny, and are not contented, as I was, with spending the smaller amount. They want to buy a bagful ,not any more from a sense of having more candy to eat than from that of spending a "big penny," as I heard one little boy express it.

This ignorance of the value of money which is fostered by indulgent parents is both injurious and dangerous to the child and its future welfare. There may be few reasons that they should not have all that money can buy except the one of inbuing them with a principle or two which may be invaluable to them in later life. And this, by the way, is most important.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

Borrowing Taste

"He who knows not and knows not that he knows not is a fool, shun him; he who knows not and knows that he knows not is simple, teach him; he who knows and knows not that he knows is asleep, wake him; he who knows and knows that he knows is wise, follow him."

I have always liked that old Persian proverb, but just at the moment I feel inclined to quarrel with that second clause.

To know that one knows not is the foundation of all knowledge. Surely those who have reached that stage deserve a better adjective than "simple."

Yesterday, in company with a mutual friend, I called upon a neighbor. She has just had her living room done over. It is very attractive. We complimented her upon her taste in selecting the paper, which is a lovely soft shade, particularly well adapted to the room.

She Didn't Pick Out Her Own Wall Paper.

"Oh, I didn't pick that out!" she admitted promptly. "The one I liked was much brighter than that."

"Who did choose it?" asked the mutual friend.

"Mrs. R. I never pick out a paper or a piece of furniture without consulting her."

"And you didn't like this yourself? You don't mean to say that you take what she wants instead of what you want?"

"Sometimes."

"Why? You are going to live in the house, aren't you? I should think you'd know what you want yourself better than she does."

"Yes, I do know what I want at the moment," said our hostess slowly; "but I don't know so well as she does what I'm going to want to live with from day to day. Her judgment is better than my taste, so I get her to teach me how to choose."

The mutual friend, who, as you may see from the tenor of her conversation, is an intimate friend with the privileges thereof, gave our hostess a look of pity and condescension. It said very plainly that she knew what she wanted better than anyone else. But the hostess was not at all intimidated.

She Chooses Her Gowns the Same Way.

"I choose my gowns the same way," she said calmly.

"You mean that you let Mrs. R. choose them, too?"

"No, not Mrs. R.; I don't care so much for her taste in clothes; but Louise, you know, has the clothes sense to perfection, and I try never to buy or plan a gown without asking her advice."

"Don't you want to have any individuality?"

"I don't think that prevents. She doesn't select the thing. She merely guides my taste, just as Mrs. R. does."

The mutual friend looked even more horrified.

"I like individuality," she said stiffly. "No one helps me buy either my clothes or my furniture."

I thought of her clothes and her home, and I could well believe her.

She Has Learned to Supplement Her Own Judgment.

For myself, I admired my hostess more than I ever had before. And I could understand why her home and her clothes have become more attractive in the last few years. She has discovered the great secret that her own judgment isn't trustworthy in certain lines, and she is supplementing it with the best her friends can give her.

I thought of another friend whose musical records everyone admires and enjoys. They are an unusually good selection, though she is not at all musical. When people praise her choice she disclaims all credit. "I asked Wilhelmina, and she helped me to select most of them." "And do you like those she chose as well as those you selected yourself?" I once asked her. "Better!" she answered. "I tire of mine, and I like hers more every day."

Most of us have among our friends those who have better taste than we in one department or another. Why not use that taste? It will doubtless be at our service, for the average person is sufficiently pleased at having his good taste recognized to be willing to lend his services. And, our mutual friend to the contrary, it is not a question of submerging one's individuality, but of improving it.

LIMBS BECAME ONE SORE ERUPTION

Broke Out in Small Pimples. Itching So Severe Could Not Sleep. Burned Badly. In 10 Days

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had a sort of an itching on my limbs, and at first they broke out in small pimples. The skin was inflamed and sore, and also red, and towards the last the pimples became one sore eruption. The itching was so severe that I could not sleep and I could not scratch my limbs because they burned so badly. The trouble lasted six weeks and I could not do my work as it should have been done.

"I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and I sent for a free sample and applied it according to directions, and it gave me relief so I bought more, and in ten days I was healed." (Signed) Mike Gager, Westphalia, Kansas, July 7, 1915.

Style Week Will Begin Monday, April 3---Some Advance Hints

Style week will begin this year a week from next Monday, and Duluth merchants are preparing for a spring fashion show that will surpass anything of its kind yet seen in the Northwest. It is believed that the opening night will be productive of a turnout equal to that of the opening night a year ago, and which made the show then such a phenomenal success.

The following article on styles for the spring of 1916 is from one of the best known authorities in the United States, and is a resume of the reports made by their resident fashion expert in Paris:

"A brief summing up of the most important fashion features in the spring opening displays of such recognized authorities in fashion as Callot, Cheruit, Jenny, Beer, Premet, Drecoll, Agnes, Bulloz, Bernard, Lanvin and Lelong, shows that all of them lean toward great fullness in skirts, variously accomplished, and to simple bodices following the lines of the figure, close but not tight.

"Types in general are those of the periods of Louis XV and 1830, with various points taken from the styles of the Second Empire, and from the latter part of the period of Louis Philippe.

Skirts Very Full.

"One thing is most emphatic, skirts must be full, all around, bunched or massed on the hips, caught up in the back, held out at various points by reeds, draped in panierr or overskirt styles, or as in the silhouette, featured by Cheruit, flat front and back with pronounced hip fullness. Some of the couturiers are showing skirts slightly longer, in a few instances, nearly touching.

"Sleeves are in various lengths, chiefly long in practical and tailored garments; many belled at wrist. Collars in cape effects, or in the slightly high back styles, but held close to the neck; some are high all around, but set on a low-neck line. The decollete is invariably that of '1830.'

"Jackets to suits are in various lengths, from the bolero to the three-quarter length coat worn with dressy afternoon costumes. Many hip length and longer and very full on the hips; also a good showing of the loose 'sacque' effects.

Evening Gowns.

"Evening gowns chiefly of the filmy fabrics, tulles, laces, silver embroidered organdies, also fine taffetas and metal brocades; one introducing an independent train; another the balayeuse. Here and there a Spanish note, as in the case of Callot Soeurs' lace manteau thrown gracefuly over the head.

"Many one-piece dresses with jackets for morning and afternoon wear. Lingerie blouses shown with tailored suits in all of the leading houses.

"Neck ruches of crepe, tulle, ribbon, etc. Belts of various kinds, often of the fabric, buttoned at the side; many of old-fashioned grosgrain belting.

"Ribbon, flowers, hand embroidery, braiding, many folds, and ruchings of all kinds used in trimming.

"Taffetas of all kinds used extensively; much Tussah, mohair very strong; silk etamines, wool voiles, metal brocades, printed crepes, gros de Londres, foulards, surah and printed crepe Georgette are favored.

"Greens, blues, grays and various browns, beige, champignon and sand shades, much in evidence."

Seat Sale Brisk.

Seats for the New York Symphony orchestra concert are going rapidly and the assurance that everything is being done to add to the comfort of the patrons is making those who felt some timidity at venturing into a maelstrom such as was experienced at the McCormack concert, decide that the management has learned through experience and that the opportunity to hear this organization is not to be missed.

A range train is assured and a large contingent will come from the different range towns, while the car service which has been scheduled by the street railway company will assure Duluth and Superior patrons every convenience in transportation.

EXTRAVAGANZA WILL BE GIVEN IN APRIL

Best Cloquet Talent to Take Part in "Alice in Wonderland."

Cloquet, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the presentation of "Alice in Wonderland" by the Ladies of the Modern Maccabees, more than 150 people will take part at the Grand theater early in April.

The members of the ladies' committee of the Modern Maccabees are enthusiastic over the prospect of presenting Miss D. Hope Leonard's beautiful, spectacular operatic extravaganza.

To Require Large Cast.

In order to do justice to Miss Leonard's work, it will require about 150 of Cloquet's best talent, who will be assigned to the various speaking and singing parts by Miss Georgia, an instructor from New York. Preliminary training will begin soon, and in due time other instructors will arrive from New York to assist in rehearsals. The entire production is under the management of Col. John F. Bragg of New York. Over 300 gorgeous costumes are used, which are furnished by the management. The scenery, properties, electrical and calcium effects are beautiful. Some pretty little 10-year-old miss of this city will be selected by the lodge to act as "Alice," the little girl who wandered through the "wood-land."

NIGHT SCHOOL SUCCESS.

Many People Take Advantage of Cloquet Affair.

Cloquet, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The night school established here last fall has been a success in every way. The first night there were 120 in attendance and the attendance grew to 179, which number gradually decreased after the starting of the sawmills. Some men and women over 50 years of age were among the students. The principal aim of the students, apparently, was to fit themselves to become citizens of the United States, and the main study was elementary civics.

At times the students were escorted through the high school building and shown the different branches of the American school system, all of which was thoroughly explained, and many remarked, while passing through the manual training department, they had seen this work in the old country.

The predominating nationalities were Finnish and Scandinavian, but many other nationalities were represented. At one time refreshments were served, the men furnishing the coffee, cream and sugar, and the women the cake and sandwiches. Following are the teachers who taught the school: Mrs. Peter Olesen, Clara Plantz, Tella Johnson, May Haskell, Christine Johnson, Clara McKenzie and Alma Lindroth.

The season closes the last of this month, and in all probability will continue next winter.

CLOQUET LUTHER LEAGUES ENTERTAIN

Cloquet, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Luther Leagues union meeting held in the Swedish Lutheran church Sunday evening brought here one of the largest gatherings of out-of-town people ever held in the history of the church in this city, and was pronounced by the church officials a success. Over seventy young people from Mahtowa, Aitkinson and Carlton arrived early in the evening and were served with supper by the young people of the Cloquet church, after which Rev. F. Edward Olson, pastor of the church gave the address of welcome, which commenced the long and well arranged program consisting of twenty-four numbers. Especial attention was given to an oration, a great masterpiece, by Roy Raiter. The choirs of Carlton and Cloquet gave three numbers, numerous solos, piano duets, recitations, readings, etc., were ably given by members of the union.

Rev. E. J. Peterson of Carlton gave a brief and splendid talk on the subject, "New and Old Things." "We have many things of temporal value," he said, "but also many old things of everlasting value, we have God, His Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ; His word, the Holy Ghost, His church and the Holy sacraments that never will grow old." The program lasted over two hours. Over 300 people attended.

MOTHERS' CLUB PLANS CLOQUET STYLE SHOW

Cloquet, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Peter Olesen, who boosts for the mothers' clubs in this district, announces that the program committee of the Cloquet Mothers' club will put on a style show in the auditorium of the Lincoln high school, as one of the numbers of their April program, and have asked the merchants of the city to co-operate. Each merchant will participate. The girls of the domestic science department of the high school will demonstrate the setting of a perfect table. Misses Ruth Whitman and Beatrice Parks of this department made their own plans and served more than 200 guests at the last annual ball and banquet of the Masons on Feb. 22.

Theater Gossip.

An event of foremost importance next week in Duluth will be the appearance of David Warfield at the Lyceum theater for two nights commencing on Monday evening, in David Belasco's latest play, described as a legendary tale of the sea, and entitled "Van Der Decken." It is founded on the fable of the "Flying Dutchman," that somber figure which tradition says defied God and the elements while trying to double the Cape of Good Hope in a fearful storm, thus bringing upon himself the awful curse of the "Wandering Jew of the Ocean," who is forced to sail the seas forever.

WARFIELD IN UNIQUE ROLE AT LYCEUM.

The presentation of a new Belasco play is always an event of first importance in the season's theatricals. The appearance of David Warfield in Duluth never fails to arouse interest. In this instance, the combination of the two raises the event to a dignity which can scarcely be rivaled.

In "Van Der Decken," Mr. Belasco, from all accounts, has not only provided a play of great strength and touching symbolism, but his handling of the theme is said to be characterized by a majesty and grace that make it stand forth conspicuously as one of the most notable plays of years. In his version of the story, Mr. Belasco offers hope to the Dutchman under certain conditions. If these conditions are fulfilled the curse will be lifted from his ship, and he will be allowed the common fate and blessing of human kind—the touch of death—with the hope of reincarnation under happier conditions.

Mr. Warfield's various character portrayals throughout his interesting and successful career naturally lead local theatergoers to expect much of him in his latest role.

In Mr. Warfield's support are such notable names as Marie Bates, Jane Cooper, Ernest Stallard, Fritz Lieber, William Boag, Frederick Graham, Harold Russell, Horace Braham and others.

The prettiest of girls, the drollest of boys, the most agile of dancers and tinkliest of tunes are a combination that one expects to find in a musical entertainment sponsored by Gus Edwards. So it is with "School Days," which comes to the New Grand today for the week-end. This act is his original vaudeville production, and on its crest Edwards swept into popular favor. Nine clever youngsters, most of whom are pretty girls, disport themselves in song and dance and make plenty of fun in a good, wholesome way. The song numbers and dances are new and sprang from the fertile brain of Edwards himself, which is sufficient recommendation of their worth. Special scenic and electrical investiture sets the whole off in a charming picture.

"SCHOOL DAYS" HEADS NEW SHOW AT THE GRAND

Green and Parker, known in the vaudeville world as the "Blue Ribbon Pair," and late of the Weber & Fields all-star jubilee, offer a song and talkfest that is highly entertaining. Both are said to be clever entertainers, and their excellent vehicle gives them ample opportunity to display their talent.

Catchy melodies and dainty dances are featured by Gladys Correill. With a repertoire of classy songs, a pleasing personality and the ability to put them over the footlights, and these set off by a charming collection of gowns and millinery, Miss Correill is said to be a strong attraction.

The Box Car Duo, two singing hobos, with comic songs and parodies, fill fifteen minutes brimful of fun and frolic.

"The Mystery of the Empty Room," a story in two dramatic acts, toplines the photoplays. "Almost a King," a comedy; a cartoon comedy and the Selig-Tribune News make up the balance of a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment.

Probably few American girls of this generation have gained the reputation that has come to Miss Mae Murray, who will be seen tomorrow at the Lyric—since she made her debut on Broadway in a musical comedy chorus. There, she was attractive enough to attract the attention of Ziegfeld, in whose "Follies of 1915," she became a favorite. When the craze for dancing swept the country two years ago, Miss Murray rode into high favor because of her graces. She became so popular that a roof garden in the heart of New York was named for her. Last season she was one of the stars of the "Follies." She is small, a blonde and vivacious.

ZIEGFELD BEAUTY ON SCREEN AT THE LYRIC.

To many she is known as the original "Neil Brinkley Girl," and since she became famous she has been largely sought as a model for leading illustrators, and her success on the screen, which is just beginning, promises to be quite as prominent.

In Mary Johnston's famous novel, "To Have and to Hold," Miss Murray will give Duluth someting new.

The first Western plays that were put on the motion picture market, differ absolutely from Hell's Hinges," in which William S. Hart plays the leading part. First, it is a Triangle production; second, Hart is a talented actor, and his wonderful power in a drama like this is not based altogether upon the scenario or urged by a director—it is Hart, virile, red-blooded, who, as the hero of the new play to be seen today and until Sunday at the Rex, makes it a notable production.

HART AT REX IN WESTERN PLAY.

William S. Hart is not new to the public—his name alone is an assurance that the audience is to be thrilled and entertained. Not only is the picture of the West, Western, but the music for it, was written especially by a man who composes for the Ince studio pictures. The Rex orchestra and the $15,000 pipe organ will play this Western music to suit the play.

A Keystone comedy is to be seen at each performance.

"A Night Out," with May Robson, which is now playing at the Zelda theater, is declared one of the greatest farce comedy films ever produced.

MAY ROBSON'S COMEDY PLEASES ZELDA PATRONS.

"A Night Out" keeps the audience in a roar of laughter without the aid of horseplay or slapstick. Its five reels abound with good, clean humor of the kind that appeals to the intellect because of its consistency.

A capacity house last evening thoroughly enjoyed the picture, and many compliments were given to Mr. Abrahamson for securing such an excellent feature.

May Robson, besides having the leading part also wrote the play. In the part of "Granmum" she is very funny.

The story tells of how "Granmum," who has been held in restraint all her life, decides to escape the watchful eyes of her ultra-strict daughter and have one good time. She gets away all right and makes for the Three Lights cafe, where she meets her grandsons. An all-star cast supports the star, including Hughey Mack, Flora Finch, Kate Price and many other notables.

For three days, commencing Sunday, the Zelda will present the famous beauty, Mme. Petrova, in "The Soul Market," a feature photodrama in five parts. This play showed for more than three weeks in the Strand of New York.

BERNHARDT WILL BE SEEN IN PHOTOPLAY HERE

For the last time tonight Helen Ware will be seen at the Orpheum-Strand in "Secret Love" adapted from the famous story, "That Lass o' Lowrie's."

Commencing tomorrow afternoon and continuing for four days only the greatest picture feature that the Orpheum-Strand has ever offered will be shown in the appearance of "Divine Sarah" Bernhardt, in Tristan Bernard's powerful story "Jeanne Dore" a five-act tragedy filmed for the Bluebird photoplays. Inducing the world's greatest tragedienne to show her supreme art in a screen production, was a most costly effort. The opportunity of seeing the great French actress is to be more deeply appreciated owing to the fact that she will be seen no more on the stage, and the only opportunity of seeing the greatest actress of all-time upon the screen and in this one production.

In reviewing Mme. Sarah Bernhardt's screen performance of "Jeanne Dore," as a Bluebird photoplay, the New York Mail said: "It is fortunate for coming generations that these films will show them some of the art of the most wonderful woman of the century," and continued to record that they represent the last play in which Mme. Bernhardt acted previous to the surgical operation which well-nigh cost a life more valuable to art than that of any woman the stage has known in threescore years.

HEARING ON COAL RATES POSTPONED

Neither Side Prepared to Argue Before State Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the request of the railroads interested, the scheduled hearing on the petition of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and other roads before the state railway and warehouse commission for an increase in soft coal rates from the lakes to points in Southeastern Minnesota, was continued today to April 13.

The roads asked an increase of from $1.40 to $1.60 per ton on soft coal to points southeast of the Twin Cities. The object, they informed the commission, was to equalize rates and place them on a footing with those now charged Illinois coal concerns who serve the same territory.

When the hearing was called today a large number of coal dealers and shippers appeared. This opposition was evidently not anticipated and the roads announced that they were not prepared and suggested a delay. After a consultation with the shippers the commission granted a postponement.

Jamestown's Mayor Beaten.

Jamestown, N. D., March 23.—At Tuesday's city election H. C. Flint, a business man, was elected mayor over Mayor H. W. Kelley by a vote of 493 to 290. Flint carried every ward. He is a son of Jamestown's first mayor. Aldermen elected were: La Moure, First ward; Kneeland, Second; Noel, Third; Hilton, Fourth. On the Republican presidential ballot La Follette and his delegates and electors carried the city by a large majority.

Thief River U. C. T. Elects.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Thief River Falls chapter of the United Commercial Travelers elected officers as follows: John G. Weeks, senior councillor; K. O. Deck, junior councillor; O. G. Storhelm, conductor; Harry F. Miller, page; C. D. Gustafson, sentinel; T. B. Stauff (re-elected), secretary-treasurer. The executive committee consists of L. G. Larson and O. D. Ostby.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Schuyler Colfax born, 1823.

Born in New York, Colfax grew up in Indiana, where he studied law and ran a Whig newspaper which he made a powerful party organ. In congress, 1855-1869, and speaker 1863-1869. Vice president 1869-1873. Supported Fremont, 1856. Charges of corruption made against him during Credit Mobilier scandals were not proved. Died 1885.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—Short biography in National Cyclopedia of American Biography. Crawford's "Credit Mobilier of America" gives a fuller account of Colfax's connection with it.

BAD SYMPTOMS.

The report—unconfirmed at this writing, and not to be accepted as confirmed from the incendiary reports that steadily come from El Paso—that Luis Herrara, Carranza's military governor of Chihuahua, has revolted against his leader and set out with two thousand men to join and help Villa, is disturbing. In itself it means little, for the addition of two thousand to Villa's force would not make him formidable. But if it means that Carranza's forces are shaky, and that the example will spread, it may develop that the foolish Mexicans are preparing to force this nation into a task that it will undertake with the utmost reluctance—the forcible pacifying of the whole country.

Well, if the job becomes necessary, as the job of pursuing Villa became necessary, we shall undertake it with a will. It will be no small job. It will take all the men we can readily muster, so far-scattered are the Mexican forces and so readily does the country adapt itself to an evasive, baffling, guerilla warfare. It will take time and money and men, but it will be done. The pity of it is that judged by its present exhibitions, the whole Mexican race is not worth a single one of the precious American lives that will be wasted on the distasteful job.

TRYING TO MAKE UNCLE SAM A CROOK.

"If we do have to go into Mexico in earnest and clean it up, we should never come out again. We should take what we can use and keep it for our trouble."—Parlor statesman.

Poor Smith had an "accident" the other day. Falling among too genial a crowd of friends, he got drunk, and his friend Jones found him in an alley, dead to the world. Taking Smith's purse for safekeeping, he put him to bed in a hotel to sleep it off. Next day he returned the purse, much to Smith's relief.

"Foolish," says our parlor statesman. "He should have kept it for his trouble."

Opponents of the border censorship evidently forget that Villa has some ardent adherents this side of the border who would be quick to get to him any important facts that might become public.

AMENDMENT NO. 1.

State papers, especially those of Northern Minnesota, are talking about Amendment No. 1, which is to be voted on this November along with several other proposed amendments to the Constitution and a notable array of candidacies in nation, state and county.

They SHOULD talk of Amendment No. 1. MORE of them should.

This year the people of Minnesota will talk about and help elect a president, a United States senator, a governor and lieutenant-governor, ten congressmen, and miscellaneous state and local officers, including the "lower branch" of the state legislature. The danger is that these—or only a few of these—will absorb much if not all the interest. And in some important respects Amendment No. 1 is of more vital and lasting consequence to Minnesota than all of them put together.

Amendment No. 1 authorizes the legislature to set aside out of the state permanent funds a revolving fund of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to be invested in promoting and improving the state's land business. It is a certain investment. No loss is possible, and a huge profit is certain. The money will be spent in building roads and firebreaks and in clearing a part of each tract of state land so that settlers can make a living from the start. The cost will be charged against the land, and paid by those who buy it. Then it will be returned to the revolving fund, and when there is no longer use for the fund, the whole amount will be returned to the permanent fund from which it came.

This will make state land much easier to sell and settle. It will help get state land into the hands of actual settlers, who will live upon it and help develop the state. It will put this land on the tax lists so it will help pay state expenses and help develop and the building of roads and schools.

The permanent funds will profit because land improved out of this revolving fund will sell at higher prices than it can now.

The state will profit because it will make idle acres busy, and will make taxpaying acres whence now no taxes come.

The adoption of Amendment No. 1 will be an intelligent stroke of state business that will bring benefits widespread and incalculable.

Amendment No. 1 ought to have every vote in the state. It will have a vast majority of the votes if it is explained to the people so they will understand that it is simply good business for the state—for the whole state. The job of explaining it is up to the papers, and not only the papers of Northern Minnesota but those of Southern Minnesota as well.

Papers, north and south, have been agreeing with The Herald that there is too much talk about "Northern" and "Southern" Minnesota and not enough "just Minnesota." If the papers of the southern part of the state will get behind Amendment No. 1 and show a willingness to help for the greater glory of the whole state, that will be a long step toward the state unity and harmony that we need so much.

Now the same "patriots" who were raving a while ago because we hadn't sent an army into Mexico months back, are frothing at the mouth over the fact that we have a force there and in danger. Can you beat it?

COULD THE NATION ENDURE WITHOUT ROOSEVELT?

It is not always so easy as you might suppose to know what is in Theodore Roosevelt's mind, for all his pretense of speaking directly and clearly and vigorously.

But one thing that is in his mind seems as clear as anything could be, and that is that the country not only needs his services as president, but cannot do without them.

If it is true that Roosevelt is so indispensable to the Republic, what fearful mistakes he has made! What a mistake it was to turn the presidency over to Mr. Taft in 1908! What a greater mistake it was to split the Republican vote in 1912 and thus make possible Wilson's election! Roosevelt, having been made vice-president to get rid of him, having become president by the accident of a madman's bullet, should have remained president forever and ever.

If it is impossible to get along without Roosevelt as president, then of course he should be made president. And then, in order to insure us against the chance of losing him, his title should be made permanent. If necessary, it should be changed. The title "president" is a little informal for a fixture such as Roosevelt must be if the Republic is to live. Might it not be better to make it "czar" or "kaiser," adopt the convention that his title to rule America came by divine right, and dispense with the annoyance and confusion of elections?

Then the country would be safe. The peril which Roosevelt fears for it so greatly—that it might have to do without him as its ruler—would then disappear.

But Roosevelt is mortal, you say, and may some day die. That's nothing short of lese majesty. It is impossible that a possession so vital to the security of American institutions could be taken away by anything so common as death. Providence could not be so unkind.

"There's millions in it" for the man who can invent a practical egg spoon with a sponge attachment.

A FALSE REPORT.

We are enabled on the highest authority to denounce as incorrect the report from El Paso that Funston's greatest perplexity is to handle the eager and aggressive horde of jingoists who, having been demanding intervention in Mexico for three years, are now clamoring for a chance to enlist in the American expeditionary force for the fight against Villa.

But maybe the auto-truck is to take the place of the old style dark horse at the Chicago convention.

A DYSPEPTIC'S BEQUEST.

A dyspeptic who died recently left seven hundred thousand dollars to the University for Rochester to found a department of dietetics. A sufferer for many years from dyspepsia, he wished to do something to alleviate the pangs of this ailment—the mother of much disease and distress—and the intention does credit to him.

Diet is important—vastly more important than almost anybody but stockbreeders have realized—and its study is worth while.

The bequest, though, might have done at least as much good if it had been left to finance a propaganda to teach people these simple things:

To eat with restraint;

To live simply;

To find out what agrees and what disagrees and to shape the diet accordingly;

To chew one's food decently, and not act as though the stomach had teeth;

To balance the quantity of one's food with the amount of one's physical exertion; and

To cultivate fresh air and wholesome outdoor exercise.

Then there are those who would have us believe that Villa can easily adopt a diet of American eagle on toast.

Thief River Falls is discussing a change of name, but not even the most rabid partisans have suggested merely shortening it to "T. R. Falls."

Day by day the wonder grows that the hero of Kettle Hill in the Spanish war hasn't already gone and captured Villa singlehanded—or shot him in the back.

It might go far toward ending the war if Holland could induce all the heads of belligerent nations to meet there for a conference—and then suddenly open the dykes.

The Venom of Envy

By Sawyard.

Washington, March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Is faction to deliver another felon blow to the Democratic party such as it dealt twenty years ago? It was the Democratic party, not the Republican, that made William McKinley the successor of Grover Cleveland in the White House, and if a Republican, or a Bull Mooser, shall follow Woodrow Wilson in that great station the Democratic party will be to blame for it. If the party had loyally supported Cleveland during his entire second term there is nothing more certain than that a Democrat would have been elected president in 1896, and there would be little more doubt of the re-election of Wilson than there was of the re-election of James Monroe if his party were solidly behind him.

In Cleveland's case the revolt was open and notorious—proclaimed from the housetops. In Wilson's case it is clandestine, surreptitious. "Art in health, my brother?" It is a mystery that can be unfolded upon only one hypothesis—envy—good, old-fashioned, depraved, devilish envy. Wilson has been successful. It follows that he has been praised. Some folks can't stand that, and unfortunately some of 'em are in the two houses of congress and magnates of the Democratic party.

The first two years of the administration jealousy was squelched, but that only made it the more virulent when it gathered a little courage. What it would be if it had stored away enough resolution not to be afraid we can see by reverting to the assaults on Grover Cleveland twenty years ago. Lying is the favorite weapon of this secret opposition to Wilson in the Democratic party. It is whispered that he will decline to be a candidate for re-election, that he contemplates resigning, that he intends to provoke a war with Germany, that formidable forces are at work to beat him in the convention, that if nomiuated his chances of election will be hopeless, that congress is bitterly hostile to him and intent on defeating all his plans.

But when you run down the reports and trace them to their sources every one is shown to be a lie founded on envy, and hatred. Wilson does not intend to resign. He is a candidate for re-election. There is nothing more certain than that he will be renominated by acclaim on the first and only ballot. That he will be re-elected some very shrewd observers confidently expect. As for the lie about his intention to have a war with Germany, that is disproved by the fact that we are not at war with Germany, something the president could have made inevitable any day the last ten months. No doubt there are members of the Democratic party who would gladly see him beaten for renomination; but they are not formidable in numbers, or in character, or in talents.

It was inevitable that faction should play a part on the Democratic side of congress. When Wilson extorted from them a rather decent tariff they were on their heads to adjourn and go home. Wilson would not have it. He wrested from them a sound banking system, something the country had never had. Then they wanted to quit; but as the leader of the party the president would not hear of it, but insisted on the Clayton bill amendatory of the anti-trust, and he got that. Finally they did successfully revolt on the shipping bill, which, had it been enacted, would have saved to American citizens millions and millions in the way of ocean freights.

That is what is the matter with these chaps—"cloakroom statesmen," Carter Glass appropriately calls them. Wilson with public opinion behind him forced them to do their duty and events have vindicated him. Business, all sorts of business, agriculture, manufacture, mining, commerce, transportation—all legitimate industry—was never so prosperous as now. The loans of the national banks alone were over a billion more the first of March this year than they were the first of March, 1915. Our exports the past twelve months exceed the exports of any other year by greatly over a billion. If the Republicans had such a president his re-election by a triumphant majority would be an absolute certainty.

Now, Wilson is certain of renomination on a platform indorsing him from A to izzard. Then what is to become of those senators and members who oppose him, and hamper him, and nag him, and are candidates for re-election. Are they low-flung enough to stand for re-election on a platform that condemns their official conduct? And if so, are they shameless enough to expect the popularity of the president to "pull them through?" What sort of representatives would such a man be? Where is the constituency that would take pride in such a representative? Where is the constituency that would tolerate such a representative?

Woodrow Wilson is one of the few of our citizens fit for the office of president, the biggest political job in the world. The fact is that our country is getting too big for our system. The time is not distant when we will have to change our methods. I would elect some man like Chester A. Arthur president for life and divest him of every shred of political power. Then I would lodge all Federal political power in the hands of a ministry responsible to congress and I would make congress responsible to the people, something like the English system.

We will have to do that, or something like that, for the job of president is getting to be so big that some day a smash will come if a pigheaded fool should get to be president, as is liable to happen most any time. The tribe of Woodrow Wilsons or Grover Clevelands is not numerous.

Just now it behooves the Democratic party to overhaul the congressional district primaries and weed out some dead timber.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Spring Song.

Every sage this scheme indorses: Make your premises look neat; cast away the old dead horses, burn the rubbish and repeat. For the spring should find our city rid of every ugly thing; it will be a beastly pity, if we disappoint the spring. In the spring the world is laundered by the soft, refreshing showers, and the cleansing winds are squandered by Dame Nature at all hours; but the rainfall and the breezes can't remove the trash, and junk, which, like decomposing cheeses, fill the air with perfume punk. Let us hustle, and abolish everything that draws the flies; let us clean and paint and polish till our town delights the eyes. Oh, I ought to sing the lily, when old winter ups and goes, and I ought to write some silly balderdash about the rose, but I make my harpstrings rattle, urging folks to clean their lawns; cart away dead cats and cattle, old tin cans and demijohns.

Lincoln's Mexican Policy

Editorial in the New York World.

"For a few years past the condition of Mexico has been so unsettled as to raise the question on both sides of the Atlantic whether the time has not come when some foreign power ought, in the general interest of society, to intervene, to establish a protectorate or some other form of government in that country and guarantee its continuance there.

"You will not fail to assure the government of Mexico that the president neither has, nor can ever have, any sympathy with such designs, in whatever quarter they may arise or whatever character they may take on. * * *

"The president never for a moment doubts that the republican system is to pass safely through all ordeals and prove a permanent success in our own country, and so to be recommended to adoption by all other nations.

"But he thinks also that the system everywhere has to make its way painfully through difficulties and embarrassments which result from the action of antagonistical elements which are a legacy of former times and very different institutions.

"The president is hopeful of the ultimate triumph of this system over all obstacles, as well in regard to Mexico as in regard to every other American state; but he feels that those states are nevertheless justly entitled to a greater forbearance and more generous sympathies from the government and people of the United States than they are likely to receive in any other quarter. * * *

"The president trusts that your mission, manifesting these sentiments, will reassure the government of Mexico of his best disposition to favor their commerce and their internal improvements.

"I find the archives here full of complaints against the Mexican government for violation of contracts and spoliation and cruelties practiced against American citizens. It is not the president's intention to send forward such claims at the present moment. He willingly defers the performance of a duty, which at any time would seem ungracious, until the incoming administration in Mexico shall have had time, if possible, to cement its authority."

These are not the words of Woodrow Wilson defining the attitude of the United States toward the Carranza government in Mexico. They are the words of Abraham Lincoln defining the attitude of the United States toward the Juarez government.

When the Lincoln administration came into power, Mexico had been in a turmoil for years. The Juarez government had come into power but was unable to enforce order over the country. Not only had American property been destroyed, but American lives had been lost and a member of the American legation had been murdered.

The memorandum printed above was part of President Lincoln's instructions to the American minister to Mexico, and it defined the principle that President Wilson has followed in dealing with our unfortunate neighbor to the south.

Mexico is still making its way "painfully through difficulties and embarrassments;" but the administration at Washington today is still guided by the principles laid down by the Lincoln administration fifty-five years ago, and no government at Washington has a moral or a political right to be guided by any other principles.

Like Falling Off a Log

New York Evening Post: "It was reported yesterday that these three ships, carrying 2,500 Canadians apiece, would start from Halifax together."

The three ships referred to are the Adriatic, the Baltic, and the Cedric, ranging from 13,000 to 16,000 tons, approximately. These figures remove all skepticism we have hitherto expressed regarding the ability of the kaiser to land 387,000 men on our coasts in eleven days, as the American Defense society has repeatedly affirmed. For it is plain that if it takes a 13,000-ton ship to ferry 2,500 men across the Atlantic, all the kaiser needs to effect the trip is 50 Adriatics, 50 Cedrics, and 50 Baltics. Of course, there is no need of big ships. A larger number of small ships will do. On an average of 5½ tons per man, all the kaiser needs for his army of 387,000 men would be about 2,200,000 tons of shipping. Now, Germany's mercantile fleet before the war was more than 3,000,000 tons, and this excludes all vessels of less than eighteen tons. So that all that would be necessary would be for two-thirds of the German mercantile fleet to sail from Hamburg and Bremen on the same day, and the trick would be turned.

In the "Good Old Times!"

Surgeon-General Rupert Blue in the Youth's Companion: How hard it is to realize that not much more than half a century ago many a city community relied largely upon pigs to dispose of their garbage! Our sewer systems are of prime importance in preserving the health of urban populations. In the time of Henry VIII there was not a sewer in all England!

We are well clad and well shod, and are therefore protected against the asperities of climate. That is extremely important to our well-being, for man is by origin a tropical animal. Moreover, we have learned how to preserve food supplies, so that nowadays very few people starve to death, whereas death by starvation was formerly common.

Under what insanitary conditions people lived only a very few centuries ago! In towns, all the waste of each household was customarily thrown out of the front windows into the gutter, or "kennel." Even in the castles of the nobility there was of course no plumbing, and the small windows afforded a wholly insufficient ventilation. The floor of the dining hall was strewn with rushes, beneath which bits of refuse food accumulated. As a result rats swarmed everywhere and household vermin of all kinds were innumerable. There were no intelligent precautions taken against the infections of epidemic diseases. Under such conditions only those who had exceptionally strong constitutions could expect to survive.

To find the most striking illustration of the comparative longevity of today, we must go back some hundreds of thousands of years to the Paleolithic epoch. The skeletons of that epoch, which are found to this day in the caves of Southern Europe, are never of persons more than 40 years old. The conditions under which human beings lived in those times were presumably such that only the young and strong could long survive.

The Modern Will.

Fargo Forum: It is not very much to the credit of American society that it must be forced into putting its money into useful things instead of frittering it away. But this is very nearly the truth of the matter.

There is a sermon as well as a joke in the following, headed "The Modern Will," clipped from a column devoted to fun in the Brooklyn Times:

To my beloved ——— I leave my house with its first and second mortgages.

To my beloved ——— I leave my automobile and the privilege of making the rest of the "easy payments."

To my dear ——— I give and bequeath my player-piano, on which there is only a matter of $220 more to pay.

To my old friend ——— I leave my phonograph and cabinet, in which I have $10 equity, he to assume the contract.

To my friend ——— I leave my sets of Dickens, Balzac and the Buglover's Nature library, amounting all in all to a trifling, on his part, expense of $6 a month until paid.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments By and About Newspapers In the Gopher State.

There's Always a Solution.

There's always a solution of a problem if you just go at it in the right way. For instance, the Winona Independent offers this: "A cheap and very desirable way to increase our naval strength will be for the German fleet to come out of Kiel canal and fight the English."

Here's a Pragmatist.

Popularity of an individual sometimes rests on personality, but quite as often it comes from the application of a little practical sense to the object to be attained. The Baudette Region gives an example in the following: "Every boy student in the American schools would be a close student in arithmetic and geography if the teachers would all follow the example set by Mrs. Virginia D. Greene, a member of the school board in Cleveland, Ohio. She believes that it is all right to teach arithmetic in the grade schools by studying baseball percentages, and geography by following the big leaguers on their meanderings about the country."

Speaking of Instruction——.

Speaking of instruction and pleasure in combination, Farley Dare in the Walker Pilot gies us this sample:

"The best thing we know of to make a hen lay
Is plenty of room for a little fowl play."

Do It Now.

The Mahnomen Pioneer is entitled to unanimous applause for this sentiment: "It is none too early to commence talking constitutional convention. If there is one thing that the State of Minnesota needs it is a new Constitution."

It Did.

Somebody has already suggested that a lot of people vote who never say much. But it's interesting to note how many are saying something right along the line of this from the Ironton News: "Four candidates for the Republican nomination for the presidency voted for the Gore resolution to refuse passports to persons wanting to travel on such ships. That vote ought to eliminate them from the presidential race. The four were: Borah, Cummins, La Follette and Works."

It Is Advertised By Its Foolish Enemies.

What is really happening in the primary law idea in Minnesota is easily to be seen from the following remarks of the Elbow Lake Herald: "The efforts of the Twin City dailies to read into a resolution passed by the Minnesota Editorial association a condemnation of the primary law, and their evident unfairness in refusing a retraction of their statements even after the matter has been given wide publicity through the columns of the country press, is producing but one result, a firmer belief that the primary election law is the people's protection against organized politics such as most of the large daily papers represent. If it is their purpose to kill the primary law, we believe they are doomed to disappointment. There has never been a good reason advanced against the law, and we now have a very good one for retaining it."

Just a "Tinge."

Hearty indorsement is hereby given to this from the Mankato Free Press: "There is a tinge of sarcasm in this paragraph from the Waterville Sentinel: 'The American move to invade Mexico and capture the Villa bandits meets with universal approval even from our congressmen. And yet if there were a large Mexican vote in their districts many of these cowardly officials would be afraid to approve the move to defend the national honor and lives of our citizens.'"

Let There Be Opinions.

Without wishing anybody any bad luck, it's impossible to avoid hoping that the Tower News will never again have to give up to mere advertisements the space generally devoted to live editorial matter.

A Disappointing Congress

New York World: Several reasons may be given for the failure of congress to go about its business. There is lack of leadership, especially in the house. There has been a mischievous tendency to interfere with matters properly in the keeping of the executive. There has been a good deal of cheap and fussy personal politics. But more distracting than all else have been the time-killing, desultory discussions that began nowhere and ended nowhere.

Such dialogues as that in the senate on Monday cannot be regarded seriously by anybody. With nothing in particular under consideration, a day was wasted in idle chatter. A sewing circle made up of village gossips would not have addressed itself with more flippancy to any question than was shown by these representatives of sovereign states in their giddy heart-to-heart talks on preparedness and the situation in Mexico.

While issues of the gravest character are demanding sober attention, both branches of congress are dawdling away the days. What we hear is mostly the tattlings of the shallows. If there are any deeps, they are dumb.

A Man's A Man for A' That.

Is there for honest poverty
Wha hangs his head, and a' that?
The coward slave, we pass him by;
We dare be poor for a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
Our toils obscure, and a' that;
The rank is but the guinea's stamp,—
The man's the gowd for a' that.

What though on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hodden gray, and a' that?
Gie fools their silks, and knaves their wine—
A man's a man for a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsel show, and a' that;
The honest man, though e'er sae poor,
Is king o' men for a' that.

You see yon birkie ca'd a lord,
Wha struts, and stares, and a' that,—
Though hundreds worship at his word,
He's but a coof for a' that;
For a' that, and a' that,
His riband, star, and a' that;
The man of independent mind.
He looks and laughs at a' that.

A prince can mak a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, and a' that;
But an honest man's aboon his might,—
Guid faith, he maunna fa' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that;
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher ranks than a' that.

Then let us pray that come it may,—
As come it will for a' that,—
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
May bear the gree, and a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
It's coming yet, for a' that,—
When man to man, the warld o'er,
Shall brothers be for a' that!

New York Drunk With Money

Sydney Brooks in the North American Review.

New York, always a feverish and pleasure-loving city, is today simply drunk with money. Even during the height of the steel boom of twelve or thirteen years ago when every train from the West seemed to bring fresh carloads of brand new millionaires, the metropolis was not so openly reeling with dollars as it is at this moment, when the gayest "season" of its history is drawing to a close. It almost appalls an Englishman to find there in full swing the old rotten life that we in England have put completely behind us. And it appalls him still more to reflect that a bare two years ago he was leading, if one allows for the extra intensity that New York throws into all its activities, very much the same life himself.

One despairs of ever being able to convey to one's American friends how completely the war and its conditions and consequences have become not merely a part of, or a side-issue to, but literally the whole British existence. They are so dominant, have so utterly swallowed up everything else that no other form of life, least of all the trivial carelessness of peace, seems normal or even credible. I catch myself in New York, if I enter a lighted room, instinctively reaching out to draw down the blinds lest a Zeppelin raider should note the glare; and of all the sights that crowd in upon me that of multitudes of young men who are not in khaki strikes me as the strangest and the most repellent. It may be one more proof of our demented state, but it is the bare fact that not for anything would we in England change places with you in America or part with the waste and misery of the war to receive in return the "blessings" of such a peace as yours. Stay-at-home Americans simply cannot enter into or even conceive the atmosphere of the belligerent nations in this struggle and conversely, so long as it lasts, a visitor from any one of the countries at war will continue to be shocked by the atmosphere of America as something unnatural to the point of being grotesque.

In New York the fact and the vastness of this chasm of sentiment assail the visitor with the sharp finality of a bayonet thrust. Louvain and Reims are among the stricken victims of the war, but New York is its supreme and gilded tragedy, and has, I fear, neither the sense nor the soul to know it. Americans must by now have heard of the English charwoman whose husband was at the front and who was drawing her weekly separation allowance. She was asked what she thought of the war.

"What!" she replied. "A pound a week and no 'usband! Why it's 'eaven! It's too good to last!" There is something in New York's attitude toward the war which reminds one of this simple soul.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

And Enoch walked with God; and he was not; for God took him.—Gen. iv, 24.

Oh for a closer walk with God,
A calm and heavenly frame;
A light to shine upon the road
That leads me to the Lamb!

—W. Cowper.

Is it possible for any of us in these modern days to so live that we may walk with God? Can we walk with God in the shop, in the office, in the household, and on the street? When men exasperate us, and work wearies us, and the children fret, and the servants annoy, and our best-laid plans fall to pieces, and our castles in the air are dissipated like bubbles that break at a breath, then can we walk with God? That religion which fails us in the every-day trials and experiences of life has somewhere in it a flaw. It should be more than a plank to sustain us in the rushing side, and land us exhausted and dripping on the other side. It ought, if it come from above, to be always, day by day, to our souls as the wings of a bird, bearing us away from and beyond the impediments which seek to hold us down. If the Divine Love be a conscious presence, an indwelling force with us, it will do this.—Christian Union.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

THE CITY'S EXPENSES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The chart furnished the readers of The Herald in Saturday's issue was a very interesting one, though it was not very clear in its statements of the money paid out by the city, and the purposes for which it was paid. The grouping together of sums, and charged under one head as so and so, conveys no information to the persons who are unacquainted with the mysteries of scientific bookkeeping, and leads people to ask questions.

The mayor's salary is $4,000 per year, and yet he is charged with the sum of $5,318.64. Here is a charge of $1,318.64 which it does not appear should be charged in such a way, as it may mean anything or it may not; it may be charged for automobile hire, personal expense, railroad fare, or entertainments.

Then we have the item of $16,068.44. It would appear that the four commissioners' salaries would be the even $16,000, and there is no provision in the charter for more. What then could that charge of $68.44 stand for?

We find $23.25 charged to "purchasing agent expense." This will be news to many, to know that the city has such an agent.

Another peculiar feature of the report is the fact that it shows that the expense of the general government is one-third more than the cost of the police force, and two-thirds as much as the cost of the fire department.

The department of health and sanitation is costing a large sum, it being $51,714.59. One may ask, "Is there any easy money in this department?" as the noise it makes does not seem to be loud. There is such a thing as sanitation, more sanitation and then some sanitation. Why should $8,171.72 for sewers and drains be charged to health and sanitation? P. G. PHILLIPS.

HOLDS 2,000,000 SOLDIERS ARE NOT ENOUGH FOR U. S.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Clarence Miller holds that 140,000 men is not enough. He is right. Belgium had more than that.

He argues that we ought to have 220,000 men. That is not enough either. Serbia had more than that. France had 3,000,000. Germany had 8,000,000. Yet neither France nor Germany had enough men to make them safe.

If we must maintain our place by arms and hold Japan under intimidation, as Mr. Miller has advised us we should, neither 200,000 nor 2,000,000 men will suffice. None of these things is adequate preparedness.

Adequate preparedness is attainable, but not by ships and guns alone.

When we have so devised that any nation which wishes to attack us must first declare itself an outlaw, an alien among the family of nations, defying the public opinion of mankind, then, with the auxiliary defense of what ships and guns we find necessary, we may call ourselves adequately prepared.

When we have so devised, we not only strengthen our own cause by the moral support of all the civilized world, but we compel the offending nation to subdue its own doubts and misgivings.

Don't you see, raising our army from 100,000 men to 140,000 or from 140,000 to 200,000 is a little matter? It is the difference between being inadequately unprepared and not being adequately prepared. But organizing the public opinion of mankind is a great matter. That makes the difference between our present unpreparedness and a security as robust as that we enjoy in our city, in our state and in our nation.

FRIEND OF THE FIREMEN URGES THEIR CAUSE

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in your paper of March 20, under the caption "Must Change the Charter," Commissioner Voss states that Minneapolis and St. Paul firemen do not have a double-platoon system, while they answer six to ten times as many alarms every day. It seems to me that it is not a question of how many alarms are turned in, but it is a question belonging to the part of civilization to give the firemen an equal chance with the rest of the city employes.

How would Mr. Voss or any other city employe like to stay in their office twenty-four hours a day? I am sure they would rebel and change the city charter for their betterment. But the fireman should be satisfied with whatever they hand him, and dare not say a word.

If you want to inform yourself about the welfare of the firemen and their lives, go to the firehall often, alone, not with the chiefs, and the public may also go, see what's going on; it's a public place, and we are paying for it.

I don't think it a good policy to refer to Minneapolis or St. Paul as having this or that. We want our city to rank first in line, so let's boost it—don't go knocking.

The Duluth firemen are progressive and want to improve their condition and be on a par with other city employes, and not be deprived of the comforts of life—which is only right and just and according to church and educational teaching.

We have as good a bunch of firemen as can be had anywhere in the United States. We should feel proud of them and do all we can for them; and I hope that your honorable body of commissioners grant them their request. I'll remain a friend of the firemen.

Thanking you for this space in your paper,

J. V. KREISEL.

CITY WATER, NOT PAVING, FOR FIFTY-NINTH AVENUE

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to explain to the readers of this paper the conditions of the Fifty-ninth avenue paving. The article that appeared in the Sunday paper had only one side written up. Now I am a Fifty-ninth avenue property owner, and there are lots more who, like me, would like to see the city put in water and gas, as a majority have none, and have to carry their water two blocks or more or use the dirty water that runs down the gutters from the cemetery and other unhealthy sources.

We have a good street from Elinor up to Highland, and at a very small expense it could be put in first class condition.

Now the paving is only a useless burden, which only a few would care to assume; yet the water is a necessity. Here we find some complaining of the impurities in milk. Let's have a little more pure city water and then I think we won't have to make so much fuss about the small dairies, as we can drink water instead of milk. Now some feel much safer drinking milk, and I don't believe there is half the danger, either.

There is a petition against paving from Elinor street up to Highland, and I understand that all, or nearly all, signed it, but the paper does not mention that. Instead of asking for it, we are fighting it.

ASSAILS "FOR WILSON."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly print in your Open Court these few words I have to say in regard to a communication by "For Wilson" in your paper of March 20.

We have heard enough of neutrality, morality and Mr. Wilson's policy, and I will concede the right to "For Wilson" to interpret international law to his heart's desire, although eminent judges of this law disagree.

Mr. "For Wilson" does not want an embargo on war equipment because he may not "get a raise in wages" or "would be on the tramp, looking for something to eat."

I feel sorry that we have in our midst such a depraved mind, seeing nothing else in this bloody struggle but the money there is in it for him, and state so openly.

Thanking you for the space allowed me, I remain, respectfully yours,

E. M.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

"A Reader," Duluth: (1) Can a person cross the straits of Mackinaw in an auto, or does the auto have to be shipped across in a car? (2) What is the capacity of the ferry that takes the South Shore cars across? (3) How many tracks are there on the ferry?

Ans.: (1) It would be necessary to make some arrangement with the Mackinaw Transportation company, which operates the ferry, but it would not be necessary to crate the car as for railroad shipment. (2) Fourteen standard sized passenger coaches. (3) Three.

"Minnesota School Ma'am," Cook, Minn.: Can you give me any information concerning the identity or occupation of the following: (1) David Belasco; (2) Sir Arthur Pinero; (3) Frank Fitz; (4) Eugene Walter; (5) George M. Cohan?

Ans.: (1) Playwright and producer of plays; his best known original play probably is "The Girl of the Golden West." (2) English playwright; best known plays probably "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and "His House in Order." (3) Not located. (4) Playwright and newspaper writer; his best known plays, "Paid in Full" and "The Easiest Way." (5) Playwright, composer, dancer and producer; among his best known plays are "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," "Little Johnny Jones," "The Man Who Owns Broadway," and "The Talk of New York."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

When Is a Woman Old?

WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A good many letters reach us from women, describing all sorts of symptoms which might suggest cancer, tuberculosis, auto-intoxication, nephritis, locomotor ataxia, constipation, too close confinement indoors, lack of exercise, over-eating, or drug habits (liver pills and the like). And, as seems to be the general rule, the writer either assumes or asks if we do not think that her trouble is caused by "the change," the menopause. That is, if she happens to be over 35 and under fifty years of age.

In the dark old days of pure guesswork and empiricism in medicine, even the doctors, such as they were, gravely agreed with the "old women" that most anything might be expected to develop from "the change." And so it is that this vicious and absurdly erratic notion prevails widely among the women of our time—though it prevails inversely as the square of the community's educational standard.

The change of life is a normal, physiological epoch. It produces no illness whatever. But there are a great many diseases which may befall either a man or a woman at or near middle age, such as cancer, Bright's disease, locomotor ataxia, arterio-sclerosis, heart disease, apoplexy, diabetes, and many others. The earlier stages of these diseases are too frequently misinterpreted as "the change," in women.

And naturally enough, women who have passed the "dangerous age" will insist vehemently that they had the very same trouble during the menopause—though they recovered, and in this case the cancer, let us say, must destroy life unless recognized at the very inception.

There is but one wise thing a woman can do when her health in any way suffers at or near the time of the expected menopause: Go to her family doctor. If she listens to the unprofessional advice nothing but disappointment will be her lot. She has no more right to fail in health at 40 or 45 than has her husband — who probably wouldn't listen long to the old cronies of his own sex, if his health were at stake.

Occasionally, influenced by nasty nostrum literature distributed by manufacturers of "female complaint" remedies, or by the unclean innuendos of prurient women, a sufferer postpones the visit to her doctor because of a dread of examination. That is a terrible, and often fatal mistake. The truly modest woman never allows such ideas to bar her from seeking sane medical advice. It is the prude who makes the episode embarrassing for all concerned.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Leucoplakia of Tongue.

What is leucoplakia of the tongue? Is it curable?

Answer—Whitish, glistening, smooth patches upon the mucous membrane of the tongue (or lips or cheeks). Caused by smoking, psoriasis, diabetes, etc., or in some cases from no apparent cause. They are hard to cure, and sometimes degenerate into cancer. X-ray is one good remedy. Treatment must depend upon individual circumstances.

Geographical Tongue.

Our baby, 5 months, has a peculiar ringworm-like marking of the tongue. It begins as a small red spot at the side of the tongue, which enlarges till the whole tongue is covered. As soon as one ring goes another begins in about the same place. Her tongue looks like a map. She is breast-fed and well, but this worries us.

Answer — It needn't. Geographical tongue signifies nothing but an irregular sort of desquamation instead of a regular desquamation of mucous membrane which occurs continuously in children.

VENTILATION FOR CITY HALL

New System in Basement Proposed; Offices May Not Be Changed.

Installation of a ventilating system in the basement of the city hall instead of changing the offices of City Assessor Scott with the council chamber has been decided upon by members of the city commission.

Recently Assessor Scott complained of the conditions in his offices. The suggestion was made that the assessor move into the council chamber, where a vault could be built, and that the commission hold its meetings in the assessor's offices. John de Waard, local architect, was instructed to obtain figures on making the change, but he reported yesterday to Mayor prince and Commissioner Voss that the cost would be too high.

As a result, Mr. de Waard has prepared figures on the cost of installing a ventilating system in the basement to supply fresh air for the assessor's office and the health department. The cost is estimated at $495.

Mayor Prince announced yesterday that a resolution will be introduced Monday authorizing him to advertise for bids on installing a ventilating system in the city hall basement.

WINONA'S "HAY KING," CHARACTER, IS DEAD

Winona, Minn., March 23.—C. E. Beebe, who for more than twenty-five years had only a carpe-tcovered piano stool as his office fixture, while seated on a downtown business corner where he came in contact with his real estate patrons, died Monday in a Winona hospital. He was 60 years old, and was considered wealthy.

Mr. Beebe's eccentricities made him widely known. He carried the sobriquet of "Curb Stone Broker" for many years. He was also known by many as the "Hay King" because of extensive operations in the early days in hay.

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every Duluth Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptics. Now-a-days the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Duluth reader.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 26.

Review of the Quarter.

FOREWORD.

In these three months we have hurried through about ten years of the most important history since Christ ascended. We have seen the infant church grow from an unorganized body of about 500, though only 120 are mentioned, to many thousands, consisting of Jews of all callings, including priests and plain people, won to Christ by the devoted and intelligent disciples. We have seen it develop in Jerusalem until both the Jews and Romans arise against Christians and drive them out to prove a blessing to the whole world, though we have seen them only start on their circuit of the earth with the gospel. We will take the lessons up for some of the important events.

THE LESSONS.

1. The Ascending Lord. Acts i, 1-14.

When they saw Him go they lost their old idea of a great world kingdom, and their peculiar joy in seeing Him go was that they now felt their spiritual and eternal relation to Him by ties that neither distance nor death could dissolve; felt their new relation to each other; saw that they had a glorious career and mission, and were keyed up with expectation of the coming of the One who had promised to take His place. It gave them a new hope, led to new prayer, and made them patient to abide God's time, knowing that Jesus had a plan of campaign for them that made life both a warfare and a victory.

Question: Why can Jesus do His work from heaven better than by staying on earth?

2. The Coming of the Spirit. Acts ii, 1-13.

They are further reinforced for their work by the Spirit in person. Read the promises of Jesus as to what the Spirit would do for them. John xiv-xvi. Now they are not disappointed. The Spirit has been with them for salvation, and now He is with them for power. His position was within them. The external signs of His coming are the fire, symbol of purification and of life, symbol of the power of speech which would win the world to Christ, and the wind, always a sign of mystery and more than human might. The internal effects were joy and strength. The result of all was courage and effective work that aroused conviction of sin and conversion and baptism. In Peter's speech we see that Jesus fulfilled His promise that the Spirit would guide them into all truth. He spoke with marvelous power.

Question: How much of these effects of the Spirit's presence may we expect today?

3. How Peter Preached. Acts ii, 14-47.

It was a great sermon in two respects, that it addressed itself to the exact condition and needs of his audience and that it illustrated the way the Spirit was to help them, refreshing their minds as to facts, giving them insight into the truths that lie back of the facts, inspiring them with a new human sympathy and imparting a new element of strength in speaking the truth. They could all point to that sermon and say "that is a fulfillment of the promise." Through all time the Spirit and the bride, or church, are to testify together. Here it is. Forgiveness is one fact over which we like to linger. Eager and obedient converts were all brought together by one fraternal impulse. Christ had arranged a rite, or ordinance, through which they confessed Him.

Question: Why ought every convert to line up with the other disciples?

4. About the Holy Spirit as the Spirit of Life. Romans viii, 12-30.

While we are on the subject of the Spirit we are given a lesson taken from a letter written by Paul some years later and written to the church of mixed Christians at Rome, telling of one aspect of the Spirit's office. Here are some things that are fundamental—we have life from the Spirit and leadership and the consciousness of being children of God. We have help from Him in our infirmities, as to our praying especially. He helps every form of infirmity. We also have definite promise of being justified and kept and protected by the Spirit. As a result of that fact and the experience of it we are to have trust and obedience and hope and courage and all the other virtues that are vital in a Christian life.

Question: How may we cultivate a constant consciousness of the Spirit's indwelling?

5. The Lame Man Leaping. Acts iii, 1-26.

This shows another kind of power that the Spirit exerts. Christ was still the healer by the power of the Spirit and through the disciples. This was the first case since the ascension. Peter and John emphasize the facts that health is better than wealth and that spiritual health is better still. This "sign," as a miracle was often called, did "signify" to the officers that they had killed their Messiah and that He had risen and was at work. It infuriated them but gave Peter a chance to preach a great sermon with astonishing courage.

Question: Does Christ continue His healing and how?

6. The Boldness of Peter and John, iv, 1-31.

Their boldness was very extraordinary in the face of the deadly anger of the official class—the priests who were losing all the influence they ever had with the people; the temple police who had not been able to control the crowd when the man who was healed began to express himself, and the Sadducees who were maddened by their loss of followers. They had arrested the apostles and kept them in prison for a night, but that night in prison was worth much to them in the way of power in preaching and in its appeal to us now. It was worth enough to compensate many times for the pain and the shame of it.

7. Christ Humbled and Exalted. Phil. ii, 1-11.

It is a good lesson right here when we see the apostles having the same experience. More than twenty years after these events Paul writes from a Roman prison to the Christians at Philippi that they must have the mind that was in Christ, who, while the equal of God, was willing to let go of that equality and take a place of subordination to Him and become God's servant; that God sent Him out to serve in the field of human life and that, in order to render that service, He took on Him that human nature which He was to save and purify and He carried that principle of obedience to its limit, even death, and the worst form of death at that. The result of it was a corresponding exaltation which is bringing to Him all kinds of homage. The disciple is not above his Lord and he finds glory in following that Lord.

Question: How far are you willing to be humbled in doing Christ's work?

8. The Christian Brotherhood in Jerusalem. Acts iv, 32—v, 16.

They had entered into a new brotherhood through the life of Christ which they had received and which held them together. That was unity. It exists today between all Christians simply because they are Christians. Then there was union, which is an outward thing. Some union is required and comes naturally. They have the "get-together" spirit and as a result they actually do get together, in church and activity. They carried it further than was essentially required and had all things in common and lived from a common purse. They didn't have to do it, as Peter said, and they did this nowhere else that we know of. It was an extreme effect of the unity that we all feel and enjoy today.

Question: Are there new ways in which we could show our unity today?

9. The Seven Helpers. Acts vi, 1-7.

The organization which we call the church grew, but it grew according to its own inner spirit and ideal into the structure that Christ designed and it expressed Christ's mind. It did so all the more fully because it developed itself by meeting emergencies. In the very nature of the case the men who had to preach and direct the spiritual activities of the disciples could not attend to the business of looking after the material work of feeding the people. Even if there had been no community of goods, there would have arisen a need for the deacons, sooner or later.

Question: Is your work properly divided so as to secure the greatest efficiency?

10. Death of Stephen. Acts vii, 1—viii, 3.

A new interpretation of the truth is needed and Stephen is God's man to do it. New bitterness will inevitably be stirred and his blood will flow. We have had no martyr yet. It's time we had one. No cause can prosper without martyrs. Stephen is stoned to death contrary to Jewish and Roman law. So was Jesus killed. Some new blessings are sure to come. This lesson is well followed by one on the old heroes and martyrs of the faith in the older times. Heb. xi and xii.

Question: How will we get along when universal and fraternal peace comes?

12. Philip and the Ethiopian. Acts viii, 3-40.

Here is a lesson that shows one result of the persecution which arose about the death of Stephen. The disciples had failed to go out with the gospel and now they were driven out. The whole world will get the benefit of that heroism.

Question: When does comfort become too comfortable for our good?

RECIPE TO STOP DANDRUFF

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum.....1 oz.
Barbo Compound.....a small box
Glycerine.....¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.—Advertisement.

HIGHWAYMAN TRIES TO HOLD UP SALOON PATRONS

Overpowered From Behind and Relieved of His Revolver.

Armed with a loaded revolver, an amateur highwayman attempted to hold up the Peerless saloon at 11 East Superior street last night just before 11 o'clock, when the place was crowded, but he was overpowered and his gun was taken from him by prospective victims.

At police headquarters the would-be bandit said his name is James Martell, gave his age as 23, and said he was a laborer. He was roughly dressed and had no money. He was very cool, and denied trying to hold up the place, saying that he merely wanted to sell the revolver.

In telling police of the affair, Jack McLennan, proprietor of the saloon, said he was standing behind the bar, and that about twenty patrons were in the place when Martell entered through the front door.

Walking up to Michael McTighe of 115 East Superior street, Martell shoved the revolver muzzle against his ribs, and ordered him to throw up his hands. For a minute other occupants did not realize what was happening, they said, but as soon as McTighe's hands were elevated, they saw the revolver, and backed away in a panic. McLennan, the proprietor, walked around the end of the bar and started for Martell, but the latter swung the loaded gun at him with a command to "keep away."

At this moment Al Curran, 9 East Superior street, who was also in the saloon, approached the robber from behind and springing at him suddenly, landed on his back, pinning his hands to his sides. Then McTighe, McLennan and others joined in the scuffle and Martell was overpowered.

The prospective victims held him prisoner until Patrolman Sorenson arrived a minute later, and took him to headquarters. A successful robbery would have netted Martell a large sum, McLennan said, as the open safe and cash drawers contained more than usual.

This morning Martell was defiant, maintaining his innocence but otherwise refusing to answer any questions. When asked by police whether he wished to waive examination if brought before a municipal court judge, or whether he would ask for an examination, he said:

"Never mind what I'm going to do. Take me into court and find out."

A complaint charging attempted robbery in the first degree was prepared by Assistant County Attorney M. M. Forbes, under which Martell will be arraigned this afternoon.

DULUTH VETERANS OF WAR WITH SPAIN ORGANIZING

notice. Commander Bradley said today that he expected to get orders this week to start for Mexico.

Does Not Know Details.

"I am not familiar with just what has been done at Washington," said Commander Bradley this noon, "but I believe that our national commander has offered the services of the Spanish veterans to the president. National Commander Dwyer is a congressman from Missouri, and has been in close touch with the Mexican situation all along, and is probably in position to know just what to do, and is acting accordingly."

Commander Bradley said that there were about 200,000 Spanish war veterans in the United States or already in the American army in Mexico. At the close of the Spanish-American war there were 400,000 veterans, but since that time more than 40 per cent have died. Fully 200,000 though, he said, were living in this country and capable of bearing arms on immediate notice.

Many of the veterans who were mere boys in '98, are middle aged men now with families, and the call to the colors would be a much more serious matter to them now than it was when they first enlisted.

The Duluth camp comprises many prominent men of the city, while other veterans have gone to other places or have re-enlisted and are now serving in the regular army. The Duluth camp consists of infantry, artillery and cavalry.

had actually been perfected by Herrera and his associates to start rioting on a large scale in El Paso.

Gen. Herrera Revolts.

Columbus, N. M., March 23.—Gen. Luis Herrera, until recently Carranza military governor of Chihuahua, has renounced Carranza and announced in favor of Villa, taking the field in Western Chihuahua with 2,000 troops according to reliable information received here tonight.

The exact place at which Gen. Herrera's troops are encamped was not indicated in the message which reached Columbus from a source that always has been found thoroughly reliable. It is believed, however, that the troops, most of whom recently constituted the Carranza garrison at Chihuahua City, are some place in the country between the San Pedro and Chihuahua and are preparing to work north and west toward the American punitive expedition in the field under Gen. Pershing.

Villa Their Idol.

The sentiment of the people in the district which lies about seventy miles directly east of the Guerrero region in which Villa began his days as an outlaw is strongly in favor of the bandit chieftain. His success in withstanding Porfirio Diaz' rurales for eight years during all of which time there was a heavy price on his head, was due to the loyalty of the peons, who worship Villa as an idol. Army men believe here that Herrera and his command will have every possible co-operation from the people of the district.

The report marks an important development in the American campaign to capture Villa, according to experienced observers of Mexican military affairs. It is pointed out that the reported renunciation of the Carranza standard by Herrera is the first to be made by an important military leader of the de facto government since the American troops crossed the international line. The possible effect upon other Carranza leaders who have been reported to be wavering in their loyalty to the government of the "first chief" was food for much discussion. Reports were received as to the arms and equipment of the Herrera command, but it is declared he can cause the American expedition much trouble by purusing tactics of guerrila warfare in a country with which he and his troops are thoroughly familiar and in which it is believed they have the sympathy of the people. Gen. Herrera was military governor of Chihuahua at the time of the massacre of eighteen foreigners at Santa Ysabel several weeks ago.

ATTORNEY ORDERS ARREST OF WAITE

New York Physician Held in Connection With Death of Peck.

New York, March 23.—District Attorney Swann ordered the arrest today of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, son-in-law of John E. Peck, a millionaire drug dealer of Grand Rapids, Mich., whose death here recently and that also of his wife have been under investigation.

The legal and police authorities of New York and Grand Rapids, Mich., are co-operating to investigate the death of John E. Peck, a wealthy drug dealer of Grand Rapids, and of his wife, both of whom died here recently while visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. Warren Waite. Two autopsies performed in Grand Rapids after the body of Mr. Peck had been exhumed, revealed poison in the stomach and intestines. The body of Mrs. Peck could not be examined because it had been cremated.

Mr. Peck left an estate valued at more than $1,000,000 divided equally between his daughter, Mrs. Waite, and his son, Percy Peck, of Grand Rapids.

The New York district attorney has in his possession a telegram signed "E" addressed to Percy Peck, which first caused suspicions that Mr. Peck did not die from natural causes. The message said: "Suspicions aroused. Demand autopsies. Examine body."

Detectives sent today to arrest Dr. Arthur Warren Waite in connection with the death of John E. Peck, millionaire druggist of Grand Rapids, Mich., found him in a condition of stupor as a result of an oplate, self-administered. Physicians at noon today were working on him to save his life.

It was given out that Dr. Waite had taken the oplate to induce sleep and it was believed that he would recover.

District Attorney Swann, emerging from Dr. Waite's apartment shortly before 2 o'clock, made this announcement:

MINERS SAVE MINE FROM FLOOD WATERS

Brownsville, Pa., March 23.—Two hundred miners employed by the W. J. Rainey Coke company near here yesterday hurried to the surface when couriers ran through the mines shouting that the ten-acre reservoir on a hill near the opening was about to burst. They set to work with their picks and shovels and succeded in digging a ditch which carried the flood waters away from the mine and saved the property, one of the most valuable in this section.

Evangelistic Meetings.

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ministers' association of Brainerd has decided to hold a series of union evangelistic meetings commencing March 27, to continue for three weeks, the different pastors doing the preaching. The choirs from the different churches will be asked to furnish the music. All the Protestant churches are expected to co-operate.

Expensive Prairie Chickens.

Moorhead, Minn., March 23.—George Tischhouser pleaded guilty in district court to the charge of having twenty-four prairie chickens in his possession out of season. Judge Nye imposed a fine of $500, including costs, and Tischhouser paid his fine.

TODAY'S BEAUTY TALK

You can make a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost if you get from your druggist a package of canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and rub briskly. This creates an abundance of thick, white lather that thoroughly disolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it it is, and takes on a rich luster and softness that make arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

STEVENS IS FOURTH MAN

His Election as Republican Delegate-at-Large Is Now Conceded.

Austin Sure for Fourth Place on the Democratic Ticket.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Election of Fred C. Stevens of St. Paul as fourth delegate-at-large on the Republican delegation was conceded today on receipt of returns from all but Aitkin and Koochiching counties at the office of the secretary of state.

Totals from eighty-four counties give Stevens 24,588, O. J. Larson 24,080, and James Manahan 23,973. Unofficial reports from the missing counties indicate a plurality of about 300 for Stevens over Larson.

Z. H. Austin has a safe lead for fourth place on the Democratic ticket in the same counties, with a vote of 24,286 to 23,695 for W. A. Just and 23,245 for A. C. Weiss.

There will be forty-eight men entitled to vote on national committeeman in the Democratic convention and a like number in the Republican gathering, because under the new Minnesota law alternates as well as delegates are given a vote on committeeman.

As each delegate names his own alternate, this will have the effect practically of doubling the vote. It is expected that many of the men defeated for delegates places will be appointed alternates.

Beltrami Complete.

Bemidji, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county canvassing board yesterday completed the canvass of the vote of Beltrami county at the presidential primary election. Following are the results:

and street car service which was suspended last night for fear of trouble in that Mexican city was resumed this morning. The railroad bridges are still under guard.

Confirmation Lacking.

Washington, March 23.—Confirmation of the report that the Carranza garrison of 2,000 under Luis Herrera, at Chihuahua, had revolted and joined Villa, was still lacking today at the war department, although a dispatch to that effect was passed last night by the United States army censors at Columbus. The war department insisted that Gen. Funston's message last night stated merely that "it is reported" that the revolt had occurred, adding that there was no confirmation.

No news advices had reached the department, officials said, and it was declared there was no indication in any message received since the American expedition started into Mexico that the troops had fired a shot or been fired upon.

Gen. Funston's Problem.

Gen. Funston's problem is to dispose the troops at his command in such fashion as to insure the line of communication behind the force in Mexico.

Secretary Baker, when asked today if Gen. Funston has asked for more reinforcement since the Fifth cavalry and Twenty-fourth infantry were ordered to join him, said:

"I think I will not answer that question."

A message from Gen. Funston last night said the motor-truck trains had satisfactorily solved the problem of getting supplies to the advanced column. Gen. Funston had been uneasy, it was said, over the supply situation but had reported no shortage.

The navy department was without advices from Tampico, where a disquieting situation had been indicated in unofficial reports. A message from Admiral Winslow on the west coast said quiet prevailed at Ensenada, Lower, California.

Troops Ready for Action.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—Orders going from Fort Sam Houston today provided for rapid action at various points along the border should new rebellions in Mexico make it necessary. Gen. Funston was not altogether convinced early today of the truth of the report that Gen. Luis Herrera, the deposed military leader at Chihuahua, had entered the field with Villa against the United States, but the repetition of the story in different places and the absence of acceptable evidence to the contrary caused him and his staff to regard it as probably true.

Staff officers of Gen. Funston studied a more extended area of Northern Mexico today. The probable moves of Herrera and his 2,000 men were carefully considered and at every point along the border where they might disturb the peace of those on the American side careful note was taken of the positions of American troops and the time it would take to get them to the scene.

Army Officers Not Alarmed.

That phase of the situation did not alarm the army officers, however, who believed that if Herrera really has revolted his activities will be confined to operations that have for their object the strengthening of Villa's bands and the harrassing of Gen. Pershing's force. It was feared that one of his earlier moves would be the cutting of the Northwestern railway over which Gen. Funston hopes to receive permission to move supplies to the American troops, now almost 200 miles into Mexico. To prevent this move Gen. Funston is powerless and it is doubted if Carranza's troops are in a position to oppose Herrera.

Reports at headquarters that Gen. Gavira's garrison at Juarez was about to revolt and that the troops at Torreon were manifesting disaffection were regarded with apprehension at the fort. The Mexican consul here continued to deny their truth and reiterated his assertion that Herrera had not taken the field.

Early reports at Fort Sam Houston did not indicate any marked developing in the campaign against Villa.

Would Need Every Soldier.

Washington, March 23.—Official confirmation of a report reaching Gen. Funston that 2,000 Carranza soldiers at Chihuahua under Gen. Luis Herrera had revolted and aligned themselves with Francisco Villa was anxiously awaited in Washington today.

Some officials believe that if Herrera and his men have joined Villa other Carranza troops may follow. A wholesale revolt in Carranza's army would render the position of the American troops now on Mexican soil so perilous that every available soldier in the United States would be rushed to the border.

Secretary Lansing, returning from a week's vacation, took personal charge of the situation so far as it concerned the state department. He conferred with Eliseo Arredondo, Gen. Carranza's ambassador, who presented a dispatch from Consul Garcia at El Paso, denying entirely that Gen. Herrera had revolted with the Chihuahua garrison and joined Villa.

Gen. Funston today asked for eight more aeroplanes. He wants four to go to Columbus to fly with Pershing's column and four others to be sent to his headquarters at Fort Sam Houston to be held for emergency work.

Reyes Would Surrender.

El Paso, Tex., March 23. — Gen. Gavira at Juarez today confirmed the report that the bandit leader Canuto Reyes was parleying with Gen. Jose Isabel Robles in regard to a surrender. The result is not yet known to Gavira.

No Word From Aviator.

Columbus, N. M., March 23.—No word of Lieut. Edgar S. Gorrell, the missing aviator of the American aero corps, was contained in today's dispatches received at the military base here. With the lieutenant eighty-four hours overdue at Casas Grandes, hopes that he may have been delayed in some isolated district are waning. The three days' rations and the small canteen of water which he carried must be exhausted even if they were not lost or destroyed in a possible wreck of the plane.

Communication between the military base here and Brig.-Gen. John J. Pershing's command in Chihuahua, was again interrupted by rains during the night. Work of repairing the field telegraph was begun immediately.

Reports Persistent.

Although officially denied at headquarters here as an "unfounded falsehood" reports persist that motor trucks carrying supplies from here to the Mexican field are missing, together with their drivers and guards.

Two trucks which left Ascension for Casas Grandes last Monday have not been seen since, it is reported, and that the two drivers and four guards are missing.

Further reports indicated that Gen. Luis Herrera, Carranza's former military governor of Chihuahua with his men, is between the San Pedro river and foothills of Sierra Madres, just north of the line of the Mexican Northwestern railroad in Central Chihuahua.

Investigating Amateurs.

Douglas, Ariz., March 23.—On the report that amateur wireless stations along the border have been picking up radio messages from Gen. Pershing's headquarters, the government officials here have started an investigation.

Rumors that Gen. Calles has been recruiting a large force at Cabullona, eighteen miles south of here, and at other points in Northeastern Sonora were denied both by the American and Mexican authorities.

Trooper Robert Kettle who attempted suicide two days ago is improving slightly with a chance of recovery, according to the army surgeons.

FIVE THOUSAND MADE HOMELESS

Fire at East Nashville, Tenn., Destroys Over 600 Houses.

Nashville, Tenn., March 23.—Citizens, civic and church organizations of Nashville today were caring for 5,000 persons made homeless by the fire that swept East Nashville late yesterday, destroying 600 houses, causing one death and a property loss of $1,500,000. National Guardsmen patrolled the burned area.

The blaze started from a lighted ball of yarn thrown into a grassy vacant lot by a boy. A planing mill first was destroyed. The flames quickly spread to an extensive negro colony, where, fanned by a high wind, every house was consumed. The conflagration then broke into two distinct blazes, one flowing east on Seventh street and the other down Fifth avenue. An area of thirty blocks was swept clean, which included many of the costliest residences of Nashville, several churches and one charitable institution. After paralleling each other on separate streets for many blocks the two fires again joined.

DOUBLE PLATOON SYSTEM WOULD COST CITY $30,600

Chief Shows Where Thirty-Four Men Would Be Needed.

Figures obtained this morning by Fire Chief Randall at the request of the city commissioners show that the double platoon system desired by Duluth firemen will require thirty-four additional men at a total salary of $30,600 for the first year.

At a special conference yesterday morning in Mayor Prince's office, city commissioners declared themselves "in the dark" regarding the double platoon system requested by the firemen in an initiative petition now being circulated throughout the city. They instructed Commissioner Silberstein and Fire Chief Randall to obtain figures immediately so that the matter could be taken up by the council in an intelligent manner.

The figures obtained by Chief Randall were submitted this morning to the safety head. The plan as outlined by the leaders of the campaign follows:

Station—	Present No. of Firemen.	No. Desired.	Platoon Division.
No. 1 engine	12	4	8-8
No. 2 engine	12	4	8-8
No. 3 engine	12	4	8-8
No. 1 truck	9	3	6-6
No. 2 truck	9	3	6-6
No. 4 engine	9	3	6-6
No. 8 engine	9	3	6-6
No. 8 truck	5	2	4-4
No. 6, Lakeside	6	2	4-4
No. 7, Hillside	6	2	4-4
No. 10, New Duluth	3	3	3-3
	92	34

Such a program, it is believed, can be carried through without necessitating an increase to the 13-mill tax levy. City commissioners were of the opinion that an entire double shift would be necessary, entailing an expenditure of approximately $75,000.

As each fireman receives $75 a month or $900 his first year, the cost of adding thirty-four firemen will be $30,600.

At present extra firemen are needed at each station to relieve those off duty, so that the present number on duty would not be reduced, if the double platoon system is established. The division plan would place as many men on duty during the days as at nights, while the employes would have to work but twelve hours each day. Day and night shifts would alternate each week or month.

These figures will be submitted by Commissioner Silberstein to the other council members and it is probable that some satisfactory arrangement will be made in the near future, so that the plan will be included when the 1917 budget is made out next fall.

STUDENTS TO RESCUE

Will Petition School Board to Re-Engage Two Teachers.

Five hundred Central high school students have signed a petition asking the board of education to reconsider its action in the cases of R. J. Holmes and A. E. Null, teachers in the English department of the school, who were not re-engaged for 1917.

Students intimated that they were of the belief that the action came as a result of differences with Lee C. Racey, newly elected head of the English department. Both Professor Holmes and Professor Null have been in the schools here for a number of years, and are very popular with the student body.

"I know nothing directly of such a petition," said Leonard Young, principal of the school, "although rumors to that effect have reached me. As far as any controversy between Mr. Racey and Mr. Holmes is concerned, however, the report is misleading. To the best of my knowledge, they have had no controversy."

"The board's action was taken just as in other cases, where instructors were not recommended for re-engagement," said J. R. McCiffert, member of the board of education committee on schools.

"Both men are very well liked, but both of them were marked low and the committee is bound to respect the grading system which we have adopted in making up the list of teachers.

"They were not discharged. Every teacher is re-engaged at the end of each school year, and the committee did not feel that they were warranted in engaging these two instructors for another year, in view of their grade."

BANDITS OPERATE NEAR LAGUNA, MEX.

Two Bands Poorly Equipped According to Villa Prisoners.

Torreon, March 23.—Captured Villa soldiers report that two gangs of bandits are operating in the district south of Laguna, one under Lozano, who killed his partner, Perez, near Matamoros last Friday, and the other under Canuto Reyes.

Lozano's band, poorly armed and short of ammunition, is said to be operating in the Puerto de Los Pericos foothills south of Matamoros. Reyes retreated to Sierra Prieta almost due south of Torreon, after his last fight.

The foregoing dispatch from Torreon received today names no mention of the widespread report that the Carranza garrison has revolted.

Deny Defection of Herrera.

Laredo, Tex., March 23.—Officials of the Carranza government at Nuevo Laredo today reiterated their statement denying the defection of the Torreon garrison to Villa.

The report of yesterday that Luis Herrera, one of the most loyal Carranza generals, had gone over to Villa with his 2,000 men caused considerable comment among officials here today.

La Crosse, Wis., March 23.—Sam Gregario, a farmer at De Soto, entering his barn yesterday, found his prize dairy cow dead. He started to saw a pile of wood and his hand slipped, resulting in three fingers of his left hand being cut off.

Gregario then started for the hospital to have his hand dressed and on the way his team ran away, throwing him and dragging his 9-year-old son a half mile. The rig was demolished. Gregario and his son escaped with bad bruises.

NO EVIDENCE OF ANY DISHONESTY

Receiver Niblack Gives Strong Testimony in Lorimer's Favor.

Chicago, March 23.—William C. Niblack, receiver of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank, reiterated on the stand today that there was no evidence of dishonesty on the part of William Lorimer in the failure of the bank. His statement was made on re-direct examination in the trial of Mr. Lorimer charged with conspiracy to wreck the bank. It brought about a clash between the witness and Hayden N. Bell, assistant state's attorney, who asked that Mr. Niblack be as liberal in expressing his opinion of the defendant as he was yesterday in giving it concerning C. B. Munday, convicted vice president of the bank.

"I am here to tell the truth, you are asking me a broad question," said Mr. Niblack.

"You made a broad answer yesterday, didn't you?"

"Well, it was the truth. Munday stole the money and that is what I said."

Mrs. Sherwood claimed that her husband had been an habitual drunkard for the last fifteen years.

Road Wins Rate Case.

Word has come from Chicago that the Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway company has won out in a pulpwood rate case before the interstate commerce commission. The case was that of the Pulp & Paper Manufacturers' Traffic association, representing a lot of paper mills in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, against the railroad company, and it sought a hearing to have suspended the road's rates on pulpwood. The interstate commerce commission has just cancelled the hearing asked for, which, in effect, continues and upholds the rates published by the road.

EDGAR VARESE.

America is to have an orchestra devoted to "futurist" music. It will be organized and conducted by Edgard Varese and it will devote itself largely to the interpretation of his compositions. DEATH ENDS ILLNESS OF NEARLY A YEAR

Miss Mary E. Walsh Dies at Residence of Sister.

Miss Mary E. Walsh, prominent Duluth club woman and suffragist, died this morning.

Miss Walsh has been ill for nearly a year, and her death was not altogether unexpected, according to relatives. She was born in Michigan, but has resided in Duluth since 1893.

In recent years she has made her home with her sister, Mrs. Wirt H. Cook, 2505 East Second street, where her death occurred. Miss Walsh was a member of the Duluth Women's Suffrage association. She also acquired a widespread reputation as a cat fancier.

In addition to Mrs. Cook, she leaves four brothers. They are Ellis Walsh of Virginia, Minn.; James F. Walsh of this city, A. N. Walsh, who resides in Michigan, and John Walsh, who is a resident of Kentucky.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

DECLARES HERRERA LOYAL TO CARRANZA

Message From Mexico City Says He Is Fighting Villa Forces.

Galveston, Tex., March 23.—Gen. Luis Herrera is conducting active military operations against the Villa forces and had not gone over to the bandit leader, according to a cablegram from Mexico City, received by the Mexican consulate here today.

This message says that the Herrera campaign against the Villistas is being waged in Southern Chihuahua and that on Tuesday night part of Herrera's force under Col. Cano fought a battle with a band led by Villa himself.

Another message to the consulate says that the oil fields in Mexico are not in rebel hands but are being protected by Constitutionalist forces.

PREPARING FOR HIBBING MEETING

N. M. D. A. Directors Hold Conference—May Issue Farm Booklet.

A meeting of the full membership of the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association was held during the noon hour at the Commercial club today, and several matters of importance disposed of.

The members of the committee are: C. R. Middleton of Baudette, president of the association; Frank S. Lycan of Bemidji, vice president; Charles T. Kelley of Manahga, former president; H. V. Eva of Duluth, George P. Jones of Bagley and George W. Empey of Hinckley.

The program for the midsummer meeting of the association to be held in Hibbing in June was discussed and final action taken on some features of it. An appropriation was made in connection with the potato contest at Bemidji last fall; and it was also decided that if the funds of the association permit, a booklet will be issued, setting forth the advantages of the northern part of the state for settlers, for distribution to the state fairs of surrounding commonwealths, such as Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska and other states.

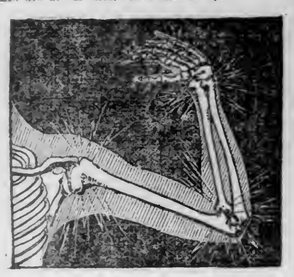
He wants every rheumatic victim to know how he was cured. Read what he says:



"I Had Sharp Pains Like Lightning Flashes Shooting Through My Joints."

"In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply fill out the coupon below and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

NORWEGIAN AND BRITISH STEAMERS ARE SUNK

London, March 23.—The Norwegian steamship Kannik was sunk Wednesday night, according to a dispatch to Lloyds from Havre. The crew was saved.

The British steamship Sea Serpent has been sunk.

TWO KILLED BY GAS IN GREEK BOARDING HOUSE

Chicago, March 23.—Two men were killed, seven persons, including three children, were made unconscious and nearly a score of others were endangered by escaping gas in a Greek boarding house here while the occupants were asleep today. Two of those rendered unconscious may die. The others were revived. Police reported that the gas apparently escaped from pipes laid below the building.

The Boy is Father to the Man

Old sayings like this are fraught with a most important meaning. And what will aid the expectant mother in conserving her health, her strength, her mental repose and the absence of vexatious pains is a subject of vast moment. Among the recognized helps is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend." Applied to the muscles it sinks in deeply to make them firm and pliant, it thus lifts the strain on ligaments that produce pain, it lightens the burden on the nervous system, induces calm restful nights of health-giving sleep and makes the days sunny and happy. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" of any druggist and you will then realize why it has been considered true to its name in our best homes through three generations. It is perfectly harmless but so effective that once used it is recommended to all expectant mothers by those who went through the ordeal with surprising ease. By writing to Bradfield Regulator Co., 412 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., you can have a free copy of a wonderful stork book that unfolds those things which all expectant mothers delight to read. DULUTH'S MILITIA COMPANIES ARE INSPECTED; OFFICERS EXPECT TO BE SENT TO BORDER

C COMPANY BEING INSPECTED.

A call to the Mexican border is not far distant, officers of Duluth militia companies were inclined to believe today, according to reports, as a result of developments of the last two days.

Capt. Charles A. Danforth of the U. S. army, who last night finished a three-day inspection of militia companies, accoutrements and equipment stationed at the new National Guard armory, has been quoted as saying that a call to muster the National Guard along the border would not surprise him.

Capt. Danforth was in Vera Cruz at the time of the first Mexican trouble and is familiar with conditions in that country. Officers of the Third regiment, M. N. G., agree that there is an excellent chance of their men seeing service in the near future, although they have refused to commit themselves publicly.

"We have not heard any intimation of preparatory orders," said Col. F. E. Resche, commanding the regiment. "I did not expect any, but if reports from Mexico prove to be based on fact, congress may be expected to act, giving the war department authority to issue such orders at will."

"Should preparatory orders be sent the militia," said Lieut.-Col. H. V. Eva, "work will begin immediately to recruit the companies here to war strength. What that strength will be depends entirely upon conditions existing at the time of the call, but it will be upward of 100 men per company.

"In the event of a call, a period of from twenty days to one month probably would elapse before the regiment is sent to the field."

Capt. Danforth inspected "C" company, commanded by Capt. W. O. Flodin, last night. He left today for Hibbing, where he will inspect a company.

PRICES IN WEST DULUTH NO HIGHER

Transfer Manager Declares Charges Have Not Been Raised.

West Duluthians may not be called upon to pay higher prices for moving than they have in the last two or three years. The higher rates, which moving van companies uptown have announced, will likely not affect this district.

T. B. Jones, manager of the West Duluth & Duluth Transfer company, which has about thirty teams employed, said this morning that he knew nothing about the proposed increase in rates. As far as he was able to say his company had not considered any higher price for moving than is now being charged.

"We are satisfied with the rates we are getting," said Mr. Jones. "Stories which recently appeared in the papers, intimate that there is a combination or agreement between the various draying concerns to fix the prices. While there may possibly be some verbal agreement, we are in no way affected. As far as our company is concerned, the rates will probably not change—at least for some time."

CONTRACTORS SCORED.

Residents Say Street and Sidewalk Are Being Blocked.

Central avenue residents are displeased because the street is being blocked by the contractors who have the new fire hall and police station under construction. It is asserted that the sidewalk is blocked most of the time as well as the greater part of the street.

"It should not make any difference with the city whether a building is being erected for the city or private owners. The same consideration should be extended in safeguarding the public," said a resident of the street this morning. "There is no occasion for blocking the sidewalk with planks and rubbish and compelling the people to climb over this in getting up or down the street. Evidently the contractor has the opinion that because he is building for the city that such inconveniences should be tolerated."

TO GIVE PROGRAM AT DENFELD SCHOOL

A musical and literary program has been arranged for this evening by the students and faculty of the R. E. Denfeld high school. A number of Duluth's well known amateur entertainers will appear on the program. Mrs. Frank E. Parker, well known among West Duluth people as Miss Eva Sawyer, will give dramatic readings; Miss Gertrude Logan, soloist; D. W. Helstand, J. R. Batchelor, the high school glee club, and Irving school orchestra will take part.

Lodge Will Entertain.

DULUTHIANS ARE URGED TO STUDY THE CITY'S CONTAGIOUS DISEASE REGULATIONS

Regulations governing the handling of contagious diseases have been outlined by Health Director Fahey, so that the general public may become acquainted with them.

The regulations, which Duluthians are urged to read and study carefully, follow:

Diphtheria.

"Patient must be quarantined until two successive negative cultures, the final one to be taken by the health department, have been secured. Other exposed individuals, upon showing a negative nose and throat culture and after having a bath and disinfection of clothes, may leave the premises. The first culture for release may be taken on the fifteenth day unless otherwise requested by the attending physician.

Scarlet Fever.

"Patient must be quarantined until desquamation is complete and until condition of ears, nose and throat is normal, usually four to six weeks (minimum is four weeks). Patient shall not attend any public or private gathering (or school) until a subsequent examination at the end of two weeks demonstrates the continuance of a normal condition. Before exposed persons are disinfected and released they must promise to report immediately to the health department any symptoms developing within ten days after release. Non-immune children, if leaving the premises must stay from school ten days from date of last exposure. Patients with ear discharge after release from scarlet fever must report for weekly examinations to the health officer or other authorized person. Children released from quarantine are not to be readmitted to classes unless upon written permission of health officer or permission of medical inspector of schools. Terminal disinfection is necessary.

Smallpox.

"Patient must be isolated until entirely free from scabs three or four weeks. Following exposure every individual who has not been successfully vaccinated within seven years or has not had smallpox must be vaccinated within three weeks. Exposed children may return to school as soon as vaccination is successful. Terminal disinfection is necessary.

Measles.

"Homes with only one child—Premises to be placarded for fourteen days from the date of eruption and visited and inspected at the end of that time. If there is any peeling suspicious of scarlet fever, notify one of the doctors.

"Homes with one child sick and one other in the family who has not had measles—In this case ask the family to notify us if any more cases develop. If they do not, notify us visit them at the end of twenty-one days. If they do notify us, visit them in fourteen days from the date of eruption in the last case.

"Homes where some of the children have had measles—In this case make a record on the card to that effect, and in handling the case act as if they were not there, only they must not leave the premises.

"Children who have been isolated fourteen days and have been inspected may attend school if they cease living at the premises, even if there are other cases in the home who are still sick.

"Homes where there is more than one child who has not had measles—In this case ask them to report new cases. If they do so, visit the home in twenty-one days from the last case unless it is the last child who might have them. In that case visit them in fourteen days. If they do not notify us, visit them in twenty-one days from the first case and inspect the other children to see if there are any new cases.

Chickenpox.

"Patient must be isolated at least ten days from beginning of attack and longer if scabs are not all off. The house must be placarded; children who have had the disease may attend school; children who have not had it must not leave premises for at least two weeks, after all symptoms have ceased in last case. Terminal disinfection is not done.

Typhoid Fever.

"Any person infected with typhoid fever residing in a common lodging house or hotel shall be removed under the supervision of the health officer to a suitable hospital or place of quarantine.

"The health officer shall post in a conspicuous place upon the entrance to premises where typhoid fever exists, a notice to that effect.

"The patient's room shall be carefully screened throughout the course of the disease and during convalescence, if any flies or insects are about.

"No person, convalescent from typhoid fever, or suffering from so-called 'walking typhoid' shall be permitted to handle, in any capacity, milk, cream, butter, other food or food products, likely to be eaten without being cooked after handling, if such foods are to be offered for sale, until the local health officer shall state in writing that the circumstances indicate that danger of typhoid infection from such person no longer exists.

"Disinfection of premises and exposed articles after removal or termination of case is necessary.

Whooping Cough.

"The patient shall be isolated for at least two weeks after the first symptoms appear. A warning card showing where whooping cough exists must be posted on the entrance to the premises. Children in the house and persons associated with the patient, shall be kept under observation for two weeks after exposure. During this period, the children shall not attend any public, private, parochial, church or Sunday school, or any public or private gathering whatever. Residence, boarding or lodging in the house during the isolation of the case shall constitute exposure. Terminal disinfection is not done.

Mumps.

"Patient must remain at home at least two weeks, or until swelling and inflammation have ceased. All well children from same family may go to school.

Ringworm.

"Afflicted children must remain at home until given permission to go to school by the health officer or medical inspector of schools.

Tuberculosis.

"No person in the infectious stage of tuberculosis shall be allowed about a school building as pupil, teacher or other employe. It is unlawful for any tuberculosis person to dispose sputum, saliva, or other discharges so as to cause offense or danger to any person. No person in the infectious stage shall handle, in any capacity, milk, cream, butter or other food products likely to be eaten without being cooked after handling. In a case where proper precautions are not being taken by the patient and where the health officer does not choose to forcibly remove the patient to an institution, a warning card is to be posted on the premises.

"Disinfection of premises and exposed articles after death or removal is necessary."

MANY ATTEND ROTARY MEETING

Good Roads Committee Reports on Results Accomplished.

Seventy-four members and three visitors attended the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at the Spalding hotel today. Among the committee reports submitted was one of the good roads committee, which was given by Chairman E. J. Fillatrault, who directed attention to improvements secured through efforts of the committee during the last year and who recommended necessary improvements on certain highways throughout St. Louis county. A vote of thanks was tendered to the committee for its able work. In the absence of the president Harry W. Zinsmaster presided over the meeting.

ADOPT NEW SYSTEM OF CHECKING PRISONERS

A new system of accounting for all prisoners handled by city police, taken into municipal court and from there to the work farm or county jail, has been devised by Chief R. D. McKercher and O. B. Thayer, chief accountant of the public works division.

Form sheets, with spaces for the names of twenty-five prisoners, their municipal court number, their sentence and any remarks, have been printed and now are used by police department jailers.

Every day, when the police "grist" has been sentenced by the judge, and their cases disposed of, the jailer gives the municipal court clerk a receipt for the number of committments issued to them, and in turn obtains a receipt for the number of men turned over to the county authorities.

By checking these sheets, police will be able to tell just how many men are taken into municipal court, and just how many of the number are given work farm or county jail sentences.

"Up to this time we have not been able to make an accurate check of the prisoners sent to the county jail, to be held there or transported by Sheriff Meining to the work farm," said Chief McKercher. "The new system, we find, is a considerable improvement over the old one."

RURAL TEACHERS ASKED TO "SNAP" THEIR SCHOOLS

Rural school teachers of St. Louis county are encouraged by N. A. Young, county school superintendent, to take kodak pictures in and around their schools.

Supt. Young declares that he would like to secure pictures of every school in the county before the semester closes this year and he wants the teachers to help him.

"Almost all teachers have kodaks and, of course, one of the first things to be kodaked is the hscool," he said. "We are asking the teachers to send us some of their best snapshots. We want to have a display of photographs of rural schools throughout the county in connection with the rural school exhibit at the county jail next fall and such a collection would add much to the attractiveness and usefulness of this exhibit. Teachers sending in photographs should label them on the back so that we will know from what school it comes."

SUPERIOR

WOULD MAKE SUPERIOR PORT FOR OCEAN VESSELS

The harbor committee of the Superior Commercial club today began work on an outline of harbor improvements necessary to make Superior a port of entry for ocean-going ships when the Welland canal opens which is expected to be in two years. The program to be finally approved is expected to include provisions for government aid and the utilization of the recently acquired municipal dock property.

Will Vote By Mail.

Applications for blanks to give citizens who may be out of the city on election day an opportunity to vote, have been filed with the city clerk. The applications were applied for by Rev. A. T. Ekbald, who is leaving for a visit to Kansas, and Rev. Horace F. Ferry of Allouez, who wants the blanks for some members of his congregation who will be out of the city on election day. This is the first time that the privilege of voting by mail has been granted.

Burt to Leave Mission.

Charles L. Burt, who has been manager of the Lake Superior Mission, will leave Superior on May 1 to take a position as executive secretary of the Juvenile Protective League of Minneapolis. He will tender his resignation to the board of managers at their next meeting.

La Follette in Superior.

Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin is a guest in Superior today. The senator is in the city to get the Wisconsin delegation lined up for the national convention to be held in Chicago in June. He was conferring with a number of Republican leaders this morning.

BRITISH AIRMAN GETS SECOND TEUTON PLANE

London, March 23.—Advices received from Dover by the press associations state that a second German seaplane was brought down after the raid made by four German aeroplanes over the Kent coast last Sunday. It is said a British airman who was crossing the channel in a new aeroplane saw the raid in progress and joining in the chase of the Germans succeeded in bringing down one of their machines.

Official announcement was made in London on Sunday that one of the four German seaplanes had been brought down at sea but the official German account of the raid said all the aeroplanes returned safely.

Cleared With Guns.

Washington, March 23.—The Italian steamers Caserta and Regina d'Italia have been ordered cleared from New York on assurances of the Italian government that their guns are only for defensive purposes.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THIEF RIVER FORGERY CASE

Replevin Papers Alleged to Bear Forged Signature of Judge.

Document on Which Bobsled Was Seized Not Legally Drafted.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Replevin papers used by C. Gustafson & Sons, a local implement firm to collect a bill against Chas. Shaunon, a local drayman for a bobsled, are alleged to have been forged although the implement firm denies any knowledge of the alleged forgery. It is said that O. A. Naplin, a local attorney as counsel for the implement concern, failed in an effort to collect the bill from Shannon, and that a few days later Deputy Sheriff Paul Meddereigh was handed a set of replevin papers to serve, purporting to bear the signature of Judge W. W. Tarrant of the municipal court.

Served After Fight.

After a brisk battle, during which fisticuffs were freely engaged in, Meddereigh obtained possession of the bobsled, and to his consternation, when he made the return of the papers, Judge Tarrant pronounced them a forgery. Whoever prepared the papers evidently used a notarial seal to obtain an impression, holding a piece of paper over the upper half so that "State of Minnesota" only would show on the paper. Shannon has now filed suit in the circuit court against C. Gustafson & Son through Herbert C. Rowberg, his attorney.

JAMES J. HILL ASSISTS MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—James J. Hill of St. Paul, the railroad magnate, has sent $25,000 for the endowment fund now being created for Marquette university.

This is the biggest individual donation received and came in a letter to the Rev. Herbert C. Noonan, S. J., president of Marquette university.

With the ten-day campaign for $500,000 for Marquette university half over, $173,432.10 has been raised.

Odanah Child Drowns.

Odanah, Wis., March 23.—Joseph Mayotte, aged 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mayotte, was drowned in the river here Monday while trying to cross the stream on the ice. His brother, Sunny Mayotte, aged 9, who was with him, made a desperate effort to rescue him. Drenched to the skin the older brother then went to notify a teamster and the body was recovered, but life was extinct.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous, stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.—Advertisement.

NORTH DAKOTAN NOW ON BOARD OF CONTROL

JAMES A. BROWN.

Bismarck, N. D., March 23.—Governor Hanna has appointed James A. Brown of Rolla, on the board of control to fill the vacancy caused by the death of F. O. Brewster. Brown has, for several years, served as auditor of Rollett county, and has been mentioned as a probable selection for state auditor.

SIXTEENTH CHILD BORN TO PENNINGTON FAMILY.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Race suicide is not in evidence in one Pennington county family, as Fred Weiner, formerly a cigar maker, now a prosperous farmer, announces the birth Monday of a daughter, the sixteenth child in his family. In the family there are ten boys and six girls, the oldest girl, age 23, being a school teacher near home and the other children living on the farm.

ROOMMATE GONE, SO IS MARTIN'S COIN

Patron of Bemidji Lodging House Claims Companion Robbed Him.

Bemidji, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Charles Martin woke up in a local rooming house Wednesday morning he discovered that his pal, whose name is said to be Robinson, had taken all his money, amounting to about $150 and had skipped with it.

A man believed to be the robber was arrested by the police and on him was found two checks made out to Martin, one for $25, and the other $20 and $80 cash. It is said that Robinson entered the hotel Tuesday evening with Martin, who appeared to be intoxicated and inquired of the night clerk whether or not Martin had a room. When informed that he had, Robinson threw a half dollar down on the show case and asked for a room.

BURIED AT AITKIN.

Last Rites Held for Calvin Blake Berry Who Died in Duluth.

Aitkin, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Calvin Blake Berry, who died Monday afternoon in Duluth at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Harrison, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Albert Zeese, where the body was taken upon its arrival here Tuesday night. Rev. W. E. Hammond, assisted by Rev. U. S. Villars, and Capt. F. M. Shook, commander of the local G. A. R., had charge of the services. Interment was made in Lakeview cemetery.

The case is unusually sad as Mrs. Berry, the widow, has been confined to her bed nearly three years following a stroke of paralysis and Chester Berry, her son, is at the Walker sanatorium. Both were unable to attend the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison of Duluth, Mrs. Chester Berry of Ironton, and Miss Nina Berry, who is teaching in St. Louis county, were present.

BORDER CITY PIGGER HEARING ON FRIDAY

The big county booster meeting will be held April 14, and Governor Burnquist will be secured if possible. Other speakers will be George McCarthy of Duluth, secretary of the State Development association; Senator McGarry and Representative F. A. Dare.

EARLIEST START AT ORE SHIPPING

Never Before Has Product Been Sent to Docks So Early.

Escanaba, Mich., March 23. — Ore shipments from the Gogebic range to the Northwestern docks here started Monday. This is the earliest opening of the shipping season in the history of the mines of the Lake Superior district.

It is understood that the U. S. Steel company, which is in extreme need of the ore, has given orders to get the ore to the furnace regardless of the cost.

Telegraph operators have already been placed at every sliding north of Sager, on the Northwestern line, and a request has been made for thirty train crews, twenty from the Ashland division and ten from the Peninsula division. The apportionment is made according to mileage. At Basswood, Hazle and Chicagon Lake operators will be stationed day and night until the end of the season, and a train dispatcher will be stationed at Watersmeet.

The trains will be run here in two relays, one crew taking a train of twenty cars from Ironwood to Stambaugh, where they will be consolidated in the Palatka yards and then a crew will take forty cars from that point to Escanaba.

TO BE TRAINMASTER.

Superior Railroad Man Has Been Given Promotion.

Crookston, Minn., March 23.—J. R. Miller, transportation inspector at the Superior offices of the Great Northern, has arrived and on April 23 will take charge of the office of trainmaster of the northern division, vacated by J. W. Granger, who goes to the general offices in St. Paul. Both officials are advanced.

Mr. Granger will leave shortly for St. Paul, where he will take a schooling for an official position with the road. For the last three years he has been trainmaster here, and has made a host of friends. Previous to his duties here, Mr. Granger held a similar position on the Fergus Falls division of the Great Northern.

For five months past Mr. Miller has been connected with the Superior offices, and before that time was a member of the office force of the Great Northern in St. Paul.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

The Doctors Say "Use Musterole"

So many sufferers have found relief in MUSTEROLE that you ought to buy a small jar and try it.

Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. MUSTEROLE routs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

It takes the place of the mussy, old-fashioned mustard plaster.

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations — get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

MUSTEROLE — WILL NOT BLISTER

OSHKOSH NORMAL FIRE.

Loss About $150,000 With About $96,000 State Insurance.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 23.—The fire at the Oshkosh normal was placed under control yesterday afternoon after it had completely destroyed the central portion, built in 1869 and opened in 1871, and three wings, all of which were practically one building. The total loss is estimated at between $150,000 and $160,000 with insurance in the state insurance department of about $96,000.

No definite cause has been assigned for the fire. It is believed it had burned for some time before discovered.

Prof. H. R. Fling, teacher of biology, sustained a dislocated shoulder in leaping from a window of the library on the second floor. He, with others, was trying to save some books and had to jump for safety. Blankets were held to catch him, but they were torn by the force of the fall and he dropped heavily to the ground.

The total valuation of the Oshkosh normal school plant, including buildings and land, is half a million dollars.

Classes started today in local schools and churches for the 600 students at the normal who were deprived of quarters yesterday by the fire which wiped out the main buildings. The industrial building was not touched and the gymnasium was saved.

Some of the buildings being used for classes are the high school, Plymouth Congregational church, First Congregational church, First Presbyterian church, Christ Lutheran church and the First Baptist temple. The state board of regents will arrive here today for an investigation.

FRUSTRATES JAILBREAK.

Morrison County Sheriff Prevents Escape Being Made.

Little Falls, Minn., March 23.—An attempt at a jail delivery late Monday night was frustrated by the arrival of Sheriff Paul Felix when two prisoners in the Morrison county jail had almost made an opening over one of the windows. The sheriff blames F. E. Johnson, who was being held on a charge of bigamy, and E. A. Croker, who is serving a twenty-five day sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses, for the attempt.

The windows of the jail are arched at the top and the bars do not extend across the arch, but screens are fitted inside. The screen had been removed from this window and the wooden slab which is fitted into the arch partly cut away. Sheriff Felix thinks they would have been out in less than half an hour if he had not discovered the attempt when he did.

Besides Johnson and Croker, there were only three men in jail, and all of them will soon be released. Johnson has a serious charge to answer, and Croker, when his jail term expires, is to be arrested on another charge. Johnson was taken to Moorhead Tuesday and Croker is confined to his cell and will be denied the freedom of the corridors as long as he stays in jail.

HIGH SCHOOL BURNS AT LAKE MILLS, WIS.

Lake Mills, Wis., March 23.—Fire of unknown origin last night destroyed the Lake Mills high school. The breaking of the rope on the fire alarm bell, and the snow-blocked streets resulted in delay in the firemen reaching the scene. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

The building was erected eight years ago, and was modern in every respect.

NORTH DAKOTANS SELL GOPHER LAND

St. Cloud, Minn., March 23.—Three hundred and twenty acres located in the town of Crow River have been sold by Gotthilf Doering and wife of Hutchinson, N. D., to John Strodtman of Cottonwood, Minn., for $27,000, according to a deed placed on record yesterday. The document bore $27.50 in revenue stamps. This is one of the largest transfers that have been received by the register of deeds for some time in which farm property changed hands.

CLAIM MINOT MAN IS ESCAPED CONVICT

Minot, N. D., March 23.—John Willis, who has been conducting a restaurant in this city for three years, is under arrest on a warrant charging him with being an escaped convict. His attorney instituted habeas corpus proceedings and a fight will be made to prevent his being taken back to Missouri, from the penitentiary of which state he is charged with having escaped ten years ago while serving a life sentence for murder. The police say his right name is Franklin.

Old Stillwaterite Dies.

Stillwater, Minn., March 23.—Arvid Parsons, a resident of Stillwater for forty-eight years, died yesterday after an illness of eight weeks. Mr. Parsons was born in Sweden April 18, 1843, came to this country as a young man and for twenty years or more he was millwright and pattern maker for J. H. Townshend & Co., who operated the Florence flouring mills. He is survived by his wife, one son, Ernest, and one daughter, Ingrie, at home, and by another daughter, Mrs. W. M. Evans of Lyle, Minn., wife of a former pastor of Grace Congregational church of this city; also one grandchild.

MEAT CAUSE OF LAME BACK AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys If Your Back Is Aching.

Noted Authority Says Uric Acid From Meat Irritates the Bladder.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases. —Advertisement.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

25 Cent Bottle of "Danderine" Keeps Hair Thick, Strong, Beautiful.

Girls! Try This! Doubles Beauty of Your Hair in Few Moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderiné from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment — that's all — you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

PROMOTER LA JOY SIGNS JOE STECHER AND FRED BEELL

Scissors Grinder Will Tackle the Famous Little Marshfield Wrestler in Duluth; Some Philosophy From Mike Gibbons; H. A. Blume Sees Great Year for Northern League Baseball.

BY BRUCE.

FRANK (CUB) La JOY late yesterday received a wire from J. F. Hetmanek, manager of Joe Stecher, announcing acceptance of the terms wired by the local promoter to Butte, Mont., for the sensational scissors grinder to meet Fred Beell of Marshfield, Wis., in the Duluth Auditorium in a finish wrestling contest, the match to be staged on the evening of April 4.

According to La Joy, who declares he has the backing of a substantial Duluth business man in his gamble on gate receipts, he is paying Stecher and Beell the biggest guarantee ever offered two wrestlers in the history of the mat game in this town.

"I have gambled on this proposition," said La Joy today, "because I believe it will draw the largest house in the history of Duluth. That was no joke about Kansas City and Chicago going after the match. I was forced to guarantee real money to get what should prove to be the most interesting match by far that has been wrestled this season. I have always tried to give the fans the biggest sporting events and in securing a match between Joe Stecher and Fred Beell, I believe I have landed one of the greatest bouts that has been made in the West this season."

For nearly two months Beell has been training for a match with Stecher as the object of his preparation. Stecher has beaten all the big wrestlers in the land, with the exception of Gotch and Aberg. It has been shown that strength does not avail agains the most feared hold in the history of the wrestling game, the leg scissors. Cutler and Joe Rogers, two of the biggest and strongest men in the grappling game, went down to defeat before the sensational "Boy in the Overalls." Now comes another test: What will Freddy Beell, the fastest man in the world at his weight, the most scientific and wisest, do against Stecher—or what will Joe Stecher do against Beell?

Can Stecher scissors Beell? Can Beell headlock Stecher, as he has headlocked countless others, including Gotch?

Many angles come creeping into the dope. Some followers of wrestling profess to believe that Stecher is a sensation, but does not possess the finish of Gotch; that the famous leg scissors is the one great asset of Stecher. If that is so, then Freddy Beell is the man who is going to give Stecher the tussle of his life.

Beell is the greatest man on his feet that the game has ever produced, and, more than that, he knows everything there is to know about the wrestling game. Stecher will hardly make a fool of Beell, unless he is the greatest piece of wrestling machinery of all time.

Some Jabs From Gibbons.

Here are some extracts from the philosophy of Mike Gibbons:

"I could be one of the most popular fighters in the world were I to offer to fight any tough man for nothing. I don't believe in that. I would have a lot more followers were I to spend a lot of money over a bar after a fight. I take good care of my wife and two kids—that's where some of my money goes.

"My kids will never fight. You have to go through the game to realize how tough it is to make good. Fighting is a business; don't let anyone tell you it isn't.

"I'm not going into the saloon business when I retire; the insurance and real estate game is more to my fancy. I've just bought a new set of law books. I don't know what I will do with them yet.

"Fame goes more quickly than money. I had heard about Willie Lewis since I was a kid. After I had boxed him two rounds I began to feel sorry for him.

"Some people say I'm a cheap guy. Young Corbett is begging quarters along Broadway and Young Griffo is just a jump ahead of the poor house. They were both ideal 'good fellows' in their day.

"Fighting is a great science. It requires hours of study and practice to master any real science. Maybe that's why there are fewer really great fighters.

"I never touch liquor or tobacco, not because I'm morally superior to the average man, but simply because it would ruin my business. A merchant couldn't afford to sell goods less than cost; fighting is a business with me, therefore I can't afford to sell my physical assets for considerably less than what they cost me.

"When I was a kid I dreamed of being a great fighter and studied records of fighters. Now I aspire to be a successful business man. This is a funny old world, now isn't it?"

Harry Blume Optimistic.

President Harry A. Blume of the Northern league is very optimistic regarding the prospects of the Northern league for 1916.

"In the first place," began the local magnate, "business is better than it was last year. There is a greater amount of interest in baseball. There are also more ball players on the market. I believe that the Northern league will be faster in 1916 than it has been for a number of years. Canada is recovering from the first great shock of the war. Business conditions are greatly improved across the border. All of the clubs of the league bear promise of being very strong. Taking it all in all, it looks like a great year."

A majority of the followers of the game here believe Mr. Blume is correct in his opinion. Interest is keener in baseball this year than for some time past. Players are more plentiful and they will have to work for reasonable wages. The dollar sign is being eliminated from the game. The public has come out of its spirit of supreme indifference. The passing of the Federal league was a grand little demise for the good of the game.

J. TEN EYCK RETURNING

Many Rowing Plans Will Be Taken Up With Jim's Arrival.

Not Known Whether Members of Senior Four Will Row.

Jimmy Ten Eyck is expected to arrive in Duluth some time today. According to plans announced by the younger of the Ten Eyck brothers, he will remain here for a week or so and then take a final business trip. After that Jim will be on the job for the remainder of the season, working with Ned in the large and healthy task of developing Duluth crews that will equal the unprecedented record made last year in Springfield.

As stated in The Herald recently, big men are needed and very urgently needed. The older oarsmen, under the leadership of Wallace Quimby, captain of the boat club, are endeavoring to get out a number of big chaps weighing around the 170-pound mark.

With the arrival of Jimmy Ten Eyck it is expected that some definite plans will be formed for conducting a thorough campaign in search of big crew candidates.

Under Ned Ten Eyck the crew candidates are taking a strenous workout on the machines each afternoon. This work is supplemented by road work. The boys pack on some heavy clothes and then jog out to Tenth avenue east and hit the trail back to the Y. M. C. A., in a more lively manner.

Senior Four Doubtful.

Some time ago it was stated in this paper that the members of the famous Duluth senior four might not row this season. That doubt still exists. Dave Horak has declared he will row. Phil Moore wants to row. Rheinberger and Dug Moore are on the fence, so to speak.

Boat club followers point out that of all years, this is the year that the members of the senior four crew should row. With the national here at home, it is pointed out that 1916 is the year of all years that the members of one of the greatest fours ever organized, should be in the game.

As Ned Ten Eyck put it, winning this year would set up a record that has never been equaled and one that would possibly stand for years. Winning in the national this year on the part of the senior four would mark the fourth straight year of victory.

Big Plans Considered.

An attempt will be made this year to make the national a bigger and better regatta than the one held last year on the Connecticut river course at Springfield, Mass. The attempt will consist in securing crews from a wider stretch of territory. The efforts of the Duluth officials will not be confined to the East by any means. An effort will be made to secure the entry of a number of western and southern crews, while the Middle West is expected to be represented by all of the best oarsmen in this section of the country.

WILL TINKER SHINE AS CUB MANAGER?

JOE TINKER.

After winning the pennant in the Federal league, Joe Tinker faces a real trial as a manager in the big league. The work of the once famous shortstop as pilot of the Cubs will be closely watched this season. There is a general belief that the Cubs may make a great race for the bunting. What they do will depend much on whether Tinker shows qualities of big league leadership.

NEW CATCHER FOR DULUTH

George Boelzle of Quincy, Ill., Traded for Baker, Sox Infielder.

Fusner May Refuse to Report Here; Blume Satisfied With Team.

George Boelzle, a catcher, who played with Quincy, Ill., last year, has been traded to the Duluth baseball club for Baker, who played second base for the White Sox part of last season.

Boelzle is said to be a high class receiver and in addition a real sticker. As it is not at all certain that Fusner of last year's St. Boniface team is coming here, Magnate Blume jumped at the opportunity of landing Boelzle.

There appears to be some mixup in the case of Fusner. Denny Sullivan is trying to land the big fellow for his St. Joe team. The efforts of Sullivan in this regard seemed to have affected the attitude of Fusner and it is said that he is exhibiting all the signs of a stubborn Missouri mule, when Duluth is mentioned.

If Boelzle proves as good a catcher as he is touted, Magnate Blume believes he will be well provided for behind the bat.

"I am pretty well satisfied with the candidates," said President Blume today. "We believe we are going to have a real baseball team. Some of the youngsters are coming very highly recommended and we should find some real stars among the lot."

CURLING SEASON IS NEARLY OVER

But Five Games Remain on the Club's Schedule.

With but five games remaining on the schedule of the Duluth Curling club, it is expected that the final game of the season will be played during the present week.

Ed Deetz won the reverse side of the Blaze of Glory event last night by defeating James Elder, 10 to 9. As the score indicates, the game was close, it not being decided until the final head.

Warren defeated E. D. Field by a score of 14 to 13 in the Board of Trade event, and in the semi-finals of the Blaze, Walter Hall won from Dr. Catterson, 13 to 11.

Warren is to meet E. B. Dunlop and Tom McGilvray takes on Dr. Catterson, both games being in the Board of Trade.

There is some talk of giving a dinner Saturday evening to fittingly celebrate the close of one of the most successful seasons in the history of the club.

A meeting of the board of directors of the curling club was held last evening. Only routine business came up for consideration.

Northwestern League Forms.

Seattle, Wash., March 23.—The Northwestern league directors yesterday admitted Butte and Great Falls to membership in the league, definitely fixing their circuit for 1916 at six clubs, consisting of Seattle, Vancouver, Tacoma, Spokane, Butte and Great Falls.

BOTH ON EDGE FOR CONTEST

Willard and Moran Ready for Gong—Both Confident.

Seat Sale Enormous; Patrons Not Usual Class of Fight Followers.

New York, March 23.—When Jess Willard finished his regular training yesterday, his manager, Tom Jones, announced that with the exception of some light work today, the big champion has completed his preparations for Saturday's bout with Frank Moran. Willard was unusually lively on his feet yesterday. His shadow boxing drew cheers from a big gathering of boxing fans, which filled the entire floor and galleries of the Pioneer club's arena. His bending and setting up exercises were done gracefully, and be allowed his training staff to hurl the medicine ball against his abdomen with all their might, but he merely grinned after each shock.

Willard took on his three sparring partners for two rounds each. George Rodel and Jack Hemple were buffeted around by the champion who put plenty of steam into his blows. He made matters even more interesting, however, when Walter Monahan got into the ring. Jess evidently had not forgotten Monahan's left hand smash which raised a lump on his head last Monday. The mark of that blow did not entirely disappear, and the big fellow got no little satisfaction in stinging Monahan.

While his defense was a little faulty, Willard looks and moves like a thoroughly trained athlete and there is no question as to his almost perfect condition.

Moran Keeps Working.

Moran slushed around in the snow and sleet for a couple of miles on the rond in the morning and confined his boxing to a single round with each of his training partners, Madden, McKinnon and Kendall. He is on edge, ready for the bout, but to all inquirers, he reiterates his confidence in his ability to beat the champion. Moran's coolness and firm belief that he is going to win, make a favorable impression on everyone who sees and greets him.

With more than 85 per cent of the 11,000 and odd tickets sold, it is becoming more evident that the contest will be witnessed by the most representative assemblage of boxing enthusiastis who ever gathered about a squared circle in this country.

Owing to the high price of seats, attendance at the bout is beyond the reach of many followers of the game. The prices have been taken, however, by sport adherents who seldom attend boxing bouts except those between top-notchers. This contingent has been augmented by another group which, attracted by the glamour of the contest, is taking its first plunge into the fighting game.

Patrons Are Prominent.

In the two classes are to be found bankers, lawyers, prominent railroad officials, physicians and many other business and professional men who do not as a rule pay much, if any, attention to boxing in this city. In addition, there will be the usual attendance from the leading country and city clubs, the artist and bohemian clans.

Not all the advance sale of the high-priced boxes and reserved seats has been made to local patrons of this type, however, for fully 40 per cent of it has been to out-of-town patrons. While all the seats in the garden have not, as yet, been sold, the best of the high-priced coupons have passed out of the possession of the management. Some have already made their appearance in the hands of speculators notwithstanding the care taken by promoters to prevent the selling of tickets at an advance over their face value.

The speculators plan to reap a golden harvest as they have two days before the contests. The seats which originally cost $25 are being offered at from $50 to $75 each and are finding eager purchasers. The $20 and $15 coupons are going at double their face value. There is likely to be a great rush for the $3 and $5 seats when they are put on sale today, and it is certain that the speculators will have many representatives in the line to the box office.

Those that will fail to their lot will undoubtedly find a ready sale at 100 per cent among the eleventh-hour arrivals.

TEX RICKARD PAYS $500 FOR FIGHT BOX.

The most expensive box sold for the coming ten-round bout between Willard and Moran found a purchaser yesterday. The original price of the box was $150, but it brought $500, an increase in value which compares very favorably with the proportionate rise in some of the war brides on the stock exchange.

The purchaser was a gentleman by the name of G. D. Rickard, better known as "Tex."

Of course, he was also the original seller of the box, wherein he overplayed his hand, as he found that he needed it for some friends of his, and had to go out and purchase it in the open market at the increased rate.

TEX RICKARD, BOXING PROMOTER, HAS HAD AN ADVENTUROUS LIFE

The Man Who Is to Promote the Willard-Moran Contest Has Gambled With Fate and Dollars Since He Was a Mere Youngster and Has Made and Lost Several Fortunes—Owns Many Acres in South America.

New York, March 23.—George L. Rickard, who is promoting the Jess Willard-Frank Moran world's championship boxing contest at Madison Square garden March 25, is a strange parcel of human contradictions. His sobriquet is Tex, though he is not a Texan. He is 45 years of age, but looks and acts a dozen years younger. His manner, bearing—even personality itself—breathes the air of the plains. For all the world he appeals as a prosperous cattleman, a man uncomfortably gay in city togs; he can never disguise the swagger, the bow of legs and the leathery tan impervious to cosmetic art that stamps him a genuine product of the wild west when it was wild.

He's on the Level.

Prize fight promoter seems the very last profession in the world one would associate with Tex Rickard. He is too honestly open in speech and design, too free from petty underhandedness to classify with the ordinary run of this peculiar brood. When Rickard talks to you, he looks you straight in the eye. He can say either "yes" or "no" with unimpeachable assertion. Rickard is a prize fight promoter, doubtless one of the best known and most highly honored of the trade. He is one of the few—of the very, very few—whose word among the sons and scions of ringdom needs no further endorsement.

Rickard has made a success of his fight promotions just as he has made successes in other walks of life. Though only 45 years of age, no less than six times he has started at the foot of the ladder and worked up to a comfortable fortune. The foregoing assertion indicates the primitive instinct of this man—that of the born gambler. Cowboy, ranchman, prospector, mine owner—all of these in turn has Rickard been, but gambler still in every part he played.

Sporting Blood Aroused.

"I had no idea of going after the Willard-Moran fight," said Rickard, "until these other promoters got to playing cutthroat. That roused my sporting blood. I decided then and take a hand, and once I started there was no turning back." Which is characteristic of Tex.

"I've let half a dozen fortunes slip through my fingers," he continued, "but have been able once more to thatch the roof against old age. I have 327,000 acres, well stocked, in Paraguay. I thought I was through with the fight game till the boys got raising the offers to Willard and Moran by the thousands and five thousands. I took a hand. The pot is closed. I hope to realize something on the showdown."

Born in Kansas City.

Rickard was born in Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 2, 1871.

"When I was 2 years old," he said, "the family moved to the Panhandle, to Henrietta, Tex. I was herding at the time most boys are starting into the kindergarten," he went on.

"At 10 I made my first drive into Kansas. We had to ship from Caldwell, Kan., to the Western markets. This meant that our herds had to be driven leisurely from Texas to the nearest shipping point, a matter of several hundred miles. I remember well that on my first drive I never saw a house from the time we left Henrietta until we sighted Caldwell. We saw plenty of Indians—millions I thought at the time."

Rickard worked with cattle until he was 22 years of age. At those tender years he was elected marshal of Henrietta, Tex., his home town. This office was a combination of chief of police of the town and sheriff of the surrounding country.

"Henrietta was a pretty wild town in those days," says Rickard. "but I got along pretty well for a young colt. A few exciting experiences with two-handed gun fighters helped enliven my two years of office.

"You see, I pulled freight from Texas in 1895. Tales of Alaskan gold had trekked down into the cattle country. I was young and romantic. I had heard so many stories of the California rush from old settlers I figured an experience in Alaska would be worth the inconvenience.

"I started then for Alaska in 1895. Twenty years ago this month I was crossing Chilcoot pass. The first Klondike strike was made in July of 1896. We were at Circle City, 300 miles below on the Yukon, when the news reached us.

"All of Circle City hit the trail for the Klondike with the first whisper. The winter of '96 had set in when the word came. We had no dogs. Each man pulled his sleigh with six months provisions. After two months we reached Dawson City. Only one or two houses had been built before our arrival.

Luck at Dawson.

"Luck played me well at Dawson. Jack Dodson and I owned No. 3 and Al Mayo and I No. 4 on Bonanza creek. I sold my interest in No. 3 for $17,000. That was my first mistake. My successor took $300,000 in gold out of it. My interest in No. 4 brought me $40,000. With my capital I opened a saloon and gambling house. Flat broke, I made my way to the new gold camp at Nome.

"Grub staked there," Rickard continued. "I opened another place of the same description. This time luck was with me. For four straight years I cleaned up more than $100,000 annually. With plenty of money at command I naturally sidestepped the cruel Alaskan winters. I played Seattle and Frisco instead. I was in Frisco when I heard of the Goldfield Nev., strike in 1904. I hurried there to open a saloon and gambling house. It, like my sorry venture at Dawson and my lucky venture in Nome, I called the Northern. The house made a million in four years.

"Those days of easy money," said Rickard, "kept me busy enough. I had so much cash in the banks I didn't know what to do with it, and it kept accumulating. I built the Northern hotel of Ely, Nev., the finest hostelry between the two oceans. I invested heavily in mining properties and in real estate at Ely. Some of these investments proved wise; some foolish.

Then Entered Fight Game.

"But what put it into your head to speculate in the fight game, of which absolutely you knew nothing?" Rickard was asked.

"I was just coming to that," Tex replied.

"I was in New York on business when Terry McGovern and Jimmy Britt fought in Madison Square garden. It was the first fight I had ever seen. Believe me, I thought it the grandest spectacle I had ever witnessed. I went back to Goldfield and could talk of nothing else. I guess my friends of Goldfield were jealous of me. At least they determined they would have a fight of their own. Thought it would advertise the town. They thought me qualified for the job of promoter, as I was the only one who had seen a fight under the Marquis of Queensberry rules. I accepted the commission.

"I immediately wired east, offering McGovern and Britt a purse of $15,000 to box at Goldfield Labor day, 1906. Joe Humphreys, Terry's manager, showed the telegram up and down Broadway, as from some 'bug.' He did not take the matter seriously until it was too late. Finally I got in touch with Joe Gans at Salt Lake, offering $20,000 for a fight between the negro and Battling Nelson. Billy Nolan, Nelson's manager, requested a purse of $30,000. I was green as grass in the fight game, as you may realize. I accepted by wire within five minutes. Two hours later the $30,000 in gold had been placed in the bank at Goldfield.

A Rude Awakening.

"What a rude awakening awaited me! I didn't know at that time that anybody was at large if he happened to be dishonest. We didn't tolerate dishonesty in my time in Texas. In the Yukon no one hid his gold. It was customary for travelers to help themselves to whatever food and nourishment they needed from any man's cabin. No questions were asked. Doors were never locked or windows broken. And if he washed the dishes and tidied up after his meal every one was welcome. Often I have gone rummaging for sugar, baking powder or something like that in a stranger's cabin and found tins filled with gold dust. But to my knowledge up in that country not so much as a grain of the yellow metal was ever molested. They say things changed when the scum flooded the country, but that was after my time.

"How they did take me on that first fight! Nolan whined and threatened till he made me boost Nelson's end to $22,500 instead of $20,000. Gans, pure white in everything but skin, got an extra thousand and bonus. The purse eventually was $33,500 instead of $30,000. They put a press agent on the job who spent hundreds of dollars for pictures that were never printed. His postage bill was something in the neighborhood of $500. Thirteen thousand was sunk in the arena. We paid George Siler, the referee, another thousand. On top of all this I was worried sick by Nolan. He insisted toward the last that Gans should make the weight of 133 ringside, with all his fighting equipment on. Gans didn't think he could possibly do it. Not until Joe had actually weighed in was I sure the fight would be held. Nolan's demand for the last pound of flesh killed Joe Gans. The negro master of the lightweights never rallied from the persecution of such severe training and the strenuous and long drawn out battle.

It Is to Laugh.

"Every time I think of my Goldfield fight promotion I have to laugh. How they took me on the fight was bad enough, but what they did with the fight pictures was a shame. Nolan came East with three sets. I never heard any more from him. They tell me the films went well through the west. Another fellow named Dixon—I forget his first name now—highly touted as to honesty and integrity, took the pictures to the Pacific coast and through the Middle West. He was always writing to me of the fine business he was doing. But he finally came back with no profits to show and a bill of expenses for $800. He sued me and collected the $800. Can you beat that?

Jeffries Disliked Nevada.

"My troubles and worries over the Gans-Nelson fight," Rickard said, "were little enough compared with those connected with the Jim Jeffries-Jack Johnson battle at Reno. Now here is something that I do not believe has ever been published. Do you know that Jeffries had a personal contract with me that the fight was not to be held in Nevada? He said the climate was too hot and dry for him. He consented to Reno at the last moment and only as a great personal favor to me. I had intended to take the Jeffries-Johnson match to Salt Lake City when I signed the two big fellows in New York. Had I done so I am sure the gate receipts would have been half a million dollars at least. Against my better judgment I allowed the San Francisco papers to influence me. The Frisco dailies started a campaign for the match. They finally talked me into going there to look over the ground. I fell at last, much to my sorrow.

"I guess you know most of the rest. Governor Gillett of California stopped the fight on short notice. I lost the $3,000 I had paid on the purchase of Jim Griffith's license and in a hundred other ways. The lumber and work on the arena were a dead loss. I refunded every cent that had come from the sale of tickets. I might have told the holders to come to Reno if they cared to get a run for their money. But I stood the gaff. It wasn't the fault of the innocent public that Governor Gillett crossed us all. That move killed him politically, though I think his action was intended for a political grandstand play.

"I remember distinctly one amusing incident connected with the unhappy circumstance that gave me a good laugh in spite of the discouragement. When Walter Kelly heard the governor had side-tracked the show for Frisco he threw away his Gillette safety razor.

"When that blow fell I was taken unawares, all right. You see, I didn't have the face to go back and ask the Salt Lake City people to take me in after I had given them the go-by for San Francisco. I simply had to make the best possible front and the biggest gamble of my life by compromising on Reno, once big Jeff's objection to Nevada was overcome. With any other fight I probably would have been stung hard. But there was so much interest in this particular match that even in Reno it broke all records for gate receipts. Almost $280,000 flowed into the box office, yielding a clear profit of more than $100,000."

"Do you think you can break even on the Moran-Willard fight?" Tex was asked.

"Well, that's a gamble. But whether or not I do, I'll make good all my obligations. You see, I've worked pretty hard the last seven years. Went to South America after the Johnson-Jeffries fight under a five-year contract with the Land and Cattle company of Paraguay. This was a syndicate of English and French capital that controlled 5,000,000 acres and owned 50,000 head. I went around with my eyes open all the time and managed to get title to 327,000 acres of my own.

"I've had my ups and downs on the wheel of fortune. Last time I got a good stake I decided I'd put it in something tangible that couldn't be toyed with easily and that would provide against old age. I've got just that thing in South America, so why should I worry? I can't lose much on the Willard-Moran fight, that is a moral certainty. And don't you see, it is a recreation. I've worked pretty hard for seven years. A little play would tone me up."

CHICAGO'S HOPE GONE.

Toledo, Ohio, March 23.—Chicago shots its last bolt in the American Bowling congress tournament yesterday when its final entries went into action without catching the leaders. With none of its players left, the big city has all four of the events in its power, the Commodore Barrys leading the five-man event with 2,905, Hank Marino and Sykes Thoma topping the doubles with 1,279, Frank Shaw sharing the lead in the singles with Ben Huesman of Cincinnati with 685 and Sykes Thoma topping the all events with 1,919.

Ei Harkenrider was the heaviest scorer in action, with a tie for second place in the doubles, where he was paired with W. Dohrman of Fort Wayne for 1,273, which equaled the mark set by Mattie Faetz and Charley Hildebrandt of Chicago several days ago, and by scoring 1,877 in the all events that tied Wartchow of Omaha for third in that event.

Jess Prichett of Indianapolis was high in the singles for the day with 670, that ran him into sixth place.

The Gardens of Detroit shot 2,736 in the late shift of the tournament, the best of the evening on both shifts.

South Bend night will be celebrated by the bowlers in the American bowling congress tournament when fourteen teams from that city take the alleys tonight.

The Allen boys of Detroit, national two-man champions, also will roll today. Tom Haley, who won the individual event six years ago, is on the same squad with the Allens.

VIRGINIA'S MODESTY.

The following members have been picked for the All-Range basket ball team by Manager Dillon of the Virginia basket ball team, these players being chosen as the very best on the iron range, every regular player being a member of the Virginia quint:

Substitutes — Dullea, forward, Gilbert; Burkman, guard, Hibbing.

Phillies Beat Cubs.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 23.—Outhit 2 to 1, the Philadelphia Nationals yesterday offset the superior attack of the Chicago Nationals by fast fielding and won their fourth straight exhibition game from Tinker's men, 4 to 3. Three fast double plays stopped the Cubs at critical moments. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia Nationals	4	6	0

Batteries—Lavender, McConnell and Fisher; Archer; Oeschger, Baumgartner and Adams.

SUPERIORITES ARE HUMBLED

Duluth Central Quint Wins See-Saw Contest Here.

Christoferson's Entry Into Game Carries Locals to Victory.

In the fastest and most sensational game played in the Washington gymnasium this season, the local Central high school basket ball quint yesterday afternoon defeated the crack Superior Central five by the score of 38 to 30. The game yesterday was the second victory of the season over the Purple and White aggregation from across the bay, and it made a fitting conclusion to a highly successful season.

The game began fast, and neither side scored for some time. The Duluth team, however, soon found itself and forged into a commanding lead. The Superiorites then braced and rapidly cut down the local's lead, the first half ending 18 to 16, with the Duluth quint on the long end.

Both teams started with a rush in the final period. The visitors got the better of it and had a four-point lead at the five-minute period. The Superiorites could not get through the stiff Duluth defense for short baskets, and they resorted to long shooting as a result. The brilliant work of Duff in this respect, who caged several goals from unbelievable angles, made things look dark for the Duluthians. The fast and snappy team work of the diminutive Duluth quint soon came into evidence, however, and the Purple and White men were swept off their feet. The score see-sawed for a while, and then the big burst of speed by the locals shot them into the lead, with the final score 38 to 30.

The work of Christoferson, who has been ineligible for about a month, was the shining feature of the locals' victory. He caged eight baskets and was all over the floor. The wonderful work of "Snoose" saved the game time and again, and it is believed that had he been in the Hibbing and Cathedral games there would have been a different story. The rest of the team also played hard and consistently. The Superiorites came across the bay flushed from a wonderful showing in the Wisconsin state tournament, and they were confident of cleaning up the locals. The brilliant offensive work of Capt. Bradley and Duff was the feature of the Superior attack, while their defense also was good.

Incidentally the Superior rooters did not encounter the eggs, rocks, boards and snow bombardments, which the Duluth team and supporters experienced on their trips to Superior in the last two years.

Between halves the Duluth seconds defeated the Superior "scrubs" by the score of 25 to 9. The excellent work of Coach Blake of the Duluth team showed itself in the playing of his men yesterday, and he expressed himself as being highly pleased with their showing.

SPEAKER WILL TRAIN; SALARY TALK LATER

Boston, Mass., March 23.—Tris Speaker, crack center fielder of the world's champion Red Sox, who had refused to join the team because of objections to a salary reduction, yesterday wrote President Lannin that he would go to the training camp at Hot Springs, Ark., at once. Speaker will go through the practice season and take up the salary question when the Red Sox return to Boston.

The contract tendered Speaker called for $9,000, the amount of his salary in 1913. The following year Federal league activities resulted in his obtaining a contract at $35,000 for two seasons.

FIREMAN'S WIFE APPEALS FOR DOUBLE PLATOON

While the Duluth firemen are battling for the double-platoon system, "A Fireman's Wife" appeals to the muse to aid her in presenting the cause of her spouse. Following is an argument for "The Double Platoon":

"Listen, people, and you shall hear
About the firemen who know no fear
Of water, smoke, cold or flame;
But they are thinking just the same
That it isn't just quite right
That they must work both day and night;
And their wives must stay alone
Because poor hubby can't stay at home
Except to eat his meals and run;
I tell you it is not much fun.
These men are ready, fire to fight,
At the blaze of noon or at the dead of night.
No matter if it is warm or cold
They are always ready, brave and bold.
It may seem to you, the passerby,
That it's very pleasing to the eye
To see these men, so trim and neat,
From the top of head to the soles of feet,
But just you step behind the scenes
And see what to be a fireman means.
Of course the city has been very just,
And give it credit that we must,
And I am sure that it will do
All it can for these men in blue.
The city of Duluth, I say,
Is one of the finest in the land today,
So one and all help boost and boom
And please let in the two-platoon."

RELIEF FAIR IS OPENED

Foreign Consuls and Prominent Duluthians Will Give Addresses.

Manager Binheim Announces Details of Program for Three Days.

The official opening will take place tonight at 7:45. The following program will be rendered today:

Afternoon—Piano solos, Elia Hanson, Grace Cornish and Mrs. Emil Borth; violin solo, Oscar Kahan, accompanist, Sophie Appel; piano duet, Leify Bergson and Elia Hanson; victrola concert every afternoon.

Dinner, 6 to 8—Piano solo, Clara Lindvall; Spanish dance, Dorothy Crouch; piano solo, Frieda Hassenger; baritone solo, Walter Jaap, accompanist, Gretchen Jaap.

Evening—Orchestra. Official opening of the bazar and fair. Addresses by Max Binheim, president and manager; W. I. Prince, mayor of Duluth; Johannes Grunow, imperial German consul, St. Paul; Edgar Prochnik, imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian consul, St. Paul; B. Silberstein, city commissioner, and Rabbi M. Lefkovits; children's mass chorus, Rev. P. T. Bratzel, conductor; Mrs. Bratzel, accompanist; orchestra; cornet solo, Walter Lange; club swinging, M. E. Alletzhauesser, director; "Das Deutsche Lied" (Kolliwoda), "Einkehr," (Zoellner), Germania Singing society; orchestra; vocal solo, Mrs. Donna Ribletta Fiaaten; orchestra.

One of the most interesting features of the fair is the exhibit of German newspapers in the United States, which will be found on file in the foreign language newspaper exhibit Booth No. 16. There will be newspapers and periodicals from Minnesota, Missouri, New York, Wisconsin, Iowa, Tennessee, Georgia, Washington, Texas, Virginia, and many other states.

War Souvenirs.

The war souvenir booth is decorated with the American colors, while Booth No. 6 has been erected in original Dutch style. The drug counter has been installed in No. 15 and the 5-and-10-cent counter will be in Booth No. 24. The prize committee, which takes charge of all the prizes, is at No. 26.

The country grocery store is the first booth on the left side of the auditorium next to the entrance, and the executive office will be between the drug counter and the candy kitchen in the center on the north side of the building.

The Austro-Hungarian auxiliary committee of the fair has arranged for a band concert to be given at 7 o'clock at the Soo station in order to celebrate the arrival of the German and Austro-Hungarian consuls. The reception committee will escort the out-of-town guests directly to the Auditorium, as the official opening of the fair will take place at 7:45 sharp. The band, under the direction of Charles Helmer, will play in front of the Auditorium building and the fair orchestra, under the direction of Gustav Flaaten, will play the overture in the inside of the building. A special stage has been erected and flags, palms, trees and flowers will be used for the decoration of the platform.

Manager Binheim announces that the refreshment room will be open from 2 p. m. until midnight, and that a regular supper will be served in the main dining room between 5 and 8 today, tomorrow and Saturday. This is the menu:

Saturday—Lamb, roast beef, potatoes, pies of all kinds, cakes.

A special delegation of Superior guests is expected today, while the Proctor people are scheduled for Saturday. Special trains arrived this afternoon from Hibbing, Virginia and Chisholm and were met by a special committee.

The members of the sale force and the supervisors must report and register at the office of the Auditorium and receive their badges and passes and books right there. The treasurer's and general cashier's office will also be in Booth No. 2. Special cashiers have been appointed for the dining room and refreshment room. The postoffice is Booth No. 23 and is at the right side of the Auditorium entrance. The Edison Electric company has illuminated the building from the outside and inside with a special red, white and blue effect.

Dancing will be allowed during the dull moments and in the afternoon and evenings after 10 o'clock. The fair will be closed at 11:45 sharp every night.

REFUSES TO HONOR TALBOT REQUISITION

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—Governor Samuel M. Ralston late yesterday refused to honor a requisition for the return of John W. Talbot of South Bend, head of the Order of Owls, who is wanted in Illinois for alleged defamation of character of officers of the Loyal Order of Moose. The requisition was not in proper form, Governor Ralston held, as it was signed by the lieutenant governor of Illinois instead of the governor. When the corrected papers are presented, Governor Ralston will consider other aspects of the case.

GRAVE DIGGER TELLS OF HIS STRUGGLES

Federal Employe Maintains His Family on $40 Per Month.

Washington, March 23.—A grave digger from Arlington National cemetery told the house committee considering the Nolan wage bill for government employes yesterday how he managed to keep his little family together on $40 a month and fell into tears in the midst of his recital. The bill proposes a minimum wage of $3 a day for Federal workers.

The man who represented the grave diggers in the cemetery came fresh from his work. Wet clay clung to his worn shoes and tattered coat. He started his story boldly enough but as he progressed, telling how it was impossible for him to buy meat for his wife and two children, tears welled up in his eyes, his chin quivered and finally his words became inaudible. "Out of my $40 a month," he said, "I pay $8 for rent, $5 for carfare and the other $27 pays all our other expenses. We eat beans and hominy principally. We never have meat. Even beans and hominy are going up. I remember when beans were 8 cents a quart; now they are 20.

"Those graves are hard to dig. We have five to dig today, and see how it is raining! Many a time I have been up to my knees in water and mud digging and digging just for the sake of my wife and children. Eight years I have been there and when I ask for a raise they say, 'Well, you know what you can do if you don't like it.' God knows how we would have lived if my wife had not taken in some sewing."

Other witnesses testified that as a result of small wages, installment houses thrive on the workers.

SOLDIERS WILL WORK ON FARMS

Western Canada's Problem of Finding Farm Help Solved.

Winnipeg, Man., March 23.—An official order extending to every noncommissioned officer and man in active service in Canada leave of absence not exceeding one month to go out on farms, has solved Western Canada's problem of finding help to plant this year's grain crop, in the opinion of government officials here.

Under the provisions of the order, the soldiers will receive full pay for their service in the army in addition to the payment received from farmers for their work. Free transportation from camp to farm will be provided by the government to the extent of 200 miles, and operation of the military order will begin as soon as conditions permit of working the land.

Twenty-seven thousand men are under arms in Military District No. 10, and the proportionate number who can go out to plant the crop should be adequate for the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Units farther west will take care of Alberta province.

To prevent soldiers taking unfair advantage of the order, the authorities added certain regulations, one of them stipulating that leave of absence would be given for no other purpose than to aid in the agricultural work and that the man applying for leave must present proof that the offer of farm work has been obtained.

Returning from the field, the men must produce a certificate from the persons for whom they worked; each certificate must be countersigned by the signature of a clergyman or two responsible residents in the vicinity of the land on which the work was done.

Premier T. C. Norris of Manitoba already has begun active work for carrying out the order. He said that Western provincial governments would co-operate in the distribution of men.

No Child Is "Naturally Lazy"

Something is wrong.

That something is usually constipation.

Constipation is one of the greatest dangers of childhood—not only in childhood but because it is an insidious habit that grows and becomes chronic as the years go on.

Do not use cathartics and strong purges for children, except on doctor's orders. They weaken the natural process of evacuation and are dangerously habit-forming.

Nujol, a pure white mineral oil, is the medically endorsed remedy for constipation. Nujol acts solely as a lubricant oiling the intestinal tract, softening the contents, and thus promoting easy normal evacuations. It is not absorbed by the system, and may be taken in any quantity without harm. Hence it is especially recommended for children.

Nujol is colorless, odorless and tasteless Over 42,000 doctors already have asked us to send them samples of Nujol.

Write for booklet, "The Rational Treatment of Constipation." If your druggist hasn't it, we will send a pint bottle of Nujol prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"L. E." writes—"I feel tired, headachy, constipated; have awful complexion, coated tongue, and feel nervous and can't sleep.

Answer—Overwork, worry and constipation will cause your blood to become diseased and impoverished. You need a good laxative and blood purifier. Start taking three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur) at once.

"Mabel" asks—"What may I do to get rid of dandruff?"

Answer—The use of plain yellow minyol is the best treatment for removing dandruff. It cleans, soothes and vitalizes the scalp and promotes natural growth of hair. It is greaseless and contains no alcohol.

"Obese" writes—"All I eat seems to turn to fat, and I am over in weight about fifty pounds. May I reduce safely?"

Answer—Five-grain arbolone tablets reduce weight if taken regularly and persistently. They reduce by degrees and are perfectly harmless to the system. Obtain from druggists in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Ben F." asks: "How am I to get relief from rheumatism? Is there a cure?"

Answer: You may get relief and permanent help from the use of the following: 2 drams iodide of potassium, 4 drams sodium salicylate, ½ oz. wine of colchicum, 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort and 5 ozs. syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed. I have prescribed this mixture in thousands of cases, and it has given wonderful results.

"Sick" writes—"I am slowly recovering from a long spell of sickness and I am thin and have no strength."

Answer—For a good, general invigorating tonic and flesh producer there is none better than three-grain hyponuclane tablets, which you may obtain at any well-stocked drug store. Take them with your meals, and in a short time you should notice an increase in weight. Your health will be much improved and your color good.

"Worker" says: "I am a very hard worker and am obliged to be in and out of doors constantly. I take colds regularly as a result, and sometimes I cough severely for days. What may I use to break up a cold quickly?"

Answer: The best thing you might use to break up a cold and at the same time rid the system of inflammation would be a simple syrup made from 2½ oz. concentrated essence mentho-laxene and one pint of plain sugar syrup. Take regularly until relieved. When you feel a cold coming on, start using this simple laxative tonic, cough syrup for immediate and permanent benefit.

"Max" asks—"What can I take to give me strength of body and power of mind? I seem to have lost all vigor and I'm dull, tottery and weak. I am restless and sleep very little. Have pains in my head and just a general 'down and out' feeling possesses me. Cannot stand late hours or stimulants any more. I'm only 35, so I know it isn't old age."

Answer—Your physical and mental strength need the aid of a good tonic and builder. Three-grain cadomene tablets should tone your nerves and get your system and brain in good, active condition. You are possibly the victim of overwork, worry, overindulgence or loss of sleep.

"Busy" writes—"I have had pains in my back for months. Now I have headaches and chills and fever all the time. My complexion is awful, and I have swelling of the feet and my eyes are bloodshot and have lost their brightness.

Answer—Don't be alarmed over your condition. You have kidney trouble, but with the continued use of balmwort tablets you should receive immediate and permanent relief. These tablets come in sealed tubes with directions.—Advertisement.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SEEKING DATA ABOUT FOREST

Forest Supervisor Desires Information About Superior Forest.

District Rangers Asked to Gather Matter About Beauty Spot.

Ely, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supervisor L. M. Brownell of the Superior National forest has sent out to the district rangers a self-explanatory letter. The forest service is making an effort to get this beauty spot on the map in big letters and make this the recreation playground of the nation.

The information will be of inestimable value to the lover of the great outdoors and will put the seeker for recreation in touch with a country that cannot be surpassed. This forest is about the only place in the United States where the moose in all his wildness can be found. The forest is also a game reserve and hunters and trappers are not allowed. This has caused wild life to multiply to such an extent that a trip through the forest is rare that does not bring to view moose and deer in numbers.

Letter to Rangers.

With a view to getting all the information possible under this "Recreation Reconnaissance," Supervisor Brownell has issued the following letter to the district rangers:

"District Rangers—It is desired to compile during the coming calendar year all the information possible covering the recreative resources of the Superior forest.

"While the forest does not lie in a mountainous country, I believe that we have the equal of any of the national forests from this standpoint. We are located right in the famous lake region of Minnesota, where there are still large game and fur-bearing animals as well as good fishing and scenic spots. The forest is being used more and more each year by people who desire to get out and rought it. There are thousands of acres of wild country that probably will always remain in that condition. There are comparatively few people at this time who are aware of this. However, this country is becoming better known each year and the demand for information is increasing in proportion.

"In order to have this information available for the use of the public it is necessary to get the data together in some form. For this reason I am going to ask you to submit to this office on Dec. 31, 1916, the following report:

Data That Is Sought.

"Summer Houses—Discuss altitude, climatic conditions, special sites; indicate by numerals on the map kind of timber, ground conditions, capacity of site, distance from nearest town or railroad and method of getting in.

"Camping Sites—Indicate by numerals on the map capacity, kind of timber, wood chance, ground conditions, distances from other points on camp sites.

"Water Routes—Number of portages and lengths and condition, stages of water, points of interest, length of route, camping places.

"Water Falls—Location and route, height of falls, size of stream, time of year most water is going over, etc.

"Game—Kinds, habitat, best place to see game and time of year.

"Fishing—Kind of fish, season for catching, best places for angling, kind of bait to use, etc.

"Roads—From and to, condition for travel, i. e., kind of vehicle that can be used and load carried, points of interest on route, etc.

"Trails—From and to, condition for travel, points of interest, etc.

"You should use numerals to designate each feature on the map and be sure to refer to them in the written report.

"I realize that you will not be able to get everything in this year, but I wish you would get as much as possible and then add to it as you get the data.

"A map is inclosed as well as a legend sheet and a table of distances which should be filled out as accurately as possible.

"L. M. BROWNELL,
"Forest Supervisor."

ELY RECEIVES BIDS.

Tenders Handed In for Building Settling Tank.

Ely, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council held a special meeting last night at which the cost of the construction of the sanitary sewer along several streets was computed and ordered assessed to the abutting property. The council also received bids for the construction of the settling tank at the water and light plant as follows: Wm. Danforth, $34,500; Risberg & Merwick, $33,424; Johnson & Nelson, $30,975; W. D. Lovell, $29,995; Bailey, Marsh & Co., $29,500; Lawrence McCann company, $28,920.

In committee of the whole it was decided that all the bids with the exception of those of Lawrence McCann company and Bailey-Marsh be rejected and the certified checks returned to them. The other bids were laid over until the next meeting to be held on March 27.

Resolutions were passed providing for the laying of sewer and water pipe to cost $2,385.56 in West Tenth street; for sewer and water pipe in the alley between Tenth and Chandler streets to cost $2,454 and in Lawrence street in Vail's addition to cost $2,010.10.

On the first named job the sewer pipe will cost $1,109.39. Of this amount $739.59 will be assessed against abutting property and the balance against the city. On the second job the sewer pipe will cost $1,166.03, of which $777.35 will be paid by the property owners and the balance by the city, and the third job the cost of sewer pipe will be $828.36, of which the property owners will pay $552.17, and the city $276.09.

COMMITTEES NOW PERFECTING PLANS

Making Arrangements to Entertain State Firemen in Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through subcommittees appointed last night at a meeting of the general committee on arrangements for the State Firemen's convention, to be held here June 13, 14 and 15, are well under way.

The general committee consisted of C. E. French, C. M. Tramontin, Ernest Drew, A. H. Kieffman, George Nitch, Alfred McAlpin, George W. Roberts, R. S. O'Neil, W. B. Brown, William Conley, D. J. Harrington, Morris Peck, J. H. McNiven, A. R. Syme, F. M. Andrews, R. M. Heskett, William A. Masters and John Pasich.

Alfred McAlpin was elected permanent chairman and Ernest Drew secretary.

Sub-committees are: Transportation and badges—A. H. Kieffman, D. J. Harrington, Ernest Drew. Appropriations—R. S. O'Neil, R. M. Heskett, C. M. Tramontin. Advertising—J. H. McNiven, Morris Peck, F. M. Andrews. Entertainment—J. H. McNiven, A. R. Syme, C. E. French, Morris Peck, William A. Masters, W. B. Brown.

Want Date Changed.

An effort will be made through consultation with A. J. Myler, secretary of the State Firemen's association, to have the convention date changed to June 27, 28 and 29 so there will be no conflict with the Elks' convention, to be held in Duluth June 13-15.

If the opinion of the general committee meets with the approval of the council, Chisholm will embody its Fourth of July celebration with the entertainment arranged for the firemen's convention.

REPUTED DULUTH COUPLE ORDERED FROM VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A couple giving their names as "Mr. and Mrs. E. Rowe" and alleged to hail from Duluth were ordered to leave town today by Judge Carey after being arraigned before the municipal judge. F. A. Holdridge, a local second-hand dealer, alleged the woman accosted him on the street last night, but "Mrs. Rowe" denied the charge today.

VIRGINIAN IN FOR BIG INHERITANCE

Miner to Get $200,000 By Death of Brother in War.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Disinherited and driven from his home in the province of Calabria, Italy, ten years ago by his father in a fit of rage over a youthful indiscretion, Luigi Tounitti, who for the past six years has worked as an underground miner here and at other points on the range, has fallen heir to a fortune estimated at $200,000, by the death of his only brother, who was killed last fall in the fighting on the plains of Isonzo. Tounitti learned of his fortune, when a letter was handed to him yesterday when he came from work in the village of Franklin.

First News of Father's Death.

The letter brought Tounitti the first direct word he has had from his old home in a decade, informing him of the death of his father four years ago and of the bequest to his brother, who was an officer in the Italian army, of his estates. By the death of his brother, killed in battle, Luigi Tounitti will become his only heir.

Tounitti entertained royally last night and has announced his intention of going back to Italy as soon as possible to claim his fortune, but worked in the mine today.

JURY DISAGREES.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being out twelve hours, the jury that heard the case of the state of Minnesota vs. Louis Knudsen, disagreed and was discharged by Judge Kroberger.

Knudsen, who is a fisherman residing on the north shore, was arrested two weeks ago by Game Warden August Tabor of this city, and Kreiger of Duluth, charged with having venison in his possession. He was brought here and arraigned in court and pleaded not guilty. His trial was heard before Justice Edward Kroberger and a jury. The case went to the jury at 8 o'clock Tuesday night and after being out all night, during which time many ballots were taken, only to find that there was a dead-lock, the jury remaining 6 to 6.

John Dwan prosecuted the case for the state and B. F. Fowler was the attorney for the defendant.

According to Game Warden August Tabor the state will push the case at an early date.

FARMERS' COURSE AT CHISHOLM LIBRARY

Chisholm, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. G. Larsen, county agricultural agent, will hold a two days' short course for farmers at the library on March 30 and 31.

Subjects to be discussed are: "Care of Milk and Cream to Make a Dairy Profitable"; "Improving and Feeding the Dairy Cow"; "Standardizing Potatoes and Preventing Diseases." The speakers will include Supt. M. J. Thompson of the Northeast Experiment farm, A. B. Hostetter, district supervisor, and I. C. Rutledge, instructor in agriculture in the local schools.

ELY PICKED FOR NEXT GATHERING

St. Louis County Educational Meeting to Be Held There.

Chisholm, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of boards of education and school officers in independent St. Louis county districts held here yesterday in the high school decided to meet next in Ely at a date to be fixed by the officers. At yesterday's meeting there were in attendance representatives from Duluth, Ely, Tower, Aurora, Biwabik, Gilbert, Eveleth, Virginia, Mountain Iron, Buhl, Hibbing, Nashwauk, Coleraine, Grand Rapids and Meadowlands.

A preliminary meeting was called to order at 11 a. m. by County Supt. N. A. Young, who addressed the meeting.

At 12:30 p. m. luncheon was served by the students of the domestic science department of the high school, under the direction of Miss Crow. A musical program given during the luncheon included selections by the high school orchestra, a violin solo by Edward Hagen and vocal solos by Peter Grosso and Carl Johnson.

The visitors then looked over the new high school building before the opening of the session at 2 o'clock. L. D. Coffman, dean of the department of education of the state university, was the principal speaker in the afternoon, talking on "Scientific Measurement of Educational Products." Numbers were given during the session by the boys' and girls' glee clubs, the boys' quartet and the double quartet.

The visitors observed work of the athletic classes in the gymnasium.

APPOINTMENTS MADE IN GRAND RAPIDS

J. F. McCormick Succeeds C. O. Johnson as Village Marshal.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The business of the first meeting of the new council of the village of Grand Rapids was transacted last evening. President George A. Alton, newly elected, was in the chair, and the other two new members of the council, George F. Kremer and A. J. Le Febvre, participated in the meeting. Recorder McVicar and Trustee Arscott are the only members of the old council to remain on the council.

The interest of the meeting centered in the appointment of a village marshal. Applications were received from G. O. Johnson, who has been chief officer for several years, J. F. McCormick, Joseph McVeigh, J. A. Burns, Albert Hachey, F. X. Nelson. McCormick receiving the appointment on the first ballot, with three votes. Johnson and Burns each receiving one vote. Dr. J. Gendron was named health officer, the village printing was let to the two newspapers, the village council proceedings and other matter to be published in both papers, each to receive half of the legal rate. The second Monday of each month was set as the regular meeting day.

ELY KNIFER GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Given Twenty-Five Days for Attacking Pair With Knife.

Ely, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a trial before a local court Joe Koprinic, alleged to have attacked and cut Mr. and Mrs. Anton Knapp with whom he boarded, with a knife and slashed both, was given a straight sentence of twenty-five days in the county jail.

It developed that Mr. Knapp on returning home Sunday evening found Koprinic intoxicated and creating a disturbance and when he remonstrated with Koprinic the latter cut Mr. Knapp on the wrist and face. Mrs. Knapp who tried to interfere was also cut in the arm. They swore out a warrant and had Koprinic arrested.

VIRGINIA YOUTHS NOT YET RELEASED

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Until the county attorney and presiding magistrate of West Union, Iowa, where two Virginia youths, Perry and Rogers, last week received sentences of six months at the county work farm for vagrancy, recommend leniency in their cases, the governor of the state will not do so. He so informed Mayor Michael Boylan in answer to a message sent by the mayor and Assistant County Attorney Edward Boyle. Perry and Rogers started out to see the world about a month ago and were traveling by stealing rides from place to place on trains when they were arrested, charged with vagrancy and sentenced to serve six months each on county road crews working under the direction of the work farm superintendent. Rogers comes from a well respected Virginia family and bears a good reputation. He is 16 years old. Perry is 18 and formerly traveled with a carnival company. The pair were on their way to join a carnival company when apprehended. Virginia friends will renew their efforts to secure their release.

HEALTH AND INCOME.

Both Kept Up on Scientific Food.

Good, sturdy health helps one a lot to make money. With the loss of health one's income is liable to shrink, if not entirely dwindle away.

When a young lady has to make her own living, good health is her best asset.

"I am alone in the world," writes a Chicago girl, "dependent on my own efforts for my living. I am a clerk, and through close application to work and a boarding house diet, I became nervous, and got so bad off it was almost impossible for me to keep up in the office.

"A friend suggested to me the idea of trying Grape-Nuts food which I did, making it a large part of at least two meals a day.

"Today I am free from dyspepsia and the ills of an overworked and improperly nourished brain and body. To Grape-Nuts I owe the recovery of my health, and the ability to retain my position and income." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Valuable Item for Men

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever.

The treatment consists of (3) three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and widely prescribed and dispensed by physicians and well-stocked pharmacists. Full directions for self-administration now accompany each tube. It is claimed that these tablets possess the most wonderful tonic-invigorating powers which can soon be experienced after taking them.

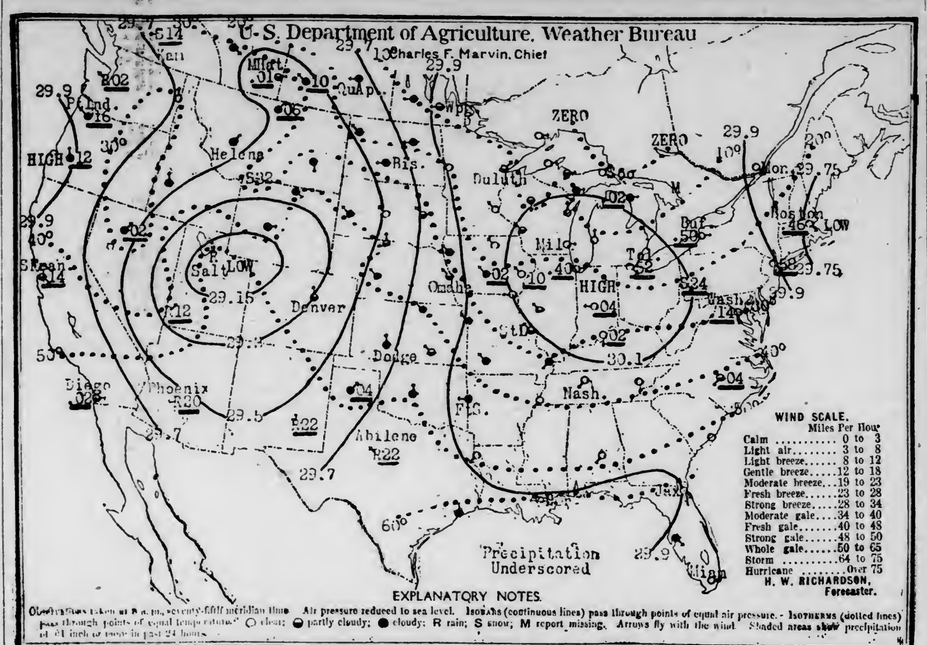
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. - Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature. ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 24 hours.

SNOW

This bright weather is something of a teaser, for it keeps cold enough so that the desired melting of the ice and snow occurs only in the sun, while in the shade, freezing is going on. But there is no denying the fact that the weather is beautiful and general conditions agreeable. Still here's hoping that summer will come some time, which will be different from last year.

A year ago today was fair. The sun rose this morning at 6:03 and will set this evening at 6:26, giving twelve hours and twenty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Another disturbance of marked intensity is centered over the Rocky mountain region. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow resulted in the extreme Southwest, far West and Saskatchewan and Alberta. Snow also fell over most of the Eastern states in connection with the depression centered off the New England coast. The temperature has fallen decidedly in most districts from the Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic coast and over the Western plateaus, and has risen throughout the greater portion of the Northwest."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 23.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Minnesota—Rain or snow tonight and Friday; warmer tonight.

Iowa—Rain tonight and Friday; warmer tonight and in east portion Friday.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness, followed by rain or snow Friday and in west portion tonight; rising temperature.

North Dakota—Snow or rain tonight and Friday; colder Friday.

Montana—Rain or snow tonight; colder in south and north-central portions; Friday partly cloudy.

Lower Michigan—Fair and warmer tonight; Friday increasing cloudiness and warmer, probably local snows or rain.

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy and warmer tonight; Friday cloudy and warmer, probably local snows.

LOCAL FORECAST

Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion Iron ranges: Snow tonight and Friday. Warmer tonight. Lowest temperature 20 to 25 deg. at and near Duluth-Superior and along the north shore and 15 to 20 deg. on the Iron ranges. Fresh to strong northeasterly winds.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special Commercial club committee of twelve tomorrow will begin to raise the $3,000 necessary to insure Virginia's having a team in the Northern league of baseball clubs during the season of 1916. The committee consists of E. F. Murray, A. D. Heritage, Albert Bickford, H. S. Gillespie, Charles Grabowski, Alexander Reid, R. A. Peers, Edward Boyle, F. E. Stephan, Louis Cohen, Arthur Merrell, Ernest Sigel and Max Lewis.

A. B. Coates, who has heretofore devoted considerable attention to the Virginia baseball team and who is its principal owner, will not have the time to devote to the game that he has formerly had, being busy developing new mining properties in Michigan and the work of getting the team under way will be left to the Commercial club committee. Unless Virginia can arrange for an advance sale of tickets to the total of $3,000, the city will have no baseball team.

TO GIVE ELY CONCERT.

Two Harbors Male Chorus and Others Will Entertain.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Two Harbors Varde Male chorus will go to Ely Sunday and give a concert Sunday afternoon, assisted by Martin Sollie, cornetist; Miss Mary Flynn, piano accompanist, and Miss Vienna Passanen, violinist. The Varde chorus is composed of sixteen male voices and since its organization three years ago has given many pleasing entertainments before local audiences. The concert Sunday will be given in the Elco theater and will commence promptly at 2:30 p. m.

Following is the program: (a) "Fanevagt" (O. Olson), (b) "Naar Fjordene Blaaner" (A. Paulson), Varde Male chorus; "The Swiss Boy," (Paul De Ville); cornet solo, M. Meyer and chorus; (b) "America" (H. Carey), Varde Male chorus.

HIBBING MASONIC TEMPLE BLAZE

Starts From Unknown Cause, Chiefly Damaging Store Underneath.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire late last night in the Masonic temple building caused damage amounting to approximately $300 actual fire loss, starting presumably in the joists of the first floor, from a cause unknown. Great clouds of smoke poured through the building doing damage principally to the stock of goods in the Golden Rule store on the first floor.

The Masonic lodge room above was also filled with smoke but the amount of damage could not be learned this morning, although it is thought that it will be slight.

MAHONING CASE IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing of the case of the town of Stuntz vs. the Mahoning townsite set for this week before all the judges of the Eleventh judicial district, has been postponed indefinintely. Advices to this effect were received today by Attorney Victor L. Power, who was representing the township of Stuntz. This is the third postponement. The hearing has aroused much interest in the range country.

This is the case in which the courts are asked to prevent the creation of the village of Mahoning out of the township of Stuntz.

VIRGINIA QUINT IS GIVEN SEND OFF

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two hundred cheering high school students and more than 100 citizens gathered at the D., W. & P. passenger depot last evening to give the basket ball team a send-off on its way to Northfield to attend the state high school championship series. The team traveled in a special car and the Virginia Commercial club made the most of the opportunity to advertise Virginia. Banners were placed on each side of the car bearing advertising matter, 1,000 pamphlets advertising Virginia, were carried to be distributed in Southern Minnesota cities and Virginia will be very much in evidence in the events at Carleton college this week. The high school quint has not been defeated for two seasons and was in the state high school championship series last season, being eliminated by Red Wing.

INDICTMENTS IN CALUMET MURDER

True Bills Against Alleged Slayer and His Accessories.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury yesterday afternoon returned indictments against Paul Keeman for murder in the first degree, the charge being that he is responsible for the death of Pete Nenoff at Calumet on last Thanksgiving day, and against Steve Kecich, Nick Yelichich and Mike Bocich, who were implicated in the fight, for the crime of riot. Six bills were returned against Mike Stupar of Calumet, three for selling liquor to minors and three for selling liquor without a license. All were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Stupar is out on bonds. The grand jury is working long hours and working hard, and it is expected that they will be through by Friday morning.

Get Citizenship Papers.

Most of yesterday the court was occupied with hearing applicants for citizenship papers and about twenty-five were granted their citizenship.

The petit jury reported for duty this morning and the first case of the term was taken up. As soon as the grand jury is through the criminal calendar will be taken up and the criminal cases tried.

To Put On Flesh And Increase Weight

Most people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Most thin people stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay there in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition it is well to recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is simply a careful combination of six of the most effective and powerful assimilative and flesh-building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet has been wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often, according to reports of users, has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug store and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

How To Get Rid of a Bad Cough

A Home-Made Remedy that Will Do It Quickly. Cheap and Easily Made

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex,"—do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HIBBING BALL FANS ARE GETTING READY

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ball players are flocking to Hibbing. Al Brennan from the Nebraska state league called at Judge Brady's office and made known his intentions of trying for the city team.

Tonight at the village hall baseball fans are invited to attend a meeting when plans for the coming year will be discussed and a manager will be chosen.

Judge Brady is again slated for manager.

HIBBING MEN IN MONTANA OIL DEAL

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local people are interested in a new Bridger, Mont., oil company just formed.

In the new company are: Senator John Healy and H. F. White of Hibbing, H. W. Cherry of Minneapolis, Fred Whiteside, Harry Shupak, Mike Gleason, Fred Sulear and Tom Freeburg, all of Montana. The corporation will be capitalized at $250,000. Mr. Healy is back from his second visit to Bridger with an optimistic view of the prospects.

Defeated; Will Ask Recount.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Victor J. Benoe, defeated as clerk in the town of Stuntz, was in Duluth yesterday conferring with attorneys and will demand a recount. His opponent, John Eastman, won by fifteen votes in one of the closest elections held in years.

Range Auto Bus Line.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the purchasing yesterday by the Mesaba Transportation company of a large twenty-two passenger White bus, Alice residents have the most complete transportation schedule of any range locality.

The Mesaba Transportation company will place eight new buses in running within a few weeks and will have a regular schedule to Grand Rapids and all the intermediate points.

Ely Credit Association.

Ely, Minn., March 23.—Twenty local business men have organized a credit association with Thomas E. Miller, president; Steve Kovall, secretary; M. J. Murphy, Olof Berglund, John Kapsch and Anton Slogar, executive committee, A. W. Nelson, attorney. The organization has employed Miss Hilma Helpakka, a last year's graduate of the Ely high school, and a recent graduate of the Superior Commercial school, as stenographer.

BELTRAMI MAN IS RELEASED FROM PEN

Stillwater, Minn., March 23.—Justin Stoddard has been discharged from the state prison on a writ of habeas corpus by order of Judge J. C. Nethaway in district court and has gone to his former home at Bemidji. Warden C. S. Reed admitted he had served the term, less good time, for assault on a 9-year-old girl. He was admitted to prison Sept. 24, 1908.

TO IMPROVE PARK GIVEN BY DULUTHIAN

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—Lum park, named for the donor, Leon B. Lum of Duluth, will be made a great Coney Island in the amusement features by Tom Mansuras, who has obtained a twenty-year lease of the privileges of the park. Lumber is being hauled for the erection of a pavilion, refreshment booths and the bathhouses. The park will be illuminated by electricity. Its twenty-two acres of woodland and the lake exposure will be materially improved.

MICHIGAN LAW FOR FIREMEN NOT VALID

Saginaw, Mich., March 23.—Judge Gage in circuit court yesterday decided the law passed by the last legislature giving members of city fire department in Michigan one day off in four, and two ten-day furloughs each year, is unconstitutional. The decision was rendered in a test case brought by a local fireman against the mayor of Saginaw to compel the city to put the law into effect.

To Improve Roads.

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Klondyke township of Crow Wing county has voted $2,500 for the purchase of a tractor and $4,000 for road work. This is an index showing how the idea of road improvement is spreading in the county.

Brainerd Street Vacated.

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council has ordered vacated a road, unused, running through the site of the Northwest Paper company, where the large paper and pulp mill is now under construction.

STREET CAR DELAYS

The Following Are the Causes of Interruptions In Street Car Service on Wednesday, March 22, 1916.

The Lakeside car due to leave Eighth avenue west at 11:53 a. m., was delayed 12 minutes by a disabled car.

A fire at Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street blocked the line for 20 minutes from 1:14 p. m. This delay affected the cars on the West End and East End, West Duluth and Aerial Bridge and the East Fourth and West Third street lines.

A vehicle on the track at Twentieth avenue east and Fourth street delayed a westbound East Fourth and Fairmont Park car 11 minutes from 2:46 p. m. As this delay caused it to get most of its followers' passengers as well as its own, the car was unable to make up the lost time and was still 11 minutes late on its return trip from Seventy-first avenue west.

A vehicle on the track at 700 Garfield avenue delayed a Duluth bound interstate car 9 minutes from 5:20 p. m.

MARKETS ARE STILL WEAK

Wheat Declines on Reported Reselling By Exporters' Interests.

Flaxseed Sets Fresh Low Levels for Movement on Weak Cables.

Duluth, March 23.—The market was weak around the close with renewed selling on better winter crop prospects in some parts of the territory and reselling by exporters.

May wheat closed ½c off and July ½c off.

May durum closed ⅝c off and July ¼c off.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 39⅞@40⅜c for on the track; rye unchanged at 88@90c; barley 1@2c up at from 63c to 70c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼@⅜c up at 42¼@42⅜c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.07⅝, and calls at $1.11⅝.

Extreme nervousness was shown in the wheat markets today. At the start advances extending to around 1c were recorded on the receipt of reports of more damage over the winter wheat country. Traders were also influenced by predictions that the area sown to spring wheat will be reduced both in the American and Canadian West, owing to the backward weather placing a ban upon the preparation of the ground for the crop to make up for the large deficiency in plowing last fall.

Later there were advices of rains in Kansas, and the late Liverpool cables were weaker. The seaboard advised some re-selling of export wheat by foreigners at substantially below the present working limits. Under the weight of all these influences, operators were disposed to stand back pending further developments. Hopes are expressed that the congestion at the seaboard will be relieved in a measure through the concerted efforts now being made and that increased shipments from here will be enabled, so that the elevators may not become completely blocked up between now and the opening of navigation. Receipts of bonded grain here were heavy again today, amounting to 218 cars of wheat, oats, barley and flaxseed. Eastern all-rail shipments of bonded wheat were better, but there were practically no forwardings of domestic grain.

Current wheat arrivals at this point are not much more than sufficient to keep the local mills going. Today they amounted to just 44 cars against 36 last year. Minneapolis receipts fell off, being reported at 276 cars against 134 a year ago, and Winnipeg reported 592 cars for one day, exactly the same as for two days last year.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.10⅞, sold up to $1.12, and then broke to $1.10⅜ at the noon-hour. July opened unchanged at $1.11⅜, gained 1c and later weakened to $1.11¼.

Trading in durum was comparatively light. May opened ⅛c off at $1.05⅝, sold up to $1.06⅝, and then broke to $1.05½. July opened unchanged at $1.06½, advanced ¾c, and then went off to $1.06⅝.

Flaxseed Slumps Again.

After a recovery of 3½c following yesterday's break, the flaxseed market weakened again with fresh selling on the London cables, showing a break of 3½c to $2.57½. There was not much comfort either in Buenos Aires cables. They were ⅝c up at $1.28.

It is reported that crushers have assumed a waiting attitude in the flaxseed market. Though sales of oil are large and will be heavier with the resumption of spring operations, the fly in the ointment comes in inability to dispose of the oil cake with the principal European outlets, for it is cut off owing to the war and high freight rates. Final prices set new low levels on this movement.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.18, sold up to $2.21½ and closed 1½c off at $2.16½ bid. July opened unchanged at $2.18, advanced to $2.21¼ and closed 1½c off at $2.16½ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 3¼c off at $1.94.

Estimated shipments from Argentina wheat, 3,400,000 bu, against 3,276,000 bu last week, and 5,192,000 bu last year; corn, 425,000 bu, against 944,000 bu last week, and 689,000 bu last year.

Regarding linseed, Broomhall cabled: "Argentine weather is fine and receipts are heavy. Shipments this week are estimated at 1,125,000 bu. Growers are selling freely. London market is weak."

* * *

Russell's News, New York, said: "The export situation at midday was very quiet, there appeared to be only a few orders in the market. Generally exporters and export brokers reported no inquiry. There was some reselling and purchases were made of wheat back from English importers this morning at several cents a bu, under a parity with cash business. Gulf premiums were easier, and wheat which was held a few days ago at 2c over Chicago May, f. o. b., was reported at 1c over. Demand for corn and oats was very quiet, although there were further rumors of export inquiry for oats."

In Great Britain weather has been against seeding and field work is generally backward. Native wheat holdings are large and these are being gradually drawn upon to satisfy consumption.

Scarcity of wheat is reported in France. Great complaints are made of scarcity of wheat, and growers are offering little, being busy with field work. It is being charged that the government is not buying freely enough, and that much grain arranged for in Argentina and Australia is being delayed owing to lack of boat tonnage. Foreign arrivals have decreased sharply.

Weather forecast: Illinois Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota—Rain or snow tonight and tomorrow; warmer.

Dakotas, Nebraska—Rain or snow tonight and tomorrow; colder tonight.

Kansas—Rain tonight, warmer; unsettled and colder tomorrow.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was dull and inclined lower, with weakness in Argentine markets and heavy exports noted everywhere. Cargoes were irregular. Manitobas were early 3d higher and later unchanged. Winters were unchanged. Plates 9d lower. It is still felt that American reserves will offset the damage to the new crop within comparatively short time for marketing, offerings will continue liberal."

* * *

Charles E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Regina: "Saskatchewan crop for 1916 will not by any means approach that of 1915, according to J. A. Maharg, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association. Mr. Maharg gave two principal reasons for making such a statement: First, that there will be a considerable decrease in acreage, and, second, that there is not the same amount of land prepared in the same shape as it was at this time last year. Then again such a large quantity of grain has to be shipped out as soon as the weather and roads permit, that the horses will be engaged on this task when ordinarily they would be used on summer fallowing work and breaking. Mr. Maharg estimates that the acreage for this year will be surprisingly less than last year."

Duluth car inspection: Wheat—No. 1 northern, 3; No. 2 northern, 1; No. 3, 6; No. 4, 3; durum, 18; winter, 5; mixed, 8; total wheat, 44; last year, 36; flax, 6; last year, 4; oats, 6; last year, 17; rye, 1; last year, none; barley, 13; last year, 1; total of all grains, 70; last year, 58; on track, 110.

* * *

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Corn was the controlling influence in wheat and at that the market showed relative firmness. Not much pressure developed and Liverpool early was firm. Later that market was lower on spot with a slump in corn responsible for the easiness. A lot of bad crop reports, rain reported in the Southwest and warmer weather predicted were bearish factors. Argentine shipments promise heavy and world's shipments were again over European requirements. Car situation is bad again. Should this relief come by railroads we think it would have considerable effect on prices."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, March 23.—Rain reports from the southwest tended today to weaken the wheat market. Despatches from Texas and Oklahoma, where drouth has been a serious detriment to crops, told of abundant showers at many points. Assertions that field conditions in Missouri were improving counted also against the bulls. After opening ⅜c lower to a shade advance, with May at $1.08⅜ to $1.08½, and July at $1.07⅛ to $1.07⅜, prices rallied to a moderate extent, but then underwent another sag.

Some strength developed later owing to assertions that northwest seeding would be late and the acreage decreased. Subsequently, however, the market gave way influenced by renewed activity of submarines. The close was weak, ½@⅝ to 1¼c net lower with May at $1.08 and July at $1.06¼.

Corn weakened with wheat. Besides, some selling pressure resulted from the big stocks of corn on hand here. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛@¼c off to a sixteenth up, were followed by something of a recovery, and later by a fresh decline.

Afterward the market hardened as a result of demand from manufacturers of alcohol, but prices again receded with wheat. The close was weak at 1⅞ to 2⅛@2⅛c net decline.

Commission house buying sustained oats. The demand, however, was mainly of a local character.

Scattered selling depressed provisions. Aggressive support was lacking.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Improve Until Selling of the Mexican Group Begins.

Market Becomes Stagnant After Decline and Closing Irregular.

New York, March 23.—Mexican affairs again projected themselves into the stock market at the opening today, overnight news from across the border finding reflection in the heaviness of American Smelting and Mexican Petroleum, while the balance of the active list was firm to strong. United States Smelting and Refining a new comer on the local board, opened with 1,900 shares at 69⅝, a substantial fractional gain over yesterday's close in the Boston market. Advances of as much or more were recorded by Crucible Steel, New York Airbrakes, American Zinc, Marine preferred and United States Steel. Rails were inactive but generally higher.

Prices continued to improve in the stock market today until more urgent selling of the Mexican group caused general unsettlement. Mexican Petroleum broke sharply, falling over 5 points to 104¾, and American Smelting and Greene-Cananea fell a point or more. There was heaviness, also, among high-priced specialties, Bethlehem Steel losing 4, at 500, American Snuff 5, at 130, and Tobacco Products preferred 3¾ at 105¾. Munitions and equipments were only moderately affected and investments were comparatively firm. Lack of public interest constituted the chief restraining influence. Mexicans made partial recovery at midday. Bonds were steady.

Improvements in Mexicans served to strengthen the entire list for a time, but prices shaded again on renewed selling of specialties, especially Crucible and Baldwin. The market became stagnant on the decline.

Demand for rails, especially Reading and New York Central, relieved the monotony of the final hour. The closing was irregular.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS.

Council Chamber,
Duluth, Minn., March 20, 1916, 3 p. m.
Regular meeting.
Roll call:
Present—Commissioners Farrell, Merritt, Silberstein, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Absent—None.

On motion of Mayor Prince, the minutes of the meeting of March 13, 1916, were approved as published in pamphlet form, upon a vote by acclamation.

There being present several delegations of citizens interested in various improvements, the council took up the order of unfinished business.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

John Jenswold, George M. Jenson, A. C. Pearson, J. H. Brigham and E. P. Alexander, representing property owners on West First street between Twentieth avenue west and Thirtieth avenue west, appeared before the council regarding said improvement of West First street.

The resolution by Commissioner Farrell presented March 13, 1916, as amended, awarding the contract for the improvement of West First street between Twentieth avenue west and Thirtieth avenue west, was presented as follows:

Resolved, That the contract for the improvement of First street, from Twentieth avenue west to Thirtieth avenue west, be and hereby is awarded to Rogers & McLean on their bid of $63,257.20.

Mayor Prince moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas — Commissioners Silberstein, Voss, Mayor Prince—3.

Nays—Commissioners Farrell and Merritt—2.

Adopted March 20, 1916.
Approved March 22, 1916.

At this point C. O. Baldwin, Harry Davis, A. J. Leahy, J. W. Preston, T. S. Wood, E. A. Dahl and J. H. Whitely appeared before the council regarding the award of contract for the improvement of East Superior street between Sixteenth avenue east and Twenty-third avenue east.

The resolution by Commissioner Farrell presented to the council on April 13, 1916, awarding contract for the improvement of East Superior street from Sixteenth avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east, was presented as follows:

Resolved, That the contract for the improvement of Superior street from the west line of Sixteenth avenue east to the east line of Twenty-third avenue east, be and is hereby awarded to the General Contracting company, on their bid of $49,473.60.

Commissioner Voss moved as an amendment to the above resolution, that all bids submitted for the improvement of said street be rejected, and that the commissioner of public works be instructed to re-advertise for bids for same.

Commissioner Voss moved the adoption of the amendment, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Commissioners Farrell, Merritt, Silberstein, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Adopted March 20, 1916.
Approved March 22, 1916.

Commissioner Voss moved the adoption of the resolution as amended, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Commissioners Farrell, Merritt, Silberstein, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Adopted March 20, 1916.
Approved March 22, 1916.

At this point Messrs. Richardson, Duff, Fuller and Gallagher appeared before the council representing property owners on Minnesota avenue, regarding the improvement of said avenue.

At this point H. W. Lanners appeared before the council, regarding the condemnation of a portion of Roosevelt street between Fifty-ninth avenue west and Sixty-first avenue west for park purposes.

LEGAL NOTICES.

OPENING OF CEDED CHIPPEWA LANDS.—Department of the Interior, General Land Office, Washington, D. C., Feb. 19, 1916.—Notice is hereby given, That 56,175.62 acres of ceded Chippewa lands in the former Red Lake, White Earth, Leech Lake, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Winnebigoshish, Deer Creek, Bois Fort and Pigeon River Indian Reservations, in the State of Minnesota, will be opened to homestead entry at the district land offices at Cass Lake, Crookston and Duluth, Minnesota, on April 26, 1916, on and after 9 o'clock a. m., under Section 6 of the act of January 14, 1889 (25 Stat., 642), and under the laws applicable to townsites. A portion of these lands were opened to settlement on January 11, 1915, and September 27, 1915, and the remainder will be subject to settlement at 9 o'clock a. m., on April 12, 1916. No rights can be acquired by settling on the lands prior to the time they are subject to settlement. A portion of the lands, 3,816.35 acres, are classified as pine lands, and applicants for these lands will be required to pay an appraised price for the timber thereon at the time of making entry, as provided in Section 27, act of June 25, 1910 (36 Stat., 862). Printed lists of the lands to be opened and copies of the instructions governing the disposal of said lands, may be obtained, as soon as they can be printed for distribution, upon application to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, Washington, D. C., or the Registers and Receivers of the United States land offices, at Cass Lake, Crookston and Duluth, Minnesota. Clay Tallman, Commissioner. Approved Feb. 19, 1916. Andrieus A. Jones, First Assistant Secretary.

SCHOOL BUILDING
Margie, Minnesota.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that sealed proposals for the material and labor necessary to construct a consolidated school building, installing the heating, ventilating and plumbing systems, will be received by the Unorganized School District of Koochiching County, Minnesota, at the office of D. E. Jewell, Clerk, International Falls, Minnesota until the hour of 2 P. M. on the 18th day of April 1916.
Plans and specifications are on file with the Clerk, The Builders' Exchange of Duluth, Minnesota, and of St. Paul, Minnesota; The Northwest Building Material Exhibit, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and at the office of W. P. Allred, Jr., Architect, Duluth, Minnesota. Proposals shall be in accordance with the plans and specifications and accompanied by a certified check in the sum of 5 per cent of the bid, drawn in favor of P. H. Fogarty, Treasurer, International Falls, Minnesota, thus confirming the surety of the bidder to enter into agreement to deliver to the owner a satisfactory surety bond in the sum of the contract price within six (6) days after mailing of, or personal, notification of award. Failure to do so forfeits the check to said owner. The certified checks of unsuccessful bidders shall be returned upon the letting of the contract.
By order of the Board of Education, which reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
D. R. JEWELL, Clerk.
Proposal form attached to specifications shall be followed to receive consideration.
D. H., March 22, 23, 24 and 25, 1916.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—
Notice is hereby given, That default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage, bearing date the 25th day of August, 1913, made and executed by John Seaberg and Mathilda Seaberg, his wife, mortgagors, to Louis Rosenbluth, mortgagee, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on September 15th, 1913, at 10:30 A. M. in Book 116 of Mortgages, on page 32; at the time of such recording, the date of expiration of the Notary's commission was not attached to the certificate of acknowledgement, and said mortgage was re-recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds with said date of expiration affixed to said certificate of acknowledgement on October 11th, 1915, at 1:30 P. M. in Book 337 of Mortgages on page 96. Said mortgage was assigned by said Louis Rosenbluth to Max Mickel by written assignment dated October 30th, 1915, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on November 8th, 1915, at 4:15 P. M. in Book 306 of Mortgages on page 322.
Said default consists in the failure of said mortgagors to pay the sum of Twenty-three Hundred Twenty-two Dollars and Seventy-six Cents ($2,322.76), principal and interest, now past due, on the notes secured by said mortgage. The amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof is the sum of Twenty-three Hundred Twenty-two Dollars and Seventy-six Cents ($2,322.76), principal and interest as aforesaid; and prior to the date hereof said assignee has paid the sum of Seventy-three Dollars and Ninety-three Cents ($73.93) for taxes due on the mortgaged premises.
The property described in said mortgage and thereby mortgaged is the North half of the Northeast one-fourth (N½ of NE¼); Southeast one-fourth of the Northeast one-fourth (SE¼ of NE¼); Northwest one-fourth of the Northwest one-fourth (NW¼ of NW¼); and the South one-half of Northwest one-fourth (S½ of NW¼), of Section One (1), Township Fifty-three (53) North, Range Thirteen (13) West; and the West one-half of the Northwest one-fourth (W½ of NW¼) of Section Thirty-three (33), Township Fifty-eight (58) North, Range Thirteen (13) West, according to the government survey, all of said land being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota.
By reason of such default, the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.
Now therefore, By virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of said premises at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the Sheriff's office in the County Court House in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on Friday the 31st day of March, 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, together with the sum of Seventy-three Dollars and Ninety-three Cents ($73.93) paid for taxes by said assignee as above stated, taxes, if any, due on said premises, and Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorneys' fees, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law.
Dated this 15th day of February, 1916.
MAX MICKEL, Assignee of Mortgagee.
BALDWIN, BALDWIN & HOLMES and R. L. MAYALL,
Suite 900 Alworth Building, Duluth, Minnesota, Attorneys for Assignee.

IS FAVORABLE TO SUPERIOR

Judge Advocate General Orders Steel Plant Bridge Completed.

A decision in the steel plant bridge case was handed down this morning by E. H. Crowzer, judge advocate general of the war department, which is favorable to the contention of the city of Superior and reversing the decision of Gen. Kingman, chief of engineers. Under his ruling it will be necessary for the Minnesota Steel company to complete the construction of the interstate bridge just below New Duluth, according to the original specifications. He stated in his opinion that it was now up to the war department to order the work done and the city of Duluth had no right to effect any compromise.

The next step to be taken will be to carry the matter before Secretary of War Baker. Several of the men who have taken a leading part in the fight are out of the city and others refused to comment until the full text of the opinion has been given out.

PHILADELPHIA CROWDS APPLAUD PRESIDENT

Philadelphia, March 23.—President Wilson paid a brief visit to Philadelphia today to consult his oculist. His eyes have been troubling him slightly recently. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson. The president's arrival here was delayed by a hot box on the engine of his special train at Perryville, Md.

While the president's plans were surrounded with secrecy, a fair-sized crowd recognized him at the Broad street station here and applauded as he stepped into his automobile with Mrs. Wilson. He went to the office of his oculist, where he spent a few minutes.

Following an automobile ride, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson planned to leave for Washington, where they will arrive in time for dinner.

Utah Consolidated Mining company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents and an extra dividend of 25 cents a share, payable on April 10 to stock of record March 29.

Ore shipments for the season have begun from Gogebic range with the North Western hauling to the Escanaba docks. This is the earliest shipment of ore in the history of the range. Plants at South Milwaukee and Gary are short of ore and 500,000 tons will be sent to keep the furnace going.

As the result of the general refusal of zinc ore producers to accept prices offered by the smelters for zinc ore a week ago, the tonnage sold last week was only 4,000 tons, or half the usual shipments, and the price has been advanced $15 to $115 a ton. Average head ore is now selling at $100 a ton, a record price.

BUTTE & SUPERIOR HAS BIG JUMP

Stock Advances on Expected Larger Call for Zinc Metal.

Excited trading developed in them on reported larger demands for zinc required in the manufacture of munitions owing to the Mexican war. American Zinc sold up $4.25 to a close of $90.50, and Butte & Superior advanced $4 to $92.25.

Calumet & Arizona closed 25 cents up at $72.75; Greene-Cananea, 62 cents off at $46.87; Mohawk, $1 up at $97; North Butte, unchanged at $28.25; Quincy, 50 cents off at $93, and Shattuck, fractionally up at $36.87.

ACQUIRE PACKING STOCK

T. E. Wilson and New York Group to Control Sulzberger Interests.

T. E. Wilson and a strong New York financial group have acquired the majority of the common stock of Sulzberger & Sons company, and Mr. Wilson has accepted appointment as its president.

Mr. Wilson was connected with Morris & Co. for twenty-five years, for several years as vice president and as president since Mr. Morris' death. In packing house circles, the outlook for Sulzberger & Sons company's continued growth and expansion under Mr. Wilson's management is regarded as promising. The company has packing plants at all the principal livestock centers in the United States, and it also operates packing plants in South America. Last year was the most successful in its history, profits in excess of $2,400,000 being reported.

TRACTION EARNINGS GROW.

Good Increase Reported for Second Week of March.

Earnings of the Duluth-Superior Traction company are being well maintained. For the second week of March gross earnings were reported at $25,469, an increase of $3,375 or 15.3 per cent over the corresponding week of last year.

An expansion of $6,671 was recorded for the first two weeks of this month, while the increase since Jan. 1 has reached $26,919. Officials report that the traffic of the system during the past month has been larger for the season than in two years.

DENTISTS IN ARMY AS NECESSARY AS CANNON

Kansas City, Mo., March 23.—Necessity of good teeth in the efficient soldier has been emphasized by speakers before the Tri-State Dental convention in session here. Dr. Thomas P. Hinman of Atlanta, Ga., today summarized the situation as follows:

"Dentists are as necessary in the army as cannon. You can't put a soldier in the trench with toothache or diseased gums and have efficiency."

One reason for the efficiency of the German army, the speaker pointed out, was the realization by German military authorities of the necessity of good teeth in the rank and file.

YOUNGER FUNERAL AT LEE'S SUMMIT

Lee's Summit, Mo., March 23.—Funeral services for Cole Younger were held today at the Christian church, where the former bandit was converted three years ago. Rev. J. T. Webb of Kansas City, who was pastor of the local church when Younger embraced the faith, conducted services. In the crowd that gathered at the home were several men who were with Younger in the days of Quantrell's guerilla warfare.

Commander Fenton Dead.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 23.—Commander Theodore C. Fenton, U. S. N., retired, died at the naval hospital here last night. He was 53 years old, and was appointed to the naval academy from Pennsylvania in 1881. He was commissioned a commander in 1906 and retired the same year.

Aviator Falls at Home.

Washington, March 23.—Lieut.-Col. Samuel Reber, chief of the army aviation service, fell three stories in his home here today and was badly injured. He was moved to a hospital.

Resignation Not Yet Presented.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—Halford Erickson, member of the Wisconsin railroad commission, has not yet presented his resignation to the governor. The governor is anxious to have Mr. Erickson remain on the commission and it is said the official still has the matter under consideration.

RUSS NOT ADVANCING, SAYS BERLIN REPORT

Berlin, March 23, via London, 3:45 p. m.—The Russians in spite of their great offensive on the eastern front have made no advance, says the official statement given out today by the German army headquarters.

To Stop Debate in Reichstag.

Berlin, March 23, wireless to Sayville.—Definite action was taken today to prevent an open debate in the reichstag on the question of unrestricted use of submarines. The standing committee for regulation of parliamentary business, composed of the senior members of the various parties, decided that the submarine resolutions should be tabled.

Thinks Boy Is in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—Mrs. Ella Glass of New Jersey, who has been conducting a nation-wide search for her 5-year-old child, has a clew that the boy is in Wisconsin. Governor Philipp received a letter today indicating that people in Marinette and Oconto counties may have information about the child. The theory has been that the child was spirited away by lumbermen who came from the East to Wisconsin.

STREET LIFE A POOR SCHOOL.

Detroit Times: The streets of large cities are not cozy incubators for the production of geniuses and future presidents, if David Brown, head of the People's Ice company, gained anything from his experience as a newsboy in his youth.

Talking before the child welfare committee of the Twentieth Century club the other afternoon, he deplored the fact that boys of tender age must be subjected to temptations that would strain the moral fiber of strong, full-grown men.

"I am pointed out as an example of the chance that newsboys have to rise in the world," he said. "People who would be optimistic see future presidents in the boys trained in the streets, often amid the night life of the city. They quote my success, but I know that I succeeded in spite of my early experiences and not because of them."

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF THE— FINNISH DAILY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, for the purpose of forming a corporation under the Constitution and laws of the State of Minnesota, subscribe and acknowledge the following Certificate of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be FINNISH DAILY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

The general nature of its business shall be to acquire, print, publish, conduct and circulate or otherwise deal with any newspaper or newspapers or other publications, and generally carry on the business of newspaper proprietors and general publishers; to carry on, if and when it shall deem desirable, the trade and business of general printers, lithographers, engravers and advertising agents; to build, construct, erect, purchase, hire or otherwise acquire or provide any buildings, offices, workshops, plant and machinery or other things necessary or useful for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the company.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be in the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time for the commencement of this corporation shall be the 29th day of March, 1916, and the period of its duration shall be thirty years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are:

A. W. Havela, Duluth, Minnesota.
J. A. Mattinen, Cloquet, Minnesota.
Edward Johnson, Hancock, Michigan.

ARTICLE IV.

The management of this corporation shall be vested in a Board of nine (9) directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders from their number at the annual meeting of the corporation, which shall be held at the company's office at Duluth, Minnesota, at two o'clock in the afternoon on the second Monday in January of each year, and no notice of such meeting shall be necessary, and said meeting may be adjourned from time to time and from place to place. The names and addresses of the directors of said corporation composing the Board until its first election of directors are as follows: J. A. Mattinen, Cloquet, Minnesota; A. W. CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT —TO— CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— DAVIS REALTY COMPANY.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

Joseph H. Davis and George W. Davis, being first duly sworn, do hereby certify that they are respectively the president and secretary of Davis Realty Company; that at a special meeting of the stockholders of said company, called for that expressly stated purpose, and held at the office of the company in the City of Duluth, Minnesota, on the 18th day of February, 1916, at which meeting all of the issued stock of the company was represented by the owners thereof in person, said stockholders, by unanimous vote of all the shares of stock of said company, adopted the following resolutions amending the Certificate of Incorporation of said company:

RESOLVED, (1) That Article I of the Certificate of Incorporation of this company be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be the "DULUTH SOAP COMPANY."

The general nature of its business shall be to buy, own, sell, lease, erect buildings, lease and otherwise contract for and with, and improve lands, tenements, appurtenances and hereditaments or interests therein; to engage in and conduct and operate a manufacturing business, including, among other things, the manufacture of soap and by-products incidental to and connected therewith; to borrow and loan money either as principals or agents for others upon mortgages or other securities and for the purchase and sale of lands and of money obligations secured upon real or personal property; with power to execute all contracts, transfers, leases and other documents necessary or convenient through the transaction of the business for which this corporation is incorporated, and to do anything that may be deemed necessary or convenient for carrying out the purposes of said corporation.

The principal place of business shall be Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

RESOLVED, (2) That the resolution now adopted amending Article I of the Certificate of Incorporation of this company be embraced in a certificate duly executed by the president and secretary of the company under its corporate seal and that the same be filed, recorded and published in the manner required by law.

CARRANZA TROOPS ARE CLOSING IN ON VILLA

LESS THAN TWO-THIRDS OF TOTAL STATE VOTE CAST AT THE PRIMARY

Final Returns Show Stevens Ahead of Larson By 300 Votes.

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Out of a possible total vote of about 350,000, only 191,531 persons took the trouble to go to the polls at the recent presidential preference primary. This is shown by total figures compiled today by the secretary of state's office covering returns from over 3,900 precincts throughout the state.

Grant Webster of Chicago, who filed for the Republican nomination for president, polled 3,710 votes. Webster indulged in no publicity whatever and even neglected to provide himself with delegates. Senator Cummins of Iowa polled 54,214 votes, and Henry D. Estabrook polled 12,693 votes. President Wilson, the lone Democratic candidate, received 45,136 votes.

Sulzer Defeats Foss.

Represented at the primaries were candidates for the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition parties. Because of the interest which was centered on delegateship contests in the Republican and Democratic camps, the Prohibition candidates suffered considerably, but despite this handicap, the "drys" polled over 7,000 votes. This was divided between Foss of Massachusetts and Former Governor Sulzer of New York, who received 2,465 and 3,334 votes, respectively.

The total vote for the various winners in the delegate contest was as follows:

DECISION OF SUIT WILL AFFECT MANY

Guardian of Woodmen Circle of Woodmen of World Asks for Order.

Omaha, Neb., March 24.—Mrs. Emma B. Manchester, supreme guardian of the supreme forest of the Woodmen circle, women's auxiliary of the Woodmen of the World, filed application in district court here late yesterday for an order to restrain the national executive council of the Woodmen circle from holding in effect a resolution recently passed which, the applicant asserts, deprives her of authority to appoint organizers, deputies, lecturers, adjusters and other officers and committees or draw checks against the treasury of the organization to pay for the services of such officers or committees.

The suit, it is said, will affect several hundred thousand women throughout the country.

Attorneys for Mrs. Manchester said the suit follows a year of "lively politics," culminating in the resolution which "deprived the supreme guardian of the auxiliary of all prerogatives and authorities."

Mrs. Manchester held the office of supreme guardian for eighteen years, and was elected at St. Paul last year for another term of four years.

ACTIVITY ON RUSS FRONT

Fierce Contest on Eastern Lines Overshadowed By Battle at Verdun.

Muscovites Are Making Heavy Attacks on German Lines.

Berlin, March 24, via London.—The importance of the struggle around Verdun naturally overshadows interest in the contest on the eastern front, but the latest dispatches show that hard fighting is in progress in the northern sector of the Russian line.

The Russian drum fire became intense on the evening of March 19. More than 50,000 shells, chiefly of heavy caliber, fell over a small section of the front near Postavy. German wire entanglements and the front line trenches were damaged by this fire.

At night the Russians attacked in thick waves. The first two waves were mowed down before they reached the entanglements. The third attack pierced the German position on a front of less than 100 yards and the assailants were ejected by a counter-at-

VICEROY OF INDIA TO BE KNIGHTED ON HIS RETURN

BARON HARDINGE.

London, March 24.—It is announced that Baron Hardinge will be appointed a Knight of the Garter on his retirement as viceroy of India.

Announcement was made in the middle of January that Baron Chelmsford, former governor of Queensland and of New South Wales, had been appointed viceroy of India in succession to Baron Hardinge.

WAITE DENIES POISON CHARGE

New York Dentist Makes First Statement Since His Arrest.

Declares He Will Not Reveal Identity of Woman in the Case.

New York, March 24.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, dentist and champion tennis player, accused of poisoning his father-in-law, John F. Peck, wealthy drug manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich., today made his first statement since his arrest and denied the charge.

Dr. Waite admitted, according to George F. Brothers, assistant district attorney, that he had put something into Peck's soup some time prior to his death, but declared that it was medicine. He said that Dr. A. A. Moore, the physician attending Peck, had instructed him to employ this method of giving the patient medicine, because Peck had complained that it was bitter and had refused to take it.

Dr. Waite told his guards, according to reports they made to the district attorney, that he would keep his lips sealed as to the identity of the woman with whom he lived at a hotel as Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Walters.

"And I will stick to her," he was quoted as saying. "I will not give her up."

To Be Arraigned Soon.

U. S. SUBMARINE D-1 LAID UP FOR REPAIRS

Submersible Was Rammed By a Tug a Few Days Ago.

New York, March 24.—The submarine D-1 is temporarily out of commission at the New York navy yard today, with some of her plates dented and one of her armiture shafts cracked. The damage cannot be repaired before several weeks. The D-1 was rammed by a tug boat off New London, Conn., a few days ago and was ordered to the navy yard here to have her plates repaired. On the way the cracked shaft was discovered.

In all, five submarines are undergoing repairs at the navy yard. The others are the G-1, G-2, G-4 and E-1.

INVESTIGATING SALE OF LEMON EXTRACT

Springfield, Ill., March 24.—An investigation of the alleged heavy sale of lemon extract in "dry" territory in Illinois was planned today by the state pure food commission. Itinerant vendors of patent medicines, it is alleged, carry as one of their most profitable lines, a stock of lemon extract, which, it is charged, contains alcohol far in excess of recognized standards.

"There is far more 'kick' in a glass of this lemon extract than in good whisky," said a state official.

NATIONAL GUARD WILL NOT BE CALLED OUT AT PRESENT, IS DECISION

Question Considered at Meeting of President and Cabinet.

Decide There Is No Prospect of Such Action at This Time.

Battalion of Infantry Ordered From Vancouver to the Border.

Washington, March 24.—The question of calling the national guard for border duty to release regulars for service in Mexico was discussed at today's cabinet meeting, but it was decided there was no prospect of such action at this time.

The cabinet was told that there was sentiment in congress to protect the constantly lengthening line of communication of the American punitive expedition by sending more regulars into Mexico and placing guardsmen along the border.

Maj.-Gen. Funston, however, had not asked for additional troops, it was said today, and war department officials did not believe that mobilization of state troops was now necessary. After the cabinet meeting officials showed they feared a mobilization of guardsmen would have a disquieting effect in Mexico.

Battalion From Vancouver.

Washington, March 24.—One battalion of the Twenty-first infantry was ordered today from the Vancouver barracks to El Centro, Cal., to reinforce the border patrol. The order was issued at the request of Maj.-Gen. Bell, commanding the Western department.

Bound for El Centro.

Vancouver, Wash., March 24.—Bound for El Centro, Cal., where they will go on patrol duty on the Mexican border, the Third battalion of the Twenty-first infantry left here today on a special train over the Southern Pacific railroad. The battalion consists of 285 men and 12 officers in command of Maj. James T. Dean.

CONVICT GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO ENABLE HIM TO TILL HIS FARM.

Salem, Or., March 24.—Governor Withycombe granted a 90-day leave of absence to C. O. Begart, serving a term in the penitentiary for an assault, with intent to kill, in order that he might plant his spring crop, and, if possible, save his homestead from foreclosure proceedings.

BACK FROM EXPLORATION OF REGIONS IN ANTARCTIC

SIR ERNEST H. SHACKELTON.

BACK FROM SOUTH POLE

Lieut. Shackelton and Party Arrive at Sydney, N. S. W.

Left England Six Weeks After European War Broke Out.

Sydney, N. S. W., March 24.—Lieut. Sir Ernest H. Shackleton has returned from his Antarctic expedition. News of the achievements of the expedition is withheld for the present.

The adventure of Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, heading the British trans-Antarctic expedition, had a three-fold purpose—to navigate Antarctic on a meridian; to secure for the British flag the honor of being the first national emblem thus to be taken from sea to sea across this south polar realm, and to conduct scientific work relating, among other phases, to meteorology.

MEXICAN SITUATION IS BADLY CONFUSED BY CONFLICTING REPORTS

Practically Only News From Interior Comes From Mexican Sources.

Report From Casas Grandes Says Villa Is Surrounded at El Oso.

Army Officers Skeptical as to Report of American Troops There.

El Paso, Tex., March 24.—The Mexican situation was more confused and uncertain today than at any time since the pursuit of Villa began. Practically the only news received on the border from the interior was from Mexican sources and this was of such contradictory nature that it was impossible to separate the true from the false.

Early today Andres Garcia, the Carranza consul here, displayed telegrams which he said he had received from Gen. Bertani at Casas Grandes announcing that Villa was surrounded at El Oso, a ranch five miles south of Namiquipa, by the joint American and Carranza troops and that a decisive battle was imminent.

There was frank skepticism among other United States army officers, although it was admitted that advance detachments of the American troops might easily have reached Namiquipa by this time if they had maintained anything like the speed with which

COAL RATES TO BE INVESTIGATED

Charges From Mines to Lake Ports Said to Be Unreasonable.

Washington, March 24.—Investigation of bituminous coal rates from mines in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio to Lake Erie ports for trans-shipment over the Great Lakes was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission on its own initiative. The commission fixed April 24 for the first hearing here.

Formal complaint from the Pittsburgh Coal Operators' association that rates of the Pennsylvania and other railroads are unreasonable and discriminatory from the Pittsburgh district to Ashtabula, Ohio, will be investigated at the same time.

In announcing the investigation the commission stated that it had taken up the question because of numerous informal complaints. The terminal points involved are Conneaut harbor, Ashtabula, Fairport, Cleveland, Lorain, Huron, Sandusky and Toledo. Seventeen railroads are involved.

ADMIRAL VON CAPELLE.

Admiral von Capelle who succeeded Admiral von Tirpitz at the head of the German navy has been at the head of one of the divisions of the naval office for some time. He has been brought up under von Tirpitz and understands his theories perfectly.

GEN. HERRERA NOT A REBEL

Carranza Commander Remains Loyal to the "First Chief."

Dispatch From American Consul Sets All Rumors at Rest.

Washington, March 24.—American Consul Letcher at Chihuahua today reported there was no truth in the reported revolt of Gen. Herrera and the Carranza garrison at Chihuahua.

Although Gen. Funston and Gen. Bell on the border have received reports confirming the story of the revolt, which they believe to be true, the dispatch from Consul Letcher, who is on the ground and has headquarters at the place where the revolt was said to have occurred, is taken by officials here as confirming the statements of Carranza officials that no such revolt has occurred.

Consul Letcher's dispatch reported that Gen. Herrera was in command of the de facto troops there and was "loyal to Gen. Carranza."

His report is regarded as removing one of the most menacing features of the Mexican situation.

Maj.-Gen. Funston sent the following telegram to the war department:

"Gen. Herrera in a telegram to Gen. Gavira strongly denies all reports that he has gone over to Villa. Gen. Gutierrez, governor of Chihuahua, in a letter to Gen. Gavira, also strongly

AUGUSTA WILL BE REBUILT AT ONCE

Augusta, Ga., March 24.—Having perfected plans for the immediate needs of several hundred destitute persons, Augusta today began to discuss plans for rebuilding the burned district. Work will go forward at once. The two newspapers, the Herald and Chronicle, are making arrangements to rebuild as soon as possible.

The special relief committee continued to receive contributions today and efforts will be made to raise $50,000 for the needy.

CHANCES OF HIS CAPTURE INCREASING

Five Columns of De Facto Men Rapidly Nearing Namiquipa.

With Americans on Other Side, Bandit Is Thought Trapped.

Report of Defeat at El Oso Now Thought to Be True.

Douglas, Ariz., March 24.—Gen. P. Elias Calles, military governor of Sonora, received a telegram today from Gen. Enriquez, military governor of Chihuahua, stating that five columns of Carranza troops were closing in on Villa and his bandits near Namiquipa and that, with the aid of the Americans it was believed that Villa would not be able to escape.

Governor Enriquez also telegraphed that the reports concerning the revolt of Gen. Herrera were false and an effort by the "radicals" to cause trouble between the Carranza government and the United States.

Chances of Capture Good.

San Antonio, Tex., March 24.—Reports from Mexican sources that Villa had been defeated by American-Mexican troops at El Oso, near Namiquipa, were accepted today by Gen. Funston as probably true, although no confirmation by Gen. Pershing had been received. Improvement in the working of the wireless made it appear likely that Gen. Pershing would break his fifth day of silence regarding operations south of Casas Grandes by rendering an account of the engagement at El Oso.

Keen interest was displayed at Fort Sam Houston in the report Gen. Gavira announced that he had received from Casas Grandes. If this report is true, officers there say, the chances for capturing Villa or running him to a point where he must make his last fight are increased.

Campaign of Location.

Until now the operations against

UNION GROVE, WIS., HAS SERIOUS FIRE

Two Blocks Destroyed With Loss of Between $80,000 and $100,000.

Racine, Wis., March 24.—Fire, which started in the hardware store of Edward Swantz at Union Grove at an early hour this morning, gained such rapid headway before it was discovered, that it was not checked until it had destroyed the entire west side of the village, including the business district. The burned area extends a distance of two blocks along the main thoroughfare of the town. The loss is estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000.

The fire department, led by Fire Marshal Poland and aided by the entire population of the town, made a desperate fight to check the flames, and it was only after the hardest kind of work that the eastern or residence section of the town was saved.

CHICAGO MOVIE HOUSES WRECKED BY BOMBS

Chicago, March 24.—Two bomb explosions, which were felt for blocks around, damaged two motion picture theaters today. The police and the managers of the theaters attributed the explosions to rivalry between motion picture operators' unions. The lobbies of both houses were wrecked.

BEER NOW TEN CENTS IN AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Budapest, March 1.—The price of beer in Austria-Hungary has been raised for the third time since the war started, this time by $1.50 per hectolitre (twenty-two gallons) and 2 cents a glass. Before the war a glass of beer in a restaurant cost 4 cents; now it is 10 cents. The breweries justify the increases by announcing that it is almost impossible for them to procure materials, especially barley.

OH WELL, WE MUST KEEP IN STYLE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The lull in the infantry fighting in the Verdun region of France continues, the artillery, however, keeping up its active work.

The French guns have been energetically cannonading the German positions in the Malancourt wood, on the edge of the Argonne, northwest of Verdun. The intention apparently is to break up an anticipated attempt of the Germans to debouch from this cover and make further efforts to advance southward toward the main line of the Paris-Verdun railway, some 4½ miles distant.

East of the Meuse the German bombardment appears to have diminished in intensity, only intermittent firing being reported in the vicinity of Douaumont and Damloup and in the Woevre region.

Although the Verdun battle holds the center of attention, scarcely less interest is being aroused by the determined attacks of the Russians on the German northern front in the east. Berlin admits no permanent successes for the Russian troops, but Petrograd statements continue to claim advantages gained at various points, one northwest of Dvinsk, in the Jacobstadt region and near Lake Narocz to the south.

Berlin dispatches declare the German losses have been surprisingly small under the terrific bombardment by the Russians, while the attacking forces have been mowed down in masses. Confidence is expressed in the German capital on the outcome of the fighting, reliance being placed upon Field Marshal von Hindenburg to take care of the situation.

Sinking of two additional neutral vessels by submarines is reported, the lost craft being a Norwegian steamer and a Danish bark.

FURS WILL BE THEIR CROP

Duluthians Plan Fox, Skunk and Beaver Farm at Sucker River.

Believe That Day of Trapper in Northern Minnesota Is Passing.

Sucker river will be the site of a farm where foxes, mink, beaver and skunks will be raised for their fur.

Aesop, that wise man of ancient Greece, who fabled his way into fame, told many things about the fox, and Renard has been a synonym for slyness ever since Aesop's Fables were first read. But as much as the Greek writer knew and wrote about the fox, he neglected the thing that is most admired about the animal now—his beautiful and costly fur. And living at such an early day, he did not know that Northern Minnesota produces the finest fox fur in the world, and that some black fox skins are worth $4,000 and upward. While the fox is the king of fur bearing animals in this part of the country, the beaver, the skunk, mink, and many other fur-bearing animals have their natural habitat in woods of this state and the cold dry climate is ideally adapted to bring out the most luxuriant and beautifully colored furs.

The time was when the trapper reaped rich harvest in this part of the country by means of his trap and gun, but the high price of fur and the long-continued quest of the trapper has thinned out the fur-bearing animals, and attention is now being directed toward fur farming. A number of Duluthians have been investigating for conditions, and have bought a large tract of land on the Sucker river, not far from Duluth, and will open a fur farm this season. While foxes will be the chief animal raised, it is also planned to raise beaver, mink, muskrats, skunks, and to plant trout fry in the stream on the farm, which is a natural home for speckled beauties.

Value of Fox Skins.

Few persons realize the great difference in the value of fox skins. While the fur of a gray variety may not be worth more than one or two dollars the skin of the fine silver and black foxes may bring several hundred dollars or a thousand. Skins have brought $4,000 and more.

So keen has become the demand for furs that the department of agriculture of the United States has made a thorough investigation of the subject of fur production, and has issued a bulletin and diagram showing the best localities for raising foxes. Northern Minnesota is given credit for being one of the very best places on this continent for fur raising.

Beaver skins also are scarce, and the Duluthians have a place on their farm for a beaver colony. There is no reason, they say, why beavers should not multiply, and the only reason for the scarcity of these animals is said to be the great slaughter by hunters until it was prohibited by law.

TAFT COMING FOR TWO DAYS

Expected to Pass Easter Sunday and Following Monday in Duluth.

William H. Taft, former president of the United States, is expected to pass Easter Sunday and the following Monday in Duluth, the guest of Thomas S. Wood, a boyhood friend.

Mr. Taft was scheduled to lecture in Duluth last fall, under the auspices of the Collegiate Alumnae, but a blizzard in New York state prevented him from reaching Duluth in time to keep his engagement. He offered the alumnae another date, and Monday, April 24 was chosen.

Mr. Taft will leave New York Wednesday, April 19. He will speak at Port Huron and Chicago, and is scheduled to pass Saturday and Sunday, April 22 and April 23 at La Crosse leaving there Sunday night and arriving in Duluth Monday morning. This schedule was received today by Mr. Wood, from Mr. Taft's secretary, and Mr. Wood immediately wrote inviting Mr. Taft to leave La Crosse a day earlier and arrive here Easter Sunday morning. He has no speaking engagement that would interfere, and this change would permit Mr. Taft to spend Easter Sunday in Duluth instead of on board a train. Mr. Wood is confident that the invitation will be accepted, and that Mr. Taft will be here for the two days.

MAY RETURN TO FARGO.

Reported N. P. May Change Headquarters From Dilworth, Minn.

Fargo, N. D., March 24—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported here among railroad circles that the Northern Pacific railroad contemplates returning the offices of the division superintendent and the chief dispatcher's office from Dilworth, Minn., to Fargo.

It is stated that the change will be made for purposes of economy as under the present conditions it is necessary to maintain offices at each place and because it would be much more handy to have these offices in this city than at the present location. It is expected that the change will be definitely decided on in the near future.

FARMERS PREPARING FOR RED RIVER RISE

Warren, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers who reside along the east banks of the Red river believe in preparedness and are building boats and barges, as they are expecting that the stream will go on a rampage as soon as warm weather sets in. Though the Red river has not overflowed its banks for some time, they believe there has been enough snow to warrant its doing so this year. Most of the farmers have built huge mounds out of manure to keep their stock on in case of high water.

Missing Aviator Found.

Columbus, N. Mex., March 24.—Lieut. Edward S. Gorrell of the United States aero corps, who has been missing since last Sunday, was found yesterday three miles south of Ascension by a motor truck train under Lieut. J. L. Parkinson, Twentieth infantry, according to reports made tonight to military headquarters. Lieut. Gorrell was uninjured, but was out of gasoline and had lost his way.

WEATHER—Snow and colder tonight and Saturday; lowest tonight about 15.

LAKE EXPRESS BOAT SERVICE

Plan Offered to Reduce Time of Shipping By Two Days.

Great Possibilities of Refrigerator Method of Handling Produce.

A daily express boat service from Duluth to Buffalo through which deliveries of either perishables or general freight may be made at Eastern points in two days less time than required by the all-rail route, is regarded as among the possibilities to be realized during the coming season of navigation.

Such was the statement made by officials of the recently organized Great Lakes Transit company to a Duluth business man who recently called upon them at their Buffalo headquarters. It was intimated to him that in framing up the season's schedules of boat sailings, Duluth would be accorded a much better service for shipments down the lakes than shippers here have ever had before.

"The management of the boat company appeared to me to recognize that wide possibilities offered in the development of the refrigerator service for carrying butter and eggs and other perishables from the Head of the Lakes to the Eastern markets, and it is thought likely that additional steamers will be equipped with refrigerator facilities," said the Duluth man today. In view of these intimations from first hand sources, he expressed himself as optimistic regarding the lake package freight and refrigerator service to be accorded the business interests at Duluth during the coming season.

Henry Bridgeman, of the Bridgeman-Russell company, is of the opinion that the present promise is for much heavier shipments of butter and eggs from here to the Eastern markets. His company's shipments of those products by boat during 1915 were nearly double those of 1914, and he is sanguine that a satisfactory record will be established this year. The call from the trade in the East for Minnesota butter and eggs, has expanded remarkably since an organized attempt was made to develop it, he averred. Now that it has been proven that heavy contracts placed here can be filled there is every reason to look forward to their being on a larger scale from now on, in Mr. Bridgeman's opinion.

The present consumption of butter through the country is computed by dealers to be the heaviest ever known. That has resulted in cleaning up the enormous supplies carried in the associated warehouses last fall. These were computed on Oct. 1 last as being 23,000,000 pounds heavier than on the same date in the preceding year, so that the trade record of disposing of it all in view of exports being very light (about 2,000,000 pounds all told), is regarded as remarkable.

Butter Prices Higher.

With dealers depending on current marketing to supply requirements, the butter market has been strong during the past month. Today the quotation for the creamery product is up a cent to 36@38 cents a pound, and in view of the conditions, it is thought there will not be any reduction in prices until the new grass becomes available for cattle.

Fresh eggs are also up a cent at 22@24 cents a dozen. The strength of the egg market is attributed in trade circles to the difficulties of marketing them in the country districts owing to the breaking up of the roads after the deep snows. It is predicted that eggs will be taken into storage next month at around 20 cents a dozen, or about 2 cents cheaper than last year.

Record Apple Sales.

Receipts of fruits and vegetables at this point are showing improvement both in quality and quantity, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company, the Culbertson Bros. company and Stacy-Merrill Fruit company. These Duluth commission houses express gratification over the movement of apples during the last ten days. Their sales have exceeded anything ever before experienced at this season. Quotations in the fruit are low on account of the cutting off of export trade and the scarcity of steamer space. Stocks of apples are reported to be cleaning up rapidly, with some varieties going off the market.

The orange market is firm, with the late navels offering in much better quality than the early fruit. Grapefruit is also a trifle dearer under the influence of the orange market.

Green vegetables are to be had in good quality, and the choice is more varied. Quotations are figured out as averaging up at about the same as at this time last year. They will gradually work lower as the sources of supply become nearer at hand.

Potatoes are firm at $1 a bushel, and owing to the probability of a falling off in farmers' deliveries during the next few weeks, it is thought that their quotations, as well as other roots, will work higher.

UNIVERSITY CAN SUPPLY REGIMENT

Minneapolis, Minn., March 24.—A regiment of well trained men on the University of Minnesota campus is prepared and anxious to respond in event of a call for volunteers for service on the Mexican border, according to announcement by university officials.

"War platoons" have been formed by various fraternal societies and officers of the platoons are ranking officers in the cadet corps. Each has had previous military science prescribed by the university.

MORE CONTESTS TO BE HELD THIS YEAR

North Dakota A. C. to Again Offer Boys and Girls Prizes.

Fargo, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The extension department of the agricultural college announces that another pork production contest will be held in North Dakota this season among the boys and girls. Over $300 and a pig are offered as prizes to the winners.

In the previous contests that have been held by the college the winners have set new records in pork production, not only for North Dakota but for the entire United States, and it has been demonstrated by these contests that the feeds grown in this state when fed to North Dakota bred swine have given very good gains at very small cost. On the average, pigs in these contests have returned twice the market price of the feeds consumed. One of the principal facts brought out in former contests is that pasture has been one of the feeds that has made cheap gains.

Acre-Yield Corn Contest.

The college also announces the 1916 acre-yield corn contest among the boys of the state. This will be the fifth annual contest and $370 are being offered in premiums. There will be a sweepstake prize of $50 and the state will then be divided into a north and south section, in each of which there will be given a first prize of $35, a second prize of $25, third $15, fourth to eighth $10 each and ninth to fifteenth $5 each.

COUNTY REMOVAL MATTER DELAYED

Owing to Technicalty Pine County Proposition Is Delayed.

Hinckley, Minn., March 24.—The Pine county board met at Pine City Monday to consider the petition for county seat removal at 10 o'clock a. m. with all members present.

It was found that the required notice had been published and the notices sent out to the different township clerks, except the township of Partridge, which had been omitted. This invalidated the whole meeting and requires a new meeting, which will be held on April 8.

WHAT DULUTH IS READING

The Herald's Weekly Review of New Books in the Public Library and the Books That Are Most in Demand.

The European war seems to be a big factor in boosting prices of nearly all commodities, but if interest in the various conflicts continues, the reading of fiction is bound to suffer. Virtually the whole of Duluth is "informing" itself, and now the Mexican situation has protruded itself into the limelight, making one more topic of vital importance for this class of readers. Call for books on the "wars" is on the increase, according to reports at the public library.

March, coming during the Lenten season, is one in which gaiety and entertainment is at a low ebb, and it might be called the "intellectual" month at the public library. Duluthians are not only cutting down on their rations during this period, but are also citting down on their mental rations along the lines of "reading for pleasure only." The schools too, are now taking steady strides and preparing for the Easter vacation, which will come late this year. In the meantime the students are drawing reference books by the score, and "plugging" for essay writing as well as for their daily recitations. This month, when social activities are almost at a standstill, the teachers are assigning long, hard tasks to Johnny and Mary, and the midnight oil is now being burned at home and the library chairs are well taken during afternoons and evenings. Books on debate, elocution, agriculture and many other topics are in great demand.

Books on Gardening.

Just now books on gardening are much sought. Duluthians are realizing that soil and climate here are conducive to raising fine vegetables and small fruits, but when the office desk is closed at night Mr. Business Man goes to the library and consults the librarians as to what can be had on "gardening," etc. Judging from the number of inquiries for these books, it looks as if there would be a great many gardens this season. The homecroft idea has gained a strong foothold in Duluth, and the library is being enlisted into the service to reduce the high cost of living.

The coming of David Warfield to Duluth in "Van der Decken," which is a tale of the sea dealing with the fanciful wanderings of the Flying Dutchman, is causing considerable interest in that mythical character. Many readers now eager to find out just how this Dutchman "flew" and where he "flew" to.

The 2,100 juvenile books, which were received at the library some time ago, are nearly all distributed now, and the main library and its branches will be adequately supplied with juvenile books when all of the supply has been taken care of.

At Sub Stations.

There has been a big gain in the number of books loaned at the substations. There were 592 more books loaned at the substations in February this year than during the same period a year ago. The total was 1,420 volumes. From the main library and substations there were 21,267 volumes drawn during that month. Of this number there were 13,179 volumes drawn from the main library; 10,036 to adult readers and 3,143 to juvenile readers.

At the West Duluth branch 3,162 books were drawn and 3,506 at the West end. The number of books taken from the stations follow: Cobb school, 250; Duluth Heights, 21; Emerson school, 106; Fairmont school, 310; Kenwood school, 68; Lakeside school, 92; Lester Park station, 116; Lowell school 49; Morgan school, 33; Radisson school, 23; Salter school, 221; Smithville school, 25; Stowe sub-branch, 111.

The new cards issued during the month numbered 434. A total of $72.35 was collected in fines from delinquent subscribers.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

THREE AUXILIARY RECRUITING STATIONS

Minneapolis, Minn., March 24.—Orders from the war department at Washington to open three auxiliary recruiting stations at once were received Thursday by Capt. H. F. Sykes, in charge of the army recruiting station here.

Immediately on receipts of the orders Capt. Sykes prepared to go to Mankato, Minn., La Crosse, Wis., and Aberdeen, S. D., to organize the work there.

All of the new stations will be branches of the Minneapolis station. Recruiting at the local station has more than doubled in the last week.

LA CROSSE BANK CUTS LARGE MELON

La Crosse, Wis., March 24.—The national bank of La Crosse yesterday cut a $250,000 melon. The stockholders authorized the issue of a 100 per cent stock dividend. The bank now has a capital of $250,000 and each stockholder will receive two shares in place of one, without cost to him. The new stock will be paid for out of the bank's surplus of $400,000. George W. Burton, a classmate of Former President Taft, is president of the bank.

RED RIVER VALLEY PRESBYTERY MEETING

Moorhead, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Presbytery of the Red River Valley opened here last night and will close tonight. The attendance is large, most of the pastors of the churches in the Red River valley and quite a large number of laymen being present.

The principal address last evening was delivered by Rev. Frank H. Throop of Soochow, China, who spoke of the missionary work in the Orient.

This morning committees were named to select the next place of meeting and on nominations and hospitality.

Big Glass Production.

Washington, March 24.—American glass production shows a thriving growth. Census reports place it at $122,692,000 in 1914, an increase of almost $81,000,000 from 1909.

TO SELL REVOLVER HIS SOLE OBJECT

Martell Denies He Tried to Hold Up Saloon Patrons.

"I didn't try to hold up anybody. I just wanted to sell the gun."

That is the story in which James Martell, alleged bandit, persists. Martell is the man who walked into the Peerless saloon, 9 East Superior street, Wednesday night, and pointed a loaded revolver at one of the patrons, with a command to "throw up your hands."

Martell was unable to explain why he loaded the weapon fully before starting out to sell it. Jack McLennan, proprietor of the saloon, Michael McTighe, and Al Curran, patrons, testified that Martell pointed the gun at them, but that he was overpowered and disarmed when Curran jumped on him from behind and pinned his arms to his side.

Judge W. H. Smallwood held Martell to the grand jury without bail on a charge of attempted robbery in the first degree.

Engineer and Fireman Killed.

Toronto, March 24.—The engineer and fireman of the train known as the Chicago Flyer, on the Grand Trunk railway were instantly killed last night in a collision with a freight train near Port Credit. No passenger was injured.

NEW SCHOOL IS PROBABLE

Lester Park's Needs Found to Be as Great as Claimed.

Committee Will Report to the School Board April 7.

Lester Park will have a new school building in the near future, if recommendations of the board of education's committee on buildings and grounds are accepted by that body.

After several conferences with Lester Park citizens, who appeared at the March meeting of the board to urge upon the directors that action should be taken, the committee is said to be in favor of the improvement.

"I am convinced that Lester Park needs a new school building," said H. J. Grannis, one of the committee members. "We have talked the matter over with various interested residents of that section of the city and believe that they should have the building, if possible."

The Lakeside school was built in 1890 and is one of the two frame buildings now being used for school purposes in the city. The other frame building is the Whittier, on Minnesota Point, where the school population is said to be diminishing, rather than increasing.

The old village of Lakeside built the school, according to board members, and later, when the village and city of Duluth consolidated, the school was taken over by the Duluth independent school district. Its cost, as estimated, is only $15,000.

Residents Present Case.

District Judge Bert Fesler, John H. Norton, John Jenswold, Jr., Mrs. David H. Williams and others, comprising the committee of thirty from the Loster Park Business Men's club, which appeared before the board on March 10, said the building was badly overcrowded.

The enrollment during the past year was 305 pupils, the committee said, and all of the rooms were filled almost to overflowing. The school has no manual training or domestic science equipment, and students are required to go a considerable distance to the Lakeside school in order to get this work.

"One of the biggest arguments for the school," said Mr. Grannis, "seems to be the permanent nature of the growth of the community."

W. B. Getchell is chairman of the committee on maintenance of buildings and grounds, of which Mr. Grannis is a member. C. Francis Colman was appointed member pro tem, to fill the vacancy caused by the absence from the city of F. A. Brewer, president of the board. They will make a special report on their findings at the next board meeting, April 7.

PACKAGE LINE LAYS EMBARGO

Port Huron & Duluth Steamship Company Issues Important Notice.

Congestion at Eastern Terminals Causes Refusal of Eastbound Business.

Owing to the condition of affairs in Eastern terminals, where congestion has lasted now for months, and bids fair to last for still more months, the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company has just issued notice that it will not accept any package freight business bound eastward until further notice; but will probably accept grain.

The embargo notice, just issued by W. S. Jenks, general manager of the company, announces that no flour or grain products, no copper or products of mines and no shingles or forest products of any kind will be accepted until further notice.

H. W. Cross, general agent of the company here, said today that his company's officials considered the matter carefully for quite a while before ordering the embargo, for they realize that the situation is a serious one, and the embargo will prove embarrassing for those who have been planning on lake shipment at the opening of navigation.

"But with conditions as they are at the Eastern terminals," said Mr. Cross, "it is utterly useless to ship any more stuff there, and every ton that goes simply increases the jam and hinders any efforts being made to relieve the situation. Also the shipper benefits nothing, for he cannot get his goods delivered after they reach the Eastern lake terminal.

Would Prevent Inconvenience.

"The opening of navigation is about three weeks or a month off, but we are issuing our notices now so that prospective shippers will be enabled to make other arrangements, and this early notification will help them make spring plans without embarrassment, or at least with a minimum of inconvenience."

It is proposed to enter the steamers of the line into the grain-carrying trade, but taking package freight from the East to this point. It may necessitate the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company extending its route to Buffalo. Heretofore its Eastern terminal has been Port Huron, but plans have already been made to run its boats to Cleveland this year, tapping the C. F. A. territory. Heretofore all its connection has been with the Grand Trunk railway, but with the invasion of the further-east point, other rail connections will be made which will be of more importance. At present Duluth is engaged in a fight to have proportional rates from the C. F. A. territory made in lake-and-rail shipments instead of the system of a combination of local rates as at present.

Merger Not Heard From.

W. S. Mead, agent here for the Great Lakes Transit company, the new package freight line merger, has received no notice of the character of that issued by the Port Huron & Duluth, but shippers rather expect one before navigation opens, as the same conditions as to freight congestion will apply on this line as on the other.

LADYSMITH, WIS., IS PRODUCING POTASH

Ladysmith, Wis., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The newly established potash works here shipped its first car of potash a few days ago and is now assembling another car. War conditions have made the domestic product very attractive and the local company intends to enlarge in the near future.

Re-elected Aitkin Superintendent.

Aitkin, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald)—R. L. Mason has accepted his re-election as superintendent of the Aitkin schools for the third year at a salary of $1,800, an increase of $100 over the present year. Re-election has also been tendered to the entire corps of teachers by the board of education with ten days' time in which to file their replies.

DORSEY'S DEATH RECALLS SCANDAL

Former Arkansas Senator Accused of "Star Route" Frauds.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—Stephen W. Dorsey, former United States senator from Arkansas, is dead in this city, which has been his residence for a number of years past. He was a native of Vermont and was 74 years of age. He served in the Union army during the Civil war and rose from a private to the rank of colonel. After the war he removed to Arkansas, where he took an active part in politics, becoming a member of the Republican national committee and in 1873 being elected to the United States senate by a combination of Democratic and Republican members of the legislature. He was chairman of the executive committee of the Republican national committee in the campaign of 1880 and was accused of corrupt use of campaign funds in Indiana.

Dorsey was accused of being the leader in the "star route" scandal. Star routes were mail routes in the West and Southwest where there were no railroads or steamboats to carry pouches. During the Hayes administration a ring of contractors, who bid on carrying mail on these routes, and politicians, through favor, secured control of the routes and by expediting the time required for trips over the various routes and by increasing the number of trips far beyond the needs of the service, brought about an increase in the compensation allowed. Also contracts were sublet contrary to law.

Stephen W. Dorsey was alleged to have been leader of the ring and to have put through such legislation as was needed by his influence in congress. The fraud cost the government more than $4,000,000.

President Garfield called for an investigation soon after taking office. The alleged combination was brought to trial. At the first trial two men were convicted, but the jurors after being out three days were unable to agree concerning Senator Dorsey. A second trial brought his acquittal after a jury deliberation of a day and two nights.

Warren Market Day.

Warren, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Warren business men held a two-day bargain sale this week. These local market day sales are an annual affair in this city and are held in connection with a mammoth combination sale given by a local auctioneer.

Bemidji Easter Cantata.

Bemidji, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Presbyterian choir held their first rehearsal of "The Easter Allelula," a cantat, writen by E. K. Heyser, that will be given by that choir for Easter. It is one of the most difficult musical affairs ever attempted in Bemidji and two practices will be held each week from now until Easter, under the direction of Ida Virginia Brown, the choir director.

BEMIDJI MILLS TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Nearly 1,000 Men Will Be Furnished Employment.

Bemidji, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the officials of the Crookston Lumber company, both the lumber mills of that concern here will open next week and will operate both day and night throughout the summer, giving employment to nearly 1,000 men.

Although the lake is now frozen, a channel will be cut so that the logs may be transported from the landing to the mill. With the opening of the mills and the extensive work that is being contemplated by the city in street improvements, together with the labor that will be needed for the construction of several large business blocks here this summer one of the best years in the history of the city is assured as far as employment for the laboring men of the city are concerned.

FARMERS NEAR WARREN IN LIVESTOCK BREEDING

Warren, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers in this neighborhood are rapidly gaining recognition as stock growers and shippers. They shipped in a carload of pure bred cattle from the southern part of the state and the other day one large hog-raiser shipped out twenty-one pure bred hogs by express to farmers in Northwestern states. The farmers have formed a shipping association and a breeders' association and have employed a specialist to devote his entire time to test cows belonging to the members of the association.

Bemidji Knows Bragdon.

Bemidji, Minn., March 24.—Joseph W. Bragdon, the Minneapolis business man who, on Tuesday, was indicted by a Hennepin county jury, charging offenses against young girls, is well known in Bemidji and at one time was a stockholder in the Bemidji Brewing company. He also visited Bemidji when he was connected with the Winston-Ferrington firm, now known as Winston, Harper & Fisher.

ENGLISH CITY HAS A WOMAN DETECTIVE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Bristol, Eng., March 6.—A woman detective has been appointed in Bristol, which thereby gains the distinction of being the first city in the kingdom to take such a step. The new officer has received special training in police work, and although her duties will chiefly concern women and children, her services will be utilized in solving all classes of crime and mystery.

Duffy's Relieved Stomach Trouble and Indigestion

GEO. M. MANGON.

A newspaper advertisement was the means of acquainting Mr. Mangon with the medicinal virtues of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. He says:

"Four years ago I had a bad case of stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. It was impossible to retain any food on my stomach and my weight dropped from 178 pounds to 106 pounds in two years. I took treatment without success and worried myself to a physical wreck. I noticed your advertisement and decided to purchase a bottle. I took Duffy's as directed and have been taking it ever since. I have regained my weight and am now a well and powerful man—thanks to your great remedy. I know it saved my life, and I am never without a bottle in the house. I wish you could tell the whole world what Duffy's has done for me." (Signed) Geo. M. Mangon, 253 Broadway, New York City.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is recommended in tablespoon doses in equal amount of water or milk before meals and on retiring as an aid to digestion. Sufferers from stomach trouble and indigestion with sensitive stomachs are able to retain Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as it is made from health giving grains thoroughly malted and requiring little effort of the digestive organs. As a household remedy for use in emergencies Duffy's is unsurpassed.

"Get Duffy's and Keep Well"

Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY. Beware of imitation

NOTE Get Duffy's from your local druggist, grocer or dealer $1 per bottle. If he cannot supply you, write us. Send for useful household booklet free.

BETTER CARE FOR TEETH

Safety Head Favors Dental Clinic for the Public Schools.

Urges Subscripton to Raise Funds for Paying Dentist.

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, favors the establishment of a dental clinic for school children and the employment of a part-time dentist to work after school hours.

He so declared himself when called on yesterday afternoon by Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell, representative of the Woman's council, which organization has already expended a large sum of money to prepare one of the rooms at Central high school for a dental office and laboratory.

When requested to employ a part-time dentist to take charge of the laboratory, Commissioner Silberstein declared that the health department has no authority to make such expenditures, but he suggested that a public subscription be taken up to finance the plan until some satisfactory arrangement can be made with both the school board and the city council.

"This suggestion is an excellent one," said the safety head, "and I am heartily in accord with the proposition. Rather than wait until we can find out how to finance it, I will gladly start the fund with a personal subscription and agree to give a specified amount each month, say for half a year or a year. By that time it is possible that the school board or the council will be able to make satisfactory arrangements for financing it."

TO PROTECT FOODSTUFFS

Fruit and Vegetables Must Not Be Exposed to Dirt.

Members of the Housewives' league yesterday instituted a campaign for better protection to fruits and foodstuffs during the summer months.

Mrs. J. T. Watson, president of the league, called on Mayor Prince, Commissioner Silberstein and Health Director Fahey yesterday afternoon for the purpose of securing the co-operation of city officials in an effort to enact legislation that will better protect fruits and foodstuffs sold in the open.

The city officers do not favor special municipal legislation, they say, as the state laws govern the covering of all foods and cars of same during the summer months, but Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, promised to enforce the state laws to the letter during the coming warm weather.

Mrs. Watson cited the state laws of Wisconsin and their enforcement in Superior, where it is forbidden to display fruits outside, while they must be covered and properly protected even on the inside of buildings. Conditions in Superior, she said, are much better than Duluth.

ALLEGED SLAVER IS PUT ON TRIAL

John Freeman Facing Serious Charge in District Court.

John Freeman, alleged white slaver, was put on trial this morning in Judge Ensign's division of the district court. Freeman is accused of having received earnings from one Gladys Haling, a prostitute. The prosecution claims that he procured the woman in Superior and had her come to his place at 1002 Garfield avenue, where, it is alleged, he had a small grocery store for a "blind."

When the police raided the place on March 4 last, the Haling girl was caught with two other young women, who were inmates of the place. She was arrested in company with John Variano, whom she married the next day. The authorities dropped their charges against the pair.

John Norton is defending Freeman and County Attorney Greene is prosecuting.

NO CHANGE IN THE VERDUN SITUATION

Paris Reports Only Intermittent Bombardment East of Meuse.

She's an expert in party planning! She'll make individual favors and table decorations in any color scheme you choose. She'll plan the entertainment (even the menu if you desire.) This is a new form of Glass Block service, and one of which many women are finding it convenient to take advantage of.

Smart Spring Apparel at Prices We Won't Be Able to Duplicate Later!

Just a word about prices: We're showing the most complete assemblage of women's, misses' and children's apparel ever displayed in this store, and we are maintaining our reputation for astonishingly low prices; but the cost of taffeta silks, and all-wool materials is rising steadily (almost every day we receive advance notices from the big Eastern manufacturers of further rises in the cost of these products) and this cannot but have its effect eventually on the Glass Block's deservedly famous price scale! You'll be wise to buy your Spring suit NOW before the advance comes, while the Spring is still young, and the whole season is before you in which to get the most out of your new apparel!

Smart New Suits

New suits are pouring in every day, a steady stream of smart models priced so low one is really astonished at what a small amount of money will do these days! They're here at $19.75, $22.75, $24.75, $29.75, $32.75, $34.75 and up to $54.00.

All sorts of attractive materials and styles; graceful navy blue suits of Poiree Twill; silk-striped Serges, in combination with black Taffeta (an entirely new effect, quite the rage in New York), the new "Bolivia Cloth," in soft mouse color; rich silk Failles, with sash belts and every one of them moderate in price.

HOMES FOR TEACHERS

Scheme to Build Home for Every Rural School Teacher.

Plans Being Made By National Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

Chicago, March 24.—The biggest, most universal scheme for social service in the history of America, one affecting every hamlet in the land, has been instituted by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, in the proposal to build a home for every rural school teacher in America.

Minnesota will be one of the first states where the plan will be carried into effect, and a thorough investigation of the conditions in that state preceded the announcement of the social service plans of the lumber manufacturers. The association has not as yet formulated its plans for pushing this new department of public service by actually assisting the schools of the nation to build homes for teachers, but work on this philanthropic enterprise is already under way and the association plans to have its plans ready for announcement in a few weeks.

Good Social Movement.

C. C. Swain of St. Paul, rural school commissioner, is an ardent advocate of the project, and the success of the building of such structures in a few isolated portions of his home state has convinced him that it is a good social movement for the entire nation, as well as for his home state.

The plan to spread the gospel of homes for school teachers over the land was first broached only a few weeks ago at a conference of the directors of the association. It proved instantly popular. The idea was taken up by the United States Bureau of Education, and the first result of this co-operation between the lumbermen of the nation and the government itself is in the issuance of a brochure entitled "Teachers' Cottages," by R. S. Kellogg of Chicago, secretary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, in co-operation with the United States Bureau of Education, and which is being sent to every county superintendent of schools in America. The Rockefeller foundation has already approved of the plan and is giving $25,000 to foster this work, with more money to come.

Follows Washington Idea.

The proposal to build these teachers' cottages all over the land follows out the idea that has already been carried into extensive success by the state of Washington.

The national association has taken up this social service work in the belief that the education of the nation will be immensely advanced if the teachers of the nation's young are properly housed. The theory is that if teachers are provided with proper homes, the country districts will be able to secure better teachers, and avoid the constant change by which the schools are always in a torn-up condition. As Secretary Kellogg phrases it in his work, which constitutes a survey of the movement and its possibilities:

"Under present circumstances, the teaching of a country school often becomes simply a temporary expedient for the teacher the first term after getting a certificate, and ambitious teachers who are anxious to grow in their profession, and make something of themselves, go to the city schools just as soon as possible, where living conditions are better. The country schools are always left with the largest proportion of young, inexperienced, poorly trained teachers."

Should Be Models.

Mr. Kellogg urges also that the teachers' cottages, or as he calls them, teacherages, should be models of sanitation, artistic, though inexpensive, and so constructed that they may be not only homes, but real social centers for the rural neighborhoods.

In order to further this plan of properly caring for the teachers, the lumbermen's organization is ready to prepare plans to assist rural communities in providing their teachers with the kinds of homes which have proved satisfactory in Washington, and in the other more scattered localities where they have been built.

Minnesota is selected for one of the first states for the general introduction of this new idea of teachers' cottages for every rural school, because it has already made amazing progress on this very line.

In St. Louis County.

"We have teachers' homes at the following schools in what is known as the unorganized district of St. Louis county: No. 14, four teachers; No. 40, two teachers; No. 41, one teacher; No. 45, two teachers; No. 56, two teachers; No. 68, two teachers; No. 71, three teachers; No. 73, one teacher; No. 70, two teachers; No. 83, three teachers; No. 85, three teachers. There are about an equal number of cottages for teachers in the rural schools in other districts of the county. Our plan for these buildings is not uniform, but in all cases except one the cottage is a part of the main building. Our object in making the cottage a part of the main building is to economize in the matter of cost of construction and to enable this little household to be used in connection with the instruction of the children in domestic arts. As a general rule the cottage part of the main building costs us about $600, and in addition thereto we are at an outlay of $300 for furniture. The buildings are equipped completely in every way with all the necessary furniture and kitchen ware. This method of taking care of the teachers we are following up, not because it is impossible to secure boarding places in all instances, although that condition of affairs frequently prevails, but rather because it enables us to secure better talent and to retain our teachers for a longer period of time. No rent is charged, and no charge is made for fuel. The teachers live usually at a cost of from $5 to $10 a month each."—N. A. Young, superintendent of county schools, Duluth, Minn.

Really Has a Home.

Mahnomen county reports one district furnishing a residence for the teacher and says: "I wish every school in our county could have buildings like this, as the teacher feels as though she really has a home, and she is not inconvenienced by long walks through the bad weather and does not have to build fires and wait in a cold room for the room to heat. A place for the teacher to board is one of our greatest problems, and in a home furnished the teacher as above, she does not feel like an intruder as she often does when boarding with a private family."

A consolidated district, No. 9, near Morris, furnishes a residence for the principal and two lots of ground. They charge rent sufficient to keep up the property. The plan is satisfactory.

In Red Lake county cottages are very much needed, as in many cases teachers are boarding under very unfavorable conditions, and in some cases the schools are compelled to remain closed. The Saum consolidated school has a building used for such a purpose.

In Carlton county one of the consolidated schools was compelled to build a house, as the principal informed them he would have to resign if no accommodations could be made.

Stearns county has twenty-two districts that provide teachers' cottages, rent free. In all instances these schools are of the one-room rural type and are taught by married men. The salaries, in addition to the use of the cottage, approach about $650 per year.

FIRST CONGRESS ON CHILD WELFARE

Plans Are Being Made to Hold It in Buenos Aires.

New York, March 24.—Arrangements are being made to hold the First American Congress on Child Welfare in Buenos Aires next July in commemoration of the centenary of Argentine independence. The program embraces sections on law, hygiene, psychology, assistance to mother and child, sociology and industrial legislation, and has been translated into English for the benefit of Americans who are not familiar with Spanish. The president of the congress, Dr. Julieta Lanteri Renshaw, in a letter to the National Child Labor committee, New York city, which is furthering the interest of the congress in this country, says:

"Our executive committee is counting upon the presence of Americans interested in philanthropy and social work to discuss problems of child welfare. This international American congress will serve as a new bond of union and fraternity among the nations of North and South America, and the executive committee hopes for this reason that the meetings in Buenos Aires will be as impressive as possible."

The congress is regarded by Harry E. Bard, secretary of the Pan-American Society of the United States, as an unequaled opportunity for establishing closer social, intellectual and cultural relations with the other republics of America. "No subject could form a better basis for profitable discussion than the child," said Mr. Bard, "and I am particularly glad that the call for this congress comes from Argentina as this will serve to bring to many of our people a better understanding of the progress made in improving the conditions of the child and the methods employed in that splendid country."

SUGAR INDUSTRY VERY PROSPEROUS

Large Crop in Porto Rico and Bringing High Prices.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

San Juan, Porto Rico, March 10.—Sugar valued at $10,000,000 is being marketed by Porto Rico this month. Every ship to the United States is carrying capacity loads. The month's deliveries present probably not more than 25 per cent of the value of the sugar produced this season. Most of the sugar is being sold on a rising market at prices considerably above $5 per hundred pounds.

Never before in the history of the island have the sugar men had such a large crop nor prospects of such uniform high prices. The island's production it is estimated, will be in the neighborhood of 380,000 tons, an increase of approximately 75,000 tons over last year. And under present market conditions it is expected that the whole crop will be sold at an average of 5 cents per pound, or better. Large sales this week were reported at $5.22 San Juan, equal to $5.40 New York.

Labor troubles which developed at the beginning of the cane harvest in January have practically all subsided and the grinding season is now at its height. At but one point in the island, Arecibo, are there any labor troubles at present, and these are expected to be settled at any moment.

In practically every instance the laborers have received an increase in wages and shorter hours of labor. For the first time in the history of the sugar industry the sugar planters have granted the field labor an eight-hour day. One of the largest mills in the island, the Fajardo Sugar company, signed a contract with its laborers providing for a minimum wage of 75 cents a day on a nine-hour basis. This same company has also placed all of its employes in the sugar mill proper on a wage based on the price of sugar. Already they have received bonuses as high as 80 per cent in addition to their salary.

The cause of the strikes during the present crop, according to the bureau of labor of the insular government, which has just issued a report on it, was due to the fact that at the end of the last grinding season the employers reduced wages to the same scale in force before the 1915 strike and the laborers were again compelled to strike to regain their former increases. This report indicates that the wages paid the sugar laborers are not at all in proportion with the present prosperity of the sugar men.

FISH SUPPLY FOR CANADIAN TROOPS

New Ration Expected to Improve Health of the Men.

London, March 24.—"Canada's Fishmonger-General" is the title of Maj. Hughie Green, who has arrived in England on a special mission from Maj.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, the Canadian minister of militia, to organize the entire fish supply of the Canadian troops. The appointment is said to be without precedent in the history of warfare, and the introduction of the fish ration to the Canadian troops is expected to improve the health of the men, save the dominion thousands of dollars each week, and revolutionize the fish industry of Canada.

Maj. Green is said to have interviewed the dominion authorities with a frozen fish under each arm. He had brought the fish 2,000 miles, so the story is told here, and so impressed the Canadian officials that they lost no time in laying the plans for carrying out his scheme.

Green, who is but 28 years old, has caught fish nearly all his life in the waters of the Great Lakes. He arrived here with forty tons, and before leaving, organized the business so that the same amount will arrive each week, all ready for cooking. Much of the fish, which will come from Canadian waters, consist of salmon, halibut, soles, cod, smoked haddock, whitefish and herrings.

Maj. Green has engaged many Indians in the smaller northern Canadian lakes to assist in the catching of sufficient fish to keep the Canadian troops in England and on the continent well supplied for the duration of the war.

Eight-Hour Ordinance Upheld.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24.—Judge Ludwig, circuit court, in a decision Thursday sustains the validity of the city's eight-hour ordinance, and the district court fine of $15 against Con Rauif, Jr., stands. Rauif, a contractor, was charged with having worked men ten hours or more on city tunnel work.

Permanent Relief for Chronic Constipation

Knowledge and Practice of Correct Daily Habit the Great Essential

Constipation is a condition affecting all classes of all people and can be permanently relieved only by acquiring habits of regularity.

The most natural time for the eliminative process is in the morning when both the muscular and nervous systems are relaxed by sleep and rest. When relief does not come readily, it is an excellent plan to take a mild laxative at bedtime. Cathartics and purgatives, that by the violence of their quick action shock and disturb the system, should not be employed.

An effective laxative remedy that is very dependable, and which does not gripe or otherwise disturb the organs involved, is found in a combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that can be bought at the drug store for fifty cents a bottle.

Mrs. C. C. Allen, 215 Foam St., New Monterey, Calif., wrote to Dr. Caldwell that she "found Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin just what was needed for constipation and distress of the stomach after eating. It should be in every household."

MRS. C. C. ALLEN

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and keep it in the house to use when occasion arises. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

Freckle-Face

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.—Advertisement.

The play itself will have a framework in the form of an Elizabethean prologue, which is to be supplied by 800 or 400 folk of Shakespeare's time, who on coming to take their places to view the play, will express their holiday mood in dance and song and merry-making. They will then be seated as a Shakespearian audience to view the play.

"The groups of assisting actors will be needed: First, 200 courtiers and foresters (or twice 200 if a double cast is decided upon) for the play itself; second, from 400 to 600 for the prologue and epilogue."

Cecil J. Sharp of London has been engaged to train the dancers, and he will begin work here the latter part of March.

INDIA'S PEANUT TRADE AFFECTED BY THE WAR

Washington, March 24.—War has seriously affected India's peanut trade, consular reports show. Exports of 1915 were about one-half those of the previous year, when peanuts valued at $11,176,404 were sent abroad.

TO DISCUSS CREDITING OF SMALLER COLLEGES

Chicago, March 24.—Important questions concerning the crediting of smaller colleges and normal schools are expected to provoke some lively discussion today and tonight among delegates to the twenty-first annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools here. The commission on accredited schools and colleges will meet early in the day and prepare a report which will be submitted to the association later. There is said to be some bitter feeling over the limitations proposed on classification of schools and colleges.

The topic will be formally discussed at tonight's session.

"NO-SMOKING" DAYS PROVE SUCCESSFUL

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, March 1.—The "no smoking days" inaugurated by Herr Kirchner in Breslau for the benefit of soldiers some time ago—days on which smokers abstained from the use of tobacco and gave either their customary allowance of cigars and cigarettes or their value in cash to men in the army—have been held now in thirty-one cities, large and small, and have had astonishing results.

A total of $94,221 cigarettes in cash has been collected, it is reported, beside about 200,000 cigars, 180,000 cigarettes, and 20,000 packages of tobacco. The tobacco trade, as was originally feared, has felt no ill-effects from the "no-smoking days" so that plans are being completed for their introduction into thirty-four other cities in the near future.

ST. LOUIS TO GIVE FESTIVAL PLAY

Great Outdoor Production of "As You Like It" Is Planned.

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—An outdoor production of "As You Like It," with Margaret Anglin in the stellar role and 1,000 men, women and children of St. Louis in the massed parts, will be this city's offering in honor of the Shakespeare tercentenary.

The play will be given in Forest park on the nights of June 4-11, and will be under the auspices of the Pageant Drama association, which two years ago produced the pageant and masque of St. Louis.

A call for volunteer actors has been issued. It says in part: "This festival play will be given in a beautiful natural auditorium, which will accommodate 10,000 spectators. Every modern resource of staging and lighting will be employed to make of this the most splendid presentation of the play ever seen.

"It will involve community participa-

MISSION CREEK SUIT UP AGAIN

Damages of $1,170 Sought; Verdict of $75 for Trespass.

A jury was drawn in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning to try for a second time the lawsuit which John H. Brigham has pending against the City of Duluth in which he is seeking $1,170 as damages to his property by reason of the flooding of Mission creek during the rainy season of May 1914. It is claimed that the city was negligent in not providing a water course sufficient to take care of the situation which arose at that time. At a previous trial, several months ago, Mr. Brigham recovered a verdict, but it was set aside and a new trial granted.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, a jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court reached a verdict for the plaintiff in the suit brought by Carl E. Johnson against the E. W. Coons company, contractors for the Smithville subway construction work. The jury awarded Mr. Johnson $75 as triple damages to his property by reason of the contractors going onto his property and cutting away several feet from the front end of the lots in order to re-establish the grade of Commonwealth avenue, on which the lots have a frontage. The testimony was that the contractors entered upon the premises and started the work before the city had taken any preliminaries towards acquiring the property by condemnation proceedings. This constituted wilful trespass, the court held in its charge to the jury and entitled the plaintiff to triple damages.

League to Entertain.

Members of West Duluth council No. 255, Royal League, will entertain for members of the society at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms Tuesday evening. A cafeteria lunch will be served, according to announcement made by committee members. Games and special music will feature the program. The members of the committee are Marcus Skomars, chairman; Ray Batley, Walter Matheson, Frank M. Ashley and A. J. Lindgren.

VETERAN CURLER WILL BE HONORED

George J. Mallory Night Will Be Celebrated on Birthday Anniversary.

George J. Mallory night will be observed by members of the Western Curling club tomorrow evening. The Mallory night will be celebrated in honor of Mr. Mallory's birthday and a special bonspiel is being arranged, at which boxes of cigars donated by the club will be the prize.

Tomorrow will be Mr. Mallory's sixty-sixth birthday. Although the oldest member in point of years, Mr. Mallory claims to feel as "chipper" as any of the young fellows. During the season that is just winding up, he has shown this in the battles he has fought during the trophy games, getting a long way into most of them and appearing in the finals twice.

In recent years Mr. Mallory has celebrated his birthday anniversaries by putting up a box of cigars to play for. This year the club members intend to put up the cigars. It is expected that there will be a large turnout of members.

Two finals were completed last evening, winding up the entire list of trophies of the club. Emil J. Zauft played in both of these finals, losing in the first game in the Stone-Ordean event to Charles Iltis by a score of 9 to 7, and winning in the second game from Richard F. Wade by a score of 8 to 7.

The only games remaining unplayed are a semi-final and final of the club button event. This evening Thomas Quinn and Joe McDonald will play in the semi-final, and the winner will play the finals against Alex Donald.

DENFELD SCHOOL PROGRAM.

Faculty and Students Enjoy Excellent Patronage at Entertainment.

The faculty and students of the R. E. Denfeld high school staged a successful musical and literary program last evening and it was attended by a crowd with almost filled the big auditorium of the school. The affair was one of a series to be given for the purpose of raising funds to pay for the painting of Supt. Robert E. Denfeld, which recently was received at the school.

The principal numbers were contributed by Mrs. Frank E. Parker, who gave dramatic and humorous readings; Miss Gertrude Logan, D. W. Heistand and J. R. Batchelor, soloists, the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs and the Irving school orchestra.

GIRLS' CLUB WILL GIVE BANQUET FOR MOTHERS

The first "Mother and Daughter" banquet given by the Girls' club of the R. E. Denfeld high school will be held this evening. There will be about one hundred and twenty-five guests. A program of short talks, readings and musical numbers has been prepared.

The toastmaster will be Miss Rose Harris, president of the Girls' club. Miss Marie Krantz is chairman of the program committee; Miss Islay Johnson, menu committee, and Miss Alice O'Donnell, banquet committee. The affair is arranged under the general direction of Miss Edna Thatcher of the Y. W. C. A.

The program will include a toast, "Our Mother," by Miss Caroline Horman; "Comrades" by Miss Gladys Gamache; "What a Mother Expects from Her Daughter" by Mrs. A. R. Armstrong, and "Our Goal" by Mrs. C. Phillips of the Y. W. C. A. The musical numbers will be contributed by Miss Helen O'Connor and Miss Dorothy Pierson.

WANT STREETS VACATED.

Rosedale Addition Will Be Used for Railroad Yards Only.

Petitions for the vacation of all streets and alleys in Rosedale addition, which adjoins the Minnesota Steel company's property at Morgan Park, were filed yesterday afternoon with City Clerk Borgen.

The petitions are signed by officers of the Spirit Lake Transfer company, the Morgan Park company, the Gopher Investment company and the Carleton Investment company, who state that the property is to be used for yards and trackage and will never be platted for residence lots.

BREAKS LEG BY FALL.

Henry Hillman Sustains Severe Injury By Slipping on Ice.

Henry Hillman, manual training instructor at the Irving Junior high school, is at his home confined by a fracture of the left leg below the knee. He was injured yesterday morning while on his way from his home at 2709 Eleventh avenue to take a car for school.

When Mr. Hillman reached the corner of Twenty-seventh avenue and Seventh street, his feet struck an icy spot, and he fell heavily, striking his leg against the curbing. He was unable to rise and neighbors near the place helped him home, where a surgeon was called to attend the injury.

POSTMASTER WILL SPEAK.

McEwen Will Discuss Mail Service at Club Meeting.

An address by Postmaster W. E. McEwen on mail service will feature the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. Early closing of mails will be discussed and explained by the postmaster.

A report on the progress of getting signatures to the petition for the paving of Fifty-ninth avenue will be given by members of the committee. The petition is in the hands of C. M. Brooks, Andrew Myles and David Sang.

CHURCH WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual congregational meeting of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church, Thirty-ninth avenue west and Fourth street, will be held next Monday evening. Reports of the last year from officers of various branches of the church will be read and plans for next year will be made.

The ladies' aid society of the church will entertain Wednesday evening at a musical and literary program in the church. Following the program refreshments will be served.

The Christian Endeavor society will conduct services Sunday afternoon at the poor farm. In the evening at 6:45 o'clock the society will unite with the Westminster Presbyterian society in a debate.

The confirmation class will meet Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

WANTS $480 FOR CARING FOR INSANE PATIENT

Because Mrs. Lilly Brosdal of West Duluth was dissatisfied with the disposition which the probate court made with her claim for $480 against the estate of Nick Thompson, insane, she has taken an appeal to the district court.

Thompson was committed to the hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls, but was later released from the institution on parole. On his return, he made his home with Mrs. Brosdal, who furnished him board and lodging for several months until his condition became such that he was returned to the hospital.

Mrs. Brosdal presented a claim to Thompson's guardian, W. B. Getchell, who referred it to the court. The court disallowed the claim except as to $54. An appeal was taken to the district court and a jury will decide what amount in excess of $54, if any, Mrs. Brosdal is entitled to.

Civics Club Organizes.

The Denfeld Civics club was formally organized at a meeting held at the school yesterday afternoon. Plans to have some speakers of authority on civic government address the club at each of its meetings were made. The club elected William Burger, president; William Harrison, vice president; Miss Anna Gallagher, secretary; Reginald Le Falvre, corresponding secretary; Theodore Gagnon, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Armstrong, sergeant-at-arms.

Bright Warm Sunny Days Are Coming--Coming Just As Sure As Day Follows Night

Think back over other years—remember how one extreme has always followed another. A steady, long, cold winter must accordingly give way to a warm, delightful spring.

Many of you have been a-buying your spring things. Those of you who have not yet done so should delay no longer.

Spring fashions are safely settled. Many of the fashionable fabrics are scarce and prices are advancing. Buy now and have not only the advantage of choosing from fine assortments, but safeguard yourself from an advance, and make sure of getting just what you want.

Not only that—the woman who buys early gets the most good out of her clothes.

Tonight We Especially Emphasize Our Suits for Young Women

—Smart as can be with the chic lines which appeal to young women.

A single glance tells more than a page of words. Come in tomorrow—see yourself in one of these flare-hip suit jackets and skirts that are draped, cascaded, tunicked, tiered, pleated or shirred in the most wonderful of new styles.

Come in and try on some of the new things —so you'll see how becoming they are.

Buy These Vallier French Kid Gloves for Dress Occasions—They Wash

They are as dressy as any fine French kid you have been accustomed to—yet because of a special process of tanning the skins, they may be easily and effectively cleaned with soap and water.

The new styles are in white, cream and champagne, some with novelty stitched or contrasting embroidered backs. All sizes, priced at $2.25 the pair.

The New Spring Hats Are as Beautiful as They Are Wearable

At least they are at Gray's. We can only speak for our own.

Aren't you tired of your winter hat? Isn't it heavy—and doesn't it look a bit the worse for wind and weather? You know you will feel brighter and better under a hat that radiates the joy of spring.

Let our milliners show you some of the many, many pretty new spring hats so delightfully "different."

So come and see—then you will know why so many of your friends are giving preference to Gray's hats. Tomorrow's showing at $8.60, $10.00 and $12.00 will be particularly strong. There are also exceptionally attractive hats in the $5.00 to $15.00 lines.

MUNICIPAL BRIDGE OVER MISSISSIPPI

Nearly Completed By City of St. Louis at Cost of $6,250,000.

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—The municipal bridge across the Mississippi river here, which the city is building at a cost of $6,250,000, is nearing completion, and it is thought it will be formally opened next October.

Erection of the steel approaches on the east side now is under way.

The river piers of the bridge were begun seven years ago. After the bridge proper had been finished, the city was forced to stop work because of lack of funds to build the approach on the Illinois side. Three successive bond issues for the approach were defeated, opposition having been made to the route of the approach which the city had selected. The fourth bond issue carried.

The bridge will be the fourth to span the river at St. Louis. The famous Eads bridge—the first to span the river—was opened in 1874. This is a double deck structure, the lower deck being used for railways and the upper deck for wagons, street cars and pedestrians.

Three miles north of the Eads bridge is the Merchants' bridge, a railway structure, and a short distance north of that is the McKinley bridge, used by the Illinois Traction system.

The municipal bridge is a two-deck affair, like the Eads bridge, and is designed for railway, wagon, street car and pedestrian traffic.

BIG RETAINING FEE FOR BRITISH LAWYER

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, March 6.—Sir John Simon, who retired from the British cabinet because he could not agree with his associates on the question of military compulsion, has returned to the bar as a private practitioner. His first big case, a suit between two insurance companies, will come up shortly in the chancery division. His retaining fee in this case, $35,000, is an illustration of the enormous rewards which are possible to a high-class lawyer in England.

U. S. TROOPS MADE REMARKABLE RECORD IN MEXICAN MARCH

Authentic News Direct From Front Tells of Forced Pursuit of Villa and His Horde of Bandits.

Speed and Endurance of American Soldiers Amaze Mexicans Who Are Encountered on Drive to Interior.

El Paso, Tex., March 24.—The following dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent at the front in Mexico is the first complete story of the crossing of the border of the punitive expedition sent to avenge the Columbus massacre:

Headquarters United States Expedition near Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, March 22 (by wagon train to Columbus, N. Mex., March 23)—Reaching here by a forced march that demonstrated the endurance of the American soldiers and amazed the Mexicans, several thousand United States troops, cavalry, infantry and artillery were scattered today between this point and the northern boundary of the district of Guerrero intent on the task of capturing or killing Francisco Villa in the shortest possible time, and exterminating the bandit band with which he raided Columbus, N. Mex., and slaughtered nine civilians on March 9. Troop movements and dispositions, however, it was said, were shrouded in the strictest secrecy by order of the war department.

Entered March 15.

The entry into Mexico occurred at 12:07 p. m. March 15. At that moment, the American colors, with the standard of the Thirteenth cavalry, were carried over the boundary. Col. Herbert J. Slocum, commanding the Thirteenth, was the first commanding officer to cross. He was followed by Maj. James A. Ryan, acting chief of staff to Gen. John J. Pershing, who commands the punitive expedition.

This was Column No. 1, consisting of artillery, cavalry and infantry, and burdened with heavy wagon trains. It moved slowly and camped the first night at Palomas, a filthy village of adobe huts and get-downs, seven miles below the boundary.

Column No. 2 entered Mexico from Culberson's ranch, one and a half miles south of Hachita, N. Mex. Gen. Pershing, who had accompanied the first column part of the way to Palomas, returned to Columbus the same afternoon, raced to Culberson's in an automobile and, taking command of the second flying column, drove it more than 110 miles over the border into Chihuahua in twenty-four hours' actual marching time.

Official records show that spies dotted the route of the first column, but the men of the second had forged their way fifty miles into the country before a single native was seen, and to the patent surprise of the Mexicans, reached here Friday night exactly forty-two hours after crossing the border at 3:17 Thursday morning.

Every Man Mounted.

In this column every man was mounted, and the lumbering wagon trains were supplanted by army mules which made the entire distance under heavy packs, with the loss of only three of their number.

Battery B of the Sixth field artillery, commanded by Capt. Edgar H. Yule and Lieut. Charles P. George, formed a unit of the flying column. While the cavalry traversed trails through the bad country of the Sierra Madre mountains, 6,000 to 8,000 feet high, the battery, encumbered by the ambulances and the field wireless equipment, traveled the valley roads, longer by eighteen miles. Nevertheless it reached camp only an hour and a half behind the cavalry, without the loss of a mule or horse, and not a sore back among any of the animals.

Officers declared this exploit would long stand as a record of speed and endurance. The Thirteenth cavalry, because of its accomplishment in driving Villa's greatly superior numbers out of Columbus, after a brief engagement, was given first place in the first column. Muster rolls of the Villa command found here after he passed through, going southward, eight days ago, showed that he made the raid on Columbus with 553 men. Smarting in anger after his defeat, deserters reported that the bandit chieftain killed five of his officers and men as cowards. There were 293 in his command when he retreated through Colonia Dublan. The Thirteenth accounted for the rest.

Tompkins in Command.

Maj. Frank Tompkins, who took fifty-nine of his squadron and drove the bandits fifteen miles into Mexico after they had crossed the border, commanded the advance guard.

The rest of the cavalry under Maj. Lindsley followed. Then came the mountain and field guns; next the infantry regiments, and last the wagon trains, field hospital and sanitary equipment, and then the field wireless.

The trains were long and heavy. Vast quantities of ammunition for all troops of arms, including the machine guns of the cavalry and infantry, accounted for most of the weight. Rations were carried for only five days. The rations were bacon, hardtack and coffee.

The sense of smell detected Palomas long before its collection of brown sunburned huts and mud and cobblestones came into view. The odors were those of stockyards, abattoirs and tannery combined. Closer, there was added that of unwashed humanity and soiled raiment, ragged remnants of which lay strewn about with the remains of slaughter cattle, which had furnished feasts for Villa and his men during their brief stop at Palomas, and rations for the Carranza troops, who were there both before and after the bandit's brief sojourn in the village.

The American troops camped near a series of lakes formed by the Mimbres river, a stream which, like a number of others in the Southwest, disappears in its course through Mexico.

Col. Slocum halted the column at the border gate south of Columbus until the colors came up. When these had crossed the boundary into Mexico, Maj. Tompkins, a brother of the noted lieutenant colonel, "Tommy" Tompkins of the Seventh cavalry, spread out his advance guard, in the form of a wide fan, the riders of the guard galloping southward. The temper of the Mexicans still was a matter of speculation. There were officers who would not have been surprised to see the entry of the United States forces opposed at the boundary.

No Mexicans Seen.

But there were no Mexicans at the border gate and none were seen on the march to Palomas. Only two bodies of armed men were encountered by either of the columns on the march south. At Ascension, the mayor, Ramon H. Gomez, had 100 Carranza soldiers, and told Col. Slocum he did not know whether to fight or let the American column pass on peacefully.

After an exchange of official visits, during which he observed at the American camp the assembly of men and guns, Gomez decided to accept the United States army officers' statement that Carranza had agreed to the entry of the troops unopposed.

The other body of troops was encountered here Saturday, March 18. Maj. Elizalde Reyes, who said he was proceeding to Casas Grandes from Madero after scouting for Villa, was startled to see American troops in this vicinity. His men referred to them as "yellow jackets." He stopped one of the guides of the column and asked to be taken to the American commander, to assure him that his force consisting of thirty-six men, were not "Villistas," and in turn he assured they would not be fired on.

Nothing But Jack Rabbits.

Maj. Tompkins' advance guard with riders at intervals of twenty yards, swept the country between the border and Palomas and stirred up nothing but jack rabbits.

Maj. James A. Ryan of the Thirteenth cavalry, acting chief of staff to Gen. Pershing, found at Palomas just two human beings, a crippled Mexican, described by the American guides as the most cunning horse thief along the border, and his wife. The only other living things were a few stray dogs, which nightly fought the coyotes for the remains of cattle slaughtered by the Carranza and Villa men.

Infantrymen were posted all along the route from the border to Colonia Dublan to guard the line of communications, engineers maintained the road for wagon trains and motor trucks. Col. Slocum's column made Boca Grandes from Palomas March 16. This was the point from which Villa started on his raid on Columbus. It was near Boca that Villa captured and murdered Arthur Kinney, a round-up boss for the Palomas Land & Cattle company, and three other Americans, just before the raid.

The American soldiers found the body of one of the victims battered and mutilated, and in such a condition that it could not be recognized. An officer also picked up in the abandoned village encampment an express book of C. R. Watson, leader of the party slaughtered by Pablo Lopez, a Villa officer at Santa Ysabel.

Water Tested.

Men and officers of the columns were not permitted to drink water which had not been previously tested. They were forbidden to enter Mexican houses for fear of typhus. The result was that all are healthy and in good condition. The orders issued by the commanding general provide also that no towns should be occupied. For that reason, the temporary base here was established two miles outside of Colonia Dublan, and four miles from Nueva Casas Grandes, where the Carranza authorities maintain a small garrison.

Army officers said they found Carranza officers, both civil and military, ready to accord hearty co-operation in the task of hunting down Villa and his bandit band. The intelligence department of the American punitive expedition, headed by Maj. Ryan received much information from Carranza soldiers. American colonists near the old town of Casas Grandes, southwest of the army camp, declared the feeling among the Mexicans there was tense, but there has been no evidence of it.

The American troops brought in the first silver money some of the Mexicans had seen for years, and willingly paid double the prices that prevail at the international boundary for food and the rough dirty and strong native tobacco.

Change Scarce.

There was, in fact, so little metal among either the Mexicans and the small band of American Mormons who have braved the dangers of repeated Villa raids, that many were unable to provide change for a silver dollar.

The one Chinese storekeeper found in Nueva Casas Grandes, was asked what he would give for an American $5 bill. He opened his cash drawer and with an expressive motion of the arms and hands indicated that he was willing to exchange for it, the bale of Carranza and Villa paper money it contained.

Marching slowly on account of the wagon trains, the head of the first column did not enter the base camp here until Monday noon after a march of 157 miles from Columbus. The machine gun troops of the Thirteenth cavalry, the wagon trains and other units lost altogether twelve mules.

The second column, which was under Gen. Pershing's personal command, made the dash from Culberson's ranch, losing three mules.

The transport animals of the latter, however, were more lightly burdened.

Gen. Pershing's cavalry escort crossed the boundary at 3:17 o'clock Thursday morning, March 16. It was a brilliant moonlight night and quite cold, but the brisk cavalry trot kept the men warm.

First View of Country.

The sun rising over the mountains gave the men their first view of the country, a dreary desert sun-scorched mesquite and bunch-grass valley, scored with dull red material eroded from an eminence thrown up by volcanic explosions in pre-historic ages.

At 7:30 p. m. the flying column made Carrizo. The negro cavalrymen and soldiers of the artillery hospital units and field radio outfits that had preceded the escort were encamped on the sides of a granite butte fronting the canyon in which Geronimo, the famous Apache warrior, made his final stand, and surrendered to American troops more than thirty years ago. These facts recalled to many of the officers, some of the older of whom participated in the Apache campaign, that the present expedition into Mexico had set no precedent, and that bandit hunting in a "foreign" country, of independent sovereignty, was not a new thing for the United States army.

Here on the hillside was observed for the first time, the other units of the flying column, the artillery, the negro cavalry and other organizations. Some of them had previously marched from Fort Huachuca, Ariz., and other distant points, and such was the secrecy thrown about their movements that even the officers of lesser rank did not know of their coming.

Officers in the Dark.

In fact, the officers of the organizations themselves moved more or less in the dark. Their orders directed them to proceed to certain points where other orders would be found. They proceeded thus by stages, not knowing where the next would take them, and the appearance of Gen. Pershing first at Hachita and then at Culberson's plainly surprised the soldiers and some of their officers.

At Carrizo the first meal in Mexico was eaten. It consisted of army bacon, hardtack and unsweetened coffee. Officers and men fared alike.

Gen. Pershing allowed the command to rest until noon. The order then was to make all speed to reach the big Ojitos ranch, formerly the property of a brother of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford of Breat Britain, at nightfall. Ojitos is sixty miles from the border. At 7 o'clock that night, camp was being made by the American troops beside irrigation ditches through which flowed the first running water they had seen in Mexico. Here also were seen the first Mexicans, other than two who were observed a few miles north of Ojitos, silhouetted against the skies on a mountain top. These two were at first believed to be spies, but scouts reported them to be ranchers living in the valley.

Reap Golden Harvest.

The Ojitos Mexicans reaped a golden harvest among the hungry soldiers. Frijoles, tortillas and chili sauce were in great demand. In contrast to the Casas Grandes Mexicans, who doubled and trebled prices on bread and every other edible, their prices were "what you like to give." The women of the ranch households cooked half the night, their daughters delivered or served the food, and the husbands and fathers gathered in the money.

At Ojitos, the intelligence department of the flying column received the first definite word concerning Villa. The Mexicans there reported he had passed there Saturday, March 11, two days after the Columbus raid, with an escort of only ten men. They also stated that reports had been received at the ranch that Villa had killed five Mexicans at Corralitos, an American ranch to the south, because they were working for the "hated Gringoes."

"Tenderfeet" Retired.

Although the march of sixty miles had retired some "tenderfeet" to the ambulances, and made partial wrecks of the softer men among the officers and soldiers, the column again was in saddle shortly after daylight.

The line of march took the trails through the mountains from here on, and those who forgot to fill canteens suffered, for the day was torrid, the dust thick and the road hard. Going up and down hill, it crowned precipices and skirted ravines and declivities. Broken fragments of porous volcanic rock were strewn most of the way.

The next water was found at Casas De Caos, a ranch about fifteen miles south of Ojitos, where a running stream, fringed by groves of cottonwood, some of the few trees seen along the march, was found. Here Gen. Pershing allowed a five-minute rest. Horses were watered and men plunged their heads into the stream to drink and wash off layers of dust. Then the march was resumed.

"Trot ten miles; walk ten," was the marching order. And a cavalry trot to any one unaccustomed to the jarring and jolting is anything but easy.

Gen. Pershing, tall, slender, ascetic and grown much grayer since the fire at the Presidio of San Francisco, which bereaved him of wife and four daughters, already had become known to the men as "the old man," and throughout the march comments ran through the ranks on his tendency to speed up to the utmost limit.

"The old man must expect to get Villa tonight," one tired recruit remarked.

"No," replied an equally saddle-weary comrade, "he is on the way to Mexico City and we will get there tomorrow."

Talk About Villa.

Every soldier had something to say about Villa and everyone pronounced the name not Vee-ya, but as it is spelled in English.

"If dat Villa gets anywhere near me, good night," was the ambiguous remark of a negro cavalryman who fought at San Juan in Cuba, and wears service badges of several campaigns.

"Good night for you or him?" queried a white soldier.

"Good night for him," was the indignant reply. "No Villa will ever put my light out."

The object of the gruelling march of Friday was to reach Colonia Dublan by night and it was done. The mountain route reduced the distance to fifty miles, while the artillery and hospital wagons in the valley were doing sixty-eight. By 8 o'clock Friday night, camp was made beside an irrigation plant.

The last ten miles were tortuous. It was hot. High winds swirled the clouds of dust kicked up by the horses into the eyes and mouths of the men. Water at $1 a swallow could not be bought anywhere along the line. Every canteen had been emptied, tongues were swollen, eyes, mouths and nostrils were merely blackened orifices in every face. But there was no complaint.

Twenty miles northwest of here, where the tablelands grow narrow, outguards were thrown out on the flanks and two troops of cavalry were sent in pursuit of some horsemen reported to Gen. Pershing as having been seen lurking in a canyon. The horsemen turned out to be riderless range horses.

Hardest Part of March.

The hardest part of the march was through the pass just west of here, known as Puerto San Vecente. This defile is so narrow that the column had to move for several miles in single file, the horses now climbing rocky steeps and now slipping with stiffened forelegs, down into ravines at the bottom of which ran tiny streams of alkali water, tinted green by the copper impregnated rocks.

Officers experienced difficulty in preventing the men and their mounts from drinking the poisonous water. Discipline prevailed, however. Up to today the hospital corps have had only two cases to handle. One of them, a soldier shot accidentally at Carrizo and who later died, and Lieut. T. S. Bowren, the aviator officer injured Monday when his biplane was caught by a whirlwind, turned upon its nose and plunged into the ground.

From the irrigation plant the troops, after a night of refreshing sleep, despite the almost freezing temperature, were moved Saturday to the Casas Grandes river, which skirts the Mormon colony of Dublan.

Gen. Pershing and Col. George A. Dodd, commanding the Second cavalry brigade, established headquarters on the right bank of the river and held them there for a day. The commanding general allowed the tired troops of the flying column a full day's rest, but at 3 o'clock Sunday morning the actual pursuit of Villa and his diminished band of brigands was begun.

Ordered on Trail of Bandit.

Regiments of cavalry were moved southward with orders to get after the bandit leader as quickly as possible and remain on his trail until he is captured or killed.

As fast as new troops reached headquarters, reinforcements were dispatched southward to carry out the plan of campaign. Part of the troops left yesterday and last night. Col. Dodd, although 64 years old and a leader in the remarkable march of the flying column from the border, abandoned the comparative comforts of camp and took the field with the troops yesterday afternoon.

Wagon trains which arrived at the same time brought the first tents to be erected in the camp.

Previously the cottonwood trees which fringe the river provided the only shelter from the ardent sun. During the night, always frigid in this altitude of 6,000 feet, the shivering men supplemented meager equipments of blankets with hay piled beneath and on top of them. High winds have prevailed almost continuously. There are wild ducks and cotton tail rabbits to be had for the shooting. The coyotes attracted in throngs by the proximity of the camp and the assemblage of animals, made the nights noisy with their cries and provided interest for the outposts hidden in the tall volunteer wheat and bunch grass covering the valley. One of Gen. Pershing's first acts on arriving at the camp was to make inquiry concerning the Mormon families of the colonies, Dublan and Juarez, who refused to abandon their homes and property when the United States government issued its last warning to get out of Mexico, following the massacre of the Watson party of mining men at Santa Ysabel last January. It has been reported that Villa in his retreat southward had raided the colonies, robbed the homes of the colonists and killed a number.

No Lives Lost.

Bishop A. D. Call, in charge of Colonia Dublan, confirmed reports of extensive looting, but said no lives had been lost.

In the old, tattered shot-marked Mormon church of the colony, a praise service was held last Sunday. "A special Providence guarded us," said Bishop Call.

The bishop said that since Villa's retreat in Sonora and his defeat at Augua Prieta last November, Mormon residents in the vicinity of Casas Grandes had been subjected to all sorts of impositions. For twenty-five days subsequent to Dec. 26, 2,500 men had been quartered on them. The Colonia Dublan contains brick houses for more than 10 families. Roomy dwellings, they are in marked contrast to the Mexican town of Nueva Casas Grandes. The colonists have been here since its establishment nearly thirty years ago. When the last warning of the United States government to get out of Mexico was given, all but twenty-five families left. The homes of the absentees were occupied promptly by Mexican families, and held by them until Villa's last trip through. The bandit leader still raging, ordered them to get out. He told them he had killed a number of Mexicans at Corralitos because they were working for Americans and he warned them if they persisted in living on property belonging to Americans, they would meet the same fate. Only three of the houses in the colony were occupied by Mexicans, when the American troops arrived.

Wherever American troops go camp dogs follow. Four made the long march with the flying columns from the border to this point without apparent troubles. Their appetities zealously catered to by mess cooks, were unaffected. There was a fifth dog, a little brown spaniel, which started with the troops dispatched from Fort Huachuca. He lasted until the pass of Puerto San Vecente was reached. Then a packmaster of one of the mule trains, noting his exhausted condition, picked him up and let him ride a pack into camp.

THOUSANDS OF DULUTHIANS ATTEND OPENING OF RED CROSS BAZAR AT THE AUDITORIUM

DUTCH ROOM AT BAZAR.

COSTUMED ATTENDANTS AT BAZAR BOOTHS.

The building and lighting effects in the auditorium are among the most beautiful ever seen in Duluth. The German village street beginning at the war souvenir booth at the northeast corner of the auditorium is one of the most interesting features and the foreign newspaper exhibit and the information booth are of great interest to all. The oriental fortune tellers in their oriental costumes and tents were well patronized.

The musical program of the afternoon was generously applauded and several high class numbers were rendered during the dinner music hours.

Fair Officially Opened.

The fair was officially opened at 7:35 by Manager Max Binheim.

Manager Binheim Speaks.

Speaking in behalf of the German-Austrian and Hungarian Relief association of Duluth, Superior and the iron ranges, and of the various churches, lodges, social and fraternal organizations that have combined to assist in raising Red Cross funds, President Binheim declared that any success that might be enjoyed by the fair, must be attributed to the zealous workers in the various organizations that have labored unceasingly to increase the funds. The speaker thanked the members of the different committees for their efforts, and the people of Duluth for the interest exhibited in the cause, stating that they seemed ready at any time to assist in relieving the suffering people of the war-stricken countries.

J. Grunow, German consul, spoke of the different fairs that are being held in various parts of the country for the purpose of raising funds for sufferers in Europe, and expressed the belief that the fair being held here would prove one of the most successful. Consul Grunow read a telegram from the German ambassador in Washington congratulating the members of the Duluth committee for the zealous efforts and unflagging enthusiasm.

E. Prochnik, Austrian-Hungarian consul at St. Paul, delivered a short talk first in English and later on spoke to some of his countrymen in their native tongue.

Mayor Prince spoke briefly of the worthy object for which the fair stood and of the great good that was being accomplished by funds raised in this country. He also touched upon the remarkable desire displayed by Germans, Austrians and Hungarians in the United States to assist their countrymen who are suffering in the European war zone.

E. Fiebeger Gives Judgment of Simonds Saws

E. FIEBIGER.

Probably no hardware merchant in Duluth is more widely and favorably known than E. Fiebiger, 26 East Superior street.

Ever since this store was established the policy was to handle only the very best goods at the lowest prices, with the result that the public has implicit confidence in the judgment of hardware and the fairness of its price to them. It is because of this well deserved reputation for integrity that Mr. Fiebiger's hearty indorsement of the Simonds Saw will carry weight with a wide circle of people. When asked his opinion about the Simonds Saw Mr. Fiebiger said: "My judgment of the Simonds Saw is based on many years' experience in handling various saws, on close study and inquiry of the subject and on a comparative estimate formed by the opinions of saw users. I look upon the Simonds as the last word in saw manufacture and regard it as a tool that should be possessed by every man who has occasion to use a saw. I never knew it to fail in giving complete satisfaction."

Since 1832—for 84 years—Simonds has been making steel products, but Simonds Saws are sold on merit, not on tradition. Simonds Saws have always borne the same guarantee: "You can't own a Simonds Saw and be dissatisfied."

WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE ON DESERTION CHARGE

On the grounds of desertion, Mrs. Susan T. Hooper, 33, was granted a divorce from Charles F. Hooper, 38, this morning in Judge Dancer's division of the district court. The Hoopers were married in Ishpeming, Mich., on Oct. 12, 1898 and lived together until June 14, 1909, when, according to Mrs. Hooper's story, he abandoned her. There are no children.

Mrs. Carrie Mockford, 40, began suit for divorce this morning in district court against Milton J. Mockford, 50, whom she married on June 12, 1908 and whom she claims deserted her in August of 1911. They are parents of one son, James, 6, of whom the mother is seeking custody.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killingly, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband. I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L. WHILE DRUNK, PLANS SERIES OF SPECIAL SERMONS

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church Will Conduct Evangelistic Meetings.

Dr. George Brewer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has announced that beginning next Sunday night, he will conduct a series of three Sunday evening evangelistic services. The last one will be on the evening of April 9, and will be followed on the next Sunday morning by the communion service, and a public reception of new members. It is understood that on communion Sunday, April 16, a large class will become affiliated with the church.

The special Sunday evening services will be under the general heading of "World Tragedies," and the specific subjects will be:

Next Sunday, "The Betrayal."
April 2, "The Mock Trial."
April 9, "The Crucifixion."

Special arrangements have been made made at the church to welcome the members of Clan Stewart, who will attend the services next Sunday evening in a body.

STOLE WHILE DRUNK.

Jury Deliberates But Ten Minutes on Case of Carl Holmgren.

It took less than ten minutes this morning for a jury to determine that Carl Holmgren, 22, was guilty of grand larceny in the second degree and that he should be held to answer for breaking into the store of C. G. Anderson, 24 Twentieth avenue west, on the night of Jan. 6 last and stealing 27 cents from the cash register.

Holmgren took the stand yesterday afternoon and admitted that he was caught in the store by the police but declared that he was so drunk at the time that he did not know what he was doing and that therefore he was incapable of entertaining any intent to commit a crime.

The jury, however, decided that Holmgren was not so drunk but what he could pick a lock and get into the store. The prisoner declared that he formerly resided in Brainerd and that he had been out of work for several weeks prior to his arrest.

Holmgren will be sentenced later.

ASHLAND MILKMAN DENIES ACCUSATION

Ashland, Wis., March 24.—F. S. Coughlin, arrested on the charge of keeping unclean milk premises, entered a plea of not guilty in municipal court yesterday and his case was continued until today. Mr. Coughlin was arrested on complaint of State Inspector Cook, who with A. J. Kull, sealer of weights and measures, are making a tour of inspection among the farmers and others who sell milk to local trade.

Inspector Cook declared that some people who have one or more cows and who sell milk or cream labor under the impression that it is not necessary for them to have a license, which is a false impression.

M. W. BATES, CIVIL WAR VETERAN, HEARS THE FINAL SUMMONS

M. W. BATES.

M. W. Bates, one of Duluth's prominent residents, and a well known Grand Army man, died this morning at his residence, 319 East Fourth street. Hardening of the arteries was the cause of death. Had he lived, he would have celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday next month. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mary and Mabel, a son, M. F. Bates, and two grandsons and two granddaughters.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon from the family home, and will be in charge of the G. A. R. Rev. C. N. Thorp of Pilgrim Congregational church will conduct the services.

A biography of Mr. Bates, written for the G. A. R. records, is published herewith.

BIOGRAPHY OF MARCUS W. BATES

Written for the Records of Joshua B. Culver Post No. 128, G. A. R.

Marcus W. Bates was born in Chester, Geauga county, Ohio, April 26, 1840, living in Ohio until 1856, when his parents removed to Michigan. He married Mary E. Bisbee April 9, 1861, at Dorr, Mich.

He enlisted Aug. 9, 1862, in Company B, Twenty-first Michigan Volunteer Infantry.

He was mustered as corporal of Company B, promoted to quartermaster-sergeant of the regiment December, 1862, at Nashville, Tenn. He was promoted to second lieutenant May, 1863, and to first lieutenant March, 1864, and put in command of Company C, Twenty-first Michigan Infantry.

Wounded at Bentonville.

Mr. Bates was severely wounded at Bentonville, N. C., March 19, 1865.

His regiment was assigned to the First brigade, Third division, Twentieth army corps, and later to the Second brigade, First division, Fourteenth army corps.

His regiment participated in the following battles: Perryville, Ky.; Chickamauga, Ga.; Mission Ridge, Tenn.; the march to the sea: Bentonville, N. C.; Stone River, Tenn.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; the Atlanta campaign; Averysboro, N. C., and numerous other minor engagements.

His regiment, 280 men, charged Stewart's division of 10,000 men entrenched, losing in the charge, 6 officers and 86 men.

Mustered out on special order from hospital at David's Island, N. Y., May, 1865, on account of wounds and close of the war.

He returned to his home in Michigan. From there he moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he entered the insurance business, which he kept up for a number of years, and finally left it to organize the Grand Rapids Savings bank, which is today one of the strongest banks of that city.

Came to Duluth.

Mr. Bates came to Duluth to live in 1890, although he had been here several years before on business trips. Since that year Mr. Bates and his family have made their home in this city, during which time he has been actively engaged in the real estate and insurance business and the wholesale flour and feed business, as well as other lines of business that have called for his time and attention.

He was an active and consistent member of the Congregational church of this city and an active worker in the Sunday school.

Grand Army of the Republic.

Mr. Bates joined the J. B. Culver post, No. 128, G. A. R., April, 1894. He has held all the offices of the post successively and was its commander in the year 1904. He was department commander of the department of Minnesota in the year 1908-1909; was a member of the Minnesota Commandry of the Loyal Legion, and was past junior vice commander of the same.

Aside from his deep interest in his home life, Mr. Bates' greatest pleasure was in the work of the Grand Army of the Republic, ever attentive and ever active in the doing of all the duties that devolved upon the members of that organization and was treasurer of the Culver Post Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument committee at the time of his death. One of his regrets was that he could not see the completion of that work. His loss at this time, together with the loss of Capt. Pressnell and S. W. Clark, is a very serious loss to that organization, from which it can never recover. Throughout his life he was a great teacher of patriotism and loyalty to country and flag, and was never happier than when bringing the great lessons of the Civil war before the school children.

"HIS WORK IS DONE AND HIS COMRADES MOURN."

Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headaches properly to understand the causes which produce the affection" says Dr. J. W. Ray, of Blockton, Ala. Continuing, he says, "Physicians cannot even begin the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and we must remember that headache is to be treated according to the same rule. We must not only be particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose, anti-kamnia tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives comfort and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."

When we have a patient subject to regular attacks of sick headache, we should caution him to keep his bowels regular, for which nothing is better than "Actolds," and when he feels the least sign of an oncoming attack, he should take two A-K Tablets. Such patients should always be instructed to carry a few anti-kamnia tablets, so as to have them ready for instant use. These tablets are prompt in action and can be depended on to produce relief in a very few minutes. Ask for A-K Tablets.

Anti-kamnia tablets at all druggists.

tack led in person by a regimental commander. At dawn the Russians made a fourth attack but it was smothered in the initial stages by German artillery.

Four Russian divisions are said to have participated in these movements. The Germans were compelled to summon few reserves. Their losses were heavier than on the two preceding days of the fighting on account of the Russian drum fire, but it is asserted that nevertheless they were surprisingly small.

Activity of the Russians at other points of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's front is less marked. Comparative quiet prevailed on March 19 along the sector between Wiszniew and Narocz lakes, except for a strong night attack of the Russians which was repulsed.

The losses sustained by the Russians in these encounters are said to have been very heavy. Notwithstanding the severity of the actions, no concern is evident here. The state of public feeling was expressed by a correspondent, who said: "The people have no anxiety, because they know von Hindenburg is there."

MEXICAN SITUATION IS BADLY CONFUSED BY CONFLICTING REPORTS

they had made the first 100 miles of their march.

No word had come to military headquarters here early today to confirm a report that the United States troops and the Carranza army had surrounded Villa and his men and a battle was imminent.

Villa, according to a dispatch from Gen. Bertani, Carranza commander in the field of operations, made a stand in the Santa Clara canyon near Santa Gertrudes, but was driven out with a loss of several men killed and 100 horses captured. The loss of the horses was a hard blow to Villa, it was said.

Pack Mules in Use.

Columbus, N. Mex., March 24.—(Censored)—The American campaign to capture Francisco Villa has reached the point in the foothills of Chihuahua where it has been found necessary to dispense with heavy motor trucks as transport facilities and to depend entirely upon the army pack mule, it was learned today.

Lieut. J. L. Parkinson, who arrived here today reported that all of the American trucks and drivers have been accounted for and that American troops have not clashed with any Mexican force since crossing the border.

GEN. HERRERA NOT A REBEL

denies that Gen. Herrera has gone over to Villa."

Anxiety Lessened.

Denials of the Herrera revolt and the satisfactory progress of diplomatic negotiations with the de facto government over the proposed protocol to govern the chase for Villa lessened anxiety in official circles regarding the safety of the American expedition.

The problem of meeting any request Gen. Funston might make for reinforcements in event of a rebellion of Carranza's army was under consideration, however. If the American forces were seriously attacked it was regarded as likely that all available troops from the border would be rushed to the support of the advancing columns and that these troops would be replaced as quickly as possible in order not to leave the border towns unguarded.

Denied By Calles.

Douglas, Ariz., March 24.—Gen. P. Elias Calles, military governor of Sonora, today again denied reports that a large number of Mexican troops have reached Agua Prieta, opposite here, from the south. Investigation did not reveal an increased number of troops in Agua Prieta.

geography, geology and geodetic survey. The expedition was financed for the most part by large gifts from persons interested in polar exploration. Funds amounting to more than $300,000 were raised, including $50,000 from the British government.

Left in Two Sections.

The expedition left England in two sections about six weeks after the European war began, but it was not until early in January, 1915, after delay due to unfavorable ice conditions, that the party headed by Sir Ernest set off on a 1,700-mile voyage from South Georgia, an uninhabited island in the South Atlantic ocean, about 800 miles due east of Cape Horn, for Ross sea, on the other side of the South Pole.

From Tasmania, on the new Zealand side of the Antarctic, the second section meanwhile had sailed, also for the Ross sea, there to meet Sir Ernest's expedition with supplies necessary for both sections to return to New Zealand. Sir Ernest hoped originally to come out of the Antarctic by April, 1915, but conditions far from propitious made necessary a change of plan. The section which started from Tasmania was obliged to spend the winter of 1915-16 at the Ross sea to await Sir Ernest's arrival, which had been expected some time this month. Sir Ernest sailed in the Endurance, a three-master, with auxiliary engines which gave her a 10-knot speed. This vessel of 360 tons was built with "wooden walls" two feet thick of almost solid oak. Oak and pliant pitch pine were the only woods employed. Her accommodations were for thirty-two persons and the party which sailed included fifteen officers and scientists. Among them were:

Those in Party.

Frank Wild, second in command, in charge of provisions; George Marston, in charge of general stores; Tom Crean, in charge of sledges; Capt. Orde Lees, P. N. L. I., in charge of motors; Lieut. F. Dobbs, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, in charge of section of dogs; Lieut. Courtney Brocklehurst, assisting with dogs; J. Wordie, geologist; R. W. James, physicist and magnetician; Leonard H. Hussey, meteorologist and assistant magneticlan; F. Hurley, photographer and kinematographer; E. Studd, Cambridge university and Camborne School of Mines, and Lieut. Frank A. Worlsey, R. N. R., of New Zealand. Lieut. Worlsey was in navigating command during part of the voyage and later was to have taken part in surveying and exploring the Antarctic coasts. The Endurance carried seventy dogs and a number of motor sledges.

The Ross sea party sailed on the Aurora in command of Lieut. Aeneas Mackintosh, R. N. R., who was in charge also of the chronometers and meteorological instruments. This party included H. G. Lemard, second officer; A. H. Ninnis, in charge of motors, a cousin of Lieut. Ninnis, who lost his life during the Mawson explorations; J. R. Stenhouse, R. N. R., chief officer; A. Stevens, assistant lecturer of geography at Glasgow university; Spencer Smith, in charge of the photographic department; J. L. Cope, biologist; D. S. Mason, chief engineer; A. L. Larkman, second engineer, and H. Wild, in charge of stores. The Aurora carried twenty-six dogs.

arraign Dr. Arthur Warren Waite for the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, a millionaire druggist of Grand Rapids, Mich., as soon as Waite's physical condition would permit bringing him to court. The young dentist is under arrest at his apartment, and has so far recovered from the effects of narcotics taken Wednesday and yesterday that the district attorney hoped to produce him in court today.

Investigation of the deaths of John E. Peck and his wife in Dr. Waite's Riverside drive home, under circumstances which led the authorities to believe they were the victims of poison, continued today. The grand jury heard further evidence as rapidly as it was made available by a big squad of detectives. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Waite, father and mother of the man who is accused of administering poison to Mr. Peck, are expected to arrive here today. It is possible they will be examined before the grand jury tomorrow.

Wishes Statement.

The district attorney wishes to obtain from Mr. Waite a statement giving his version of the circumstances of Mr. Peck's death. Since Wednesday Dr. Waite had been under the influence of drugs taken, he said, to induce sleep, and no coherent statement could be obtained from him. Meanwhile the discovery of arsenic in the body of Mr. Peck led to the order for the dentist's arrest and the stationing of detectives in his apartment.

Among the exhibits upon which the authorities are working are medical books taken from Dr. Waite's library containing marked passages describing the effect of poison such as that alleged to have caused the death of Mr. Peck.

Compelled to Make Haste.

Undertakers who prepared Mrs. Peck's body for shipment to Detroit recalled today that they were compelled to make great haste to place the body on board the train leaving here on the afternoon of the day of her death. One of them said the body still was limp five hours after embalming, indicating to him that there was something present strong enough to counteract the effects of the embalming fluids.

The identity of the woman who, according to Dr. Waite's admission to the district attorney, was registered with him at a hotel as Dr. and Mrs. W. Walters has not been disclosed by the authorities.

Dr. Waite's prominence as a sportsman and tennis player has increased the interest in the case here. He won the Metropolitan indoor championship here early in the season and figured in the national indoor championship when he was defeated by R. Lindley Murray, who won the title.

CARRANZA TROOPS CLOSING IN ON VILLA

him have been nothing more than a campaign of location. Three cavalry detachments have been working southward along widely separated trails, but the opportunity for direct chase now is offered, it was indicated by staff officers who have followed the details of the pursuit.

Here, it was not believed that the Americans would allow Villa to get out of their sight again, and that his capture or death appeared more likely today than at any other time.

Gen. Pershing, it was believed, would concentrate as many of his men as possible in the pursuing force, relieving those who have been riding the country south of Casas Grandes.

Douglas Wants Troops.

American consuls in Northern Mexico said they found no massing of troops in the northern sections.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, however, received today from D. A. Richardson of Douglas a telegram saying a Mexican general with 3,000 cavalry and forty pieces of artillery had arrived at a point over the border not more than ten blocks from the center of the city, and that 7,000 additional Carranza cavalry were six miles south of the border. Richardson telegraphed that the American troops near Douglas were inadequate, and there were fears of an attack.

SNOW DUE TO CONTINUE

Duluth is not alone in this snowstorm thing, if that is any comfort. The entire Northwest and a considerable stretch into the South, are getting it.

Up to 7 o'clock this morning three inches of snow had fallen from 2 o'clock this morning, and some has fallen since.

Weather Forecaster Richardson declared today that the snowfall will likely continue all of today and tonight and into tomorrow. The wind, which has been blowing at a rate of about thirty miles an hour, will continue on the job, and perhaps more so, but will shift into the northwest by tomorrow.

The temperature will be colder tonight and probably tomorrow.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Senator Lewis introduced resolution declaring any person giving aid to Villa guilty of treason.

HOUSE.

Immigration bill was brought up for general debate.

Judiciary committee continued hearings on impeachment charges against United States Attorney Marshall of New York.

Naval committee continued national defense hearings.

Speaker Clark appointed committee to investigate and report on expunging from Congressional Record a speech inserted by Representative Davis of Texas, under leave to print privilege.

WEST END

SUPERIOR TRACTION MEN TO BE HOSTS

Big Crowd of Duluth Employes Will Attend Entertainment.

Superior employes of the Duluth Street Railway company will be disappointed if about half of the Duluth men do not go to Superior next Wednesday evening to attend a celebration to be given that night, according to a communication posted in the clubrooms of the local carhouse. Employes are invited to bring their wives or future wives.

The celebration will begin at 8 o'clock at Tower hall, Thirteenth street and Tower avenue. Thirty employes comprise the entertainment committee, and every visitor will be given a royal welcome. Ten other employes are on the refreshments committee.

There will be no cost to any of the Duluth employes. The Superior men have raised about $100 for music, hall, prizes and refreshments.

The first hour will be devoted to a musical program, contributed to entirely by street railway employes' talent. A few short talks will also be given. A. Williams, superintendent of the Superior division, is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

"We are making a canvass to learn how many will go," said H. H. Brown, superintendent of the local division, today. "From the way responses are coming in, it is probable that we shall need at least two special cars, and it is possible we may need three. There is no doubt that the Superior boys have a fine program. The cars will leave here on a schedule so arranged that all men who finish work with the evening pull-in, will have an opportunity to go."

Many of the men whose regular runs are in the evening have already arranged for "subs" to take their runs. It is expected that all "subs" seeking work that night will be on duty.

"St. Patrick's" Party.

The postponed St. Patrick's day party of the Epworth League of the Grace Methodist church will be given this evening at the home of Alfred Milligan, 2814 West Michigan street. A program of games and other features has been arranged. The affair will be given under the auspices of the "workers" side of the league. The two sides, "workers" and "winners," are having a contest in raising money and securing members.

Trinity Lodge Banquet.

Trinity lodge, No. 282, A. F. & A. M., will entertain about 200 members at its banquet in Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, Monday evening. E. H. Pfeifer, master of the lodge, will be toastmaster, and is chairman of the program committee.

The program will include musical numbers and addresses by prominent members of the fraternity. The other members of the program committee are: A. W. Erickson, W. A. Pittinger, George C. Sterling and John P. Giestman.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Downs of Detroit, who have been visiting relatives in the West end for the last week, left yesterday for a short visit in Chicago prior to returning home.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will entertain at a basket social in the church parlors Wednesday evening.

Miss Etta Erickson of West Fifth street, returned yesterday from Minneapolis, where she has been spending three weeks visiting relatives.

Arthur Goodall and Joseph Johnson, who have been spending the past month in South Dakota, returned home yesterday.

The Rebekah Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church was in charge of a social hour following the services held in the church last evening. The St. Luke's guild entertained during the afternoon.

MOOSE LAKE GUILD AIDED BY DULUTH

Moose Lake, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The St. Andrew's Guild of Moose Lake received a very liberal donation from the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church at Duluth this week, which they will add to their building fund for the new guild hall.

Doctor Says Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People 200% in Ten Days

In many instances—Persons have suffered untold agony for years doctoring for nervous weakness, stomach, liver or kidney disease or some other ailment when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood.—How to tell.

New York, N. Y.—In a recent discourse, Dr. E. Sauer, Specialist of this city said: If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are slepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the time double, and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100.00 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron, and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will refund your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Boyce Drug store.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF POLICE COURT

LOCK JAMS; SUPPER LATE

Jailer Has Hard Time Giving City Prisoners Evening Meal.

A dime, a match and a wad of chewing gum delayed the supper hour at the city jail last night, and gave Jailer Louis Johnson something to worry about.

One of the fifteen prisoners in the "bull-pen" dropped the articles in the large keyhole of the grated door leading to the cellroom, and when Jailer Johnson started in with a load of sardines and rye bread, the lock naturally refused to work.

The prisoners congregated about the door and amused themselves laughing at the jailer, who was trying to clean out the lock with a piece of wire, until someone said:

"What if there should be a fire?"

Then the men behind the bars began to get worried, and forgot all about the joke. Finally the dime rolled out and into the jail, and the key was inserted in the lock.

It was several minutes before the scramble for the dime had subsided, and then supper was served.

HONESTY IS STILL BEST.

Drunk Pleads Not Guilty and Gets Soaked for Fibbing.

If you're guilty of law violation, don't plead "not guilty" when you face the judge in municipal court.

William Haney, 34, a negro, tried it yesterday and received just double the sentence he probably would have received, if he had entered a plea of guilty in the first place.

"Were you drunk?" asked Judge Smallwood.

"No," said Haney.

Chief R. D. McKercher testified Haney had been unable to stand, and that two men carried him into the police station.

"You are trifling with this court," said Judge Smallwood. "Fifteen dollars and costs or twenty days."

The usual sentence for first offense drunkenness is $5 and costs, or seven days.

ARREST TWO IN RAID.

Police Find Few Signs of Disorder in Rooming Houses.

After several days of quiet, police paid visits to rooming houses in the central parts of the city last night. Few signs of disorder were found, although two arrests were made at the Zenith hotel, 12 North First avenue east.

Jane Flishman, 22, and John Peterson, 44, were brought to headquarters by Sergeant Englert, with Patrolmen Le Beau, Seglem and Sorenson. Later they both were released on $15 bail, after charges of disorderly conduct had been made against them.

They forfeited the bail this morning.

AERIAL RAMBLER IN AGAIN.

"Fire Escape Man" Fails to Talk Way to Freedom.

Otto Thirey, known to police because of his fondness for fire escapes, probably will never talk himself out of jail again.

Once Thirey was arrested when detectives answered a burglar call from the Holland hotel and found him on a fire escape. Another time he was on the roof, or fire escape, of an East end apartment house.

Wednesday Thirey was brought in as a drunk, but a smooth tongue and many promises brought him his freedom, after a few hours. Probation Officer Frank Hicks saw him on the street not long afterwards, however, and his conduct was anything but satisfactory.

A little later Thirey was "in" again, and his silver tongue was powerless. Judge Smallwood revoked Thirey's parole and he will serve thirty days at the work farm.

CENSORSHIP NOT NEEDED

Safety Head Is Opposed to Amendment to Theater Ordinance.

Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, is opposed to the establishment of a board of censorship for the theaters and motion picture houses in the city.

"This department is perfectly able to enforce the theater regulations," the safety head told Watson S. Moore and Rev. W. W. Lawrence, who called on him and Mayor Prince yesterday afternoon in behalf of a plan to establish a censorship board in this city. They submitted a copy of the proposed amendment to the theater ordinance, which authorizes the creation of a board and prohibits children under 16 years of age in any theater of the city after 7:30 p. m., "unless accompanied by parent or properly accredited guardian."

This amendment, according to the city officials, was submitted to Former Commissioner Hicken and to Commissioner Silberstein shortly after he took office last spring, but in each instance the measure was turned down.

"There is no need of a board of censorship," declared Commissioner Silberstein. "Let everyone in Duluth be a censor, and any complaint made to me or my department will be investigated immediately. I could do no more with the recommendations of the board. The present theater ordinance prohibits obscene or indecent plays or pictures in Duluth, and the city has the power to bar any such production or motion picture. A censorship board would be superfluous and hamper the department in carrying out the provisions of the present measure."

The proposed amendment to the theater ordinance inserts section 7 to the measure and provides for the following:

"The creation of an advisory committee to inspect all shows and pictures before their presentation.

"The committee shall prosecute all persons violating the ordinance.

"Members of the committee shall have the right to enter theaters or motion picture houses at all times to inspect the shows or pictures.

"The committee shall include one member to be appointed by the safety commissioner, one by the school board, one by the Woman's council and one by the juvenile court.

"It shall be unlawful for any child under 16 years of age to be admitted in any theater after 7:30 p. m., unless accompanied by parent or properly accredited guardian."

TAKING JOY OUT OF LIFE FOR MR. POTATO BUG

It's gloomy enough in Duluth today without the sun, but it's even more so in potato bug town, because potato growers, of whom Duluth has many, have received the following bit of news:

Prof. A. G. Ruggles of the entomology department of the state agricultural college, has announced that arsenate of lead makes a good substitute for Paris green as an exterminator of potato bugs.

Paris green is so expensive on account of the war that Mr. Potato Bug practically had been assured a long and prosperous summer season.

Now it looks as though business was going "haywire."

MOTORSHIP BUILDING ACTIVE IN DENMARK

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Copenhagen, March 1.—Motorship construction is developing with extraordinary rapidity in Denmark, which took the lead in the building of this class of sea-going vessel when it successfully completed the Selandia a few years ago. Since that time a great increase has been brought about in the size of motorships. The Selandia was 575 feet in length, had engines of 3,500 horse-power and displaced 7,000 tons. At present one yard alone here is engaged on the construction of a number of motor vessels, each of which is to displace 12,000 tons, to be 500 feet in length and to have motor of 6,000 horse-power. The same firm has orders for fifty motorships and its slips will be fully occupied with them until the end of 1921.

SUPERIOR

LA FOLLETTE DECLARES PHILLIP REACTIONARY

United States Senator R. M. La Follette, in a public address last night at the Grand Opera house, characterized Governor Emanuel Philipp of Wisconsin as a reactionary and a man who would do the bidding of the "Tax Payers' league," which, he said, in reality should be the "Tax Dodgers' league." He said that the governor represented the old-time form of government and political machinery. The senator left on a late train for the southern part of the state.

MANY CURLERS AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Nearly 200 curlers attended the annual banquet of the Superior Curling club last night at the Superior hotel. The club elected Clarence Grace, E. C. Maxfield, W. K. Link, E. J. Culbertson and George Hudnall members of the board of directors. H. W. Diedrich was toastmaster. Among the speakers were John E. MacGregor, president of the Duluth Curling club; Alex MacRea, Walter G. Hall of Duluth, and J. J. Forman, William Stack, Edwin Short, A. J. Wentzel and V. E. McCaskill of Superior.

WAITE PURCHASED QUANTITY OF ARSENIC

Authorities Have Voucher From Druggist With Dentist's Signature.

New York, March 24.—Soon after Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, accused of poisoning his father-in-law, John E. Peck, wealthy drug manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich., had denied the charge today, District Attorney Swann announced that he had obtained a voucher from a druggist signed with Waite's name for the purchase of a quantity of arsenic on March 9, three days before Peck's death.

Looking Into Financial Affairs.

Mrs. Waite is recovering from her recent illness and it was learned that Mr. Mancuso expects to again question her regarding Waite's affairs. She has declared on several occasions that she believes her husband is innocent of the death of her parents.

SHACKELTON SHIP BREAKS MOORINGS

London, March 24.—A dispatch from Sydney says that the steamship Aurora of Lieut. Shackleton's expedition has broken from her moorings at the Ross sea base, leaving most of the party ashore and unable to embark. According to these advices, Lieut. Shackleton and his companions will be compelled to remain another year before it will be possible to rescue them.

NEWARK FIVE HOLDS BOWLERS' ATTENTION

Toledo, Ohio, March 24.—Teams from Columbus, Ohio, Detroit, Mich., South Bend and the Elks of Newark, N. J., were the principal contenders in today's session of the American Bowling congress tournament here.

Particular interest was shown in the work of the Newark five, for although it never has won first money, Van Ness, one of the quintet, two years ago won the two-man championship when doubled with Negley.

The standing at the opening of today's rolling was:

Two-man event—Thoma-Marino, Chicago, 1,279; Faetz-Hildebrandt, Chicago, 1,273; Harkenrider-Doehrman, Fort Wayne, 1,273; W.-G. Dernbach, Chicago, 1,266; Hatch-Nelson, Racine, 1,261.

All events—S. Thoma, Chicago, 1,919; O. Kallusch, Rochester, 1,898; E. Harkenrider, Fort Wayne, 1,877.

Out of the Race.

When a person wakes up with a stiff back, has pains in muscles, aches in his joints, or has rheumatic twinges, he lacks ambition and energy and cannot do his best. If you feel out of the race, tired and languid, or have other symptoms of kidney trouble, you should act promptly. Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys do their work and get out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes so much trouble. They give relief from sleep-disturbing bladder disturbances. DRAYMAN DIES ON HIS WAGON

Death Summons Comes Without Warning to Veteran Teamster.

Anton P. Hoveland, for twenty years a drayman in this city and a familiar figure on the downtown streets, died on the seat of his wagon shortly before 12 o'clock today. He was 72 years old.

A few minutes before his death, Mr. Hoveland was walking beside his team, pedestrians said. He appeared to be faint, for he stopped the team and tried to climb over the wheel to his seat. When standing on the wheel, he lost his grip and fell to the street. Bystanders hurried to his help, and lifted him to the seat.

Hoveland appeared very weak at the time, they said, but he drove down the street slowly, propped in his accustomed place. Suddenly he fell sideways onto the seat and the reins slipped from his hand.

By the time a nearby patrolman, aided by passersby, had carried him to the office of the Duluth Implement company at 26 East Michigan street, he was dead. Heart failure was said to be the cause of death, but Coroner C. F. McComb will hold an examination this afternoon or tomorrow.

Mr. Hoveland resided at 1111 East Seventh street, and leaves a widow and seven children. They are Mrs. Fred Anderson of Two Harbors, Miss Tillie, and Arthur of Billings, Mont., Axel, Georgg, Ralph and John.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until after the coroner makes his report in the case.

FISKE CONTINUES ATTACKS ON NAVY

Washington, March 24.—Rear Admiral Fiske, the storm center in the row between the attackers and defenders of efficiency of the navy, finally got beyond the house naval committee today after a long contest between the two factions. Since his retirement as one of Secretary Daniels' aides, Admiral Fiske has been a constant critic of the naval administration.

Today he testified that in his opinion the navy could not be put "into condition" within five years and that no matter how much congress appropriated it could not be put into condition until the system which directs it was as good as that of any foreign navy.

Admiral Fiske recommended a general staff, a body of specially trained officers to "study plans for war."

"TIZ" FOR FEET

No More Sore, Tired, Tender Feet; No Puffed-up, Calloused Feet or Painful Corns--Try "Tiz"

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

"Tiz" makes your feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "Tiz" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot torture.

Ask for "Tiz." Get only "Tiz."—Advertisement.

"COWBOY" POOR SHOT.

Fires Five Times at Father Near Phillips, Hitting Him Once.

Phillips, Wis., March 24.—Although he had been cowboy and rough rider in the Canadian Northwest where he carried a "shootin' iron" and lived the plainsman's life, Frank Wich, son of John Wich, a Bohemian homesteader, living near here, was not a very good shot when he is said to have fired a pistol five times at his father during a quarrel and only hit his parent once, inflicting a slight wound in the shoulder. Young Wich ran away from home when 15 and tried roughing it two years, then returned from Canada a few days ago. It is stated that Monday he and his father had a difference and the boy becoming very angry drew his pistol and fired five shots at his parent, hitting him once. The bullet still lodges in the elder Wich's shoulder, but he is out of danger and expected to recover.

John Wich is the father of twelve children, the oldest son being 27, who is at present in Mexico with the army sent to capture Villa. Wich apparently has a dislike for his five sons for he is quoted as saying after his quarrel with his son, "Boys nix good, girls all good."

EXCESSIVE LOANS OF LA SALLE BANK

Former Bank Examiner Testifies in Trial of Lorimer.

Chicago, March 24.—Owen T. Reeves, Jr., president of the Drovers' National bank, and formerly a government bank examiner, testified today in the trial of William Lorimer, who is charged with conspiracy in connection with the failure of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank of which he was formerly president.

The witness told of examining the La Salle Street bank when it was a national bank and of finding what he regarded as excessive loans about which he said he spoke to Mr. Lorimer. Among loans which the witness classed as "slow and questionable," he listed the following: Abilene State bank, $3,500 and W. H. Andrews, $10,000.

Mr. Reeves said that he found loans to W. J. Cooke and A. J. Harris, prominent in local politics, and to Charles E. Erbstein. Erbstein was counsel for Lee O'Neil Browne, Illinois state legislator, who was tried and acquitted on a charge of bribery in connection with the election of Lorimer to the United States senate.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Queen Elizabeth died, 1603.

Born Sept. 7, 1533, daughter of Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn, who was beheaded when Elizabeth was 3. Sent in 1554 to the Tower by Queen Mary, but her popularity saved her. Ascended the throne in 1558, at 25. Reign was made glorious by commercial and maritime expansion, the destruction of the Armada, and by Drake, Frobisher, Spenser, Shakespeare, and Bacon. Britain's true greatness began in her reign. It was clouded by her reluctant beheading of Mary, Queen of Scots, and by her flirtations.

TAXING POWER AND TAX-SHIFTING POWER.

President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin lately said that after the war the poor will be poorer and the rich richer. The New York World takes issue thus:

> Opinion abroad is the reverse. War taxation is designed to fall heaviest upon the very rich; they pay one-third of their incomes to the government in England and are warned that they must pay half. In England, France, Italy, poor men have political power to put the burden on strong shoulders; in Germany they may gain it.

Having political power to put the tax burden on strong shoulders is one thing, and a thing gained comparatively easy. This country unquestionably has it.

But having the ECONOMIC power to KEEP the burden there is a very different thing.

The rich, having large control of the sources and amounts of their incomes, have power to shoulder the burden off in reduced wages and increased prices. Landlords taxed half their incomes may double rents and recoup. Tax oil, for instance, and you increase the price of oil. Tax railroads heavily, and you necessarily increase the cost of railroad service.

Personal income taxes, it is true, are less easily passed on; but virtually every other kind of tax is invariably passed on, and in the end falls upon the consumer, who is the poor man.

President Van Hise, on the whole, probably is right; and that means that there is ugly trouble in store for Europe when the war ends.

It is not only probable that there will be a vastly greater and wider uprising of democracy in Europe than there was in 1848—the year of the downfall of Louis Philippe in France, of Mazzini's struggle in Italy, of the "Forty-eighters" in Germany and of Kossuth in Hungary—but almost impossible that there will not be such a stirring of democracy as Europe has never before imagined.

And THAT will be a cause really worth spilling blood for.

"The Republican state that gave a rousing plurality four years ago to Theodore Roosevelt is now but waiting its opportunity," says the most shifty and unexplainable party organ in the state. Evidently the said m. s. & u. p. o. felt momentarily in a really heroic mood—almost ready to enlist, maybe.

WHERE THE RESPONSIBILITY BELONGS.

Automobile owners will be interested in the principle of a recent decision of the New York court of appeals. Automobile manufacturers will also be interested; and so will manufacturers generally who may be affected—who should most assuredly be affected—by this principle.

A man bought an automobile and set out to run it. Under the strain of careful and competent use, one of its wheels broke down and the owner was hurt. He sued the manufacturer for damages.

The defense was in part that the machine had been bought not from the company's agent, but from a middleman; and in part that, as the defective wheel had been bought by the company from a reputable specialist in the making of automobile wheels, the automobile manufacturer was justified in assuming that it was all right.

The New York court of appeals held that neither of these defenses was justified, and upheld the damages awarded by the lower court.

The point is of vast and vital importance and great value. Somewhere, of course, responsibility for such things must be fixed. The person injured by a defective article should have recourse. Moreover, the maker should be made to feel his responsibility for honest workmanship, and if he fails the law should provide some punitive remedy. Honesty is the best policy—and anything the law can do to emphasize and illustrate that truth is wholesome.

The principle reaches farther than automobile wheels. If its application here is sound—and it seems eminently sound to the lay vision—why is not the maker of steel railroads or of the wheels under railroad cars liable for damages if defective workmanship causes an accident?

If the law requires every manufacturer to make an honest product, and punishes him if he does not by assessing damages against him, the law will be working usefully for honesty in industrial and commercial life; and that is well.

At least the snow is furnishing an inspiring example of persistence.

PEACE?

One owns to a feeling—not amounting to a conviction, or to an impulse to predict, but rather what the boys call a "hunch"—that peace in Europe is not so far off.

There is nothing tangible to base it on. Reports that way are all vague and unsubstantial—not there at all when you reach out to grasp them. The more definite and apparently palpable they are, the least trustworthy they prove to be. Lloyds is betting on peace by September 1, but Lloyds is a gambler that will bet on anything, given odds enough. Fairly definite report comes that Ambassador Gerard lingers in Berlin to receive peace proposals from Germany, but that is promptly denied, and is no longer believed. There is an utter absence of solid fact to base the expectancy of peace upon; yet the feeling of coming peace remains.

Perhaps it is only because the war has gone so far that peace OUGHT to be near. Perhaps it is because it is so obvious that no good can come to anybody by keeping it up—but then no good to anybody came or can come from beginning it. Perhaps it is because the terrific and costly German attempt at Verdun, after many long and bloody days, has done no more than prove that probably the deadlock in the West is unbreakable.

Possibly it is because of a feeling that Germany ought by now to be agreeable to peace—though such a peace as Germany probably would now be agreeable to would be intolerable to her enemies, and impossible for them to accept. Yet we cannot see behind the scenes. We cannot know what is in the heart of the German nation. Only occasionally can we get glimpses of the fact that there are many Germans or of sympathy with the war, fearing that right is not all on the German side, bitterly opposed to conquest, sorrowful that the war and the manner of waging war have made Germany so many enemies around the world. A failure at Verdun, after Germany's many successes, would be disheartening to Germans, especially a failure so costly as this would be.

Besides, somewhere Great Britain must have four million men where she started with a handful. Besides, Russia's giant strength must, by the early opening of spring, be ready for mighty efforts. Russia even now is advancing with heavy menace through Asia Minor, striking terror to the hearts of pro-German Turks. Russia even now is making gains in Bukowina, is stirring for aggressive action in Galicia, in Lithuania, in Courland. Unless Russia has wasted its winter—and her allies surely have not let her do that entirely—she will be a far more formidable opponent now than she has ever been before.

Italy, too, has unspent resources that ought to be more tangible now than heretofore. In short, virtually all of the Allies, except France and Belgium whose all went into the war-pot in the beginning, must be stronger now than ever; while Germany, which has striven at utmost strength for near two years, cannot possibly be stronger.

Money everywhere must be running low. Men and nations do not know how much they can bear unless necessity heaps unimagined burdens upon their backs; but the backs of men and nations of Europe must, financially, soon get that last straw under which the camel's strong back breaks.

Peace OUGHT to be near. That vague feeling that it IS near will not bear scientific analysis, but persists nevertheless.

But you could hardly expect that a public that turns out in big numbers to see "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" would get wildly enthusiastic over modern burlesque.

PRO-AMERICAN MEETINGS NEEDED.

The New York World makes an interesting suggestion.

"There must be a great many persons in this community," it says, "who are more devoted to the interests of the United States than to the interests of any of the belligerents. We seldom hear of them, but they surely exist, and it might be worth while some day to hold a pro-American mass meeting merely to keep the record straight.

"Our notion of such an assemblage would be a meeting that was neither pro-German nor anti-German, neither pro-British nor anti-British, but wholly and unreservedly American.

"There would naturally be a strong opposition to such a demonstration from our pro-German and pro-British patriots, but with a little friendly assistance from the police we are convinced that such a meeting could be held."

Not a bad notion at all. The pro-American sentiment exists and is strong, but it hasn't crystallized. That's why senators and representatives in congress are discovered catering to this or that element among sympathizers with one or other of the belligerents, when they ought to forget all that and stick to the straight and narrow line of pro-Americanism.

And if such meetings could be held, we believe that they would be attended by and participated in by many Americans of foreign birth who, for all their "hyphens," are as "wholly and unreservedly" loyal to the American interest as they could be if their ancestors had come over in the Mayflower instead of in a modern liner.

Saturday Night

From the Gary, Ind., Times.

In these amazingly fast days of cabarets and country clubs, of one-piece bathing suits and no-piece musical comedies, of 20-cent liver and 20-cent gasoline, we have got very far away from the good old Saturday night of by-gone generations. It is so far back to the old times that it almost seems like a dream; to the young it seems like a joke.

But let memory turn the curtain back and tonight let's live over the Saturday night of long ago, you of us who know of it by actual experience.

The week's work is done, says a Georgia editor, and the chores of the farm are over, the stock has been fed, the wood boxes in the kitchen and big house filled, the plow gear and stocks under the shed, and the farm has put on its Sunday dress.

The soil of toil has been removed by vigorous application of home-made soap, and the Sunday clothes donned. A clean shirt, home-laundered (we were independent of the Chink and the steam laundrymen those days), a tie of gorgeous colors fastened with a glistening pin of the mail order kind—there were no jewelry stores to supply us; brogan shoes of serviceable cowhide which took on renewed youth from a coat of suet and soot, carefully administered.

Solomon in his glad raiment perhaps made a more glittering show, but he did not feel any more dressed up than the boy long ago as he left the home domicile to quickly foot the intervening two miles to where she lived.

She had brothers—they always had—these gave the visitor a hearty welcome. Having done his own chores, he turned in to help the others, and these were over by the time the call to supper came. She was not in sight, but she knew that he was there and he knew that she knew.

After the substantial supper, tender collards on a great flat dish flanked with slices of home-raised bacon; fresh butter and buttermilk, perhaps biscuits, but not always, and sweet potatoes; but to the long table with its benches on either side and her father and mother at the ends, keen appetites were brought and the joy of youth and good fellowship lent a zest to the viands that those of many costly banquets since have lacked.

And after supper, when the dishes were cleared and the house made ready for the night, and she came out on the piazza, the soft rustle of her skirts, the faint perfume peculiar to her telling of her presence before his head was turned; and after awhile the brothers somehow disappeared and on the broad piazza he and she were alone except for the man in the moon, who smiled with the knowledge of the centuries, and the cricket that chirped by the steps. The scent of the jessamines in the white clean-swept yard filled the air and their blooms glistened like snow in the moonlight.

Youth and maid alone with God and love. And down from the ages the spirits of millions of lovers looked on and smiled, the kindly stars winked in friendly appreciation, and the twilight world was their friend, for all normal existence loves youth and lovers.

What mattered it to her that his clothes were coarse, his speech embarrassed and broken—they did not need the spoken word. What mattered to him that her best dress was calico, for was not the ribbon at her throat a thing of beauty surpassing, that in her hair an aureole? What mattered to them that the week past had been six days of toil? Was not the night, Saturday night, and the morrow Sunday, with Sunday school and church, and many hours of priceless companionship ahead?

This must have been what Saturday night was made for.

Pity For a Trust in Trouble

New York World: Few more pathetic scenes have ever been witnessed in the United States senate than the one which yesterday centered about Mr. Tillman's bill for a government armor-plate mill. The bill had previously stirred up no great amount of feeling among the Old Guard element on the Republican side. But when these senators had read the Bethlehem Steel company's annual report in the morning papers the situation changed.

That company claims an investment of $7,000,000 in its armor-plate plant, which, it is assured, will become valueless if the government enters the business. Accordingly, the Tillman-Daniels proposition came under a torrent of denunciation as "unfair," "wanton," "vengeful," "confiscatory," and pity for the Bethlehem company in this hour of its persecution, "like a new-born babe striding the blast," coursed about the senate with great effect.

The Bethlehem company needs it. Its stockholders need it. The report shows net profits for 1915 of hardly 112 per cent on the common stock, with dividends now paying at the rate of only 20 per cent. Stockholders during the year had to endure a rise in the market price of their shares around $46 to $600, now off to $520. If the company had charged to depreciation the whole armor-plant cost, there would have been left for the common shareholders a profit on the year of hardly 70 per cent. The grief of Senators Penrose, Oliver, Lodge and others is justified.

"Birth Control" and Genius.

New York World: A woman birth control agitator says that families of more than four children "degenerate." As for example the Bonaparte family, of which Napoleon was the eighth child and the Franklin family, of which the illustrious Ben was the seventeenth.

Preferred Creditors.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Dad, I want to be a musician."

"Then I'd be either a piper or a fiddler."

"Why?"

"When there is any paying to be done I notice they are always preferred creditors."

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Always Something.

It's hard to save for the rainy day; there's always something for which to pay; there's always something demanding coin; we have to pay for the tenderloin, for the grocer's prunes and the baker's bread, new pillowslips for the guest room bed, for a hat for Jane and shoe for Jake, for seeds and bulbs and a garden rake! We must subscribe for some magazines, and the house needs paint and the windows screens, and we need some salve for the spring-time corns, and the cow requires a new set of horns, we must hire a man who can prune the trees, and make some stalls for the bumblebees, and haul away all the winter's trash—there's always something demanding cash! A man must study and engineer, who'd save ten cents in a passing year, who'd have a bone for the rainy day, as a rod and staff when he's old and gray, to buy a shroud when the journey's done—there's always something demanding mon!

An Evening With Carlyle

From Harper's Magazine.

Among some unpublished papers of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning in Harper's Magazine appears an interesting letter to Mrs. Browning from Vernon Lushington. Lushington had met the Brownings while traveling through Italy with W. M. Rosetti. The letter is dated Nov. 9, 1860, and reads, in part:

Last Saturday I made my way to Chelsea, to the little house in Cheyne row, where the Great Man lives so quietly. I found him and Mrs. Carlyle at tea, and with them Mr. Ruskin. Ruskin had come for an evening's chat, too, for he reverences Carlyle much and more and more, and had brought with him Swiss photographs and sketches.

I very soon delivered my message—how I had been to Italy and seen the Brownings, and how Robert Browning had sent him his affectionate remembrances. They were kindly received, you may be sure, and Carlyle went on to speak to Ruskin and me of your husband in the most friendly terms; and to Ruskin he said: "If you write to the Brownings, tell Browning that I have long thought of writing to him, that I would now if this coil of work were off my mind, that I hope to live to do so yet."

Then we talked of other things, or rather he talked, on and on, and I think more impressively and delightedly even than usual. Sure enough he damned all the world up in heaps more than once, as if the great day of wrath was coming and deserved to come; but I have long made up my mind to bear all this and let it go by. * * *

Well, Ruskin presently observed how sad the latter days of most great men were, Scott, Turner, etc. This set Carlyle upon Voltaire and Goethe. Voltaire had many pretty innocent ways in his old age. He had a servant, Barbara, "Barbou," who cared for him, and governed him entirely. Every morning she would bring him a cup of coffee, and the old man would sometimes say, "Barbou, thou must make me another cup; thou knowest thou wilt not have many more cups to make for me."

One day he had on his table some liquor, and the fancy entered his head to mix that with the coffee, and so make a tertium quid better than either, which he accordingly did. It proved dreadful, and in short Barbou had to be summoned. He told her what he had done and the consequences. Barbou said, "Well, for a wise man, thou art certainly the greatest fool in the world." To which the old man replied submissively, "C'est vral, Barbou, c'est vral!"

Then Goethe. Carlyle said he had begun life with many admirations, and heroes, and they had changed, some of them becoming even avoidable; but his feeling for Goethe had kept steady hold on him. He was the one great literary man in the two last centuries, for he had a gospel, the divine wonder and beauty of this world now in these costermonger days, as in the days of Moses and other heroic times. "Read him," he said to Ruskin, "and judge for yourself if he is not as Carlyle says, or something quite different." * * *

All this and much more said, Carlyle sat down on the rug and lighted his pipe in his usual style in the red coals, and sat smoking, letting the smoke drift up the chimney. But he first told the story of a Quaker who had heard Wordsworth talk for a long while, saying at last, "Excellent, friend William, but now suppose we keep silence for five minutes."

With this I leave Carlyle, only adding that he seemed very well; that he had been a long spell in Scotland, especially with his friend, Sir John Sinclair. Mrs. Carlyle seemed well, too, for her; she had been all the summer alone in town. I asked her, "How faring?" She said, "Enduring."

The Pope's Wish For Peace

Brooklyn Eagle: The world has ceased to scoff at those who pray for peace. The absolute annihilation of the enemy which all belligerents foretold with such assurance in the first year of war, fades and recedes as event succeeds event. We are coming to realize again what history has taught the world before that decades, and not years, are required to "crush" a united people.

That is why Pope Benedict's Lenten letter to Cardinal Vicar Pompili, in which he pleads for peace to save the world from ruin, will find an echo in the hearts of neutrals and belligerents, no matter what their faith. It is a true plea for humanity, a call to sacrifice and penance through that Lenten period which the Christian church has set aside for closer communion between God and man.

Each group of nations still hopes for a peace more favorable to themselves than to their enemies. But each group is already thinking of concessions. The radical Socialists of France have abandoned the demand for the conquest of Alsace-Lorraine, the sane thinkers of Germany oppose the absorption of Belgium. Flamboyant talk about the invasion of England or the complete destruction of the German navy is recognized as futile. Predictions about the future map of Europe are less radical.

It is good for the world that there is someone in Europe today who appeals only to charity and compassion. Sane thinking has disappeared so completely that the note of quiet, tender sympathy with all affliction which dominates the pope's appeal shines as a star in the night. Its practical effect will probably be nil, but it will at least remind the world that an appeal to God for victory in battle does not represent man's highest moral aspirations.

The Great Law.

Before beginning and without an end,
As space eternal and as surely sure,
Is fixed a Power divine which moves to good,
Only its laws endure.

This is its touch upon the blossomed rose,
The fashion of its hand-shaped lotus leaves;
In dark soil and the silence of the seeds
The robe of Spring it weaves.

That is its painting on the glorious clouds,
And these its emeralds on the peacock's train;
It hath its stations in the stars; its slaves
In lighting, wind and rain.

Out of the dark it wrought the heart of man,
Out of the dull shells the pheasant's pencilled neck;
Ever at toil, it brings to loveliness
All ancient wrath and wreck.

It maketh and unmaketh, mending all;
What it hath wrought is better than hath been;
Slow grows the splendid pattern that it plans
Its wistful hands between.

This is its work from the things ye see,
The unseen things are more; men's hearts and minds,
The thoughts of peoples and their ways and wills,
Those, too, the great law binds.

It will not be contemned of any one;
Who thwarts it loses, and who serves it gains;
The hidden good it pays with peace and bliss,
The hidden ill with pains.

It knows not wrath nor pardon; utter true
Its measures mete its faultless balance weighs;
Times are as nought, tomorrow it will judge,
Or after many days.

Such is the Law which moves to righteousness,
Which none at last can turn aside or stay;
The heart of it is Love, and the end of it
Is Peace and Consummation sweet. Obey!
—Sir Edwin Arnold, in "The Light of Asia."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments By and About Newspapers In the Gopher State.

The National Game.

That you can't keep the national game out of mind at this time of the year is demonstrated by the Winona Independent, which says: "Theodore Roosevelt says the nation must be in a heroic mood if it nominates him for president. The American people will soon show the colonel their fighting spirit by proceeding to lick the umpire."

"The Beam in Thine Own Eye."

"The beam in thine own eye" seems to have its modern counterpart in the tin cans in thine own alley. Anyway the Albert Lea Tribune advises its readers, "Take a look at the alley back of your house. It is going to be a disease-breeding, fly-infested place a little later on? If so—eliminate the 'hot bed' by having the accumulation hauled away at once."

"A Slogan" for a Landslide.

Branching out beyond the state line, the Cass Lake Times finds that, "The Anaconda Standard reports that Wyoming has a cash balance of $750,000, which fact will make taxes unnecessary for one year at least. Kansas is entirely free from debt. Both Kansas and Kansas have had municipal suffrage for women since 1887. O, ye purblind antis."

Which inspires this in the Brainerd Dispatch: "Northern Minnesota has two good boosters for suffrage in the Little Falls Transcript and the Cass Lake Times. 'Free from debt and taxes' ought to be a good slogan for the campaign they are waging. Anyway it would be a good thing to realize. No debts, no taxes! Just think of it!"

That's Right—Start Something!

Just as the steady-minded ones had got their thoughts back in their work, along comes the conscienceless Aurora News with this: "It makes no difference how deep the snow, there is something about March and spring election time that brings on the fishing fever. The editor of this great family journal is overhauling his fishing tackle and will be ready as soon as the ice leaves the rivers."

The Highways Can Stand It.

If anybody feels inclined to follow the lead of the Bemidji Pioneer he needn't hesitate for fear of the shock to the roads. The Pioneer suggests: "We are always ready to set aside a certain date for some specific object—except good roads. Now let's vary the procedure and declare 1916 our good roads year, and live up to our declaration. If we all agitate for good roads and go after even better roads, the end of 1916 will see a wonderful improvement in our country highways."

Would That Others Were As Honest!

Honest disagreement is easy to get along with, for in case of conviction of error the one who erred will own up. The Winnebago City Enterprise does the honorable thing when its says: "We are frank to confess that we have changed our opinion of President Woodrow Wilson. He is a man of steel, when we thought him to be of a rather putty-like disposition. President Wilson has shown the world the other side of his nature. He has demonstrated that he can show the mailed fist if needed. He has exemplified to the satisfaction of all that the United States will unsheath the sword rather than to sacrifice one shred of the national honor. The true American spirit still lives! Our forefathers did not battle in vain!"

They Grabbed Opportunity.

Sometimes our pride-stuffed native sons can get a valuable lesson from the alien within our doors. The Williams Northern Light supplies this as the latest case in point: "Last fall, four Swedes, whose names we did not learn, and which for these purposes are not essential, came over from Canada and bought the 'stumpage' rights on a piece of land out north which local operators had skinned (or thought they had) several years ago, paying $800 therefor. Tuesday night of this week these same men started from here on a return trip to Sweden, and each carried with him $800 as his share of the proceeds of their winter work, culling out the timber that had been left before on account of its inaccessibility or inferior grade. That is the kind of a bunch that ought to stay in this country, where such work will make any man rich in a few years."

Things the Badger State Editors Are Saying.

Rather Less Able.

Hurley News: One million bicycles will be manufactured in this country this year, but the old-fashioned scorcher who frequently attained fifteen miles an hour will be less able to create a sensation than in the old days.

More About T. R.

Eau Claire Telegram: There is either a dark hen on a deep-laid egg hatching the nomination for Roosevelt, or as is more likely, a lot of the political speculators are simply more or less hypnotized by the Roosevelt legend, the potency (enhanced by his present grand and gloomy aloofness) of his picturesque personality, and his undeniably effective heroics.

So What Can They Do?

Bayfield Progress: Hasten the day when the the intensely partisan paper will have the grace to admit that "no views held by any official of another party can be right views—no, not even though they be the views my own party holds or has held." Sounds silly? Is silly? Perhaps it is. But it's the only honest position that is open now to the all-the-time Republican papers.

No Indeed! If T. R. Has Anything to Do With It He'll See That There Are Spectators.

Wausau Record-Herald: An exchange sarcastically remarks that if Roosevelt were president the army would probably be in Mexico City by this time. At any rate, it wouldn't be starring in comic opera on the border without spectators.

Some Come-back!

Ladysmith Journal: "Ever hear of the primary election law? Well, down in East St. Louis—with no candidates up—there were sixty-five election officials on duty at $5 each. At the mayoralty primary a year ago only six votes were cast."—Eau Claire Leader.

Well, what of it? Sessions of the Wisconsin legislature have been held, costing the state several thousand dollars, when only one or two members were present in each house. Is such a fact an argument for abolishing the legislature?

Ah-Ha! Has Somebody a Car?

Washburn News: We are no anarchist, nor have we ever been accused of being socialistic, but we would like some bloated trust mouthpiece or orator to give us one good reason why the man who is making 40-cent gasoline possible should not be hung.

Yes, Radically So.

Ashland Press: The kaiser is having trouble with his throat again and Premier Asquith is having bronchial trouble. These two crawl into the "hay" and call for the very best medicine and surgery can do, while the boys they send to the front die like flies in the murderous charges and counter-charges of a terrible war. Something wrong somewhere.

No, But Wise Men Discriminate.

Eau Claire Leader: Minnesota villages are still going dry, but you don't have to live in a Minnesota village.

The Caste Breaker

Editorial in the New York Times.

We have looked in vain in Mr. Nathan Haskell Dole's revised edition of Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations" for the brave words of a great leader of the people who has always trusted the people when he has thought he could depend upon them for votes. Brave, "ringing" words, beautiful words to quote, why have they been neglected by the quotation collectors? Why must they be dug up from old scrapbooks?

> I found that if I could appeal to the rank and file of the Republican voters, I could generally win, whereas, if I had to appeal to the political caste which includes the most noisy defenders of the old system, I generally lost.

Fine, brave words, worthy of the Progressive candidate for president in 1912, who uttered them in accepting the nomination. Worthy of the same close-to-the-people statesman, who said in Carnegie hall in March of the same year:

> The great fundamental issue now before the Republican party and before the people can be stated briefly. It is: Are the American people fit to govern themselves, to rule themselves, to control themselves? I believe they are. My opponents do not.

So. Mr. Roosevelt, going forth to conquer many primaries. Now he avoids a presidential primary as if it were a Barnes or a Penrose. He will not appeal to the rank and file. Sorrowfully must his admirers behold him shrinking from the voice of the people, forbidding his name to be used on the official ballot in state after state, returning to the old system and the political caste, depending on manipulation and combination and prearranged demonstration in the national convention. Are the American people unfit to govern themselves? The "infamous" work of the Republican national convention of 1912 has brought much strain on Mr. Roosevelt's vocabulary and feelings. Now he is prepared to expose himself again to the mercies of the wirepullers, intriguers, and "thieves."

It is sad to see this pure spirit of popular government splashing the whiteness of his vesture with the mire of reaction. Fortunately, his Massachusetts friends are bound to save him from himself and offer him to the primary and the people.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1896.

When the Republican state convention met at Minneapolis today, Congressman James A. Tawney read a letter from Senator C. K. Davis withdrawing his name from consideration as a candidate for president. A resolution was then adopted pledging the support of the Minnesota delegation to William McKinley for president. The following were elected delegates-at-large: Robert G. Evans of Minneapolis, George Thompson of St. Paul, L. P. Hunt of Mankato and C. F. Hendryx of Sauk Center. The alternates selected were Ira C. Richardson, Capt. A. H. Reed, Burger Thanstenson and James A. Diment. Warren Potter of Aitkin was chosen elector for the Sixth district. The platform adopted declared for gold and silver as money, but against the free and unlimited coinage of silver, except by international agreement. It also declared in favor of a protective tariff; in support of the Monroe doctrine and in favor of a "system of coast defenses and such other naval and military preparations as will surely make us able to secure peace by our own manifest invincibility in war."

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writter though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER STATES HIS FIRM BELIEFS

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your correspondent signing himself "The Guilty Onlooker," makes me regret more than ever my clumsiness of locution. If I had his gift of fluency and clarity I would not be stumbling and stammering to make the obvious plain. Yet, by your indulgence, I will try again.

Wishing to help me out, the gentleman suggests four proposals by which to secure and maintain universal peace.

(1) By substituting educational ideals for our national instincts.

Not quite. You cannot substitute an ideal for an instinct. Education is a process and not a performance. Education does not qualify ideals, it develops capacities toward ideals. Instinct is not classified as natural and otherwise. What happens is that the social instinct prevails over the primitive instinct, education assisting.

(2) By joining the Society of Friends.

Not now. If we all joined the Society of Friends it would abolish war. If christendom believed in Christianity, that would abolish war. But I am looking for the line of least resistance and that way is too long.

(3) By establishing an international police.

Not immediately. That's putting the cart before the horse. The policeman does not make a civilized state; the civilized state makes the policeman.

(4) By taking an early morning pill for the liver.

I had not thought of that, but it would be a fine thing for those of a bilious mind.

In fact I am not stating a proposition. I am stating a belief. I believe that—"through the ages one increasing purpose runs."

Does the gentleman doubt that?

I believe that where once there was no law but the will of the individual, the will of the clan came to prevail over private warfare. Does the gentleman doubt that?

I believe that where once each clan was a law to itself, the will of the tribe came to prevail over clan warfare. Does the gentleman doubt that?

I believe that where once each tribe was a law to itself, the will of the kingdom came to prevail over tribal warfare. Does the gentleman doubt that?

I believe that in such recent instances as United Germany and United Italy, the will of the nation came to prevail over provincial kingdoms, abolishing war between them. That the formation of the American union put an end to war between the individual states, making way for the common will. That in the group of commonwealths which constitute the British empire, the common will prevails over the separate interests of each. Does the gentleman doubt that?

I BELIEVE THAT THE INCREASING PURPOSE STILL RUNS. Does the gentleman doubt that?

I believe that in the new order which we are called to upbuild, the same forces that prevailed to establish the peace of the clan, which prevailed to establish the peace of the tribe, which prevailed to establish the peace of the kingdom, the nation, the group of commonwealths—those forces can still prevail to establish the peace of nations.

Does the gentleman doubt that?

Let him resolve his doubts. And when he has so done, he will be too earnestly occupied for poking fun at my awkwardness. He will give all his energy and all his fluency and all his clarity to work in harmony with the increasing purpose.

When he has resolved his doubts, we will be ready to talk about definite ways and means.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.
Duluth, March 22.

"STILL IGNORANT."

To the Editor of The Herald:

If you will be so kind, I would again like to seek enlightenment from Mr. "For Wilson."

Is the international law of which you speak, the law which permits individuals, at their own risk, and without protection, to ship arms to belligerents, but does not force a nation to ship arms to a belligerent under pain of breaking neutrality?

You see, I am still ignorant. I still believe that we are unneutral from the very fact that President Wilson himself said in his neutrality proclamation:

"Neutral in fact as well as in name, and we must put a curb on every transaction which might give a preference to one party in the struggle over another."

And our old friend Webster, to whom we go so often for authority, defines neutrality as "lending no active assistance to either or any belligerent."

Every nation in the world has at one time or another ordered an embargo on arms for any reason it deemed fit and without explanation to anyone.

I fear that the backbone of our republic would be very weak indeed if it allowed itself, against its moral judgment, to be bullied into such a policy as you maintain.

The sole and only requirement of neutrality is that it shall affect both sides alike.

Has the United States ever before held that an embargo on arms was unneutral? Indeed, just the opposite. She has repeatedly placed and removed embargoes during wars.

Have we ever been accused of being unneutral before? The very essence of neutrality is that nations are required to keep their hands clean from the blood of another's quarrel.

Lest I take up too much room, let me leave this moral phase of the question and turn to the financial.

After we have helped make a few billion graves, widows and orphans—and even enemies; when the nations have decided they will lay down their arms, and we are deprived of market for ammunition, what will you "fellows" on the range do then?

Germany was one of our best customers. We are helping the wholesale slaughter of them, and just so surely as we depended upon them before the war, just so surely will we miss them when the war is over. Look a little beyond your nose, Mr. "F. W.," and see the depression you are plunging the United States into. Every German our shells kill means one less customer for the goods you will so gladly welcome the opportunity to make.

The stock of these ammunition factories will be inflated while war lasts, to shrink again at its close. The result will be the enriching of a few, the swindling of the public who invest in this stock, and the unemployment of many.

Of course I am not accusing you directly, Mr. "F. W.," for this policy, but you seem to feel justified in killing Germans, that a few might work at the cost of the lives of many.

Better save that raise. You might need it when the allies cease buying arms from the United States of America.

You may be very much surprised, but I am STILL IGNORANT.
Duluth, March 22.

THE "MOTHER-IN-LAW JOKE" ISN'T ALWAYS A JOKE

To the Editor of The Herald:

If possible, please print this letter, which is an appeal to The Herald's broad minded readers to express their views on a new subject, viz: "What to Do With My Mother-in-Law." Here are a few of her faults as I see her: She is mean to my wife, lazy, boisterous, two-faced, a scandal-monger, vile-tongued, vain, uses lurid profanity before anyone when she is in a rage, superstitious, a good eater, pretentious, and many others.

Her virtues, as I see her, are talent for needle work, millinery and fur work, saleswomanship and art. She claims to be educated, has a good memory, and more than an average command of our language.

Because of my love for my wife and three children, whose love I am sure of, I am bound hand and foot, heart and tongue. I can't kick my mother-in-law out of my wife's house. She has no place to go. She has made her vows to separate my wife from me. My wife is growing poor and nervous and has threatened to commit violence on her life.

My wife is 25 years old and I am 29. We are both healthy, but poor. I am engaged in a steady position. My wife handles my salary, keeps an account and shows me where every cent goes. It takes it all to keep our own selves on. Please don't laugh at my plea, because mine is a critical case. I would like to hear through the Open Court from lawyers, ministers, mother-in-lawed men and others, "What to do with a mother-in-law." MARK.
Some Place, March 22.

DEFENDS SENATOR CLAPP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your Open Court last Friday contained an attack upon Senator Clapp, sent from St. Paul, in which there was nothing but scurvility—no specific charges or facts.

Although a majority of the Republicans of the state seemed to be with him in his desertion of President Taft, I parted company with him politically; but I call the attention of your readers to the fact that Mr. Clapp was one of the first lawyers of the state when he was deemed worthy to succeed C. K. Davis, the most brilliant man ever in the state, in the highest office within the gift of the state, and Senator Clapp has for many years worthily upheld Minnesota's reputation for sending able men to the senate.

There is little doubt that Secretary Lansing was right and President Wilson was wrong in the interpretation of international law as applied to merchant vessels, armed as they now are, as the law has heretofore existed and there is less doubt that the Minnesota congressmen were acting for the best interest of this country and injuring nobody when they voted to request Americans not to travel upon armed merchant men if they could avoid it.

We have rights in the abstract which we waive as members of society.

The rule of law that one must use his own so as not to injure others applies to all civilized and uncivilized communities. LEON E. LUM.

VALERI GRACESKY, LAST HEARD OF IN OREGON

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would some kind reader tell me through the Open Court if they know of a man by the name of Valeri Gracesky? I have sad news for him. He was living in Oregon when last heard of. Tell him to write to his mother.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

"A Subscriber," Eveleth, Minn.: (1) Who receives the money a man pays to become a naturalized citizen of the United States? (2) Where does the money go to, the state or the United States? (3) What fund does it go towards? (4) What is the actual cost for first and second papers? (5) What language do the Americans speak? Some claim it is the Anglo-Saxon. I presume by that it is derived from England. According to that have we Americans no language which we could call our own?

Ans.: (1) The clerk of the court in which application is made. (2) The United States. (3) To pay the running expenses of the bureau of naturalization in the department of labor. (4) First papers, $1; final papers, $4. (5) The English language, with certain modifications of meaning and inflection and certain additions peculiar to this country. There is, strictly speaking, no American language, though Americans find it difficult to understand many people from different parts of England. No nation today speaks the Anglo-Saxon language, though English is largely founded on Anglo-Saxon.

M. F. Everton, Deer River, Minn.: (1) What is the teacher's retirement fund law? (2) When was it enacted a law? (3) Is it compulsory for a rural school teacher to contribute to this fund out of her wages? (4) To whom must the teacher pay and what per cent of salary? (5) From what date must a teacher pay?

Ans.: It is described in the preamble as "An act to establish a state teachers' insurance and retirement fund and to authorize the payment of annuities and benefits from such fund to retired teachers of public schools and of other educational, correctional and charitable institutions supported, wholly or in part by the state of Minnesota, and to regulate the creation, collection, management and disbursement thereof." (See Chapter 199 of the Laws of 1915.)

(2) In 1915. (3) Yes, if she accepted her position as teacher since Sept. 1, 1915. If she held her position on April 20, 1915, she need not become a contributor to the fund unless she wishes to do so. (4) The assessments are to be deducted from her monthly salary by the board which hires her. For teachers receiving less than $1,500 a year the assessments are: For first five years of teaching, $5 per year; second five years, $10 per year; next ten years, $20 per year; next five years, $30 per year; after twenty-five years, no assessment whatever. A special schedule is provided for teachers receiving $1,500 or more a year. (5) From the date of her application to join the fund, if she was employed previous to April 20, 1915; if employed since then, from the date of her first employment.

Ans.: 1871.

"Reader," Thomson, Minn.: (1) What is the right name for the rabbits here in the Northwest that change to white in the winter and gray in the summer? (2) Please give the name for these rabbits that are gray all the year round that are here in the Northwest.

Ans.: (1) Lepus Americanus, or American hare. (The name "rabbit" applies properly to only an animal peculiar to Europe.) (2) Cottontail, or lepus floridanus.

E. Olson, Duluth: (1) Can a person marry his first cousin? (2) Can he marry his second cousin?

Ans.: In Minnesota, yes, if she is willing.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following:

"The Cyclone of Louisville." "The Swede's Lament," from James M. Holt of Duluth.

"The Open Window," from Mabel Carlson of Elmer, Minn.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Down in the Old Cherry Orchard," from "F" of Duluth. (This is a second request.)

"In the Valley of the Moon" and "Down By the Old Mill Stream," from "A Reader" at Brainerd, Minn. ("Down By the Old Mill Stream" can be obtained from this column of The Herald for Tuesday, Feb. 29, 1916.)

The Open Window.

The old house by the linden
Stood silent in the shade,
And on the gravel pathway
The light and shadow played.

I saw the nursery window
Wide open to the air;
But the faces of the children,
They were no longer there.

The large Newfoundland house dog
Was standing by the door.
He looked for his little playmates,
Who would return no more.

They walked not under the lindens,
They played not in the hall;
But shadow and silence and sadness
Were hanging over all.

The birds sang in the bushes,
With sweet, familiar tone;
But the voices of the children
Will be heard in dreams alone.

The Swede's Lament.

Come, all you loving countrymen
Wherever you may be;
Come listen to my tale of woe;
You can't but pity me.
I'm here in close confinement,
Bound down in irons strong,
Surrounded by high granite walls
And sentenced to be hung.

I shipped on board the Solidence,
As you may understand.
We were bound for Valparaiso—
McKinzie in command.
We reached our destination,
And that without delay;
Until old Felix came on board—
Cursed be that fatal day!

It was he who first enticed me
To do that fatal crime,
Although I might have stopped it
By taking it in time.
We stained our hands in precious blood,
And that I'll ne'er deny.
We took the lives of innocent men,
And for it I must die.

Carolus Gustavus Anderson
Is my right and proper name.
Although I'm here in custody
I've ne'er but been the same.
In the town of Copenhagen
There I was bred and born;
But here in the town of Halifax
I end my days in scorn.

My father was a shipwright.
I might have been the same.
He set me a good example,
And him I ne'er can blame.
And as for my aged mother,
For me she suffered sore.
And when she hears this announcement,
I'm sure she will suffer more.

As for my brothers and sisters
They are so dear to me.
Across the briny ocean!
Their faces I shall never more see.
For many's the happy hour we spent
Along Christiania's shore.
Farewell to Alice Valley—
I shall never see her more!

And as for my aged mother,
If I could but see her face.
And taste those lips of tenderness
And feel her last embrace;
Or if I could but be with her
Until my dying hour
And then submit my soul to God,
For this over ruling power.

But there is one consolation—
There is no book, but I can read,
Profess the Church of England.
By nation I'm a Swede.
For I was born in Sweden,
And that I'll ne'er deny;
But here away in a foreign land,
I am condemned to die.

The sheriff and the officers
Came to him in the jail.
He heard the dreadful tidings,
But he did not seem to fail.
They marched him to the gallows
To end all shame and strife,
And with his hands he grasped the rope
That cut the thread of life.

The scaffold that he stood upon
Was built upon a strand.
He viewed the briny ocean
And then the foreign land.
A rope projected through a ring
Which quickly caught his breath,
And ended all of his wild career
In the sudden hands of death.

THE F. F. DALLEY CO., Ltd., Buffalo, N. Y.

Society - Women's Clubs - Music - Drama

At the midweek service of the First esbyterian church the topic last ght was "The Friendly Church."

One speaker suggested that friendliess is the inevitable result of true hristianity. Another gave as the esntials of a friendly church: First, minister with a Christ-like spirit whom persons instinctively turn in eir perplexities, and second, members iendly among themselves and toward rangers. He added that Christians e supposed to be experts in friendliess, but a friendliness that does not ome from the heart is of no value.

A third speaker said that friendliess does not consist in outward demnstrations, and that friendliness is in e atmosphere when there is real reigion in the life. He defined friendliess as the spirit not satisfied with ere duty, but gladly going beyond s obligations. The keynote of the eeting was that the church is in the orld not to receive but to give friendness and help wherever there may be ed. The brief discussion was followed by a social hour.

The musical program was in charge Mrs. L. A. Marvin. Two soprano dos were given by Miss Perle Reynds. A quartet consisting of A. B. nderson, L. E. Marvin, Norman Johnon and H. L. Cheney sang "Soldiers f the Captain" and "O Church of hrist." Later there was a general athering about the piano to sing the ld familiar songs. There were about wo hundred present, and light refreshents were served.

The meeting was led by the Rev. eorge Brewer, who came to Duluth ast November. Since he became pastor ere has been a rapid and steady rowth in all branches of the church ork and a large attendance at the urch services.

LAST CONCERT OF THE SEASON

DULUTH ORCHESTRA

Fred G. Bradbury, Conductor.

NEW ARMORY

Sunday, March 26, 5 p. m.

Request Program

Soloist: Mrs. Jay Finkelson, Violin.

Last Orchestra Program Sunday

The request program which will be given by the Duluth orchestra at its final concert of the season at the new armory Sunday afternoon should prove the most interesting of the series as it represents the choice of the orchestra's patrons.

The program will contain some of the most notable works in musical literature, opening with the perennial favorite, Rossini's overture to "William Tell." This has long been considered one of the world's greatest overtures and probably appears on band and orchestra programs more than any other. "Einzugsmarsch der Bojaren," which met with special favor on the Scandinavian program several weeks ago, will also be given. This is a brilliant composition written in march form and depicts the triumphal entry of the Bojars who were once a famous tribe of Russia. Grieg's "Peer Gynt" suite is undoubtedly the most popular number that has been played by the orchestra this season as it stands number one on the list of request numbers and two movements of this delightful suite will be played, "Anitra's Dance" and "In the Hall of the Mountain King."

From the several symphonies the largo from Dvorak's "New World" symphony was evidently the most popular, and well it may be as the movement is beautiful in the extreme. Somular, and well it may be, as the movement a "Moonlight Night on the Prairie," for it is an exquisite tone picture of varied tints, all of which are in accord with this title. The rest of the program will include the beautiful "Valse Triste" by Sibelius, Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt and the powerful "March Slav" by Tschaikowsky which was splendidly given by the orchestra last Sunday.

Mrs. Jay Finkelson will be the soloist and will be heard in an exquisite number entitled "Zigeunerweisen" by Sarasate.

Dean of Conductors With N. Y. Orchestra

Another link between the golden days of other years—the binding together of the past and the present—comes in the personage of the dean of American conductors, Walter Damrosch, who will appear at the new armory with the New York Symphony orchestra next Tuesday night. There is not a conductor in America who has had such intimate relations not only with the great men of today, but with some of musical giants of the past as Walter Damrosch.

The father of Walter Damrosch was the close friend and supporter of Wagner, Liszt and Berlioz and the dauntless champion of their revolutionary music. The elder Damrosch along with von Buelow, Hans Richter, and Cornelius, composed a little band of idealists who devoted themselves to producing and popularizing the music of this master trio. Through his father, Walter Damrosch met both Wagner and Liszt and in later years became the foremost exponent of their music in America.

There is hardly a great piano or violin virtuoso who has not made his first appearance in this country under the baton of Walter Damrosch. He brought to America some of the greatest Wagner singers for his own opera company and for the Metropolitan opera house of New York, among which might be mentioned Max Alvery, Lilli Lehmann, Emil Fischer, Johanna Gadski, and Milka Ternina. As an orchestral conductor he was the first to present "Parsifal," "Samson and Delilah," and Tschaikowsky's fifth and sixth symphonies. And the only visit Peter Tschaikowsky, the great Russian composer, ever made to America was as the guest of Walter Damrosch at the dedication of Carnegie hall in New York.

University Men Will Join Ambulance Corps

Several faculty members and students of the University of Minnesota may adopt a get-rich-quick scheme by volunteering for six months' service in the American ambulance corps of Paris for which they would receive the sum of 1 cent a day, paying all their expenses, such as fare across the ocean, clothing, uniforms, bed and board. Frank H. Tusler, a Kappa Sigma of the university, who has decided to go, estimates that the trip would take $600 of the $1.80 cents that would be earned in six months. However, Capt. Eddy said "The American ambulance will not allow the men to be placed in positions of danger" He added, "There are 1,000 American auto ambulances divided into nine sections, and the territory covered extends from Dunkirk to the Vosges mountains. All drivers and attendants are from the United States. I hope to send fifteen men from the students and faculty of the University of Minnesota some time in June."

The application papers specify that "only men who are in sympathy with the allies and wish to help them are wanted."

Among the M. U. students who are considering joining the corps are Gunther Orsinger of White Bear, Charles Cole of Minneapolis, Conrad Hubert of St. Paul and C. E. Smyth.

Variations of the Omelet

YESTERDAY the principles of omelet-making were described in detail; today we will begin with a recipe for plain beaten omelet as follows: Use three eggs, beat the yolks and the whites separately and thoroughly, add seasoning, and three tablespoons of milk or water. For sweet omelet add sugar to please your taste and omit the pepper. Spread with jelly or preserve or honey.

For parsley omelet give the eggs the required ten strokes to mix but do not beat, season with salt, pepper and butter, add a tablespoon of minced parsley. Cook as directed yesterday. Instead of folding or rolling the omelet have a heated plate the size of the omelet waiting. Place this dish over the pan and turn them together so the omelet will fall in the right place —the center. Garnish with parsley and serve at once.

No. 2. Put Bechamel, tomato or mushroom sauce on the dish around the omelet and garnish with points of buttered toast.

No. 3. Fine herbs omelet: Chop chives, thyme, tarragon, very little sage and parsley together, removing any stems or coarse bits of fiber. Add to the plain omelet mixture and bake as usual. Before serving dress with maitre d'hotel butter.

No. 4. After the plain omelet is started cooking spread with a few small peas, or cooked seasoned, drained tomatoes, asparagus or any vegetable you like. Invert this omelet onto a hot plate.

No. 5. Any cooked meat may be minced fine and cooked in plain omelet. Ham is best, kidneys that have been thoroughly well cooked and curried stand next, and chicken or veal makes a delicate addition.

Maitre d'hotel butter, for use on omelets, fish and steaks, is made with two tablespoons of butter, one-half teaspoon salt, the same amount of pepper, one tablespoon of lemon juice and one tablespoon of chopped parsley. Rub the butter to a cream and add the remaining ingredients. The sauce should not be hot, but may be warmed enough to permit the lemon juice to be worked in. A quantity of the butter may be prepared and packed in a small jar ready for use. It will keep as long as butter will in a cool place. When used soften it a bit but do not heat; let the heat of the food it is spread upon melt it.

A new potato salad especially nice for luncheon is made with boiled potatoes mashed and beaten to a cream with salt and pepper. Do not use cream or milk. When cool whip into them sufficient mayonnaise dressing to season but not enough to make them too soft to shape. Mold into little balls and put a pimento on top of each one. Lay the balls on a bed of crisp lettuce.

Questions and Answers.

To Mrs. A. L. R., Long Beach, and others waiting for quilt pattern for the rose applique. The pattern will be sent you shortly. I gave away the last one I had, as I thought no more readers would send for it; now I have sent to the friend who originally gave me the pattern, and when it comes I will see that you are all supplied.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson

Snowflakes in Hiding

"They do tell me," said one little snowflake as he softly floated down through the cool morning air, "that we are late in making our visit to earth."

"So?" asked the next nearest traveler. "Who said that?"

"One of my friends heard one of his friends say that he had heard that Mrs. South Wind said that she might soon be coming north." And the snowflake nodded his head solemnly.

How that first snowflake did laugh! "Do you mean to tell me that you are worried about something that you heard in any such roundabout fashion as that?" And he looked very disappointed in spite of his laughing. "I thought you had more sense."

"Well," explained the second snowflake, hanging his head, "I didn't really worry about it, but I did wonder."

"Never bother about anything you are not sure is going to happen," advised the wise little snowflake. "If you are going to make yourself unhappy every time you hear something may happen you will be miserable all the time."

"I am," replied the worrisome snowflake unhappily. "But I don't know how to stop."

"When you hear anything like that," said the wise snowflake promptly, "put it out of your mind at once. If you are not able to do that, go to headquarters for information."

"And where are headquarters?" asked the worried snowflake.

"Jack Frost," answered the wise snowflake. "And here he comes right now—did you ever hear of such good luck! Oh, Jack Frost! Jack Frost!" he cried, "will you kindly answer a question?"

Jack Frost good-naturedly said that he would, and he came right over to see what was wanted.

"This little snowflake," said the wise snowflake, "is worried about being melted. He's afraid that Mrs. South Wind will arrive by the time he gets to earth and he doesn't want to be melted till he has had a chance to see something of the world."

"I'll fix that all right," said Jack Frost at once. "Though I myself do not look for a thaw for some time, I'll have Mr. North Wind throw you against the north side of a big tree. There you can nestle in the folds of bark and live for many a day after Mrs. South Wind has come."

"Oh, Jack Frost! Jack Frost!" he cried, "will you kindly answer a question?"

So the snowflakes were tossed against the big tree trunk, just as Jack Frost had ordered, and there they nestled snugly between the folds of bark. They could see the earth world quite as well as if they had been upon the ground and they felt so comfortable and secure.

And there they lived for many a day—till long after Mrs. South Wind had melted the snow entirely off the hillsides and the southern sides of the trees.

Former Duluth Pastor Is Author of New Book

John Cuthbert Faries, formerly pastor of the Glen Avon church here, is the author of a book, "The Rise of Internationalism," brought out by W. D. Gray of New York.

The book is dedicated to Mr. Faries' wife, "whose loyal co-operation made this work possible," and is "submitted in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of doctor of philosophy in the faculty of political science of Columbia university."

Mr. and Mrs. Faries have been making their home in New York while Mr. Faries has been taking up different courses of study.

Cousin of Duluthian Is Killed By Turks

Lucien P. Wetherby, who was killed in the Anzac zone, where the Turks and British have been fighting so desperately, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wetherby of Minneapolis and a cousin of Charles d'Autremont of this city.

Mr. Wetherby was in the class of 1909 at the University of Minnesota and widely known in social and fraternal circles.

Directs Chicago Pageant.

Mrs. Helen Shores Savage, who is in charge of social dancing at the Hinman school, Chicago, and director of dancing at the Sinai social center, was in charge of the dancing in the Queen Esther pageant which was presented March 19 by the Sinai Sunday school children. The pageant was one of the largest and most successful that has been given this year, and those who have watched Mrs. Savage's successful directions of dancing here at the Boat club will be interested in hearing that she has recently completed another course in Russian dancing—as well as studied folk dances of England, Scotland and Ireland.

Mrs. Savage is a sister of Mrs. A. E. Walker, and will arrive the latter part of May to spend the summer with Mrs. Walker.

Saturday Club.

The last program meeting of the Saturday club season will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the library club room. Mrs. O. A. Oredson, who will be the leader, will speak on "Effect of the War on Literature," Mrs. R. E. Denfeld on "What Our Universities Have Done for Literature," and Mrs. H. J. Grannis will give a review of the literature of the year. There will be a discussion on "What Do Americans Read?"

Timely Hints on Spring Styles for Woman Too Busy to "Shop"

Collars and vestees in pink, blue, lavender and green have taken their places along with the all white neckware and are shown in such dainty shades that they are hard to resist. White and a color are often combined and one crepe de chine collar is embroidered in a green and mahogany futurist design. Black touches are always chic in neckwear but there is only a hint of black in the new designs.

Georgette crepe and crepe de chine have as rivals for popularity wash taffeta, marquisette and chiffon organdie. Picot hemstitched, scalloped and lace edges are all in good favor, so you have a wide range of styles from which to choose.

For Short and Long.

The women with a short neck is fortunate this season, for many of the collars are flat, but, to paraphrase a well-known advertisement, "If your neck is as long as a giraffe's, and ugly all the way down," you are not without hope as high collars are also good.

Fichus have returned with the tight-bodiced and full-skirted gowns and poke bonnets, and the fichus of today can hold their own with the dainty ones of many years ago. Georgette crepe and lace combined with net are used for the most elaborate ones and hand embroidery in small designs adds to the daintiness and to the price. An elaborate fichu will change a plain waist into a dressy one and give the quaintness that is much sought for.

Some of the large flat collars are round and some have long square backs. In many of the double collars the lower one is white and the upper one is colored, or the reverse is true. Vestees in white and the delicate shades are as popular as either the fichu or the flat collar, and give a trim finish when worn with a coat that does not lend itself readily to a flat collar. As many of the coats, especially winter ones, have high collars that are hard to "dress up" the vestee solves the problem.

From 65 cents to $6.50 is a big jump for a piece of neckwear, but the range is from a taffeta collar trimmed with bands of satin, or a double collar of organdie, for which the price is the same, to a large collar of Georgette crepe, hand embroidered and edged with cluny lace. To be sure these prices are not the unchanging extremes, for one may brighten up her gown or suit at a much smaller cost or may "go the limit" in elaborateness and the consequent cost.

What Retail Markets Are Offering the Housewife

Green and wax beans, 20 cents per pound.

Radishes, 7 cents a bunch.

Onions, 5 cents a bunch.

Artichokes, 2 for 25 cents.

Strawberries, 17 to 25 cents a pint box.

Asparagus, 15 cents a bunch.

White Malaga grapes, 30 cents per pound.

Eggs, strictly fresh, 25 cents.

Strawberries are looking quite tempting just now and if you also are tempted to look—sharply—you can get just as shallow a box for 17 cents as you can for 25 cents. It depends upon the depth of your character. Shallow people draw shallow boxes. It takes a deep student of the market to get a deep box.

Egg plant, that vegetable that looks as if it didn't know a convention, is with us again, as is also its or his sister, the regular hen egg, which for purity and freshness alone, may be had for 25 cents the dozen. For theatrical purposes—10 to 15 cents.

One can't resist wondering what made artichoke, but for 12½ cents each or two for 25—the mystery may be solved.

Onions, those congenial little household pets, are holding their own, which accounts partially for the social quiet of these Lenten days. Why doesn't Burbank invent an onionless onion, one that could be inhaled without leaving a hang-over? It would bear looking into at least—if not getting close to.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Sexes Should Intermingle

A man said to me, "Did you ever notice how differently a company made up of all men or all women act from one composed of both men and women?" I replied that I had never so noticed but decided that I would quietly observe the actions and conversation of women when they were by themselves and also those of men and women in company together.

Recently I was seated with three or four women. Though the conversation did not exactly lag, it was far from animated. There were long stretches when no one spoke and we acted as though we felt that we were not bound to entertain each other, so while some of us made a pretense at talking and being sociable the rest of us were idling and yawning in our chairs.

Now I cannot say that I should find this true of all women, for I have a vivid recollection of several who have been first class entertainers, irrespective of the sex of their guests. They made the time pass rapidly, and though you were not conscious of any effort, you were pleasurably impressed that they were doing their best to make the time passed in their company enjoyable.

I have noticed that when women are in the presence of the sterner sex they deport themselves quite creditably. They do not all talk at once and there is not the rude interruption of another's conversation that frequently occurs when lovely woman is in the company of her sister woman.

What is true of woman in this regard is also true of men to a certain extent. Men are at their best in a mixed company, or in the company of a woman. It is of course natural that one should exert itself for the other sex attraction accounts for this. It is conceded that the conversation in a party made up entirely of men descends on an average to a pretty low level and that if men were left entirely to themselves they would soon cease to have any regard at all for the little gallantries and refinements which, small and inconsequent in themselves, make life worth living and leaven the whole.

This argument brings us back to the old truth, that it is not good for man to be alone. Woman takes him out of himself and elevates him to a higher plane. Man performs the same service for woman. He expects her to be all gentleness, charm and refinement, and she does her best to reach that height, while in his presence at least.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

One of the Vanities

"I was surprised to see that Mr. S. didn't seem to be having a good time the other night," I commented to a mutual friend, recently. "I couldn't understand it, because it was just the kind of an evening he's always planning himself."

"Yes," said the mutual friend, who happens to know him rather better than I do, "And there's the rub!"

"Where?" said I.

"In that last sentence of yours. It's the sort of thing he's always planning himself, and when he plans it himself he enjoys it, but he is one of those people who don't like to have any one else do their planning for them. They never thoroughly approve of or enjoy a scheme unless it comes out of their own heads."

She Didn't Pick It Out And So——

There are lots of people like that, aren't there? You can doubtless find Mr. S.'s counterpart among your acquaintances, and he is by no means the only one of his type that I know. In fact, I was at once reminded of a little incident which had happened to me that very day. I had planned to go shopping with a friend. She was unable to go with me, and another friend took her place. We bought a suit which was a remarkably good value and which every one who afterwards saw it considered smart and becoming. That is, every one except the friend with whom I was to have shopped. She expressed a mild approval, and then began to pick flaws in it. Now, perhaps I am wrong, but I feel perfectly sure that if she had helped pick it out she would have been as enthusiastic as any one.

They Couldn't See Each Other's Ideas.

Some years ago I knew of a business partnership which dissolved for the same reason. The two partners were both brilliant men, but they simply could not seem to see the value of each others' ideas.

When one of them advanced an idea, the other immediately began to pick flaws in it, and vice versa. Finally, as I said before, they dissolved the partnership and went in for themselves. Whereupon both proved that their ideas had been good by being successful.

Human vanity takes many forms. This naive approval of one's own doings and schemes and ideas and this readiness to disparage those of other people is one of the less recognized vanities. But it is vanity, none the less, and to be avoided by those who want to overcome the littlenesses and meannesses of their natures.

With My Letter Friends.

Question—I have a very good toilet preparation that I would like to place on the market. Would you please tell me if it would be necessary to have it examined and guaranteed by a chemist before trying to sell it, and if a license would be necessary?

Answer—I think you had better write to the state commissioner of pharmacy in regard to state regulations, and, if you intend to sell outside the state, to the United States department of agriculture for Federal regulations. I am sorry I cannot give you more definite information, but the regulations have been recently changed, and I dare not attempt it.

ECZEMA WOULD ITCH AND BURN

On Chest and Back. Scratched and Little Blisters Would Come. Could Not Rest at Night.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had eczema on my chest and back for about a year. The first appearance was a scarlet rash and it would itch and when I rubbed it or scratched it little blisters would come, and if rubbed open would run water and then dry up and have a fine scale. It would itch and burn so I thought I would go out of my mind and I could not rest at night or do my work in the day.

"I got no relief until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed the affected parts with Cuticura Soap and then gently rubbed on the Ointment, and in two weeks I was healed." (Signed) Miss Ella M. Yates, Coleman, Mich., July 14, 1915.

"Pigtail Day" Calls Down Wrath of Evanston Teacher

Tuesday was "pigtail day" in the Evanston, Ill., township high school and every girl in the senior class was brave enough to wear her hair in braids, from those whose crowns of glory actually resembled pigtails when subjected to the reducing influence of braiding, to those whose hair at least would make it possible to play "Marguerite." No one objected to the severely simple style until the seniors went to the class room of an instructor in English. Miss Grace Cooley, who took the matter as seriously as if it were Burke's speech on "Conciliation With America" or some other senior classic, and lectured accordingly.

In defiance of Miss Cooley, the seniors wore their hair a la pigtail the next day, and it was said that the principal, a bachelor, couldn't see anything wrong with the arrangement until Miss Cooley explained that it wasn't the style.

Dido Dies By the Doughnut Route

Dido died this morning.

Every year Dido dies. She has the habit, and there are always numbers of willing people to help her shuffle off her mortal coil. The most painful way yet evolved and thrust upon the poor woman appeared this morning in the shape of a doughnut. It is doubtful if Dido comes back another year.

Prof. Custance has written the playlet which is given annually when the "Virgil" students have reached the passage where Queen Dido dies, and each year new and original ways of disposing of the poor dame are concocted, but to feed her a doughnut is the last straw!

Miss Katherine Birch, full of faith, took the part of the doughnut-eating Dido, other members in the cast being: Allace Cowen, Anna; Dora Mitchell, Barce; Eleanor Currie, teacher; Ruth Coe, chief musician; Sue Alexander, chief mourner; Willard Thorp, Aeneas; Wilfred Jaques, Achates; Wallace Hankins, soldier; Jacob Garon, prologue; Donald Alexander, Nell Upham, Irving Auld, Milton Anderson, "(fe) mail" carriers. A group of maids of honor, courtiers and the like completed the cast.

"CHERRYBLOSSOM" AND THE GEISHA GIRLS' CHORUS.
In Center—"Cherryblossom" (Mrs. Clyde E. Parker). Left to Right: First Row—Misses Anne Ericsson, Morell Anderson, Edith Schilb, Hildegarde Koop, Bessie Wieland, Esther Lind, Maude Williams, Ethel McIntyre, Lillian Irwin. Second Row—Misses Hildegarde Anderson, Ida Reid, Bessie Paine, Beatrice McDonald, Laura Benson and Cecil Miller.

Brainerd, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Miss Cherry Blossom," a Japanese musical comedy, was presented to a large audience at the Brainerd opera house by local talent last evening under the direction of John Wilson Dodge, the author. It was given under the auspices of the Bachelor Maids. It will be repeated tonight. Brimful of catchy music and lots of comedy, this sparkling musical gem gave every opportunity for the display of talent.

The cast includes Mrs. Clyde E. Parker as Cherryblossom; Clifton A. Allbright, Kokemo, Cherry's foster father; John Wilson Dodge, John Henry Smith; Dr. Karl H. Hoorn, Horace Worthington, a stock broker; Fred E. Stout, James, Worthington's secretary; Miss Norma Brady, Jessica; Donald Barrows, Harry, in love with Jessica; Al Mraz, Togo, a Japanese politician of high rank.

The scenic effects are unusual, thousands of cherryblossoms being used on real trees to give the proper Nipponese atmosphere. The choruses contribute to considerable of the success of the play. The music is tuneful, chief among the pieces being "Tokyo," "Love Is Like a Dainty Flower," "Cherryblossoms," "Sailing on Love's Sea," and "What the Moon Saw."

GRAND SHOW SCORES HIT

Gus Edwards' "School Days" Draws Overflow Audiences.

Gus Edwards' "School Days," a big-time vaudeville act that made Edwards famous as a producer and sketch writer, is headlining the new show at the Grand for the week-end, and so popular did the act prove at the matinee yesterday that many regular patrons of the popular playhouse were turned away in the evening for lack of room.

This playlet as it is presented by a number of clever entertainers is just as strong an attraction as it ever was, and those who saw it for the first time yesterday realize why it has been imitated in musical comedy and burlesque all over the country. There are many pretty girls in the act, who sing well and dance gracefully, and the principals carry their parts well. There is a lot of music and comedy in the act, and it has an appeal that takes the older persons in the audience back to their old school days, now almost forgotten.

Green and Parker, the "Blue Ribbon pair," late of the Webber & Fields' jubilee, put over a line of talk that brings forth riotous laughter and their popular songs are of the joy-inspiring kind that always delight vaudeville audiences. They proved to be popular favorites with their audiences and were given rounds of applause.

Miss Gladys Corriell, with her pleasing personality, classy gowns and natural ability as an entertainer, were all shown to great advantage yesterday. She has a big collection of songs and each one seemed more entertaining than the one preceding.

The Box Car Duo, two happy tramps with an infectious line of comedy and a clever program of songs and parodies, occupy one of the brightest spots on the bill.

The photoplay program has many bright features. At the head of the list stands out "The Mystery of the Empty Room," a dramatic screen story in two acts, full of thrills and mystery. "Almost a King," a comedy, keeps the audiences laughing, and the Canimated Nooz Pictorial presents many amusing events in caricature. The Selig-Tribune News shows many current news events, including pictures of great interest along the Mexican front, which is now fast becoming the center of attention in the United States.

Theater Gossip.

"If anyone thinks David Warfield is affecting to his audiences alone, they are mistaken," says Jane Cooper. In the role of Trintje Staats, the Dutch maiden whom Van Der Decken recognizes as the incarnation of his former wife and sweetheart, Miss Cooper is playing the leading female role with David Warfield, who comes to the Lyceum theater for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, March 27 and 28.

WARFIELD'S VOICE HAS WONDERFULLY PATHETIC QUALITY.

"I remember when I first saw Mr. Warfield in 'The Music Master.' It was about six years ago in San Francisco. Together with several of my school girl friends I witnessed a matinee performance. After it was over, our eyes were so red and swollen from crying that we were ashamed to go out on the street.

"I had always heard that one of the secrets of David Warfield's wonderful power was his voice. That by means of a peculiar quality, which has been called a sob in his voice, he is able to move his audiences to tears or laughter as he wills. At this performance I realized how heart-piercing was this plaintive and appealing note, and I could no more help being moved by it—well, than I can refrain from going to sleep at night. But not until I was engaged to play in his company, and had actually begun rehearsing, did I realize that his ability to move people to tears is not confined to those sitting in front of the footlights. He is equally affecting to those who are acting with him.

"When we were rehearsing 'Van Der Decken' at the Belasco theater, New York, it was always an effort for me to keep my composure while Mr. Warfield was on the stage. That wonderful voice and God-given smile simply made me cry. Often, while rehearsing the scene in the last act of the play, where, in giving me good-by, Van Der Decken says: 'I am at the end of my journey. There must be no misty weather at parting. What you cannot have now, dream that you shall have hereafter. Think of it! Whisper it in the night! 'Tis the hope of the world. Everyone of us shall have our heart's desire,' my throat would ache and the tears come into my eyes so that rehearsals were interrupted and it became necessary for Mr. Belasco to wait until I had had a good cry. Finally he was obliged to caution me, but it was weeks before I could steel myself to resist the pathos of Mr. Warfield's voice."

MAE MURRAY IN PLEASING ROLE AT THE LYRIC

Miss Mary Johnson, the Virginia woman, who wrote "To Have and to Hold," saw her novel pictured with Miss Mae Murray, the Nell Brinkley girl, as the star, and is quoted as saying that her story lost nothing and gained much by the rich and elaborate staging and settings and through the talents of this young woman who has made this Lasky production something out of the ordinary.

Duluth people will have the opportunity of passing their own criticism when they see the picture today and tomorrow at the Lyric. The village of Jamestown, Va., as it appeared in the Seventeenth century, was reproduced at the Lasky ranch studios, to give realistic perfection to the scenes in the picture of the story.

It is not a dry historical play—far from it; no more than was the story dry—for it has been widely read in this country. The story is vivid and stirring, full of love and pathos, and the only historical touches are those necessary to make the picture true to life.

HART IN THRILLING PLAY AT REX

William S. Hart has been called the "Booth of the motion picture drama." Mr. Hart takes roles that only the man who knows the real West, could successfully handle. Today, tonight and Saturday matinee and night, Mr. Hart is to be seen at the Rex Beautiful in "Hell's Hinges," a rare Triangle masterpiece.

As an evidence of the value placed on the picture and play by the producers, special music was written for the production and this will be rendered by the orchestra and pipe organ during the engagement of the play at the Rex.

Mr. Hart, who has a winning personality and a directness that makes for good acting, is a daring horsemen and a dead-shot. In one scene his horse plunges over a steep embankment and rolls over. Mr. Hart recovers himself during the fall and lands squarely in the saddle by the time the horse has reached the bottom of the abyss.

The play takes the audience back to the western period, now rapidly disappearing, and has everything in its favor.

MAY ROBSON TO CLOSE AT ZELDA

May Robson, one of the foremost actresses of today, known and adored by thousands of theater-goers who is now showing at the Zelda theater in her successful play, "A Night Out," will close her engagement with tonight's performance.

This is one of the best feature comedies ever presented at the Zelda judging from remarks made by exacting picture fans who witnessed this film last evening.

The audiences at the Zelda theater the last two days have been in an uproar of laughter.

Miss Robson in the role of "Granmum" is funnier than ever, and is ably assisted by such well known screen actors as Hughey Mack, Flora Finch, Kate Price and others of note. Mme. Petrova will appear at the Zelda Sunday in her new play, "The Soul Market."

FAMOUS FRENCH TRAGEDIENNE WILL BE SEEN HERE IN PHOTOPLAY

SCENE FROM "JEANNE DORE,"
In Which Sarah Bernhardt Will Be Seen at the Orpheum-Strand.

What is claimed to be the most costly feature photoplay, aside from big spectacles, yet presented will be shown tonight, Saturday and Sunday at the Orpheum-Strand theater, and at special popular prices.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, the queen of tragedy, and the most famous actress of the century, will be seen in the stellar role of Tristan Bernard's story, "Jeanne Dore," a five-act tragedy.

"Jeanne Dore" was the last play that "The Divine Sarah" enacted upon the stage and is considered her greatest effort. It was her desire to have the play produced upon the screen that posterity might see her at her best.

During her last trip to America, when she was going the rounds of the vaudeville theaters, her lameness was then noticeable; she was continually supporting herself upon the back of a chair, or leaned heavily against some article of furniture whenever she was upon her feet.

Her expressions of emotion were then, confined principally to pantomime, to facial expressions or to explanatory shrugs of the Bernhardt shoulders. Little matter whether one could understand the language she spoke on any of her tours of America—there was the wonderful gift of pantomime to tell the story and express the extremes of her emotion.

The camera has translated the Bernhardt facial expressions at close range. In the score of scenes in which the sublime tragedienne is concerned there is not an expression lost; not a glance of the Bernhardt eye has escaped the camera. From the heights of joy to the depth of Jeanne Dore's agonizing grief the Bernhardt command of the art of pantomime reflects, better than most actresses could speak in words, the changing emotion as it unfolds.

PUT STOMACH IN ORDER AND STOP GAS INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Regulates Disordered Stomachs in Five Minutes.

No More Dyspepsia, Sourness, Heartburn, Pain, Belching, or Acidity.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with acidity or sour risings, belching, gas on stomach, heartburn, headaches from stomach, nausea, bad breath, water brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no indigestion or sleepless nights or headache or stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapepsin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly overcome the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia. There is nothing better for gas on the stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a stomach headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.—Advertisement.

THEY REFUSE TO EAT

At periods in most childrens' lives they fail to relish their meals and refuse to eat even the delicacies prepared to tempt their appetites. They lack ambition, and growth seems impeded, which causes anxiety and worry.

To compel them to eat is a grave mistake, because nutrition is impaired. Healthful exercise in fresh air and sunshine is important, but equally important is a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion three times a day to feed the tissues and furnish food-energy to improve their blood, aid nutrition and sharpen their appetites.

The highly concentrated medicinal-food in Scott's Emulsion supplies the very elements children need to build up their strength. They relish Scott's—it is free from alcohol

MISSISSIPPI CLEAR OF ICE AT LA CROSSE

La Crosse, Wis., March 24.—The ice moved out of La Crosse harbor today and the Mississippi river was opened to navigation at this point. The opening comes two days later than in 1915. Plans are being made for the most active river season in years. Appropriations for terminals have been made by many upper Mississippi river cities and new steamers will be put in commission.

Funeral of Miss Walsh.

Funeral services for Miss Mary Walsh, club woman and prominent suffragist, who died yesterday morning, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from 2505 East Second street, the residence of her sister, Mrs. Wirt H. Cook.

Miss Walsh had been a resident of this city since 1893. Recently she made her home with Mrs. Cook. Her illness began about a year ago.

She leaves four brothers, in addition to her sister. They are Ellis Walsh of Virginia, James F. Walsh of Duluth, A. N. Walsh of Michigan, and John Walsh of Kentucky.

Rev. George A. Brewer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate at the funeral services and interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Chippewa Falls Has $160,000 Fire.

NEW HAND ON THE THROTTLE

Veteran Engineer Not in Engine Cab for His Last Run.

George Craig, Dean of Northern Pacific Crew, Dies at Brainerd.

When the Northern Pacific train from Brainerd arrives in Duluth tomorrow morning, George H. Craig will be aboard, but not in his accustomed place in the engine cab. Mr. Craig died at the Northern Pacific hospital at Brainerd this morning.

He was one of the oldest locomotive engineers in point of service on the Northern Pacific railway, and has been on the Lake Superior division since October, 1885. For many years, and up to the time of his illness two years ago, he was in charge of a passenger train running between Duluth and Staples.

Stomach trouble was given as the immediate cause of death. Mr. Craig became incapacitated for active service about two years ago and has been in the railroad hospital at Brainerd most of the time since then.

He leaves a widow and two daughters, who are now in Brainerd, and who will return with the body in the morning. Mr. Craig was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and that organization probably will have charge of funeral arrangements.

Sues For False Arrest.
Damages in the sum of $5,000 are sought by John Lajinesse against the Duluth Log company as a balm for his wounded feelings caused by a false arrest, claimed to have been been brought about by employes of the company at Hill City in Aitkin county. Lajinesse was arrested on Oct. 12, 1915, on a charge of obtaining goods and merchandise under false pretenses. The justice of the peace at Hill City, however, released him after he had been in custody for several hours.

Sermons on "Preparedness."

Bids will be opened on April 3 for the sprinkling with water of the various districts designated by the city commissioners last Monday. Contracts are awarded each spring for each district, excepting Superior street, which is done by day labor. Oil sprinkling is also done by day labor.

Notifies City of Injury.
George Older of 1120 West Fifth street this morning notified City Clerk Borgen of injuries he alleges he sustained in an accident on an icy sidewalk near Mesaba avenue and Third street last Tuesday. He claims he sustained a fracture of his right leg and that he is being attended by Drs. Klein and Hirschfeld.

NIGHT SCHOOL COURSE ENDS

No Graduation Exercises to Mark Close of the Term.

Four hundred and twenty-one students who have enrolled in night classes of public schools since Oct. 4 will complete their course tonight.

No "graduation" exercises will mark the close of the work, after the most successful year night schools ever have experienced in Duluth, according to George M. Paulus, principal of the Merritt school, who has been principal of the night schools.

"Some of them may devote the last hour of tonight's work to exercises of some kind," he said, "but most of the evening will be taken up with regular work.

"Many of the 285 persons enrolled in the language courses, designed particularly for newly-arrived foreigners unable to speak English, desire to continue with their work for another month or so," he said, "but the work will not be continued.

"Weather conditions have been a big factor in most cases, and the principal reason for their wanting to stay on is the fact that the spring season is somewhat backward, and that most of them will not start their spring and summer work for two or three weeks yet."

Wilbur H. Schilling, assistant superintendent of city schools, who has been in charge of the night work over Mr. Paulus, says the enrollment this year showed a 15 per cent increase over that of former years.

Plans for much larger classes for next year already are being formulated.

Central high school will "graduate" 291 pupils, the Monroe school at Twenty-sixth avenue west and First street, 63; the Irving Junior high at Fifty-sixth avenue west and Nicollet street, 24, and the Stowe school in New Duluth, 43.

LEWIS INTRODUCES RADICAL RESOLUTION

Washington, March 24.—Senator Lewis, Democrat, declared in a resolution introduced today that American authorities had knowledge of supplies and money being furnished to Villa from foreign countries and from the United States.

His resolution proposed to brand Americans who gave such aid as "guilty of actual treason."

Senator Lewis asked that the resolution lie over and gave notice that he would speak upon it at an early opportunity.

BIG GERMAN ARMY MAKING MUNITIONS

Over 1,200,000 Men Employed in the Various War Industries.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, March 5.—Germany now has 1,200,000 men making munitions, according to Senator Charles Humbert in an article in the Journal, in which he says: "Krupps employed 42,000 hands at Essen before the war. This figure now reaches 115,000, but Essen is only the principal factory. At other works the number of workers has risen from 6,000 to 15,000; from 14,000 to 30,000; from 6,000 to 30,000; from 9,000 to 27,000; while the Bochum and Gelsenkirchen works now employ 25,000 hands instead of 10,000 in time of peace.

"There also exist in Germany two other enterprises exclusively devoted to the making of artillery, namely Thyssens, which employ 80,000 men, and the Ehradt works, which employ 100,000 instead of 30,000 and 40,000 formerly.

"Thus over 420,000 men on the other side of the Rhine are turning out war material, without counting the innumerable necessary workshops employing more than double that number in the manufacture of rifles, cartridges, shells, explosives and asphyxiating gas—or a total of over 1,200,000 men employed in various war industries without including men who work in the factories for the production of raw material."

Actress Reported Executed as Spy

SARI PETRASS.

Word comes in private letters from abroad that Sari Petrass, one of the most beautiful of Hungarian actresses, has been executed as a spy in Budapest. The story is that Miss Petrass had been acting in London, where she was very popular and had many friends; that she returned to Budapest but kept up a correspondence with London; that her letters were intercepted and were found to contain military information of value to the British, and that thereupon she was tried and put to death.

CHANCE DISCOVERY MAY BE VALUABLE

Experimenters Fumigate Seed Grain to Destroy Insects and Accidentally Find Germinating Power Has Been Greatly Increased.

Can the germinating power of seed grain be increased by fumigation?

It can, if one may judge by results obtained incidentally in an attempt to remove insects from some old seed grain at the University farm. The increase is so considerable that if further experiments bear out those already made, farmers will not only be testing their seed grain before planting, as has become the custom, but they will be fumigating to increase the germinating power.

This discovery, of great economic value, if borne out by future investigations, came about quite accidentally. H. K. Hayes of the division of agronomy and farm management, had some old seed corn stored away, and found on investigation that it was infested with insects. He wished to make use of the grain, but wished to have the insects removed. He appealed to William Moore of the division of economic zoology, asking whether it would be possible to clear out the insects by fumigation without doing injury to the germinating power of the corn. Mr. Moore had with success destroyed insect parasites of animals by fumigation without injurying the animals, and his interest in this new problem was very great. Experiments were begun at once.

Corn of different varieties and different ages was fumigated and the fumigated corn was planted under conditions exactly similar to conditions which ruled in the planting of unfumigated corn from the same lot. Much to the surprise of Mr. Moore and Mr. Hayes, more kernels of the fumigated than of the unfumigated corn sprouted. Not only this, but it sprouted earlier and maintained its lead in growth.

In one case, old Minnesota No. 13 without fumigation showed germination of 57 per cent. Fumigated corn from the same lot showed germination of 77 per cent. Similar corn non fumigated showed 89 per cent germination in seven days, whereas, fumigated corn from the same lot showed 100 per cent germination in three days. Tests of this kind were made in an incubator, which has been made use of in germination tests of seed grain.

The corn was fumigated with vapors of nitrobenzene. The grain was placed in an air-tight box; a cloth was saturated with the fumigant and hung up in the box. The corn was kept in fumigation one week.

What the outcome of these experiments will be is difficult to say. It is impossible, as yet, to tell what after effects may result from the treatment —in other words, what fumigated seed grain will do when it is planted in open fields. If it grows as successfully there as under test conditions, it will have an added advantage, says Mr. Moore, in that being poisoned by the nitrobenzene, it will not be subject to attack by wire worms.

Mr. Moore says that nitrobenzene is not easily obtained from retail dealers, but may be had from large chemical companies, at about 65 cents a pound. It takes one-quarter of a pound to fumigate a bushel of corn. Fumigation should be in an iron box, if possible, and the box should be thoroughly air tight.

AS THE YEARS ROLL ON.

Atlantic Monthly: You remarked facuously the other day, "I'm just as young as I ever was."

Oh, no, you're not! If young people weren't too polite, they'd soon undeceive you. You have been so busy leading a successful life that you have forgotten to notice that your successful life has been led. Youth is flouting you every day. Youth is through with you. You appeal to it for recognition, and it laughs at you.

You still young? You? No, indeed! Look at real youth pursuing its fantastic preferences; at Reginald Warneford engaging a Zeppelin single-handed, in regions near the sun; at Otto von Weddigen leaving his bride to carry on a desperate warfare under seas.

Do you honestly sympathize with them?

LORD BYRON AN IDOL IN GREECE.

London Chronicle: There is at least one Englishman for whom Greek affection has never wavered—Lord Byron. Not only is he commemorated in Greece by statues and street names, but his portrait is to be found everywhere, even in the most unlikely places. W. Miller, in his "Greek Life in Town and Country," tells how he came upon a portrait of the poet in a provincial restaurant. The moment he took notice of it, "the proprietor, a stout, prosaic-looking man, whom no one would have suspected of sentiment, stepped towards the picture, clasped his hands in pathetic gesture, and, with a faraway look in his eyes, stood for a time in rapt admiration of the great Philhellene."

DUST STORMS CAUSE TROUBLE IN MEXICO

Movements of Aviators and Troops Are Interfered With.

Columbus, N. M., March 24.—A dispatch received from Gen. Pershing today asserted that dust storms which have been raging have made it impossible for aviators to do scouting duty. It is known also that the storms have interfered with troop movements. No mention was made of a battle in Pershing's report.

Uncertain at Tampico.
Washington, March 24.—First advices from Tampico, where the situation has been causing alarm, came today to the state department representing conditions uncertain. The garrison seems in control of the situation.

Some 2,000 Americans, the dispatch said, would pass through there if they left Mexico.

Early Capture Not Certain.
El Paso, March 24.—At Fort Bliss and in other well informed circles the report that Villa had been definitely located at El Oso was generally credited. It was pointed out, however, that this did not necessarily indicate the bandit's early capture as the character of the country would aid him in escaping if he wished to break up his command and avoid an actual engagement.

That thereafter said T. H. Hawkes died in said County, and the Probate Court of said County thereafter in the Matter of the Estate of T. H. Hawkes, duly assigned said mortgage to Florence Curtis Hawkes, by Final Decree, dated July 22nd, 1914, a certified copy of which final decree was thereafter, and on the first day of December, 1914, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County, in Book 360 of Deeds, on page 222.

Said default consists in the non-payment by said mortgagor of the principal sum secured by said mortgage, which became due on the first day of September, 1915, together with interest thereon from said date. By reason of said default, the Power of Sale in said mortgage has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the amount secured by said mortgage. There is claimed to be due, and is due, on said mortgage on the date hereof, the sum of Fifteen Hundred Forty-five and 50-100 Dollars ($1,545.50). The property described in said mortgage and thereby mortgaged, is situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and is described as follows:

Lot Fourteen (14), in Block Fifty-one (51), London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County.

Now, therefore, By virtue of the Power of Sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of said premises at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the Sheriff's office in the County Court House in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on Monday, the 17th day of April, 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and the sum of Seventy-five Dollars ($75.00) attorneys' fees, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 3rd, 1916.

The fourth day of Spring

Tuesday was the first day, so this must be the fourth day of spring, last night's snow storm to the contrary notwithstanding.

* * *

The last fierce struggles of Old Man Winter scare us no longer, for the rays of the sun are getting warmer every day.

* * *

At any rate spring is not only in the almanac, but in our hearts, and in the stores. Put spring duds on your physical body and watch the joyful effect on your spiritual self.

* * *

For an inspiration we refer you to the freshly trimmed Columbia windows in all their vernal beauty.

Handsome hats at $3. Head luxury at $4 and $5.

* * *

Fine furnishings of every sort—new shirts and ties—medium weight underwear—hose in new shades—collars in new shapes.

* * *

This year above all years, look for quality. You know the difficulties of merchandising, the scarcity of materials, the rarity of dyes. When prices rise, this quality store doesn't work off cheap stuff on its customers. We meet the situation face to face.

* * *

The pleasure will be yours if you permit us to introduce you to our 1916 suits and topcoats.

Our selection of new Columbo $14.50 suits is the best ever.

We are in complete readiness to fit out boys of all ages.

* * *

Sound shoes for marching in March.

PAUPER HAS BEGUN SUIT

Beltrami County Man, Ejected From Kelliher Saloon, Wants $20,000.

Lost Both Arms From Cold After Being Put Out of Place.

Bemidji, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty thousand dollars is asked by George Norberg, now a pauper at the Bemidji poor farm, for damages he alleges he received in January, 1915, at Kelliher, when he was thrown in an intoxicated condition, from the place operated by Oscar Thyren and Ole Pearson, and he froze both arms to such an extent that they were afterwards amputated near the elbows, making him a helpless cripple for life.

Transferred to Red Lake Falls.

The action which is brought by Charles W. Scrutchin, a local attorney will be tried at Red Lake Falls some time next week. P. J. Russell also of Bemidji, will appear for the defendants. The case was started in the district court here, but on the request of the defendants for a change of venue it was changed to the spring term of court at Red Lake Falls.

When the plaintiff alleges he received the liquor Kelliher was supposed to be dry under the provisions of the Indian treaty of 1855, and in his complaint the plaintiff alleges that liquor was sold to him without a license and after 11 o'clock at night.

COLORS FOR PAPER MAKING SCARCER

Ladysmith, Wis., Concern Is Feeling Effects of War's Demands.

Ladysmith, Wis., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Menasha Paper company whose main office and plant are located here report that color for paper and the textile trade are about extinct with the exception of a limited amount of blue, yellow and green and that the various chemicals necessary for the manufacture of paper are growing in scarcity, the same as the colors. Writing and similar grades of paper is so seriously effected, due to the scarcity of rags and bleaching powder that a large percentage of the writing paper mills are either shutting down or running on other grades of paper.

The bleaching powder is made in this country in large quantities but the allies are paying exhoribtant prices for it to use in trench warfare for making the chlorine gas, introduced in modern warfare.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.—Advertisement.

CLASS EXERCISES AT FARM SCHOOL

Annual Affair Being Held at Institution Near St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual class exercise of the school of agriculture of the University of Minnesota is being held today at the university farm near here. Dean Albert F. Woods will present diplomas on March 29. Rev. E. C. Hickman of Winona will preach the commencement sermon and the principal address will be delivered by Dr. L. D. Coffman, dean of the college of education.

Dean Woods announced that Saturday a reception in the engineering building will be given by he and Mrs. Woods for members of the graduating class, alumni and members of the faculty.

Many graduates of the agricultural department will attend the class reunions March 27, which will be followed by the annual alumni banquet.

STAPLES SCHOOL BURNS.

Staples, Minn., March 24.—The high school building of ten rooms burned at midnight entailing a loss of more than $40,000, covered by an insurance of $23,000. The fire started around the heating plant and was discovered in time to have saved the building had not one of the hydrants burst and shut off the water pressure. Quarters here have been provided for 400 pupils.

ADMITS FIRING HOME.

Confessed Polk County Firebug Gets Suspended Sentence.

Crookston, Minn., March 24.—M. C. Lane confessed in district court here to setting fire to his home in Carmen last fall and waived a hearing. Judge Watts sentenced him to an intermediate term in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. Upon a showing made by court officials, however, sentence was suspended and Lane was given a parole pending his good behavior.

At the time that the Lane home was destroyed by fire his children had a narrow escape from the burning building, all of the doors of the house being locked while it was given out by the neighbors that both father and mother were out of the city.

EXTENSIVE ROAD WORK IS PLANNED

Minnesota to Improve 3,000 Miles of Highway This Year.

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Figures prepared in the office of George W. Cooley, state engineer of the Minnesota Highway commission, show that Minnesota will improve more than 3,000 miles of road during the present year. One thousand miles of road will be graveled and more than 2,000 miles graded.

The aggregate cost will be $7,453,451, as shown by the figures which were obtained through the total in the state apportionment, the amount of the county road and bridge levies, and the sum spent last year by the townships.

Big State Appropriation.

The state apportionment totaled $1,500,000, made up of the state road levy and the motor vehicle taxes. County bridge and road taxes returned $2,753,451 and townships, $3,200,000.

Four million dollars of the total will be used under the supervision of the highway commission. In addition to the amount raised from taxation, Winona county is planning a bond issue of $500,000 for use on roads and bridges.

More than three-fourths of the counties in the state have sent figures to the high commission showing the amount of work they plan to do. In this way a total of 1,371 miles of grading and 461 miles of graveling will be done, the figures show.

MISTAKEN FOR SPY.

Former Devils Lake Merchant Has Experience in Calgary.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jacob Goldberg, former St. Paul and Devils Lake merchant narrowly escaped being thrown into a military prison at Calgary, Alta., charged with being an Austrian spy, according to information received here by former business associates, and only after some detective work had been done was the charge traced to a business enemy who stopped at nothing to ruin his competitor.

The trouble at Calgary started when officials received an anonymous letter stating that Golberg was furnishing the enemy with information to the detriment of the allies. Golberg was born in Austria, of Jewish parentage. The fact that he speaks Austrian, and was raised under that flag lent some color to the charge.

It is claimed that his personal standing had sufficient weight to cause a thorough investigation. The authorship of the note was traced through peculiarities in the working of a typewriter.

ST. PAUL MAN IS HELD IN TODD COUNTY

Long Prairie, Minn., March 24.—Fred Wells of St. Paul, representing the Johnson Marshall Land company of that city, was given a preliminary hearing here Thursday on a charge of having defrauded Jordan Kolstead, a farmer near Eagle Bridge, out of $200. Kolstead alleges that Wells, representing the land company, sold him a forty-acre farm last fall and accepted a payment of $200. When he moved on the farm he was ousted as a trespasser by the company. Kolstead charges Wells with appropriating the $200 payment to his own uses. Wells pleaded not guilty and was released on $500 bond.

VOTED FOR LINCOLN, YET NOT CITIZEN

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24.—Dr. Oscar W. Carlson, Civil war veteran, who cast his first vote for President Abraham Lincoln on the battlefield of Mobile, Ala., in 1865, made application for citizenship papers in the court house Wednesday. Dr. Carlson was always of the opinion that he was a fullfledged American citizen. Lately, however, he was informed that Civil war veterans, in spite of their oaths of allegience to this country at the time of entering the army, were not citizens unless they since took out full naturalization papers.

THREE LAND SALES NET LARGE AMOUNT

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the first three land sales of the present year, conducted by the state treasurer's office, approximately 10,000 acres of state land was disposed of and added $91,743 to the permanent trust funds of the state, according to an announcement today. The sale price of 3,595 acres at the International Falls sale was $26,753. At Duluth, 5,899 acres were sold for $62,970 and the 440 acres sold at Aitkin brought $3,040. Next Monday a sale will be conducted at Roseau.

IN MANY PRISONS, INCLUDING MINNESOTA

Kenosha, Wis., March 24.—Tony Sampson, 35 years of age, and an Italian, presented an unusual record to the court here when arraigned on a plea of guilty to burglary. He admitted that he had been in this country just sixteen years and in that time had received two indeterminate sentences to Illinois institutions for terms of from one to fourteen years and one in Minnesota, for a term of from one to five years. He spent fourteen of the sixteen years he has been in the country in prison.

BORDER CITY MAN IS SENT TO REFORMATORY

Aitkin, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Johannes Taerud of International Falls, who was brought here to plead before Judge McClenahan in district court to a charge of embezzling funds of the Papermakers' union, of which he was an officer, pleaded guilty yesterday and was given an indeterminate term in St. Cloud reformatory. Taerud said he took the funds to buy a lot and build a home in the Border city shortly after his marriage three years ago. The accused has many friends in International Falls and because of certain extenuating circumstances it is expected an effort will soon be made to secure the young man's release from the reformatory.

AITKIN COUNTY ASSOCIATION ELECTS

Aitkin, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aitkin County Sunday School association elected the following officers for a year: President, Rev. U. S. Villars, Aitkin; vice president, Mrs. A. L. Sawyer, Aitkin; secretary, Mrs. M. R. Fuller, Bennettville; treasurer, J. M. Tucker, Aitkin; elementary superintendent, Mrs. S. J. Waren, Aitkin; advanced superintendent, Mrs. E. Woodrow, Aitkin; adult superintendent, Mrs. D. Cue, Aitkin; teachers' training superintendent, Mrs. C. E. Heffernan, McGregor; home department and home visiting, William Adams, Rat Lake; temperance, Roscoe Johnson, Lansford. The next convention will be held at Hill City.

AITKIN TO ENTERTAIN I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE

Aitkin, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are under way for entertaining the grand lodge of Odd Fellows here Monday when 300 visitors are expected. A banquet will be served for the visitors and members in the lodge diningroom at 6 o'clock, after which the work of the order will be taken up.

Death Not Illegal.

Rochester, Minn., March 24.—Lee Glasby, well known in this county, died suddenly in a shack in the Genoa woods, near here. Foul play was feared, but a coroner's jury returned a verdict of heart failure.

Board Ignores Petition.

Sauk Rapids, Minn., March 24.—By a unanimous vote, despite a petition signed by nearly 200 residents, the school board of Sauk Rapids declined to re-elect Supt. J. O. Cedarstrom. The board expressed itself as of the opinion that a man could be secured at a lower salary than $2,000, the amount paid the present superintendent.

OBJECT TO SOCIALISM.

Members of North Dakota Progressive League Reported Deserting.

Fargo, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are rapidly being formed for the state convention of the Non-partisan league, to be held here on March 31 and April 1, the local leaders of the movement being of the opinion that there will be several thousand present from all parts of the state, although reports are coming from various parts of the state that there have been many desertions. It is said that the farmers of the state have learned that the league is headed by Socialists and, while many of the principles of the league are also the principles of these farmers, they do not wish to tie up with a Socialistic organization and will put their efforts behind the Equity movement entirely.

"PAPA" IS TOO LATE; COUPLE ARE WEDDED

Long Prairie, Minn., March 24.—Paul Bodanski, a farmhand, long has wished to marry Miss Luella Haefner, daughter of a neighboring farmer, William Haefner, but the latter refused to sanction the match. The girl became 18 Wednesday and she and Bodinski eloped to this city. The father, discovering her absence, hastened on their trail to the courthouse, but arrived just as F. L. Lewis, judge of probate, finished the marriage ceremony. In the scene which followed parental forgiveness was not extended to the young bride.

Pick Frazee Class Play.

Frazee, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The seniors of the high school have decided to present "Charley's Aunt" as their class play, the latter part of May. Work will begin on the play next week.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—W. L. Van Horn resigned as commander of the local Sons of Veterans and Frank W. Johnson, junior vice commander, was elected to succeed him. O. C. Aylife was elected junior vice commander.

Dickinson, N. D.—Arrangements have been completed for the occupancy of the Cuskelly store, next to the old St. Paul hotel, by the Salvation Army. There will be members of the corps from Minneapolis this week to plan their campaign and by April 1 this will be in full blast.

Devils Lake, N. D.—For the first time in the history of Ramsey county a bank which has passed the million-dollar mark in the volume of business it has done, is operating. The First National bank of this city shows in its statement under date of March 7 that its volume of business is $1,004,676.50 and that its deposits are $828,312.26.

Fargo, N. D.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Fargo Commercial club, to be held at noon on Saturday, plans will be outlined for a big membership campaign and for the increasing of the scope of work of the organization.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The annual meeting of the Northwood Deaconess Hospital and Home association was held in the United Norwegian Lutheran church at Northwood. The financial report showed the hospital to be without a debt and the amount of $8,556 owed by the old people's home. Dr. O. T. Peterson donated the sum of $1,000 to the hospital. These officers were elected: President, Rev. J. D. Runsvold; vice president, T. E. Tufte; secretary, Rev. S. H. Njaa; treasurer, P. S. Evanson.

Minot, N. D.—The contract for the new St. Joseph's hospital, which is to be erected in this city, was let to C. Bartleson of this city for a little less than $100,000.

Bismarck, N. D.—State Auditor Jorgenson and the tax commission have received the last abstract of 1915 taxes from the county auditors. The total assessed valuation for 1915, after deducting the $50 exemption allowed by law, was $374,799,864. The total amount of taxes levied for all purposes in the state amounted to $15,-860,131.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Express shipments to Grand Forks have increased from 25 to 30 per cent since the beginning of the year, according to local express officials of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific companies.

Minot, N. D.—George H. Bugenhagen has located in Minot for the practice of his profession as an architect. He came to this city directly from California, where for a year he prepared plans for some of the best structures being erected in that state.

Grand Forks, N. D.—New methods are being sought by the Minnesota Health association to handle the school and rural nurse problem throughout the state and as a result a request was made by Dr. J. J. Murphy, acting executive secretary for that organization, for information concerning the plans being carried out in Grand Forks county.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—Rev. Father Mier, who has been chaplain at St. Francis hospital, Escanaba, for the last two years and a half, has been appointed to succeed Father G. O. La Forest at Iron Mountain, by Rt. Rev. Frederick Eis of this city.

Escanaba—Louis C. Schrader, manager of Grinnell Bros., at Escanaba, has resigned his position, to take effect April 1.

Ishpeming—William Andrews has announced that he will not be a candidate for the position of mayor on the People's party ticket, as was announced when the ticket was formed. He has notified the election commissioner that he would not seek the election, and that he wished his name taken from the ballot.

Calumet—The officers of Calumet Lodge No. 271, F. and A. M., are arranging for a past masters' night, at which the past worshipful masters of the lodge will occupy the chairs. It has been decided to hold the work on the evening of April 20.

Hancock—Henry J. Key, who has been employed by the United States government at Ashland, Wis., for several years past, is visiting at the home of his parents, Alderman and Mrs. Henry Key, on Water street, for a few days before departing for Topeka, Kan., to which city he was recently transferred.

Calumet—Mrs. Anna Kestle, mother of Harry Kestle of Allouez; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chegwidden and daughter Violet, and William Kestle have arrived in Calumet from Sydney, Australia, and will make their future home at Allouez.

Hancock—The lack of home support and encouragement for the Suomi college of Hancock threatens Hancock's retention of this institution, according to Isaac Wargelin, who ventured this suggestion when questioned as to the possibility of building an addition to the institution.

Houghton—J. A. Ferguson of Houghton has two minor sons who went to Canada some time ago and who have enlisted with a Canadian regiment. They have written to their father that they expect to be sent to the front soon. He wants them released, and has interviewed Attorney Joseph F. Hambitzer, who will communicate with the authorities on the matter.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Appleton—While Conrad Holzer, 45, was handling a 22-caliber rifle in his room Thursday, a discharge, believed to have been accidental, sent a bullet through his heart killing him instantly.

Madison—Formaldehyde is worthless as a fumigant for killing insects, warns J. G. Sanders, state entomologist of the department of agriculture.

Marinette—In the primaries held here Jacob Wittig and C. A. Lind were nominated for mayor. George Cleary was renominated for city treasurer by a large plurality. The votes for mayor was as follows: Wittig, 784; Lind, 700; Pedersen, 523.

Madison—The state carried in the state insurance fund insurance of $181,-000 on the main building and contents of the Oshkosh state normal school which burned on Wednesday. Of this insurance $150,000 is on the building and $56,000 on the contents.

Oshkosh—William Mensing, 54 years old, for twenty-seven years teacher in the Eighth street Lutheran parochial school, died of cancer.

Appleton—Orders from the adjutant general's office announce that the rifle practice season will open April 1.

Wausau—Posts to institutes are to be held in this county as follows: Thursday, April 6, Hartley; April 7, Ringle; April 8, Kelley and Mosinee; April 10, Knowlton; April 11, Dancey.

Madison—Commissioner of Banking Kuoit approved the articles of incorporation of the Peoples State Bank of Prairie du Sac. The incorporators and J. P. Ragatz, Mrs. Fred Albertus, J. L. P. Accola, John M. Schmidt, E. D. Gruber.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Thief River Falls—Miss Emma Josephine Jacobsen of this city, sister of Mrs. O. B. Maslift, was married Sunday afternoon to Louis J. Clausen, one of the firemen on the 900 railroad out of this city, at her sister's home. Rev. I. T. Aastad united the couple.

Fergus Falls—Max Kroneman, G. W. Frankberg and F. E. Rollins, who is in charge of Mr. Frankberg's farm, have returned from a trip to Wisconsin and Southern Minnesota, where they purchased sixteen head of full blooded registered Holstein cattle.

Cambridge—John E. Klenitz assistant state immigration commissioner and publisher of the Cambridge Independent-Press, is ill at his home here. For several days the disease was supposed to be the grip, but proved to be a fully developed case of smallpox.

Isanti—W. D. Oleson's term as postmaster expired on Sunday, but no announcement has been made in regard to the appointment of a successor.

Brainerd—William Rardin, charged with perjury in giving testimony in the second trial of Arthur Boppel, was arraigned Wednesday and pleaded not guilty. The hearing was set for March 29 at 10 a. m.

Little Falls—An offer of $600 for three Red Poll cows was received by J. L. Metcalf of this city from F. W. Foote, secretary of the Minnesota Red Poll Cattle Breeders' association, with headquarters at Red Wing. The offer was refused by Mr. Metcalf, who placed a higher value upon the animals.

Winona—John Sampson of Radcliffe, Iowa, bought the farm of Charles H. Peabody, half a mile north of Utica, Minn., consisting of 320 acres, for $48,000. The transaction probably involved the largest single tract of land ever sold in Winona county at a straight price of $150 per acre.

Ada—Frederick Spencer, who was arrested on a charge of check forging and theft and given a hearing before Judge Watts at Crookston, was released, the judge deeming the evidence insufficient to justify giving the young man a term in the reform school at St. Cloud.

St. Cloud—The late Dr. W. A. Shoemaker, president of the local normal, had $6,000 in fraternal insurance, and the value of his estate will be between $20,000 and $25,000, it is estimated.

Crookston—At the annual meeting of the Crookston Building & Loan association S. Rosenthal, S. Sivertson and A. Holmboe were elected directors. The loan association is in excellent financial condition.

Hinckley—Work has been commenced on Page brothers' new garage. The building is 24 by 60 feet, brick veneered, and will contain a storage room, workshop and office.

Minneapolis—E. E. Terrell is elected Hennepin county surveyor to fill out the unexpired term of Frank Haycock, who died recently. He will serve nearly three years.

Mankato—A. J. Panther, living south of the city, shot a large American eagle, measuring ninety inches from tip to tip.

Wheaton—Contracts were let for the construction of fifteen county ditches in Traverse county Wednesday. The total cost of these ditches will amount to $150,000. More than forty county ditches have been established in this county during the past year.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See If Tongue Is Coated, Breath Hot or Stomach Sour.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

JESS WILLARD TIRING OF THE FIGHTING GAME

Reports State That Heavyweight Champion Dislikes to Train and That His Heart Is Not in the Game; Fred Beell Believes He Will Give Stecher Great Battle; White Sox to Train Right Here at Home.

BY BRUCE.

IF JESS WILLARD gives Frank Moran a good licking the chances are 99 per cent pure that the present champion of the world will not be seen in ring action for another year. The circus, my boy, the circus. By the time Willard gets ready to fight again, as one follower of the ring has figured it out, he will weigh more than 300 pounds. Then, if we develop any real fighter in the interim, there is a chance that the crown will be hoisted from its present eminence.

That's going along as if it was dead certain that Jess is going to larrup Francis Moran. Not a bit of it—merely saying, if Jess wins. From what we heard of Jess, and judging solely from his ring record, he's not so much. It was merely figuring out what might transpire along in the future should Willard prove the winner.

Jess has a fat contract with the Sells-Floto circus. That was one of the best things Jones and Curley ever did. It is being said that Willard never would have consented to fight Moran, had it not been for the wording of the circus contract. It calls for a winning fight before Willard starts his act under the big top.

It is said that Willard is thoroughly sick of the fight game. Like Jeffries, the big plainsman never did care for the ring over much. It was a case of fight or starve in Jess's younger days. They say the champion would like to quit fighting. But then they say lots of things, you know.

But, be that as it may, the story is that it required considerable pressure to persuade Jess to take up the training grind. Some followers of the fight game do not believe Jess is in great shape right now. The fight will prove whether this belief is well founded. Another year may find Willard huge and more than ever disinclined to train. The passing years don't make it any easier. Then is the time, if any good heavyweights come up, that the largest man who has ever held the title may prove rather easy picking.

Sox to Train Here.

Weather permitting, the White Sox candidates will assemble here around the middle of the coming month. If the weather is too cold for training, it has been decided to transport the ball players to a more southern clime. During the course of a training season many ball players are told to seek a warmer clime; but, barring vagaries of the weather, Magnate Blume has announced that his ball tossers will train right here in Duluth. Another talking point.

Beell Is Confident.

Writing to Promoter Frank La Joy, Fred Beell, training away down on the Marshfield farm, declares he is confident of giving Stecher a real contest. "I have heard a lot regarding the scissors hold," said Beell. "Well, the first time Gotch met me he never could figure out how to put the toe hold on me. What's more, Frank couldn't keep away from the headlock. I beat Gotch, and while I'm not saying that I am going to beat Stecher, who must be awfully good, I have beaten a lot of big fellows that could not be beaten by other big fellows. Size never has made much difference to me."

A year ago a huge Russian wrestler was imported to the United States to defeat Frank Gotch. He weighed 320 pounds. Fred Beell defeated this fellow in straight falls in Kansas City. It was the greatest upset of the year. What will Beell accomplish against Stecher?

Will Carpentier Be Good.

At the beginning of the most terrible war in the history of the ages, Georges Carpentier was generally recognized as one of the greatest fighters in the history of the ring. He was in his very prime; unusually young for a man who has won such high ring renown. At the end of the war, what will Carpentier be as a fighting man, if he lives?

Carpentier is still a young man, even for an athlete, but will the strain of war, a nerve-destroying business, impair the fistic abilities of this really remarkable fellow? That's at least an interesting question.

Men are already returning from the war, nervous wrecks, but mere shadows of what went forth to the call of battle. Two years can work tremendous changes in the life of a man. Maybe Georges Carpentier will emerge from the conflict but a grim travesty of a great fighting man.

The Case of Kauff.

Bennie Kauff was up to bat eight times the other day in the Giant training camp. The great "I am" fanned six times, got one hit and flied out. That's going some for the player who for the past six months has been stating that he was going to show up Ty Cobb. Maybe Kauff is a late starter. He has done nothing as yet to indicate that he is the greatest ball player in the world.

HEINIE BERGER IS SENT BACK

Winnipeg Catcher Fails to Make Good With St. Paul Recruits.

Heinie Berger, Winnipeg catcher, who has been taking a tryout with the St. Paul American association team, has been turned back to the Moll aggregation, according to word received from Fort Smith, Ark., where the Saints are training.

Berger was considered one of the best catchers in the Northern last season. Not only was he a good receiver, but one of the best hitters in the circuit as well.

If Berger consents to play with Winnipeg during the present season, he will be a tower of strength.

Darby O'Brien is busy lining his athletes up and will have them all in readiness to report here during the coming month. Magnate Blume believes that the weather will permit of training here.

How it feels

Run your hand over the brim of a Gordon hat—over the crown. Do you notice the evenness and silkiness of the texture. Pinch the crown lightly—do you get that mellow feel?

If you're a hat judge you'll appreciate the quality proof—you will even if you're not. A hat that feels good to the judge of hats feels good to everybody.

RACE TRACKS IN DANGER.

Anti-Gambling Bill Before Maryland Legislature for Action.

Annapolis, Md., March 24.—The Hall anti-gambling bill, which, if passed by both houses of the legislature will close every mile race track in Maryland, was passed to its third reading in the house of delegates. This practically assures its final passage in that branch.

An amendment, which was the Frick senate bill, creating a state racing commission and imposing a license tax, was voted down. Amendments to the Hall bill have been adopted, however, permitting county fair half-mile tracks to run for short seasons.

Evans and Sawyer Tie.

French Lick, Ind., March 24.—Charles Evans and Ned Sawyer of Chicago tied for low scores in the qualifying round of the tournament of the French Lick Golf club yesterday, with cards of 77 each, and will play off for the Cockrell cup. Other scores: I. C. James, Milwaukee, 99; T. M. McLaren, Milwaukee, 100; F. W. Plant, Minneapolis, 101.

Will Manage Mudhens.

Toledo, Ohio, March 24.—Lloyd Rickert, secretary of the St. Louis Americans for eleven years and president of the St. Louis Federals for two years, has accepted the business managership of the Toledo American association team, according to word received today from the training camp at Dawson Springs, Ky. Ed Sweeney, a catcher with the New York Americans for a number of years, has been signed by Manager Bresnahan.

Whisky Toter Held.

Little Falls, Minn., March 24.—William Niemi of Brainerd was brought here Wednesday by Indian Agent A. J. Carson and held to the Federal court by United States Commissioner D. M. Cameron on a charge of taking whisky from Superior, Wis., to Brainerd. He was released under $200 bond. The offense is alleged to have been committed March 20.

MRS. GOURLAY DUNN-WEBB.

Boston has the only woman golf "pro." She is Mrs. Gourlay Dunn-Webb of England, who has come here on account of war conditions. All her male ancestors for many generations were golf players, and her father and mother are both famous teachers.

BACKERS OF BOTH HOPEFUL

Moran's Trainer Declares Frank in Best Condition of Career.

Elaborate Plans for Crowd's Protection During Saturday's Big Fight.

New York, March 24.—Jess Willard made up his mind to work hard yesterday, although he was to have done only light work in front of a motion picture camera. He postponed his engagement with the "movie" men, and put in a busy afternoon with his trainers. He went much faster than when he took his so-called workout Wednesday. He put in a full session with the pulleys, and repeated his shadow boxing. Then he took on Hemple, Rodel and Walter Monahan for two rounds each. The champion appeared in excellent condition.

Trainer Willie Lewis allowed Moran to go along in a leisurely way. In the morning, Moran took a short walk. He has not developed a "grouch" as pugilists frequently do when on edge, but he did not seem to be much interested when he went through some light work before "movie" cameras. Moran's training partners are well pleased with the challenger's condition. Willie Lewis said:

"I never saw Frank look so well or in such splendid condition before any of his previous battles. He is stronger, more vigorous and vastly more confident than when he trained for his last two bouts with Coffey and his hands are in fine shape, which was not the case when he met Coffey last January."

Ticket Applicants Disappointed.

In less than an hour after the gallery tickets were put on sale at the Madison Square Garden yesterday, all were disposed of and hundreds of would-be purchasers were turned away. There were many disappointed men in line who could not reach the window before the sale was over, and some of them complained that the speculators had been favored. The Shows Corporation, which is conducting the bout, announced that any intimation of favoritism in the sale of tickets was absurd. The management had made every effort, it was said, by refusing to sell more than two to any one person.

Some doubt exists in the camps of both Willard and Moran regarding the rules under which the bout will be fought. There has been considerable talk about hitting in the clinches, and the break-away. A study of the contracts which the principals signed with Promoter Rickard shows clearly, however, that the bout is to be conducted under the rules and regulations of the New York state athletic commission. This code differs widely from the Marquis of Queensberry rules. The Queensberry rules do not restrain a boxer from punching an opponent at any time during a clinch, and it is understood that the principals must protect at all times, both in the clinches and in the breakaways.

No Hitting in Breaks.

The rules of the New York state athletic commission, on the other hand, provide distinctly that there shall be no hitting in the breaks. The regulations covering these points are as follows:

"The kidney punch or blow shall be forbidden in all contests. The back hand blow or punch is also forbidden. The contestants shall break clear, and shall not strike a blow while breaking from clinches. Contestants must not hold and hit. Butting with head or shoulders, wrestling or clinching, or illegal use of elbows shall not be allowed. There shall be no unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of the contestants. This shall include the use of abusive or insulting language."

The commission has announced that these rules must be observed strictly and that the referee, Charley White, will be instructed to see that they are obeyed. White has as yet not conferred with either of the principals and is not likely to see them until he enters the ring to officiate. There is considerable difference of opinion as to which of the two heavyweights will be more handicapped by the observance of these rules. Each can hit hard and quickly if given an opening, either in a clinch or on the breakaway.

Edict as to Prelims.

Another edict that has caused a flurry in the camp of the promoters is the one promulgated by the commission to the effect that there must be at least three four-round, one six round and one ten-round preliminary bouts put on before the principal boxers enter the ring. It was stated that if this order was complied with, it is likely that the first of the preliminaries will be put on as early as 6:30 p. m. This will clear the way for the semi-final between Battling Levinsky and Jim Savage at 8:30 and Willard and Moran will enter the ring one hour later, in accordance with the original schedule.

Under this plan there will be almost continuous boxing from early in the evening until the finish of the main bout. Many of the spectators are expected to reach their seats early, for the idea is prevalent that there will be such a great crowd around Madison Square Garden that it will be difficult for ticket holders to reach the entrance. Elaborate arrangements are being made by the police and fire departments to handle the crowds.

Protection of Spectators.

Outside the Garden there will be 200 uniformed patrolmen, under an inspector, directing street and sidewalk traffic from Broadway, the subway, surface lines and other arteries of travel. Inside the Garden will be stationed fifty detectives. This is the largest number of men assigned to handle a fight in this city since the days of the old Horton boxing law, when it was not unusual for 500 uniformed patrolmen to crowd into the Garden to witness bouts. Under the present statutes, policemen in uniform are not permitted inside unless called upon for aid by the management.

The fire department announced it will have on hand seventeen men in uniform who will be prepared to back up the management in a plan to keep the spectators from smoking.

The department expects 12,000 persons in the Garden and will limit the number of persons standing to about 1,000, all on the main floors. Aisles, entrances and exits will be watched, it is stated, and at the first sign of congestion the doors will be closed and will not be reopened until the confusion is over. Before the main battle begins the door will be closed, and will remain shut until the bout ends.

College Rifle Teams Tied.

Cambridge, Mass., March 24.—The rifle teams of Harvard and Princeton universities last night tied each other at 987 points in a dual match decided by comparative scores. H. R. Guild of Harvard and J. Murdock of Princeton, shared high gun honors with scores of 199 out of a possible 200.

DETROIT BOWLER'S BRILLIANT PLAY

Froeming Makes Fine Showing at Toledo Bowling Congress.

Toledo, Ohio, March 24.—A brilliant 703 total by William Froeming of Detroit in the two-man event was the feature of yesterday's bowling in the minor events of the American Bowling congress tournament. Froeming has paired with Ed Kaisch and the men piled up 1,250 for seventh place for the best showing of the day. Leon Allen, a brother of Ray and Harold, who won the doubles a year ago, cleaned up 623 for the top mark in the individuals for the day.

Froeming's ability to string strikes won his combination their high place in the doubles, a row of five strikes showing up in the first game on top of an error, his only one, while he got two rows of four strikes in the middle game and a double and turkey in the final contest.

Kaisch had four errors and landed 547 for his full route.

Ben Stell, a former Chicagoan, but now from Detroit, showed 1,197 in the doubles, where he was paired with Ed Moore. Stell showed three mistakes and his partner two. Two counts over the 600 mark were made during the day with Leo Allen the best with 623 in which two errors and two splits marred his sheet. Two changes were made in the all events, H. Graf of Chicago showing 1,826 and Froeming of Detroit getting 1,823 for tenth and eleventh places.

FIGHTERS FEELING APPROACH OF BOUT

Willard Good-Natured and Moran Confident and Eager.

New York, March 24.—The rapid approach of the time when Willard and Moran must enter the ring and risk their prestige as champion and challenger has affected the principals in sharply contrasted ways. Willard's easy going good-natured attitude and manners have not changed.

Moran, on the other hand, is keyed to the point where he is brimming over with fighting spirit and confidence. He shows the tension under which he labors when he is asked over and over again by thoughtless admirers:

"How do you feel?" and "What do you think will be the result?"

He replies:

"I'll win."

CATHEDRALS TO PLAY.

Catholic High School Quint Will Meet Superior Basket Ball Team.

The Cathedral basket ball team of Duluth is scheduled to meet the Superior high school quint in the latter's gymnasium tonight. As both teams are strong, the game is expected to prove very fast. The Catholic team is in the very best of condition. Cole and Tierney are expected to play a great game for the Duluth team, while Capt. Bradley of the Superior team is looked to for some great basket shooting.

DULUTH BOAT CLUB WILL BE REMODELED FOR REGATTA

Big Sum of Money Will Be Expended in Preparing for Biggest Aquatic Meet in Years—Crack Eastern Crews Coming—Julius Barnes to Donate Cups—Duluth Employers Will Be Asked to Co-operate.

BY BRUCE.

Work on the 160-foot addition to the grand stand of the Duluth Boat club will begin almost immediately. Architect Anthony Puck has the plans of the new grand stand, shell house, dining room and dormitory now on his tables. It is expected that the completed drawings will be submitted to the officials of the boat club within the next few days. When the plans are passed upon and all details of construction agreed upon, the work of building will begin. It is estimated that more than $6,000 will be expended in making the improvements.

The present shell house will be converted into a dining room, locker room, lounging room and sleeping room. When the work of remodeling is completed the Duluth Boat club will boast of the finest combination quarters in the United States. There will be showers, a lounging room and reading room for the oarsmen, lockers, a fine dining room and a fine dormitory.

Architect Puck's plans call for the extension of the present grand stand over the tennis court to the band stand. While the new grand stand will only be 160 feet in length, it will be higher than the old one and will seat as many as the old stand, which is some 400 feet in length.

In the rear of the new grand stand and partly under it, will be the new shell house, which will be the finest shell house in the United States. Practically all of the old tennis court will be taken up, several handball courts being planned.

A Great Show Is Planned.

Now that Duluth has gone out and secured the national, it may be well to dwell, even briefly, on the magnitude of the plans that are being formulated for the big August aquatic show.

Jimmy Ten Eyck returned yesterday chuck full of enthusiasm over the future regatta. James has enough details and plans in his mind to keep every detail of the boat club working between the first day of May and the final day of the regatta.

First of all it is planned to have two civic holidays declared. All Duluth is wanted to figure in the big show. Every railroad in this part of the country will be asked to advertise the big event for miles around. It is figured that at least 10,000 visitors will be attracted by the first national regatta that has been held in the Northwest.

Jimmy Ten Eyck today stated that every boat club in the East would unite this year to make the 1916 national one of the greatest regattas in the history of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

"Rowing officials of the East declare there is a great revival of interest in the game," said Jim. "Also, they feel disgraced by the setbacks the Eastern crews have been receiving at the hands of the Duluth Boat club. One rowing official proposed that all the rowing clubs of Philadelphia unite and get one or two great crews, so that they could come out here and defeat Duluth. Up jumped another rowing man, he was from Washington, D. C., and he declared that the Philadelphia man must have cold feet. 'I am going to get a crew together right in Washington that will beat the best they have up in Duluth.' "That's the spirit that is animating the rowing officials back East. They realize it is time they bestirred themselves and stopped the triumphant march of our boys. We can look for some great competition this year."

The Julius Barnes Cup.

At the rally meeting of oarsmen, held in the Commercial club rooms, Jimmy Ten Eyck announced that Julius H. Barnes had proposed to offer several cups to be competed for during the two days' racing at the national. Mr. Barnes has completed all his plans for having the trophies manufactured. One will probably be known as the Barnes cup and will be on the order of the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy. In addition to the big cup, which will cost a large sum of money, there will be other trophies donated by Mr. Barnes—trophies donated for every event on the national program for which there has been no trophy in the past.

There will be a gathering of boat club officials today or tomorrow, when plans will be made for a strenuous campaign for rowing material. Every employer in the city will be asked to co-operate with the boat club in the effort to secure promising rowing candidates. The national, it is pointed out, is a city affair, not being confined merely to the boat club, and the city of Duluth will be asked to enthusiastically lend every assistance in the making of the affair a huge and unqualified success.

HEALING OF SICKNESS

Essential Part of Jesus' Work and Permanent Dispensation.

Willis F. Gross Tells of Science of Christian Healing.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Ninth avenue east and First street, was filled to the doors last evening by an audience assembled to listen to a lecture on Christian Science by Willis F. Gross, C. S. B. member of the board of lectureship of the mother church at Boston. Mr. Gross will deliver another lecture at the same place this evening. He was introduced last night by Robert Rankin and spoke, in part, as follows:

"Jesus made no distinction between the healing of sickness and the destruction of sin. If the one who came to teach mortals the way to harmony rejected the prevailing belief regarding disease, would it not be well for all men to accept his interpretation of divine law, especially when by so doing it becomes possible to experience the good results of the best healing system the world has ever known?

"Healing the sick was an essential part of Jesus' work, and it was to these demonstrations of divine power that He called attention when He was questioned concerning His teachings, or inquiry was made as to whether His coming into the world was in fulfillment of prophecy. Notwithstanding the fact that the account of the Master's healing works is the major portion of the biblical record of His life, and in all ages Christians have pinned their faith to the veracity of this record, there are many who believe it is not possible to heal the sick today as was the practice during the early centuries of the Christian era.

Not Bestowed on Few Only.

"It is a theory, quite generally adhered to, that the early Christians were able to heal the sick through the exercise of a miraculous power. It is believed by many that this power was bestowed upon a few, chosen for the specific purpose of proving to the world that the long-looked-for Messiah had come, and since that fact was established beyond question, such healing works are no longer necessary. With all due respect to the honest convictions of others, it can be seriously questioned whether there is to be found in the Scriptures, from Genesis to Revelation, one single statement that would seem to justify such a conclusion. On the other hand, there are numerous definite declarations which are susceptible of no other interpretation than that the method of healing practised by Jesus and his followers was intended to remain as a permanent dispensation.

"It is not known that Paul had ever seen Jesus, much less had he had the advantage of the Master's personal instruction. Paul's conversion was more than a decade after Jesus had completed his earthly mission, so it cannot be said that the power to heal was due to any association with the personal Jesus. He was none the less successful in preaching and healing than were the twelve or the seventy. A life-long cripple was healed at Lystra; Eutycus was restored to life, having been killed in an accident; the father of Publius, who ministered to the needs of Paul and the others survivors of a shipwreck, was healed of a fever and other serious ailments. Many others on the island were healed of various diseases and afflictions, and Paul suffered no ill effects from the poisonous sting of a viper.

Healing by Christian Science.

"The one thing which differentiates Christian Science from other religious teachings and appeals most strongly to those struggling with doubt and fear, is that it demonstrates the present possibility of healing disease in the same manner as it was healed by Jesus and his disciples. The healing of disease and the alleviation of bodily suffering is a very desirable and important undertaking, but is by no means the whole of Christian Science. It is but the beginning of the great work which the understanding of Truth is able to accomplish for humanity.

"Some fifty years ago, Mary Baker Eddy discovered that the healing works accomplished by the disciples of Jesus, were divinely natural experiences and in no sense involved the setting aside of law and order, as was generally supposed. Throughout all ages the sick have been restored to health through faith in God and the fulfillment of His promises, but it remained for Mrs. Eddy to discover the Science of Christian healing and to formulate the rules which make possible a practical application of this most effectual method of healing.

"That present and future generations might profit by her experience and reap the benefits of her discovery, Mrs. Eddy wrote a textbook, entitled 'Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures.' In this book the author has set forth the teachings of this Science in such a clear, forcible manner that many thousands have gained sufficient spiritual understanding to lift themselves and others out of the bondage of sin and suffering.

God and Man.

"The power of good in Christian Science is due to its spiritual recognition of God and man. Every religious teaching is based upon some belief concerning the Supreme Being. A man's religious views must of necessity be in accord with his conception of the infinite. What a man does, rather than what he says, is in harmony with his thought of God and shows whether he believes God is directly concerned with the experiences and affairs of everyday life, and to what extent it is a man's duty, or privilege, to rely on Him for the help that is needed to work out harmony in what are termed his material associations and environments.

"Sin, sickness and death have resulted from the belief that man has existence apart from God. Every discordant condition known to human experience, is the outgrowth of this fundamental error. The effectual remedy for these evils is the teaching which goes to the root of the matter and destroys the false belief which makes them possible. Theories, based on the belief that man is material, have been tested for centuries and found wanting. In this age it is possible to work from a higher basis, namely, that man is spiritual and immortal now. The wonderful works already accomplished in the healing of sickness and the overcoming of sin, is most convincing evidence that this teaching is correct."

HEALTH TALKS

How to Let An Ulcer Alone

One of the best, if not the best of all methods for the treatment of bad burns, ulcers, and open wounds is letting them severely alone. But this is one of the most difficult things to do. It requires ingenuity and technical ability of a high order to let anything absolutely alone.

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

Supposing the burn or ulcer or wound is upon the calf. If the patient is confined to bed or a chair it is a simple matter to arrange a screen which will keep off flies and prevent clothing from touching the lesion. But if the patient wishes to be about, some means must be devised to allow the air to reach the lesion and still avoid all contact. It is assumed that the lesion is fairly clean, that the raw surface is normally red or pink, velvety in appearance, and about on an even level with surrounding skin—in other words, that the wound is normally filled with granulation tissue which is essential in the healing of all open surface lesions. In any open lesion, when this stage has been reached, nature will grow new skin to cover the raw surface at a definite rate, and no matter what you do you can't hurry nature, though you can impede her work a great deal with antiseptics, salves, too frequent dressing, and unnecessary handling of the part.

One good way to let the ulcer alone is this: Obtain a small wire sieve with a circumference large enough to cover the lesion and include half an inch or more of skin on all sides. Bind the edge of the sieve with Z. O. adhesive plaster. Apply the sieve over the ulcer, then stick on long strips of adhesive plaster in such a way as to hold it securely in place. A few turns of bandage over and under the adhesive strips will add to the security of the dressing. Then forget the lesion for from three to ten days, provided the dressing remains in place. In that time you will be surprised to find how rapidly the ulcer heals over.

If the graulating surface rises higher than the level of the skin it must be reduced somehow. That is the so-called "proud flesh," which is never dangerous, but only delays healing. Skin won't grow uphill even for the doctor. The exuberant granulation tissue is best cut down in a cleanly manner by the doctor—a procedure which is painless, since granulation tissue has no nerves. The older, and uncleanly and painful way, was to burn it down with various caustics.

The open-air treatment of ulcers at least prevents all unpleasant odors, and usually it stops, or materially lessens, the discharge from an open surface. It is the least painful of all applications, and, when intelligently managed, the most efficient way to heal a clean lesion.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Eyestrain Which Wasn't.

Last spring I began to suffer with frequent headaches. Had glasses fitted by optician. One pair after another fitted, but no relief. Then accidentally broke off a tooth, exposing infected root. Had it extracted. No more headaches. Threw away glasses. Thirty dollars poorer, but wiser.

HOUSE PASSES BIG ARMY BILL

Hay Increase Measure Approved By Vote of 402 to 2.

Provides for Peace Strength of 140,000 Fighting Men.

Washington, March 24.—The Hay army increase bill, providing for a regular army peace strength of 140,000 fighting men instead of the present 100,000, passed the house late yesterday by a vote of 402 to 2. It goes to the senate for immediate consideration virtually as drafted by the house committee.

The negative votes were cast by Representatives Britten, Republican of Illinois, and London, Socialist, of New York.

Mr. Britten opposed the bill because he favored a still further increase in the army and Mr. London because he favored no increase.

The bill is the first of the preparedness measures urged by President Wilson to pass either house, although various related measures have been approved. It was finally adopted after Representative Kahn, ranking Republican member of the military committee, had again met defeat, this time 213 to 191, in his effort to increase the authorized strength of the regulars to 220,000.

"President's Own Bill."

During the debate Chairman Hay of the committee which drew up the bill referred to it as the "president's own bill." It was explained at the White House, however, that while the president approved the ground plan of the measure, he was not committed to its details. The conference on the house and senate plans is expected by administration officials to produce a bill which will have the president's full support.

The measure went to the senate and the way has been cleared for consideration of it to begin there next Monday.

Besides providing for 140,000 enlisted men as the peace strength of the standing army, exclusive of officers, hospital and quartermaster corps and unassigned recruits, the bill as passed by the house provides for the building up of a force of 425,000 Federal National Guardsmen within five years. It provides for an officers' reserve corps of 50,000, for a complete industrial reserve and for new recruiting systems for both the regular army and for the National Guard. It also contains an authorization for summer training camps, from which a third force of Federal volunteers is expected to grow, and provides that National Guardsmen who will receive the benefits of the militia pay feature of the bill, shall be subject to immediate draft into Federal service in war time.

Closer to Senate Bill.

During the process of amendment in the house the bill was brought appreciably closer to the measure prepared by the senate committee in several respects. Important among these was the insertion of the senate bill's provisions as to the regular army enlistments which are expected to produce rapidly the desired reservists. On this section Chairman Hay of the military committee, the bill's sponsor, was defeated. The only other important amendment, carried by a vote of 221 to 180, despite his opposition, was that striking out the entire section which proposed to have the government embark into a nitrogen manufacturing project, which aroused opposition on the ground that it involved immense expenditures in conjunction with private enterprise.

SEEK NEW MARKETS IN SOUTH AMERICA

United States Department of Commerce to Make Inquiry.

Washington, March 24.—South American markets for textiles, wearing apparel and electrical goods of all kinds are to be investigated by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce. The bureau has appointed Philip S. Smith of New York to take up the work on electrical-appliance markets, and he will sail about the middle of April. W. A. Tucker of Massachusetts will leave about the same time for South America to study the markets for textiles and wearing apparel.

One of the principal imports into South America is textiles, particularly cotton goods, and the United States has heretofore supplied a much smaller part of this commodity than many of our European competitors. Mr. Tucker will inquire into the reasons why European goods have dominated the market, and will collect samples showing the class of textiles in demand. Mr. Smith also will collect samples of electrical appliances, together with catalogues and price lists. H. G. Brock of the bureau's staff will accompany Mr. Tucker to do special work, including an investigation of the markets for boots and shoes.

WARSAW RESIDENTS MAY WRITE APPEALS

Hebrew Sheltering Society Permitted to Forward Them to Relatives.

The Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America has received from the secretary of state a telegram sent by Isidore Hershfield, its representative in Europe, through James W. Gerard, American ambassador at Berlin, reading as follows:

"All residents of the general government of Warsaw, comprising six gubernas, Lomza, Plock, Kalisch, Warsaw, part of Siedlice, and part of Piotrokow, are officially permitted to write original short formular letters addressed only to your society, which you must forward to American relatives from whom aid is requested. All cities and places in the said general government are officially placarded with posters, giving your name, address, and the newspapers publish official announcement. Consul Warsaw helped greatly. The first direct communication with American relatives is thus made possible through you alone. We expect similar permission in other occupied territories. We have been accorded special officia lfacilities for transmitting remittances to all places. We arrived in Berlin after six weeks traveling in all occupied districts. We have visited Wilna, Kowno, Grodno, Bialystock also many other cities. Armeeoberkommando, Austria, approves in principle postal arrangements with you. We leave for Lublin again. Arrange details."

GREAT NORTHERN WILL BUILD LARGE CUTOFF

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—One million dollars will be spent by the Great Northern Railway company during the present year on its New Rockford-Lewistown cutoff across North Dakota and Montana, according to officials of the road.

Present plans are that work will be started on a line east from Arnegard, N. D., toward New Rockford and west from Newton along a route already surveyed.

This cutoff is the biggest link in the second transcontinental line for the Great Northern. If conditions permit, the improvement plan may be even further extended this year, officials say.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Luster to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and luster of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

VILLA HOLDS UP RAILROAD TRAIN

Walks Through Every Car Looking for Americans; Harms No One.

El Paso, Tex., March 24.—Garcia Flores, a Spanish merchant of the city of Chihuahua, who arrived here last night said that Villa had held up a train on which he was traveling at Moctezuma, eighty-five miles northeast from Namiquipa, where the Carranza authorities have insisted the bandit chief was located. Flores is well known in business circles in El Paso.

"We were traveling north from Chihuahua City," he said, "and were nearing Moctezuma on Wednesday afternoon when we encountered a large force of men, mounted and on foot, surrounding the station. According to my best estimate there must have been 1,500 in all.

"When we reached the station we were amazed to see Villa himself enter the train. We had supposed he was many miles to the west. He walked through every car, declaring that he was searching for Americans, and that he would kill any he found.

"'I am not fighting Mexicans,' he announced, 'except the first chief, and those traitors with him who have turned Mexico over to the Americans.'

"Villa stopped to chat to some friends of his who were on the train. He told them that Gen. Herrera had joined him three days since with 2,000 men, fully equipped and armed, who had followed him from Chihuahua City. He finally left the train without molesting anyone, but he took some supplies which he said he needed badly."

Mr. Flores said the wires between Chihuahua and Torreon were cut three days ago, and that the people throughout the country he traversed knew very little of what was going on.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST EVERY MORNING

Hopes every man and woman here will adopt this splendid health habit.

Says a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it washes poisons from system, and makes one feel clean, sweet and fresh.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice the drinking of phosphated hot water before breakfast, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons in the bowels which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, sick headaches, rheumatism, lumbago, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning-inside bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

ASK CLUBS TO JOIN CLEAN UP WORK

Duluth Paint and Oil Club Will Ask General Co-operation.

Duluth civic organizations will be asked to join the "clean-up and paint-up" campaign this spring.

Forty members of the Duluth Paint and Oil club attended the organization's dinner at the McKay hotel last evening and made preliminary arrangements for "clean-up" week during the first part of May. It was decided to enlist the co-operation of the four commercial clubs of the city, the various improvement bodies and other organizations interested in the city's welfare, before making final plans for the campaign.

Rodney Annis was appointed chairman of the committee to take the matter up with the clubs and to report at the next meeting of the organization, on April 6. T. F. Wieland, Emil Gustafson and H. H. Beckwith are the other members of the committee.

The club voted to appropriate $50 of its funds to help defray the expenses of the "clean-up" campaign.

During the evening H. H. Beckwith, secretary of the club last year, read a lengthy report on the first "clean-up" campaign instituted last spring. It was decided to dissociate the movement this year from any connection with the paint trade and to invite all the city officials to aid in the campaign.

George Reifsteck acted as chairman of the meeting in the absence of the president.

KILLED IN NEAR EAST.

University of Minnesota Man Perished in Dardanelles.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 24.—Lucien P. Wetherby, aged 28, who entered the University of Minnesota in 1909, is dead somewhere in the Anzac zone, that ground on the eastern side of the Dardanelles, where Turk and Briton fought so desperately. He fell, bayoneted by the Turks, in one of the fiercest fights of the whole European war. His body never was recovered.

Widely know here, socially and in fraternity circles, Wetherby his friends knew was being sought through Secretary of State Robert Lansing, and yesterday from J. A. Johnson, a comrade in the Australian auxiliaries, came a letter which told of his death.

Big Tourist Season.

Washington, March 24.—Porto Rico is enjoying its most prosperous tourist season, more travelers having visited the island this winter than ever before, government reports show.

Diseases That Show In Your Face?

It matters not how little confidence we may have in our ability as mind readers, all of us by life-long practice are face-readers. A considerable part of our attitude toward our fellows is determined by what we see in their faces. Most of us have become surprisingly accurate face-readers in regard to moral and emotional tendencies. And we also read just as well when the face indicates either internal or external disease. The tense, drawn features indicating continued pain from some internal ailment, or the breaking out of one of the many skin diseases, which speak only too plainly for themselves, because most, if not all skin diseases show on the face sooner or later. Impure, impoverished or impaired blood are the prime causes of disease. Therefore the blood should be nourished, as well as purified.

One of the striking changes in modern medication is the way the use of iron for blood troubles has decreased. It was discovered that iron was not a blood food. When people are suffering from poisoned blood, or impure or impoverished blood they need a remedy that will not only drive out the impurities but that will nourish the blood at the same time—S. S. S., the standard blood purifier for 50 years, is purely vegetable and will absolutely drive out the impurities and nourish and tone up the entire system, both physical and nervous. Purify and nourish your blood by taking S.S.S. If you need special advice, write Medical Department, Room 18, Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.

ON THE IRON RANGES

LEAVES MINNESOTA TO FIGHT MEXICO

Former Texan Believes That Uncle Sam Must Fight Mexicans.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Confident that the United States is involved in a war with Mexico which will extend for a considerable time, E. C. Scott, soldier of fortune, and adventurer in many lands, has forsaken a cabin on the head waters of the Vermillion river, where he went a year ago for the benefit of his health and is today on his way to Houston, Tex., his home, where he will take the first opportunity to enlist as he believes inside of three months President Wilson will have issued a call for volunteers. Scott has fought in several Southern and Central American revolutions and has been a plainsman and prospector in the Texas panhandle and in Old Mexico, so he is well familiar with the country in the Sierra Madre mountains, where Villa is said to be hiding and declares that three times as large a force as Gen. Pershing is leading might not apprehend Villa in months.

Cured of Tuberculosis.

He went into the woods of Northern Minnesota twelve months ago suffering from tuberculosis; yesterday he returned to civilization the perfect picture of health. Scott left Virginia for Duluth this morning and in that city will arrange to go at once to his home in Houston. A brother is an officer in the Seventh U. S. cavalry, which is now in old Mexico.

FRESHMAN CLASS PRESENTS PROGRAM

Coleraine, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Greenway high school this afternoon the freshman class presented a very entertaining program. Principal C. D. Donaldson has arranged for a series of contest literary programs, two to be given by each high school class under the direction of the respective class advisors. The prize for the highest score is the privilege of having the name of the winning class inscribed on the silver trophy cup.

The following was the freshman program:

A farce, "The Mouse Trap" (by N. D. Howells); cast: Mrs. Somers, Estelle Larson; Willis Campbell, Edwin Larson; Jane, the maid, Eva Troumbley; Mrs. Bemis, Lillian Wyatt; Mrs. Curwen, Hilma Enlund; Mrs. Miller, Olive Tichenor; dialogue, "A Pair of Lunatics" (by Walkes), Pearl Troumbley and James Bennetts; piano solo, "Narcissus," Eva Troumbley; Japanese pantomime; reader, May Downing; players, Anna Schmuler, Guy Jodoin, William Cosgrove, Maurice Gashen, Alford Stevens, Walter Mester and Louis Thorpe.

COLERAINE DRAMATIC CLUB IDEA FAVORED

Coleraine, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting and smoker of the Coleraine Commercial club last evening the matter of organizing a dramatic club for the village was considered. The Commercial club will give whatever encouragement it can to such an organization. George Kohrt was chosen president of the proposed club and arrangements will be made at once to put on a play.

The annual banquet of the Commercial club will be given Saturday evening, April 8. One dollar and a half will pay the membership dues of the club and include the ticket for the banquet. The program committee will endeavor to secure two prominent speakers from the outside to address the club at the annual meeting.

FIRE INSURANCE MEN INSPECT RANGE RISKS

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire insurance agents representing twelve different companies holding risks on the Mesaba range were in Virginia yesterday while making an inspection trip over the range. Most of the insurance men were here to arrange for a transfer of the business of their companies in a business change in west range agencies. Others were here to look over the risks in Hibbing, Virginia, Eveleth and Chisholm. In the party were E. R. Schelbel of Madison, Wis.; Elwood T. Johnson, William Higley, C. W. Cartwright, L. L. Law, G. P. Tumdick, G. R. Leach, E. Wirth, J. S. King, R. W. Schimmel, Minneapolis; G. A. Roberts and George C. Mott, St. Paul.

HAROLD MINE MUST CURTAIL ITS OUTPUT

Scarcity of Boats to Affect Great Northern Ore Property.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—That increased tonnage this year in the shipping of iron ore will materially affect the working force of at least one mine owned by the Great Northern Ore company developed this morning when the information was given out by an official of the Great Northern.

A scarcity of boats on the Great Lakes to carry ore will affect the working force of the Harold mine at least 35 per cent and will mean the reduction of the crew of miners by 100 men.

Getting Ready for Shipping.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Iron ore operators on the Mesaba range are assembling organizations and getting ready for the opening of the shipping season. Some mines plan to start shipping as early as April 15 but April 25 is the date more conservatively set for the opening of the ore shipping season. Railroads are also assembling organizations and it is apparently certain that the D. & I. R., the D., M. & N. and the Great Northern will have more crews in the freight service and move more ore than ever before in a single season. The labor situation on the range is considered reassuring.

NATIONAL GUARD OF STATE IS PRAISED

Regular Army Officer Inspecting Hibbing Company, Pleased.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—"I hope that the National Guard will never have to be called into Mexico; that is, I hope that the conflict may never become that serious; but let me tell you that if they are called into action, the National Guard of this state will make a good showing," stated Capt. Danforth of the regular army last evening after he inspected the local militia with a full attendance of members present.

In the afternoon the local armory and equipment was looked over, and in the evening on the armory floor the soldiers went through their paces.

Capt. Danforth refused to talk about the showing the local company made, but it is thought that the boys made a hit in the earnestness and spirit they put into their work.

Capt. Williams is flooded with hundreds of applications from men in all walks of life desirous of joining the local company and getting in preparatory work in case volunteers should be called into the Mexican interior.

FINN SOCIALISTS OF HIBBING QUIT

Break Away From Regular Organization of Their Party.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—After threatening to break away from the party for several months, the Finnish Socialists finally severed all connections with the local Socialist party and formed a local of their own.

A man prominent in Socialistic circles said that the Finnish Socialists drew away from the main party because of differences they alleged are prejudicial to their cause.

Another prominent Socialist leader stated that some of the members who broke away here threatened to join an organization which the Socialist party had nothing whatever to do with, and one whose principles are against the form of government the Socialists want for the people.

The Socialist party is about 100 strong here, and has never played a very important part in village elections.

This year the party placed trustees in the race for places, but the candidates were overwhelmingly defeated.

NASHWAUK MINES GETTING READY

Expected All Will Be Working By Fifteenth of Next Month.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The men were put to work at the Hawkins mine Monday and the usual repairs of shovels and locomotives is being finished before the busy season of the company commences. It is expected that the mines in this vicinity will be working full force about April 15.

James Wivell was recently appointed assistant chief electrician at the Crosby mine under the supervision of Master Mechanic Edward Gaffney.

Andrew Colombo arrived Monday evening from Aurora and has accepted a position with the Crosby Mining company here.

It is rumored that Butler brothers will employ 450 men in the mines here this season and that work in their several open pit properties will commence very soon.

TWO HARBORS WEDDING.

Night Engine Caller for Iron Range Road Takes Bride.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Sullivan and Miss Nora Johnson were married last evening at the parsonage of the Swedish Methodist church by Rev. Axel Strom, the pastor. The wedding was attended by only two friends. Both young people have resided here all their lives.

Mr. Sullivan is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan and is employed as night engine caller for the Iron Range railroad.

Fifth Hibbing Union.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fifth Hibbing union to apply for a charter within the course of six months did so last evening. The youngest labor union for Hibbing is the Painters' union, and forty members will comprise the new organization.

RANGE WAR VETERANS ASKED TO BE READY

Head of Camp Wilkinson Gets Orders From National Commander.

Chisholm, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Orders were received this morning by Commander H. A. Thompson of Camp Maj. Wilkinson, No. 15, United Spanish War veterans, from National Commander L. C. Dwyer, Washington, D. C., to forward to headquarters at once a complete roster of all able-bodied men on the camp rolls. As members of the local camp are scattered over a considerable portion of the range territory, it will be difficult to hold a meeting before tomorrow night. All members of the local camp are seasoned veterans and are from all branches of the service including the navy.

Members of Camp.

Following are the members of the camp: Frederick Ekman, George Myers, A. M. Peterson, Coleraine; John P. Lanto, Nashwauk; George Lindsay, Duluth; Herman Antonelli, Hibbing; Joe Havelik, Cusson; Walter Ogden, Thomas O'Connor, Ironton; William Clemens, H. A. Thompson, Andrew Haglund, John Slaken, Peter Mungovan, W. B. Brown, Frank Green, C. B. Banks, Joe Virant, Chisholm.

GRAND JURY FINDS MANY INDICTMENTS

Thirty or So Returned By Inquisitors of Itasca County.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury for the March, 1916, term of court completed its duties last evening, returning some thirty indictments. The indictments were not made public last night, only two of the alleged offenders being in custody. It is expected some will be made public today.

Made Good Record.

This grand jury probably holds the record, according to Judge Wright, for the amount of work done in the time. With thirty or more indictments returned, and a number of matters investigated, in which no bills were returned, the record is certainly a good one for three days' work, especially considering the fact that the jury got a rather late start on Tuesday morning, the first day of the term.

ENTERTAINING FIREMEN.

Chisholm Council Votes to Pay Bills Up to $4,000.

Chisholm, Minn., March 24—The village council decided last evening to pay bills for entertaining the state meeting of the firemen here next June up to $4,000 and directed Fire Chief McAlpine to buy badges for all visitors.

Ernest Drew was reappointed deputy recorder and Herman Heldt, clerk in the recorder's office, at the same salaries they received under the last administration.

A bill for $300 attorneys' fees in the case of the village against Frank G. Harris, submitted by Abbott, McPherran, Lewis & Gilbert of Duluth, was referred to Village Attorney Trask. The bill was presented to the old council, but no action was taken.

DISCUSSED FARM TOPICS

Few People Attend Agricultural Meeting in Nashwauk.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The agricultural meeting held in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening was attended by a small crowd considering the large number of local citizens interested in farm lands. The lecture by Mr. Bergh of Grand Rapids, and Mr. Martin of the local schools, were very interesting as well as instructive. Village President Reifel also made a very interesting talk. After the lectures a lunch was served in the domestic science rooms by the high school.

Supt. H. A. Gilruth and P. A. McEachin of Keewatin attended the annual meeting of school board members and superintendents of the independent districts of the range held in Chisholm Wednesday.

The Junior League of the Methodist church elected officers as follows: President, Frank G. White; secretary and treasurer, Horace Dodson; vice president, Dorothy Denton; organist, Elsie White. The league is a young people's society and invites new members. Meetings are held every Sunday evening.

GIVEN VERDICT FOR LABOR CLAIM

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 24.—The case of Joseph Draskovich vs. Mike Michelich, involving a claim for labor for some $200, was tried in district court yesterday, and the jury, after having been out some three hours, returned a verdict for the plaintiff for the sum asked for. John M. Gannon of Nashwauk was attorney for the plaintiff, while Philip M. Stone of Keewatin represented the defendant.

AURORA SENIOR CLASS' RECORD

Aurora, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The record of the senior class for the four years in high school just announced, follows: The average for the whole class is 86 7-10; the average for the girls is 91; the average for the boys is 84¼; Martha Mattson, valedictorian, averages 91½; Sadie Ruikka, salutatorian, averages 89⅞; Anna Koppala completed eighteen credits during the four years with an average of 89¼, and everyone of the girls has an average higher than any of the boys. Every member of the class averages above 80.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Advertisement.

SNOW

Perhaps the less said about the weather today the better, but facts must be told. Three inches of snow fell by 7 o'clock this morning and the promise is for more. The conditions underfoot and overhead are far from being agreeable, and in addition to that, it is rather disappointing, for it is naturally expected that spring should, at least, be on the way at this time of year. A year ago, balmy weather was the rule, and the best of the summer experienced was afforded during the latter part of March and most of April.

A year ago today, rain fell rather heavily. The sun rose this morning at 6:01 o'clock and will set this evening at 6:27 o'clock, giving twelve hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over Colorado has caused snow or rain over the greater portion of the lake region, the Upper Mississippi valley and throughout most of the West, besides a marked rise in temperature over the Red River, Lower Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio valleys and lake region. Somewhat colder weather prevails west of the 100th meridian. Heavy to killing frosts occurred last night in Oregon. Heavy snow fell at Salt Lake City, Utah."

Lowest temperature tonight about 15 deg. at and near Duluth-Superior and along the north shore and 10 to 15 deg. on the iron ranges. Fresh to strong northeast, shifting to northwest, winds.

Buhl Appointments.

Buhl, Minn., March 24.—The village council has appointed Thaddeus Bean village attorney. John A. Petila was named as street commissioner for the coming year at a salary of $90 a month. The remainder of the appointments will be made at an adjourned session Monday night. A contract for $800 worth of trees and shrubbery, entered into between the old council and the Jewell Nursery company, was ordered canceled.

Scarlet Fever Victim.

Mesaba, Minn., March 24.—Miss Georgenia Gibeau, age 23, formerly of Aurora, died Monday of scarlet fever at Duluth, where she had been working as bookkeeper for the Excelsior Lumber company. Until two months ago she made her home in Mesaba, where she had lived for a number of years. Louis Gibeau, a brother, is employed at the Graham mine here.

For Hibbing Postoffice.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—The Commercial club this afternoon at a meeting will discuss the need for a new postoffice here and prepare to begin an active campaign to that end. The following committee named by President Swinnerton is expected to report and to prepare petitions to be circulated asking for congressional action: A. C. Shirmer, W. J. Ryder, A. P. Silliman, D. D. McEachin, C. M. Atkinson, J. B. Connors, B. J. Burrows, W. J. West, T. J. Godfrey, W. R. Spensley.

Bury Itasca Pioneer.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 24.—The funeral of Robert McCabe, aged 68, was held yesterday afternon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Pogue, Rev. H. B. Sutherland, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating, interment being made in Itasca cemetery. Mr. McCabe was brought here from Cohasset ten days ago for treatment and died Tuesday.

Will Preach at Hibbing.

Cloquet, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. W. E. Williams left today for Hibbing, where he will preach in the Presbyterian church tomorrow.

OLD COUNCIL OF GILBERT APPOINTS

Gilbert, Minn., March 24.—The retiring village council oppointed J. N. Carlson member of the water and light board, succeeding George Mihelich, whose term expired. The new council will take hold the first Tuesday in April.

The other members of the water and light commission are: N. J. Colvin and Louis Rubenstein. C. M. Campbell, William Marcus and Clerk Thomas Sharp completed their services as village officials Wednesday.

VIRGINIAN OPERATED ON IN DULUTH HOSPITAL

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. N. Thompson, Virginia and Mesaba range pioneer and at one time mayor of this city, is in a Duluth hospital, where he underwent an operation Tuesday for an affection of the stomach which left him in a critical condition, but he rallied nicely from the operation and will recover. He was being taken to Rochester, when his condition became so aggravated that it was necessary to take him from the train and place him in a Duluth hospital.

KILLED IN ORDEAN.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Morris Mullen, aged 40, having a wife and several children living in the Alpena location, was struck by the dipper while working with a steam shovel last night and died soon afterwards being badly crushed.

Thaw Hits Nashwauk.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The warm weather has caused an immense amount of water, due from the heavy snowfall of last winter. The village put a large force of men to work Tuesday morning in opening catch basins to avoid a possible flood of basements and damage to property.

Aurora Class Motto.

Aurora, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The girls' agricultural club in the local school has been named the Pomona club, after the Greek goddess of fruit culture. The motto selected is: "The elevator to success is not running stairs." The large class has been divided into a high school and a grade section. Sadie Ruikka, Martha Mattson and Lillie Grudnoski have been appointed a program committee.

Special Train for Concert.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the accommodation of patrons going to Duluth to take in the New York Symphony orchestra concert, March 28, a special train will be provided for. The train will leave for the range cities immediately after the completion of the concert.

CAUSED BY THIN BLOOD

Many people think they have kidney trouble because they have backache but more backache is caused by overstrained and undernourished muscles than by anything else. In such cases the blood needs building up.

Many rheumatic people suffer pains that could be avoided by building up the blood. When rheumatism is associated with thin blood the rheumatism cannot be cured to stay cured until the blood is built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and sufferers from backache would do well to try this treatment before giving way to worry over a fancied organic disease. Rest and the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct most forms of backache, even rheumatic.

For people who work too hard or dance too much and sleep too little, better habits and a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all that is needed to drive away the pains and aches that are warnings of a coming breakdown.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "Nervous Disorders," will be sent free, if you are interested, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store or by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50.

HOLLAND FORCED TO LARGE LOANS

Cost of War to the Netherlands Already Totals $140,000,000.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

The Hague, March 1.—The war has so far cost Holland a clear $140,000,000. Further, reckoning the demands of the intervening period at $8,000,000 a month, the new minister of finance, Dr. Anton van Gyn, estimates that by Aug. 1 next a sum of $180,000,000 will have been spent on the mobilized land and sea forces and in meeting the various other extraordinary demands made on the treasury by the war crisis.

Of the amount mentioned, $110,000,000 was raised by a 5 per cent loan issued after the first three or four months of war, and the problem now facing this country is how to provide the balance of $70,000,000. Three bills have just been presented to the Dutch parliament embodying a straightforward and fairly bold solution of the question. The new minister of finance therein proposes to raise as much as $32,000,000 by a special levy, termed a "defense tax," in the financial year beginning May 1 next; to obtain another $18,000,000 by a tax on war profits, and to have recourse to a loan for the balance of $20,000,000. The actual loan, however, is to amount to $50,000,000, out of which, assuming the war is over, the extra $30,000,000 will be utilized to consolidate the floating debt accruing from the ordinary budgets of 1914, 1915 and 1916.

Seeing that the floating debt of the Netherlands East Indies will also have to be consolidated shortly, it is evident that heavy demands will be made on the money market here before long. As, however, it is largely a matter of replacing floating by a fixed debt, it is not expected that the market will be greatly influenced; and the powerful position of the Netherlands bank—whose gold stocks now amount to $196,000,000—and the general plentifulness of money here, renders the prospects of the coming loans bright.

ENGLISH WOMEN IN THE WORKSHOPS

Fully 2,000,000 More Are Working Than One Year Ago.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, March 6.—Hardly less remarkable than the swift transformation of England into a powerful military nation has been the silent upheaval that has placed the civil work and the industries of the workshops in the hands of women. It has been estimated from official figures that there were fully 2,000,000 more women in active employ on March 1, 1916, than on the corresponding day twelve months earlier. Moreover, the number is increasing week by week.

Every class of women, including those previously regarded as leisured and well-to-do are adding to the total. The call is reaching the remotest hamlets as well as the quiet market towns, and the women and girls are responding. The women are mobilizing in a great army, ready to serve wherever they are most needed—even to the hard labor of the tilling of the soil.

Such changes in the national, commercial and industrial spheres are naturally creating considerable readjustment of social conditions with the result that the Young Women's Christian association, Women's unions, suffragist organizations and scores of women's clubs are confronted with many new problems in helping to care for the thousands of women suddenly thrown into a new environment.

The initial difficulty to be dealt with has been that of housing the workers in the munition factories. All sorts of factories have been requisitioned in the provincial towns up and down the country, calling for large drafts of workers from outside. Lodgings have been hard to find; and, of course, following all lack of supply and demand, have been costly, even if they could be found at al. Railway communications with places at any distance have been unsatisfactory, especially for those on the night shifts. Only in the larger centers of population has the service of tram cars or omnibuses been of any help to those living at a distance.

Thousands upon thousands of young women and girls were suddenly shifted from their familiar surroundings in the larger cities to the new life in the country, where many of the huge munition factories have been erected. The manufacture of high explosives is not permitted in the vicinity of homes. Therefore, canteens had to be established close to such works so that the women would not have to go long distances for their meals, and relieve them of much fatigue and strain.

Perhaps the ideal conditions have been reached by one famous firm engaged in the manufacture of cordite. A colony for the workers was erected in a long series of "wooden huts each containing some twenty-eight two-bedded rooms. In the center of all is a dining hall with a perfectly equipped kitchen, a recreation room, and a small model hospital. As soon as these plans had been approved the firm had one of the women's organizations take up the responsibility for them in behalf of the girls employed.

Public imagination is more stirred at the idea of women's labor in shell, fuse and explosive making than it is over the vast army engaged in the more humdrum round of business routine, But the fact is that the woman who is forced to work in the offices of the government, municipalities, banks, factories and stores is much worse off than her sister in the munitions works. She receives less pay and very little attention is paid to her welfare. But she is sustaining the fabric of the state to no less extent.

JEWELRY DEPOSITED FOR GOLD IN VIENNA

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Vienna, March 1.—With the idea of increasing the national supply of gold, Austrian savings banks are preparing to open special accounts with persons depositing gold ornaments and jewelry, on which the rate of interest will be 1 per cent higher than the ordinary rate. The bank will hand over the gold objects to a state appraiser, who will ascertain the quantity of gold contained and inform the bank of its value. The bank will then issue a book crediting the owner with the appraised amount.

In Treating Tuberculosis

It should be remembered that one of the aids to relief is found in abundance of fresh air—day and night—the largest possible freedom from overexertion and well-cooked, pure food.

Attention to these should do much toward arresting the progress of the malady, but in many cases there is need for extra help. Where Nature has to work with a weakened body her power is limited. Before she can do her most, there must be a return to normality of functions.

Under such circumstances, try Eckman's Alterative, which has been used with large benefit by many sufferers from tuberculosis. In numerous cases it has helped to bring about recovery.

And since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, its use is not attended with danger. At your druggist's or direct.

Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

WHEAT TRADE IS NERVOUS

Prices Fluctuate on Various Reports—Firm Up at Close.

Flaxseed Recovers After Sharp Break With Buying By Crushers.

May wheat closed ⅛c off to unchanged, and July, ⅛c off to unchanged.

May durum closed ⅛c up, and July, ¼c off.

Oats closed ⅛c off at 39¾c for on the track; rye, unchanged at 1c off at 88@89c, and barley, unchanged at from 63 to 70c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅛@¼c off at 42½c.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.01¾, and July at $1.03¼.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.00⅝, and July at $1.00⅛.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.08⅞, and calls at $1.12⅛.

Nervous and generally weak conditions prevailed in the wheat market today. At the start the market broke 1c following weak Liverpool cables. A recovery of around ¾c, followed with buying, attributed mainly to shorts. Then prices slumped to the extent of 1⅛c on sales of a large consignage in the pit by a prominent operator. The market later braced up 1c with fresh buying on the low spots, prompted by bullish crop news from over the winter wheat territory.

Generally speaking the trend of opinion on the floor was bearish, operators taking the view that with a large tonnage of Canadian wheat still to be sold, it would be offered below the American market to move it, and the increase of Argentine shipments were also noted. It was reported, furthermore, that heavy demurrage charge are liable to be assessed by vessel men this spring in view of threatened detentions at Buffalo owing to the slow movement at the seaboard and the certainty that considerable Canadian grain will be routed via American seaports. Few operators, it is thought, will care to face the possibility of these demurrage charges piling up against their shipments.

On the opposite side of the slate it is considered that the likelihood of increasing bearish crop reports coming out over the winter wheat territory, with a probable heavy decrease in the acreage of spring wheat seeded, should have a sustaining market influence.

Sales of the lower grades of wheat were slow on the Duluth market today, though with the light receipts the better grain was promptly picked up by millers. The cash basis was unchanged, No. 1 northern selling at ½c under to 2c over May. Cash No. 1 durum sold at ½c under the May price, but the off grades were almost unsalable.

May wheat opened ⅞c off at $1.09½, eased off ⅛c more, advanced to $1.10⅛, broke to $1.08⅝ and recovered to $1.09⅜ at the noon hour. July opened ¼c off at $1.10, advanced ½c, eased off to $1.09⅝ and recovered to $1.10 bid.

May durum opened ½c off at $1.04¾, and weakened ¾c more. July opened ¼c off at $1.06 and declined ½c more.

Flax Again Off.

Operators in flaxseed had another strenuous session. After gaining ½c at the start, the market suddenly slumped to $2.14½ on a wave of selling and the catching of stop-loss orders. It was noted that buying attributed to crushers was in better volume at the low spots and that led to an upturn. Receipts of flax at Duluth today were down to only 1 car. Final prices were only slightly off in the day.

Cables again came weak and furnished considerable market influence. At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1¾c off at $1.26⅞. London closed 1¾c off at $2.55¾.

May flax opened ½c up at $2.17, and closed ¾c off at $2.15¾. July opened ½c up at $2.17, and closed 1c off at $2.15½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¾c off at $1.93¼.

MARKET GOSSIP.

At Minneapolis, millers were not as keen after any wheat. The lower grades were very dull. No. 1 hard sold at 5c over May, and velvet chaff at ½@1c over. Flour trade was dull. Wheat stocks at Minneapolis decreased 130,000 bu in the week.

Australian wheat shipments were 1,160,000 bu for the week.

A parcel of Barusso (Argentina) wheat has arrived at London, weighing 63 pounds to the bu, and was offered at 53s 6d.

* * *

Russell's News, New York, said: "A few early private cables from English centers were of a weak trend. One cable stated that there was no demand for our nearby wheat. It is said that the flour sales for export during the past few days were larger than reported."

* * *

Argentine weather is reported fine and the movement increasing. Argentine shipments of wheat were 3,184,000 bu, against 5,192,000 bu last year. Oats, 150,000 bu, against 1,580,000 bu last year; corn, 375,000 bu, against 689,000 bu last year.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Spot wheat was 1@6d lower. It opened weak with pressure of nearby offers and free arrivals. Spot wheat was 1@6d lower, with weakness in Argentine grade. Cargo market was weak; winters 6d lower, Manitobas 6d lower and Plates a shilling lower. Liberal reselling from London was reported.

Modern Miller says: "There is almost a total absence of good reports from the winter wheat belt, the crop is thin and backward due to late seeding. Best conditions prevail in Nebraska and Kansas, but these are qualified by unfavorable comparison with the preceding two years. Oklahoma in some principal districts shows the effect of extreme drought, with no rain for thirty-five days. Heavy sand storms this week preceded light rains. Average of the reports show damage from drought of 30 per cent. There are scattered reports of winter killing. The crop is poor and has deteriorated during the two weeks. Rains are needed in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. Reports of heavy winter kill persist. Conditions can be more accurately judged after warm rains."

Charles E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Quite an active market prevailed for the first two hours. Market was weak with corn, but no news from abroad was rather disquieting to bulls. Even today's break did not result in much cash business. Argentine and Australian shipments were liberal and a large quantity from North America will bring world's shipments up again over foreign requirements."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, March 24.—Wheat declined in value today, influenced by lower prices at Liverpool and by favorable weather conditions southwest where rains were expected to improve thin fields wonderfully. The market was bearishly affected also by distress selling of corn. Apparent absence of any adequate expert demand tended further to discourage the bulls. The opening, which ranged from ¼ to 1⅛c lower with May at $1.06⅞ to $1.07½ and July at $1.05½ to $1.06, was followed by some additional losses.

Assertions that rains southwest had been insufficient to break the drought, led afterward to a rally. Besides reports were persistent that there had been heavy winter killing in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The close was strong, ½ to ¾c net higher, with May at $1.08¾ and July at $1.06¾.

Heavy selling to stop losses sent corn sharply down grade. The chief buying on the part of speculative shorts, a kind of purchasing that gave no promise of relief from the burden of heavy stocks in store here. After opening ½ to 1⅛c down the market rallied a trifle but then sank lower than before.

The market recovered when wheat made an upturn. The close was firm at ½c to ¼@¾c net advance.

Oats fell with corn and wheat. The selling was general.

Higher prices on hogs strengthened provisions. Buying, however, was only of moderate volume.

London, March 24.—American securities were idly steady and without feature.

RAIL SHARES SHOW GAINS

Are the Real Sustaining Influence of the Stock Market.

War Issues and Oils Moderately Liquidated and Closing Steady.

New York, March 24.—Metal shares were most active at the opening of today's market, large stocks of Anaconda, Inspiration and Kennecott Coppers changing hands at fractional advances, with further activity in American Zinc and Butte & Superior. Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum and American Smelting were higher at the outset, together with American Can and Reading, but rails in general were unquoted. Later heaviness in Lackawanna and Crucible Steel, Baldwin and Mexicans caused a moderate reversal of prices.

Specialties continued to dominate the desultory trading in today's stock market, with marked activity in zinc, which led the entire list. Butte also added to its initial rise and coppers denoted quiet absorption. United States Steel was relatively inactive but strong, and other features of early uncertainty, including Mexicans, munitions and equipments, made gradual recovery. Rails were the real sustaining influence, however, on a brisk demand for Reading and New York Central, Erie and the Pacifics, with gains ranging from material fractions to almost 2 points. Prices in general shaded again at midday with marked weakness in Crucible and allied shares. Bonds were steady.

The market became very dull in the afternoon but rails retained much of their gains. War issues and oils were again moderately liquidated, however, provoking fresh irregularity.

Support was offered to oils and other heavy issues in the later dealings, but rails fell away moderately. The closing was steady.

Quality Brand Macaroni

Is An Excellent Substitute For MEAT

WHEN you open a package of Quality Brand Macaroni you first notice the rich, creamy color, an evidence of its richness in gluten. Gluten is the element which makes bread nutritious. Durum wheat, from which Quality Brand Macaroni is made, is much richer in gluten than wheat used in bread flour. Any of the many tempting dishes which may be prepared from Quality Macaroni will be found satisfying. The cost of these dishes is less than meat dishes, and your family will appreciate the "change" in diet. Five recipes on each carton.

No Better Macaroni at Any Price.

F. A. MARTOCCIO MACARONI CO. Minneapolis, Minn.

Those who recognize the food value of PURE OLIVE OIL discriminate in their choice. They want purity and the delicate, elusive flavor found only in a high-grade olive oil.

Nothing finer producible than

Are your Children up to this standard?

There is nothing that tells so accurately—so inevitably—how well a child is thriving—what its physical condition is—as its weight.

Compare the weights of your children with this table. It is the work of the greatest American authority on the Care and Feeding of Children.

Dr. L. Emmett Holt's

If your children do not come up to this standard—and you ask your doctor about it—the first thing he will ask is

"What do you give them to eat?"

Every child should have sustaining, tissue-building, digestible food. The food which combines these three in the highest degree of each—the food you should get for tomorrow's breakfast is—

Cream of Barley

Big, Generous Tins, 25c

YOU Can Completely Digest Pastry made with Sawtay

It is not the pie or pastry which your digestion resents, but the fats used in the baking. Hog-fats, cow-butter and many oils are unaffected by the gastric juices. The fats coat the starch-granules and gluten-particles, robbing them of their food-value. It is the fermentation of this undigested mass that creates your distress.

SAWTAY

100% Pure Butter-of-Nuts
For Baking, Shortening, Frying & Candy-Making

is easily, readily and, within 2%, completely assimilated and digested. SAWTAY is a food, and contributes its high energy value to the food prepared with it.

Since it will not absorb an odor or flavor and therefore cannot impart one, SAWTAY may be used over and over—you can fry onions, strain through cheese-cloth, then fry fish, strain through cheese-cloth, and use the same portion for baking a pie or the most delicate pastry.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

CRUST:
½ cup Sawtay
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoonful salt
Cold water

Mix and sift flour and salt. Work in the Sawtay with a fork, add cold water slowly, forming a dough. Invert pie plate and carefully cover with pastry. Pierce entire surface with a fork. Bake in a moderate oven.

CREAM FILLING:
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoonfuls flour
Pinch salt
2 eggs
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoonfuls lemon juice
Grated rind ½ lemon
1 tablespoonful melted Sawtay

Mix sugar, salt, flour. Add boiling water stirring constantly. Cook until thick. Pour on egg yolks slightly beaten. Add lemon juice, Sawtay and lemon rind and cook over hot water until thick and creamy. Cool, pour into pastry shell and cover with meringue made from whites of eggs beaten until stiff and sweetened with sugar. Return to oven and bake meringue until brown.

SAWTAY is Economical—
Use one-fifth less than cow-butter—
and over and over

CAMPS ARE STILL BUSY

Logging Will Continue Until Late in April This Year.

Conditions Now Favorable for Hauling—Men Are Hard to Get.

The problem of unemployment is expected to take care of itself in Duluth this spring.

West Superior street and Michigan street are not thronged with returning woodsmen now as they have been for many years during March. Some of the camps are breaking up but it now looks as if work in the woods would continue until late, and that men would be hard to get in Duluth.

A logging man said today that there was still four feet of snow in the woods in many places, and more snow fell last night. Some time ago the most sanguine loggers hardly dared hope that hauling could be done later than March 20, but it now looks as if teams could work until well along in April. The continued cool weather has been a boon to loggers. Owing to heavy snows, cutting was suspended in some camps for a time, and hauling greatly handicapped. Things have now so shaped themselves that logs are being hauled to the railway stations with ease and a big supply will be available for the drives as well as the railroads.

Camps that are short of men now are expecting to have a hard time filling out their crews. Men coming into the city now do not want to return at once, and many of them want to do some other work as soon as the weather permits. Extra pay has been offered men for staying a month on the job, and a large number have availed themselves of this opportunity of making more money.

Low One Way and Round Trip Fares West.

During March and April low one-way fares, and on certain dates throughout the year low round trip homeseekers' rates will be in effect Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior, Kansas City and St. Louis and many other points to Northwestern points, thus giving the man in search of a good home an opportunity to visit the fertile and productive Northwest. The Northern Pacific Ry. announces the following rates: Low one-way colonist fares daily March 25 to April 14, inclusive, to Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon points. Low one-way settlers' fares, March 14, 21, 28, April 4, 11, 18 and 25 to Eastern and Central Montana points. Low round trip homeseekers' fares every first and third Tuesdays to North Dakota, Montana and Idaho points. For additional literature, rates and information write, call or phone C. P. O'Donnell, C. P. A., 334 W. Superior St., Duluth, Minn.

DEATHS SHOW MARKED DECREASE IN WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., March 24.—A reduction of nearly 1,000 deaths in the state in February over the month preceding is the striking feature of the monthly mortality report given out by the state board of health today. The total deaths in February were 2,580 as against 3,566 in January. The average death rate fell from 17.1 per 1,000 in January to 12.3 in February, which is practically the same as last December.

Pneumonia, tuberculosis and cancer in the order named stand highest in mortality.

NYMORE ANNEXATION STRONGLY FAVORED

Bemidji, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting held at the Nymore schoolhouse Monday evening the proposition of annexing that village to the city of Bemidji was discussed by about 100 citizens. Members of the village council told the citizens of the financial condition of their school district and village and told of the benefits that would result from annexation to Bemidji and before the meeting was over when a standing vote of the members present in favor of annexation was taken, nearly every person stood up.

SAYS SATURDAY IS LORD'S DAY

Adventist Preacher From Duluth So Contends Before Cloquet Audience.

Cloquet, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Evangelist Stemple White of Duluth, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, addressed another appreciative audience at the Swedish Baptist church last night. Having spoken on "Christ and the Sabbath" week ago Tuesday, he spoke last evening on "Anti-Christ and the Sunday." Evangelist White traced the Sabbath of the Creator and Redeemer all through the Bible from Genesis to Revelation, and read from the standard works of Protestant denominations, sermon clippings and press utterances in which it is openly and publicly admitted that there is no Biblical divine authority for observing any other day of the week for the Sabbath or Lord's day than the seventh day of the week, which all know to be Saturday.

"Who tampered with God's Holy Law, and how did Sunday keeping originate which is so tenaciously held to by Protestant sects who profess to take the Bible, and the Bible only, as the only rule of faith and practice?" asked the speaker.

After reading from Biblical prophecy of a "little horn" power, which ecclesiastical organization was to "think to change times and law" of the most high, Evangelist White stated some striking historical facts and read from numerous books illustrating his lecture.

WISCONSIN WOMEN TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24.—Several hundred delegates are expected to attend the congressional conference of the Wisconsin Woman Suffrage association which meets late this afternoon and will hold sessions tomorrow.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, who will deliver an address tonight, was expected to arrive this afternoon.

Prominent among the speakers to be heard during the conference are Mrs. Henry M. Youmans, Waukesha, president of the Wisconsin association; Mrs. Ben Hooper, Oshkosh; Mrs. Allen Cole, Kenosha; Mrs. Florence Bennett Peterson, Chicago, and Mrs. Millie R. Trumbull, secretary of the Child Labor commission of Oregon.

CLOQUET NOTES.

Cloquet, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. A. Coathup and Mrs. Bert McCoubrey went to Duluth yesterday, where Mrs. Coathup went to consult a specialist.

John E. Johnson left for points in Northern Iowa yesterday, where he went to purchase horses for his draying business.

J. E. Green, H. W. McKinnon, Spencer J. Searls, C. W. Colovin, Guy Smith and Walter Dunphy of Carlton attended the game of indoor baseball at the "Y," getting pointers preparatory to starting an indoor game in their high school gymnasium.

John Levings will leave tomorrow to visit at his old home at Rice Lake, Wis., expecting to be gone about a week.

Rev. J. G. Ward left yesterday for Rutledge, Minn., where he will preach at the mission being conducted there.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will hold an annual white sale at the home of Mrs. William Armstrong tomorrow.

The Blues shut out the league-leading Reds in a fast game of indoor baseball at the "Y" yesterday by a score of 6 to 0.

Mallory Liner Disabled.

New York, March 24.—The Mallory liner Alamo, carrying fifty passengers, which has been in distress with a broken rudder and a disabled engine, off the Atlantic coast, has been taken in tow by the Algonquin, a sister ship, and is being brought to New York, according to a wireless message to the line's office here.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF THE— FINNISH DAILY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, for the purpose of forming a corporation under the Constitution and laws of the State of Minnesota, subscribe and acknowledge the following Certificate of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be FINNISH DAILY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

The general nature of its business shall be to acquire, print, publish, conduct and circulate or otherwise deal with any newspaper or newspapers or other publications, and generally carry on the business of newspaper proprietors and general publishers; to carry on, if and when it shall deem desirable, the trade and business of general printers, lithographers, engravers and advertising agents; to build, construct, erect, purchase, hire or otherwise acquire or provide any buildings, offices, workshops, plant and machinery or other things necessary or useful for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the company.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be in the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time for the commencement of this corporation shall be the 29th day of March, 1916, and the period of its duration shall be thirty years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are:

A. W. Havela, Duluth, Minnesota.
J. A. Mattinen, Cloquet, Minnesota.
Edward Johnson, Hancock, Michigan.

ARTICLE IV.

The management of this corporation shall be vested in a Board of nine (9) directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders from their number at the annual meeting of the corporation, which shall be held at the company's office at Duluth, Minnesota, at two o'clock in the afternoon on the second Monday in January of each year, and no notice of such meeting shall be necessary, and said meeting may be adjourned from time to time and from place to place. The names and addresses of the directors of said corporation composing the Board until its first election of directors are as follows: J. A. Mattinen, Cloquet, Minnesota; A. W. SCHOOL BUILDING

Margie, Minnesota.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that sealed proposals for the material and labor necessary to construct a consolidated school building, installing the heating, ventilating and plumbing systems, will be received by the Unorganized School District of Koochiching County, Minnesota, at the office of D. B. Jewell, Clerk, International Falls, Minnesota until the hour of 2 P. M. on the 18th day of April 1916.

Plans and specifications are on file with the Clerk, The Builders' Exchange of Duluth, Minnesota, and of St. Paul, Minnesota; The Northwest Building Material Exhibit, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and at the office of W. P. Allred, Jr., Architect, Duluth, Minnesota. Proposals shall be in accordance with the plans and specifications and accompanied by a certified check in the sum of 5 per cent of the bid, drawn in favor of P. H. Fogarty, Treasurer, International Falls, Minnesota, thus confirming the surety of the bidder to enter into agreement to deliver to the owner a satisfactory surety bond in the sum of the contract price within six (6) days after mailing of, or personal, notification of award. Failure to do so forfeits the check to said owner. The certified checks of unsuccessful bidders shall be returned upon the letting of the contract.

By order of the Board of Education, which reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

D. B. JEWELL, Clerk.

Proposal form attached to specifications shall be followed to receive consideration.

CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT —TO— CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— DAVIS REALTY COMPANY.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

Joseph H. Davis and George W. Davis, being first duly sworn, do hereby certify that they are respectively the president and secretary of Davis Realty Company; that at a special meeting of the stockholders of said company, called for that expressly stated purpose, and held at the office of the company in the City of Duluth, Minnesota, on the 18th day of February, 1916, at which meeting all of the issued stock of the company was represented by the owners thereof in person, said stockholders, by unanimous vote of all the shares of stock of said company, adopted the following resolutions amending the Certificate of Incorporation of said company:

RESOLVED, (1) That Article I of the Certificate of Incorporation of this company be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be the "DULUTH SOAP COMPANY."

The general nature of its business shall be to buy, own, sell, lease, erect buildings, lease and otherwise contract for and with, and improve lands, tenements, appurtenances and hereditaments or interests therein; to engage in and conduct and operate a manufacturing business, including, among other things, the manufacture of soap and by-products incidental to and connected therewith; to borrow and loan money either as principals or agents for others upon mortgages or other securities and for the purchase and sale of lands and of money obligations secured upon real or personal property; with power to execute all contracts, transfers, leases and other documents necessary or convenient through the transaction of the business for which this corporation is incorporated, and to do anything that may be deemed necessary or convenient for carrying out the purposes of said corporation.

The principal place of business shall be Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

RESOLVED, (2) That the resolution now adopted amending Article I of the Certificate of Incorporation of this company be embraced in a certificate duly executed by the president and secretary of the company under its corporate seal and that the same be filed, recorded and published in the manner required by law.

OPENING OF CEDED CHIPPEWA LANDS.—Department of the Interior, General Land Office, Washington, D. C., Feb. 15, 1916.—Notice is hereby given, That 56,175.62 acres of ceded Chippewa lands in the former Red Lake, White Earth, Leech Lake, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Winnebigoshish, Deer Creek, Bois Fort and Pigeon River Indian Reservations, in the State of Minnesota, will be opened to homestead entry at the district land offices at Cass Lake, Crookston and Duluth, Minnesota, on April 26, 1916, on and after 9 o'clock a. m., under Section 6 of the act of January 14, 1889 (25 Stat., 642), and under the laws applicable to townsites. A portion of these lands were opened to settlement on January 11, 1915, and September 27, 1915, and the remainder will be subject to settlement at 9 o'clock a. m., on April 12, 1916. No rights can be acquired by settling on the lands prior to the time they are subject to settlement. A portion of the lands, 3,815.35 acres, are classified as pine lands, and applicants for these lands will be required to pay an appraised price for the timber thereon at the time of making entry, as provided in Section 27, act of June 25, 1910 (36 Stat., 862). Printed lists of the lands to be opened and copies of the instructions governing the disposal of said lands, may be obtained, as soon as they can be printed for distribution, upon application to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, Washington, D. C., or the Registers and Receivers of the United States land offices, at Cass Lake, Crookston and Duluth, Minnesota. Clay Tallman, Commissioner. Approved Feb. 19, 1916. Andrieus A. Jones, First Assistant Secretary.

POULTRY, EGGS

and BABY FOWLS ARE WANTED!

THERE are a large number of people in Duluth and vicinity who will buy breeding stock, eggs, baby fowls or chickens for laying this season. Some one will gladly purchase what you wish to sell. Herald want ads are the best poultry salesman available.

CIRCULATION GREATEST —RATES LOWEST

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in the world in a city the size of Duluth. Its rates for classified advertising are less per thousand circulation than those of any other paper in Minnesota. Best results are gained from ads when definite information is given. When information is lacking the presumption is that desirable features are lacking. Information as to contract rates and the probable amount of space your ad would take gladly given.

One Cent a Word Each Insertion. No Advertisement Less Than 15 Cents.

AUTOS & MOTORCYCLES.

98 PER CENT OF AUTO BUYERS READ THE DULUTH HERALD.

The names in which automobile licenses are issued have been checked with The Duluth's Herald subscription lists, and it was found that 98 out of every 100 people who buy cars read The Duluth Herald.

If you have a car for sale or trade, offer it in this automobile column and you will reach practically every one who will buy.

VILLA ELUDES PURSUERS AND FLEES WEST

NEARLY FOUR SCORE PERSONS, INCLUDING SOME AMERICANS, MISSING FROM CHANNEL SHIP

WAS EITHER TORPEDOED OR STRUCK MINE

Terrific Explosion on Steamship Sussex on Way to France.

Several Americans Rescued, One Woman Being Seriously Injured.

Front Part of Steamer Blown to Pieces By Force of Explosion.

London, March 25.—Information obtained from passengers on the channel steamship Sussex, damaged by an explosion yesterday afternoon on the way from Folkestone to Dieppe, indicates there may have been a considerable loss of life. One American is missing and is supposed to have been lost. Another was injured seriously. Several Americans were rescued.

Opinion of passengers of the Sussex is divided as to whether the vessel was the victim of a mine or a torpedo. The explosion was terrific. It occurred just ahead of the captain's bridge and tore the front part of the steamer to pieces, killing or injuring a number of persons. Many were wounded severely by flying splinters. The admiralty states that 250 survivors have been landed in France and between 90 and 100 at Dover. As there were 386 passengers and about 50 men in the crew, 75 or more persons are still missing.

Some Blown to Pieces.

Edward Huxley, who witnessed the catastrophe from beginning to end says that several passengers and a number of the crew undoubtedly were blown to atoms by the explosion.

Mr. Huxley told the Associated Press a remarkable story of the manner in which the forward part of the vessel was torn off at the captain's bridge. The remainder of the vessel was so little damaged that even the electric lights continued to burn.

The scene on the Sussex after the explosion was horrible, Mr. Huxley said.

FRENCH TROOPS ARE ACTIVE NEAR SALONIKI

Fire Shots From Heavy Guns at Germans Repairing Bridges.

Berlin, March 25, via London.—The Berliner Tageblatt's Macedonian correspondent says that French forces from the entrenched camp at Saloniki have been showing activity in the neighborhood of Gievgeli on the Serbian-Greek frontier, where they fired ten shots from heavy guns against German-Austrian pioneers who were repairing bridges. The shots did no damage. The French also carried out a bombardment in the vicinity of Doiran. A number of small skirmishes between patrols have taken place, the correspondent adds.

RUSS ACTIVITY IS MAINTAINED

Fighting on Eastern Front Continues Despite Rain and Snow.

Germans Claim to Have Repulsed Attacks of Czar's Troops.

Berlin, March 25, via London.—Military activity on the northern sector of the eastern battle front continues despite alternating rain and snow.

Russian drum fire was heavy on the night of March 20, and in the early morning of March 21, between the Narocz and Wiszniew lakes, and it was particularly heavy just southward of Narocz lake, where the German line ran from Blisniki to Mokryza, and thence to the westward.

The Russians directed their main attack against this small salient with a harassing concentrating force and the Germans drew back to their second line to avoid unnecessary losses. The Russians, who came forward in heavy attacking columns, were sanguinarily repulsed and the Germans followed them to Blisniki and then retired. The Russians did not follow them the second time. The Russians succeeded in capturing some trenches to the south of Wileity, but they were driven out on the afternoon of March 21 and lost 600 prisoners. The Russian losses were said to have been very heavy while the casualties of the Germans were declared to be light.

SINKS RAIDER; SUNK HERSELF

German and British Ships Go Down in North Sea.

Greif Sunk By Gunfire; Alcantara By a Torpedo.

London, March 25.—A German raider has been sunk in the North sea. Five German officers and 115 men out of a total of 300 were captured. The British lost seventy-four men.

The British armed merchantman Alcantara, which sunk the German raider, the Greif, was herself sunk.

The fight occurred in the North sea on Feb. 29. The Greif was sunk by gunfire and the Alcantara by a torpedo. The British losses were made up of five officers and sixty-nine men.

The Alcantara was a large liner belonging to the Royal Mail Steam Packet company of Belfast. She had been in the service of the British government for some time. Her gross tonnage was 15,300. She was 570 feet long and was built in Glasgow in 1913.

SUBMARINE ACTIVITY WORRIES SHIPPERS

Recurrence of Torpedoing Likely to Affect Insurance of Vessels.

London, March 25.—Recurrence of submarine activity is causing increasing worry among shippers and underwriters, although the insurance market has held steady since the fixing of the government rate of 1 per cent, which has not been raised. Most Atlantic voyages are insured under this arrangement, but east coast and North sea insurances are increasingly difficult to effect. Mediterranean voyages are still very stiff at 4 per cent. The fact that most of the announcements fail to give the positions of boats which have been torpedoed adds to the uncertainty of the market.

Rumors Are Baseless.

Tokio, March 25.—The foreign office declares that rumors concerning a revision of the Anglo-Japanese alliance are baseless, Japan and Great Britain have reached an amicable understanding concerning patrols in the Pacific for the inspection of ships.

CITY OF VERDUN.

Berlin, March 25, via London, 3:35 p. m.—Verdun is in flames, according to today's official statement by the German army headquarters.

U. S. MANUFACTURES DOUBLE IN VALUE

Making Twice as Many Goods as Any Country in World.

New York, March 25.—Manufactures in the United States have doubled in value since 1900, according to an analysis of 1915 census returns thus far published made by the foreign trade department of the National City bank. These figures show that the output for 1914 will amount to $24,000,000,000 as compared with less than $12,000,000,000 shown by the census of 1900.

The compilation shows that the manufactures of the United States now are double those of any other country in the world.

NO AMERICANS KILLED AT THE GIBSON RANCH.

Columbus, N. Mex., March 25.—Investigation of reports that Mexican brigands had raided the border eight miles from here and killed three Americans disclosed that they are unfounded.

Everything was quiet at Gibson's ranch and there was no trouble there.

GERMAN FINANCES IN REMARKABLE SHAPE

Money for Another Half Year Assured By New War Loan.

London, March 25.—Further details of the address before the reichstag of Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the imperial treasury, in announcing that 10,600,000,000 marks was subscribed to the new war loan, are forwarded by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent. He quotes Dr. Helfferich as follows

"The financing of the war for another half year is assured. * * * Germany is the only belligerent power which has covered her total war expenditure by long term loans. That a nation of 70,000,000, cut off from the outer world by arbitrary acts in conflict with international law, should have borne for twenty months the heavy burdens of the war and should now again be offering more than 10,000,000,000 marks to the fatherland, is proof of greatness beyond praise of words. It signifies our strength is unbroken, our confidence in final victory unshaken and that the German people stand united as one man."

To Represent Japan.

Tokio, March 25.—Baron Yoshiro Sakatani, former minister of finance, has been designated to represent Japan at the forthcoming economic conference of the Entente allies at Paris.

SHIPMENTS TO BE INSPECTED

No Arms Will Be Allowed to Go Where Disloyalty Is Feared.

No Intention to Hold Up Munitions Going to Carranza.

Washington, March 25.—Eleslo Arredondo, Carranza's ambassador, protested to Secretary Lansing today that ammunition for Gen. Carranza, consigned on a ship leaving New York yesterday, was held by the customs authorities.

Secretary Lansing told the ambassador there was no intention to hold up ammunition for Gen. Carranza and that the delay was caused by a preliminary examination to assure the government that the shipment would not reach his enemies. It will be allowed to go forward.

Customs officials, however, will inspect all shipments of ammunition to Carranza to make sure they are not going to sections where disloyalty is feared.

President to Issue Statement.

President Wilson himself probably will issue the expected official statement on alarmist reports from the Mexican border instead of having Secretary Lansing do it as was at first planned. The president and the cabinet are so convinced that certain reports

GET THROUGH NET OF TROOPS SAYS EL PASO

No Further Word of Reported Fight With Bandit at El Oso.

Wireless Working Well But No News Comes From Gen. Pershing.

Advanced Columns of Americans Said to Be Near Namiquipa.

El Paso, Tex., March 25.—Francisco Villa was reported early today to be fleeing west in the San Miguel country, having successfully eluded the encircling ring that was being drawn around him by American and Carranza troops. News of the outlaw's retreat westward was brought here from El Valle, but could not be confirmed at Fort Bliss or in Mexican official circles.

Several thousand American soldiers are known to be ranging the country south of Casas Grandes in every direction trying to locate the bandit, but have not come into contact with him. Wire communication out of El Paso into Mexico is still interrupted, and it is believed that roving bands of Villa men are responsible for the wire cutting. Mexican Consul Garcia was still without further word of the fight reported between Carranza soldiers and Villa at El Oso.

Confirm Reports.

Dispatches received at Mexico City and Douglas, Ariz., apparently confirm the reports to El Paso from Gen. Bertani in the field that the troops of the de facto government had come into contact with Villa in the Santa Clara canyon. Gen. Pershing has made no mention of this battle and army officers here incline to the belief that it was probably no more than an outpost engagement.

Maj. Sample, in command of the United States army base at Columbus, has been asked to investigate the report in Douglas, Ariz., that Villa bandits had crossed the border eight miles west of Columbus and murdered three Americans, two women and one man. The bandits, numbering 100 or more, are said to have recrossed into Mexico after the killing. The presence of such a body of Villa forces in the upper

OFFERS TO TURN MILL OVER TO HIS EMPLOYES

Will Let Them Run It If They Will Pay Him 8 Per Cent.

Paterson, N. J., March 25.—An offer by Henry Doherty, part owner of one of the largest silk mills in this city, to turn the mill over to his employes to operate, provided they guarantee to pay him 8 per cent of his investment, has caused much discussion among the silk workers here.

It is understood that Mr. Doherty's suggestion was made because of a strike unless demands of 30,000 employes in the silk mills for a 9-hour working day are granted. The mill owners have offered a 9½-hour day, beginning May 1, and a 9-hour day on Nov. 1.

Mr. Doherty asserts that his offer is sincere and that, if the operatives accept, they can work as few hours a day as they please, provided his 8 per cent is paid.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL WHICH WAY A FROG WILL JUMP.

BRITISH STEAMSHIP TORPEDOED; FOUR AMERICANS ARE MISSING

Englishman of Dominion Line, Used as Horse Ship, Sunk Near British Isles; Eighteen Persons on Board Not Accounted For.

London, March 25.—The steamer Englishman of the Dominion line has been sunk, according to Lloyds. It is stated that thus far sixty-eight survivors have been accounted for.

The British steamer Englishman, a vessel of 5,257 tons, plies between Portland, Me., and Avonmouth. Whether she was sunk by a mine or a torpedo has not been stated.

Lloyds says the British steamship Salvbia has been sunk and the passengers and crew were saved.

The Salybia, of 3,352 tons, 342 feet long and 46 feet beam, was built in 1904 at South Shields and was owned by Scrutton & Sons of London. In the last available shipping records the vessel is reported as having left Barbadoes on March 3 for London.

Four Americans Are Missing.

Washington, March 25.—Consular reports to the state department today say the Dominion line steamer Englishman, sunk near the British Isles, was torpedoed and that four Americans are missing. The Englishman was a horse ship.

The missing Americans are Peter McDonald, a horse foreman of Boston; George McDonald, a trimmer of Lawrence, Mass.; P. Buckley and M. A. Burke, addresses unknown.

The dispatches to the state department were from Consul Armstrong at Bristol and said the Englishman was torpedoed at an unknown place and time and that thirty-three survivors had been brought into an unnamed British port. The American citizens known to be aboard the ship were not among the survivors. The consul also reported that sixty more persons who were aboard the ship were believed by the British authorities to have been saved, although no definite information on that point was available. If sixty more persons were saved, eighteen persons remain unaccounted for, according to the dispatch.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A naval encounter in the North sea Feb. 29 resulted in the sinking of the German raider Greif by the British armed merchantman Alcantara, a vessel in the British government service, London announces. The Alcantara was herself sunk by a torpedo.

The cross-channel steamer Sussex, with a number of Americans on board, has reached Boulogne, France, after having been seriously damaged by an exterior explosion, probably caused either by mine or torpedo. Several passengers, among them one American, are reported to have lost their lives and one American is known to have been injured. Dispatches indicate that at least seventy-five persons are missing.

Berlin reports that the city of Verdun is on fire. The lull in the fighting around Verdun continues. Paris reports a quiet night on both banks of the Meuse north of the stronghold, the only incident mentioned being an artillery duel in the Woevre district near Moulainville.

Washington has been advised in consular reports that the Dominion line steamer Englishman, sunk in British waters, was torpedoed and that four Americans are missing. The Englishman was a horse ship.

SUFFERING FROM DRUG

Effects of Narcotic Still Apparent in Condition of Waite.

Young Dentist, Charged With Murder, Cheered By Visit of Parents.

New York, March 25.—Still suffering from the effects of the narcotic drugs he began to take when his troubles overwhelmed him, Dr. Arthur Warren Waite spent a restless night under close guard in the prison ward at Bellevue hospital. By Monday the district attorney expects to receive from the grand jury an indictment charging the young dentist with first degree murder in administering the arsenic which caused the death of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, the Grand Rapids millionaire.

Waite was cheered today by prospects of seeing his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Waite, who came here last night from their home in Grand Rapids.

"Our son never committed this awful crime of which they charge him," said Mr. Waite. "Give him a chance and we feel certain it will be cleared up."

Wife Sends Message.

Mr. Waite added that he brought a mesage to the accused man from his wife, who is ill at the Peck home in Grand Rapids. Mr. Waite said his daughter-in-law had called him to her home before he started for New York and told him to tell her husband she wanted to come to New York to comfort him, and that she did not believe a word of all that had been said about him.

"Tell him I have heard what they say about him and another woman," Mr. Waite quoted the young wife as saying. "It makes absolutely no difference to me. And even if it were true about that other woman, tell him that I forgive."

Detectives said today they had found and identified the woman with whom Dr. Arthur Warren Waite had registered at a hotel here as "Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walters." She was described as formerly a singer in public and now the wife of an inventor and electrical engineer. She said Dr. Waite had fitted up a studio in the hotel so that they could study music and languages there together.

FOUR ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

Arrested When Apparently Ready to Go Through Hotel.

Four men who, police believe, were just about to go through the rooms at the New York hotel, Seventh avenue west and Superior street, and rob the guests, were arrested by Patrolmen O. Olson and Gleason early this morning.

When the patrolmen learned that there was trouble at the place, they made a quick investigation and reached the hotel in time to see Matt Johnson, 27, standing on a chair and looking over a transom into one of the rooms. Johnson is an old offender, according to police, so they looked further.

Before the search ended, four men were under arrest. In addition to Johnson, Victor Lane, 22; William Miller, 24, and Thomas Jones, 36, were gathered in.

In the room occupied by Lane and Miller the policemen found a revolver and a set of skeleton keys, but both denied ownership of the articles and protested that they were innocent. Jones was running around the halls when caught.

After an investigation the officers learned that all of the men but Jones roomed on the second floor. They were arrested on the third floor.

Jones succeeded in clearing himself today, and was sentenced to seven days at the work farm after pleading guilty to drunkenness. Johnson pleaded not guilty to drunkenness, while the other two were not arraigned. Charges of attempted burglary may be placed against them, police said.

APRIL 10 FIXED FOR DATE OF ORPET TRIAL

Waukegan, Ill., March 25.—A motion to quash the indictment against Will H. Orpet, Wisconsin university student, charged with murdering his former sweetheart, Marion Frances Lambert, high school girl, was overruled yesterday by Judge C. H. Donnelly in the Lake county circuit court.

Orpet was then arraigned and pleaded not guilty, after which his counsel asked that the young man be admitted to bail. Judge Donnelly denied the request. The trial was set for April 10 in the Lake county court.

RUSS ACTIVITY IS MAINTAINED

The following official communication was issued yesterday:

"Western front: Our raiding parties which had passed the Dvina, captured an enemy machine gun in the Friedrichstadt district. In the Jacobstadt section important forces of Germans made counter attacks near Augustinhof, which we successfully repulsed.

"Northeast of Lake Vargunek our offensive is developing. Our detachments are advancing in the Dvinsk region after having repulsed several counter attacks. The battle continues southward of Dvinsk.

"Very desperate fighting, at some places hand to hand, took place during the course of Wednesday night northward of the town of Widsy and in the Misehkle section northwestward of Lake Sekly. Notwithstanding the heavy enemy fire, our troops, with a strong forward drive, forced all the adversary lines and barricades in the sector of Clipa and a German counter attack was repulsed.

"Our artillery is keeping under its fire many parts of the enemy's position, thus preventing the repairing of damage. Between Lakes Narotche and Vichnevskie the fighting continues. Our troops have dislodged the enemy from the woods in the vicinity of Blynek and Mokoitca, although they were strongly defended and surrounded by wire entanglements.

"In the course of the fighting from the 18th to the 20th we took the following prisoners: In the region northwest of Poislavy, two officers and 160 soldiers, and in the region of Lake Narocz, 78 officers and 1,255 soldiers.

"We captured 18 machine guns, 26 field mortars, 10 trench mortars; 2 mine throwers, 1 howitzer of 15 centimeter caliber, 4 searchlights, 637 rifles, 300 grenades and 12 carloads of shells.

"In the southern region, as far as the Sylvstre sector and in Galicia, there have been lively artillery duels at some points.

"Caucasus front: Our progress continues.

"In Persia, south of Lake Urumiah, we have dispersed several detachments of Kurds."

are part of a propaganda to force a general intervention in Mexico that it was decided the subject was of sufficient importance for the president to deal with personally.

Convinced that powerful influences are at work to force intervention in Mexico through the spreading of alarming rumors, administration officials today were considering just what steps shall be taken to bring the agitation to an end. Many officials believe that a well-defined effort is being made by interests owning property in Northern Mexico to inflame the minds of people in the United States and in Mexico to a point where war between the two countries would be inevitable.

Galena district would be a threat to the line of communication to the base of the American expedition at Casas Grandes.

Wireless Working Well.

San Antonio, Tex., March 25.—With the wireless working satisfactorily for almost the first time since American troops have been in Mexico, Gen. Funston is today awaiting dispatches from Gen. Pershing to confirm persistent reports that United States troops have engaged Villa forces near Namiquipa. In messages received yesterday from field headquarters at Casas Grandes, two of the advanced columns were reported to be in the vicinity of Namiquipa but no mention was made of an engagement.

The reported killing of three Americans near Gibson's ranch, fifteen miles west of Columbus, presumably by Mexican bandits, was received with deep concern at department headquarters early today.

No explanation was offered of the report from El Paso that two companies of the Seventh infantry were on duty at police headquarters last night. It was pointed out by officers that Brig. Gen. Bell, in command of troops at El Paso, has authority to employ his troops for the best protection of the border town.

Does Not Credit Report.

Columbus, N. Mex., March 25.—Maj. W. R. Sample does not credit the report that Mexican brigands raided Gibson's ranch and killed three Americans, but has ordered the border patrol to investigate. The major says many troops have been passing Gibson's ranch and they would have known if a killing had taken place.

More Troops to Border.

San Antonio, Tex., March 25.—In answer to protests from residents at Presidio, Marfa and Del Rio for greater protection, Gen. Funston has announced that a battalion of the Twenty-fourth infantry, now on the way here from Fort D. A. Russell, will be stationed in that district. One company will go to Marfa to relieve a company of the Fourteenth, which will go to Presidio, opposite Ojinaga, Mex., and two companies will go to Del Rio for patrol duty along the Southern Pacific railway. Another company will be stationed at Fabens, near El Paso.

Col. Foltz, commanding the troops at Douglas, today disposed of the rumor that Carranza troops were being massed along the border. He reported that the garrison at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, comprised only 200 officers and men and that there was but one battery of artillery.

Three Americans Reported Killed.

Douglas, Ariz., March 25.—Three Americans, two women and a man, were killed near Gibson's line ranch on the New Mexico boundary, eight miles west of Columbus, N. Mex., between 4 and 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, presumably by Mexicans, according to the story brought here by a party of five Douglas people who said they arrived on the scene shortly after the bodies had been removed by soldiers. A command of United States soldiers, stationed at the Gibson ranch, was said to have crossed the line in pursuit of the slayers.

Samuel Collins, automobile dealer; Mr. and Mrs. Russell T. Childers, Miss Lottie Milinowski and Edward Freeman, all of Douglas, were the automobilists who told of the alleged killing.

Names Not Known.

The names of the persons said to have been killed were not learned. According to the story told by Mr. and Mrs. Childers and Miss Milinowski, the party had been to El Paso on a pleasure trip. They decided that they would visit Columbus to view the ruins left by the raid of Villa's men, instead of returning here through Deming and Lordsburg, N. Mex. After leaving Columbus Wednesday afternoon they were stopped at Hermanas by the railroad section foreman, they said, who warned them that something was wrong at the Gibson ranch, a few miles farther on. He said that he had been watching through a pair of binoculars and had seen a mounted band of 100 or more men, supposedly Mexican bandits, cross the border near the ranch and ride to a water hole a mile and a half north. After watering their horses, they rode back across the line. He added that within a short time a number of troopers of the Twelfth cavalry had come to the ranch house and moved about in an excited manned.

Protected By Troops.

The automobilists proceeded toward the ranch, but before they had arrived there they were stopped by a Twelfth cavalryman, who advised them to come to the ranch house immediately so the detachment could afford them protection. They were guarded at the house all night by several troopers who had arrived there from Hachita, N. Mex., in response to the alarm given when the three bodies had been found.

The five civilians passed a sleepless night, sitting in the car, while the soldiers crouched around them in the pouring rain on guard.

Peals of thunder and intermittent flashes of lightning increased the apprehension of the women.

The soldiers told them that the bodies of two women and a man had been found in an automobile near the ranch, but they did not know what disposition had been made of them. After daylight they were allowed to proceed toward Hachita.

They did not stop there, they said, to make inquiry about the affair.

NEARLY FOUR SCORE PERSONS, INCLUDING SOME AMERICANS, MISSING FROM SHIP

He would venture no opinion whether the disaster was caused by a mine or a torpedo.

Difficulties imposed by war conditions in communicating with English and cross-channel ports have made it impossible thus far to obtain accurate information regarding the circumstances of the disaster and the names and nationality of the passengers. Most of the passengers are believed to have been continentals. There were 270 women and children on the vessel.

The Sussex carried twelve life-boats and several rafts. The lifeboats were lowered quickly after the explosion.

Good discipline was maintained, although there was some scrambling for the boats.

Second Boat Overturned.

The second boat which was lowered containing forty persons which was overturned. Passengers state that thirty of those in this boat were drowned.

A number of the passengers jumped overboard. Gratings and pieces of furniture were thrown to them from the decks. More than half of those who leaped into the water are believed to have lost their lives.

The foremasts and wireless apparatus were blown away by the explosion. The wireless operator attempted unsuccessfully to rig a substitute.

Persons who embarked in the boats returned to the Sussex before dark. Rockets were fired during the early part of the night and at about midnight a trawler came to the rescue. It took as many as it could carry to Boulogne.

A British destroyer came up soon afterwards and took on the other passengers, conveying them to Dover. Five bodies were left on the Sussex.

Americans on Board.

London, March 25, 2:26 p. m.—The following Americans were aboard the Sussex: Joshua D. Armitage, J. N. Baldwin, Helen Baldwin, Elizabeth Baldwin, Gertrude L. Barnes, Charles T. Crocker, Samuel Bemis, Henry Deer, Ida Deer, Lillian C. S. Harde, Edna S. Harde, Edward Huxley, Dorothy Phillips Hilton, Edna Francis Hilton, Edna Hall, John H. Hearley, Edward Marshall, Wilder G. Penfield, George Henry Parker, Jr., Alice W. Ruiz, Mrs. Tolliote Zennell, Daniel Sargent, Tinglewoods Tuiderson, Gertrude W. Nzlik Warren, Francis E. Drake.

Engineer Killed.

The chief engineer of the Sussex was killed by the explosion and the purser was wounded seriously.

An American, whose name is not known to survivors who have reached London, was talking with the Baldwin family, close to the captain's bridge, when the explosion occurred. He has not been seen since that time and is supposed to have been lost.

The explosion occurred at about 3 p. m., when the Sussex was an hour and a half out of Folkestone. The wireless apparatus was destroyed and no help arrived until nearly midnight. Had it not been for the watertight compartments the Sussex would have been sunk and the loss of life would have been heavier.

Say She Was Torpedoed.

Paris, March 25.—Reports of the damaging of the Sussex obtained here today state that she was torpedoed. The Sussex has arrived at Boulogne.

Towed Into Boulogne.

London, March 25.—The cross channel steamer Sussex, which was seriously damaged yesterday near the French coast, was towed into Boulogne early today, according to a dispatch to the Central News. Information received at Dover states that it is now regarded as certain that some lives were lost on the vessel, probably by the explosion which caused the damage to her. A few of the rescued passengers are being brought to Dover, but the majority of those who were taken off the steamer by the rescuing vessels will be landed in France.

The London, Brighton and South Coast Railway company officials say that the passenger list of the Sussex shows that there were twenty-five Americans aboard.

Americans Injured.

Miss Baldwin, daughter of a prominent American resident of Paris, was injured seriously on the Sussex.

Miss Baldwin's father and mother also were on board the vessel. All have been taken to Boulogne. In addition to other injuries Miss Baldwin's leg was broken.

Miss Alice Ruiz of Colorado and Wilder G. Penfield of Merton college, Oxford, are other Americans who were saved.

Edward Huxley, president of the United States Rubber Export company and Francis E. Drake, European manager of the company, are among the Americans rescued from the Sussex. They report that there was a heavy loss of life, including probably several Americans.

According to official information from the admiralty this morning, between ninety and 100 passengers of the Sussex have been landed at Dover and about 250 passengers and members of the crew in France.

No Word From Huxley.

New York, March 25.—Officers of the United States Rubber Export company, which handles the export business of the United States Rubber company with officers here, said today they had received no word from Edward Huxley, president of the export company, who was rescued from the steamship Sussex in the English channel.

Mr. Huxley left this city in January on a business trip to England and the continent. He was not accompanied by his family, and officers of the company said they knew the names of no other Americans on board the Sussex except Francis L. Drake, mentioned in cable dispatches as rescued with Mr. Huxley. Mr. Drake lives in London. Mr. Huxley's home is in Englewood, N. J.

VIRGINIA QUINT DEFEATS SLAYTON

Northfield, Minn., March 25.—In the first game played here in the basket ball state championship series the Virginia five, champions of the Northeastern Minnesota, last night defeated the Slayton team, 40 to 10. Buhl "Cobweb Social."

Buhl, Minn., March 25.—What was called a "cobweb social" was given by the Mothers' club in the high school auditorium and kindergarten Thursday night and proved very successful. Numbers on the program included a vocal solo by Miss Esther Sathers, a ukelele and vocal duet by Miss Glen Hotchkiss and Miss Esther Cloutier, selections by a quartet from the high school orchestra and a reading by Miss Martha Giltner. Lunch followed the program.

The Bell Engineering Staff

Working out complex scientific and engineering problems, the Bell Telephone System has a general staff of more than 500 technical, electrical and mechanical experts.

Most, if not all, the telephone instrumentalities that have led to improvement in telephone service in the world were either evolved by, or adopted and developed by, this staff.

The Bell System's general engineering staff includes a greater number of scientific, technical and mechanical experts of a higher grade than can be found in all the other government or private telephone administrations in the world combined.

By means of this centralized general staff the Bell System is able to keep in advance of the telephone art, avoid repetition and duplication of work, and give each Associated Company in the System expert advice and expert assistance.

The cost of this work is large, but it is spread over a vast system and the cost to each community is very small. The expense has been warranted a hundred fold by results. It has enabled the Bell System to give the best and the cheapest telephone service in the world.

ROOSEVELT IS BACK; DISCOVERS NEW BIRD

Colonel Returns From West Indies; Silent as to Politics.

New York, March 25.—Col. Roosevelt returned last night on the steamship Matura from the West Indies, silent on politics and the Mexican situation, but announcing the discovery in Trinidad of what was to him a new variety of bird in which he was much interested. He and his wife had been absent six weeks on what he termed a vacation.

The bird, he said, was about as big as a barn owl. It lives in caves, is nocturnal in its habits, and eats nuts. Its native name he learned was "Gacharo."

Col. Rooveselt declined to discuss his plans for the future, but said he probably would see George W. Perkins at Oyster Bay today.

"I greatly enjoyed the trip," he said, "and I wish to express my warm appreciation of the courtesy and hospitality of the officials and private citizens of the French, English and Danish islands.

"I was much impressed by the islands. I come home feeling fine and I enjoyed the ocean trip, despite the fact that we ran into a storm Wednesday night during which the waves at times swept clear over the ship.

"I was impressed with the loyalty of the French and British islands to the mother country. The islands have sent to the front and have in training between 20,000 and 30,000 of their young men."

ALL QUIET AT VERDUN, SAYS FRENCH REPORT

Paris, March 25.—The French official statement says that the past night was quiet in the Verdun region both east and west of the Meuse. Artillery duels were in progress in the Woevre region.

FIGURES confirm what we have repeatedly told you:—That Goodyear users far outnumber the users of any other brand of tires.

Out of 353,859 tires counted in 71 principal cities, 75,631 were Goodyear.

This shows a Goodyear preference of 21 per cent—with close to 200 tire brands for buyers to choose from.

What else can it mean except that Goodyear users have found—as you will find—that Goodyear Tires cost less because they go farther, and last longer, and give less trouble?

"BUSINESS MAN" OF 13 LOSES ALL IN FIRE

NOW HAS ONLY "SUNDAY SUIT" TO WORK IN

A 13-year-old boy who earns his own living and goes to school because he "doesn't want to be a burden on his mother," lost all his belongings save one suit of clothes in a fire that destroyed the Guy Bellant home in Homecroft Park last Sunday. Part of his loss consisted of $4, the fruits of weeks of saving.

His name is Vernon Smith, and his plight became known today when neighbors in Homecroft park spoke of "the poor little fellow" who had enough "backbone" for a grown-up.

Until Sunday Vernon lived with the Bellant family, doing chores around the house and helping care for the two little children, in return for a place to sleep and his meals. He also found time to attend the Homecroft Park school, where he is a favorite pupil.

On Sunday afternoon, while he was at Sunday school, the Bellant home burned to the ground, and with it his working clothes, and his carefully hoarded $4.

The Bellants were forced to seek temporary quarters with distant relatives in West Duluth, as they had lost everything in the fire, and 13-year-old Vernon was left to shift for himself.

"Mother has a hard enough time without me bothering," the youngster decided, and rather than go home he found a family living near Bellants, who were willing to take him in.

"I wish'd I had a pair of ove'halls, though," he said, "so's I wouldn't have to work in my Sunday suit. I 'spose it'll be all right but gee, $4 is a lot of money to lose."

Mrs. Smith, the Homecroft Park residents say, lives downtown, and works out by the day. In the meantime they are planning to help Vernon get some clothes, so that he won't have to work in "his Sunday suit."

If Herald readers want to help this 13-year-old business man solve his problems, all they have to do is to volunteer.

Bethany Choir.

PLEASING ADDITION TO PAY ENVELOPES

"B'gosh, 'twas there all right."

That was the expression of one of the employes of the Duluth street railway today after he got his check for his wages for the first half of March.

Today was payday for the company and it was the first payday that the men have received the new wage scale which went into effect on March 1. The new wage means an increase of from $4 to $7 in the semi-monthly pay check of each of the motormen and conductors.

The majority of the checks issued are for $40 or more for the two weeks and a few are $50 and over. The latter are drawn by some of the "older heads," who have been in the service of the company for several years and are drawing the maximum pay.

The new rate of wages which went into effect on March 1 are provided a minimum scale of 23 cents an hour and a maximum of 30 cents. Every employe was benefited to the extent of a raise of 2 cents an hour, while some benefited by a raise of 3 cents and a few 4 cents over the wages paid during February.

The wages now drawn by the employes compare well with those of men employed in many of the trades. In addition the employes work steadier and are under less expense.

NEED NEW SPORT PROMOTER.

Street Railway Men Will Lose Services of Will Johnson.

Will Johnson, one of the leading spirits in furthering sports among the employes of the Duluth Street Railway company, has resigned and will leave Tuesday for Fergus Falls, where he will enter business with his father. Mr. Johnson has been with the claim department of the company for the last four years.

Last evening, Mr. Johnson was guest of honor at a farewell party given by the younger men of the office at the St. Louis hotel. The banquet was attended by fifteen of his fellow employes.

Mr. Johnson has been active in sports, being manager of the first baseball team the company's office employes had three years ago. Through his efforts several good wrestling matches, boxing bouts and other social features have been carried out in recent months.

PLAN MUSICAL AFFAIRS.

Etude Society Will Give Concert at Trinity English Lutheran Church.

A musical program for Tuesday evening has been arranged by the Etude Musical society of the West end at Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street. Plans for the coming spring and summer will be made by the society during its business meeting.

It is expected that a public concert will be given at an early date. The program for Tuesday evening has been arranged under the direction of Miss Ruth Larson, Miss Mabel Samuelson and Arthur Pearson.

ST. PAUL MUSICIAN WILL BE ON PROGRAM

PROF. A. H. OBERG.

Prof. A. H. Oberg of St. Paul, former well-known musician of this city, will be one of the principal attractions at a musical and literary program to be given next Thursday evening at the West end Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The program is being arranged under the direction of the Young People's society.

Prof. Oberg was prominent in musical circles in Duluth several years ago. During the last few years he has been in charge of a music studio in St. Paul.

TOWN BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS AND OVERSEERS

At a meeting of the town board of the town of Herman, held yesterday afternoon at the home of James R. Grady, town clerk, Ernest Zebott was chosen chairman. The board elected William Janzig assessor in the place of Olaf Anderson, who recently resigned owing to illness.

The board selected the four road overseers for the year. They are: District No. 1, William Stebner; District No. 2, Joseph Wargen; District No. 3, William Johnson, and District No. 4, Ray Witte.

Will Preach at Swedish M. E.

Rev. Andrew Anderson, superintendent of the Lake Superior district of the Swedish Methodist church, will preach at the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, at both services tomorrow. A special musical program has been arranged under the direction of Miss Hulda Hanson. At the meeting of the Epworth League a special speaker will give the address.

TOWNE CANDIDATE FOR THE SENATE

Will Enter New York Primaries for Democratic Nomination.

New York, March 25.—Charles A. Towne, former United States senator from Minnesota, announced yesterday that he would enter the primaries in New York for the Democratic nomination to succeed Senaor James O'Gorman.

Mr. Towne, after serving as a representative in congress from Duluth from 1895 to 1897, was appointed by Governor Lind in 1900 to serve two months of an unexpired term in the senate. In 1901 he commenced the practice of law in New York, and in 1904 was elected to congress from this city. Recently he has been supporting President Wilson's preparedness program in speeches throughout the country.

Baudette Wants New Depot.

Baudette, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Board of Trade held a pay-up meeting and within a short time, cleared up all indebtedness, raising over $500. President Collins and his committee worked hard and gave a banquet after the business session. A new depot will be one of the many things they will endeavor to get in the near future.

All that they want,—
all that they can hope for,

—in ease
—in range of efficiency
—in smoothness
—in quietness
—in flexibility
—in quick acceleration
—in hill climbing
—these and all the things which make for luxurious motoring, the Cadillac owner enjoys to a degree which only the Eight-Cylinder Cadillac provides.

CALIFORNIA COW EARNS $1,000 IN ONE YEAR

Sacramento, Cal., March 25.—Tillie Alcatra, a Holstein Friesian cow, owned at Woodland, Cal., already holder of the one-year world's record for milk production, has completed a test which gave her the world's record for two years' production. Her record at two years is 60,276 pounds, it was announced here yesterday.

While making this record Tillie produced as high as 50 quarts of milk a day of commercial milk. Her world's record for one year completed a little more than a year ago, is 30,451.4 pounds.

The earning power of this cow during the year was approximately $1,000, estimating the milk at 8 cents a quart, and subtracting the cost of her food.

G. A. R. TO CELEBRATE GOLDEN JUBILEE

Duluth Posts to Observe Anniversary; Program Not Yet Arranged.

On April 6 the G. A. R. will be fifty years old.

Although Grand Army men throughout the country are planning special celebrations for the anniversary, the Gorman and Culver posts have made no preparations, but will observe simple exercises on the day. The Citizens' Stoff has offered its services in case an elaborate program is desired for the golden anniversary of the organization.

The G. A. R. was organized on April 6, 1866, a year after the Civil war, when all the veterans living in New York city assembled to decorate the graves of their comrades. The following year the first parade was held at Cincinnati on May 30, and in 1868 Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the army, issued an order setting aside May 30 as national Memorial day.

COMMISSION NOW 'CLUB'

Glen-Hunt-Wood Organization Has Changed Title and Elects Officers.

"Glen-Hunt-Wood" residents have dropped the commission form of government.

The Glen-Hunt-Wood commission passed out of existence at the annual meeting last night in the Glen Avon Presbyterian church, and the Glen-Hunt-Wood club took its place.

Norton Mattocks, who has been serving as "mayor" for the last three months in the absence of the presiding officer, was elected president of the new club last evening. The other officers named follow: E. L. Kimball, vice president; E. S. Smith, secretary and treasurer, and H. C. Ash, E. E. Hunner and W. R. Dunlop, members of the executive committee.

During the evening R. S. Mackintosh, horticultural expert from the state university, gave an illustrated lecture on gardening. The meeting followed a dinner served by the women of the church at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Mackintosh was bombarded with questions which he answered in rapid fire manner, showing mastery of his subject, and amateur homecrofters received much valuable advice and information.

Still Another Claimant.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fort Ripley township claims the $200 prize offered by the Cummins campaign committee for polling the largest percentage of votes at the presidential primary. Out of 62 votes on the poll list, 61 voted the presidential preference ticket. One man voted the township ticket and neglected to vote the presidential ballot.

HAVE PURE BLOOD

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes Pure, Rich, Red Blood.

Your heart works night and day without a pause. It is the principal organ of the circulation of your blood. It is of the utmost importance that it should do its work well. The quality and quantity of your blood have much to do with its action. If this fluid is pure and abundant, your heart and other vital organs act with more energy than when it is defective in quality or deficient in quantity.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure and abundant. It is the one old reliable medicine, that has been sold for forty years, for purifying the blood. There is no better blood remedy, appetizer, stomach tonic. It embodies the careful training, experience and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years in its quality and power to cure.

OUTLINE TRAIN'S TRIP.

Itinerary Through Upper Peninsula Is Agreed Upon.

Marquette, Mich., March 25.—J. C. Jeffery of Duluth, land commissioner, and J. H. Jasberg of this city, colonization agent for the South Shore road, have drafted the itinerary for the visit of the M. A. C. school train in the Upper peninsula. The train will be similar to the one that visited this district a year ago, will be equipped by the agricultural college and will be in charge of W. F. Raven and his corps of workers. The object of the train will be "better seed for and better seed preparation by Upper peninsula farmers, which means better crops."

The first stop will be made March 27 at Moran, and the last at St. Ignace April 26, the train going as far north as Chassell, which will be visited April 17.

FREEMAN CASE TO JURY ON MONDAY

The state rested its case late yesterday afternoon in the prosecution of John Freeman, alleged white slaver, who is on trial before District Judge Ensign on one of three indictments pending against him. Freeman is accused of receiving earnings from a prostitute.

A morbid courtroom was disappointed yesterday afternoon when County Attorney Greene moved the court for an order clearing the room of everyone not directly connected with the case.

Freeman ran a grocery store at 1002 Garfield avenue and had furnished rooms for rent. Three women took the stand yesterday afternoon and testified that they had been attaches of the place and that they gave Freeman a percentage of their earnings.

The defense will put in its case Monday morning. The case will probably go to the jury at that time.

PASSOVER TO BE OBSERVED

Jews Will Commemorate The Flight From Egypt.

Passover, or Pesach, commemorating the flight of the Jews from Egypt under the leadership of Moses and the subsequent wanderings in the desert for forty years, will be observed by Duluth Jews for one week, commencing Tuesday, April 18.

During this entire week the Jew eats unleavened bread, or matzos, commemorative of the bread baked by the women of Israel on the night of their hurried departure from Egypt, when the dough was not given time in which to rise. In many orthodox homes separate sets of dishes will be used because of the difference in food eaten.

Passover, or Pesach, is the first event in the Jewish national history, and the stand taken by Moses and his followers against the oppression of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is often called by historians as the first declaration of independence in the history of the world. It is in this flight from Egypt and the subsequent wandering through the deserts for forty years that the Jews commemorate every year, this being 6,676 in the Jewish calendar.

Passover will be ushered in with special services in the synagogues and with the seder in each home. This feast is the most important of the year and is also the occasion for home reunions and gatherings. At the seder the father or head of the house reads the Haggadah, which tells the tale of the suffering Moses and his followers endured in Egypt, their flight from the kingdom of Pharaoh and the later wanderings in the deserts. It is during this reading that many symbolic ceremonials are introduced. During the evening four cups of wine are drunk by every member at the table, with the exception of the children, in memory of the four promises made by the Eternal to redeem Israel from bondage.

On the table are the unleavened cakes (matzos), the shin bone of a lamb (roasted on the coals), commemorative of the Paschal sacrifice; a roasted egg, a mixture of apples and nuts (Charoseth), to symbolize the mortar with which the "Egyptians made bitter the lives" of the fathers, and bitter herbs (Maror), reminiscent of the unhappy days in Egypt.

In song and story the tale of the oppression and the deliverance is rehearsed. Psalms of thanksgiving (Hallel) strike the keynote of the happy occasion. The services, interrupted for the family dinner, close with a number of merry folk songs, expressive of the character of the occasion.

RUSH OF MEN FOR U. S. MARINES

Mexican Trouble Brings Many Applicants to Sergeant Buck.

The Mexican trouble is causing a rush of applicants at the office of Sergeant Frank J. Buck, recruiting officer for the United States marines. During this month there have been thirty-six applications for enlistment and nearly half of these have applied during the last week. Of this number four were accepted this week, making a total of seven for the first three weeks of March. Four applications are still pending. A large number of the applicants were under the legal age, and it has been necessary to await the consent of the parents or guardian.

"We are working at top speed in getting men," said Mr. Buck. "Next week we expect to hear that congress has passed the bill enlarging the marines. Besides, if trouble does come, the marines will be the first to go to the front. There is a battalion ready now at the Philadelphia navy yards, awaiting the order to embark. We have not received any preparatory orders so far."

Recruiting was equally brisk at the United States army quarters in Duluth. Corp. Vincent Morkowsky, who is assistant in charge, reported twenty-eight applications and seven enlistments for March. A large number of these, he said, had come in during the last week and all were ready for immediate service in Mexico.

Falls 300 Feet; Lives.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 25.—Rance Corkin, aged 21 years, was seriously injured Thursday when he fell into the shaft at the Cliffs Shafts mine, a distance of 300 feet. He was rushed to the Ishpeming hospital and an effort is being made to save his life.

Ripon Raises $500,000.

Ripon, Wis., March 25.—President Silas Evans of Ripon college announces that the college endowment fund of $500,000, started last September with $125,000 on hand, had been completed.

Fire at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 25.—Fire of unknown origin early today caused a loss estimated at $100,000 to the plant of the Criswell Furniture company.

OLD RESIDENT DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Mrs. Marie Thompson Is Summoned After Brief Attack.

Mrs. Marie Thompson, aged 76, wife of Thomas Thompson, 17 North Fifty-second avenue west, died last night at 10:30 o'clock following an illness of less than an hour. Death is believed to have been due to heart trouble.

Mrs. Thompson was apparently in the best of health yesterday and early in the evening. She prepared supper for her husband as usual and ate a hearty meal. She was taken ill about bed-time, and shortly afterward Dr. V. A. Young was summoned. The physician arrived just after she had died.

Mrs. Thompson has been a resident of West Duluth for more than twenty years. She leaves besides her husband, two sons, Paul Thompson, a local attorney, and E. A. Thompson, and one daughter, Mrs. J. M. Knapp.

The funeral service will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Bell Brothers' undertaking rooms with interment in Oneota cemetery. Rev. B. L. Opdahl, pastor of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, will officiate.

SUMMONED AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. Adeline Mayhew, Old Resident of Duluth, Dies.

Mrs. Adeline Mayhew, aged 56, died at her home, 5802 Raleigh street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon following a stroke of paralysis, which occurred the evening before. Mrs. Mayhew had been a resident of West Duluth for the last twenty-five years.

Mrs. Mayhew is survived by one son, Edward, and two daughters, Misses Marie and Mabel Mayhew. She also leaves one brother, Edward Patnaud of East Grand Forks, who arrived this morning, and one sister, Mrs. T. G. Fadden of West Duluth.

Mrs. Mayhew was a member of Zenith lodge No. 1027, Royal Neighbors, and Sancta Maria court, Catholic Order of Foresters. The funeral, while not fully arranged, will probably be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. James Catholic church with interment in the Calvary cemetery.

BANQUET FOR MOTHERS.

Girls' Club of Denfeld School Gives Interesting Program.

A banquet for mothers was given last evening by the Girls' club of the Robert E. Denfeld high school. The affair was attended by more than 100 mothers and their daughters. A program of short talks and music featured the gathering.

The principal addresses were given by Miss Caroline Torman, Miss Gladys Gamache, Mrs. A. R. Armstrong and Mrs. C. Phillips. Miss Rose Harris was toastmaster. Musical numbers were given by Miss Dorothy Pierson and Miss Helen O'Connor.

BODY BROUGHT TO DULUTH.

Sucko Gokovich, Accident Victim, Will Be Buried Here.

The body of Sucko Gokovich, aged 40, who was killed in an accident at Sioux City, Iowa, was brought here yesterday and taken to M. J. Filiatrault's undertaking rooms. Mr. Gokovich was once a resident of West Duluth. He was killed Wednesday while working in a quarry by being crushed under falling stone.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the undertaking rooms with burial in Oneota cemetery.

Shower for Mrs. Zimmerman.

Miss Ethel Larson, 511 North Sixtieth avenue west, entertained Thursday evening at a shower in honor of Mrs. E. Zimmerman, who formerly was Miss Hulda Larson. Games and fusic featured the entertainment. The guests were: Misses Marie Tapley, Mary Johnson, Ada Johnson, Annie Zimmerman, Marie Bergl, Mabel Larson, Martha Powers, Pearl Larson, Emma Zimmerman and Ethel Larson; Mrs. E. Zimmerman and Henry Larson, Ed Johnson and Arthur Larson.

Gives Birthday Party.

Mrs. E. Fagan, 5712 Wadena street, entertained at her home in honor of Mr. Fagan's birthday anniversary Monday evening. Cards and music were features, following which luncheon was served. The honors were won by Mrs. Joseph McDougall and James Webber. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames James Webber, Joseph McDougall, Joseph Jacobs, Joseph Sullivan, Edward Shannon, D. Zizer, E. Brainerd; Mrs. Joseph Blais, Mrs. Thomas Fagan of Cloquet; Misses Agnes Blais, Josephine Blais, Delvinca Blais and Delcmia Blais and Mr. and Mrs. William Miller.

POSTMASTER TALKS ON MAIL SERVICE

Answers Complaints of West Duluth Commercial Club.

Mail service in the city of Duluth was the theme of an address given last night by William E. McEwen, postmaster, at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. Mr. McEwen promised to take up with the department several complaints, which have recently been made by members of the club, among these being the early closing of evening mails. An earlier morning delivery is also sought.

The club will take up at its next meeting a discussion of an extension of the street railway lines to New Duluth. A delegation of members from the New Duluth Commercial club will be present to discuss the matter with the local members.

PLANS TO OPEN ROOSEVELT STREET

Condemnation Proceedings Will Be Begun Next Week.

Condemnation proceedings for the opening of Roosevelt street from Fifty-eighth avenue across the Northern Pacific railroad tracks will be begun Monday, according to information given members of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening. Sentiment of the members was to the effect that if the thoroughfare was opened through to Fifty-ninth avenue instead of through to Grand avenue it would satisfy many of the business men.

The opened street would then be within a half block of Grand avenue. The extra cost of condemning and acquiring property diagonally through the lots to Grand avenue would, it is claimed, cost a great deal of money, the city probably having to pay the full value of about six lots, while only parts of these would be taken.

"If we get the street opened across the railroad tracks, it would greatly improve traffic conditions," said W. A. Pond this morning. "This part of the work is the most important. When traffic can be swung across the tracks on Roosevelt street, it is but a short distance to Grand avenue, and it is questionable whether the extra outlay would be worth the difference if we go through the string of lots with the street."

Must Keep Away From Wife.

William Arbour must keep away from his wife, Mrs. Julia Arbour, and is forbidden from even entering their home at 214 North Fifty-second avenue west, pending the outcome of their divorce case. The restraining order directed against Arbour was signed yesterday by Judge Dancer and served on Arbour. Mrs. Arbour was given temporary custody of the six children. She is suing for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. B. Jones, 610 North Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Victrolas and records at Spencer's. Easy payments if desired.

Mrs. Thomas Fagan of Cloquet, Minn., has returned home after spending a few days visiting at the home of Mrs. B. Fagan, 5712 Wadena street.

Zenith Lodge No. 1027, Royal Neighbors, entertained at cards last evening at the Great Eastern hall. Five hundred and progressive pedro were played at sixteen tables.

Watch repairing. Hurst. West Duluth.

Have your prescriptions filled at Olander's Drug store, 5503 Grand Ave.

Mrs. Frank E. Watson, 6020 Worden street, entertained at a bridge party for members of the West Duluth Ski club. The guests were Mrs. E. W. F. Boerner, Mrs. Elliott J. Aman, Mrs. E. J. Zauft, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. R. Y. Dunn, and Mrs. R. J. Fisher.

Mrs. John Rockwell, 415 North Fifty-ninth avenue will entertain Tuesday afternoon for the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

Reo motor cars for service.

WOULD KEEP OPEN SUNDAY

Pool Room Owners Broach Plan But Do Not Attend Conference.

Duluth poolroom owners want to keep open on Sunday.

They arranged for a conference with the city commissioners this morning, but they failed to appear, although the members of the council waited for nearly half an hour. The commissioners were non-committal about the proposition, although they declared that the Hicken code prohibits the opening of poolrooms on Sunday.

The conference was arranged by an officer of the pool men's organization who called up Mayor Prince earlier in the morning and asked if a delegation could meet with the commissioners at 11:15 o'clock. He explained that there is a general demand for the opening of poolrooms on Sunday and the sentiment of the council was desired on this question. He explained that the poolroom owners would like to keep open only in the afternoon and evening on Sunday, remaining closed in the morning.

At 11:15 o'clock the commissioners assembled in Mayor Prince's office, but no delegation arrived.

After waiting until 11:45 o'clock, Commissioner Farrell, works head, invited the commissioners on a visit to the old armory for the purpose of inspecting his equipment and the work done by the laborers in repairing and painting all the old vehicles and machinery that have been stored away for the winter.

"The ordinance regulates the operation of poolrooms," said Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, "and I don't see how the council can grant the poolroom owners permission to keep open on Sunday. It is outside the jurisdiction of the commissioners."

SAILORS GET MORE WAGES

Lake Carriers and Pittsburgh Company Advance Scale 10 Per Cent.

All Benefit From Captains to "Handy Men" on Bulk Freighters.

The certainty of improved conditions on the Great Lakes for the coming season has resulted in a general advance of wages for captains, mates, engineers and seamen on the ships controlled by the Pittsburgh Steamship company and by the Lake Carriers' association as a whole. It amounts to about 10 per cent. This includes practically every bulk freighter on the lakes. It does not take in the ships of the newly formed Great Lakes Transit company, which is expected to take over the package freighters divorced from railroad control last December, nor the lumber fleets. It is expected, however, that the companies controlling these fleets will have to meet the advance in wage scale.

The advances to men employed on the bulk freighters were decided on at meetings that were held this week in Cleveland and have just been announced. A general advance of about 10 per cent was made by the lake carriers.

Mates Are Benefited.

A new schedule for mates was adopted at the meeting of the officials and captains of the Pittsburgh Steamship company. The wages of first mates of first-class steamers were advanced from $130 to $140 a month and the first mates of second-class steamers, who received $112 a month last season, will get $115. The wages of second mates on first-class steamers were marked up $10 a month and they will be paid $100 a month. Second mates of second-class steamers will get $85 a month instead of $78. The mates on first-class steamers and the first mates of second-class steamers will be paid for ten months if they fit out and lay up the boats, and the second mates on second-class steamers will receive pay for nine months. The mates on tow barges get an advance of $10 a month, making their wages $80. The new schedule puts the first mates and the first assistant engineers of the fleet on the same basis.

The captains of the Pittsburgh Steamship company will get an advance in wages, and while it is understood that it will amount to something more than 10 per cent, no announcement was made. President Coulby will probably notify the masters of the change by the opening of the season, but the men have a pretty fair idea of what is coming. The captains hereafter will be paid every month.

Will Carry Boatswain.

A boatswain shall be carried on all boats of over 4,500 gross tons government register. The wages of second cooks, waiters, porters, oilers, firemen, water tenders, wheelsmen, lookoutmen, ordinary seamen and coal passers are the same on all classes of steamers.

Class A includes all steel steamers of over 4,000 gross tons, government register. Steamers 4,000 to 6,500 gross tons will carry a third engineer only when equipped with tube boilers and mechanical stokers.

Class B includes all steel bulk freight steamers of 2,100 to 4,000 gross tons, government register and steel package freight steamers over 3,000 gross tons, government register. Steel bulk freighters of this class will carry a third engineer when equipped with water tube boilers and mechanical stokers.

The schedules for all classes of steamers follow:

First-class Steamers.

Class A—	Former Rate	New Rate
Chief engineers	$175.00	$190.00

First mates	112.00	125.00
Second mates	78.00	85.00
Cooks	78.00	85.00

Mates on barges will be paid not less than $10 per month more than seamen on the same vessel, and donkeymen $5 per month more than seamen.

Mates' wages on tow barges of the larger class (vessels which paid their mates $73 per month last year) will be paid $80 per month for the entire season.

Able-bodied seamen on tow barges will be paid $57.50 per month instead of $52.50.

The engineers on tow barges carrying towing machines will get $80 per month instead of $73 as at present.

The cooks on tow barges will get the same wages as seamen on the same barges.

Ordinary seamen on barges will receive $35 per month instead of $31.50 as at present.

The wages of seamen, firemen, oilers and water tenders employed in fitting out will be $1.50 per day, when boarded on the vessel and $2.25 while they are not boarded on the vessel, instead of $2 per day without board as at present.

Sailing wages of seamen, firemen and oilers to be paid until the vessel is laid up. Vessel is considered laid up when steam is turned off.

Wheelsmen, lookoutsmen are men who stand a three-hour trick at the wheel and a three-hour watch on deck each watch. Wheelsmen are men who stand a trick at the wheel, but do not watch. Lookoutsmen are men who stand a watch on deck, but cannot wheel. Handy men, where carried, will get the same wages as firemen.

ORE DOCK AT BUFFALO; CONTRACT AWARDED

Buffalo, N. Y., March 25.—The Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company has been awarded the contract for the construction of the ore dock and stockyard it is proposed to build at what was formerly the New York state steel plant, which was recently purchased by the Donner Steel company.

The fact that this improvement will amount to nearly a million dollars indicates that the Donner Steel company proposes making this plant one of the best in the country, and means a large and well established industry on the Buffalo river.

The construction of this dock will involve the use of at least half a million dollars' worth of material, and will mean the employment of hundreds of Buffalo men during the summer, the company's officers say.

The Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company proposes starting work immediately, and will have a large portion of it completed by Sept. 1.

MARINE ENGINEER DYING IN CHICAGO

John R. McArthur Said to Be at Death's Door.

Ashland, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Information from the United States marine hospital at Chicago has been received to the effect that John R. McArthur, marine engineer, is at death's door with an incurable disease. Mr. McArthur was engaged on boats in the ferry line between Duluth and Superior in 1914 and part of 1915, previously having been employed on vessels running out of Ashland.

He entered the marine hospital at Chicago last year. He was not in good health while working at Duluth, receiving treatment from a Duluth specialist and from the marine doctor there. His son, Robert, recently married, is also a sailor, and about two weeks ago, he and his wife, and Mrs. John R. McArthur moved to Duluth from Grand View.

At the office of the United States inspector of vessels, the government inspector of engines and boilers, M. F. Chalk, said today that Mr. McArthur formerly lived in Duluth, and is well known to the older residents of the city. His work here on the ferries was only temporary and he did not make his home here then, but was a resident of Duluth for quite a number of years before he moved to Ashland. Mr. Chalk expressed deep regret at the news concerning Mr. McArthur.

MEETING OF ROWING MEN

All Candidates for Crews Asked to Assemble Wednesday.

A meeting of the rowing men of the Duluth Boat club has been called for Wednesday evening. The meeting will be held in the Commercial club rooms or the Y. M. C. A. assembly room, that not having been determined as yet.

The meeting is called for the purpose of ascertaining just what men are going to row, as well as to endeavor to secure additional recruits. It is expected that it will be made known just what men can be counted on. It was stated today that the boat club officials expect to have every old man back.

FARGO ARSON CASE SUBMITTED TO JURY

Fargo, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether John Wyman, prominent farmer, real estate and loan man, is guilty of arson or not rests with a jury in district court here. His case was placed in the hands of the jury at 10 o'clock this morning after a hearing which lasted nine full days and which attracted the largest public attention of any case tried here in years. It is the belief by attorneys that the jury will not return before night, if then.

Wyman is charged with having set fire to his residence on Eighth street south early on the morning of March 20, 1915, and the testimony showed holes were cut through the lath, plastering and closets on the second floor and the holes filled with paper and rags saturated with kerosene. Three separate fires were started in the house at the time when no one was home but Wyman.

MAKE THEIR WANTS KNOWN

Firemen Present Petition to Commission and Conference Will Result.

May Abandon Initiative If Their Requests Are Granted.

Establishment of a double platoon system, no salary reductions and vacations of two weeks with pay each year are requested by Duluth firemen in a petition filed with the city commissioners this morning. The measure, which is signed by all the firemen in the city, excepting the chief and two assistant chiefs, will be read at the council meeting next Monday afternoon.

It is understood that if the commissioners carry out the wishes of the firemen, as set forth in this petition, the initiative ordinance now in circulation and already signed by 8,000 voters will be withdrawn. Just what action will be taken, Mayor Prince and the commissioners were unable to say this morning, excepting that a conference will be held next week to discuss the matter. If their requests are granted, the firemen agree to install telephones in their houses, so that they can be called for emergencies.

According to figures obtained by Chief Randall, a double platoon system will require the employment of thirty-four additional firemen at a total salary of $30,600 the first year, each man receiving $75 a month, or $900 a year, during his first year in the department.

The petition filed this morning and signed by ninety-four firemen follows:

"We, the undersigned members of the fire department of the city of Duluth, being desirous of better working conditions in this department, do hereby petition you to grant us the following:

"First, that no member of the fire department of the city of Duluth shall be compelled or required to be on duty more than twelve hours in any one day, except days when changing from the day shift to the night shift, and no member of said department shall be subject to call or perform any duties in said department out of his regular hours, as above defined. Provided, however, that the commissioner of public safety may establish rules as may be necessary to call upon all members of the fire department in cases of conflagrations or unusual fires, and in such cases the chief of the department may require each and every member to assist in the protection of life and property, notwithstanding said member, or fireman, has been relieved from duty under the above provisions.

"Second, that each member of the department shall be allowed a fourteen-day vacation each year, with full pay, provided he shall have been a regular member of the department one year prior to April 1 of that year.

"Third, that there shall be no reduction in the salaries of the department.

"We hereby agree that if we are granted the petition, as above set forth, each member will install in his place of abode a telephone—either Zenith or Duluth—so that he may be called at any time."

NEEDS FARM WORKERS.

Canada in Need of Laborers to Prepare Land for Crops.

A. S. Black, a representative of the Manitoba government, is a guest at the Lenox hotel this week. Mr. Black says that conditions in his province are extremely good but that there is an urgent demand for an army of farm help in Manitoba. As, owing to last year's enormous crops there, little fall plowing has been done and all farm work is in arrears. He says that there are approximately 150,000,000 bushels of grain in Western Canada yet to market. On account of farm work being in arrears and the enormous acreage to put in this spring farmers are offering from $30 to $45, and in some case $50 per month for experienced farm help. This includes board and no Sunday labor.

Mr. Black expressed surprise at the number of people who appear to be of the impression that military service in Canada is compulsory, and that on account of the war a heavy special tax is imposed on farm hands. Both impressions, he asserts, are wholly incorrect.

HASTINGS GETS LIFE TERM; HAMMONS THIRTY YEARS

Men Who Killed William Saari Must Pay Penalty.

Other Prisoners Sentenced. Court Gives Talk On Object Of Punishment.

There are only a few martyrs in the world and usually they are not found in state penitentiaries, Judge W. A. Cant of the district court told Michael Francis Hastings, convicted murderer, this morning when he sentenced him to a life term in Stillwater prison.

Imprisonment for the remainder of his natural life is the penalty which Hastings must pay for the killing of William Saari, homesteader, near Brookston, on Oct. 26 last.

McKnight Hammons, jointly indicted with Hastings for the murder under the name of Mack Hammond, was sentenced to serve a term of thirty years in the state penitentiary. The jury found Hammons guilty of murder in the third degree, the punishment for which is fixed by statute at between seven and thirty years. Judge Cant gave the prisoner the maximum. Hastings was convicted of second degree murder, the punishment for which is a life term.

The killing of Saari took place on a lonely stretch of tote road three miles south of Brookston. Hastings and Hammons, bent on robbery, followed Saari, the victim, and his companion, Matt Niemi, from the village, and in the attempt to hold them up, Saari was shot. Hastings and Hammons immediately fled after the shooting but were captured by the village marshal and a posse at the outskirts of the town, Niemi having telephoned in the alarm.

The testimony of Niemi, the eye witness to the shooting was to the effect that Hastings was the man who handled the gun and who did the actual shooting. Hastings, however, insisted at his trial that it was Hammons. He maintained that this was the fact when brought before the court for sentence this morning.

Protests Innocence.

"I'm innocent of that crime," he said to the court. "I never did any man any harm. Everything I ever got in this world, I've had to work for—work hard for."

Hastings told the court that he was born in Ireland on Dec. 26, 1889, and came to the United States when a boy of 14, settling in Clinton, Mass. At the age of 18, he joined the United States army and served three years at Fort Andrews at Boston Harbor. He was discharged on July 6, 1915, and came west. After working for a time in the harvest fields, he met Hammons and the two men came to Brookston the scene of the shooting.

Hastings showed no emotion when the sentence was passed upon him. He stood erect before the court and seemed unmoved by his fate. Judge Cant stated that there might come a time in his later years when favorable action might be taken on his application for a parole, but that he did not wish to be understood as promising anything to the prisoner.

Hammons, who was sentenced to thirty years at Stillwater prison, told the court that he was born near Joplin, Mo., on March 2, 1895, and related something of his early history before coming to Brookston last fall. His story was the same as that told at the trial. Hammons declined to make any statement as to why sentence should not be passed upon him. E. J. Kenney, his attorney, declared that the present situation which Hammons found himself in was not due to any inherent criminal traits, but rather to the inefficient training he had received during the last few years.

Other Prisoners Sentenced.

William Lauren, shop-lifter, who was convicted this week of having stolen a dress from the National store on Oct. 23 last, also received his sentence this morning. His crime was that of grand larceny in the second degree and it is probably that he will serve nearly the maximum sentence in Stillwater prison. The maximum term is for five years.

Lauren is considered to be a dangerous man. Although only 22 years old, he is very powerful and guards at the county jail have had to watch him constantly. During his incarceration, recently he assaulted three guards and it was found necessary to put him in the so-called dungeon in solitary confinement.

Lauren is believed to belong to a gang of smooth crooks which have given the police no end of trouble and which the authorities are making an attempt to clean out.

"I want a new trial," said Lauren to Judge Cant this morning. "I got witnesses to prove I'm innocent."

John Swinlund, his attorney, asked to have the prisoner committed to the county jail, but this suggestion met with an objection from the county attorney.

"The sheriff has had enough trouble with this prisoner already," said Mr. Greene. "He has had all he wants of him."

Little Sympathy From Court.

In sentencing Lauren to a term in the penitentiary, Judge Cant made a few remarks concerning Lauren's attitude in the matter. "In the opinion of the court," said Judge Cant, among other things, "it is not wise to indulge the defendant in the thought that any of us are deceived by the statement which he makes. I think everybody thinks he is guilty and practically everybody is convinced, beyond a reasonable doubt that he is guilty. His attitude throughout the trial has been altogether against him. It is really harmful to encourage him in the idea that he is being imposed upon or that he ought to get off. He ought not to get off. He ought to stand his punishment like a man. If he is ever going to be of any account in the world he ought to stand as a man and cheerfully take the punishment which should follow. The only way to stop these crimes is to stop them. Either men like him have got to be shut up, or else they have got to stop this sort of thing. The next time you come before the court—if you ever do—you will be sent where you won't get out for years and years and years. You will just be kept shut up if you don't behave."

Forger is Paroled.

James Smith, who pleaded guilty recently to a charge of forgery and whose case was continued for sentence appeared before the court again today and was sentenced to the state penitentiary but the execution was suspended and Smith was placed under parole to Col. F. E. Resche, probation officer, who was in the court room at the time.

Carl Holmgren, who was convicted yesterday afternoon of the crime of grand larceny in the second degree, the jury finding that on the night of Jan. 6, 1916, he broke into the store of C. G. Anderson at 24 North Twentieth west and stole 27 cents from the cash register, was sentenced by Judge Ensign to four months at the county work farm.

Judge Cant before sentencing any of the prisoners brought before him indulged in a short talk intended for the benefit of the unfortunates who were brought before him. "In the presence of several defendants who are now before the court for sentence," he said, "the court will make a few observations which will be applicable to each of you."

Objects of Punishment.

"You have each been convicted of an offense, in some degree, and are about to be sentenced to some term of confinement in a state institution. The object of this is two-fold—first, to protect society by checking your own rather wayward disposition (and in some cases the word wayward is rather weak); and, secondly, to discourage others from committing the same kind of offenses. Incidentally, your own good is involved. But it is only incidentally. The world is not overwhelmed with any desire that you be reformed. It is anxiously hoping that you may be better. The world is mainly concerned with itself and with you in only a secondary way. It will be better for the world and better for you if you take the term of imprisonment in a proper spirit and profit thereby. It will be better for the world because thereby crime will be decreased, and it will be better for you because you may thereby become good citizens and lead useful and altogether satisfactory lives. You need not be discouraged in making such an attempt, because we all know men who have committed crimes, and sometimes rather serious ones, who have turned out to be excellent citizens in every way. So, we all hope and you may hope that you may become good citizens and respectable members of the community in which you live.

"You will have to stay where you are sent until those having you in charge feel that it is safe for your own good and safe for the good of the public that you be released, and the court is making no representations to you whatever as to the length of time during which you may be required to remain. But you are reminded that the length of your confinement will be governed quite largely, in most cases, by your own conduct. Do not think that you are going to be able to deceive those who are in charge of you. You may easily deceive yourself—you probably will—but you will not deceive them. They have seen your kind thousands of times and know you at sight; they know just what the symptoms are when a man is acting really in good faith and when he is putting on. It is not worth while to try to put on. They know all about it much better than you do.

"Further, this punishment, or training, should be taken by you in a manly spirit. Do not whine. You have done wrong. You have committed serious wrong. Very well. Stand the reasonable consequences in a manly way. In no other way can you very well profit and in no other way can you be restored to society in a really improved state."

EASTER WEEK OF GENERAL PRAYER

Many Denominations Will Unite in Nation-Wide Movement.

Easter week will be observed by churches of denominations represented in the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, as a week of prayer for "glorying in the cross."

Announcement has just been made of this observance and also of a series of sermon-subjects and prayer-topics which pastors, meeting leaders and Christians in general are asked to follow during that week. They are as follows:

Sunday, April 16, sermons on "The King of Kings and His Kingdom in Its Growth and Glory"; Monday, "Thanksgiving and Cleansing"; Tuesday, "Authority and Courage"; Wednesday, "Loyalty and Unity"; Thursday, "Heartsearching and Consecration"; Friday, Sacrifice and Service"; Saturday, "The Kingdom and Its Triumph," and Saster Sunday, sermons on the resurrection.

It is expected that a large number of Duluth congregations will follow the plan. The denominations represented in Duluth which are affiliated with the Federal council are:

Baptist, North, Christian, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Friends, German Evangelical, Evangelical association, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, African M. E., Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, United Brethren.

ROADS ALLOWED RATE INCREASE

Advance on Lumber and Lumber Products Adjudged Not Unreasonable.

Washington, March 25.—Increase to 12 cents a hundred pounds on lumber and lumber products from Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Minnesota Transfer, Stillwater, Minn., Ashland, Wis., and points taking the same rates to Chicago and Chicago-rate points was approved today by the interstate commerce commission. The increase amounts to 1 to 2 cents on lumber and lumber products.

The increase was opposed by the Northern Pine Manufacturers' association as unreasonable. Interested carriers argued that it was compelled by war competition. They showed that for many years higher rates have been in force to intermediate points.

The complaint in the case just decided was filed with the interstate commerce commission in July of last year, and the hearing was held in the fall. Duluth did not intervene, but was represented at the hearing, for this territory is heavily interested.

The rate had been 10 cents, basic, and was raised to 11 cents and then to 12. The complainant asked that the rate be reduced to 10 cents, and for an order for reparation.

BIG HOLDERS MUST GO TO THE COURTS

Committee Decides on Legislation for Western Land Grants.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 25.—The house committee on public lands today decided upon the legislation to be incorporated in the Oregon and California land grant bill concerning the executory contracts between purchasers and the railroad company that will throw the holders of contracts involving more than 160 acres of land into the courts to maintain their rights. Among these is Former Governor Lind, who is the assignee of a contract between the company and C. A. Smith of Minneapolis, for the purchase of an area estimated at from 4,000 to 7,000 acres. Under the provisions of section 7, as amended today in committee, contractors for the purchase of 160 acres or less are authorized to complete their contracts.

As to larger tracts, the attorney general is authorized to institute suits in the United States court for the district of Oregon to determine the rights of the purchasers.

NEW CONCRETE LIGHT STANDARDS MAY REPLACE MANY ARC LAMPS

Four sample concrete standards will be erected by the Northwest Concrete Light company this spring at central points, according to an announcement made today by Commissioner Farrell, works head.

The standards, built like the one in the accompanying photograph, will be placed in front of the Commercial club at Fourth avenue west and First street, at Central avenue and Ramsey street and Fifth avenue east and Fourth street and at Ninth avenue east and Superior street.

City commissioners have consented to the request of the company, which has established a local branch, to erect these standards in order to acquaint Duluthians with their features. There is a possibility that these single standards will be ordered throughout the city in the near future, especially in the residence districts, to replace the present corner arc lights.

The standards, which will be manufactured in Duluth, will cost approximately $60 each, including the installation, and, according to the claims of the company representatives, require but one-third the electricity used by a corner arc light or one of the five-light standards in the downtown business districts.

Because the growth of trees in residence districts has made the arc lights ineffective, city commissioners are considering the installation of these single standards. If they are favored by the property owners, who will be assessed the cost, it is possible that their installation on several streets will be ordered during the coming summer.

Crawford, who has been acting as secretary of the Duluth Automobile club since Andrew Kienly, former secretary, left the city early last fall, was yesterday afternoon chosen to fill the unexpired term at a meeting of the board of directors held in the offices of the Bridgeman-Russell company. Dr. J. D. Park is president of the club.

Careless Autoist Arrested.

One more careless automobilist came under police surveillance yesterday afternoon, when he drove down Superior street with but one license tag. It was Luverne Logan, 25. He paid a $3 fine.

Craig Funeral.

Funeral services for George H. Craig, veteran Northern Pacific engineer, who died at the Brainerd, Minn., railway hospital yesterday morning after an illness of nearly two years, will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m., from Crawford & Son's chapel, Second avenue west and Second street. The services will be under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which Mr. Craig was a member. Interment will be at Park Hill cemetery.

Personal Injury Suit on Trial.

In Judge Cant's division of the district court yesterday afternoon, a jury was impaneled to try a personal injury suit which Joseph Catens has pending against the Rust-Parker company. Catens is seeking to recover $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained to his right foot when a truck operated by one of the defendant company's drivers ran him down at Superior street and Lake avenue on Nov. 26 last.

Urged to Save Paper and Rags.

Owing to the increasing scarcity of material for making paper, the department of commerce, Washington, D. C., has sent a letter to Postmaster William E. McEwen, requesting him to put up posters urging the public to save old paper and rags and to sell them to dealers to relieve the situation. Postmaster McEwen says the postoffice department has been baling its old paper for some time and has realized considerable money for the department from this source.

S. W. V. Country Store.

John G. McEwen post, Veterans of the Spanish War, will conduct their "country store" at Memorial hall on the evening of April 26. The returns from this annual feature are used for a fund for the relief of destitute or sick veterans and their families, and for uniforms for the members of the post.

Woman Helper Wanted at P. O.

The United States civil service department announces today that an examination will be given at the Duluth postoffice building April 3 for applicants for the position of charwoman at the Federal building here. The remuneration offered is $300 a year. Details regarding the examination may be learned from E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry section, Duluth postoffice.

Settles Two Damage Suits.

For $135, the Duluth Street Railway company yesterday effected settlements in two personal injury actions brought in district court by Robert and Mary Gaspard, who asked large sums for damages. The cases were dismissed by Judge Cant yesterday on the motion of the plaintiffs.

Power's Answer Dismissed.

The answer, which W. J. Power of Hibbing, through his attorney, Victor L. Power, filed in district court to the complaint of the Arizona Bank & Trust company, was dismissed yesterday afternoon by Judge Dancer on the grounds that it was sham. The court ordered that if the defendant did not pay the plaintiff $75 for attorney's fees within ten days and file a proper receipt for the same with the clerk of the court, judgment in the case will be rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Hears of Brother's Death.

Joseph McClelland of 24 West Fifth street, has received word that his brother, John, was drowned Thursday in a river near Portland, Or., at which place he lived. Mrs. Elizabeth McClelland of 914 Eleventh avenue east, is their mother. Particulars of the drowning have not been received, but it is believed that he was knocked from a train, as he was a brakeman on the Great Northern road on the coast division. He was 34 years of age and married.

DISEASE VICTIM SENT TO DULUTH

Patient With Scarlet Fever Arrives Here From International Falls.

City officials are trying to figure out why authorities at International Falls sent a scarlet fever patient all the way to Duluth for treatment.

Yesterday Philip Anderson from the border city came to Health Director Fahey, saying that he was sent here from International Falls.

"They told me there was some doubt about my ailment and that I should be examined in Duluth," he told Dr. Fahey.

When Mr. Anderson was examined by Dr. Fahey, the latter discovered a scarlet fever rash all over him, and he immediately ordered him taken to the contagious hospital, where Mr. Anderson is now confined.

REGULATION OF HOTELS RIGID

New Ordinance Will Go Into Effect Next Saturday.

All Hostelries Must Be Kept Sanitary and Orderly.

Next Saturday Duluth's new hotel ordinance will go into effect.

The measure was passed by the council on Feb. 28 and the thirty-day period from the date of publication will expire a week from today. Notice of the new ordinance will be sent to the police by Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, with instructions to notify all hotel owners and managers in the city, he said this morning.

According to the provisions of the new measure, all hotel owners must secure a license to operate in this city. The license, which will cost $5, can be obtained from the city council only after favorable reports are made by the health director as to the sanitary and health conditions of the buildings and the commissioners of public safety as to the moral character of the applicant. Arrest of the owner for violating the ordinance means the revocation of the license, or proofs received by the council that the hostelry is being operated in a disorderly manner give that body authority to cancel the permits at its discretion.

Must Observe Police Rules.

The ordinance makes it compulsory for a hotel owner to keep a register and to observe all police and sanitary regulations in operating the hotel. The hotels must be inspected twice each year by the police and health officials, according to the measure, several provisions of which follow:

"For the purposes of this ordinance, every building or structure kept, used, maintained, advertised, held out to the public to be a place where sleeping or rooming accommodations are furnished to the general public for a shorter period of time than one week, with or without meals, shall be deemed a hotel. The person or persons in charge of any such hotel, whether as owner, lessee, manager or agent, shall, for the purpose of this ordinance, be deemed to be the proprietor of such hotel.

"Every person operating a hotel in the city of Duluth shall at all times keep a suitable book, to be known as the 'Hotel Register,' in which it shall be required that every person to whom a room is let or assigned shall have his, her or their names registered therein in ink, and shall set forth a proper statement of the date and the hour of the day at which the room was let or assigned. And it shall be unlawful for any person operating a hotel under the provisions of this ordinance or who or whose agent to let or assign accommodations or otherwise oftener than once in any period of ten hours following the time of its original assignment.

"Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance or who shall conduct, operate, keep or maintain a hotel as herein defined, without first having obtained a license therefor as herein provided, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100) nor less than ten dollars ($10) or by imprisonment for not more than eighty-five (85) days for each offense, and each day that such violation continues shall constitute a separate offense."

MEASLES EPIDEMIC IS ON DECLINE

Duluth's epidemic of measles among the school children of the city is on the decline.

According to Health Director Fahey there are today 294 cases of measles reported at the city hall, while a week ago there were 350 throughout the city. Yesterday thirty-one quarantines were raised, while but ten new cases were reported.

"Indications are," said Dr. Fahey this morning, "that the real danger is past and that the decline will continue until all quarantines are raised."

TWO MORE DAYS OF WAR RELIEF BAZAR

The war relief bazar at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Austro-German-Hungarian societies of the city will be continued Sunday and Monday, according to an announcement late today by those in charge.

A concert will be given Sunday and nothing will be sold. The original plan was to complete the bazar work tonight.

CLOQUET PEOPLE ARE ENJOYING GOOD HEALTH

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The health of the city of Cloquet was never better than at present. There are only two cases of contagious disease in the city, which is considered a remarkable showing for a city of between 7,000 and 8,000. The fore part of the winter, before the snow came, there was an epidemic of grip, in which nearly half of the people here were sick, but after the snow came this all passed away, and since then sickness has been at a minimum. The city officials expect in a few days to set aside a "clean-up" day, in which every person will be asked to aid the city officials to make the town in as near a perfect condition as possible, and with the people's co-operation Cloquet should be one of the cleanest cities in the state.

SIXTEEN PASS C. S. TESTS.

Examinations Given for Patrolmen, Firemen and Stenographers.

Sixteen out of twenty-six persons passed the civil service examinations three weeks ago, according to an announcement made today by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the board.

Eight men took the examination for patrolmen, but only five received passing marks, while out of a similar number who were examined for positions as firemen, there were four who made the grade. Seven out of ten stenographers were successful.

The names of the successful applicants have been placed on file and these will be hired as soon as vacancies occur.

WINTER LOGGING IS NOW BEING WOUND UP

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Logging in this vicinity is practically over for this season. Many of the camps are already through with the exceptions of their usual cleanup work. The season has run later this year than usual on account of the continued cold weather, which has permitted the loggers to use their ice roads later than other years, and the large amount of snow in the woods has greatly hampered them from getting out the cut they expected in the time it usually takes them. Snow in the woods was waist deep, since the first of the year, which made sawing and skidding forest product of any kind a difficult problem especially the smaller timber, such as pulp wood and ties, as when the tree was felled it buried itself in the snow and had to be shoveled out before it could be worked up.

Mullery-McDonald's Camp No. 1 on the Fond du Lac reservation has made their final cleanup in their camp for this winter and work in that locality has ceased during the past week.

It is practically assured that there will be several camps run during the summer season on the line of the Duluth & Northeastern railroad, as the early start of two of the large mills has caused a greater consumption of logs than was planned on when the camps were established last fall.

PICKPOCKETS NOW ACTIVE

Pickpockets and thieves are active among cheaper rooming houses and hotels, with the arrival from the woods of lumberjacks, and police have been busy in the last twenty-four hours. Three cases of larceny, involving about $180, now are being investigated by plain clothes men.

Hjalmar Mattila, 23, slept in a room at 235 St. Croix alley with three other men last night, and this morning Lauri Mattila complained that he had been robbed of $60. His namesake was arrested and charged with the theft. Fred Kauppi and Emil Rintala, the two other roommates, acted as volunteer policemen, holding Hjalmar Mattila a captive until a patrolman arrived.

V. H. Maxins went to sleep at the Liberty hotel, West Michigan street, last night and left his door open. Thieves slit his hip pocket and made away with $55 in currency and a watch. They overlooked $40 in another pocket. Maxine had been drinking, according to police.

Ralph Newberry, lodger at the People's hotel, missed $80 late last night and pointed out an acquaintance, Charles W. Elliott, 47, as the thief. Police arrested him but changed a charge of grand larceny to one of drunkeness when they found the $80 in Newberry's pocket. The men had been drinking together.

James Duffy, 27, tried to "strong arm" a patron of a West Michigan street saloon, who had flashed a "roll" but was himself strong armed. With William Hall, 28, a friend, he was sentenced to thirty days at the workfarm for vagrancy.

EMPEROR WILLIAM IS GOING TO VILNA

London, March 25.—Newspapers in Petrograd, according to a Reuter dispatch from that city, publish a report that preparations are being made for the arrival of Emperor William in the near future at Vilna, where he is to supervise the direction of important operations. Detectives from Berlin, it is added, have already reached the city to clear it of suspicious characters.

TO HELP SMALL DEALER.

Members of the Oneota Improvement club have submitted an amendment to the proposed milk ordinance.

In a communication to Health Director Fahey the club urges an amendment which would permit the owner of but one cow to sell milk to his regular customers providing it is in a closed container and is marked "private milk."

The ordinance is now being investigated by local physicians and will not be introduced until it has been studied by all organizations, Commissioner Silberstein said this morning.

Eight Killed By Tornado.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 25.—Eight persons were killed in a farmhouse two miles east of Davis, Okla., by a tornado which struck that section early Friday night. The path of the tornado was eight miles long.

Aurora Not in Distress.

London, March 25.—Reports received here today state that the auxiliary ship Aurora of the Shackleton Antarctic expedition, which was damaged in the ice and is now proceeding to New Zealand for repairs, is not in distress or in need of assistance. The latest message indicates that the Aurora is proceeding under her own steam.

Masquerade at Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee in charge of dances at the local Masonic lodge this winter decided to make the next one which will be held on March 31 a masquerade affair. The Order of Eastern Star will give their annual Easter ball in the Masonic auditorium on April 24. They have secured the Esther Gomberg orchestra of Duluth to furnish music.

Club Women to Meet.

Leeds, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Club women of the Second district will meet here March 31 and April 1, to be the guests of the Alfredian club. One of the features of the entertainment will be a big banquet.

Former Gopher Sheriff Dies.

Fairmont, Minn., March 25.—Elmer E. Ward, formerly sheriff of Martin county, died Thursday at a hospital in Seattle, Wash., following a recent operation. The body will be brought to Fairmont.

ALLOW MONEY FOR COUNSEL

City Commissioners to Make Special Appropriations at Monday Meet.

Two ordinances appropriating $2,750 for the employment of special counsel by the city will be introduced at the council meeting next Monday afternoon.

In the measures, Francis W. Sullivan, who is assisting City Attorney Samuelson in fighting the paving case against the Duluth Street Railway company, is allowed $2,500 for his services, while Frank Crasswelier, who was hired last week to help appeal the armory referendum case before the state supreme court, is given $250. The money will come out of the general fund.

Herman O. Nyhus, West Duluth contractor, will be awarded the contract to lay fifty-three plank walks, recently designated by the commissioners, on his bid of $12,934.

The Austin Western Road Machinery company will be awarded the contract to supply the city with a horse-drawn street sweeper on its bid of $385.

Commissioner Farrell will introduce the resolution designating the fifty-two streets to be sprinkled with oil this year, as outlined in The Herald on Wednesday.

A sanitary sewer will be ordered in Third alley, from Twenty-ninth avenue east to lot 5, block 4, Harrison's division, to cost approximately $3,500.

Mayor Prince will introduce resolutions authorizing him to advertise for bids on furnishing the city with apparatus for seven new playgrounds and reinstituting system to be installed in the city hall basement.

SEEKS NOMINATION IN SIXTH DISTRICT

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. A. Rogers, former Chippewa Indian football star of the Minnesota team, filed today for the Republican nomination for congress in the Sixth district.

This makes the fourth aspirant for Congressman E. A. Lindbergh's place. The three others are E. B. Buckman, Harold Knudson and O. J. Opsahl. Mr. Rogers is at present county attorney of Cass county. At the state capitol today, where he made his filing, Mr. Rogers said he regarded his chances of success as excellent.

HOT IN OVEN HOME.

Head of Overheated Household Will Cool Off on Farm.

It was warm in the Oven home, 18 South Sixtieth avenue west, March 11.

Edward Oven, the husband, roasted Lillie Oven, the wife, according to police reports of the affair, to a turn, and then, to put on a finishing touch, struck her. After a hot encounter, Mr. Oven left suddenly, and said he was "done."

He didn't come back until yesterday, police said, but at any rate they were watching for him, armed with a complaint charging assault in the third degree. Lieut. P. A Schulte arrested him yesterday.

Judge W. H. Smallwood, in municipal court yesterday afternoon, took a hand in the affair and after grilling Oven severely, sentenced him to serve sixty days at the work farm to cool off.

SUPERIOR MAN IS KILLED AT CROOKSTON

Crookston, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Espey was killed this morning in the Great Northern yards here. He was a car repairer and was struck by a string of cars being switched. Both legs were cut off close to the body. He was 35 years old and has relatives at Superior, Wis.

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

BELASCO HAS OUTDONE HIMSELF

Staging of Warfield's Vehicle, "Van Der Decken," Notable Work.

While David Belasco has given to the American stage many artistic productions during the course of his very interesting career, in his latest play, "Van Der Decken," in which David Warfield comes to the Lyceum theater next Monday evening, this remarkable man has surpassed his previous efforts in the manner in which he has staged this beautiful poem.

In staging most of his recent plays, the most notable example of which was "Marie-Odile," in which Frances Starr appears this season, Mr. Belasco has emphasized with recurring eloquence that all the elements gathered for his undertakings serve one purpose —that of fanciful, fantastic, poetic production. With the background of a romantic legend forming the attractive essence of "Van Der Decken," he has brought his fine imagination as the author, and his genius as the producer, to serve the simple idea of creating a series of stage pictures which should fascinate the beholder, move him, fan his imagination and impress him. For Mr. Belasco's wonderful staging of this newest play, his marvelous light effects, the feeling of romance, the spell of fantasy that he creates, are among the chief beauties of "Van Der Decken" and therein lies the power of its suggestion.

The note of "Van Der Decken" is struck as soon as the audience assembles by the sight of the curtain which is an old patched sail stretched across the stage, a symbol of the story to come—that of the lost mariners and their phantom ship.

First Scene in Holland.

The first scene is a marvel of color effectiveness, being as irresistible in its appeal to the sense of beauty as a canvas in a gallery of art treasures. It represents the tavern of "The Three Gulls" on the wharves of a Northern seaport town in Holland. The salten flavor permeates the atmosphere which drips with the docks and the sea. With its misty vista beyond and the scarcely discernible ships lying in the harbor, with the artistically patched costumes of the sailors and the shadows on the walls, this scene is intensely picturesque in its suggestion. Then, too, the picture is vitalized by the forces of nature as well as human emotion. A storm takes place in which the lightnings themselves are powerless to harm the world-weary sea captain, illustrating the wonderful skill possessed by Mr. Belasco in utilizing the mechanical forces of the theater.

The second scene is no less effective and brings the spectator in imagination on board the rotting and worm-eaten phantom ship, Batavia. One sees its grewsome-looking, gibbering crew of ancients in varying degrees of senility—for they have grown old with the passing of the centuries, while Van Der Decken alone remains young. It has been remarked that Coleridge himself could scarcely have conjured up a more ungodly lot of 200-year-old sailors, wheezing and whining out their endless days, than the pitifully doddering crew of this doomed ship. With its musty closets, dark corridors and gloomy stairways, this scene in the sinister cabin is very eerie. Unearthly, it draws no tears, though in its impressiveness it grips both the mind and heart. Colors and lights, the shadowy and singular shapes of human beings, the antiquities of costume, and even the pitch of voices, to say nothing of the sounds of the elements when the fated bark is pounded by a hurricane, are employed to heighten the illusion and weigh upon the heart.

The third and last act takes place in a simple Dutch cottage on the outskirts of Amsterdam. This scene possesses the reality of a home, and with its background is redolent of the atmosphere of Holland. With its brightness, its view of the water from the windows and its coziness and comfort, it gives the suggestion of perfect content and is in happy contrast with the preceding setting.

But theatergoers have become accustomed to artistic scenic decorations at the hands of this poet of the stage mechanics, and the entire arrangement of settings in "Van Der Decken" remind one of nothing so much as the pictures on Delft ware. They also afford an opportunity of comparing the Belasco realism with the more impressionistic style of Joseph Urban. At the same time it will be seen that in this latest play, Mr. Belasco has combined in a measure the two methods. The color of the settings, the costumes and the trappings in "Van Der Decken" all have the tone of a painter who is true to the atmosphere of the locale he is translating upon his canvas.

"SCHOOL DAYS" POPULAR AT GRAND

Famous Vaudeville Act Has Many Attractive Features.

With a chorus of youngsters who are both comely and cute, a large group of clever principals and plenty of winning songs, Gus Edwards' "School Days," which is headlining the present bill at the popular New Grand, has registered the biggest hit of the season at that popular playhouse. Dolly Cliff, Dorothy Aubrey, Albert Frank, Dave Seid and Roy Mack head the cast, which is the largest seen on the Grand stage this season. Albert Frank as Izzy A. Christian is admirably fitted for the role he essays, that of a Russian youth who has come to this country to be educated. Miss Cliff and Miss Aubrey are well cast, one as the waif and one as the "smarty" of the circle of kids around whom the story is built, and add greatly to the singing and comedy and demonstrate they are adepts in the art of entertaining.

Dave Said as Tony Macoronni leads among the male singers and his proficiency as a clown and acrobatic dancer win him a warm corner in the esteem of his audiences. The chorus is a dandy aggregation of diminutive singing and dancing folk, and their medley of child songs is most refreshing. With fetching and novel costumes, pleasing stage settings and novel electrical effects the production is a popular one.

Green and Parker, known as "The Blue Ribbon Pair," and late of the Weber & Fields all-star jubilee, offer a program of song and talk that is new and enjoyable entertainment.

Catchy melodies, dainty dances and some clever chatter make up the offering of Gladys Corriell, who is a charming miss with a most pleasing personality and the ability to put her numbers over to big applause.

Two singing hoboes make up the Box Car Duo, who score heavily with their new parodies on the latest popular songs.

"The Mystery of the Empty Room," a thrilling story in two reels, heads the photoplay part of the program in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. "Almost a King," a comedy, together with other excellent film stories and the Selig-Tribune News, picturing some interesting views of the U. S. army on the Mexican border, make up the remainder of the program.

Headlining the new bill opening Monday for the first half of the week are the Symphonic Sextet, instrumentalists and vocalists; Ben Smith, favorite blackface comedian; Bothby and Everdeen, offering novelty songs and travesty, and the Three Westons, in poses representing masterpieces of art.

"The Master Smiles," a three-reel subject with Howard Estabrook and Emmy Wehlen in the leading roles, toplines the photoplays. Two excellent comedies, including one of the popular Sis Hopkins series, round out the program.

BRINKLEY GIRL AT LYRIC.

Theda Bara and Pauline Frederick Also on Week's Program.

Mae Murray, known as the Nell Brinkley girl, famous for her beauty and fine work as a Broadway star, has been accorded much praise by the audiences at the Lyric. This afternoon and tonight her play, "To Have and to Hold," will be seen again.

Large crowds are expected to turn out to give Theda Bara, in her William Fox picture, "Gold and the Woman," the usual cordial welcome she receives at the Lyric. Her picture will go on tomorrow for three days. Theda Bara, the interviewers who have met her at her home say, is a most delightful young woman who never, never tries to "lure" the men she knows. But the parts given her are usually those of the vampire and this gifted young woman is seen in all her charm, enacting a role that gives her full play as a charmer.

"Gold and the Woman" is declared as strong as any of her other remarkable plays.

Marie Doro will come Wednesday in "Diplomacy," and next Friday, Pauline Frederick will play a return engagement in "Bella Donna." Hereafter on each Friday and Saturday some noted star will return for an engagement in plays that have been popular in Duluth.

The bill for the coming week is a strong one, and with Burton Holmes taking his audience with him in his third travel picture to West Point for a view of how our soldier boys are made. Much scenery of interest is shown en route and about the school.

MME. PETROVA WILL APPEAR AT ZELDA

Emotional Actress Will Play in "The Soul Market."

Mme. Petrova, the famous emotional actress, who is said to be one of the most bewitching beauties appearing before the camera today and who was last seen here in "What Will People Say," will open a three-day engagement, commencing tomorrow, at the Zelda theater in a five-part Matro wonder play, "The Soul Market." In this play Mme. Petrova is said to outdo anything she has ever attempted before, as she is allowed full sway for her emotional powers.

She is supported by a cast which includes Wilmuth Merkyl, Arthur

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Hoopes, Evelyn Brent and others of note. The story of "The Soul Market" deals with a prima donna who tires of the gay life that surrounds her, and comes to regard the Great White Way and its environments as a vertiable "soul market." She views present conditions as practically the same as they were during the Babylonian period, when slaves were sold in the open marts to the highest bidders. To represent this condition, the sale of twenty-five beautiful girls is shown in a Babylonian market. To obtain a realistic and accurate setting, Director Francis J. Grandon called in experts on the subject, who made designs and pictures which were used to stage the scenes.

Virtus R. Scott, assistant director, spent two days in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the Astor library, with a sketch artist who made drawings for Director Grandon's use.

"Heights of Hazard," the thrilling photoplay written by Cyrus Townsend Brady, will be the big attraction for today only at the Zelda. Two well known stars, Charles Richman and Eleanor Woodruf, have the leading roles.

The story tells of a handsome Westerner, bubbling over with youth, enthusiasm, persistence and perserverence, whose one desire is to marry the girl he loves. This girl does not even know him. He arms himself with a pistol, kidnaps her and takes her to his apartments.

WILLIAM S. HART AT REX.

"Hell's Hinges" and Keystone Comedy Make Up Strong Show.

The combination of William S. Hart in the drama "Hell's Hinges" and the comedy, "Wife and Auto Trouble," a strong bill at the Rex. The critics and the public agree that Mr. Hart is realistic in this western drama and that the comedy, with the six-foot-plus actress in the Willie Collier Keystone picture, furnishes an excellent evening's entertainment.

These pictures will be seen today and tomorrow. John Emerson, of stage fame, comes to the Rex in "The Flying Torpedo." With this also will be another Keystone comedy. "The Flying Torpedo" is a David W. Griffith picture—one of his very newest, and it is also spectacular. It deals with a threatened and finally unsuccessful invasion of the United States in the year 1920.

Of course there is a story running through it, well connected and excellently done. But it is new, has action and plenty of humor, and sufficient tinge of the serious to make people think and not bore them. The "flying torpedo" that gives the name to the play is a new invention of warfare, and its operations are pronounced very interesting.

Beginning the coming week the Rex will have three changes of pictures each week instead of two.

At the Sunbeam.

For the coming week there will be four changes of program at the New Sunbeam, and each will have a big feature. For Sunday Charlie Chaplin will appear in a new print of "The Woman," which is said to be a corking good comedy, and beautiful Margarita Fischer will be featured in "The Miracle of Life," produced by the Mutuel Film corporation. It teaches a vital lesson on race suicide. There is a thrill, a moral revelation in every scene.

"The Miracle of Life" is founded upon a really great subject, and is well worked out. There is a young bride of a wealthy man, caught in the social whirl, who rebels at the realization that she is about to become a mother. So she consults a woman who makes a specialty of such things, and takes steps to destroy the second life she is about to create. In so doing she injures her own health and destroys her husband's love. There is a divorce, he marries again, and the first woman spends her time and her generous income on her friends of the confetti-throwing cabaret brigade. Her husband's second home is blessed with two children, and while she is festooning streamers around the dancers in the all-night restaurant, he is having pillow fights with his son.

Monday and Tuesday the chief attraction will be "The Mishaps of Musty Suffer," featuring Harry Watson and other famous vaudeville stars in "Look Out Below."

Wednesday and Thursday Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo will appear in "The Strange Case of Mary Page."

Friday and Saturday the World Film corporation will present the William A. Brady production of "Mother," featuring Emma Dunn. Patience, kindness, tenderness, love and forgiveness are all combined in this story.

Lyceum Notes.

In Rol Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett's amusing story of the rich man's son who, goaded into an active business career by his fond father, starts an advertising campaign that creates a sensation in the commercial world, the authors, under the title of "It Pays to Advertise," have furnished an evening's enjoyment. Primarily the farce is funny—not merely funny, but exceedingly funny—and it is also clean and wholesome. It will be seen at the Lyceum theater for four nights and Wednesday matinee, commencing Sunday evening, April 16.

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival will be at the Lyceum for the week of April 30.

The itinerary includes Italy, Switzerland, Madeira, Holland, France, Glacier National park, U. S. A. and a ride on an aeroplane above the clouds.

Guy Bates Post will return to the Lyceum theater for three days commencing Thursday, April 27, for a final engagement in Richard Walton Tully's sumptuous Persian love play, "Omar, the Tentmaker." Mr. Post will again bring his art to bear upon the life of the beloved and merry-hearted Persian poet, Omar Khayyam, his interpretation being one that enchants both the devotee of Rubaiyat lore and the casual theater-goer who knows little and cares less about literary associations. The star will be surrounded by the same company that supported him before, while the massive and illusive scenic adornments will again be in evidence.

OLGA PETROVA AND SCENE FROM "THE SOUL MARKET" COMING TO ZELDA

Al H. Wilson Coming.

Of all the announcements of attractions coming to the Lyceum theater this season one of the most attractive and welcome to many theatergoers is that on March 30 and 31 and April 1, Manager Sidney R. Ellis will present his star, Al H. Wilson, the well-known singing dialect comedian, in a new three-act periodic song play entitled "As Years Roll On." The scenes of the first act are laid in Holland. "John Van Zam," an enlisted soldier who escapes capture after the accidental killing of a superior officer, is seen with his young wife making hasty preparations for flight to America. Periods of ten years elapse between each act. The series of episodes that follow "Van Zam's" departure from Holland are closely related, but the vein in which they are written changes continually. In the second and third acts there are occasional throbs of pathos caused by the deep love of "Van Zam" for the memory of his dead wife and his affection for his daughter, while ripples of humor follow each other as the plot discloses the different methods employed by "Van Zam" to establish himself as a successful business man in the land of his adoption. Among the songs composed by Mr. Wilson for his new production are "Yesterday," Mother Mine," "As Years Roll On," and "She's Left Me For a Teddy Bear."

How Peg Acquired a Costume.

The suit which Florence Martin wears in the first act of "Peg O' My Heart" is the most prized article of the actress' extensive wardrobe. All last season, while playing "Peg" during the Boston run, Miss Martin was dissatisfied with the suit she was wearing, as it did not strike her as being exactly the proper one to faithfully "dress" the part portrayed. While rehearsing in New York, she made the rounds of the department stores on the lookout for something more appropriate. In one of these stores, standing in front of the cases containing the latest imported creations, she saw a slip of a girl in a dark blue serge coat and skirt. The girl was gazing with longing eyes at the beautiful gowns far out of her reach.

It did not take Miss Martin long to make up her mind that the shiny, but neat looking suit on the young stranger was exactly what she wanted. A few moments of conversation and an exclamation of surprise and joy from the girl were followed by a trip to the dressing room, accompanied by a saleswoman. Twenty minutes later the girl appeared in a beautiful new creation, her face beaming with joy, no doubt the happiest girl in New York. Miss Martin, happy in the possession of the much desired suit for her first act, hurried to rehearsal.

NEW YORK THEATER REVIEW

By Dixie Hines.

New York, March 25.—Two was too much Shakespeare indeed, last week, hence one of the scheduled performances was carried over to the present week. James K. Hackett, whose announced production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" with himself as Falstaff, a role with which his father was identified in his earlier days, was announced for last week, was unavoidably deferred, owing to the illness of Mr. Hackett himself, an illness which forced him to an untimely conclusion of his first production, and which denies him the privilege, after all, of appearing as the rotund comedian. Thomas A. Wise was the first aid to the helpless under such conditions, and to him is entrusted the role, and a safe assignment, it was, indeed.

But the revival of "King Henry VIII." by Sir Herbert Tree, came off according to program, and it was a magnificent pageant, rather than a notable revival. There were pictures singly and en suite, as it were, and it was all very brilliant, and very interesting, and no doubt notable in its way, but Sir Herbert Tree is not in his happiest role as the cardinal, and Lyn Harding, while looking "every inch a king"—and there are several inches of him—was inclined to smother his speeches. But the captious critic could find fault with any production and this was so unusual, and done with so lavish and intelligent a hand that we were inclined to forgive these shortcomings and accept it as a wonderful pageant in the series of special performances scheduled to celebrate the ter-centenary of Shapespeare's birth. The Hackett productions, in every way notable with Mr. Wise, Viola Allen, Henrietta Crosman, Fuller Mellish, Robert Paton Gibbs and others in the cast, are also like contributions.

The previous week began, however, not with Shakespeare, but with "The Blue Envelope," a clever farce comedy, produced by Richard Lambert with a notably good cast, including Carrie Reynolds, Walter Jones, Jose Sadler, Ethel Valentine and others. It is at the Cort, and as farces are built for laughing purposes, "The Blue Envelope" may fairly be assigned a place among the successful plays of the season.

Another more or less interesting offering last week was in celebration of Scandinavian night at Columbia university, when the big act of Ibsen's "Brand" was done with Rupert Harvey as Brand, Hildu Englund as Agnes and Helen Evily as the gypsy. The performance, when proper concessions are made for the natural handicaps, was a signally good one. Mr. Harvey, a sterling actor, read the somber lines of the Norwegian dramatist with precision and dramatic effect. Miss Englund, with her enviable distincton of Ibsen training, gave a notably good performance of the wife, and a performance not less effective because it was brief was that of Hellen Evily, who presented a picturesque characterization of the gypsy. It is probable that the play may have a Broadway production later.

"Justice," which is to succeed "The House of Glass" at the Candler theater, is said to be the most pretentious offering of the season. It was written by John Galsworthy and has for its theme prison reform. It was presented at New Haven a fortnight ago and many New Yorkers journeyed to the Elm City to see it. The reports which were brought back were most commendatory for the production and the players. B. Iden Payne is responsible for the production, and of the players John Barrymore, O. P. Heggie, Wallis Clark, Rupert Harvey, Cathleen Nesbett and Henry Stephenson deserve chief credit. Mr. Payne, who made the production, is credited with the success achieved by "Hobson's Choice" and is shortly to have a new play in "Heart o' the Heather," with George Macfarlane.

"The art of burlesque," declares Suzanne Jackson, who does a splendid bit of it in the "movie" satire, "Pay Day," which is still puzzling some of the playgoers of New York, "is simply the ability to read absurd lines with seriousness." The satire which is now convulsing New York is nothing more or less than melodrama done with legitimate dramatic players.

Hedwig Reicher, the emotional actress, who recently delighted New York with a "dramatic recital," has been obliged to announce a return engagement to meet the demands of those who could not be accommodated during the first recital. She will read Wilde's "Salome" at the Bandbox theater next Thursday afternoon, and present several new numbers. Miss Reicher has won distinction in platform work in this country and Germany.

* * *

The London press has given much space to the lament of the English actor who fears that there will be an "invasion" of American actors when all their native actors are at the front. According to Lillian Kingsbury and Ethel Clifton, the news that there are still actors in London will be received with some doubt after a parade down Broadway, where it is believed most of them are at present.

* * *

There is a strong probability that the motion picture industry is to be enhanced by the advent of Theodore Dreiser, one of the most prominent and successful American writers, in the scenario and directing departments of one of the important companies. Mr. Dreiser is at present in Savannah, Ga., finishing his latest novel, after which he returns to New York to discuss the terms of his contract.

* * *

Another representative of the noted theatrical name of Benrimo will be seen in New York this season when Donah Benrimo, who has already won stage honors, appears in the metropolis. This newest Broadway recruit is a Californian, and was brought up on a ranch in the picturesque Santa Clara valley. She is said to be an emotional actress of exceptional ability, most of her work having been done in the West.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

David Belasco has been sued by Gregorio Martinez Sierra and John G. Underhill, who allege that the producer is guilty of plagiarism in connection with "Marie-Odile," the play in which Frances Starr has been starring this season. "Cancion de Cuba" is the title of the piece from which it is alleged Belasco appropriated his theme for "Marie-Odile," as well as some of the scenes and incidents. Sierra is the holder of the Spanish copywright on the "Cancion de Cuba," and Underhill is the owner of the copywright on the English version under the title of "The Cradle Song." The plaintiffs claim that they submitted a copy of their play to Belasco for approval in 1912, and that he rejected it and later used the material. They ask that Belasco be enjoined from presenting "Marie-Odile" further, and that he be forced to account to them for the profits made from its production.

A testimonial dinner for E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe is being arranged as an appreciation of the services they have rendered to the American stage. April 24 is set as the date, shortly before the famous artists sail for England to reside permanently. It has been rumored, however, that Sothern will enter the motion picture field in the near future.

* * *

"The Blue Paradise" celebrates its two hundred and fiftieth performance at the Casino theater Tuesday evening. A noteworthy feature of this popular Viennese operetta is that since its first performance in July, not a single change has been made in the cast. On Tuesday evening the identical and original cast, headed by Cecil Lean, appeared.

* * *

Eugene Walter has dramatized another of John Fox's stories of mountain life in Virginia and Kentucky, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," and the play has been put in rehearsal by the Shuberts for an early production this month. Walter's first dramatization of a Fox novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," in which his wife, Charlotte Walker, was the star, made a successful tour for several seasons and has now been presented in motion pictures.

* * *

"Romance," the successful play in which Doris Keane scored in this country, and which is at present reaping laurels in London, has been booked for production in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa by Sanger and Jordan. The firm of J. C. Williamson company, Ltd., will produce it.

* * *

Irene Franklin will produce a dramatization of Maria Thompson Davies' novel, "The Melting of Molly," early next fall. Miss Franklin will play Molly. George Hobart is making the adaptation of the Davies novel, which is scheduled to be ready by March 15. Owing to a hitch in the negotiations with the publishers the play will not be produced this season.

* * *

No less than three "Robinson Crusoe" spectacles are announced for early presentation in England. Two, so the Shuberts were advised yesterday by cable from their European representative, are to be done in London and one in Manchester. None, as far as is known here, will infringe on the present Winter Garden production.

* * *

William A. Brady's production of "The White Feather" is playing to big business in Western Canada. At the conclusion of the present tour this company, headed by Albert Brown, is to be booked right back over the same route, and it will play "Too Many Cooks," as well as "The White Feather."

* * *

Elsie Ferguson's new play, "Margaret Schiller," seems to be making a success of it. When Maude Adams, in "The Little Minister," closes at the Empire, New York, Elsie Ferguson will move into that house. Her engagement at the New Amsterdam was cut short owing to the Shakesperean revivals which Sir Gilbert Tree will present at that that theater.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

University of Virginia opened, 1825.

This institution was founded by Thomas Jefferson, and the buildings were planned by him and erected under his personal supervision. The school is located at Charlottesville, four miles from Jefferson's home at Monticello. The group of buildings with recent additions forms one of the most characteristic and artistic pieces of academic architecture in America.

THE BIG VOTE AT THE PRIMARY.

Out of a possible total vote of about 350,000, only 191,531 persons took the trouble to go to the polls at the recent presidential preference primary. — St. Paul dispatch in The Herald of last evening.

The inference from this language is that it is pretty bad, and doesn't make a good showing for the primary.

Consider these facts:

First—That the Socialists, who cast 27,505 votes for president in 1912, did not participate in the primary.

Second—That there are many voters so completely unpartisan that they do not feel it incumbent on them to take part in party primaries.

Third—That, there being no opposition whatever to the renomination of President Wilson, there was no rivalry between candidates to draw out the Democratic vote.

Fourth—That, the Republican managers having carefully kept off the ballot the names of all candidates at all likely to be seriously considered at the convention, there was no rivalry between candidates to interest Republican voters.

Considering these things, and speculating on what might have been if, say, there had been a Democratic contest between Wilson and Bryan, and a Republican contest between Hughes, Root and Roosevelt, this result of fifty-five per cent of the potential vote cast doesn't look so bad. It is, on the contrary, very good indeed.

Impatience of course is always reprehensible, but it is hard to find fault with outbursts like this from the Wausau, Wis., Record-Herald: "'Come, gentle spring; ethereal mildness, come'—and don't be all summer about it."

"WHITE-LIVERED" AMERICANS.

A favored adjective with cheap jingoists is "white-livered." The junkers have a fondness for this term beyond all others, though "poltroonery," "spineless" and other words come with amusing frequency, too.

Just what IS to be "white-livered?" It sounds tough enough. A healthy liver is a good rich color, anything but white; and the term "white-livered" suggests a dreadful physical condition, far past the reach of mere pills and potions, and indicating either the surgeon's knife or the undertaker's services. But of course the term is used figuratively, and means people who are afraid—cowards, to use a term of reproach more scathing than any other in the dictionary.

Just who ARE the "white-livered?" It is usually applied to "pacifists," "peace-at-any-price" men; of whom there are very few indeed in this country—fewer, perhaps, than in any country in the world, however militaristic in training and equipment.

Those who believe that there are better ways of settling international disputes than war certainly are not cowards. If they are, then ninety-nine out of every hundred Americans are cowards, and the country might as well die, for it no longer deserves to live.

Those who believe that over-doing in military preparation does not prevent war but makes war are certainly not cowards. They are simply men and women who have watched the manufacture of war in Europe and have had the eye and wit to realize how it was done.

Those who believe that a show of force will not awe enemies into impotent inaction, but will merely stimulate them to greater preparatory activity, surely are not cowards. They are only men and women who can read the plainest signs of the times; men and women who can draw lessons from recent history.

Those who hold, with the Innocent Bystander, that as individual anarchy fell peaceably in line under clan organization, as the clans fell into order under the tribal organization, as the tribes ceased disorder under the rule of the kingdom, and as kingdoms learn to live at peace under national rule, so will humanity learn to live at peace under an international organization that will give force and "sanction" to international law—surely these are no cowards. Seers and sages, they are, rather; no cowards, even though they believe that thought and effort should be toward conquering war rather than toward successful waging of war.

No, none of these are cowards—none white-livered:

But there ARE white-livered Americans, many of them. They are those so timid that they quake in a perfect convulsion of panic because this country is not armed to the teeth, because it has not a world-conquering navy and the world's mightiest army. They are those who cannot sleep o' nights because of their deadly fear that our "unpreparedness" will at any moment bring in upon us hordes of barbarians bent on raping our riches. They are those who look under the bed at night in fear and trembling lest there be a Hun or a Jap there, and who dare not peek through the curtains into the darkness without for fear they may encounter the gleaming eyes of a marauding band taking advantage of our unfortified defenselessness. These are the white-livered—these who know no safety but when they are surrounded by row upon row of glistening bayonets, who know no rule but force, no god but might, no law but brute strength.

Yes, sad to say, there ARE white-livered Americans, and their state is pitiable. They vainly seek to hide their quaking fears beneath wordy and windy bluster. They strive to divert attention from their own craven cowardice by shouting "white-livered" at those with physical courage enough not to fear when nothing threatens, and moral courage enough to stand stoutly for common sense against whatever waves of silly panic. They succeed but poorly. Mankind these sophisticated days knows too much not to spot a coward, may he blow and bluster never so loudly.

VOTE FOR ONE.

Spring is here .....

Spring is coming .....

Spring is dog-goned slow .....

NO ANSWER TO THE UNANSWERABLE.

The other day The Herald suggested that the product of the direct primary would be improved if the quality of the candidates offered at the primary were improved; and that this could be accomplished by providing for initiating candidates by petition, so as to bring out a class of men who will not take the initiative themselves for fear of seeming self-seekers.

The Minneapolis Journal scans the suggestion and rejects it. But its only objection is that there is nothing to prevent self-seekers having petitions signed up for them, too. True enough, but what of that?

The amendment suggested by The Herald would open a way, where now there is no way, to get candidates into the field who ought to be in the field, but who will not come into it of their own motion because they see the self-seeking candidate, do not like him, and do not care to be taken for such. That's the purpose of it, that purpose it will serve, and it is a purpose that needs to be served. No most careless survey of legislative candidates in this state, for instance, will fail to prove that.

The fact is that those who, like the Journal, oppose this suggestion are bitterly opposed to the direct primary, lean strongly to the old boss-ridden convention system, and therefore instinctively oppose any improvement in the primary that will tend to perpetuate it. They don't want the primary improved, made workable, made efficient; they want it KILLED. They will not see it killed, and therefore, for the good of the state, they ought to be willing to see it improved.

Meanwhile the Willard-Moran fight has both Europe and Mexico backed off the boards for a little while.

WAR, THE NUISANCE.

Even those who do not believe that there ever can be an end of war admit that war is a plague, a destroyer of business, an intolerable nuisance, a menace to every ordered way of life. In time of peace it loads humanity with a needless burden of expense for armaments, and deprives society of the labor of the thousands tied up in armies and navies. In time of war it paralyzes everything, increases the burden of expense, increases the draft on the labor supply, and not only draws upon it but destroys a large proportion of what it draws. After a war new burdens of war debt and pensions burden humanity.

Is this sort of thing inevitable and forever to be borne? Don't let yourself believe it for a moment!

Suppose that your town were in the world's situation—lawless, full of strife, full of swaggering, armed bullies, every man going armed, murder an everyday commonplace.

Suppose that you were a small householder in such a community, and that you did not know what day your neighbor, one of those armed bullies, might begin talking about wanting "a place in the sun," meaning that he wasn't content to sun himself in his own yard, but wanted to grab yours.

Suppose you were in business in such a community, and didn't know what day a riot would break out, paralyzing business of all kinds, stopping the street cars, making the gutters run red with blood. Suppose that any day your whole force of employes might be called on to go over in the Fifth ward to fight, or to stay home and meet an attack from the Fifth ward fighters.

Suppose this community to be composed of average people, people of average learning and enlightenment, of average intelligence.

How long would such a community put up with such a condition?

How long before it organized itself against such an intolerable nuisance? How long before it passed laws and appointed policemen to enforce them? It would start with a vigilance committee, of course, and would clean out the bullies without waiting for law—the law would come later.

But that community wouldn't put up with such insecurity and danger and destruction very long, would it? Of course it wouldn't. If it did, it would deserve just what it got.

The world is just such a community. Conditions in the world are exactly like those described above. How long do you suppose it will be before the world comes to its senses and stops war? It won't be as long as you think. It is a pretty large community, and it takes it longer to realize and organize a community spirit than it would in a city; but these things will come, just as surely as the sun will rise tomorrow.

War is a nuisance, and the world is weary of it. It will be wearier still before the present war is over, and its end will leave little appetite for war in the world.

The end of war, the end of the period of world-lawlessness, is coming just as surely as daylight.

Just the same, you'll welcome the first dandelion.

PATRIOTISM.

There is much talk of a lack of patriotism in America.

There is much talk of the need of stirring it to life again.

Doubtless there isn't so much patriotism as there should be. Doubtless it will be a good plan to stir up as much of it as we can. There can never be too much—if it is the right kind.

For there is a right kind and a wrong kind of patriotism—a sham patriotism and a real—and a good many people who bemoan the lack of American patriotism are thinking of the wrong kind and the sham.

For instance, those who fail to see the need of alarm about war, who refuse to be stampeded by every passing gust of silly panic, and who therefore refuse to see the need of abandoning every traditional policy of a peaceful Republic and turning it into a militarism, are quite as patriotic as those who think otherwise—more so, we devoutly believe.

Those who advocate the teaching of peace are at least as patriotic as those who advocate the teaching of war.

There are other kinds of patriotism—and better—than that which wears a uniform and carries a gun—and a chip—on its shoulder.

The citizen who keeps cool and sees clearly; who studies public questions and forms an honest opinion upon them for his country's good; who votes always and votes right as his conscience dictates; who would fight to the death if his country were in danger but will not tolerate a senseless craze for militarism when no enemy threatens; who gives more thought to a just distribution of opportunity and well-being among the people than to armaments; and who asks his country always to stand only for humanity and justice, never for oppression and greed—that man is a patriot to his heart's core.

He is the kind of patriot whose patriotism is in operation all the time—not just when war threatens, flags fly, bands play and hysteria abounds.

Who says Von Tirpitz lost his job because he wears whiskers like Carranza's?

THIS COUNTRY HAS DIVIDED ITS SYMPATHIES BEFORE.

The Springfield Republican brings the timely reminder that this is not the first time the people of the United States have differed widely and sharply in their sympathies with foreign struggles; and it is well to remember this, particularly if, as the case is with some, the bitter difference in sympathies in the present conflict has caused discouragement.

It is natural that those Americans who were born in other lands should sympathize with the land of their birth in its struggle. It is natural that those born here, but in whose veins flows the same blood that is being shed in Europe, should sympathize with the land from which their fathers or their forefathers came. It is neither surprising nor alarming that Americans thus sympathizing with opposite sides of the tense and terrible conflict in Europe should at times disagree with each other with emphasis and heat.

But certainly there is nothing in it to be alarmed about. Those born in England or of British descent, whether their particular immigrants came over a generation ago or three hundred years ago, will be forgiven for sympathizing with Great Britain. Those in whose hearts throb the traditions of the Revolution will be forgiven for sympathizing with France. Those born in Germany, or whose fathers or grandfathers were born there, will be forgiven for believing in the German cause and in wishing Germany to win.

The only unforgivable offense—and it is unforgivable no matter who commits it—is to put the interests of Europe or any part of Europe higher than those of the United States. And we believe that there are few of any race who have done this ungrateful wrong to the land of their adoption.

There was far more menace in an earlier division of sympathy than there is in this. Says the Springfield Republican:

> The country was bitterly divided in its sympathies when the French Revolution and the Napoleonic wars were in progress, yet the Republic survived. Those who are most distressed over present divisions should recall the fact that during the administrations of George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison our population was far more homogeneous in race and origin than it has ever been since; but the Americans of those days divided in their sympathies just the same.

Indeed they did; and for his refusal to plunge the United States into war on the side of France when the newly liberated French people were beleaguered, Washington was denounced as an ingrate and a traitor to liberty; thousands upon thousands wore the revolutionary cockade and called each other "Citizen," after the French fashion; and the conduct of a large section of the population was such as to encourage Citizen Genet, the ambassador from the French people, to flout the government of the United States and carry on a propaganda that forced the administration to hustle him out of the country.

And yet the Republic survived, and it will survive the present comparatively tame difference of opinion among its citizens about how the European war ought to come out.

No, Annabel, the name "Verdun" is not logically associated with our word "verdant."

A BILLION.

Slow up!

Whoa! Don't let that word "billion" trip so lightly off your tongue! Keep a little respect for bigness, or you will grow hopelessly out of touch with ordinary things.

We in this country have become so accustomed to hearing the word that we no longer feel any awe when we encounter it; and one reason why that's a bad thing is that it is making many of us despise mere thousands, while hundreds of dollars and dimes and pennies are too trifling to get even a passing thought.

Yet a billion is a pretty respectable figure. It's a thousand millions, for one thing, and there was a time when we had a good deal of respect for a million.

How lightly many of us have come to treat this mighty figure is illustrated by the fact that the other day the Kansas City Star idly used the statement that billions of minutes had elapsed in the last century. While most of its readers accepted the sentence without anlysis, four wrote in to protest. They pointed out, of course, that in a century there are only 52,560,000 minutes; and one of them went further and pointed out that in the whole Christian era, more than nineteen hundred years, there have been only a few more than a single billion of minutes.

A billion is a great deal more than three trios of ciphers with a figure one at their head. A billion dollars would buy a hundred thousand schoolhouses at ten thousand dollars apiece, or forty thousand Carnegie libraries at twenty-five thousand dollars apiece, but only a hundred battleships at ten millions apiece. A man making money at the rate of a dollar a minute would require 1,903 years to make a billion, while a man earning at the rate of a hundred dollars a month and saving it all would have to work more than 833,333 years to be a billionaire.

Let's not lose our respect for a billion—or our awe of it. It is an awful figure.

Let us hope, in charity, that those who have been hollering for the president to call out the militia didn't know that the president has no authority to do that.

By the Old Home-Fire.

The old home-fire where the red sparks race
Up the broad-backed chimney, in the old home place!
How far we've wandered from its friendly gleams—
From the home-winds singing through the dark's still dreams!
Wandered weary in the far, false lights,
Yearning vainly for the old home-nights—
For the winter-silence on the frost-flecked ways
And the broad-backed chimney with the home-fire's blaze!

The strange, thronged cities of the storming crowds;
The buildings climbing till they scar the clouds;
The strife of toilers in the stern life-fight
Of the days that die not in the hush of night!
The tread of thousands on the thunderstreet,
With hearts far-sighing for the silence sweet
That fell in blessing on the friendly gleams
Of the old home-fire where we read love's dreams!

The traveler listens where the lost lives roam;
The Dark is calling to the Dark: "Come home!
The loved lights twinkle over vale and hill
And the dreams are waiting in the firelight still.
The winter-stillness that is falling deep
With healing sweetness—like the breath of Sleep;
From the dark—or gathered where the false light streams,
By the old home-fire ye shall read Love's dreams!" —Atlanta Constitution.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Saturday Night.

The days of the week bring us labor and care, to keep the pot boiling we wearily hump; and often we feel, with a pang of despair, that, spite of our efforts, we'll land at the dump. There are things without number demanding our mon; the high cost of living is surely a fright; but let us can care when the week's work is done, say "Shoo!" to our troubles, on Saturday night. If neighbors come over to gossip a while, don't let them refer to the wolf at the door; don't let them exhibit spring samples of bile, or sprinkle sad tears, by the quart, on the floor. Just tell them you're willing, at most other times, to listen to roasts with a fiendish delight, to jump on the plutes and their various crimes, but peace is your portion on Saturday night. Unhappy the man who must carry his grouch away from the shop or the office or mart; who takes it along when he goes to his couch, and cuddles it close to his bitter old heart. Unhappy the man who must worry and fume when the week's work is done, and his pipe is alight, who cannot say "Shoo!" to the phantom of gloom, when he sits in his rocker on Saturday night!

Bolingbroke

By Saroyard.

Washington, March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was the opinion of Macaulay that England had been ruled by eloquence since early in the Eighteenth century. The house of commons was the master, and to get action from that body it was necessary to persuade it or intimidate it. Bolingbroke, then Mr. St. John, a member of the commons, attended to the persuading, and Dean Swift, with that mighty pen of his, took care of the intimidation. They overthrew Marlborough, the greatest English soldier, and Godolphin, the Carnot of a victorious and glorious war. Marlborough and Bolingbroke

Could not stall together
In the whole world.

And certainly not in the little kingdom of the British Isles, and that is how it came that the orator brought about the rather "stalemate" peace at Utrecht, sooner than allow the soldier to force a crushing peace at Paris. Bolingbroke succeeded because he had the ear of the queen, but he would have been powerless had he not also swayed parliament by his tongue, perhaps the most eloquent with which British statesman was ever endowed.

In Queen Anne's reign, and long after the accession of the house of Brunswick, all sessions of both houses of the British parliament were "executive," from which the public were excluded. That speech of the first Pitt in reply to Walpole, beginning, "The atrocious crime of being a young man I shall neither attempt to palliate nor to deny," which we young Americans used to spout at school, was written by grand old Samuel Johnson, who took pains that "the Whig dogs did not get the best of it," and Pitt never heard of it till he read it in the Gentleman's Magazine.

And Bolingbroke's speeches were all delivered in executive session. Had the "stump" been invented at that earlier age, there is little doubt that he would have brought back in triumph the Stuart Pretender to the throne. Of one of his speeches in the commons a great Englishman said that he would sooner preserve it to the English tongue than to discover the lost books of the Roman historian Livy.

Sir Robert Walpole was a brave and resolute man, a very able practical statesman and a wise ruler. He could have sent Bolingbroke to the scaffold, but instead he suffered his great antagonist to employ his pen with the greatest freedom, and such a pen! Second only to that of Swift in that generation of marvelously gifted writers. But Walpole, valorous and magnanimous minister that he was, emphatically and obstinately refused to lift the attainder of Bolingbroke sufficiently to permit him to take his seat in the house of lords, and that historical fact is, perhaps, the greatest compliment ever paid orator. Bolingbroke, attainted as he was, and his allies finally drove Walpole from power; but it took a quarter of a century to do it. Had he been in parliament the chances are he would have accomplished it in twenty-five months.

It is the fashion to decry Bolingbroke's writings; but I would advise every bright young fellow to read his political and historical works at least. It is a magnificent style, and from some of his political preachments a skillful adapter could gather a mighty good Democratic platform for our day right here in our glorious United States. His chapter on "Exile," which he adapted from Seneca, is a perennial delight to my taste, and some remarks he makes about the policy of King Edward III would give immeasurable satisfaction to American statesmen such as the late William S. Holman, "the Great Objector." The "letter to Sir William Windham" is remarkable for its preachments and its superb English style. It is well enough to leave alone his assaults on the Christian faith. He was a deist like Tom Paine, and not half as formidable as that powerful writer in that particular field. Bolingbroke's grandmother, who had charge of him in his early youth, was a fanatic Puritan. Dr. Manton, the psalm-singing dissenter, wrote 119 sermons on the one hundred and nineteenth psalm. These the old lady compelled her young son to memorize, and we may well assume this was enough to make an infidel of him.

But Bolingbroke was more than an infidel. He was a drunkard and a debauchee. His conduct was scandalous in the utmost degree, and a public man of this day in England or in America whose behavior was half as outrageous would be sent to the workhouse instead of to parliament or to congress. At the age of 29, when the war of the Spanish succession was at its height and Marlborough was gathering more laurels on the continent than came to the Black Prince even, Bolingbroke resigned the portfolio of secretary of war and retired to his private estate in Buckinghamshire, where he gave out that he was done with politics, that he was disgusted with mankind, that never again would he have to do with any public affair. However, he allowed such friends as Swift and Pope, Gay and Arbuthnot to visit him, and one day at dinner, after the ladies had retired and the cloth was removed, he delivered himself of his homily about the simple life, the vanity of human ambitions, and all that; when one of the company, and it might have been any one of his companions, wrote a quatrain bristling with wit and satire which Swift, a clergyman of the established church, set down in his "Journal of Stella," and which I had supposed was emphatically and unqualifiedly unprintable in this our politer age until I read it in one of the books of the late Justin McCarthy that was written less than twenty years ago! If you read it in Swift's works you will laugh; if you read it in McCarthy it will astound you.

Had Bolingbroke been a contemporary of Gladstone it is altogether likely that he would have dwarfed that extraordinary man. Yet he would have been overcome, in all likelihood, by Palmerton, a practical man, just as he was by Walpole, an even more practical man than the latter statesman, of whom it was said, "England loves Palmerston for his 'I-don't-care-a-damn-ativeness.'"

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

"The will of the Lord be done."—Acts xxi, 14.

We are in the world like men playing at tables; the chance is not in our power, but to play it is; and when it is fallen we must manage it as we can; and let nothing trouble us, but when we do a base action, or speak like a fool, or think wickedly—these things God hath put into our powers; but concerning those things which are wholly in the choice of another, they cannot fall under our deliberation, and therefore neither are they fit for our passions. My fear may make me miserable, but it cannot prevent what another hath in his power and purpose; and prosperities can only be enjoyed by them who fear not at all to lose them; since the amazement and passion concerning the future takes off all the pleasure of the present possession. Therefore, if thou hast lost thy land, do not also lose they constancy; and if thou must die a little sooner, yet do not die impatiently. For no chance is evil to him that is content; and to a man nothing is miserable unless it be unreasonable. No man can make another man to be his slave unless he hath first enslaved himself to life and death, to pleasure or pain, to hope or fear; command these passions, and you are freer than the Parthian kings.—Jeremy Taylor.

Saturday Night Talk

By the Parson.

Be Prepared.

Some time ago a few of us, while passing along a country road, were confronted by a sign painted in heroic letters on a cliff. "Prepare to meet thy God!" was the warning of some graphic preacher who had placed his text where even the most ungodly of autoists could not evade it. The legend was logically displayed near a sharp turn in the road where reckless driving would be likely to invite disaster. With its excellent counsel our chauffeur, although no bigot in religious matters, confessed he could scarcely quarrel. Even if it did make him smile, it was also calculated to make him slow down.

Military preparedness is urged on us frequently tnough these days, and to some form of it at least, millions of our countrymen have become committed. Even, if invasion by a foreign foe be only a horrid specter for men of the present generation, no one willingly thinks of it as a possibility for his children or his children's children—a consideration which alone reconciles some of us to thoroughly distasteful preparations.

As a matter of fact, there is a contingency before all of us far more imminent than any attack by foes from across the sea. It is much to be doubted whether any now on the stage of active life will ever hear the roar of hostile guns. God grant that none of our descendants may hear it, either! It is, on the contrary, absolutely certain that every one of us, some of us very soon, will meet that ultimate conqueror of all mankind named death. From a hopeless fight with "the pale horse and his rider" there is no escape for rich or poor, for high or low.

Serious-minded men and women of a former day spent much time in getting ready to die. This endeavor explains the fastings, prayers, vigils, etc., with which thousands of the best people who ever walked our earth strove to make their spirits meet for the inheritance of the saints in light. It was heaven rather than earth that interested them. Their eyes were on the future instead of on the present. In contemplation of what was to be in the blessed beyond they almost lost sight of the urgent practical concerns of the here and now. Their main object was properly to prepare to meet their God.

What preparations do we moderns make for the corresponding experience? How would you spend tomorrow, my reader, if you could know that its hours were to be your last on earth? What would you do if in some way it were divinely revealed to you that at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening you would be called to exchange worlds? Think it over, John Henry, for five consecutive minutes; it will do you no harm. Is there a good deal that would call for change, or not much in the general program of your life? When a similar question was put to a certain modern business man, immersed in useful activities, he replied: "I should spend tomorrow under those conditions exactly as I have already planned to spend it." It was a fine reply and one revealing a life fitted to meet the supreme test.

For right-minded people this matter of dying is stripped of morbid fear. Anyone who is prepared to live is, by the same token, prepared to die. He is like an athlete who does not need to train laboriously for some big event, but who is always "fit." The moral athlete never breaks training. He is ready when the call comes. That fragment of time that happens to be the last in his earthly career he is not ashamed to present as a fair sample of the whole. The only way to get ready for the soul's final adventure is to be ready all the time.

If They Told the Truth.

Life: "I won't be home tonight, dear, I'm going to break loose and see if I can cure myself of being tired of looking at you."

"Good night! Next time you ask me to such a poor dinner, put me alongside of somebody who is at least half-witted."

"There is absolutely nothing the matter with you, madam, except pure laziness; but just to maintain appearances and give myself an excuse to call again, I'll write out a couple of prescriptions and charge you $5."

"I can't begin to tell you how little I enjoyed your voice; I don't think I ever heard a worse one."

"Darling, life without you would not be worth living—say, for about a couple of years."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1896.

Brig.-Gen. Thomas Lincoln Casey, retired, for many years chief of engineers of the United States army and who completed the Washington monument, died suddenly at Washington today.

Fred M. Lloyd of St. Paul was re-elected grand master workman and Charles G. Hinds of Shakopee was re-elected grand foreman of the A. O. U. W. of Minnesota at today's session of the grand lodge at St. Paul.

George T. Hughes of Duluth was yesterday elected grand chaplain of the grand council of the Royal Arcanum for Minnesota.

A chess club is being organized at West Duluth and will have quarters in the Manufacturers' Bank building. Among the prominent players are Dr. Corson, E. B. Follett, Julius Lindgren, Dr. Burnside and W. E. Lawrence.

A resolution has been passed by the city council favoring a foot and wagon bridge across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac to connect with the old military road. The bridge would cost about $15,000, and it is proposed to take this money out of the proceeds of the road bonds recently authorized by the county.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 40; maximum yesterday, 51; minimum yesterday, 32.

The second trial of Charles H. Stuckey, former cashier of the State bank, for embezzlement, resulted in a verdict of "not guilty" last evening, the jury being out only a short time.

The Republican State League convention at St. Paul today elected Eli S. Warner of St. Paul as president. C. L. Smith of Minneapolis was chosen secretary. George L. Laybourn was elected one of the delegates-at-large to the national convention. James W. Coggswell of Two Harbors was elected one of the Sixth district delegates.

Principal Lohr, Miss Hollister, teacher of mathematics, Miss Campbell, teacher of science, and E. L. Norton, teacher of political economy in the high school, have been asked to resign, owing to differences with Supt. Denfeld. They have not resigned yet, as they want an opportunity for a hearing before the school board so as to present their side of the case.

The Morley Congregational church has secured the old First Baptist church building at the corner of Third street and Second avenue west, and will use the material to erect a modern church building at the corner of Nineteenth avenue east and First street.

Lewis Brownell and F. E. Ebner, the well known attorneys, will remove to Aitkin next week and open a law office together.

KAUFMAN'S DYNAMIC INSPIRATION

Don't ask for an opening; make one

You Can't Achieve What You Don't Believe

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

If you don't believe in your goods, it's hard to sell them to another.

You'll deceive very few while you're fooling yourself.

Conviction convinces—earnestness compels confidence.

Training alone may produce efficient soldiers but not effective armies—hired warriors never yet won a kingdom. Besides weapons, every fighter must carry his soul into action.

Ability is always discounted by the absence of zeal.

You wonder how old Fumble-tongue manages to clean up your territory. He's a slow-poke. His vocabulary is spavined, his tactics are cumbersome, his address crude, but he's honest in the belief that he is delivering full value; and the sincerity he feels takes the place of the things he can't say.

Words at their best are interpreters of emotion; and some men are so charged with faith—that they become wireless stations and flash their messages across the gaps in their arguments.

Enthusiasm covers a multitude of inadequacies—wobbly wheels right themselves as they gather speed.

Your head won't bring you far if you can't take your heart along. When you think you're "putting one over," you are the worst deceived person in the deal.

A betrayed opportunity is only a temporary advantage. The important thing is to serve yourself—you can't serve a responsibility until you do.

Insincerity grows into a habit and develops cynicism and a cynic soon loses the sense of proportion, without which success is impossible.

A cause is hopeless when its own spokesman isn't a convert.

You won't strike your stride until you elect a vocation in which you can invest your pride.

Uncongenial employment dampens ardor and dulls initiative. Round pegs are distorted and crushed in square holes.

You cripple your promise and maim the chances of your concern by persisting in a position which you dislike, or one which does not summon all your resources of will and mind.

You can't achieve what you don't believe. Drop this job and do something into which you can put yourself as well as your time.

The future can hold nothing until ambition and you are both busy under the same roof.

Divert your energy to an attractive quarter; choose an occupation which will focus your faculties; adopt a career that interests as well as supports you.

You'll know that you've found yourself the moment you make the proper choice. You'll forget where the clock hangs. The days won't be long enough to absorb your purposes. Your brain will be deaf to a closing gong—it will constantly hunger for tomorrow and a chance to develop the plans that bob up in the night.

Your head will fill with the blue prints of determinations which project partnership or independence.

It doesn't matter where we start or what we do, provided it completely engages our talents.

Most of us don't progress because we are misfits.

You prate about your wealth, your popularity, your talents;
You swank about your fame, your family tree and all the balance.
Your own elation is so great, you force us all to doubt it;
If it were not a novelty, you'd speak far less about it.

"V" VERSES by Herbert Kaufman

Vim Vigor Victory

YOU plod and plug from day to day,
Year in and out the selfsame way
And think tomorrow safe—(poor fool)
Because you never break a rule,
Which merely proves
You've worked in grooves.
And so in time we're bound to find
A nice machine, whose steel-cogged mind
Will automatically do
Your work and then we'll fire you.
Alert inventors always note
The things that people do by rote
And forthwith start to plan
A cheaper substitute than man.
A job that doesn't exercise
Originality, soon dies.
Resign, and pick an occupation
That calls for some imagination.

Your Way and Your Weight

OF course, your way is different, but how much does the difference weigh? You can't get the true measure of your ability until you permit the other fellow an open-minded chance to demonstrate his power by contrast. The more you learn, the less you'll want to teach. Ignorance hasn't the requisite information with which to judge even itself.

As Old Cyrus Simmons Used to Say:

THE worst mistake you can make while in my employ is trying to hide one.

I measure your pay by the same clock with which you measure your work.

One error of judgment may mean that you're trying—but two in the same place prove that you're not.

An honest blunder demands no excuse—a dishonest excuse is a blunder.

I don't give a rap about your past until it begins to interfere with my future.

A juggler can keep a number of things going at once, but he hasn't a grip on any of 'em.

I'd as lief hire a woman as a man—there's no sex to profit.

Things that cost nothing are priced at their full value.

Do not believe everything you hear—the folks who say it don't.

The red-tape worm devours half the time of every organization.

A Useful Handbook.

HANDBOOK OF ATHLETIC GAMES. By Jessie H. Bancroft, assistant physical director New York public school, and William Dean Pulvermacher, physical director Flushing high school. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50.

(By J. R. Batchelor, director public recreation, city of Duluth.)

In the athletic world of the United States there are very few men or women, even among the specialists, who are really up on all the branches of our foremost American sports. Some there are who specialize in one game or another, such as football or baseball, but who know very little of other branches, such as ice hockey, etc., and vice versa.

Printed matter on American sports has been confined to rule books and has contained information more on what not to do and the penalties thereof than a statement of the purposes and aims of the game. To the initiated these books are valuable, but they are worse than Greek to the person who has never played the game. To understand the various games would take a library of cheap paper books that would give very little information on the game.

There has arisen a great need, first, for a book that would treat all the big branches of sport and, second, a book which would give the uninitiated a fairly good idea of these different big games.

All this this handbook of athletic games does do. It includes all the games in which the American people are interested and of which the papers are full at certain seasons of the year, and by turning to the section of the book on that game one can get a very good idea of the game, its aim and spirit.

It contains some very good information on various points of the games such as marking the grounds, lacing the balls, etc., and with each game it gives a glossary of the terms used in the game and a bibliography so that anyone may get a complete knowledge of the game.

The book will serve two classes of people—those instructors who want a handy reference book on all games, and, second, that great mass, the general public, awakening as it is to the necessity for play as a relief from the strenuous life and who, knowing nothing of these great games, wants to understand and play them and be conversant with their many features.

I commend this book to all those interested in American sports.

The Story of a Singer.

GERALDINE FARRAR: THE STORY OF AN AMERICAN SINGER. By herself. Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $2 net.

"I believe," says Miss Farrar (careful of the second syllable, please) in her opening, "that a benevolent fate has had watch over me. Some have called it luck; some have spoken of the hard work and the many years of study; others have cited my career as an instance of American pluck and perseverance. But deep down in my heart I feel much has been directed by fate. This God-sent gift of song was bestowed upon me for some purpose, I know not what."

In this intensely interesting book, Geraldine Farrar tells the story of her life fully and frankly and withal modestly, putting her soul into the telling as much as she does into her singing. Miss Farrar is probably the best known woman in America. She has figured on the stage, on the screen and in phonograph records, always to high advantage. Her beauty, hardly less than her glorious voice and consummate art, is known to millions. It is intensely human, and inspiring, too, this story of an American girl's conquest of the world. It is peopled with men and women known around the world, and it shines with romance and adventure. Years of struggle crowned with success—it is the sort of story people love to read, and Miss Farrar tells it very well, indeed.

A View of the War Countries.

THE HEEL OF WAR. By George B. McClellan. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1 net.

What sort of effect is the war having on the countries engaged in it? George B. McClellan—son of Gen. McClellan of the Civil war, former member of congress, former mayor of New York city and a professor of economic history at Princeton university—went over to see the situation for himself, and here is his account of things. He spent six months last year traveling through France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. His articles were first published in the New York Times. Now they have been revised and amended, and here they are in book form. They are strongly tinged with pro-German sentiment. Here are some chapter subheads:

Germany—Economic conditions are practically normal. No lack of work, food, necessities or even luxuries. Building operations are on the increase.

Belgium—Conditions are not abnormal in any way; little to suggest German occupation.

France—People making many sacrifices, but kept in ignorance of real conditions. Oppressive dictatorship established without consent of people or parliament. Status of ruling ministry illegal.

Italy—Her strength not equal to her political ambitions. Conduct of people worthy of highest praise.

A Drama League Prize Winner.

THE STEADFAST PRINCESS. A play. By Cornelia L. Meigs. New York: The Macmillan company. 50 cents net.

This play won the Drama league prize of $100 offered by Kate Oglebay, national chairman of junior work, for the best play for children submitted in 1915. "The Steadfast Princess" was chosen out of several hundred submitted, probably on account of the moral taught, as well as because of its introduction of fairies into the action, these parts to be taken by children. The construction and the handling of the plot are excellent, and show an unfailing determination and unstinted effort. Whether the play will really prove a success for children is another question, for children are generally hidebound pragmatists, and in their two appearances here they have absolutely no bearing or effect on the action or development. Neither is the production of this play, with the children taking the parts assigned to them, at all possible without an immense stage and a deep purse.

The story, however, is altogether pleasing. It is that of a wise councillor to a king, who becomes a fugitive with the king's little daughter in order to get her away from the atmosphere of a corrupt court. He becomes a toymaker, with the child as an assistant. In the course of the play all the difficulties are straightened out and the princess assumes the throne, but remains steadfast to the principles of truth and justice the toymaker has taught her.

Drama and Poetry.

GOOD FRIDAY, AND OTHER POEMS. By John Masefield. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

Somebody has said that we are living in a new age of poetry—that the literature of today will be found to be marked, in a later summing up of its character, by a sudden and powerful revival of the art of expression in verse. If this be true—and there are sound reasons for believing that it is true—John Masefield's name will almost certainly stand well toward the head of the list of writers of this notable period; and among the works that will have won him so enviable a place, this collection will not be found very far down the scale.

Two distinct forms of poetic diction are to be found in the book: One is a dramatization of the scenes attendant on the crucifixion of Christ; the other is supplied in some sixty lyrics through which runs a thread of thought often closely related to the death of Christ, but generally trending in other directions.

The dramatization is a powerful presentation of the position of Pilate and the attitude of those who demanded the sacrifice of the Messiah. In one of the scenes Christ himself is supposed to be present, but is hidden by his guard from the view of the audience, though pointed out by certain of the rabble who occupy the stage. The action of the play extends to the return of the soldiers from the cross, and their report of what happened there.

But it is in the lyrics that the reader of this volume will find the thrills. What is the "Beauty" so constantly apostrophized? One is tempted to say it is the Spirit of Life that must have been before any sentient being could be. Whatever it may be, it is at the best a most elusive thing, though, as you read you constantly find it almost within your grasp.

Masefield is of course thoroughly familiar with Fitzgerald's translation from Omar Khayyam, and it is possible that he felt some influence from the Rubaiyat when he wrote some of these lyrics. Certainly they remind one strongly of Fitzgerald's work in many places. But it is not the kind of reminder that the copyist's work brings; rather it is the recognition of similar power and similar thought. Masefield does not need to borrow.

Rhyme and Rhythm.

TIDES OF COMMERCE. School and College Verse. By William Cary Sanger, Jr. New York: The Country Life Press. 80 cents postpaid.

Here you may hear the clickety-click of trains going over the rails; the throbbing of the steamer's engines and propellers; the ring of hammer on anvil; the screech of the steam whistle, and the heavy breathing of men who toil with their hands. It is essentially a book of rhyme and rhythm, in which are glorified the accomplishments of the commercial and work-a-day worlds.

The Story of Cortez.

THE MASTERING OF MEXICO. By Kate Stephens. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50.

The conquest of Mexico by Cortez and his followers, a little heroic band against hordes, is one of the gallantest exploits in history. Bernal Diaz del Castillo, one of those who followed Cortez, has told a plain, soldierly tale of it all, and from this tale of Bernal Diaz of Castille Miss Stephens has wrought a thrilling story of pluck and pertinacity, which she tells with uncommon vigor and clarity, in a style that will delight younger readers, for whom she wrought, and will interest older ones as well. She tells the story in the first person, following the gallant Bernal, and shows that the Conquest "was a democratic, community affair, each soldier of fortune present by his own choice and with vote and speech indicating his personal independent wish in general matters." This, she proves, was the secret of the success of the expedition. Prescott and Lew Wallace have told the story for older readers.

The World-Wide Web of Finance.

GOSSAMER. By G. A. Birmingham. New York: George H. Doran company. $1.25 net.

The Ulster uprising against home rule and the beginning of the European war have a place in this timely story by the author of "General John Regan" and "Spanish Gold." "Gossamer" has a more serious strain running through it than the other books by Mr. Birmingham, but it has also the delightful humor and the masterly sketching of characters for which he is known.

The complex organization and delicate intricacies of world finance form the basis of the story. A British financier of German birth is the central figure. On the declaration of war he is thrown into a distressing dilemma. His sympathies are with the fatherland and yet he knows that if he deserts his post in England serious results in the confusion of financial affairs will ensue. The reasoning which brings a decision is most interesting.

That all comes toward the end of the story. The introduction of the financier, the sketching of his wife's character, the philosophical utterances of an Irish literary man of most engaging personality and an inventor's dream cover many pages rich in masterly story writing. The story is well told, and the reader is instructed and entertained in full measure for the time he devotes to the book.

A Girl at Gettysburg.

EMMELINE. By Elsie Singmaster. Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $1 net.

Even in a story for girls, which this is, Elsie Singmaster strikes a flutelike note of limpid clarity. This tale of a girl of 15 in the quiet little village of Gettysburg before and during the battle that made it immortally famous, is a fine specimen of her work, with the din and horror of battle chording quaintly with the simple village peace. Emmeline Willing, fleeing from Gettysburg, fell into the hands of the hated rebels, and for three days she stayed in her grandfather's farmhouse while the battle raged around her, cooking for the enemies of her country, tending the wounded, and even growing to like them, finding them human. It is a thrilling experience, told in a way that enthralls the interest.

A Girl in the West.

THE GIRL FROM THE BIG HORN COUNTRY. By Mary Ellen Chase. Boston: The Page company. $1.25 net.

This story brings into pleasing contrast the mountains and plains of the West and the quiet precincts of a New England college town, where the heroine goes to school. The tale is of Virginia Hunt, a wholesome, cheery girl, and her friends—and enemies—and their adventures. It is told pleasantly, and with more than the usual skill devoted to such stories.

By the Pollyanna Author.

SIX STAR RANCH. By Eleanor H. Porter, author of "Pollyanna," etc. Boston: The Page company. $1.25 net.

In this book the author who has made "Pollyanna" so famous and so loved tells a lively story of a summer spent on a Texas ranch by a merry crowd of young people from the East. It is full of incident and well told, and will surely interest the young people—if not the old.

Among the Magazines.

The April Scribner begins with an article by Richard Harding Davis, describing his experiences "With the Allies in Salonika." Reading it is like looking on at the scene itself. You imagine the crowds of soldiers, the heterogeneous native population bargaining, standing in groups, discussing everything under the sun, and realize, with an appeal to your sympathies, the helplessness of Greece in her efforts to remain neutral. No one better knows how to make you see the human aspects of such experiences, for Mr. Davis never misses a chance to inject a touch of humor here and there. His account of the money-changers is an amusing bit of comedy, Edward H. Sothern's "My Remembrances" deals with his years at the old Lyceum theater on Fourth avenue, New York, where he made his earliest successes. He recalls many notable associates of the old days and dwells with much feeling on the passing of the old familiar faces, quoting Charles Lamb's line, "All, all are gone, the old, familiar faces." He says his fox terrier Trap was responsible for his appearance in "The Highest Bidder." Mount Athos, on the Aegean sea, has been the home of monks since the Tenth century, and the monasteries there are among the most interesting and picturesque in existence. "The Holy Mountain of Thrace," as H. G. Dwight calls it in his article, has been the scene recently, due to national jealousies, of some exciting events. The monks have been quarreling recently, forgetting their religious offices under the stress of war.

Distinctive articles on subjects of universal interest and good fiction are the leading features of the April American Magazine. "Better Doctoring for Less Money," by Dr. Richard C. Cabot, chief of the medical staff of the Massachusetts General hospital, tells why the very rich and the very poor receive the best medical aid and why the rest of us don't fare so well. "What You Can Do With Your Will Power," by Dr. Russell H. Conwell, a Philadelphia paster who has made millions through delivering his famous lecture on the forces of the will, informs the reader of the chief requisites for success and how to obtain and apply them. Interviews with James R. Mann, Republican floor leader of the house of representatives, and Oscar W. Underwood, Democratic author of the present tariff law, make interesting and conflicting predictions of our future tariff needs. Among the other articles in the magazine are "Get Ready for 5,000,000 Automobiles," by Frederick Upham Adams, an automobile expert, "What Makes a Good Salesman," an interview by Merle Crowell with Harry G. Petermann, who hires the sales force of the largest tobacco corporation of the world, "When Is a Man Drunk?" by Dr. Edwin E. Bowers, "The Autobiography of a Decisive Man" and "Rich Prizes for Playwrights," by Dale Carnegey.

The Yale Review, in its April number, begins its discussion of the presidential campaign with a very able and judicious estimate of the merits and defects of the Wilson administration by Mr. Moorfield Storey, who writes with authority. Germany versus America is the theme of two powerful essays by historians, George Burton Adams maintaining that we must enter the struggle if there is any danger that the allies may lose; Wilbur C. Abbott depicting the effect of Germany's efficient, autocratic war upon the democratic American mind. In a different vein, H. G. Dwight, a dweller in the East, describes with ease and a wealth of information the military situation in Mesopotamia, supplying the historical background that most of us lack. And Dr. Harvey Cushing, one of America's most eminent surgeons, publishes extracts from his diary kept during the dangerous weeks on the western front of May, 1915. About war—but not about this war—are the intimate letters from Russia at the outbreak of the Crimean struggle, written by Daniel C. Gilman, late president of Johns Hopkins university. A highly significant criticism of the government's attempt to value the railways is the work of the economist and statistician, Morrell W. Gaines.

In addition to a large amount of good fiction, the April Woman's Home Companion has a number of interesting special articles. "Give the Girl a Chance," by Ida Tarbell, discusses the failure of our educational system in regard to young women, and urges the necessity of training girls for married life. "Isolde at Home," by Johanna Gadski, the famous opera star, gives an intimate account of the life of a great prima donna when off the stage. "The Market Value of a Wife," by a married man; "Our Adopted Baby," with illustrations from the painting by William Cotton; "A Sermon to Grandparents," by the Rev. Dr. C. E. Jefferson of the Broadway Tabernacle, and "A Bouquet Garden," by Grace Tabor, furnish material of interest in many widely separated fields. The fiction includes another interesting detective story by William J. Burns; "The Blue Envelope," by Sophie Kerr; "The Rising Tide," by Margaret Deland; "Chloe Malone," by Fannie Heaslip Lea; "Thirty-three Cents, Plus," by Elizabeth Jordan; "Not in the Film," by Mary Hastings Bradley, and "Frewen's Daughter," by Ellen Duval.

"The Fallacies of Writing" are discussed by Edwin L. Sabin in a heart-to-heart talk in the March number of The Writer, the Boston magazine for literary workers, which all magazine and book writers are bound to read with interest. Mr. Sabin tells some plain truths which he has learned by observation and experience as a successful author, and he corrects a number of prevailing false impressions. Some "Don'ts for Writers," by Amos R. Wells, are written from the editorial point of view, and are practical and helpful. Other topics discussed are "Writing for Children," "A Demand for Stories for Girls," "Aid to Indigent Authors," "Carelessness in Characterization" and "The Journalist's Creed."

The April number of Woman's World introduces the new editor, Hiram Moe Greene, with an interesting resume of his life and work. There is an exceptionally large number of good stories and articles this month. "Neighborizing the Farm Home," by Avis Gordon Vestal, is an entertaining and instructive account of what the automobile has done for rural communities. This deals very fully with every aspect of the question—"To have, or not to have" an automobile, which is so vitally interesting to the country and small-town dwellers. A story sure to appeal to those interested in moving pictures is written by Cyrus Townsend Brady, entitled "Breaking In." Mothers, and fathers, too, will delight in the humorous appreciation of "Baby," which is a "Revelation," by Rollin Lynde Hartt. "Flower o'Dreams," by Alice N. Shearer, is a gripping story which presents in a vivid manner the privileges of those fortunate enough to live in the country.

A mirror is truly held up to the life of American high school boys in "Captain Fair-and-Square" by William Heyliger, the leading serial in the March issue of this most popular boys' publication. It is a different type of school story, dealing with the everyday life of the average high school lad in his struggle for clean athletics and good sportsmanship. The reader sees the boys in the story solve exactly the same problems that he faces every day in his school activities. The "Shooting Star," by Walter Scott Story, is a thrilling tale of a hair-raising slide on a tobogan that saved a life. "Connie Morgan," a favorite character among the American Boy readers, is back in "The Man Who Didn't Fit," by James C. Hendryx.

The war is seen from a new angle this month, from the standpoint of India as reflected in a series of cartoons from Hindi Punch of Bombay, reproduced in the April Cartoons Magazine. If Germany is banking on the disloyalty of India, as the editor observes, she will learn something to her advantage by a glance at these unique designs, which reflect the very essence of loyalty. The drawings, which are by native artists, compare favorably with the best cartoons of England. How the American cartoonists and editorial writers view the U-boat situation, and the backing up of President Wilson by congress; the defense plans now under discussion; the German drive at Verdun, and the Russian victories in Asia Minor, may be seen in this number.

Page after page of unusual features—in picture and story—make the April number of Popular Mechanics magazine a record breaker in point of interest. There are 246 articles and 298 illustrations, covering the activities of the world in the fields of science, invention, mechanics and discovery. Only a moderate percentage of space is devoted to the great European conflict, actual reproductions of war views being given preference over text. There are thirteen such page groups, besides a thrilling account of a Zeppelin raid by R. I. Bjurstedt, who was in London when the first aerial attacks on the city occurred. Mr. Bjurstedt plainly was self-possessed during this experience, for his account contains many points of interest which only a clear and unagitated mind would record at such a time. Two pages showing the destruction wrought in both Paris and London in the latest raids accompany the article. An interesting drawing shows the method of attack employed by the German Fokker monoplane, the latest and most powerful aerial foe of the allied forces. A new gun for fighting air craft is described in detail. It has a special sighting arrangement.

"Camp Sites and Tent Pitching" in the March Outing, which is illustrated with diagrams, tells all about choosing your camp site with reference to windbreak, soil, water supply, wood, and other creature comforts and how to pitch the various kinds of tents. "A Town Turned Game Warden" is a story in photographs of how Ouray, Colo., taught the wild mountain sheep to come down into the town for food during the winter snows. "Canoe Nights," illustrated with photographs is a graphic description of nights spent in a conoe and a device to make it more comfortable as a sleeping place. Other articles include: "A Summer With the Red Tails," "The Archer's Advantages," "Dwight Davis, Tennis Patron," "Ducks in the Great Basin," "It's the Cartridge That Does It," etc.

Of all the interpreters of Shakespeare's spirit for young people it is doubtful if there is any who has had so great a success as John Bennett. His "Master Skylark: Will Shakespeare's Ward," of which a dramatiezd version has just appeared, is known wherever English is spoken, and a German translation with notes and glossary has long been widely used in the schools of Germany. For a number of years Mr. Bennett, whose home is in Charleston, South Carolina, has been in ill health and has been able to write scarcely at all. In recognition of the poet's tercentenary, however, he has found it possible to compose a fresh tribute to the master to whose life and works he has given so many years of study, and the result, "Will Shakespeare, Star of Poets," will appear, it is announced, in the April St. Nicholas. Especially intended for boys and girls, the article, it is said, will not discuss the plays in detail but will be confined to the poet's life and character, giving a picture of his surroundings, his friends, the nature of Elizabethan life in general, and a summary of what we owe to Shakespeare.

The most notable feature of the April Century is the first instalment of "The Leatherwood God," the new serial novel by William Dean Howells. The story, laid in the backwoods of Ohio early in the last century, is that of a religious imposter who gives himself out as God—a dramatic story of old American pioneer life. Mr. Howells has been working at the book at intervals for many years, and has only recently given it its final touches. A fantastic, imaginative short story is "Souls on Fifth," wherein Granville Barker, the famous English playwright and manager, describes his feelings on becoming aware of thousands of souls, souls of Fifth avenue folk, drifting his way. He captures and talks with many, who make him their confessor, and at length falls in love with one of them. "Ripe for Conquest," by Robert R. McCormick, the well-known Chicago journalist who recently returned from campaigning with the Russian army and from interviews with the various generals of the allied armies, is a powerful admonition to Americans to prepare for the future mentally, as well as militarily. He sees us demoralized and filled with class and sectional bitterness. He thinks Mexico was no more ripe for the conquest of Cortez than we are ripe for conquest today. Three short stories are: "The Lost Phoebe," by Theodore Dreiser, an unusually tender and sympathetic piece of realism by the unsparing author of "The Genius"; "The Night Before," by Inez Haynes Gilmore, the disconcerting discoveries of a young man about to be married, and "Romance," a love story by L. Frank Tooker, author of "Under Rocking Skies."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

When Antiseptics Do Harm

Antiseptics, as such, have been used for not more than fifty years. We are now in a position to know something of their value, and also of their shortcomings. Chiefly we know their shortcomings. In general they are either useless or harmful for promiscuous application. Comparatively few wounds, for instance, require antiseptic treatment, and then the antiseptic must be used just once. There is no really good practical reason for applying antiseptics to a wound, burn or ulcer every day. It is done. Yes. But a great many things are done, both by doctors and by the layman, from force of habit rather than anything else.

It is now the universal custom, in clinics and hospitals, to employ asepsis instead of antisepsis. That means simple cleanliness, rather than chemical germicides. Asepsis has displaced antisepsis because it has been found so much better. Antiseptic or germicidal applications have been found to delay and prevent healing, since they destroy or inhibit the growth of new tissue cells even more readily than they prevent bacterial growth in the wound.

Therefore it is a mistake, and perhaps a serious mistake, to apply antiseptics to simple abrasions, cuts or minor wounds every day. There may be no harm or perhaps some benefit in one preliminary swabbing of the wound with ordinary tincture of iodine (U. S. P.), diluted with an equal amount of grain alcohol. But the after-treatment had better be aseptic—surgically clean—and not antiseptic. The idea is, once the wound is germ-free, to keep it so by protecting it from contact with anything which is not absolutely clean. That is much better than applying dirty salves, "rags," court plaster or unsterilized bandages, and trusting to subsequent applications of germicidal chemicals to prevent blood-poisoning.

Similar reasons apply in the toilet of the mouth. The best dentists assert that antiseptic tooth pastes or powders favor decay of the teeth and infection of the gums by weakening or destroying the naturally protective mucous lining of the oral cavity. The dentifrice should be but weakly antiseptic, if at all, and at that the dentist or physician should decide.

In efforts to treat the nasal cavity it is almost invariably wise to avoid anything of an antiseptic nature and rely upon purely mechanical cleansing. Of course you will read glowing descriptions of the "germicidal" powers of various nostrums, but take it from the doctor, any germicide which will really discourage the germs in the body or in the body cavities, is pretty sure to do the individual more harm than good.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Candy Medicine.

A long time ago you referred to a pleasant substitute for castor oil. Every time our youngsters are threatened with an attack of castor oil there's the deuce to pay. So, for the love of medicine and humanity, will you please repeat the formula?

Answer—Aromatic Syrup of Rhubarb, U. S. P.—given in the same quantities for the same purpose—the children call it "the candy medicine," and we hereby aver, reiterate and avow that it is better than castor oil for domestic purposes.

Fallacy of Lime Feeding.

Is lime water good for a pregnant woman? The teeth are decaying, and I am told the system requires more lime.

Answer—No. Ordinary food supplies all the lime the body can possibly utilize. Lime water is a good ant-acid.

Fredo Ossanna of Duluth Wins in Final Elimination for Freshmen-Sophomore Oratorical Contest; McNally Pledged to Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fredo Ossanna of Duluth was one of the six men to come through successfully in the final elimination preparatory to the freshmen-sophomore oratorical contest for a $100 prize to be held some time during the spring. His subject is "The United States and a Constructive Peace Plan." The remaining five subjects all show a considerable interest in the question of international peace or national preparedness, being "Let Us Prepare," "America's Mission," "The Supreme Protest," "The Philippine Question" and "The Keeping of the Trust." Mr. Ossanna is also a member of the Forum debating team, which lost its debate in the finals of the debating league to the Shakespean club on Thursday evening on the question of the abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. The freshmen-sophomore contest was won by Vincent Fitzgerald of Duluth last year.

An investigation into the prices of chemicals influenced by the war revealed some interesting figures. The average increase in the price of the more common chemicals is 152 per cent. Practically all classes of people are somewhat affected by the diminished supply of German chemicals brought about by the British blockade. The safe-cracker finds his occupation less profitable due to an increase in the price of glycerine of 137 per cent; the baby cries joyously at the news that castor oil has jumped 125 per cent, and even the fancy dresser is abashed at an increase of 910 per cent in the price of analine, of which the best dyes are made. The college of chemistry finds some difficulty in maintaining a complete supply of chemicals with which to conduct its numerous courses. Many chemicals are entirely off the market and others are valued far above the means of a poor public institution.

On April 5 the University of Michigan Glee club will give a joint concert with the University of Minnesota Glee club in the university armory. A block of 400 seats has been reserved for the alumni of the University of Michigan in the Twin Cities. Michigan has an especially large club, numbering nearly fifty men.

For several days the engineering college has been thrown into turmoil by the rumor that the famous blarney stone had been put through the rock crusher by the mining engineers. The blarney stone has become the official and very highly prized gem of the senior engineers. Each year it is concealed by the post-seniors, who have had possession of it during the year, and on St. Patrick's day is searched for by the new seniors. When the spot of its concealment is discovered, it is usually guarded by the entire mining college, who do not care to have it disturbed. A merry tilt ensues, in which the seniors are usually victorious; if they fail, they must devise some other way of acquiring the stone. This year, as usual, the seniors finally gained possession of the stone and put it away in the dean's office carefully concealed, but on Tuesday it was gone, and the rumor started immediately that the miners had stolen it and had put it through their new rock crusher to make stick pins with the fragments. It was not until after several days' search and sleuthing that the seniors discovered that one of the professors had taken the stone to a safer place of concealment.

The average age of the senior academic students is 24 years. There are four students who will graduate at the age of 20, twenty-five at 21, seventy-four at 22 and sixty-four at 23. The average of the prospective school teachers graduating from the school of education is two years higher.

Statistics recently prepared by the lost and found department of the university show that students are exceedingly forgetful persons. Two thousand articles have been returned to the department during the school year and 1,600 have been restored to their owners. A greater evidence of the students' propensity for losing is the fact that 5,000 inquiries have come to the department for articles that have not been found. The record shows, further, that women are more forgetful than men, for out of forty-one pairs of gloves on hand at present only one pair will fit the masculine hand, and out of two dozen umbrellas only two are men's. Also, out of 115 odd gloves only two are men's.

A report from the comptroller's office states that $2,620,744 is to be expended by the business office during the fiscal year ending Aug. 1. Of this amount $1,371,552 goes toward paying the salaries of instructors and clerks and the remainder of the maintenance of the grounds and buildings. This sum, large as it is, is the smallest amount used to conduct the university since 1911. The amount expended in 1913-14 was nearly $1,000,000 more and in 1914-15 about $700,000 more. The pendulum, however, is again swinging and it is thought that the next legislature will not choose to economize on so valuable an investment as the state university and will make provisions for eliminating some of the handicaps under which the university officers are now laboring.

Five students of the university have signified their intention of journeying to France during the summer months to work in the ambulance corps in Paris. Most of the students are from the medical college and expect to derive considerable practical experience from their work, although they do not expect it to be particularly pleasant.

Feeling that efficient organization was necessary to defeat the frightful epidemic which has been sweeping the agricultural campus, a body of students has banded together under the name of "The Get 'Um club." Each member carries concealed upon his person a pair of shears and a dull razor. They usually go abroad in pairs and wage valiant warfare upon the mustache which is becoming a fad among the less principled aggies. Many conflicts have already stirred the campus, but the members of "The Get 'Um club" assert that their campaign has just commenced and that they will not lay down their weapons nor give quarter until every misdemeanor has been removed.

W. L. Oswald of the seed testing laboratory has come to the conclusion that the seed corn of 1915 is not up to the standard set by that of 1914. He has tested 2,000 samples and says that the 1914 seed had a germination 30 per cent higher than that of 1915. Plenty of the old seed remains, however, and it will be mixed with the new to bring up the standard.

PHONE LINE TO LAKE OF WOODS

Baudette, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fox & Jowett, local telephone men, will build a telephone line from this place to Wheeler's Point on the Lake of the Woods. A petition signed by ten who wish the line put in has already been received and many more along the river will install phones. Work will begin at once and will be a great convenience to camping parties on the lake during the summer.

NEGAUNEE'S LIGHTING PLANT PROFITABLE

Negaunee, Mich., March 25.—The city's electric light plant, in its report for 1915, shows a balance of cash on hand, after all expenditures have been taken from the total income, of $19,544.88. The total amount of the cash received during the year was $37,978.71, of which all except about $500 was collected for lights. The expenditures totaled $18,433.83. Of this amount, $15,050.61 was operating expense, and the rest was spent for additions to the plant.

ACCLIMATED OATS FOR COPPER COUNTRY

Houghton, Mich., March 25.—Houghton county farmers will have the opportunity this year to purchase acclimated seed oats. It is apparent that grains and other farm products must become inured to this climate before they can be grown successfully. This is particularly true of oats, and Supt. Wahl of the county infirmary farm has now available 400 bushels of seed oats, grown on the county farm.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

"Great Home Missionaries" is the subject for Endeavor study this week, and the Scripture reference is found in Luke x, 1-20. Some of the greatest home missionaries whose lives are mentioned are as follows:

William Duncan, who did a great work among the Metlakahtla Indians of British Columbia.

When Chicago was only Fort Dearborn, the first sermon was preached there by a home missionary, Jeremiah Porter in 1883. In three months Mr. Porter organized the first church in Chicago with twenty-seven members.

Joseph Ward, the great missionary to Dakota, the founder of Yankton college, became the most influential man in the territory. Said the then governor, "I have not a tithe of his power here."

The following services will be held in Duluth Sunday:

First Baptist—The service of this society is held in the Endeavor parlors at 7 p. m. Mrs. Hanna will read the actual experiences of a missionary worker. This society will entertain the Endeavor union at their quarterly rally on Friday, March 31, in the church auditorium.

First Presbyterian — The regular meeting of this society will be held Sunday evening at 6:45 p. m. Miss Upham will be the leader, studying the regular subject. Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the Christian Endeavor mission study class will meet with Miss G. M. Hall as leader, to study the South Sea islands.

Forbes M. E. of Proctor—William Foubister will be the leader for this service which meets at 6:45. The subject for missionary study will be Africa. All members are urged to attend the quarterly rally at the First Baptist church Friday, March 31.

Harvey Webb M. E. of Smithville—Miss Nettie Amundsen will have charge of the regular Endeavor service which meets Sunday evening. This society will make a strenuous effort to capture the banner for best attendance at the rally next Friday night.

Lakeside Presbyterian—This society meets at 6 o'clock for its devotional service. Miss Alice Pond and Miss Winifred Bousfield will be the leaders, using the regular topic.

Pilgrim Congregational—The young people of this society meet at 5:30 in the Unitarian church. The leader this week will be Miss Ella Roe. All young people are welcome.

Second Presbyterian—This service is held at 7 o'clock in the church, Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street. Mrs. Ledingham will be the leader; topic, fourth chapter of "The King's Highway."

Westminster Presbyterian—An interesting service will be held by this society in the form of a debate with the Hazelwood Presbyterian society, the subject being, "Resolved, That Home Missions Are More Important Than Foreign."

Quiet Hour Work—All over the state special emphasis will be placed on Quiet Hour work tomorrow. Miss Irene Beatty, who is in charge of the district work, and Miss Ethel Schober, in charge of the local city work, have both been busy urging the local societies to emphasize this part of the work. The goal set for Duluth for two years is 100 new members of this department, and each society is asked to do its share.

Bethel Service—This service, Monday evening, will be in charge of the Glen Avon society. Twenty-two members were present at the last service conducted by the First Baptist society.

County Poor Farm—This service will be in charge of the Hazelwood Presbyterian society. Members are asked to take the Incline car at 2:30.

Quarterly Rally—The quarterly rally of the City Endeavor union, composed of twelve societies, will be held in the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and First street, Friday evening, March 31, at 7:45. This will also be the annual election of officers. William Hancock will have charge of the pipe organ music and special music will be provided. Societies of Smithville, Proctor, and Morgan Park are expected to attend as well as those in the city.

The Macalester College Glee club, composed of twenty-eight girls, will appear in concert in Duluth under the auspices of the Endeavor union, Wednesday evening, April 5. As soon as the place where it will be held is decided on the tickets will be printed and distributed to the various societies.

Kansas Progressives Meet May 23.

Emporia, Kas., March 25.—Progressives in Kansas will hold their state convention at Topeka on May 23, it was decided at a meeting of the state central committee here yesterday. A resolution "strongly recommending primaries for electing delegates to the convention" was adopted. It also was decided that candidates for congress and for presidential electors must be filed before the national convention at Chicago is held.

Resinol Soap

a friend to poor complexions

Resinol Soap is not only unusually cleansing and softening, but its regular use helps nature give to the skin and hair that beauty of perfect health which it is impossible to imitate. Tendency to pimples is lessened, redness and roughness disappear, and in a very short time the complexion usually becomes clear, fresh and velvety.

The soothing, restoring influence that makes this possible is the Resinol which this soap contains and which physicians have prescribed for over twenty years, in Resinol Ointment, in the care of skin and scalp troubles.

If the skin is in bad condition through neglect or an unwise use of cosmetics, Resinol Soap should at first be aided by a little Resinol Ointment. Resinol Soap is sold by all druggists and dealers in toilet goods.

CHICAGO WANTS TO BE SHOWN REGARDING WILLARD'S ABILITY

Some of the Brutally Frank Critics of the Windy City Wonder How Jess Suddenly Became So Great—Magnate Blume Predicts a Great Season for the Northern League—Can Fred Beell Headlock Joe Stecher?

BY BRUCE.

FROM Chicago, unblushingly frank in its opinions and often lacking the excessive "bull" of New York, comes a decidedly dissenting opinion regarding the pugilistic worth of Jess Willard. Down Chicago way some of the matter of fact critics are wondering how Willard could have become the most wonderful fighter of all time, a remarkably clever boxer, when little less than a year ago he was beaten by Tom McMahon, a fat middleweight, and failed up to that time to display any attributes of cleverness or ring greatness.

Tonight's the night, and maybe after the returns are in from the large evening of entertainment that is to be provided in Madison Square Garden, Willard will be stripped of some of the airy persiflage that has been flung up from every fight expert down New York way.

If Willard is one of the greatest heavyweights of all times and is as great a boxer as Bob Edgren and some of the other New York critics claim, he should beat Moran in handy fashion.

The late Luther McCarty staked Moran to a sound licking. Moran is considered one of the best of a rather poor lot of heavies, but never in the wildest flight of the imagination has Frank Moran ever been compared with Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons or Jim Jeffries. Therefore, if Willard is the bearcat that is claimed, he should win handily.

We've seen Willard several times in repose, but have never seen the giant put up his hands. Despite his huge size, Willard does not impress one with nearly the fighting force that was suggested by one glance at Jim Jeffries.

Willard may beat Moran in decisive fashion. If he does, he will gain a greater name than he possesses at the present time. If Moran wins, a number of disagreeable remarks a number of persons have made regarding the fighting ability of Willard, will be loudly chorused down the byways and up the highways by the augmented orchestra of the I-told-you-so's.

Personally, we will be very much surprised if there is a knockout scored. Willard's record does not warrant the belief that he will put over the slumberland punch. Moran's record as a finisher is more impressive than that of the lumbering champion. But Willard can take it good, so it is hardly probable that he will be kayoed.

Willard is so large that he is a hard man to even seriously jar with a blow that would shake a smaller man from toes to head. But, if Willard knocks Moran out, here is one person who will be very much surprised.

Waking Up the Fans.

IN about three weeks, if arrangements sleighride on present plans, the members of the White Sox baseball squad will assemble here and start limbering up for the 1916 pennant race of the Northern league. If all the players who have been signed by the jovial Irish Orator report on the job, the population of our city will undergo a rapid growth.

Speaking of the baseball situation today, Harry A. Blume, president of the Duluth baseball club, declared that he looked for one of the best years in the history of the Northern league and also for some of the best baseball.

"Last year," said he, "baseball and business conditions were considerably upset. The minors suffered for the sins of the larger leagues of the country, while somewhat stringent business conditions naturally affected the attendance in the league. The Canadian cities were even more vitally affected by the war. This season, unless all signs fail, Canada will pay more attention to baseball and there is a healthy interest in the game on this side of the line.

"As for Duluth, we are going to try to give the fans one of the best teams in years. If the infield candidates come up to expectations, Darby will have the best infield since the year he had Breen, Kohl, himself and McCrone. If we secure Schreiber for the outfield, we will have one of the best collection of fly chasers in the league. We believe we have signed some of the best minor league players in the country, and we also believe that we are going to get away to a flying start and remain in the race all the way."

It is indeed difficult to think of baseball with the present brand of weather nagging at one, but with the coming out party of April and a few sultry days—where has that word been used previously?—interest in the game will take on a bull movement and the thought of young and old men will turn once more to the great national game.

The Interesting Angle.

FROM the vast amount of interest already indicated in the Stecher-Beell contest, it would seem that Frank La Joy has lit on a live one.

It is not in the least difficult to explain the interest. Indeed, it is more difficult to understand how the little promoter succeeded in landing the biggest match of the year.

Stecher is known as the man with the $100,000 pair of legs. Beell is known as the man with the greatest headlock that has ever been shown by an American wrestler.

Beell is short, compact and moves like lightning—Stecher is long and exceedingly lanky, and moves with extreme deliberateness. Stecher works for the body and with his legs, while Beell, like a bulldog, works for his opponent's head and works with those short and wonderfully muscled arms of his.

Can Stecher, apparently slow moving, lock those wonderful legs around little Beell? And can Beell, who in the past has been able to go behind any man in the world, even behind the incomparable Gotch, fasten that deadly headlock on Stecher and pull back that skinny neck?

Where there is scant speculation regarding any athletic contest, you generally find small interest. Regarding the coming Stecher-Beell contest there is an infinite amount of speculation, for literally hundreds of fans at the Head of the Lakes, fans who ardently admire little Freddy Beell, the most popular wrestler by far who ever appeared here, are vaguely wondering whether he will be able to make Stecher appear foolish—and wondering, too, whether Beell, a mat master in every move and trick of the game, will be able to clamp the old headlock on Stecher, the most marvelous youngster who has ever come from the tall grass.

TWO CHAMPIONS STILL HOLD TITLES.

OLD MEN OUT FOR THE CREW

Seniors Return for Another Try at Rowing Game; Big Men Needed.

Ned Ten Eyck stated yesterday that a number of the old oarsmen will be out the first of the week. Most of the old men have been rounded up and will go to work on the end of a machine sweep starting Monday afternoon.

Kent, Horak, Grant, Forrestal, Hall, Phil Moore and Hoover are some of the old men out. It is expected that all the men who have rowed previously, in addition to a large number of big men who have never tried the rowing game, will come out during the week.

There are just about 100 candidates in the squad now. It was expected that double this number of men would respond to the call. A hustling committee was organized yesterday and a canvass of the city will be made in the effort to secure at least 100 additional candidates.

It is particularly desired that all the seniors come out. Duluth is going to be up against the stiffest rowing proposition in the history of the club and has need for every man.

Ned Ten Eyck stated yesterday that it was important that candidates get out as early as possible. Those delaying their appearance will miss much of the preliminary work.

During the present week some promising recruits registered. Some high school athletes are on the squad. Some of these kids have the appearance of making great junior material.

TRACK STARS ENTER ST. LOUIS INDOOR MEET

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—Track stars from the East and the Middle West will compete here tonight in a great indoor meet under the auspices of the Missouri Athletic association—the first big indoor meet to be given in St. Louis since the destruction of the Missouri Athletic club building by fire two years ago.

Announcement from Chicago today that all was harmonious between the Missouri Athletic association and the Chicago Athletic association removed the last doubt that Joe Loomis, Earl Eby, H. Goeltz and McKeown, of Chicago, would take part.

DELAFIELD MEN WINNERS

St. John's Military Academy Takes National Shooting Trophy.

Delafield, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a total of 8,850 points, and having maintained the lead throughout, St. John's military academy rifle team won first place and the government trophy in the national shooting championship for military institutions, held under the auspices of the National Rifle Association of America. The New York military academy was second with 8,781 points.

The tournament, which closed March 19, is the big yearly classic of the association, participants including civilian, collegiate, academic and scholastic organizations. The object of the association is the promotion of marksmanship and "the revival of patriotism among the youth of the country."

Although the honor to the Wisconsin school is confined to class A including representatives of the ten "honor" schools of the country, it gives the winners the national title, other divisions in the class not being required to qualify with as high entrance scores. Among the contestants were the following: New Mexico military institute, New York military academy, Bordentown military academy, Kemper military institute, St. John's Manlius, St. John's military academy, Northwestern military and naval academy, Morgan Park military academy, Tennessee military institute and Harvard military school, all affiliated with the national association. Each team comprises ten members.

Rules of Contest.

The tournament began Jan. 22, one event being held each week. Twenty shots were allowed, ten standing and ten prone, at fifty feet, and an average taken from the five highest scores. St. John's team was chosen from among cadets of the institution who have qualified for the National Rifle association insignia. The winning team will be given the government trophy and ten silver medals. Following is the personnel of the team: Cadet Capt. Charles T. Smythe of Delafield, Cadet Capt. Harry Youngs of Low Moor, Iowa, Cadet Lieut. Rodney Gilbert of Keokuk, Iowa, Cadet Lieut. Benjamin Brown of Indianapolis, Ind., Cadet Sergt. Harry Howard of Waukesha, Wis., Cadet Sergt. Emil Craig of Leavenworth, Kan., Cadet Sergt. Robert Strehlow of Omaha, Neb., Cadet Sergt. Frank Leidgen of Milwaukee, Wis., and Cadet Sergt. James Anspach of Ada, Ohio.

Cadet Lieut. Charles O. Leidgen, Milwaukee, captain of the team, made three perfect scores during the tournament. The first broke the interacademic record and placed his name on the honor roll of the association. This score had been accomplished only twice before in the association's history by teams higher than the military class.

Much of the credit for the success of the team is due to Lieut. J. B. McKenzie, assistant coach, who also acted as judge of events. Lieut. K. E. Agan, officiated as witness, appointed by the association.

CAN FRANK MORAN LIFT THE HEAVYWEIGHT CUP?

FRANK MORAN.

Here is the fighting pose of Frank Moran, who will meet Jess Willard tonight in Madison Square Garden. See how the Pittsburgher lays back with that old right. That's his chief chance of victory. It is claimed, Moran is a one-handed fighter. He sure can flail with his right, though.

HARRIS WINS FROM HALL

Finals Played in Blaze of Glory; Farewell Contest Is Scheduled.

Walter Harris won the Blaze of Glory event last evening by defeating Walter Hall's rink by the score of 13 to 12. The contest was very well played, being one of the best of the season. The two skips came into the last end tied up. By a very well played shot Harris knocked Hall out and laid the winning rock.

In the semi-finals of the Board of Trade event, Dr. Catterson put Steve Jones out of play, winning by the score of 10 to 9.

The final official game of the year is scheduled for this evening. Dr. Catterson and Guy Warren will meet in the finals of the Board of Trade.

As the final evening promises to be a sort of gala one, it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand.

OAK HALLS RETAIN LEAD IN MAJOR BOWLING RACE

With But Four More Weeks to Play, the Pennant Chase Is Very Close; Berini Is High Average Man; Major League May Include Eight Teams in 1917; Interest in the Sport Is Very Keen.

Major bowling league standings find the Oak Halls in first place holding a two-game lead over the Elcoras, who in turn hold a one-game lead over the Sharkcrafts. There are but four weeks of bowling remaining. The race is one of the closest in the history of the league.

A statistical review of the season discloses the fact that the members of the six teams of the league have knocked over 8,320 more pins so far this year than during all of last season.

Interest is so keen in the game that it looks as if the Major league will be expanded to an eight-club league next year.

In the matter of pin averages the Elcora team leads the league with a count of 958 pins. During the week the Big Duluth team won the high three-game score with a mark of 2,850 as well as the single team score of 1,007. Whitney of this team made an individual score of 636, his second 600 score of the season, as well as getting the high one-game score of 231.

Berini of the Oak Halls clings tenaciously to the high average lead, his mark being an average of 196 and a fraction points for fifty-seven games. Stiegler of the Big Duluths is close behind with a mark of 194 and a fraction points.

The scores in detail:

OPINION IS DIVIDED AS TO WILLARD-MORAN FIGHT

Both Contenders in Big New York Ring Contest Number Many Sporting Men as Their Followers—Huge Purse Is Offered.

Following will be found some opinions of leading sporting men regarding the outcome of the Willard-Moran fight, which will take place this evening in the famous old Madison Square Garden. The contest is attracting interest all over the country and will be fought for the largest purse ever offered for a limited round engagement. As will be seen, both men have their strong followers. What do you think? Look and see what some men qualified to pass opinion think of the contest:

These Pick Willard.

Jim Jeffries, former world's champion—Willard is the ideal champion. Moran has little chance of winning his title.

Billy Muldoon, noted conditioner of famous athletes—Willard could have defeated Fitzsimmons and Corbett in their best days. The champion's weight and height form a big asset over Moran.

Joe Choynski, one of the greatest fighters of his time—Willard should beat Moran decisively. I don't expect a knockout.

Dan Morgan, manager of prominent fighters and boxing authority—If Willard really wants to fight and takes the aggressive he should win by a knockout inside of four rounds.

Ted (Kid) Lewis—Willard is so big and perfectly developed that I can't figure where any one has a chance to whip him.

Prof. Mike Donovan, old-time champion and boxing instructor of the New York Athletic club—I can't see where the courageous Moran has a chance with Willard in ten rounds, or in forty-five. Willard looks invincible at this time.

George Bothner, wrestling champion for years—Willard sizes up like a fellow capable of playing his natural advantages to the limit. He is fast with hands and feet and should be able to take care of his championship.

Dan McKetrick—Willard ought to beat Moran, as he will have many advantages over him, and besides, is a much better boxer and fighter than he showed when he fought here before.

George Lawrence—It looks like a real good thing for Willard to beat Moran, but I don't think he will knock him out. If the fight was in Australia Willard would be a 1-to-5 shot to get the decision.

Jack Cantwell—Willard ought to win easily over Moran, as Moran has not improved his fighting while Willard has.

Bob Vernon, stakeholder for the big fight—Willard today is the equal of any of the big fighters I have seen, from Sullivan's day down. Moran is an excellent athlete, but Willard looks by far the better man.

Bob Fitzsimmons, ex-heavyweight champion—Willard is too big for the Moran type of fighter. His height, reach and 250 pounds give him big natural advantages. He is by far the best of the big fellows of today.

James J. Corbett, from whom Fitz won the title—I won't be surprised if the bout goes ten rounds, with Willard having a little the better of it at the end. Willard, with his great weight and reach, will be a hard man to beat.

Jack Skelly—I look for a great fight, but I don't think there is the slightest chance for the title changing hands. Moran is no dub. He carries a great kick, but he has never met as formidable a man as Willard. I cannot conceive of any man of Moran's size knocking out the biggest and best working champion we have ever had.

Sam Wallach—While I have never seen Willard box, the fact that he knocked out Jack Johnson, and will have a big advantage over Moran in height, weight and reach, makes it look like a certainty for him to win.

L. Lawrence Weber, who promoted the Johnson-Willard bout—Willard will win in five rounds. Moran hasn't a chance.

"Jack" Horgan—Willard should win on sheer dope. Moran may have an outside chance, but I wouldn't bet much on it.

Moran Is Their Selection.

Jimmy Coffroth, noted promoter of Western championship bouts—I figure Moran has an excellent chance to beat Willard. He is the champion's superior in every angle of the ring game.

George Considine, close student of pugilistic events—Frank Moran is game and can hit hard. Willard is too slow to stall him off.

Johnny Mack, promoter and student of fights and fighters—I can't see Willard at all. Moran should win by a knockout within eight rounds. He has everything and, most important, the wallop.

Jack McAuliffe, retired undefeated lightweight champion—Frank Moran will win by a knockout. Moran is in better condition than Willard and will be the night of the contest.

Tommy Burns, ex-heavyweight champion, who was defeated by Johnson in fourteen rounds in Australia—I expect to see Moran get the newspaper verdict. His ring generalship should offset Willard's great advantages in height and weight.

Tom Sharkey, who fought a famous 25-round bout with Jeffries at Coney Island—I think Moran will win, possibly with a knockout. Anybody weighing 190 pounds is big enough to whip anybody. I take no stock in the stories of Willard's height and reach. They won't count much in a real battle.

Freddy Welsh, lightweight champion of the world—Willard is a marvel in speed for such a big man, but he is not invincible. Moran is plenty big enough to reach a vital spot, and I believe he has a great chance to win.

Jim Coffey, twice defeated by Moran—Moran should win easily. All Willard has is size. He telegraphs all his punches. Moran is the better man.

John Weissmantel—I look for Moran to win the big fight, as I think he will have no trouble in landing on Willard with the terrific rights which laid Jim Coffey low.

Jim Buckley—Moran is my selection for the fight. I really believe that he can punch too hard for Willard, and will also be in better shape than the champion.

Scotty Montieth—Moran is my choice to win, for I think he can lick any one he hits, and I am pretty certain that he is going to hit this big fellow.

Dominick Buckley—I cannot imagine how Moran can possibly lose.

Harry Haggerty—Moran is my hunch. He's a good fighter, has had experience, is game and, better than anything else, is a thinker. Give me the thinker in any line of business.

Henry W. Moller, Jr.—Moran is big and strong enough to beat Willard. He is in the best possible condition. All he needs is an opportunity to put over the wallop.

Jack Gleason—Ring experience is what will count most in this fight. Moran has had more of this than Willard and I think this will offset the so-called natural advantage of Willard.

Jim Griffin, San Francisco referee—Moran has a great chance if he makes it a rushing battle. He's lost if he makes it a waiting contest. He has the speed, I'm sure, and I think he's the harder hitter of the two.

Henry Moller—Moran will win this fight. He has two good fights (with Coffey) under his belt, while Willard has fought only once in two years. He has the necessary to end the mill with a knockout.

Col. Charles Crowley—I must stick to the Mick. He's as good as they come. Willard isn't too big to be dropped.

Jim Day—Don't let any one tell you Moran hasn't a chance. He's more of a fighter than Willard and when he lands something is going to happen.

WORLD'S HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPIONSHIP AT STAKE IN GOTHAM

Willard Heavy Favorite Owing to Superiority in Physique; Moran's Good Record Alone Makes the Result Uncertain.

New York, March 25.—With the wagering close to 3 to 1 in his favor, Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, will meet Frank Moran in a ten-round no-decision bout here tonight for the largest purse ever offered for a contest of this scheduled duration. The two pugilists will receive $71,250, posted by Tex Rickard, the promoter of the match. Of this sum the title holder will draw down $47,500 and his opponent $23,750. Notwithstanding the size of the purse, Rickard will clear a handsome profit on the venture since every seat in Madison Square Garden has been sold and the receipts are estimated at more than $140,000.

Although Willard is a top-heavy favorite, interest in the outcome of the bout is intense, and the greatest gathering of fight fans that ever thronged into and about the garden is expected at that historic show hall this evening when the principals enter the ring. Few large bets have been placed on the contest owing to the difference in the odds and acknowledged physical advantages possessed by Willard over Moran. Hundreds of small wagers on the result and on various angles of the fight have been made between friends both in this city and among the large delegations of spectators from other cities of the East, South and Middlewest.

Moran and his camp followers assert that the Pittsburgh heavyweight will win from Willard in decisive fashion on points if not by a knockout, but the great majority of the boxing enthusiasts cannot be convinced that the Kansas cowboy will fall a victim to Moran's rushes and blows. It is pointed out that the conquerer of Jack Johnson is physically superior in every respect to his opponent and that in a bout of but ten rounds it would be little short of a ring miracle for Moran to stretch the champion on the floor for the count.

Equal in Boxing.

In boxing ability the two pugilists are conceded to be about equal, but beyond that point Willard has a marked advantage over Moran in almost every department of glove fighting as well as in physical make-up. He will outweigh Moran by close to fifty pounds, stand between five and six inches above the Pitsburgh slugger and have a longer reach, of more than six inches, than Moran. Both are extremely powerful hitters in proportion to their size but here again Willard's greater physique and strength give him a wide margin over Moran. The latter is the more aggressive boxer of the two, but the champion's towering height and ability to block with his long arms militate against the chances of the smaller pugilist landing a knockout blow to the head. The task of reaching Willard's body is not so difficult, but in all his bouts to date the Kansan has shown ability to take very hard blows in his midsection without slowing up. From a defensive standpoint Willard is considered to be one of the best equipped boxers of his division in many years.

He is equally formidable offensively when aroused, but, as a rule, lacks the aggressiveness necessary to win from an opponent of Moran's caliber in ten rounds or less. His best blows are a short left jab and a right hand uppercut. These blows he uses almost continually and owing to his long reach and great strength the punches carry terrific power when Willard puts full force into them. Under pressure he can and does fight with other blows and carries a knockout in either hand when mixing savagely. In his awkward and ponderous style Willard is almost as fast on his feet as Moran although he seldom uses footwork to avoid an opponent. At close quarters he should hold Moran safely, although the latter will be dangerous if he can tear loose long enough to uncover his ability and power as an infighter.

Ready for Battle.

Both pugilists virtually completed their training on Thursday, and each claims to be in perfect condition for the battle. Moran has been on edge for the bout for close to two weeks, and his trainers have had more difficulty in holding him to physical form than Willard's handlers. The champion was slow to round into condition, since he had been out of the ring for almost a year, while Moran, because of his recent bouts, responded quickly to the conditioning routine. Willard, however, once he settled down to hard work, dropped weight and increased his speed rapidly, and while it is doubtful if he is in the same magnificent shape that he was when he met Johnson at Havana, he should be able to box the full ten rounds at top speed if necessary.

Whatever the outcome of the battle, the two heavyweights will be well repaid for their training and struggle in the ring. If the contest goes the full distance, the principals will receive $7,125 per round, or at the rate of $2,375 per minute. Of this sum, Willard's share will be $1,583.33 and Moran's $791.66 per minute. The purse of $71,250 is the largest ever offered for a ring battle of any distance, with the exception of the $121,000 given to Johnson and Jeffries by Rickard in their fight at Reno, Nev., in 1910. The purse is larger than the gate receipts taken in at any fight ever held in New York state under the Horton law or the present Frawley regulations. But two fights, the Johnson-Jeffries and Johnson-Burns battle in Australia, brought receipts in excess of $71,250.

White Is Referee.

The difficult task of refereeing the bout has been placed in the hands of the veteran, Charley White, an experienced boxing arbiter, and he has stated that he will insist upon the principals boxing in strict accordance with the rules. Because of his past experience as third man in the ring at a number of championship battles, White should be able to decide upon all technical points which may arise. Considerable responsibility will rest upon his shoulders, as Willard might lose his title in several ways, notwithstanding that the contest is billed as a ten-round no-decision bout. Moran would become the heavyweight title holder should he knock out Willard, or in case the latter was to foul Moran during the struggle. White is also empowered to stop the fight in case either one of the men is incapacitated for any reason and unable to continue. Such a decision would automatically make the other principal a winner and technically the holder of the title.

The physical statistics of the two principals follow:

CAN THIS WONDER SCISSORS FRED BEELL?

JOE STECHER.

Here is the green Nebraska farmer boy who has been called the man with the $100,000 pair of legs. No wrestler in the history of the world has ever developed his legs to such perfection as this 22-year-old boy. Like all wonders, Stecher was not taken seriously at first. He was laughed at. Today he is marveled at, and followers of the game are wondering whether Joe is greater than Gotch ever was. When Stecher walks out of his corner to shake hands with Fred Beell, two great types of wrestling will oppose one another. It will be a great veteran against the most sensational athlete of the present age.

Willard was guaranteed $47,-000 for his end against Moran.

ROLLS PERFECT SCORE.

Toledo Bowler Does Great Work During Big Tourney.

Toledo, Ohio, March 25.—Charles H. Brady, captain of Keystone No. 1 of Toledo, who bowls with his team in the A. B. C. tournament tonight, yesterday rolled a perfect score. His three-game total was 824, with game scores of 300, 245 and 279.

The Elks of Newark, N. J., with 2,797, were high rollers on the late shift. The team scores were 962, 940 and 895. The Elks opened the series with eight strikes in the first two frames.

Several other famous fives worked on the shift without materially affecting the tournament standings.

BOXING SUFFERING FROM LACK OF GREAT STARS

New Set of Great Glove Performers Is Needed—Decision Contests Would Also Help the Sport, It Is Believed.

New York, March 25.—Whats the matter with boxing?" is an oft-repeated query these days, and certainly with good reason. From Albany comes the report that the state's receipts from fistic sources show a falling off of nearly half from those at a similar period last year. From promoters comes the wail of small attendance and negative returns. Few clubs are operating and few shows are being staged in this state. Night after night, exhibitions in this city are, for some reason or other, postponed. What is really the matter with boxing?

In our search after the answer we took one of Haroun Al Raschid's old-time trips about Bagdad, writes "Daniel" in the Press. First we went to the fountain head of all fistic matters in this state—Fred Wenck, chairman of the boxing commission. Wenck furnished several reasons for the unprecedented lull in the game. The primary factor, he declared, was the absence of referees' decisions, which, he holds, are essential if interest is to be renewed.

"Boxing is going to stay in the present condition for some time, but if we had decisions there would be an immediate revival, for the simple reason that the boxers would be forced to put forth their best efforts," said Wenck. "Take the case of Fredd Welsh. He does not have to train for bouts here, for he can go through ten rounds any way he pleases. He does not seem to care a rap whether he wins or not. He will hold on to that title for his lifetime, while five or six other boxers who are his superiors are, through our system, kept away from a chance at the championship. This is killing interest in the lightweight class.

Dearth of Material.

"Another reason for the decrease in interest is the dearth of material. There is very little new blood in the game and the same boxers keep on fighting all the time. Very often the same two stage many repeaters.

"It was to develop interest that I so firmly advocated decisions and the proposition to name New York champions in the various classes. I heard a lot about the danger that referees might be fixed. In order to obviate any chances of that I proposed naming five referees the day of the bout and having them all report at the ringside. Five slips would be put into a hat just before the fighters were to go on, and the referee whose name was drawn would officiate.

"If we had gone through with the state championship idea we might have made some mistakes in the original nominations, but as the champions would have been forced to defend their titles every sixty days, our errors would soon have corrected themselves. Both decisions and state champions are bound to come up again. A continuance of present conditions will hasten them back."

Johnston Tells Why.

Jimmy Johnston asserted that while the Garden had done better business this year than last, he recognized that there was something radically wrong with the game.

"The trouble hereabouts lies in the lack of really good boxers, in the unreasonable demands of the boxers who amount to anything, in poor match-making and poor management, and above all, the way in which boxers are developing in this section," declared James.

"How many first-class boxers have been developed in New York in the last ten years? Not many. You can count them on the fingers of your two hands and have some to spare. When they get a youngster who looks as if he were going to be a fast boxer, they soon have him on the toboggan. Either he is sent against somebody who knocks him out of the going, or he is made to fight night after night. Soon he gets big ears and he's done for. He does not necessarily have to be gone physically.

"Now consider the way in which some clubs are being managed. They put up three 10-round bouts in which fairly good boxers meet second and third raters, who are beaten before they go into the ring. They get a pretty good house. The next time they send two pretty good boxers on and offer only one ten-rounder. The result was shown when Cross and Hommey drew a $300 house."

An instance of the demands of boxers that are killing the game here was furnished in the case of Al Reich, who was matched to box Andre Anderson at the show that was to have been held in the garden last week. Reich, who has been beaten considerably in these parts, and took a whipping from Battling Levinsky, demanded $1,000 to box Anderson. As a result of this ultimatum Johnston had to call off the show. Levinsky, his only other card in hand, had already tied himself up with the Long Acre A. A.

PROGRAM FOR "Y" ATHLETES

Volley Ball, Wrestling and Life-Saving Contest Scheduled.

Morterud's volley ball team is scheduled to meet the team captained by Carman in today's Y. M. C. A. volley ball series. The game is in the series for the Dunning trophy. Both teams are strong and the contest is expected to prove close.

A wrestling tournament will be staged in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium some time during April. As there is an exceptionally large number of crack amateur wrestlers in the association class, the tournament is expected to be by far the best ever staged under the association auspices.

The tournament will not be confined to association wrestlers, any amateur in the city being eligible to entry.

Louis Ardouin, the wrestling instructor of the association, has developed some crack mat men, so that it is believed that every division will have a number of strong contenders.

The Pentathlon life-saving contest, a national competition, will be run off between April 3 and April 15. The events will include a 75-yard event, any stroke; 50-yard contest on back; 20-yard, any stroke; towing a person contest, and 25-yard full dress contest. It is expected that there will be a large number of entrants.

CENTRAL TO MEET CATHOLIC QUINT

Basket Ball Teams Will Meet for Head of Lakes Title.

The Central high school basket ball team and the quint of Cathedral high will meet on the evening of April 4 to decide the basket ball championship of the Head of the Lakes. The contest will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Both teams have splendid records, both having won the same number of games. It is expected that the contest will be close and very well played. The members of both teams will be put through strenuous practice between now and the day of the contest.

CENTRAL TEAM WINS.

High School Gymnasium Quint Defeats Business College Team.

Duluth Central high school gymnasium basket ball team last evening defeated the Central Business college team on the Y. M. C. A. floor by the score of 42 to 19. The high school team was altogether too fast for the business quint and excelled at every point. The summary:

EMPLOYE KILLED AT PHOENIX MINE

Calumet, Mich., March 25.—As the result of a fall of rock at No. 1 shaft of the Phoenix Consolidated Mining company Wednesday night, Isaac Lehto, aged about 40, was killed and Fred Ferkins had his leg fractured in two places. The accident occurred at the time of the change of shift as the men were leaving work and was witnessed by both shift bosses and a number of other employes. Lehto has a wife and seven children living at Pequaming and had been employed at the Phoenix about a year. Ferkins is a single man and has no relatives in the Calumet district.

O'BRIEN TO REIGN AS BENCH MANAGER

DARBY O'BRIEN.

This season the genial Dook will make his appearance as a bench manager. For the first time in many seasons Darby has signed a player for second base. As a bench manager there is every reason in the world to believe that O'Brien, always a sharp and shrewd judge of plays and players, will be an unqualified success. It will seem sort of strange, at that, not to see the familiar figure of the Dook out there on the field.

READY TO GO TO MEXICO

Duluth Spanish War Veterans Organize Company for Service.

Attend Meeting and Sixty Volunteer; Second Company May Be Formed.

Duluth veterans of the Spanish-American war stand ready to respond to their country's call.

Such was the sentiment which prevailed last evening at the meeting of Spanish War Veterans at Memorial hall, at which time a company was formed and a message dispatched to Congressman Dyer at Washington, D. C., national commander-in-chief of the veterans, stating that the company would be ready to depart for active service in Mexico at any moment it might be called upon.

Frank Andrews was elected captain and George J. Sherman second lieutenant. These officers will comprise a recruiting committee and will make a campaign today for members among veterans. The meeting last evening was attended by sixty veterans and all expressed their willingness to join the new company.

The roster of Camp McEwen, the local organization of Spanish War Veterans, contains about 200 names, 140 of whom reside in the city and are eligible to join the company. The full war quota is 106 men and it is the intention of the recruiting committee to organize a second company, as it is believed that there are enough other veterans in Duluth to form another company of full war strength.

Many of the veterans have seen active service in the Philippines and Cuba and with the regular army. "The military training of these men," says Mr. Sherman, "could not be acquired by volunteers in less than seven years and this training and experience would enable the veterans to take the field and perform as efficient service as any of the regular army companies today and with comparatively little drilling. A large number of the members also belong to the Spanish-American Rifle club and have kept in constant rifle practice at the armory, particularly since the first signs of trouble with Mexico."

Camp McEwen received six applications for membership at its meeting last evening. The next meeting of the camp will be held on April 12.

Declares War on Gophers.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. Frank H. Hyland, president of the Commercial club has declared war on gophers and has earned recognition for having killed, single handed, more gophers than any other one man in the state. The club is getting back of the movement of the agricultural college and the department of agriculture in spreading the gopher propaganda.

ENGINEER SAYS HE BOUGHT FIRST CAR

Robert Allison of Port Carbon, Pa., Bought Winton in 1898.

Robert Allison, aged 88, a mechanical engineer and a resident of Port Carbon, Pa., claims to have purchased the first automobile in America.

On April 1, 1898, Mr. Allison made his purchase, paying $1,000 for a single-cylinder Winton, the first of the Winton company's 1898 product, which consisted of twenty-one cars.

This, Mr. Allison believes, is the first bona fide sale of an American car. Since that time Mr. Allison has been an ardent motorist, driving two-cylinder cars, fours and sixes, and he is still as keen for motoring as he was at the start of 1898.

In substantiating his claims to being the American pioneer purchaser, Mr. Allison writes Motor as follows, telling of his first touring experiences:

"This car was a single-cylinder, seats for two, 36-inch wire wheels, single tube, 2½-inch tires. The car was designed as near as possible to conform to the ordinary buggy. The price was $1,000, the freight from Cleveland to Pottsville amounting to $20. The shipment reached the local Pennsylvania railroad freight station April 17, 1898, and a large and curious crowd witnessed the unloading of the first motor car brought here.

"The car I purchased was said to be the first in the United States sold to a regular customer. While at the Winton factory I saw two or three experimental cars that had been condemned as not practical. The claim that my car was the first sold in this country never has been questioned as far as I know. I asked this question of the Winton company about three years ago and was so advised. I used this car three years and had lots of fun with it."

MAN OF 82 YEARS DRIVES CAR DAILY.

Senator J. E. McComas, Pomona, Cal., is perhaps, the oldest man in the country who drives a car throughout the year. Although Mr. McComas is past 82, he still is actively engaged in business, and never misses a day at his office, to which he drives in his car. The senator drove an ox team into California back in '53, but he believes that every man who can afford it ought to buy and use a motor car.

PREDICTIONS BORNE OUT

Auto Truck Big Factor in Carrying Domestic Traffic.

"The present activity in the domestic truck trade is just what the wise men of the industry have been predicting," says H. S. Daniels.

"Those who have analyzed the haulage problem of merchants, manufacturers, contractors and others knew that, although the resistance might be great for a time, the motor truck would eventually handle local traffic almost exclusively. It was simply a question of efficiency and economy."

RENE THOMAS QUITS FRENCH ARMY TO ENTER SWEEPSTAKES RACE

Release from military duty, which consisted of dropping bombs from an aeroplane, has been given Rene Thomas by the French army so that he expects to arrive in the United States about April 1 and begin practice in a Peugeot car for the sixth annual international sweepstakes race to be held on the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30. The Peugeot car, the battle-scarred hero is to pilot, is owned by Indianapolis Speedway Team company, one of several cars these Hoosier sportsmen have bought, or are having built for various drivers. John Aitken will probably be Thomas' running mate. Thomas won the 1914 Indianapolis race.

PHYSICIAN PRESCRIBES ONE MOTORCYCLE

Fresh air, and plenty of it, coupled with a moderate amount of exercise, have always been recognized as the most potent of all agencies making for good health, not only by the medical profession, but also by the layman. But to most folks it will seem, perhaps, that a doctor's prescription for either of these cures or preventives would be something wholly unnecessary. There is at least one New York physician, however, who feels that the best results are obtained only when the fresh air and particularly the exercise, are administered in correct proportions. Hence he prescribes for his patients suffering through lack of open air exercise, a "motorcycle, to be used daily throughout the year." A photograph of Dr. Abel's prescription is appended.

One Motorcycle

To be used daily throughout the year.

F. W. Abel M.D.

Speaking of the motorcycle and the benefits accruing from its use, Dr. Abel says:

"The chief virtue of the motorcycle and one of my reasons for prescribing its use, is that it necessitates that the user indulge in a certain amount of exercise involving practically every muscle in the human frame, yet the exercise is not so vigorous nor is it so localized as to nullify the good effects which come of moderate but systematic exertion.

"At the same time the exhilaration which comes of speeding along at a fair clip in the fresh air, coupled with a moderate degree of excitement which naturally attaches to motorcycling, make for a general toning up of the nervous system, which is highly beneficial to those who suffer from nervous diseases of one sort or another. On the whole, I do not know of another sport that compares with motorcycling as an all-around builder of health."

NOTES FROM THE FACTORIES

New York, March 25.—Record-breaking shipments of automobiles continued during February, when 21,502 carloads of automobiles were shipped. This is the biggest month in the history of the industry and almost 100 per cent better than February, 1915, when 11,973 carloads were shipped.

On account of the freight shortage, more than 1,500 carloads were shipped on open cars covered with tarpaulins or in ordinary box cars by partly disassembling the automobiles, including the removal of mudguards.

It was expected that the larger part of 10,000 new railroad cars would be in service by this time to care for the increased production, but because of the inability of car builders to secure materials only 1,200 of them have been put into service, making the total equipment of the railroads about 60,000 automobile cars.

Cleveland, March 25.—For the first time in the motor truck industry a solid train shipment of high-grade motor trucks, intended exclusively for commercial service, was dispatched yesterday from this city to the Pacific coast. This special train, composed of twenty-one freight cars, containing fifty-four trucks, was sent out by the White company.

Toledo, Ohio, March 25.—The six-cylinder Overland, model 86, can now be obtained in limited quantities with a clover leaf body to seat three or four passengers. The car will sell for $1,290 and the chassis is identical with the standard six Overland except that the gasoline tank is at the rear, on the deck, and with the filling cap at the side.

• • •

Detroit, Mich., March 25.—During February the Chalmers Motor company shipped $3,000,000 worth of Chalmers. The biggest day was Feb. 29, when 193 cars were shipped. The number of orders carried over from February is 1,747 and besides these there are now 4,148 cars ordered for delivery in March. Indications are that April and May will be two record-breaking months for the company.

• • •

Detroit, Mich., March 25.—Arthur van Schlegell has been appointed vice president of the Hupp Motor Car company. Mr. Schlegell is a well known Detroiter who has been general manager and vice president of the Michigan State Telephone company. He will remain as vice president of the telephone company, but not as an executive.

Farmers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba having bought $8,000,000 worth of Fords last year, the Ford company has purchased a tract 130 by 500 feet in size on the Canadian Pacific trackage at Calgary for an assembling plant. It will be four stories, high at first and will employ 150 men.

In the light of the increasing importance which automobile buyers attach to the financial resources and stability of the manufacturer, the latest annual report of the Studebaker corporation is interesting. A detailed analysis of the report shows that the year 1915 marked a climax in the sixty-four years that Studebaker has been in business, sales, for instance, totaling $56,539,006 and producing an increase of $13,094,782 over the previous year, which had up to that time set the high mark.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—One of the most important developments of recent years in the motor car industry is that which has just been announced by the Cole Motor Car company, telling of the affiliation with that organization of A. OPERATION OF CARS SERIOUS PROBLEM

Price of Gasoline Will Cause Changes in Auto Construction.

With the price of gasoline now well above 20 cents a gallon and going higher, the matter of operating motor cars as economically as possible, without curtailing their usefulness, becomes a problem of tremendous importance. In thousands of individual cases it is a really serious problem.

During the winter months the consumption of gasoline for automobile purposes has, of course, been at a minimum; with the opening of the touring season it will mount to maximum. As there is no likelihood of the cost of fuel declining, it is safe to say that car owners are going to give more intelligent consideration than ever before to economy in operation.

For one thing, there undoubtedly will be keener appreciation of the fact that a car which is simple in design and construction is the cheapest to operate, because weight, friction and the breakage hazard have each been reduced with the elimination of every unnecessary part.

Simplification is perhaps the most important thing in connection with the manufacture, sale and use of automobiles today. It is important not only from the economic standpoint, but because the greater the degree of simplicity in a car the greater the joy of motoring in it.

GIRL DRIVER PROVES HEROINE OF FLOODS

During the record floods in the vicinity of San Diego, Cal., Miss Helen M. Tulloch was the heroine of a trip through the flooded region that attracted considerable attention on the coast.

Miss Tulloch is the driver of one of the stages operated through the Imperial Valley, all of the cars used being Dodge Brothers cars.

Storm conditions were so bad that other cars were refusing to make the valley trip, but the insistence of some people who desired to reach San Diego was so strong that Miss Tulloch consented to make the trip. She started with six people in the car and a quantity of baggage, consisting of two bicycles, four suit cases and a quantity of bedding.

MOTOR TRUCKS FOR N. Y. NATIONAL GUARD

Gen. O'Ryan Authorizes Plan to Raise Fund By Films.

New York, March 25.—Maj.-Gen. John F. O'Ryan has authorized a plan by which motion pictures will be used to raise funds for the equipping of four motor truck companies for the National Guard of New York.

The companies will consist of twenty-eight motor trucks to cost about $3,000 each, accompanied by five motorcycle corporal's mounts, and to be organized on lines laid down by the automobile reserve corps.

The plan, according to Lieut. J. W. O'Mahoney of the Coast Artillery corps, N. G. N. Y., is to give motion picture shows in the various armories throughout the state, the films being loaned by their owners. A fund of $100,000 is expected as proceeds of this plan.

AUTO FOR MILITARY USE.

Cadets of California University Form Study Club.

University of California, Berkeley, Cal., March 25.—Members of the Officers' club, an organization composed of commissioned officers of the university cadet corps, have taken up the study of motor cars as factors in military operations. The cadet officers realize that motor car knowledge is necessary in the education of every well-trained officer in modern warfare in every branch of the service. The course of study being followed by the cadet officers covers mobilization, transportation of artillery and supplies, the operation of field hospital motor buses and ambulances.

THE LOCOMOBILE
A CAR LUXURIOUS!

The Locomobile provides the most luxurious and the safest means of getting about. In addition to this it yields a satisfaction that is apart from any material consideration—that comfortable feeling one always has who owns the very best.

The owner of a Locomobile esteems it not only because of what it does, but perhaps even more for what it is and will be.

The family that owns Locomobiles know that quality instead of quantity is a past, present, and future policy of the company.

The Locomobile owner has the satisfaction of knowing that the car will always be a high quality car, an expensive car, the car of cars to own. He knows the price will not diminish, may even increase. He knows his car will not depreciate because of radical changes in the design, price, or quality of the Locomobiles that are to be.

WILLYS' HORSES ARE "CURIOSITIES"

Only Night Watchmen at Plant Use Old Means of Locomotion.

Among the curiosities of the automobile industry are the three horses used in patrolling the grounds of the Willys Overland automobile plant at night. These are the only horses ever seen about the great plant.

The 16,000 employes of the Willys Overland company, who travel to and from the automobile factory every day, utilize about every known means of transportation that the city affords. Trolley cars, automobiles, bicycles, motorcycles and jitney busses all carry their quota of passengers to the plant, but even in this maze of power driven vehicles the horse is seldom if ever seen.

But after the whistle blows at night and the army of day workers have departed for homes, the three horses make their appearance, entering the grounds along a footpath at the rear of the factory. They are the mounts of the Overland night watchmen, who keep in touch with forty-five other men stationed around the freight yards and factory buildings. Throughout the night they police the great Overland property.

This system of protection is imperative owing to the huge quantities of material that come into the plant at all hours of the night. The dockage facilities for taking care of inbound freight extend over a distance of 4,900 feet.

Some idea of the volume and value of freight received at the Overland can be gained from the fact that during the year 1915 the company paid out over $800,000 for freight charges on inbound shipments alone.

OHIO PRISONERS TO MAKE LICENSE TAGS

Columbus, Ohio, March 25.—If present plans are carried out, prisoners at the Ohio penitentiary will be making the license tags for 1917 within a few months. The expense of installing the necessary machinery for the manufacture of all the license tags needed by the state, will not exceed $10,000, and several times this amount will be saved the first year. Besides the big saving thus entailed, work will be furnished to more than a score of prisoners now confined in the idle house of the institution.

RANK FIFTH IN VALUE.

Autos and Their Parts Among Leading Manufactured Exports.

New York City, March 25.—Automobiles and parts rank fifth in value among all manufactured articles exported from the United States, according to an analysis by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce of the statistics contained in the December report of the department of commerce. The relative value of the leading manufactured articles exported during 1915 is:

Iron and steel	$338,703,720
Explosives	181,778,033
Refined mineral oils	138,689,495
Copper and manufactures	125,136,289
Automobiles and parts	111,180,139
Wheat flour	96,201,234
Cotton and manufactures	95,827,024
Other machinery	81,224,345
Chemicals, drugs, etc.	80,395,321
Locomotives, vehicles, etc.	78,015,574
Leather and manufactures	75,268,680

In one year the exports of motor vehicles increased more than 232 per cent—from a total value of $28,507,464 in 1914 to $94,879,738 in 1915. The foreign shipments of passenger cars almost doubled—from 22,335 valued at $19,521,708 in 1914 to 41,869 valued at $35,045,492 for the year ended December 31, last. But the exports of trucks increased nearly seven-fold, from 3,430 worth $8,985,756 to 22,082 valued at $59,834,246.

Growth of the foreign trade in American motor trucks during the last two years is even more noteworthy, for in 1913 only 1,009 commercial vehicles were exported, of a gross value of $1,686,807, the increase in two years being 3,447 per cent.

A new electric power station in the Siamese city of Bangkok will use the refuse from rice milling for fuel.

TO MAKE PAYMENTS ON DEFERRED PLAN

New York and Chicago Capital Reported Back of New Corporation.

Among the rumors that are current in financial circles of New York city is one to the effect that big New York and Chicago capital is in back of the newly-formed Guaranty Securities corporation. This is the New York company that is said to have formulated a new and original plan whereby automobile dealers, handling various makes of cars, can dispose of this product on the "time payment" basis.

Arrangements already have been entered into between several motor car manufacturers and their dealers which enable the latter to offer cars to their customers on deferred payments. In each case, however, the plans differ and it is to offset this objectionable feature that the Guaranty Securities corporation has entered the field with a selling plan that is declared to be uniform for all makes of cars and national in its scope.

While details of the plan have not

Custom-made bodies for automobiles are growing in popularity more and more each year.

According to reports, thousands of American buyers are having specially built bodies on their cars this year and the designers and manufacturers of these tops are doing a rushing business.

The reason for the growing popularity of the custom-made body is that American manufacturers have gone into the business on a large scale, where formerly the work was done only in England and France. The cost in the past was prohibitive, excepting to the very wealthy, while the desire for a distinctive and exclusive top can now be realized at a popular price.

The Standard of Value and Quality

You Must Place Your Order Now If You Want "Immediate Delivery"

Once again, we must urge you to act quickly in placing your order for a Paige Fairfield seven passenger "Six-46."

Don't delay. Don't put the matter off one day longer than is absolutely necessary if you would avoid disappointment later on.

Already the factory is flooded with orders for this wonderfully popular model.

Despite the fact that our manufacturing facilities have been tripled, we are facing an immediate shortage of Fairfields, and the spring retail season is only a few weeks off.

Just stop for a minute and consider the significance of the statement when we tell you that, so far in 1916, we have marketed more seven passenger cars than any other manufacturer in our price class.

Also, ponder over the fact that this month we shall ship approximately 25 solid train loads of the Fairfield model exclusively.

Last year, you will remember, there was a long Paige "waiting list."

Hundreds of people delayed their purchases until the last minute—and were then compelled to accept sixty and ninety days delivery—or compromise on a "second best."

So, be fair to yourself. Protect your own good interests. Go to the Paige dealer—place a cash deposit in his hands—and make sure that you will receive the car of your choice.

It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases, but we know that a shortage is coming and offer this information in a sincerely helpful spirit.

And now let us say a word about the car itself.

First and foremost, we want to remind you that the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" is a tried and proven success.

When you buy a Paige "Six-46" today, you are buying a car that has passed the experimental stage. You are buying a car of known quality—known ability.

In a word, the "Six-46" is an eminently safe automobile investment.

It is a good car—not merely because we say so—but because its owners have conclusively established this goodness in the gruelling tests of more than a year's actual road work.

Here, then, is one substantial reason for the overwhelming demand which the "Six-46" enjoys. And there is another—a basic reason which has made this record possible.

Time and time again, we have stated our policy of scrupulously avoiding any expression in Paige advertising which might savor of exaggeration or misrepresentation. We make an honest product and we propose to sell it in an honest way.

But, facts are facts, and we boldly and fearlessly claim that the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

If this appears to be a broad statement we invite you to check us up by inspecting the car, riding in it, and conducting any comparative investigation which you may care to make.

Understand, we do not claim to make the only good motor car, nor do we ask you to believe that our Fairfield is the best American make.

But we do most emphatically insist that the "Six-46" offers a greater value for its price—$1295—than any other automobile produced in this country or abroad.

Furthermore, you will heartily agree with us if you will permit the Paige Dealer to give you one thorough demonstration—just one.

But, please don't forget—you must act quickly. Get your order in now—before it is too late.

An interesting window setting has been arranged by the Mutual Auto company at its Superior street showrooms. The scene shows a battle between two deer, with their horns interlocked, while in the foreground are three smaller deer watching the contest. In the background are huge trees.

An automobile is shown on the road alongside the scene, with the inscription, "one of these cars will bring such a scene before you in actuality." The deer and birds shown were all mounted especially for the setting.

FRED WELLMAN.

Fred Wellman has been appointed advertising manager of the Olds Motor Works, succeeding C. V. McGuire, who has joined the Cheltenham Advertising agency in New York city. Mr. Wellman is well known to the entire automobile fraternity, having been associated with Carl C. Fisher for three years, as confidential assistant and advertising counsel in the Indianapolis motor speedway and other enterprises.

FEDERAL "PROBE" FOR GASOLINE PRICES

Government Activities Will Be Summed Up in Report to Congress.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Federal activities to determine causes for the high prices of gasoline and to effect reduction may be briefly summed up as follows:

Federal trade commission is making a thorough investigation of facts, considering this the most important work before them. The commission will make a report before congress adjourns.

The director of mines states that the Rittman process was offered free to all producers and refused on account of a clause which prevented monopoly.

The bureau of mines has issued a bulletin describing the Rittman process to minimize the cost of refining.

Representative Steenerson is drafting a new bill to present to congress which he says will "prevent the high cost of gasoline."

Representative Randell of California, who has asked Henry Ford's co-operation, advocates an embargo on gasoline.

The collection of statistics concerning the production and use of gasoline is asked for in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Carter of Oklahoma. The bill would authorize the director of the bureau of mines to collect and publish the statistics, which should include facts concerning the production of crude petroleum, as well as facts concerning its manufacture into gasoline, and the best obtainable facts concerning the marketing of gasoline.

FADS FOR MOTORISTS

Among the new hats those in leather and pongee combinations are made of red or patent leather, while the crowns, tam shaped, are finished with buttons of the leather. Red shaded veils with black silk borders are worn with these hats.

* * *

Shallow nickel drinking cups with handles come in leather cases. The cups are extra wide and hold very nearly as much as the deeper ones.

* * *

Tailored gowns of "khaki kool" are being made for Southern wear. The smartest of the gowns are in the coarsest canvas weave, trimmed with leather. One suit has a red leather collar with cuffs and belt to match; the skirt is trimmed with narrow folds of the leather. A red crepe de chine shirtwaist is worn under the suit, with a smart black velvet beaded girdle and black velvet four-in-hand tie.

Baby lamb is the fur used in the making of a rather unusual coat, which is cut in Raglan model, fitting the shoulders closely, but flaring so that when it reaches the bottom of the dress it measures five yards around. The sleves are a combination of the drop and Dolman models, and the cuffs are so arranged that they may be turned down over the hand if the weather is extreme. The collar is convertible and may be turned well up around the head. The coat is lined with black and gold pussy-willow silk.

* * *

The hat that is worn with the coat described above is the latest model in the tam turban. The crush bandeau is of panne velvet, while the tam top is of the fur finished with a velvet button and a black silk tassel.

* * *

Round leather toilet bags that are drawn up with a cord are fitted with circular bands which carry the toilet articles. This is removable and may be used in another bag or put away when its own bag is in use for other purposes. These bags come in all the popular leathers.

* * *

Old-fashioned coaching parasols have come into favor for automobile use. They are made on a little different model from those of former days. They now appear in Japanese form with straight tops, short handles and very substantial frames. They are covered in the heavy pongees, staple colored satins and heavy silks, most of which have been rainproofed.

* * *

Reindeer is the name given to very satisfactory fabric gloves. They come in white, look like the chamois article and wash remarkably well in cold water with white soap. They make excellent gloves for touring and are reasonable in price.

"DIVINE SARAH" IN FILM AT ORPHEUM

Famous French Tragedienne Appears in "Jeanne Dore."

Last night at the Orpheum-Strand theater, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt made her bow to Duluthians from the motion picture screen.

It was the first opportunity Duluthians have had to see the wonderful French tragedienne in motion pictures. She has made two visits to Duluth playing once in a tent on London road and once at the Lyceum, but at prices that were beyond the purse of the average citizen. The motion picture play offers an opportunity to everybody to at least see the most famous actress of the century.

The picture will be shown again tonight, tomorrow afternoon and night, and Monday afternoon and night.

The great French tragediene chose for her motion picture vehicle, the five-act play from Tristan Barnard's famous story, "Jeanne Dore." It is a remarkable story, a remarkable production, and needless to say, a remarkable piece of acting.

Sarah Bernhardt is here in the film with the best of her dominant self recorded upon the screen; her marvelous pantomiming, each expressive glance of her eyes, the illuminative countenance and gesture of the incomparable one show at close range and give everything that American's have learned to admire in Mme. Bernhardt except her spoken word which few, at best, could understand.

In brief, the story is as follows:

Jeanne Dore's profligate husband is hopelessly addicted to gambling, and is threatened with expulsion from his club because of his heavy indebtedness to another gambler member. Confessing his disgrace to his wife (Mme. Bernhardt) she offers to save him from disgrace by selling her jewels.

The gambling husband makes a demand for funds upon his uncle and is curtly refused in advance. Returning home he finds his wife has disposed of her gems and with the money thus obtained he goes to his club, determined to pay his debts and live up to the pledge he has made to his wife to gamble no more.

However, the lure of the roulette wheel overcomes his resolve; he loses all his money on "just one more turn of the wheel," and, rather than face his disgrace, commits suicide. Left with her young son to support, Jeanne Dore is forced to sell her remaining possessions and lives as best she can until her husband's uncle takes pity upon her and buys for her a small stationery shop in Paris. Here mother and son prosper until the boy reaches early manhood.

One day he falls suddenly and violently in love with a married woman who comes to his mother's shop to make purchases. An intrigue with the unscrupulous female leads the young man to murder the same uncle who had befriended himself and mother.

There is but one end to the story. The boy goes to the guillotine, and the final scene depicts the devoted mother in the extreme agony of watching, from a window across the street, the execution of her son.

The details of the story are so intensely tragic that no less an artist than Bernhardt could portray the mother role; no less a mistress of pantomime and facial expression could depict before the camera the fullness of the manifold possibilities in photoplaying which the role exacts.

IDENTIFIES PROPERTY.

Witness In Oshkosh Embezzlement Hearing Gives Damaging Testimony.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 25.—Edward Morgan, storekeeper at the Northern hospital for the insane, testified at the hearing of Alfred A. Bachler, charged with embezzlement and larceny of state property while steward, that he was called to Chicago in January last to examine certain goods stored there by Bachler which was said to be state's property.

Morgan identified them as articles taken from the hospital, which were enumerated in lists which he had in his possession. At the time the goods were examined, Bachler, the witness said, claimed they had been sold to him.

Mr. Morgan also identified a list of goods he said were taken from the hospital store in July, 1914, by Bachler.

CARPENTERS' ANNIVERSARY.

McEwen and Others Will Speak at Meeting Thursday Night.

Members of the carpenters' union will observe the twentieth anniversary of the reorganization of their local by giving a social entertainment at Owls' hall, 410 West Superior street, Tuesday evening, March 28.

Postmaster W. E. McEwen will be the principal speaker of the evening. Short talks on the early history of the organization will be given by J. H. Baker, Edward Erickson, the treasurer of the local, and other members.

A number of musical selections will be rendered and a luncheon and smoker will follow the program.

BROTHERS AND SISTERS KILLED; NATIVE HOME WIPED OUT BY WAR

Joseph Bido of Duluth Gets Pathetic Letter From Parents in Poland, Telling of Distressing Conditions and Asking Aid—Land Is Naked and People Are Dying, Letter States.

His two brothers and a sister killed, his old home burned, the livestock taken by the invading soldiers and the farm property destroyed, Joseph Bido, a fireman at St. Luke's hospital, has just received a letter from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bido, who are in central Poland, informing him of the disaster to the family and asking for assistance at once. The letter is dated Oct. 15, 1915, but arrived here only a few days ago.

"Poland is naked, no people, no houses; we are dying from hunger and cold," writes his parents.

Letters Not Received.

Mr. Bido has received but three letters from his family since the war began, although his parents state they have sent a large number.

The letter just received by Mr. Bido is written in Polish, a translation by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Tanis being as follows:

"My dear son—Many letters we have written to you, but we have received no answer. The mother who nursed you is writing to you and telling you of the suffering that has visited us. My son, you have no brothers and no sister. Brothers were killed in the war. The elder brother died in the hospital July 15. He left a wife and two children. The children are not living now; they died of hunger and cold. Your sister is not living either. She was killed while trying to save our home when they were burning us out. We have nothing left; they left nothing; they took the last piece of bread. The Russians took our cows and horses and they burned us out. We had no brothers, no neighbors who could help us. Yet they didn't let us die.

"Weeping, your mother and father beg you to save us by sending us enough for bread. We are dying from hunger and cold. Don't forget your parents.

Children Starve to Death.

"There are no children here under 7 years of age. They died from cold and starvation. You would not know your parents now. You wouldn't find your friends here for they are gone. They all had to go to the war; all from 17 to 40 years of age were taken. The fields are bare; there are no houses; there are no towers; all that is left is ruin. The roads are broken from continual drawing of the heavy guns. Soldiers are going day and night. There is no end. The ground is shaking from the noise. We don't see the sun, as the sky is dark with smoke. The poor orphans are suffering in the fields, which are covered with shells and heavy irons. Poland is naked, no people, no houses.

"I cannot write you any more about our suffering, that was, that is, and that is to be. We are not allowed. Once again I ask you to save us, my son. What they did with the sick people we are not permitted to write you. Your parents,

"ADAM BIDO."

FATE OF SHACKLETON UNKNOWN TO WORLD

Message From Auxiliary Ship Created Wrong Impression.

London, March 25.—A wireless message from the auxiliary Aurora of the Shackleton Antarctic expedition was received in London yesterday. The Aurora at the time the message was sent was in the far South Pacific. The wireless said the steamer had been damaged and was proceeding to New Zealand for repairs.

The fate of Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton and the party with him which set out to cross the South Pole, is not known.

Apparently an attempt had been made to send the wireless for several months, but it had only just been received at the New Zealand station which forwarded it to England. The message was sent by a member of the staff of the Aurora, which went from Australia to Ross sea, at the end of 1914 for the purpose of bringing back Shackleton's party when they had crossed the south polar continent. It was not known that the Aurora had wireless on board, and the dispatch was delivered to an officer of the expedition which had been closed for some time.

Completely in the Dark.

The news as received in London leaves the world completely in the dark as to the doings or the whereabouts of Lieut. Shackleton and his immediate party. If they have carried out their program, they are now presumably at the Ross sea base, but without the expected ship to take them off.

Even if Shackleton has been unsuccessful in the attempt to cross the pole, and has had to retrace his steps to the Widdel sea base, thence to return to Buenos Aires, the relief expedition will have to be reorganized to effect the rescue of Lieut. Aenas Mackintosh, R. N. R., in command of the Aurora, and a number of his companions, who were left on shore at Ross sea, when the Aurora broke from her moorings. The great question is, will the stores which the men possessed, be sufficient to sustain the lives of the party for a year?

The information contained in the message received at London was also communicated to King George, who presented Lieut. Shackleton, with a flag to carry during his march and who has taken great interest in Shackleton's task. The news caused grave consternation among the relatives and friends of the explorers.

Until the Aurora arrives at some port, and a full story of her adventures is available, the extent of the loss sustained by the party, cannot be definitely known.

STRANDED MEN ASK FOR HELP

Thirty-Six Italian Laborers at Minto Appeal to Royal Consul Here.

Thirty-six Italian laborers who have been stranded at Minto, Man., for seventeen days, without work or money, and with but little food, have appealed to Attilio Castigliano, royal consular agent at Duluth, for assistance.

The telegram sent to Mr. Castigliano yesterday read:

"Hired by the Great Northern Railway company for track work, I and thirty-five other Italians have been blocked at Minto without work, without any financial means, and suffering from hunger.

"Your honor is kindly requested to assist thirty-six poor fathers with large families, and to help us back to St. Paul, or to other destination where we can find employment and relief."

"I have wired the Italian consular general at Montreal," said Mr. Castigliano, "as the men are not within my jurisdiction. I also have communicated with the transportation department of the Great Northern, at St. Paul, with a view of having help given them.

"From the telegram, I would judge that they are in hard straits, because of lack of employment."

SERAFINI APPOINTED TO SUCCEED GOTTI

Rome, via Paris, March 25.—Pope Benedict has appointed Domineco Serafini to be prefect of the sacred congregation of the propaganda.

The position of prefect of the propaganda, the important Roman congregation, which had charge of the administration of Catholic church affairs in mission countries, became vacant with the death of Cardinal Gotti last week.

Cardinal Serafini, who is a monk of the order of St. Benedict, was born in Rome in 1852 and created cardinal in May, 1914. He was apostolic delegate to Mexico for a few years during the presidency of Porfirio Diaz.

A FORD LETTER!

Duluth, Minn., March 13, 1916.

Mutual Auto Company,
Third Ave. East and Superior St., Duluth, Minn.

ATTENTION E. J. FILIATRAULT

Dear Sir—I purchased a Ford car from you on Feb. 11th, 1915. Having heard all kinds of stories as to what it cost to run a Ford machine, ranging from 1 to 7 cents per mile, I made up my mind to find out what it would cost me, and so have kept an accurate record of expenditures for the year.

I want to say that during the year I have driven the car 13,986 miles, or approximately 14,000 miles, making trips to pretty nearly every town within a radius of 100 miles of Duluth, and one trip to Bay City, Mich., and back, in which I drove 2,321 miles in eleven days with the car heavily loaded. I have never been pulled out of a mud hole, or never pulled into town, and never started to go anywhere that I did not get there on my own power.

First cost of car		$525.00
Less rebate		50.00
		$475.00
Extra tools and equipment, including shock absorber, tool box, etc.		33.10
Total investment		$508.10
Tire and tire repairs	$144.05
Incidental repairs, including cost of new shock absorber, chains and some other equipment to replace worn out equipment	39.22
51¼ gallons lubricating oil	20.00
744 gallons gasoline	84.22
Kerosene, waste, etc.	1.19
Grease	2.70
State license (one year)	.50
Liability insurance	20.00
Property damage insurance	5.00
Fire and thief insurance	8.50
Wheelage tax	10.00
Club dues	5.00
Total cost to operate (2½c per mile)		$350.38

I feel that this covers the complete cost to operate the car with the exception of depreciation and interest, for the reason that all equipment that has been worn out has been replaced with new. There are three practically new casings on the car at this time, one other casing is in good condition, and two extra casings can be used with minor repairs. I trust that these figures may be of interest to you. I am, yours, (Signed) A. O. GROVER, 5715 Glenwood, Duluth, Minn.

Hardly a week passes but what we receive a letter similar to the above. Ford cars will soon be as scarce as hens' teeth—place your order EARLY!

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Henrietta D Grauel

Cleaning Preparations and Methods

IN today's mail there is a budget of questions regarding the cleaning of picture frames, floors, fabrics and the like, so the following preparation and methods are offered to all of you. Those writers who sent no address with their notes will find themselves remembered here, the rest of you will perhaps find replies to questions you would like to have answered at this house-cleaning time.

To clean gilded picture frames use a weak solution of ammonia and water. Go over the gilt gently with a moist cloth, and after a few moments, when the dirt has had time to soften, repeat the operation. Do not rub hard, and dry by dabbing gently with a soft cloth.

To remove water or white stains from varnished furniture use a cloth dipped in alcohol. Do not rub, or the varnish will come off, but touch the parts lightly. A safer method is to melt paraffine in a little olive oil and touch the stains with it. After a bit polish until the surface is brilliant. Mildew may generally be removed by dipping articles into alcohol. Ammonia dabbed on the spots will remove ink stains, but some of the inks made with analine colors need special treatment, so it is best to show the ink to a chemist, who will advise you. Oil stains on delicate cloth or wall-paper will come off if a paste is made of magnesia and benzine or magnesia and gasoline. Spread this on and let it remain until it falls off. There must be no fire in the house when these inflammable articles are used.

Painted walls should not be scrubbed, but wiped down with very hot water containing ammonia. Use a coarse flannel cloth.

A cleaning solution to use for housecleaning is made with one bar of naphtha soap shaved fine, two tablespoons of borax, two lumps of washing soda as large as hickory nuts and four tablespoons of ammonia. Add these articles to two quarts of water and heat until soap and soda dissolve, then bottle. A tablespoon of this added to a basin of water will clean enameled and varnished surfaces beautifully and will not leave them cloudy. This is an excellent detergent in the laundry.

To clean oil spots from marble, first wash the stone thoroughly, then place a sheet of blotting paper over the spots and set a hot iron on them; it will draw the oil out and the paper will absorb it.

Linoleum that is spotted with paint or rust may be cleaned by rubbing with steel shavings or emery paper.

Cloths for cleaning windows without use of water are made with a semi-liquid paste of benzine and calcined magnesia. The cloth, which should be coarse linen or something not linty, is dipped into this and hung in the air until the spirits have evaporated and it is free from odor. This cloth may be used again and again; when soiled wash it and redip. It is sold in stores and is a great convenience.

The White Mice Raid a Camp

DON'T YOU often wonder how news travels so rapidly? And you would wonder still if you could know how news gets through a forest! They have not the telephone; no telegraph wires send word from one part to another; nor is even a mail box used by the beavers, the raccoons and the mice! And yet how quickly they learn what is happening!

Not two days after a party of hunters had made a camp in the northeast corner of the woods, far, far from where Slippy and Flitter lived, news came to those little creatures of that camp and of the goodies to be found there.

Slippy did not in the least care how the word came to him; he didn't even wonder how many beavers, birds, owls and raccoons it had taken to pass the news along. What interested him was the account of the good food to be had.

"They tell me that there is cornmeal, and grains and nuts and all the things that you mice like." A woodpecker, the redhead woodpecker who stays north all the winter, sang from the low branch of a tree where he was perched. "But of course you would hardly care to go that far for food." And he flew away.

"Wouldn't I?" laughed Slippy, and he generously ran to tell his family what he had heard.

"Where did he say this camp was located?" asked practical father White-mouse.

"In the northeast corner of the woods," replied Slippy, "close by where the bare white sycamore sticks its branches through the oak."

"I know the place," said Father White-mouse. "That's not too far when good eatings are to be had."

"Indeed no," agreed mother White-mouse. "Let's make ready to go at once."

All the children helped, and in a very few minutes they had the entrance to their home so hidden that even a mouse would never have guessed a home was there.

And then they set off toward the northeast.

After many weary rods of travel, they came to the camp.

And then they set off toward the northeast.

"Now you stay here while I reconnoiter," said father White-mouse. So the family hid in the bushes and father hunted around and found the best approach.

"We'll stay here till night," he told them when he came back. "And then we can go clear into the hut—it's rudely made—and eat all we want without the slightest danger, I know hunters—they sleep soundly!"

So the mice hid till night and then they descended onto that camp.

Such a feast as they had! Never in their lives had they eaten so many good things all at one time! But the hunters? When they found that their stores had been broken into, they were not so pleased as the mice had been! Do you blame them?

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Recognize Husband's Faults

Why be blind to what must be perfectly apparent to you if you have eyes. They say love makes a person blind, and that, together with the fact of proprietorship, doubtless does serve to close our eyes to things that stand out very conspicuously in others. Other people's children, for instance. But love of the right kind, the highest kind and the kind that is a blessing to anyone, should never be blind to the best interests of the one loved.

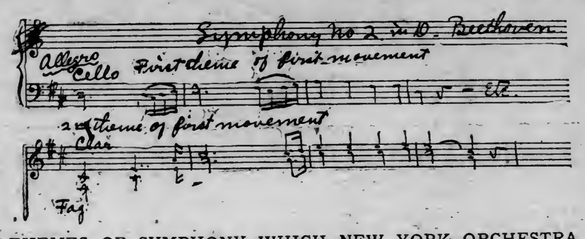
Most women, however deeply they may be in love with their own husbands, come to know their faults and weaknesses sooner than the husbands ever give them credit for finding them out. They may conceal their knowledge from the world and from the men whom they love or abhor for their follies and sins, according to their philosophy or the depth of their affection. The point is, they know them in their inmost hearts, either intuitively or by actual knowledge. Whether they tell the world about them is their own affair. Personally I think more of them when they keep silent concerning their disappointments and sorrows.

While there is a fair percentage of women who live in constant agony of doubt and fear, which is never voiced or betrayed by a look or a word to a single soul, there are many who will treat you to a dissertation of the sins committed by their husbands and the torture of mind that they have had to endure for years, because, fortunately, they were deceived in their estimate of the man whom they married.

When women tell me troubles of a non-public order, I invariably find myself questioning, to myself, of course, wherein they have failed. In justice to myself, I should search for the lack in any man who confided domestic difficulties in my unwilling ear. I walked to the station the other day with a woman who is as hampered by marital troubles as any woman that I have ever met, and who appears to take a certain satisfaction and comfort in spreading the tale of her unhappiness.

I am sure this woman speaks the truth, and that she has suffered full measure, but her suffering should have made her wise and thoughtful and helpful. No woman should attempt to conceal knowledge of her husband's faults; rather should she recognize them; and the same is true of the relations between a mother and her son and daughter.

New York Orchestra Program Contains Several Numbers of Special Interest



THEMES OF SYMPHONY WHICH NEW YORK ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY.

Several numbers of special interest to Duluthians will be played by the New York Symphony orchestra at the armory next Tuesday evening.

The chief number on the program will be Beethoven's second symphony. This has never been heard in Duluth.

Beethoven's second symphony, following closely on the completion of the first, was finished in 1802, and first performed at a concert given by the composer in Vienna, April 5, 1803. It was not published until 1820. Strangely enough, although the music is full of vigor and humor, Beethoven was in a mood of intense depression during much of the time he was engaged in working on it. His deafness was growing more evident depsite the treatment of his physicians. He had gone to Heiligenstadt, his favorite retreat, for the summer, but it was impossible to escape the constant reminders of his increasing malady.

The first and second themes of the first movement are shown herewith for the convenience of those who like to become familiar with them before hearing the symphony played.

Another remarkable number on the program will be the "Death and Transfiguration" symphonic poem by Richard Strauss. This is probably the most famous of all of Strauss' works.

Duluthians will take especial pleasure in hearing Percy Grainger's "Shepherds Hey." It was played on the piano by Mr. Grainger at the First M. E. church, and the Duluth orchestra included it in one of the winter series.

The seat sale has been excellent, and the New York orchestra is assured of an audience that will fill the big armory auditorium.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

When Hearts Were Trumps

"Whatever made you bid so high?" said the enthusiastic bidder's partner, after he had gone above his three royals to a bid of four hearts, and had lost two tricks, doubled.

The enthusiastic bidder looked his indignation at such an aspersion on his judgment. "I had seven hearts," he said, "with the ace and king high."

"But you didn't have a suit card in your hand," she retorted, "and you knew they were bidding diamonds and you had three small diamonds."

"But seven trumps, with the ace and king!" persisted the enthusiastic bidder. "Why, I couldn't let a hand like that go by!"

He Always Sees His Trumps and Nothing Else.

His partner sighed.

"That's just the way he always is," she said, "not only in cards, but in everything. He always looks at the trumps in his hand and forgets to look at the weak places." You see, she knows, because she happens to be his partner not only at cards, but in life.

As I do not know the enthusiastic bidder intimately, I cannot back up her analysis of his character, but I do know a great many people like that. Don't you?

They see the trumps in their hands, and that's all they see. The other players' trumps, their own weak places, these they forget completely and happily. Happily, that is, for the time being. The ultimate results are frequently far from happy.

He Looked Too Hard at His Business Trumps.

For instance, I once knew a young man who went into business for himself. He had an excellent formula for making a certain kind of dye. It was a good formula, and a new one. That was his hand of trumps. And he saw that to the exclusion of his weaknesses, which turned out to be a lack of capital and an ability on the part of his competitors to prevent his getting a supply of the necessary raw materials when he wanted them.

Of course, his opponents played their cards to the best advantage, and after a good fight he lost the game and lost heavily. Not because he wasn't a good player. He played every card as well as it could be played, but because he looked too hard at his trumps.

Your trumps are only part of the game.

Don't look at them too hard.

Take Your Opponents' Hands Into Consideration.

Remember that the other players probably have high cards too.

I sometimes think that ill-considered optimism has wrecked as much of other people's happiness as pessimism.

Perhaps you think I draw too many of my similes from the card table. If I do, I have this excuse, that the qualities which bulk big at the card table—judgment, foresight, gameness and self-control—are the miniatures of those which bulk big in life. Sometimes one may possess the miniatures without possessing the real thing, and vice versa, but surely you will grant that it gives a fascinating basis for comparison.

With My Letter Friends.

"I was interested in the telephone code expression you and your friends use to denote the presence of some obstacle to prevent you from talking," writes a letter friend. "A friend of mine has a somewhat similar one that she and her friends employ under like circumstances. When either of them receives a call from one of the others, and there is someone present whom she does not wish to overhear the conversation, the party receiving the call says, 'You have the wrong number, I presume. Mine is Boulevard 2589.' Each recognizes the other's voice, they understand, and thus the conversation terminates without raising any questions or surprise in the mind of whoever happens to be present."

Orchestra Program For School Children

The Duluth concert orchestra gave a delightful program for the students of the Duluth schools at the high school auditorium yesterday afternoon. Fred G. Bradbury added materially to the interest of the event by giving explanatory talks before each number. The following program was given:

March, "Triumphal Entry of the Bojars," Halvorsen; minuet for string orchestra, (Bocherini); serenade for flute and French horn, (Titl), Victor Wurms, flute, and Charles Tryner, French horn; "My Old Kentucky Home," (Foster), solos for different instruments; andante from the "Surprise" symphony, (Haydn); "Dolly Dances," (Poldini); march "Semper Fidelis," (Sousa).

Gives Review Of Books On Women's Problems

Mrs. Charles S. Mitchell spoke to the members of the department of education and home of the Twentieth Century club, who held their last meeting yesterday afternoon in the library club room, taking for her subject a review of books relating to the problems of women of yesterday and today.

Although yesterday's meeting was the last regular one of the year, Mrs. A. L. Warner of 2391 Woodland avenue, invited the members to meet at her home, Friday afternoon, April 7, for a social afternoon. At this time there will be talks and an exhibit of curios and heirlooms.

Spring Brings Let Up In Women's Club Activities; Several Organizations Hold Their Final Meetings

MRS. HAROLD FEGRAEUS.

MRS. H. J. GRANNIS.

MRS. A. H. BROCKLEHURST.

MRS. S. R. HOLDEN.

MRS. J. N. McKINDLEY.

MRS. FRED HOENE.

The weather does not indicate the coming of spring, with its closing of the club season, but the clubs that have not already held their annual meetings have but few more meetings scheduled.

Several organizations have programs that will carry over to April, and a few meet throughout the year. One of the latter is the Woman's Council.

Matinee Musicale Election.

The Matinee Musicale elected officers and heard the annual reports at the meeting, which was held Tuesday afternoon after the presentation of the cantata, "Undine." Mrs. J. N. McKindley was re-elected president. Mrs. E. D. Edson is first vice president, succeeding Mrs. K. A. Ostergren. Miss Ruth Rogers succeeds Mrs. Edson as second vice president, and Miss Carlotta Simonds succeeds Miss Rogers as third vice president. Miss Bernice Crowley was re-elected treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Currie, recording secretary, and Mrs. Archibald L. McDonald, corresponding secretary. Miss Gertrude Logan succeeds Mrs. Frank W. Spicer as librarian. Directors elected for two years are Mrs. O. J. Larson, Mrs. George Richards and Mrs. Wayne E. Richardson.

Had Profitable Year.

Miss Crowley gave the following report at the Tuesday meeting:

Total receipts for season 1915-1916	$4,310.50
Balance from 1914-1915	200.81
Checking account	$4,511.31
Disbursements for artists' recitals, scholarship and current expenses	3,662.74
Balance March 21, 1916	$ 848.57

The club brought the Kneisel quartet, Julie Culp, Percy Grainger and Reinald Werrenrath to Duluth, gave fortnightly programs and two students' programs. The study class, of which Miss Mary Syer Bradshaw was the director, studied the artists' programs and took up other compositions. The piano teachers' round table, of which Mrs. K. A. Ostergren was the chairman, held informal discussions of their work.

Twentieth Century Club.

The Twentieth Century club will meet Monday afternoon to elect officers and hear the annual reports of officers and the chairmen of departments.

The department of education and home of the club held its last meeting yesterday. Mrs. J. H. Crowley, who has served as chairman fourteen years, declined reappointment, and Mrs. J. T. Culbertson was chosen to succeed her. Mrs. H. H. Phelps was named vice president and Mrs. George S. Clements, secretary.

In recognition of the efficient and untiring work of Mrs. Crowley, who has arranged many interesting and instructive programs, members of the department in former years attended the meeting yesterday. Mrs. Crowley was given a vote of thanks for her work in the department of education and home.

The literature department, Mrs. J. C. H. Engel, chairman, held its last regular program meeting yesterday morning. As the meeting for the consideration of Japanese drama was postponed until the weather will make it possible to hold it in Mrs. E. Frank Barker's tea house, the members will gather once after the close of the club season.

Literary Studies.

The literature department has studied English, Continental and Orlental drama. It held a symposium on "Modern Educational Tendencies," gave a luncheon at which subjects of current interest were discussed and, with the department of education and home, gave a luncheon at which literature and psychology were the topics.

The art history class, under the leadership of Miss Gertrude Carey, has finished its study of Egypt.

The Shakespeare class, Mrs. L. K. Daugherty, chairman, studied "Henry IV" and England of that period.

West Duluth Study Class.

The programs of the West Duluth Study class have included the study of Shaw's plays, John Burroughs and John Muir and a consideration of several foreign countries. The class will hold its last meeting April 11, at which time "Mexico" will be the subject. Mrs. C. R. Keyes is the chairman.

Besides the departmental meetings there have been monthly social meetings, at two of which members took comfort bags which were filled for the soldiers.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae, Mrs. L. W. Kline, president, will hold its annual meeting April 10, but the last event affair of the season will not be held until May, when the annual reception for high school and normal school seniors will be given.

A. C. A. Lecture Course.

The A. C. A. lecture course this year has offered Frederic Palmer, who spoke on the European war and Irvin Bachelier, whose subject was "The Cheerful Yankee." Two lectures are yet to be given: Prof. Forest Ray Moulton of the astronomy department of University of Chicago will tell of "The Wonderful Heavens" Monday night and William Howard Taft will speak on "The Monroe Doctrine" in April.

The organization held its annual luncheon at the country club in October and has held semi-monthly meetings at the residences of members.

The Lester Park Literary club, of which Mrs. W. H. Vaughan is president, will hold two more meetings. A regular program has been planned for one and at the other the election of officers will take place. The club has studied civic betterment, travel and drama.

Saturday Club to Meet.

The Saturday club will hold its annual meeting next Saturday. American history and literature have been studied and there have been three special addresses. J. H. Darling spoke on "Uses of Astronomy," C. C. Rosencranz on "American Art and Artists" and C. E. Wallace on the period that followed the Civil war. Mrs. H. J. Grannis is the president.

The Cecilian society, of which Mrs. Harry C. Strong is president, will meet the first Thursdays of April and May. Programs have been planned according to composers or countries and have included the works of Sibelius, Moszkowski, Tschaikowski, Glinka, Brahms and Bach. A miscellaneous program will be given at the last meeting.

The Ladies' Literature class continued its study of German literature this year and has taken up Lessing, Schiller and Wagner. There will be two more study classes before the annual meeting. Mrs. R. M. Sellwood is the president and Rev. George R. Gebauer is the leader.

Drama League Season.

The Drama league has had an active season. Early in the fall Granville Barker lectured on "Ideas in the Theater." The one-act plays which the members of the league have given are "The Will," "The Maker of Dreams," "The Impertinence of the Creature," "The Lost Silk Hat," "What It Gets Down To" and "Her Sacred Duty," the last two of which were by members of the league and were considered the best of the ten plays that were submitted to the play contest committee. A one-act play for April and a three-act play for May were announced at the beginning of the season, but plans for them have not been announced. Mrs. S. R. Holden is president of the league.

Bishop's Club Class.

The evening class of the Bishop's club has followed a course of study on Japan. After studying the country by periods it took up the art, drama and customs. Three more meetings will be held, the election of officers to take place May 2. Mrs. Fred Hoene is the president.

The afternoon class of the Bishop's club, which meets monthly, has studied Japanese, Irish, Scandinavian and Hungarian folk lore, had reviews of books by Catholic writers. The class will hold its last meeting in April.

Daughters of Liberty chapter, D. A. R., has done Red Cross work and has considered phases of the present war. Mrs. A. E. Walker, the regent, will be hostess for the annual business meeting that will be held April 19.

Greysolon du Lhut chapter, D. A. R., has held programs on various subjects. There will be a meeting in April and one in May and the chapter will observe Flag day, June 14. Mrs. W. D. Underhill is the regent.

Linnaea Club.

The Linnaea club has given several entertainments in addition to holding monthly meetings. The annual election will be held May 2. The special object of this organization, of which Mrs. Harold Fegraeus is the president, is the relief of work among sufferers of tuberculosis, especially Swedish persons.

The activities of the Afteno society, Mrs. J. J. Moe, president, included a benefit which was given in January for the fund to build a home for old Norwegian men and women.

The Evening Drama class held its annual meeting Monday night and re-elected Mrs. J. C. H. Engel as chairman and elected Miss Lillian Dinham as vice chairman and Miss E. Pearl Preston as secretary-treasurer.

Tenth Twilight Concert to Close a Successful Season

Duluth's orchestra will close its season at the new armory tomorrow afternoon with the tenth of the series of twilight concerts arranged for the winter months.

Back as far as 1894-5 the Duluth Symphony orchestra was organized with Otto Muhlbaur as conductor and a series of concerts was given in the old Temple theater where the Orpheum theater now stands. The orchestra numbered about thirty-five pieces, two which are in the present organization, Fred Kretschmar, clarinet and Andrew Haakonsen, contra bass.

Following this attempt was Flaaten's Concert orchestra, organized by Jens H. Flaaten, who also acted as conductor, which gave several seasons of Sunday afternoon concerts at the old armory with great success. A few years ago, Gustav Flaaten who is responsible for the only appearance of Mischa Elman in this city, organized an orchestra of fifty pieces, appearing once in connection with the Elman recital and later in a few concerts which were given at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Flaaten organized the orchestra and gave the concerts entirely on his own responsibility, although at the time he did not intend to make the orchestra permanent.

Something more than a year ago the Rotary club, headed by M. I. Stewart and William C. Allen, responded to the call of musicians in an effort which resulted in the organization of the Duluth Concert orchestra with Fred G. Bradbury as director. All who attended the six twilight concerts given by the orchestra at the High school auditorium know with what success they were given. The spacious auditorium proved far too small to accommodate the crowds and hundreds were turned away during the latter half of the series.

This Year's Growth.

So great was the success of these concerts that it was determined to strengthen the orchestra this year, with the result that Director Bradbury took it upon himself to secure a guaranty fund of $5,000 which enabled him to secure outside talent in addition to local musicians. This resulted in the organization known as the Duluth orchestra.

Realizing the splendid work that had been done by Mr. Bradbury, several of Duluth's prominent citizens became interested in the venture and organized the Duluth Orchestral association. They took over the business management of the orchestra with the active assistance of F. A. Cokefair, chairman, and Stephen H. Jones, director, who gave much of their time to the affairs of the orchestra in a thoroughly business-like administration. Much credit is due James C. Myron, manager, for the plans carried out in the general management, and to D. R. Smith for his press work and program notes, which in a large measure have made the concerts interesting. Credit is also due to Whitney Wall, Jr., for the highly efficient manner in which the crowds attending the concerts have been handled.

While many obstacles were encountered at the beginning of the series, the management made every effort to overcome them and much valuable experience was thereby gained which will reflect itself in another season.

For the final concert of the series Director Bradbury has made it possible for the concert patrons to choose the program, the selections having been voted on at last Sunday's concert. The program, which is made up of selections that have been played by the orchestra during the season, follows: Overture to "William Tell".....Rossini
"Einzugsmarsch der Bojaren"
.....Halversen
"Valse Triste".....Sibelius
Violin solo—"Zigeunerweisen".Sarasate
Mrs. Jay Finkelson.
Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody.....Liszt
"Peer Gynt" Suite No. 1—Two movements, "Anitra's Dance"; "In the Hall of the Mountain King"...Grieg
Largo from the "New World" Symphony.....Dvorak
"March Slav".....Tschaikowsky

Fifth Woman to Pass State Bar "Exams"

MISS ANNIE A. SEVERANCE.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Annie A. Severance of Crosby has successfully passed the state bar examination, and has taken the oath before Judge W. S. McClenahan of the district court here.

Miss Severance was born in Mankato and is a graduate of both high school and state normal school of that place. She takes the credit for her success in passing the bar examination herself, as she has studied only in her father's office, not attending a law school. She is the fifth woman to pass the Minnesota bar.

Permanent Organization To Aid Canadian Soldiers

Duluth women interested in Canadian war relief work have formed a permanent organization.

This action was taken following a talk given yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium by Mrs. W. Bond of Winnipeg.

In recognition of the work done by Mrs. Mille Bunnell in starting the movement here, she was chosen honorary president. The other officers elected were: President, Mrs. James Wanless; first vice president, Mrs. Arcadius L. Agatin; vice president, Mrs. S. H. Jones; secretary, Miss Edna Cargill, and treasurer, Mrs. John H. Dight. New heads of branches were appointed as follows: Mrs. A. Charles Shannon of the Hillside circle; Mrs. R. B. Elliott of Two Harbors, and Mrs. William McBean of Crescent section.

Those present at the meeting were advised as to the kind of supplies needed. Mrs. Bond is vice president of the women's executive committee of the Red Cross Society of Winnipeg and has had experience in nursing in two campaigns in Egypt and Zululand.

"Money," said Mrs. Bond, "is the most essential of all supplies. After that comes day shirts, surgical shirts, pajamas, dressing gowns, hospital suits and home knit socks." Samples of these articles were displayed and their uses explained. With a trained nurse's understanding of essentials and exact information as to the needs at the front, Mrs. Bond gave a newly organized local society of Canadian women an outline for the work to be carried on here. Mrs. Bond will speak this afternoon before the Canadian women of Superior who have had an organization for war relief for five months.

The next meeting of the Canadian War Relief society will be held at 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bunnell, 2017 East Superior street.

Engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel I. Levin of 117 West Third street announce the engagement of their daughter, Irma Pauline, to Morris Rapoport of Indianapolis, Ind.

Duluth Red Cross Branch Reports On Money Spent and Articles Made

Mrs. E. W. Bohannon, secretary of the industrial committee of the Duluth branch of the Red Cross association, has given to H. V. Eva, secretary of the branch, a detailed account of the way in which $297.54, provided by the branch was spent and the number of articles that have been made from the materials that were bought. The circles are finishing their work and will not order more material through the treasurer of the committee, Mrs. P. S. Anneke, until more money comes into the treasury of the Duluth branch that is financing the work of the industrial committee. Some of the hospital supplies have been sent to the nations at war and the other supplies will be sent as soon as they are finished.

In the report given to Mr. Eva the number of yards and the price of each yard of material used by each circle was recorded. The following gives only the names of the chairmen of the circles, the cost of the material used and the number of articles which were made:

Lakeside circles—Chairman, Mrs. J. A. Former Duluth Woman To Sing at Baptist Church

Mrs. Anna J. Gibson, formerly of Duluth but recently soloist at the Merriam Park Presbyterian church, St. Paul, will sing the offertory at tomorrow morning's services at the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Gibson, who is visiting friends and relatives, is a sister of Hawkins Jacobson, also formerly of Duluth, who sang in the Methodist church and was well known in musical circles for his exceptionally fine voice. The "Twenty Years Ago" column in The Herald of last Wednesday mentioned Mr. Jacobson in the following account:

"The program for the concert to be given for the benefit of the City band will include a grand chorus of more than 100 voices composed of members of the Mozart and Oratorio societies and the Gounod and Cathedral choirs, under the direction of Mark C. Baker. The vocal soloists will be Mr. Baker, Miss Bradshaw and Hawkins Jacobson, the boy soprano."

Social Worker Will Soon Publish Book

ANNE MORGAN

It is reported that Anne Morgan is writing a book which will command much attention. One wonders how Miss Morgan with her camps for girls and her dancing rooms for working girls and her tramping clubs for both sexes and her war relief work, finds time to write books. But she is a very active woman and full of much of the energy of her father, the late J. P. Morgan.

Hunter's Park Boys Will Give Minstrel Show

The Boys' club of Hunter's Park has been working for two months on the minstrel show which they will give at 8 o'clock next Saturday night at the Washburn school under the direction of John R. Batchelor.

The club has fifty members, who meet every Wednesday night with Mr. Batchelor or an assistant supervising.

As the income of the club is not sufficient to defray the running expenses the members have decided to raise money by the burnt-cork plan.

Third Lecture In Series By Collegiate Alumnae

The third lecture in the Association of Collegiate Alumnae series will be given at the First Methodist church Monday night by Prof. Forest Ray Moulton of the University of Chicago, who will speak on "The Wonderful Heavens." The lecture will not be technical, but will reveal the secrets of the heavens, tell of the progress of astronomy and speak of the great astronomers of other centuries.

Although not yet 44 years old, Prof. Moulton has after his name an imposing list of the societies to which his eminence as a scientist has gained him admission, among them being the Royal Astronomical Society of England, of which he is a fellow. He is best known by his work on a new hypothesis of the evolution of world systems, which he has done in connection with the Geologist Chamberlain.

Most appropriately, Prof. Moulton will be introduced by Duluth's own astronomer, Maj. J. H. Darling. Maj. Darling is planning to put up at his own expense on the lot owned by the city, at Tenth avenue west and Third street, an astronomical observatory equipped with a telescope and other necessary instruments and a small astronomical library. Here Maj. Darling will carry on his own observations and here he will welcome any person in Duluth who is interested. It will be a Duluth observatory.

Speaks To Mother's Club

Miss L. Louise Shepard, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., spoke yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Mothers' club of the Munger school.

WAR'S EFFECTS TO BE SHOWN IN MILITARY LINES OF MEN'S CLOTHES THIS SPRING

How the 1916 Spring Youth Should Appear. If You Wear a "Stick" Get One With a Crooked Handle.

The war still has its effect upon men's fashions, military lines in men's attire still being in evidence. The suit of the stylish man this season will be cut form tracing as before, the only noticeable change being in the lapel, which, in place of the bold wide effect, is, in the suits worn by the younger men, cut decidedly narrower and tapering to a sharp point or peak at the top. There is a tendency to have the coats slightly longer than those worn for several seasons. The trousers of the well groomed young man will be still worn turned up at the bottom, but there is a disposition to have them slightly wider than in previous seasons. Whether on account of the dye shortage or not, there is a noticeable turning to light colors for the coming season, while the conservative dresser will always demand dark neat patterns. The younger element this season will wear light checks and suits with bold white stripes.

One noticeable feature of the clothing business today is that there is not the strong division between young men's attire and the clothes worn by the older men, as men of nearly all ages are asking for the clothes with the more youthful lines.

Evening Clothes.

The formal evening suits of the correctly dressed men will show but little change. There is only one thing that would commend the attention of a man who follows fashion's decrees closely and that is the willingness with which the tuxedo is accepted for wear in places where in previous years only the full dress coat was worn. This is no doubt due to the effect of the fashions worn at Palm Beach and other winter resorts where dancing is very much in evidence. The tuxedo of the coming season will be cut with just a little more fullness, just a trifle wider shoulders and a little more length.

Young men following extreme fashions closely are beginning to wear white waistcoats with tuxedos and the style is being favored.

The overcoats of the coming season will show very little change in the fashion of today. The young men with slender forms will wear the close fitting coats and the men of heavier lines, though jealous of the other class, will continue to insist that the loose overcoat is the comfortable thing for spring.

Derby hats have wider rim this year and a lower crown, while fedoras promise to be most popular for wear at this season. The new styles in these soft hats are in colors of three shades, of gray, green and brown.

Broken checks in all colors are popular in caps for both men and boys.

The crook handle on canes is to be the correct thing in walking sticks. The horn handles are being shown a great deal this year.

Even pajamas have many colors. Stripes are the prevailing styles.

Vest watch ribbons, with initials or monograms, replacing the chin, are again in favor this year. Narrow leather belts, with initials or monograms, are also being shown.

Handkerchiefs, with colored borders, are among the novelties for the season.

A feature of this season's styles is the popularity of the soft collar, which will be worn considerably, according to indications. There is not much of a change in the collars, the cutaway being most popular, but the many colors are a novelty.

Ties in the gayest colors are seen, while shirts are not far behind in the "noise" class.

WAHKON CREAMERY IS NOW CERTAINTY

Wahkon, Minn., March 25.—By taking over the local creamery plant of the Bridgeman-Russell company of Duluth temporarily, with a view of purchasing later, a creamery is now assured this place, to be opened May 1. Those behind the move made a straight offer to the Duluth concern, but the price was not deemed adequate. Bridgeman-Russell agreed, however, to a temporary use of the plant, the price to be fixed later, and this proposition was accepted: Ice was put up this week for the plant, and contracts are being closed with farmers.

Assessors Advised.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A school of instruction for assessors was held at the court house yesterday, a representative of the state tax commission being present as instructor.

Dancer Wears Dazzling Gowns To Reinforce Her Grace

—Copyright by Mishkin.

FLORENCE WALTON.

Florence Walton, who is the dancing partner of Maurice, dazzles her audiences as much with her gowns as with her grace in dancing. This is one of the latest creations of Lady Duff Gordon, which she is wearing in her public appearances. In private life Miss Walton is Mrs. Maurice. Her husband, who is accepted as a Frenchman, has been asked frequently why he does not go to the front. His answer is that he was born not far from Thirty-fourth street and Eighth avenue in New York.

SCHOOL HEADS INDIGNANT

Deny That Personal Differences Caused Dropping of Instructor Holmes.

Principal Young Holds That No Explanation Is Called For.

Charges and counter-charges were rife at Central high school today as a result of the petition signed by more than 300 students to have R. J. Holmes, English instructor, whom the board has refused to re-engage for 1917, reinstated.

Superintendent of Schools R. E. Denfeld and Principal Leonard Young were indignant over charges made by Mr. Holmes to the effect that his dismissal grew out of personal or professional differences, despite the fact that both Mr. Young and Mr. Denfeld had praised his work highly previous to that time.

"He is back of the petition himself," said Supt. Denfeld in a denunciation of Mr. Holmes and his alleged methods. "If the truth were known about his whole attitude, the newspapers which have taken up this agitation would drop it.

"There is no sentiment in the case at all. Mr. Holmes can't teach. That's the long and short of it. I don't care what the public may say—they may criticize if they wish, but if the city wants good schools, it must have good teachers.

"I am trying to give the boy and girl of the school a chance, and I don't want any figureheads. When I find a person who is marking time, I am going to change that condition.

"When the city employs someone to look after the schools, it is up to the individual to take whatever steps he may think necessary to better the interests of the schools."

No Explanation Necessary.

Principal Young flatly refused to discuss the affair, intimating that the methods used in grading teachers were well known, and that no detailed explanation was necessary in Mr. Holmes' case.

The record showed that Mr. Holmes, as graded by Mr. Young in accordance with the system used in the schools, received 35 out of a possible 50 on teaching ability; 10 out of 25 on personality and 15 out of 25 on preparedness. This made a mark of 60 out of a possible 100 per cent.

In a lengthy statement, issued last night, Mr. Holmes said his work was praised highly when he first began as a teacher, but that his troubles started soon after Lee C. Racey, head of the English department, was appointed last year.

Use of the honor system in his classes and his frank talks on sex hygiene may have been the cause of adverse criticism which started several months ago, Mr. Holmes stated.

The following is the petition which is being circulated, and which has been signed by more than 300 pupils:

"We, the undersigned, being former and present pupils of our esteemed instructor, Roy J. Holmes, do hereby state that we received just as much, if not more, value from the time spent under the above mentioned instructor, than from any other teacher in the Central high school. We do hereby petition the honorable board of education that they either retain Prof. Holmes' valuable services as instructor, or give him a recommendation that will enable him to procure a position of equal rank to that held here. We also understand that this dismissal has been caused not by unworthiness on his part, but by professional rivalry."

Instructor Holmes will serve out this school year. He graduated from Hamline university in 1913, and is married. He lives on Minnesota point.

COLD WAVE COMING FAST

Mercury Is Expected to Drop Thirty Degrees By Sunday Morning.

A cold wave is coming in fast, according to warnings issued this morning by Weather Forecaster Richardson.

Mr. Richardson also volunteers the advice that people had better sandpaper the soles of their shoes, for, with the rain that is falling today and the extreme drop in the temperature that is due to come by tomorrow morning, underfoot conditions are going to be little short of dangerous.

"The temperature will fall to around 5 degs. above zero by tomorrow morning," said Mr. Richardson, "and the wind will switch to the northwest and blow rather hard. The rain or snow will continue most of today, but I do not look for this condition tomorrow. The cold wave will be felt this afternoon and tonight and by tomorrow morning will be pronounced."

The temperature at 7 o'clock this morning was 36 degs. above; so that with the drop predicted, a change of about 30 degs. is due.

OPPOSITION TO YUAN WILL STILL CONTINUE

Tokio, March 25.—The abandonment of President Yuan Shi Kai of the project for restoration of the monarchy in China has aroused much interest here, where the opinion is expressed that this measure will not end the opposition to the president. The foreign office states that it will continue its attitude of watchful vigilance and that there is no intention to interfere with Chinese domestic relations.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" Regulate Women, Men and Children Without Injury.

Take When Bilious, Headachy, for Colds, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, billousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks. —Advertisement.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

U. L. BURDICK IS INDORSED

Total Abstinence League Favors North Dakotan for State's Executive.

Scandinavians Condemn Politicians Who Seek to Capitalize Nationality.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Condemning politicians of both parties who endeavor to capitalize their nationality in the contest for votes, the North Dakota Total Abstinence league, made up of prominent Scandinavians of the state went on record at a meeting of the board of directors held here, favoring those candidates who stand for respect and enforcement of the statutes.

The league indorsed U. L. Burdick for governor; A. T. Kraable for lieutenant governor; Wm. Langer for attorney general and R. A. Nestos for United States senator. The announcement that Nestos would be a candidate came while the meeting was in session.

Indorse Live Wire Prosecutor.

The record of Wm. Langer as state's attorney of Morton county, the "last frontier" for liquor traffic, won for him unanimous indorsement. The cleanup which Langer has made west of the Missouri leaves nothing to ask in the eyes of the league. Those in attendance at the meeting were President E. O. Wasness; Aneta; Secretary B. Olson, Harlow; Treasurer Ole Bratvold, Maddock; T. E. Hufte, Northwood; A. P. Larsen, Bottineau; J. O. Sivertson, Churchs Ferry, and P. J. Williams, Fargo. The league will have three speakers touring the state before the June primary.

MANY CATALOGUES GO FROM ASHLAND

International Falls—E. W. Vancura, agricultural instructor of the public schools of this district, was in Ray this week taking orders for seed grain from members of the Ray Farmers' club. Mr. Vancura says that the number and size of the orders being placed for seed indicate that there is going to be a much larger acreage of grain grown in this section this season than ever before.

Pine City—Naval militia inspection was conducted at the armory Wednesday evening by Lieut. Commander Fischer, U. S. N., who reported the company in excellent general condition. He was accompanied by Lieut. Howze, U. S. N., of Duluth, who is inspector-instructor for this region; Capt. Eaton of Duluth and Lieut. Barker, commander of the newly organized division at Bemidji. There were thirty-six of the boys in line.

North Branch—Otto E. Kriesel says that he has sold his forty-acre farm in section 22, five miles west of Stacy on Typo lake, town of Oxford, to Julius Boettcher.

Detroit—Harry Welden, a young man now under bonds to answer to the charge of robbing the Bunnell cigar store, was rearrested again last week upon a complaint signed by County Attorney H. N. Jenson, charging burglary in the third degree. The hearing was held before Judge E. L. Winje and the accused released on $300 bonds.

Barnum—Prof. Chapman of the Minnesota state farm bureau and Mr. Campbell, teacher of agriculture in the Barnum school, gave interesting talks Tuesday forenoon at the Woodman hall.

Crookston—Eight new bridges will be constructed by Polk county this year. County Auditor Henry J. Welte was ordered to call for bids for eight steel structures with cement foundations, in the county. King township will be benefited by two constructions. Other townships to receive bridges are Huntsville, Hubbard and Vineland, Sletten, Liberty, Brandsvold and Huntsville and Bygland.

Wadena—The state board of health will order the construction of a sewer system and charge the cost up to the city unless the city council performs the work, according to an ultimatum received by Mayor Henry Ebner Tuesday.

Bemidji—Andrew Dahl and Ole Olson each paid a fine of $25 in municipal court on a charge of selling intoxicating liquors at the Dahl soft drink parlor Tuesday.

Onamia—Robert Swenson was selected as carpenter foreman by the local creamery company. Rev. J. Spencer Smith submitted drawings and a sketch of the new creamery building. The plan was accepted with the exception of a few minor changes. Mr. Smith will prepare the plans.

Mora—Dr. A. J. Lewis, formerly of Mora, now located at Council Grove, Kan., arrived here Tuesday and is spending a few days as the guest of I. C. Crusoe and family.

Princeton—The total amount available in Mille Lacs county this year for road work, after making due allowance for delinquent taxes, will be in the neighborhood of $69,000. Last year the towns and villages of the county voted $41,316, the county commissioners levied $12,500, and the state apportionment for this year is $15,500, making a total of $69,316.

FIRMER TONE IN MARKETS

Wheat Closes Steady After Being Nervous Through Session.

Flaxseed Turns Strong With Good Buying By Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 25.—That operators in the wheat market are laboring under an attack of nerves these days is attested in its susceptibility to reports coming out from time to time. Today quotations were advanced around ¾c at one stage and then they receded on news of the torpedoing of another steamer with passengers in the English channel. The close came practically unchanged from yesterday.

The heavy stocks being carried through the country and in terminals and interior elevators without any export outlet for them at present is the controlling market factor. It is believed that it will more than counteract any affect that may come later from crop damage reports from the winter wheat territory.

There were more advices today of reselling by exporters at the seaboard, and, according to advices, the blockades down there are about as tight as ever. Today's clearances dropped down to below 400,000 bu of wheat and flour, whereas it is estimated that an outgo of more than 1,000,000 bu daily is necessary to afford relief at the terminals. The Argentine and Australian movement is furthermore expected to cut a bigger figure from now on.

Stocks of all grains in Duluth elevators are now up to 25,482,000 bu, so that space is now limited to take care of the movement up to the opening of navigation.

May wheat opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 1.10¼, advanced to $1.11⅛, and closed unchanged to ⅛c up at $1.10⅜ bid. July opened unchanged to ⅛c off at $1.10⅝, advanced to $1.11⅝, and closed ¼@⅝c up at $1.11¼ asked. May durum opened unchanged at $1.05⅝, and closed at that figure after selling up to $1.06. July opened ¼c up at $1.06¼, struck $1.07, and closed ⅛c up at $1.06⅛ asked.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed was fairly strong, with steady but not aggressive bidding by crushers. Offerings were light. A break of 10¾c was recorded at London, the figure dropping to $2.45⅝. It was felt, however, that London is simply following the slump in this country. Buenos Aires closed ⅝c up at $1.27½.

May flax opened ¼c up at $2.16 and closed 1c up at $2.16¾ asked. July opened unchanged at $2.15¾, and closed 1⅛c up at $2.16¾ asked. At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅝c up at $1.94½.

Oats closed ¼c off at 39¼@39¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at 88@89c, and barley unchanged to 1c off at 68@69c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼@⅜c off at 41⅝@41¾c.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.05 and July at $1.03⅛ asked.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.00⅜ bid and July at 99⅜c asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

T. J. Cassidy of Cassidy & Munson, Minneapolis, was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade today. Trading on the Minneapolis market has been comparatively dull of late, as there appears to be no incentive for traders to take hold, he said. The large stocks overhanging the market has created a bearish sentiment and many operators are predicting declines extending to 10@15c from present market levels, he averred. The heavy stocks still to be marketed over the country are likely to more than counterbalance any bullish influence that may be created through future bad winter crop news and the smaller acreage in spring wheat this season, in Mr. Cassidy's opinion. A serious situation in handling grain has furthermore been brought about through the railroad blockade in the East.

B. W. Snow of Chicago had a personal letter from an old and exceedingly well posted grain man in Western Canada which says: "Winter is hanging on and there seems every prospect of a generally late seed time. In Southern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan at this date (March 23) there has been some mild weather, and in some districts plowed ground is bare, but north and east it is still winter. Over all Manitoba and the greater part of Saskatchewan the snow is still two to three feet deep, and the temperature is mostly below the freezing point all the time with local snow falls still occurring.

"The labor problem as spring draws near looks more serious than we thought it would be. We expected that we would get considerable help from soldiers in training who could be temporarily released from camp, but this seems a mistake."

Russell's News, New York said: "Foreign reselling of wheat in the past few days including twenty-five loads today, approximates 750,000 bu."

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was slightly affected at the immediate opening by a steady closing in Chicago, but it later eased with pressure of resellers. Spot market was very dull, unchanged. Cargo market was opened with winters and Manitobas nominally 3d higher, but it later eased to unchanged from yesterday low with a lack of demand."

* * *

Argentine weather is fine and the movement is increasing with lowered views of holders.

C. E. Lewis & Co., had the following from Sherman, Tex.: "With favorable conditions Texas won't make over 40 per cent of last year's crop. Eastern Oklahoma wheat is damaged 25 to 30 per cent. Extreme Western Oklahoma is damaged 30 per cent and balance of Oklahoma is fair."

* * *

At Minneapolis there seems to be a better demand for choice wheat. Lower grades were slow to dull. Blue stem No. 1 northern sold at ½c to 4c over May. Velvet chaff was ½c to 1c over. Lighter receipts are expected next week. A few millers reported better flour sales. A small lot was taken for export.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, March 25.—Heavy rains southwest caused the price of wheat today to erase off, as the dearth of moisture recently in that direction has been a serious handicap to growth. Besides, there were predictions of larger receipts. The fact that Liverpool quotations were unchanged notwithstanding the advance here yesterday counted also against the bulls. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜ to ⅝c lower with May at $1.08¼ to ¾ and July at $1.06⅛ to ¼ to ¼ were followed by a slight rally and then a new downturn.

Subsequently advices of prolonged wintery conditions in Canada and of a scarcity of labor there unrelieved by the military authorities, brought about an upturn. The market later, however, underwent a setback influenced to some extent by news of increased activity on the part of submarines. The close was unsettled, ⅜@½c to ⅝c net lower, with May at $1.08⅛ and July at $1.06¼@1.06⅜.

Corn weakened under selling from speculators. The big stocks here and the wheat decline appeared to furnish the motive. After opening ⅛@¼ to ⅜@½c down the market recovered a little, but later went lower than before.

Week-end evening up of trades resulted in another rally. The close was firm at ¼c to ⅛c net advance.

Oats took the same course as other grain. Demand was chiefly from shorts.

Advances in the hog market strengthened provisions. Trade, though was light, especially in pork.

D. C. Jackling, managing director of the Utah Copper company, when interviewed in Salt Lake City recently stated that "copper will not only maintain its present high level, but it may go higher in the very near future." In discussing the output of the red metal by the Utah Copper and other porphyry companies, Mr. Jackling said that all companies in which he is interested, are sold out for a greater period ahead than at any time in their history.

Regarding the outlook for mining investments, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says: "The metal issues, as a rule, should be bought for investment, and not sold, if one occupies an investing position.

"Interstate-Callahan earned a net profit of $278,287.20 in February, the shortest month in the year. This is about $3,337,000 per year. It is announced that Interstate-Callahan will soon be listed in New York.

"Among the newer mining stocks, and excellent prospects, Big Ledge should command the attention of investors. If you have had doubts, look this proposition up. It may pay you handsomely. Butte & Zenith City is a splendid prospect. This issue will be popular marketwise on any good news. Marsh is an attractive investment at present prices. The same is true of Carnegie Lead. Carman (Maria Mining) will be heard from favorably. Cactus has advanced sharply, and further news regarding antimony production is expected soon. American Manganese Manufacturing will show great progress this year. The stock should be a buy at present levels."

Secretary and Treasurer.

STAGNATION IN STOCKS

Mixed Price Changes During the Day's Short Session.

Traders Inclined to Close Outstanding Contracts; Closing Heavy.

New York, March 25.—The stock market was stagnant with mixed price changes during the day's short session. News of further marine disasters in the European war area acted as a partial restraint, but traders were inclined to close outstanding contracts. Apart from this development, such issues as Kennecott and Nevada Consolidated coppers, American writing Paper preferred, American Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum and Crucible Steel featured the dull first hour, with an overturn of barely 100,000 shares. Rails yielded most of yesterday's gains, Reading showing marked heaviness. Investment issues evinced a like trend. The closing was heavy. Bonds were irregular, but Anglo-French 5s were firm.

IT'S THE FELLOW THAT TAKES THE CHANCE THAT MAKES THE REAL BIG MONEY!

A few days ago you could have subscribed for Butte & Zenith City Mining company's stock at $3.00 per share. On account of the big following that Mr. Freimuth has with big holders of Butte & Superior and Interstate Callahan, I knew that with this big Butte property all paid for back of him, that it was almost certain that big interests would soon be with him, and it happened. The directors of the Interstate Callahan did agree to take and did take all the stock that was not subscribed by the public. Mr. Freimuth was fair; books were not closed until the 7th of March, and many took advantage of the offer. Now you can not buy a share only on the open market and only from those who are willing to sell. To tell you the truth, we are bidding $3.75 and today not a share was offered for sale. I do question whether $5.00 will loosen any stock to speak of. The Interstate Callahan men have the real money; they will soon get nearly $700,000 to be divided in a few days, and a lot of this dividend money will go into Butte & Zenith.

Butte & Superior will soon pay out nearly $3,000,000, and a lot of this will, no doubt, go into Butte & Zenith.

Does it not look to you that, with such a big property and such a big crowd heavily interested, Butte & Zenith shares will soon command very high prices? Buy the shares and do as you did with Interstate—put them away and wait for big developments and big dividends.

WE UNHESITATINGLY RECOMMEND THE PURCHASE OF BIG LEDGE DEVELOPMENT—

at or anywhere near the present quotations. Developments at the property are more than favorable and the company will soon be on a permanent shipping basis, which will mean large dividends and high prices for the shares. You will regret it very much if you do not get some of this stock before the advance.

April 9th is the last day you can transfer your Carman stock for the Maria Mining company. Work on the property will soon be resumed, which will cause a sharp advance in Maria stock. Remember the property adjoins the famous Chispas, which has paid out millions in dividends and will soon be paying more. This three-years' war in Mexico has given you an opportunity to buy some of these stocks at prices you will never see again, and if you don't take advantage of this opportunity, don't blame us.

Butte & Zenith in good demand at $3.50, and will advance sharply on any good reports from the property. This stock will soon be one of our active traders.

This old-time favorite is again in big demand, and we have private advice from an authoritative source that the property they control in Cobalt is about to make good and that they now acually have ore rich enough to sack and that the shares may possibly sell up to $1.00 on this movement is evident.

HIS MISTAKE.

Chicago Herald: The old pensioner who blew the bellows for the organ had a most exasperating failing. In spite of frequent admonitions he would continue blowing after the music had stopped, thereby producing most undesirable sounds.

One day the organist could stand it no longer.

The congregation had been set tittering by the old man's forgetfulness, and during the sermon, the organist seized the opportunity to write him a note on the matter and handed it to the choir boy to deliver.

Misunderstanding the whispered directions the lad handed the note straight up to the vicar, who astoundedly read the following:

"Will you stop when I tell you to? People come here to listen to my music, not to your horrible noise."

ANACONDA'S ZINC PLANT TO BE IN OPERATION BY SEPT. 1

Every Department of Company Working to Increase Copper Output.

Tuolumne Likely to Sell Its Property to the Anaconda.

Butte, Mont., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the increase in the copper output at the Boston & Montana smelter of the Anaconda company from about 6,000,000 pounds a month to about 15,000,000, with the new electrolytic refineries in operation, and the electrolytic zinc plant which will be in commission during next fall with an output of 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 pounds monthly, the smelter at Great Falls will be producing approximately 21,000,000 to 22,000,000 pounds of metal per month, or an increase of 500 per cent. The construction of the zinc plant and the increase in the copper refinery was in recognition of the economical fact that they should be built at the source of power instead of conveying the power hundreds of miles to the metals. It is expected that the zinc plant will be ready for operation by Sept. 1. More than 500 men are employed in pouring concrete for the acres of buildings, which will be erected at a cost of about $2,000,000. More than 800 tons of structural steel will be used in the construction, and most of it is already on the ground. The zinc plant will be just east of the copper refinery, and a large hill has been removed and big ravine filled in for the site. To the south of the zinc plant will be the leaching plant, almost as large as the refinery itself. The steel, more than 700 tons of it, is on the ground for the leaching plant.

The Anaconda company is planning very extensive operations on the large porphyry dyke, one of the biggest low grade gold deposits in the state, and it is likely that early the capacity will be increased to 1,000 stamps. A filter is being installed in preparation to a resumption of operations with twenty stamps.

Every department of the Anaconda company is being pushed to limits of production to take advantage of the demands for copper. A few days ago, at the Anaconda smelter the eight sections of the concentrator plant, running continuously from 7 o'clock one morning till 7 o'clock the next morning, created a new tonnage record. In the twenty-four hours 16,600 tons of ore passed through the mill, which was 700 tons more than the big record of the preceding week, and 600 tons better than the best former figure.

Pilot-Butte.

The stockholders of the Pilot-Butte Mining company, at a special meeting to be held March 30, will confirm a deal to sell the Pilot mine to the Anaconda company and thereby end the litigation between the big copper company and the little independent concern. The Pilot-Butte company will get $1,125,000 for the mine and so far as known the company has no other plans and will probably go out of existence.

Tuolumne.

The Tuolumne Copper Mining company will most likely sell the Tuolumne mine to the Anaconda company, as it is not able to operate the property itself at a profit. The company, however, will continue, as it is proposed to increase its capital stock and purchase other properties. The directors have several properties in view: One is the Colusa-Leonard Extension and another the Butte Main Range group of claims. There were not sufficient stockholders represented at the recent annual meeting, and the plan to sell or increase the capitalization had to be postponed to a special meeting which will be held May 10. President Hickey reports that all development work in the mine has been stopped and that mining is confined to the upper levels. The ore bodies now being worked are small and of low grade. Mr. Hickey says the development results on the 2,600-foot level have been disappointing, but he believes that greater depth will disclose another good ore shoot. The company has been operated at a loss and at the end of last year the deficit was $55,330. The general average of the ore is but 3 per cent copper and four ounces of silver to the ton.

Barnes-King.

Some rich ore was struck a week ago in the Shannon mine near Marysville, owned by the Barnes-King Development company, but nothing so sensational as some of the stories told about it. The Shannon is believed to be one of the most promising gold mines in Montana, and the best thing the Barnes-King has. It carries large bodies of a good grade of milling ore. On the 400-foot level a shoot of ore ranging from eight to thirty feet wide has been opened a distance of 500 feet. An aerial tramway will be built from the Shannon mine to the Gloster mill, a distance of several miles, and it is expected that the company will be able to treat Shannon ores by the middle of the summer.

Safety First Achievements.

The remarkable achievement in the safety first campaign which has been inaugurated in the mines and smelters of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, all in the interest of the men who work, is shown in the official report of the committee at the Washoe smelter at Anaconda for February. In twenty-seven departments of the great plant there were no accidents during the month. The other fifteen departments reported forty-three accidents, in all of which except fourteen the men were back at work within the fourteen-day limit. During the month there were employed daily 5,605 men as an average, the percentage of accidents for the month being only .77 per cent of this average. This is remarkably low considering the fact that construction work is going on all over the plant on a gigantic scale, with all departments in full operation at the same time. The improvements effected in dark corners by using aluminum paint on the big structures in minimizing the possibility of accident in such places. In the coal pulverizing building the change can be best noted, as the mills at the east end have already been painted while those at the west end are in the former condition. What was formerly one of the gloomiest spots about the plant is now thoroughly illuminated without adding any more lights, as the reflection from the newly painted surface reaches every angle of the building.

The furnaces in the new roaster building have all been painted, and the result is ideal. This new roaster is well started in its operation, and only awaits the arrival of new tramway engines to be going full blast. The present motive power cannot meet all demands, and as a result operations of the big reverberatory furnace in the converter building is being delayed until it can be supplied with calcines from the roasters. In this building the sixth convertor of the Great Falls type has been placed and will be fired up in a short time. The seventh is being assembled outside the building and will soon be moved to its stand. Meanwhile, all the old convertors of a smaller size have been dismantled and are on the way to the scrap heap. They will be followed by the old ladles, which have been replaced by a new type with separate collar, and with a capacity of thirteen tons of matte as compared with eight tons for the old type. The cubic capacity is more than doubled.

On the roof of the reverberatory buildings huge ventilators are being built, each housing a fan which will ensure a constant circulation of air. The increase in the amount of material by the furnaces under the coal dust firing system has added to the fumes, and the better ventilation has been provided in the interest of greater comfort for the employes. Another "safety first" improvement is the installation of pneumatic gates at the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway crossing, where the highway to the smelter crosses the tracks near the East Anaconda yard office.

The safety first committee is working and looking toward the day when accidents will be practically eliminated.

BARROWS MAY SHIP ORE THIS SEASON

Much Drilling Being Planned on Both the Cuyuna Ranges.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—About the first of April the Barrows Mining company expects to be operating the Rowley mine day and night and efforts will be made to get the property in shape to ship some ore this season.

The Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company's Mahnomen mine on the north range is a busy place. It will ship upwards of 500,000 tons of ore this season.

Much drilling is being planned both on the north and south ranges. Several drills are going in near Loerch and more drilling is planned on near Barrows. Merritt and associates have a number of drills southwest of Manganese and are proving up a large ore body. In section 28, township 47, range 30, west of Manganese, the Minnesota Iron Development company will have a drill operating as soon as the snow is gone. This company expects to put several more drills to work. It controls a vast amount of land, much of it in Crow Wing and Aitkin counties.

The Cuyuna Range Power company is preparing for increased use of electric current by constructing another dam, this one at Pillager, generating 2,000 horse-power. The dam will be 600 feet long with a 22-foot head of water, about equaling the first dam of the company on the Crow Wing river. At Riverton the power company is building a 1,000-kilowatt generating station, which may be enlarged to 2,000 kilowatts.

TONNAGE LARGE AT BUTTE-BALLAKLAVA

Production of Ore Averaging Close to 250 Tons Daily.

Butte, Mont., March 25.—Operations at the Butte-Ballaklava company's mine are going forward at a most satisfactory rate. On account of the great demand for copper, the management is not making any effort to carry on sinking at this time.

The production of ore is averaging close to 250 tons per day and this is all good commercial ore. It runs slightly lower than formerly because it pays better to handle it all as it comes rather than to do much sorting.

The levels from which this ore is being taken are the 800, 1,000, 1,200 and 1,600. Considerable development work is being done on the 1,600 in blocking out new ore bodies and the reserves are being maintained in good shape.

The lower percentages in the ore recoveries are not giving the management any uneasiness as they realize the reason for it and know that the bodies being opened up are practically the same in quality and extent as those opened previously.

On the 1,600 level the ore body on which drifting is now being carried on shows a width of thirty feet.

The average recovery from the 250 tons of ore per day that is now being mined runs about 3 per cent copper. The company is making good profits on the present basis of production with the price of copper at the high level that now prevails.

In handling the ores some zinc has been encountered but no effort is being made by the Butte-Ballaklava to handle that class of ore at the present time. At the present time milling facilities for custom ores in the Butte district are not ample and that is one of the reasons for the Butte-Ballaklava letting that part of its mineral values alone.

COMPANIES WILL BE AMALGAMATED

Lake Superior & Arizona and Magma to Join Forces.

Houghton, Mich., March 25.—The Lake Superior & Arizona has made an agreement with the Magma so that the two companies will form one of 250,000 shares, the stockholders of each company to receive a share of the new for one of the old, the Magma having 86,000 shares and the Lake Superior & Arizona 84,000. There will be held in the treasury 70,000 shares and 10,000 will be sold to the stockholders; 7,000 to those of the Magma, and 3,000 to those of the Lake Superior & Arizona at $5, as a condition of the exchange of the old shares for the new, the holders of the latter company to get four shares for 100. This proposition has met with the approval of all those stockholders who have been informed of it, and Secretary-treasurer A. E. Petermann has gone to New York to arrange the final legal details. On Mr. Petermann's return a letter will be mailed to the stockholders.

BUTTE & GREAT FALLS BUYS DEWEY CLAIM

Butte, Mont., March 25.—One of the most important mining deals recorded in the Butte district in some time was that of the sale to the Butte & Great Falls Mining company Tuesday of the Dewey and four other claims adjoining the Butte & Great Falls on the south.

The Butte & Great Falls company, which has recently been strongly financed and is now prepared to mine and thoroughly explore its property, even to a depth of 2,000 feet, paid Dr. H. H. Hanson, owner of the Dewey, $50,000 in cash for the claim, and in addition the doctor gets 25,000 shares of the treasury stock of the Butte & Great Falls company, the price of which was recently advanced by the directors from $1 to $2 a share.

Several years ago before the present activity in the north of Dixie gulch, where the Butte & Great Falls is located, Dr. Hanson refused a cash offer of $40,000 for his Dewey claim.

INCREASING ITS CAPACITY

Calumet & Hecla Company Adding Largely to Its Smelting Facilities.

Rumors of Change in Control of the Mohawk Company.

Houghton, Mich., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calumet & Hecla will increase its smelting capacity 36,000,000 pounds a year by addition of the new furnace with the Walker casting machine at Hubbell and the construction of the new smelter at Dollar Bay, each being able to produce 1,500,000 pounds a month. The work of erection and equipment is being rushed with the utmost speed both day and night. The furnace at Hubbell will be ready in about two months and the smelter at Dollar Bay in three weeks. These are not in either case replacements of old furnaces, but they are being added to the present number of smelters to take care of the increasing outputs of the mines.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw the first of the week ordered the timber for the trestle that will be erected as soon as the snow is gone to connect the mine with the Keweenaw Central railroad, owned by this company, at the summer park of Crest View across the valley so that the rock can be taken to the old Phoenix mill for a test. The trestle, which will have a length of about 50 feet, will be gradually filled after it is built with the waste rock from the mine so as to make it strong and solid. The Phoenix, which was last used about six years ago for the rock of the same company's mine at Mandan, is being thoroughly overhauled.

Tamarack.

Tamarack is still forwarding about 1,300 tons daily. It is doing some new work at No. 2 shaft, where only the Osceola amygdaloid is being mined, in the way of extending the drifts on the twentieth, twenty-third and twenty-fourth levels.

Osceola.

Osceola this month still will show quite a loss in tonnage from its normal which is, as for December, about 120,000 tons, and will be approximately 100,000 tons. The falling off on account of the weather was, of course, the greatest in January when the monthly tonnage ran down to 79,000 and in February it rose to 98,000.

Tremont-Devon.

Tremont-Devon has reached a depth of about 500 feet with its diamond drill, but has not encountered anything of importance. Directors W. M. Gibson and C. H. Cooper have recently visited the property, which lies next on the west to the Victoria.

Mohawk.

Mohawk has been the subject of many rumors to the effect that there will be a change of control at the annual meeting Tuesday, May 28, and some names very prominent in the copper world have been mentioned as playing the leading roles, but it is thought here that if some change takes place it will be made to govern the policy and in a manner that will not be hostile to the present officials of the company. If there is any movement of this kind on foot it has been brought about by a combination of large stockholders with purchases of stock in the market. There is, as far as is known, no contest for proxies, and there is the greatest confidence here in the present officials of the company.

Baltic.

Baltic is looking a little better underground than for some time, since the West vein is being opened at all of the shafts with good results as a whole and as No. 3 is developing some good rock at the bottom. No. 2 shaft at the nineteenth level is coming into the rich shoot encountered first at the twentieth and then at the twenty-first and fourteenth levels, and wherever the ground is being mined the average is good. No. 3, which is down to the thirty-first level, is finding very fair rock at and near the crosscut from the shaft on the twenty-ninth level, the lowest level to be opened by a drift. It is very fortunate at this time, when the copper disclosures are not so good as formerly at Nos. 3 and 4, that No. 2 is hoisting such good rock and that the West bids fair to furnish at little cost a gradually increasing tonnage. In some places this vein is quite wide carrying very good grades.

South Kearsarge.

South Kearsarge about March 27 will start up its new electric Prescott pump which is on the eleventh level and which takes care of the water that seeps down from the small area that caved in on the surface about a year ago and also the water pumped from the lower levels. The electric pumps have proved very successful at the Calumet & Hecla and its subsidiaries.

Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Hecla is sending to its mills at Lake Linden from its shafts on the Calumet conglomerate and Osceola amygdaloid 10,500 tons daily, a very high tonnage when the very cold weather and the occasional storms are taken into consideration.

Cherokee.

Cherokee, a good deal after the plan of the New Arcadian, will make its exploration with the smallest expense possible, as when it is demonstrated that a property has the copper, it is the easiest thing in the world to raise money to develop it. The work will be started as soon as the weather permits.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian has so far twenty feet of as rich coarse stamp rock as the writer has ever seen on the 900-foot level south; and this is quite important, as the showing is in about 500 feet from the shaft and as there are about one and one-half miles of the property to the south on the lode. This level has, counting both drifts, 1,000 feet opened, which is the largest extent up to this time exposed on any of the levels. President R. H. Shields and the directors until recently have been so hampered at times by the lack of funds and the impossibility of raising them by assessment that they have spent their money very cautiously, using second hand equipment as far as possible and only buying for a short time ahead, while seeking to ascertain the continuance of the mineralization both vertically and laterally, principally the former. Now they feel that so much has been accomplished in the way of proving that the metal will have sufficient extent to be a profitable mine, because it has a depth of 1,250 feet and a length of 1,000 feet, to say nothing of the rich cores met with 4,000 feet to the north of the New Baltic, that is warranted fully to replace its present equipment by one capable of going deeper and opening up the levels and drifts for production; and consequently since there is $66,742 in cash in the treasury, $39,470 due from the last assessment which is being paid in constantly and which is all good, and $40,000 coming from the sale of the southwest quarter of section 9 to the New Baltic—a total of $106,212 being available—they have practically determined to procure a compressor of thirty drills' capacity, a hoist good for 3,000 feet, new boiler and a new rockhouse. These improvements will be made gradually during the spring and summer. There has been somewhat of a delay in the regular work because the small part of the compressor that was broken has not yet been replaced by a new one, and, therefore, only five drills, one-half the usual number, can be operated; but it is expected that the needed part will arrive in a few days, and then the compressor will run the full number, ten drills. The two drills that were crosscutting on the 1,250-foot level are now driving a drift north from the crosscut in good ground. The lode where opened by the crosscut on this level was sixteen feet wide—true width—and disclosed very small amygdaloidal copper scattered throughout, perhaps of a commercial grade. In the six openings on the lode from the shaft four have been well mineralized, and the other two carried some copper.

New Baltic.

New Baltic is down about seventy-five feet with the hole whih will cut No. 2 conglomerate at the depth of about 1,000 feet on the same dip as the first and second holes.

Algomah.

Algomah, in sinking the shaft, ran into a seam from which flowed more water than could be taken care of with the small boiler now in use, and work has been shut down until a new boiler can be installed, which will be soon. The shaft has reached the depth of about 580 feet.

Naumkeag.

Naumkeag, in the annual report of date of March 9, states that there is shown by the exploration up to date a shoot of copper-bearing ground in the northern part of the property which is undoubtedly worthy of development, but this should not be done until the whole possible copper formation has been explored on the adit level. The branch of the Quincy-Pewabic series, known as the old Pewabic, has been found to be the most promising of the lodes opened, and on this branch 1,171 feet of drifting, 750 south and 422 north, with no copper on the former and considerable on the latter, was done in 1915. There appears to be now a stretch of over 1,100 feet on this lode that is for the most part mineralized. A winze was sunk from the surface level 200 feet, and 1,062 feet of crosscuts and drifting done, but the showing was not as good as on the adit level, so the exploration work was discontinued there on account of the more costly rehandling of the "dirt," and resumed on the latter. There are two crosscuts, one to the east and the other to the west, being extended so as to cover the whole of the copper-bearing formations, and the former has a length of 536 feet and the latter 540 feet. The company has on hand a total of $169,512.46.

White Pine Extension.

White Pine Extension's shaft is down over thirty feet, and the showing of copper in the sandstone and intervening shale beds is of a high-grade rock. A mill of an experimental nature will soon be built to determine on the exact equipment, which in a general way will be crushers, rolls, tables and the flotation process. Manager Theodore Dengler of the Wolverine and Mohawk assumed the management of this property March 1.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale is sending now 3,000 tons of rock daily to the mills, and will make pretty close to 78,000 tons for the month. This is, indeed, a wonderful record for this mine, but is a long, long way from the maximum that will be made later by these shafts. A dividend of $1 will be declared in June or September—most likely the latter—and this will be its second, the first having been paid March 31, 1913. The Portage lode, 150 feet west, is being mined from No. 2 shaft on the twenty-second and twenty-ninth levels, and another crosscut is being driven from the twenty-fourth level. The lode averages in amount of copper about the same as the Isle Royale lode. The additional capacity for milling the rock is being gradually obtained at the Centennial-Allouez mill, its own having been worked to the limit—2,200 tons—for quite a while. The tonnage will be quite likely but steadily increase from this figure, with the addition of the second skipways at Nos. 4, 5 and 6, the rise in output at No. 1 and the completio nof No. 7.

ANACONDA BUYING EMMA ZINC STOCK

Big Company Trying to Secure Additional Share Holdings.

The heaviest buyer of Butte Copper & Zinc stock on the recent scale up from $7 to $12 per share is reputed to be the Anaconda Copper Mining company, which evidently aims to acquire a majority ownership interest in the Butte company's Emma mine, says the New York Commercial. Anaconda undertook to dewater and reopen the old Emma mine last summer and took an option on 100,000 shares of Butte Copper & Zinc company stock at $1, payable April 10, 1916, and another option expiring July 10. Both options will be exercised. This gives Anaconda 188,000 shares out of a total of 500,000 shares. It needs more than 62,000 shares additional for a majority interest. By the terms of the agreement with the Butte Copper & Zinc company the Anaconda equips and operates the property and obtains 50 per cent of the profits for five years, with option of renewal for five years more. If Anaconda acquires a majority interest, the company will manifestly obtain more than 75 per cent of the profits from the Emma mine in the next ten years. The Emma mine, so far as opened up to a depth of 800 feet, shows indications of developing into a rival of and possibly a bigger mine than the Butte & Superior. Unofficial estimates indicate 1,000,000 tons of probable and partly developed ore down to the 800-foot level of a grade closely comparable with that of Butte & Superior as regards zinc content and surpassing Butte & Superior in silver content. Butte & Superior has about the same tonnage developed down to the 1,600-foot level, but is practically worked out above the 800-foot level. The Emma mine is untouched below the 800-foot level.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE NORTH BUTTE

Production Is Larger and to Be Increased Still Further.

Butte, Mont., March 25.—Production at the North Butte company has been greatly increased in the last two weeks and the present plans call for a still further increase within the next thirty days. This has been made possible by the utilizing of both the old Speculator shaft and the new Granite Mountain shaft for hoisting and operating purposes.

At the time that the Granite Mountain shaft was finished and the new electrical hoist installed, it was supposed that the new hoist would handle all the ore that the North Butte company could mine and the plan called for the abandonment of the old Speculator shaft except as an auxiliary for ventilation and lowering men and supplies.

The accident to the machinery at the new Granite Mountain made it necessary to put the Speculator shaft into commission again and it was hurriedly repaired and started. The Granite Mountain was ready for operation again about the middle of February and after it was started the Speculator shut down and additional repairs were made there. The tremendous increase in the price of copper made it seem advisable to the management to use both hoists and increase the output to the limit.

For over two weeks both hoists have been used. The principal work to be done, however, is in the underground workings, where new connections are required and the equipment for getting the ore to the hoists needs to be largely added to.

Within the next month or two it is expected to have the North Butte producing ore that will net 3,000,000 pounds of copper per month. At the present rate of production the output for March, it is thought, will exceed two and a quarter million pounds.

On the 700-foot level a new ore body has just been opened up that gives promise of being very extensive and with ore of a very high grade. It is in the Sioux Chief ground and is already found to be nearly 30 feet in width. This is all commercial ore and the length of the ore body has not yet been determined.

Sinking is going on steadily at the Granite Mountain shaft, and it is now down to a depth of 3,165 feet. It is expected to cut the station on the 3,200-foot level by the third week in March and sinking will then go steadily forward to the 3,600-foot level.

TRAFFIC OUTLOOK BEST IN MONTHS

Soo Agent Is Optimistic Over General Wave of Prosperity.

Harry Lewis, assistant general passenger agent of the Soo, was in Duluth yesterday afternoon. Mr. Lewis said that the outlook for passenger business was better right now than at any period in months.

"Business conditions are excellent," said Mr. Lewis, "and a period of prosperity generally means a season of heavy passenger travel. The fact that the European war has practically shut off all tourist travel to Europe, has set many people thinking about their own country. During the last winter the tourist places of the United States have been thronged with travelers who have formerly made an annual trip to Europe.

"The winter tourist business was immense. There should be an unusually heavy travel during the coming summer—at least we look for it. If present business conditions continue, the railroads of the West should carry a very large number of passengers."

TRADE REVIEW

New York, March 25.—Bradstreet's says:

A tale now rather commonplace is told by this week's reports. The prominent characteristic is unprecedented activity in all of the larger lines, distributing as well as manufacturing with, however, a rift or two in the steady, easy onflow being furnished by inclement weather retarding retail trade in the East, by growing concern over high prices, and by the less pleasant aspect of Mexican affairs. Shortages of goods, steadily climbing prices and widespread complaints of inability to get supplies, either of raw materials, semi-manufactured products or finished goods, due in part to insufficient production or lack of transportation facilities, creating fears of further acuteness in this respect, but rather accentuating buying not only for filling-in purposes, but for fall delivery as well. Weekly bank clearings $4,718,475,000.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty-four hundred forty-nine dollars and sixty-two cents ($6449.62), for principal and interest which is claimed to be due and is due at this date, and which default has continued to the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Anna Marie Laihinen, widow, mortgagor, to J. B. Sattler, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of August, 1911, with a Power of Sale therein contained, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 23rd day of August, 1911, at 4:45 o'clock p. m., in Book 290 of Mortgages, on page 213, and

Whereas said mortgage conveyed the following described property, to-wit:

Lot Fourteen (14), Block Seven (7), Virginia; lots Thirty-one (31) and Thirty-two (32), Block Eight (8), North Side addition to Virginia, and lots Thirty-one (31) and Thirty-two (32), Block Ninety-two (92), Second addition to Virginia; according to the respective plats thereof, on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, and said J. B. Sattler, mortgagee, has released, to said Anna Marie Laihinen from said mortgage, said lots Thirty-one (31), and Thirty-two (32), Block Eight (8), North Side addition to Virginia, by partial release dated August 27th, 1913, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County, on the 5th day of September, 1913, at 8:30 o'clock a. m., in Book 159 of Mortgages, on page 25, and

Whereas further default has been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred Eighteen and 37-100 ($518.37) Dollars for taxes upon said lot 14, Block 7, Virginia, and upon said lots 31 and 32, Block 92, Second addition to Virginia, for the years 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1914, which taxes have been paid by said mortgagee in accordance with the terms of said mortgage, and which sum together with unpaid interest thereon amounts at this date to the sum of Five Hundred Twenty-five dollars and thirty-six cents ($525.36).

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of all the said premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, except said lots 31 and 32, Block 8, North Side addition to Virginia which have been released from said mortgage, and which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county, Minnesota, at his office, in the County Court House, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 8th day of April, 1916, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt, interest and taxes, and One Hundred and no-100 ($100.00) Dollars attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale.

Dated February 21st, 1916.

J. B. SATTLER, Mortgagee.

J. J. ROBINSON, Attorney for Mortgagee, 510 Alworth Bldg., Duluth, Minnesota.

D. H., Feb. 26, March 4, 11, 18, 25, April 1, 1916.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Two Thousand, Three Hundred Seventy-eight and 19-100 ($2,378.19) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Finch and Florence Finch, his wife, Mortgagors, to Fitger Brewing Company, a Minnesota corporation, Mortgagee, bearing date the 26th day of January, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of February, 1915, at 11 o'clock A. M., in Book 343 of Mortgages, on page 165.

And Whereas the said Fitger Brewing Company, Mortgagee and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable, at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Six Thousand Fifty-one and 96-100 ($6,051.96) Dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now therefore, Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by

REAL ESTATE NEWS

ANALYSIS OF BUILDING COSTS THIS YEAR AND LAST MADE BY DULUTH ARCHITECT

Comparative Tables Show That Net Increase in Cost of Building Will Not Exceed 7.72 Per Cent and Prices Have Not Yet Reached Levels of Few Years Ago.

Rumors and evidence of the rise in prices of many commodities, incident to this as to every other period of business prosperity, cause the prospective builder to consider the cost of his building erected now, as compared with in the past and in the future.

In order that he may base his calculations on facts, the following statistics have been assembled for The Herald by Harold S. Starin, a Duluth architect.

The cost of several hollow tile and stucco residences costing from $8,000 to $30,000, all recently built, was analysed, one building at a time. The relation which the cost of certain natural divisions of the work (grouped below under "Main Divisions") bears to the entire cost, exclusive of fees for professional services, of the completed building, was expressed in the form of percentages of the entire cost. These figures were averaged together and the result is given below under column No. 3. For purposes of cost comparison therefore, these percentages may be taken as a fair basis for any house of the same general nature.

Most of these main divisions naturally separated, into several sub-divisions, and the relation between each subdivision and the main division, of which it is a part, is given in a percentage form in column No. 1.

Next, the increase in cost, now as compared with a year ago, of each main division, and where further divided of each sub-division, was computed by obtaining the market prices of each item current in Duluth at those times. In almost every case at least two well known dealers or subcontractors were consulted. This increase is expressed in column No. 2.

From these, the results in column No. 4 were obtained. This gives the theoretical present cost of each main division, in the form of a percentage of last year's total cost.

Advance Forecast.

Space will not permit a comment on each item, and for the most part none is needed. Some advances in prices stated in the schedule have not as yet occurred, but must be expected this spring. Thus electric fixtures have not as yet made the 10 per cent advance given. Notwithstanding the fact that certain building papers and felts have advanced greatly in price, the felt used on the buildings considered remains the same price now as then, and since their dealer does not expect any change in the present price, no increase is given in the schedule. The increase given for millwork is approximate for the mills have but recently established a system of detailed cost records, so that comparisons between old and present mill figures may disclose inconsistencies in estimating. But the figure given seems to be a fair one, on the judgment of competent men.

In using last year's prices as a basis of building valuation, it should be borne in mind that they marked the lowest point in building costs in a number of years. Even now, items, such as hardware and lumber, which show the largest advances, are still below the prices of a few years back.

Mr. Starin's tables follow:

Main divisions and sub-divisions—	Detailed Costs For 1915.	Pct. Increase in Detailed Costs.	Last Year's Pct. of Total Cost.	This Year's Theoretical Pct. Tot. Cost.

Of the 7.72 per cent increase in building prices over last year, 2.14 per cent may be seen to be due to the proposed increase in the union scale of the carpenters and bricklayers. This they have not been definitely granted, but assuming that they are, as was assumed in preparing the schedule, both trades will then be receiving only what they are paid in other cities, and there is very little chance that the scale will lower. Beyond this, the question as to whether prices will drop or rise still higher, is a matter of speculation and opinion, and is not within the province of this discussion.

WITH THE BUYERS AND SELLERS OF DULUTH REAL ESTATE

Duluth real estate men are feeling more optimistic than ever regarding the realty situation and prospective developments for the present year.

Just as had been forecasted, earlier business is rounding to in a more substantial way than had been the case in several years. A feature of the last month has been the inquiry for properties in the high-class residential districts and the closing up of some interesting transactions.

In that connection Stryker, Manley & Buck reported the sale yesterday from the Atlas Investment company to Mayor W. I. Prince and Edward A. Separk of 87½ feet frontage each at the lower side of Eighth street and Twenty-seventh avenue east at a consideration of $3,500 for each parcel. Both purchasers have intimated as their intention to build modern residences on the property during the present season.

The Richardson, Day & Cheadle company sold to the Refrencha Building company for improvement two lots at Eighth street and Nineteenth avenue east at $1,600.

I. L. Wickstrom purchased through that office a 30-foot frontage at Sixth street and Third avenue east, upon which he is preparing to erect a two-story flat building. Two lots were besides sold in Norton's Fairmount Park addition.

Marked interest in properties on the Central hillside was commented upon by W. W. Fetermacher, manager of the Duluth Realty company. Three sales were effected during the week, including a house and lot at Eighteenth avenue east and Sixth street at $2,400; a house and lot at Ninth street and First avenue east at $1,800 and a building lot on Sixth street, between Second and Third avenues east, at $1,100. Earnest money was also taken on the sale for improvement of two lots at Nineteenth avenue east and Eighth street.

The A. A. Fider company sold for Martin Olmem to William E. Doran house and lot at 1009 East Seventh street at $1,900.

The office besides sold to Martin Olmem ten lots over the Duluth Heights at $400; to George Hale a lot on Tenth street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth avenues east at $350, and to James L. Keeley 136 acres of land north of Lake Vermilion. An agreement was also entered into covering the sale of a property on Seventh street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues east, at $2,000.

* * *

A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company, advised the sale of eight lots in Gary-Duluth to investors from Southern Minnesota and Fargo, N. D. Both local and outside inquiry for Gary properties is showing marked improvement recently, he averred. Investors are becoming more impressed with the investment possibilities offering in view of the prospective extension of the street railway tracks out there and the certainty that building operations will attain substantial proportions in Gary-Duluth during the present season.

The N. J. Upham company sold two West end houses yesterday, one on Twenty-fourth avenue west and the other on Wadena street.

The Field-Frey company reported the receipt of earnest money on the sale of a block of lots in an East end residential district.

The Harris Realty company advised the closing up of a contract covering the sale of a house and lot on First avenue west at $3,700.

BIG PROJECTS FOR BUILDERS

Architects and Contractors Have Business Involving $400,000 in Sight.

"Y" Boys' Building Begun; Contract for Hugo Factory to Be Let.

A substantial business was rounded up by architects and contractors during the last week. Work involving heavy expenditures came out and it is estimated that projects aggregating fully $400,000 in value, are in sight.

The placing of the contract for the Boys' Y. M. C. A. building at Second street and Lake avenue, created general interest in trade circles. George H. Lounsberry & Co., were the successful bidders, and they have already begun work on the job. The cost of the structure will be approximately $65,000. F. G. German is the architect.

Jacobson Brothers were the low bidders on the Hugo Manufacturing company's factory in West Duluth, and it is understood that the contract will be awarded to them.

In the opinion of architects, more expensive houses will be erected here this season than in several years. Architects are engaged upon plans for several houses to be built in the newer and more restricted residential districts, and preliminary sketches are being made in connection with other work upon which decisions are expected to be reached shortly. As had been forecasted, a modern house is to be built for A. B. Siewert at Wallace avenue and Fifth street. According to the plans now in preparation by Arthur N. Starin, architect, it is to be of tile and stucco, and will entail an estimated outlay of $14,000. The plans will be ready to put out for figures by May 1.

George Morgan is arranging to build a frame and stucco home to cost about $9,000 upon the lot adjoining Mr. Siewert's. Mr. Starin is also engaged upon the plans for it. They will be ready to go out for contractors to estimate upon by April 13.

The proposed Lakeview hospital will not be built at Thirtieth avenue east and First street as had been announced. Owners of property in that vicinity desire that it shall retain its character as a high-class residential district, and it is intimated that property that may be utilized as a site for a public institution will not be sold there. It is reported that the Lakeview hospital promoters are negotiating for a site in another location.

A building boom is rapidly developing in Gary-Duluth. Several buildings are under erection there, and it is estimated that projects that will reach an aggregate cost of $100,000, are now in sight in that addition. The Gary Building company obtained the contract yesterday for the erection of a moving picture house for R. T. La Grille. It is to be a one-story concrete block structure with stucco front, and is designed to be fully modern in its seating and stage arrangements. It will cost about $8,000.

The Gary Building company has also been awarded the contract for a brick business block. It is also engaged in the erection of two concrete block houses for Watson S. Moore. Among the other business buildings projected for Gary is a butcher shop and sausage factory for R. C. Vokuban.

W. P. Allred, architect, will be ready to receive bids on April 11 upon a two-room brick school for Lawler, Minn. It will contain a manual training department in the basement and is estimated to cost $8,000. The same architect will have plans ready for figures next week for a four-room school to be built at Margie, Minn., to cost from $12,000 to $14,000.

* * *

Edward F. Broomhall, architect, will receive bids up to April 11 upon a two-story high school building at Pelican Rapids, Minn. It will be of brick, two stories in height.

* * *

The Lowry-Smith company, tile and marble contractor, was awarded the contract to furnish and set all tile and marble, including the swimming pool, in the new boys' department Y. M. C. A. building.

Building permits issued during the week follow:

To the Hanford Constructing company, dwelling on the south side of Laurie avenue, between Vermilion road and Lakeview Drive ..... $ 4,000

To W. S. Moore, two concrete block dwellings on the south

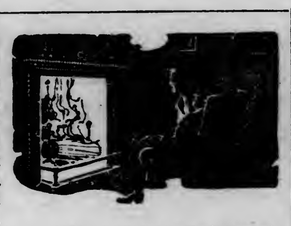
A HOME OF UNUSUAL MERIT

A carefully studied floor plan arrangement, and an exterior of pleasing proportions go to make this one of our most attractive plans. The first floor has the large double height living room with a balcony across the right end of the room which is the connecting link for the stairway and the second floor. The octagon shaped den possesses many attractive features. The large terrace and covered porch will appeal to many people. The den, living room, dining room and right bedroom have open hearth fire places. The portecochere on the left could be nicely arranged for a garage.

The exterior of the building is stucco of a warm drab color. The house will cost to build in the city of Duluth $10,000.

Prosperity! Prosperity Everywhere!



It has struck Duluth to stay. What's the use of paying rent? If your landlord can afford to own a home to rent to you, then it stands to reason that you can own as good or better home at the same or less cost. He pays upkeeps and taxes on your money and makes a profit. Get a lot and build a home. Do it now. Sit by your own fireside. We'll make you a loan covering one-half of the cost of house and lot for a term of five years at lowest rate of interest. We have several lots on which we will build to suit you. We make a specialty of loans on improved Duluth property.

NEW YORK IS NOW WORLD'S METROPOLIS

Has Population of 5,602,841; Increases By 1,000,000 Every Seven Years.

Official figures, agreed upon by the controller of the city of New York, the board of health and the state and Federal census bureaus, the population of the city of New York is now 5,602,841 and is increasing at the rate of 1,000,000 in every seven years.

These figures establish the city of New York as the world's greatest metropolis. Even back in 1911 New York forged ahead of administrative London with a lead of over 400,000 and at the beginning of 1914 she has increased this lead to 681,718.

This is regarded as highly significant in view of the fact that "Old New York," or the New York as known to the world, has increased in population since 1911 but 46 per cent. In other words, the old city, located on the Island of Manhattan and now known as the Borough of Manhattan, in the consolidated city, is practically at a standstill in population.

The tremendous increase as shown in the official population figures of the greater city is therefore due to the growth and progress of the four other boroughs outside of Manhattan. Of these the Bourough of Queens has increased in five years 39.53 per cent, the Borough of the Bronx 37 per cent, the Borough of Brooklyn 10.8 per cent and Richmond 14 per cent.

THIEF RIVER FALLS WILL HAVE CANTATA

Lincoln High School Students to Give "The Bo'sn's Bride."

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—An opportunity to hear the well-trained solo voices and ensembles of the students in the Lincoln high school will be given on March 29, when the combined boys and girls' glee clubs will give a cantata, "The Bo'sn's Bride" or "All Aboard the Barnacle," at the auditorium.

Under the direction of Miss Grindeland the voices have been training for the last month for this event.

Thief River Falls Commercial Club to Start Movement.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The subject of good roads will be taken up at the next "stand-up feed" and smoker of the Commercial club here Tuesday night, with an idea of introducing an energetic movement in the spring to bring about results.

While the country roads in Pennington county are admittedly good, there are several leading into this city that are not up to the standard demanded. A "Good Roads" day will be designated, men and teams put to work in the various localities, the Commercial club will offer prizes to stimulate the work, and all will be handled under the supervision of experienced overseers. The plan is to make it one big community movement with business and professional men organizations, and all interested taking an active part in the work.

The Commercial club members will reorganize their automobile club this spring and a number of garage men have been placed on the Good Roads committee. The date for the Good Roads day has not as yet been set, but it will be held as early as weather conditions will permit.

LECTURE ON ORE LANDS IN WISCONSIN

An address will be given at the rooms of the Commercial club of Superior next Wednesday which, it is believed, will prove to be of much interest to many Duluthians, and Secretary Herbert Cross of the Superior club this morning extended an invitation to Duluthians to attend.

It will be by W. O. Hotchkiss, Wisconsin state geologist and state highway commissioner. He will speak on "Undiscovered Iron Ore in Northern Wisconsin." Mr. Hotchkiss has been examining and probing the land and mineral values of Northern Wisconsin for a long time, and is of the opinion that a great iron belt still remains to be opened up there.

The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Central Students Diligently Pursue Mid-Semester Work; Annual Burlesque on Dido Is "Perpetrated;" Candidates for Wallace Cup Contest Are Working Hard; Miss Taylor Chosen Faculty Advisor; Seniors Working Hard on Essays.

This week closed the second school month of the final semester at Central high school. During the week the teachers were busy filling out the final grades for the month and the marks were submitted Thursday. The reports will be given out next Monday and the honor role will also be issued at that time.

There will be but two more monthly reports issued before the conclusion of school in June, one late in April and the other late in May. The year's final reports, with the gradings for both semesters, will be announced at the end of school about the middle of June.

There is but one more important vacation between now and the close of school, the annual Easter rest being the only one left. This is held unusually late this year, the dates being April 17-21, beginning on Monday and closing on Friday.

Meanwhile the students for the most part are studying hard to make up for the usual neglect which accompanies the arrival of good weather and the "spring fever." Preparations are also being made for the big activities and social affairs which follow in rapid succession after the Easter vacation.

One of the very best of the annual burlesques on the death of Dido was presented by the members of the fourth-year Virgil Latin classes yesterday morning during the chapel period at Central.

Every year when the members of the Virgil classes come to the passage where the death of Dido occurs, the play, revised and refined to suit modern taste, is presented before the student body. Prof. A. F. M. Custance, head of the Central Latin department and well known for his ability as a writer of comedy sketches, again wrote and had charge of the presentation this year.

Every year a new method is employed to bring the ill-fated Dido to her death. Everything from the swallowing of a doughnut to burning at the stake has been employed in an attempt to rid the school forever of the famous pest, Dido, but she never fails to return for more every spring. This year the details of the affair were kept secret and the presentation proved a pleasant surprise to the students yesterday.

Miss Eleanor Currie, disguised as Prof. Custance, guided the Virgil class through a "typical Monday morning recitation," following which the funeral procession entered and moaningly watched their beloved queen come to her untimely end amid the roars of laughter and applause from the audience. The cast of principal characters was as follows: Dido, Katharine Birch; Anna, Allace Cowen; Barce, Dora Mitchell; teacher, Eleanor Currie; chief musician, Ruth Coe; chief mourner, Sue Alexander; Aeneas, Willard Thorp; Achates, Wilfrid Jaques; soldier, Wallace Hankins; Prologue, Jacob Garon; (Fe) mail carriers, Donald Alexander, Nell Upham, Irving Auld, Milton Anderson; chorus of maids of honor, courtiers, etc.

The dates for the finals in oratory and declamation to choose the representatives for Duluth Central in the seventh annual Wallace cup contest have been decided upon, and the several candidates in each division are working hard in an attempt to land the coveted positions.

The finals to choose one representative in the division of declamation, will be held during the chapel period, Wednesday, April 5, and the oratorical finals will take place in chapel on Friday, April 7. This is the decision reached by Lee C. Rasey, who is coaching the prospective defenders of Central's honors, and he will be busy during the next two weeks putting on the "finishing touches" to the eight candidates.

All of the candidates are very evenly matched and it is expected that it will prove a difficult task to select the best ones in each division. In the preliminary tryouts, held several weeks ago, John Ahlen and Elsa Zachow led their respective divisions, although they were very closely pressed by the other candidates. The other persons have been practicing their selections faithfully since then and the selection of a winner should be a difficult matter.

All of the high schools of the Head of the Lakes are working hard for the seventh annual Wallace cup contest, to be held on May 12 this year. The affair is attracting unusual attention this year as the race for its possession is now a tie. Duluth and Superior Centrals are the only schools to have won any of the contests thus far, each of them having annexed three victories. Both of these schools have strong contenders this year. Superior Central is confident of repeating her victory of last year, although the local Centralites are just as sure that they will not. It is expected that the other high schools of the Twin Ports will make a much better showing this year than they have at any previous contest and it is considered that any of them have an excellent chance of winning. The school that wins the cup the greatest number of times in ten years takes permanent possession of it. The cup was donated in 1910 by Dr. Wallace of this city to stimulate that kind of work in the schools.

The new inter-society council, composed of representatives of all of the clubs, societies and organizations in Central, held its first meeting during the last week. The first meeting was held Tuesday afternoon, but due to the lack of attendance the affair was postponed to yesterday. A good representation was present yesterday, although not all of the organizations in school have chosen their members.

At the first meeting Tuesday, Victor Eva, president of the Agricultural club, was chosen president of the new body, and Raymond Brenton, president of the Thalian Mathematical society, was chosen secretary. No other important business was taken up at that meeting.

At the meeting yesterday Frederica Tuteur and Galen Pearsons were appointed a committee to take charge of drawing up a schedule of meetings for the several school organizations. This committee will prepare a schedule of meetings for all of the clubs and societies so that as few of them as possible will conflict. This will materially boost the attendances at all of the meetings of all of the organizations.

Miss Taylor was elected as faculty advisor and will aid the new council in many ways. Their meetings will be held once a month, the general purpose of the council being to boost all of the school activities among the various organizations, to take charge of all arrangements for club activities, to take charge of all inter-society affairs and to prevent duplication of work in the various organizations. All of the school clubs and societies have not elected their representatives as yet, but when they are all chosen the membership of the new body will be fully forty persons. The president of each school class, or club, together with one other person, comprises the representation to the council from that organization.

The Central Girls' basket ball quint has added two more big victories to its credit during the last week. Last Saturday night the high school girls defeated the strong Two Harbors girls' city team on the local floor by the score of 16 to 2. This was in the nature of a return game, the Central girls having defeated the rangers in their own gymnasium a week ago by the score of 16 to 1.

Thursday night of this week the Duluth Normal girls' team was defeated by the Central aggregation. The redoubtable Red and White combination caged the basket so many times that the score keeper lost track and gave up the task as hopeless.

The Central girls' team has won all claims to the championship of the northern part of the state, and believes that it would be able to cope with any girls' team in the Northwest. Central students would like to see the Duluth girls' five up against one of the best high school teams from the Twin Cities so that the real strength of the locals could be tested. They have won every game which they have played in the last two years and have never been pushed to their limit.

Much of the success of the local team is due to their coach, Miss Armstrong of the high school faculty. The team is composed of Kugler and White side, forwards; Lutes, center; Morey, Henley and Morterud, guards.

Members of the Delphian literary society, an organization composed of junior girls, have been especially active during the last week. At their regular meeting held last Tuesday they began their study of Shakespeare, which will occupy considerable of their attention during the remainder of the spring. They have chosen to study Shakespeare because of the fact that this spring marks the three-hundredth anniversary of the birth of the greatest of all poets.

An especially pleasing dramatization of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," was given at the meeting Tuesday and it made a big hit with the members present. Those who took part in the playlet were Evelyn Ahlen, Dorothy Bates, Francis Stevenson, Sarah Weinberg, Marion Dunning, Jessie Weinstein and Frederica Tuteur.

The members of the society chose Frederica Tuteur, president of the club, and Evelyn Ahlen to represent them on the school inter-society council. The club members held a big sleighride to the pumping station last Saturday night. Several big events are being planned for the future.

Members of the senior class have been grinding all of the last week in making preparations for and completing their annual senior essays, the feature piece of single work of the fourth year English classes.

The essays were due yesterday, and as many of the fourth year pupils left their work until late, they were required to hustle during the last few days. The essays were all the way from 1,500 to 4,000 words in length, and they covered a great variety of subjects. Most of the senior students had been working on them for several weeks.

As is the usual custom, five of the best essays will be chosen to be presented in oratorical form at the commencement night exercises in June. The essays chosen will be gone over completely and rewritten in the best form. The themes have been collected unusually early this year so that more time could be given to the training of those who were to present their attempts at the commencement exercises.

Members of the junior class held their regular meeting following the clase of school Monday. Gladys Anderson and George Lawson were chosen to head the class committee that will have charge of the arrangements for the big annual Junior-Senior ball, to be held at the Masonic temple on the night of Thursday, June 15. This is one of the most important of the Central social events and is annually attended by a large crowd. It is tendered to the members of the graduating class by the juniors as an appreciation of the friendship shown by the older students during the four years of high school life. It is hoped that this year's affair will be one of the finest that has ever been held at Central.

Members of the Schiller-Bund, the school German society, are planning an interesting meeting for Thursday of next week. The feature of the meeting will be an address by Rev. G. R. Gebauer on "Goethe." The meeting will be held in the assembly hall immediately following the close of school, and as the German students have become greatly interested in the works of the great Teuton writer, there is expected to be a large attendance.

MINISTER'S WIFE IS GIVEN DIVORCE

Sensational St. Hilaire Divorce Case Has Been Disposed of.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Anna Sophia Gryting was granted a divorce from Rev. Thomas L. Gryting of St. Hilaire by Judge Grindeland in special court session at Warren. The complaint bristled with sensational and unmentionable charges brought against the clergyman, who is the scion of a prominent Minnesota family residing near Bellview. Cruel and inhuman treatment and terrible abuses feature the tale as related by Mrs. Gryting. Mrs. Gryting is given permission to resume her maiden name, is given $75 for suit money, the custody of her unborn child, the expense of the suit and $15 per month alimony. Other allowances may be made her later.

BEAT US IN DEMOCRACY.

Carrie Chapman Catt Declares Some Kings Lead Uncle Sam.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—"There are kings who have outdone us in the business of democracy," declared Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, before a conference of the Wisconsin association last night. Mrs. Catt based her statement on the progress of woman suffrage in certain foreign governments as compared with the "illogical, tyrannical, ignorant and fearful" opponents of the movement in America.

Motors Haul Loads.

Butte, Mont., March 25.—Traveling Engineer G. T. Spaulding of the Milwaukee road is authority for the statement that in a period of twenty-four hours last week, 46,000 tons of freight were hauled over the Rocky Mountain division of the road by the large electric motors.

Bismarck Building Boom.

Bismarck, N. D., March 25.—Unless steel continues to advance, 1916 will easily be the biggest building year in Bismarck's history. An expenditure of $750,000 is contemplated in projects already announced.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

ON THE IRON RANGES

ARE INDICTED FOR BLIND PIGGING

Several True Bills Found By Itasca Grand Jury Announced.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 5 o'clock Friday afternoon indictments by the grand jury were made public when the arraignments of Ed Grefe, William Dibbert, Bert Clair, Jess Anthony, Chester McLaughlin and Ernest Camburn were made in district court before Judge Wright. All are charged with blind pigging. Against Ed Grefe and William Dibbert there are two indictments each, charging the selling of liquor without a license and keeping an unlicensed drinking place, respectively; against Clair, two indictments charging selling liquor without a license; against McLaughlin and Anthony, two indictments each charging selling without a license and keeping unlicensed drinking place, and against Camburn there are two charges, both for selling liquor without a license.

All were given until 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon to enter their pleas. All are out on bonds.

Mike Michelich, arraigned yesterday on a charge of selling liquor without a license, was also given until this afternoon to enter his plea. He is in jail. The only other indictment made public was against Jesse Bell of Warba, who passed some checks which he did not have funds to meet.

Case Is Given Jury.

The case of Arne Peterson vs. Fred Ingersoll, which was tried yesterday, went to the jury about 5 o'clock, just prior to the arraignment of the men who were indicted on liquor selling charges. The case was for damages sustained as a result of a fight over the scaling of some logs by Ingersoll for Peterson, in which Peterson claims that Ingersoll bit Peterson's finger so badly that blood poisoning set in and he was obliged to lose time and secure medical attention.

MUST RENEW LEASES FOR DWELLING SITES

Squatters on State Land at Mountain Iron Are Given Notices.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notices were served on all occupants of Wacoutah lands by officials of the Pitt Iron Mining company during the week to move all buildings within thirty days. In reality these notices were merely a recitation of leases formerly given by the mining company and simply mean that new leases will have to be arranged for from the state. The state now has a "squatter" department in connection with the mining bureau which looks after the leasing and rentals of garden tracts and residences on state lands.

A basket ball game was played last night between the grade teams of Virginia and Mountain Iron in the gymnasium here.

Thomas Hanlon contemplates moving from the house he now occupies at the Wacoutah mine to the house owned by Arthur Caddy at the Iroquois location.

R. J. Moore of the Wacoutah mine has returned from a visit with friends and relatives in Indiana.

J. F. Munch, superintendent of schools, attended the convention of school boards and superintendents at Chisholm during the week.

Ladies' Aid Elects.

The bi-monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. E. Burley. Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Frazer; vice president, Mrs. Parsons; secretary, Mrs. Cannon; treasurer, Mrs. Beck.

Miss Stella Stebbins attended the meeting of range librarians at Eveleth on Wednesday.

A masquerade ball will be given in the village hall on April 28. Prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. Frazer entertained this afternoon for her mother, Mrs. Zachariason of Brainerd.

Mrs. Tillbertson of Brainerd is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Coad's daughter of Minneapolis has arrived to visit relatives here.

FREIGHT TRAIN DERAILED.

Canadian Northern Has Mishap at Nikkola Spur Near Cook.

Cook, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.) — Canadian Northern Freight No. 32 derailed about two car lengths this side of Nikkola spur, mile post 101¼, Friday morning, owing to a defective truck on a car. Very little damage was done. No. 2, the morning passenger, was delayed about four hours. No one was hurt.

Trainmaster Gamble was in Cook, Friday, with the wrecking crew picking up the wreck and had traffic moving in short order.

Gust Johnson was a Virginia visitor Friday.

G. B. Small left for Cusson, Sunday, to take the third trick operator's job on account of a shortage of operators, George Rowbottom taking his place during his absence. He returned and resumed his duties here again Thursday night.

H. W. Rick was a Virginia business visitor Wednesday.

DEER RIVER NOTES.

District Superintendent Burns to Preach There on Sunday.

Deer River, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. M. P. Burns, D. D., superintendent of the Duluth district, will deliver the sermon at both the morning and evening service at the Methodist church Sunday. The sacrament will be administered at the morning service. There will be special selections by the choir.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maher of Deer Lake died here Thursday. The body was buried in Ridge cemetery.

A fire alarm brought the department out Wednesday forenoon to the residence of Roland Bahr in the south part of town. By the use of garden hose and buckets neighbors held the flames down until the fire apparatus arrived. The fire started from a chimney and not much damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Krantz left this week for Detroit, Mich., to make their home, Mr. Krantz having accepted a position in a garage in the city of factories.

Stafford King, son of C. M. King, who, six weeks ago, was taken from the state university to a hospital in Minneapolis, confined with an attack of smallpox, has recovered and the first of the week came home for a time to recuperate.

Mrs. W. A. Everton and Miss Alice Randall returned Sunday morning from Duluth, where they had been visiting for a few days.

The address which was to have been given on Friday evening to the members of the Civic league by Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet, president of the Eighth district of Women's Federated clubs, was postponed owing to the serious illness of her mother.

The M. E. aid will be entertained in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments will also be served.

Bernie Brooks was a visitor to Duluth the first of the week.

There will be a school vacation all of next week, called the spring vacation.

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. A pain in the kidney region may put you on your back tomorrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet, it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creak in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. The best way is to keep in good condition day in and day out by regularly taking GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL Capsules. Sold by reliable druggists. Money refunded if they do not help you. Beware of substitutes. The only pure imported Haarlem Oil Capsules are the GOLD MEDAL.—Advertisement

GET INTO FIELD FOR ITASCA JOBS

Candidates in Neighboring County Announcing Themselves.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Politics are beginning to be generally talked about over this way.

There are two county commissioners to be elected in Itasca this year, one from District No. 2, now served by Morris O'Brien, comprising the villages of Cohasset and Bigfork, and a strip of country, two towns wide, running from the north end of the county to the south end, and one in District No. 4, now represented by James Passard, and which includes the village of Grand Rapids, and twelve townships in the southeast part of the county.

In each of these districts it is anticipated that there will be several candidates. In District No. 2, two have filed already, and Mr. O'Brien has stated that he will be a candidate. Several others have signified their intention of running. The two who have filed are: Levi Cochran of Effie, and C. M. Somers, a farmer living two miles west of Cohasset. Mr. Cochran has lived in the Bigfork country for many years, and got the indorsement of a mass meeting held in Bigfork some time ago. Among the others who will probably run are: R. K. Stokes, for many years a merchant at Cohasset; Ed Jeffers, a pioneer of Cohasset, and Ole Pederson, a blacksmith of Bigfork. The latter is a pioneer of the Bigfork country, having taken a homestead there fourteen years ago, and lived there since.

May Be Candidate.

In District No. 4 Mr. Passard has not yet given out his intentions in regard to trying for re-election, but the general opinion is that he will be a candidate. He will be opposed by several in the primaries. Charles Brock, for thirty years a resident of Grand Rapids, has already filed. Emil Litchke, a harness maker, will file. Frank Gran, a citizen of the Trout Lake country, and one of the best and most successful farmers in Itasca county, while here Wednesday, announced that he would file in due time.

Another contest which will attract more or less attention is the contest for the legislature. A. M. Peterson of Coleraine, at present representative from this district was the first to file in the county, and his filing was quickly followed by that of L. A. Rossman, publisher of the Grand Rapids Herald Review.

Clerk of Court Rassmussen will this year have to stand for re-election. The clerk of court's office is a four-year term, and the election falls this year. No opposition has developed.

Judge of Probate Webster also will have to run this year. By constitutional provision, the judge of probate's term of office is fixed at two years, so they have to run every biennial election until a constitutional amendment is passed providing for a four-year term.

PETTY THIEVING IN MINES MUST BE STOPPED.

Biwabik, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to impress upon foreigners working in the local mines that petty thieving must cease, the companies have had officers on the lookout and at the Belgrade mine Deputy Sheriff Dilion arrested John Bobich for stealing coal. Bobich was brought before Judge Greene and after pleading guilty to the charge received a fine of $5 and costs, amounting to some over $14.

FALL LAKE PARTY.

Farewell for Mrs. Fritz at Pretty Social Function.

Winton, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the prettiest appointed functions of the season was a farewell and birthday surprise tendered Mrs. Robert J. Fritz at her home in Fall Lake Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Fritz, who has been a resident of this place for ten years, will leave soon to make her home at International Falls. As a token of esteem by which she is held by her many friends she was presented with a handsome silver casserole, the presentation speech being made by Mrs. Frederick Stapleton. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion, the living room in green and white and the dining room pink and green. The table was decorated with cut flowers, a huge birthday cake forming the center piece. The afternoon's entertainment consisted of several vocal and piano solos by Mrs. J. S. Nebelacher, an interesting talk by Mrs. J. P. Morgan and a guessing contest in which Mrs. A. Anderson was awarded the honors. Covers were laid for: Mesdames Robert J. Fritz, William Franklin Shoop, J. Pierpont Morgan, Frederick Alexander Stapleton, Robert John Anderson, John Edward Christie, John Herbert Jeffery, Jr., Edward Julius Westlund, Joseph D. Nebelacher, Axel Jerome Anderson, Joseph Charles Albert Russell, Charles William Jackson, David Calvin McTaggart, Misses Arvella and Vivian Fritz; Adele Russell, Ida Jackson.

CATALOGUES REACH HIBBING BY TONS

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three tons of catalogues were shipped into the village yesterday by a Chicago mail order house, to be distributed here and adjacent to Hibbing.

The mail order house books took up the room of seventy-two-mail sacks and no end of trouble for the mailmen, each book weighing considerable in itself.

HIBBING IS AFTER NEW POSTOFFICE

Campaign for Better Building Is Given Good Send Off.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the village hall by members of the Commercial club committee appointed by President Stratton, it was decided to prepare statistics and figures which will show how much Hibbing is entitled to a new postoffice.

A petition will be drafted and circulated among the citizens and business men and which will be forwarded to Congressman Miller, urging him to use his influence in having congress provide for an appropriation for a new postoffice in the largest village on the range.

Several Sites Discussed.

Several sites were discussed by the committee, and the following citizens will prepare a list of figures and data showing why Hibbing should have a postoffice and which will compare conditions with other cities the size of Hibbing: J. B. Connors, C. M. Atkinson, T. E. Godfrey, A. P. Silliman and P. J. Ryan.

The petition will be prepared by the following citizens, who will circulate it and will be assisted by the Junior Commercial club: W. R. Spensley, B. J. Burrows, Robert Stratton, D. D. McEachin and W. J. Ryder.

NINE ARE ARRAIGNED BEFORE JUDGE CAREY

Virginia Municipal Judge Disposes of Three Cases, Letting Six Go.

Virginia, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nine people faced Judge Carey in municipal court this morning. Emil Audala was sentenced to sixty days at the county work farm. Audala was accused of stealing $10 from the pocket of a companion in a local saloon. He pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

Oscar Johnson, arrested asleep in an alley, had $81.15 in his pocket.

Claus Mattson was before the court on a charge of overindulgence, the fourth time in ten days. He pleaded for clemency on the grounds Virginia was his home town, and promised to leave the city. The other six were dismissed.

THREE ARE SEEKING MAYORALTY IN ELY

Ely, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following had filed for the various city offices up to 6 o'clock last night: Mayor—Frank Kent, Mike Wienzerl, I. C. Cox. Assessor—John A. Johnson, Albert C. Coombe, Fred B. James. Treasurer—Herbert S. King, Frank Church, Jack Seraphine. Aldermen—First ward, George L. Brazleh, James H. Municipal judge — John Schaefer, Thomas Jury, Alex Mattson, Daniel Philders, John Prout, Sr. No one has filed for special judge.

FORMER BIWABIK MAN FACES DEATH

Biwabik, Minn., March 25.—Edward Millner, formerly of Biwabik, is reported under arrest somewhere on the border of Mexico awaiting execution. An appeal from Millner to his mothers and sisters, who moved from here to Florida some years ago, was carried out by a Mexican, who will also bring the answer to Millner. The name of the place where Millner is in prison is kept secret to save him from immediate danger. An effort will be made to secure his release.

STUNTZ TOWNSHIP PLANS MUCH WORK

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supervisors of the town of Stuntz are preparing for much work this year.

In April the township will have constructed five concrete bridges, bids, which will be called for April 5.

In May the Kleffman road will be extended and this will mean work for a force of men adding to the road crew.

In June other work will be started and in every month of the summer the supervisors have planned for some improvement.

SMALL CAMP BREAKS UP.

One of Trout Lake Company's Logging Outfits Quits.

Tower, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The smaller of the Trout Lake Lumber company's camps was discontinued this week, most of the crew having come out, others being transferred to the Johnson camp which will continue while weather conditions permit. About 200 men will remain until the spring breakup. Three carloads of horses which had been in use for the winter's work were shipped early in the week.

Dan Murphy, who has been employed by the Trout Lake Lumber company as filer at Camp No. 1, left Tuesday for his home at Medford, Wis., where he will remain until the mill opens for the season, at which time he will return with his family, having accepted a position with the company.

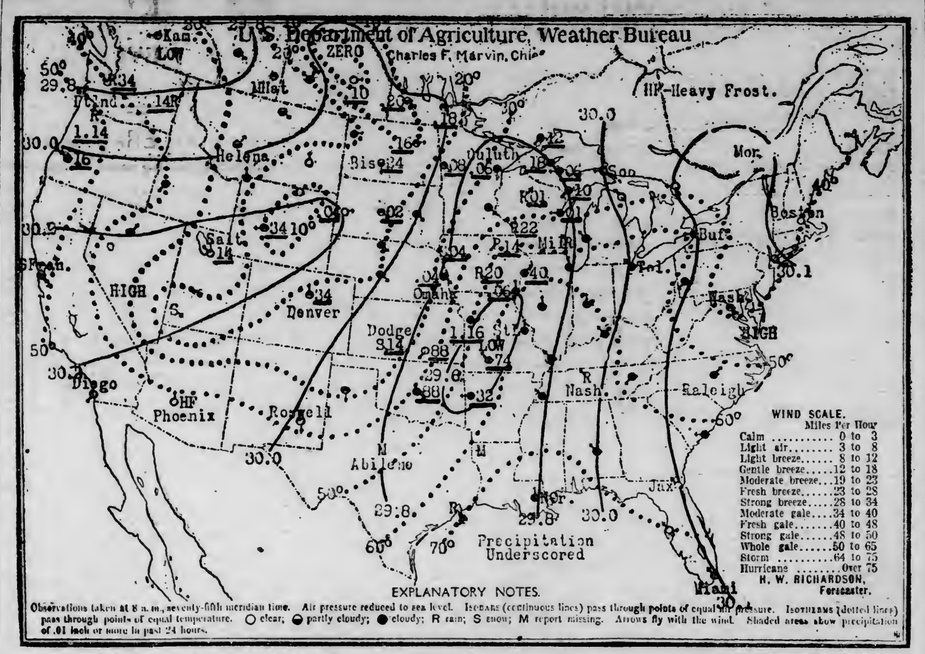
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature. ○ clear, ◒ partly cloudy, ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 24 hours.

And now it's changed to rain, and the weather man says that this may continue all day, which will have some damaging effect on the snow and ice. But the trouble is a cold wave is predicted to cap it, and the condition under foot following the rain can better be imagined than described.

A year ago today was cold. The sun rose this morning at 5:59 and will set this evening at 6:29, giving 12 hours and 30 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder weather prevails from Manitoba and Saskatchewan southward to Oklahoma and Northwestern Texas. The lowest reported temperature was 8 deg. below at Battleford, Sask., while over Western Kansas the temperature has fallen to about 20 deg. Conditions favor a cold wave at the Head of the Lakes tonight. Mild weather is the rule from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. The disturbance centered over Missouri has resulted in light to heavy rain or snow in the Western Lake region, Upper Mississippi, Missouri and Red River valleys, the southwest and Rocky Mountains. Rain also fell over Washington and Oregon. Heavy rainfalls at Kansas City, Mo., and Portland, Or."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 25.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy and colder tonight; cold wave in east portion; Sunday fair; warmer in west portion.

Wisconsin—Rain or snow and colder tonight; cold wave except in extreme east portion; Sunday generally fair; colder in east portion.

Iowa—Partly cloudy in west and central, rain or snow in extreme east portion tonight; much colder; cold wave in east and central portions; Sunday fair; rising temperature in west portion; colder in extreme east portion.

North Dakota—Fair tonight; warmer in southwest portion; Sunday unsettled and warmer.

South Dakota—Generally fair and Sunday; colder in east, warmer in west and central portions tonight; warmer Sunday.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably rain or snow west of the divide; warmer tonight in south portion; colder Sunday in southwest portion.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy and somewhat colder tonight and Sunday, probably local snows.

Lower Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably local snows in north, rain or snow in south portion; colder tonight in west portion; cold Sunday.

Stops Tobacco Habit in One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium, located at 663 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco, has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

BEGIN ON SALTS AT FIRST SIGN OF KIDNEY PAIN

We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Says Glass of Salts Flushes Kidneys and Ends Bladder Irritation.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement

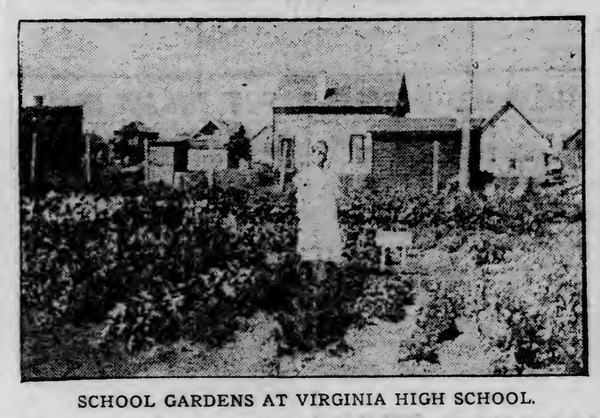
GARDEN PLAN ON PAPER WILL INCREASE HOMECROFTER'S PROFITS

FLOWER GARDEN OF R. A. GIFFIN AT HIBBING.



SCHOOL GARDENS AT VIRGINIA HIGH SCHOOL.

"Plan your back garden on paper in advance."

This is the advice of the vegetable garden experts of the United States department of agriculture, who declare that a little indoor gardening of this sort will enable the homecrofter to have fresh vegetables throughout the season and will make the ground, with a little extra labor and expense, yield two or three crops instead of one, as commonly raised in small gardens.

Several Crops Yearly.

"Where two or three crops are grown instead of one," says the Weekly News Letter of the department of agriculture, "a comparatively small garden will supply the average family with fresh vegetables all season. Moreover, such planning in advance will enable you to get the ground ready in time for planting and to secure your seeds and plant them at the dates which give each variety its best growing conditions. For example, if you will thus plan the plot to be devoted to peas, by the time your first crop is harvested the second crop will be in bearing and the plants of the third well advanced.

"All the tools that are necessary for indoor gardening, which can be made an interesting recreation for the whole household, are a large sheet of wrapping paper, a ruler and a pencil.

"Next, study your garden bulletins or books on horticulture and the seed catalogues to determine what can be grown in your climate under the conditions of exposure, soil and drainage in your back yard. This study may lead you to plan ditches to improve drainage, show you that your soil needs finely sifted ashes to break up its sticky character, or that you must add rotted manure, dried blood, bone meal, wood ashes, lime, or other fertilizers to make it suitable for vegetables.

Variety of Vegetables.

"Then comes the consultation with the family to determine the sorts of vegetables the different members like, and which, therefore, they personally will be interested in raising. Confine your selections to the standard well-tried sorts. Finally, and this is most important, is the conference between the garden force and the housewife as to what vegetables really are worth raising in the back yard. It will hardly pay to raise in a small space potatoes, corn, cucumbers, squashes or melons, which occupy a large area in proportion to yield, and which can be bought cheaply in near-by markets.

"In general, the aim of the back-yard gardener should be to raise those vegetables which are either expensive or in which the flavor or quality depends importantly on absolute freshness.

Location of Plants.

"Plants which make a high growth and cause heavy shade naturally should not be located where they will interfere with sun-loving small plants. Perennials, such as rhubarb and asparagus, which are not cultivated, should not be grown among plants which call for tilling."

FARM PROGRAM IS NOW READY

Boys' and Girls' Week Activities Will Begin on April 3.

All preparations have been made for the sixth annual Boys' and Girls' week at the university farm in St. Paul, April 3 to 7, according to announcement made by T. A. Erickson, state leader of the boys' and girls' clubs of the state.

Monday, April 3, will be occupied with registration and a short general assembly at 4 p. m. On other days the mornings will be devoted to class study and practice; the afternoons to excursions and the evenings to entertainments in the assembly room. During the forenoon boys may have choice of the following subjects: First period, livestock or bees; second period, corn or livestock or garden; third period, corn or livestock; fourth period, livestock or poultry or garden. The program arranged for the girls provides for a choice of one subject in each of three groups: (1) Dairy and beef breeds or bee keeping; (2) foods and cookery or garment making; (3) gardening or poultry. Each girl will make her choice and register for three subjects—one from each group. Some materials are needed for garment making, and canned fruit or jelly may be taken home. Each girl is expected to bring a small amount of money for such purposes.

The afternoons will be devoted to excursions to points of interest in and near the Twin Cities, such as the state capitol, the new state prison at Stillwater, the Russell-Miller Milling company mills, Walker art gallery, Minneapolis public library, Minnehaha Falls, Soldiers' home, South St. Paul stock yards.

The boys and girls will room and board on the Agricultural college grounds. The expenses for the week will be $2 for board and room and about $1 for street car fare on the excursions and for other incidentals. The additional cost for each will be railway fare from his home town to St. Paul and return. Students will be met at the depot by competent guides if desired.

"The Boys' and Girls' week has been very popular," said Mr. Erickson, "and, we believe, very profitable, for all who attended. The attendance last year was 403. County superintendents report that the pupils in their counties who are taking the deepest interest in better farming, corn-growing contests and industrial work are those who have attended one of these Boys' and Girls' weeks. They go home from the week with a new vision of better things and an inspiration to attempt some of these things. County superintendents can do no greater work for the boys and girls than to take a large number of them to this Boys' and Girls' week.

"Superintendents of agricultural high schools are urged to call the attention of their short course students to this event. It would be an inspiring close to their winter's work to spend a week at university farm, Crookston or Morris.

"In case schools have opened for the spring term it is suggested that superintendents and teachers excuse pupils for the week and give them credit for their time while attending the Boys' and Girls' week, the same as for attending their home school. County superintendents and others are urged to offer expenses to the short course as a prize in spelling contests, debates or other contests, and as premiums in county fairs and industrial contests. Attendance at this week will do the boy or the girl much more good than will the cash premium."

HALF MILLION FOR GOOD ROADS

Winona County Takes Advanced Step for Improvement.

So great is the desire for good roads in Winona county that $500,000 in bonds is to be issued there, and the proceeds devoted to highway improvement during the coming summer. This is the only Minnesota county to finance its road-building in this manner this year, so far as the state highway commission has been informed.

Several other counties, however, have adopted ambitious road-building programs. Among these are St. Louis, where $615,000, raised by county levies and the state apportionment, is to be spent, and Redwood county, where a record amount of graveling is to be done.

Ramsey county will spend $120,000 on roads this year, and Hennepin county, $200,000.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

COEUR D'ALENE MINES PAY $2,287,885.00 FOR FIRST QUARTER 1916.

MINING KINGS.

The mining kings and mining millionaires of today—and there are many of them—were content to begin at the bottom when first engaged in mining affairs. They did not buy mining stocks when they had evidently touched high-water mark, but they loaded up with securities based on prospects of evident value and almost undoubted outcome. The investment feature in mining stocks is the buying of shares at a nominal figure and then waiting until the company reaches the dividend-paying stage. Here the investment is doubly valuable, as the income from dividend payments is generally both regular and heavy, often meaning more than 100 per cent on the money invested, while the enhancement of stock quotations often runs the value of the investment up in the hundreds or even thousands per cent. Indeed, we know of numerous instances where a few hundred dollars invested in the treasury stock of a new company has made independent fortunes for the investors.

We have just such an opportunity for you. Write—

ARE YOU KEEPING PACE WITH DULUTH

There are people still living who saw Duluth when it was merely a frontier settlement in the wilderness.

Look about you and think of the wealth a little piece of property bought then has made for its owner. There are just as many opportunities in the Real Estate Market NOW as existed in any previous year. A piece of property purchased NOW will have the same comparative increase in value while Duluth is growing to be a city of 500,000 inhabitants.

Duluth today offers greater opportunities than you will find anywhere in the whole world.

Buy and build in Duluth.

Keep pace with Duluth's growth.

Form the habit now of consulting the classified real estate columns of The Herald and thus keep in touch with the live opportunities offered in real estate and building service.

Then you will be keeping pace with Duluth.

U. S. CAVALRY SEALING UP TRAILS AND PASSES

INTENSE BOMBARDING BY GERMANS INDICATES NEW ATTACK AT HAND

Violent Cannonading Continues on East Side of the Meuse River.

British Blow Up 100 Yards of German Trenches at St. Eloi.

London, March 27.—Continuation of a violent bombardment east of the Meuse river, north of Verdun, indicates the probability that new attacks by the Germans may be expected in that direction. The front between Douaumont and Vaux is bearing the brunt of the attack. The infantry has not been employed in this region nor elsewhere along the Franco-Belgian front, so far as the official report shows.

French Statement.

Paris, March 27, 12:10 p. m.—There were no infantry actions in the Verdun region last night, this afternoon's official statement says. East of the Meuse the artillery action was violent along the Douaumont-Vaux line. To the west of the river the night was relatively calm.

The text of the statement follows:

"In the Argonne district there has been fighting with mines which resulted to our advantage at La Fille Morte. There have also been some

ENTENTE ALLIES HOLD CONFERENCE

Most Important Gathering Since Outbreak of War Begins in Paris.

Paris, March 27.—The conference of the Entente allies, the most important since the outbreak of the war, began this morning in the great salon of the ministry of foreign affairs, where many other historic meetings of diplomatists have taken place. No previous meeting there, however, has been of such grave import or has been attended by such a representation of world figures in war and diplomacy.

The subject of the first sitting is the military situation. That is all which may be said definitely, but it is probable that Gen. Joffre, Earl Kitchener, Gen. Sir Douglas Haig, Lieut.-Gen. Cadorna, Gen. Castelnau and Gen. Roques, the new French war minister, addressed the conference.

The entire company took lunch at the ministry at noon. The afternoon session will be devoted to consideration of the new economic resources of the allies.

Prominent Men Present.

The British foreign secretary, Sir Edward Grey; the secretary of war, Field Marshal Earl Kitchener and commander of the continental forces, Gen. Sir Douglas Haig; the French commander-in-chief, Gen. Joffre, and the Italian general, Cadorna, also will have seats at the council table. Russia will be represented by Foreign Minister M. Iswolsky and Gen. Gilinsky, aide de camp to the emperor; Japan by the Japanese ambassador at Paris and Serbia by Prince Alexander.

Premier Salandra and Foreign Minister Sonnino of Italy arrived here yesterday afternoon and were accorded an enthusiastic reception.

The Paris papers devote much space to the forthcoming conference, which is to co-ordinate the efforts of the Entente allies against their adversaries.

Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Grey, Minister of Munitions David Lloyd-George and Gen. Sir William R. Robertson arrived here last night.

GERMAN BOAT STILL MISSING

One in Sea Fight Following Air Raid Has Not Returned.

British Lose Airships and One Destroyer in Collision.

London, March 27.—A German torpedo boat is missing since the sea fighting which followed the British air raid on Saturday morning on German aviation sheds in Northern Schleswig-Holstein, according to an official German statement received here by wireless.

Three British aeroplanes which took part in a raid on German airship sheds in Schleswig-Holstein Saturday are missing. Two German patrol vessels were sunk and a British destroyer is believed to have been lost.

The following official statement was issued last night:

"An attack by British seaplanes was delivered Saturday morning upon German airship sheds in Schleswig-Holstein, eastward of the island of Sylt. The seaplanes were convoyed to their rendezvous close to the German coast by an escorting force of light cruisers and destroyers under Commodore Tyrwhitt.

MILITARY HONORS FOR OFFICER WHO TOOK LIFE

Seattle, Wash., March 27.—Full military honors were to be given today to the late Lieutenant Ormond Z. Pailthorp, with the removal of his body from the cruiser Saratoga for shipment to the home of his parents at Petoskey, Mich.

The verdict of the naval board that held an inquest into the death by shooting of the officer last Friday was that he committed suicide.

TALK OF BREAKING OFF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH GERMANY REVIVED

Submarine Warfare Again Taking on Aspects of Much Gravity.

Washington Admits That Situation Is Regarded as Delicate.

No Action Will Be Taken Until Full Reports Are Received.

GERMANY WILL DISAVOW.

Washington, March 27.—It was stated authoritatively here today that should it be shown that a German submarine attacked the Sussex, Germany would disavow the act, offer reparation, punish the submarine commander and satisfy the United States that the act was in violation of instructions.

It was also stated authoritatively that the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, was mainly responsible for the recent retirement of Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, who was understood to have been eliminated because of his views on submarine warfare after Count von Bernstorff had made certain recommendations to the imperial chancellor, von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Washington, March 27.—American officials view the submarine situation as taking on aspects of much gravity. The possibility of breaking off diplomatic relations with Germany is again being discussed as one of the eventualities which is expected to follow if it is shown that the steamers Sussex and Englishman were victims of submarines.

Officials say they are examining all the facts at hand with open minds, and can come to no conclusion before they have additional information; but there is an under-current of uneasiness over the possibility that German submarines have renewed their activities against passenger-carrying ships in violation of the assurances given to the United States.

Situation Delicate.

All administration officials refrained today from making definite statements as to future action, but there was no concealing that everywhere the new situation was regarded as very delicate. The impression was general that if it should be established that the ships were victims of submarines, and President Wilson decided to take action, he first would consult congress.

American consular officers and the embassies in France and England are being urged to gather evidence of a definite sort. Meanwhile the situation can only be described as a waiting one.

NO AMERICANS LOST ON BOAT

All Those on Board Sussex Have Been Accounted For.

Affidavits By Passengers Say the Steamer Was Torpedoed.

Paris, March 27.—Detailed information gathered by the American embassy here indicates that no Americans lost their lives on the Sussex.

All the Americans whose names were on the passenger list have now been accounted for, the embassy states. It is possible, however, that there may have been among the passengers some Americans whose names were not inscribed.

"There is no manner of doubt, whatever, that the channel steamship Sussex was torpedoed without warning," says an official statement, issued here based upon affidavits made by American survivors.

"John Hearley, Albany, N. Y., a press association correspondent, deposes, the statement says, that on Friday, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, while a dozen Americans were watching from the bridge, a great explosion occurred in the fore part of the vessel without warning and that three Americans at least saw the passage of the torpedo.

"Samuel S. Bemis of Harvard university deposes that the explosion occurred without the slightest warning to show that there was the least dan-

TRAINMEN'S DEMANDS TO BE MADE THURSDAY

Reply in Writing Will Be Expected By Men By April 29.

New York, March 27.—The new demands of some 360,000 engine drivers, firemen, conductors and trainmen it was learned today would be submitted to the railroads of the country next Thursday. The railroads are to be informed that a reply in writing will be expected by April 29.

The railroad employes ask for an eight-hour day and time and one-half for overtime. The demands were authorized by a vote taken recently by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers, the Order of Railroad Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The railroads already have said informally that these demands would not be granted.

DENTIST CHARGED WITH MURDER AND WIFE

MRS. CLARA L. WAITE. DR. ARTHUR W. WAITE.

FIND NEW CLEWS IN WAITE CASE

Others May Be Involved in Plot to Murder Peck and Others.

New York, March 27.—The finding of new clews, which may lead to the discovery of accomplices of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, accused of the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, Grand Rapids, Mich., millionaire, caused District Attorney Swann today to delay asking for an indictment before the grand jury tomorrow "in order to follow out certain important new leads."

The district attorney intimated that others might be involved in the alleged murder plot and that further investigation might disclose that there was to have been more than one victim. Mr. Swann admitted that he had evidence that Dr. Waite had a laboratory in which he made a study of deadly germs and that the young dentist's activities in this direction were being investigated.

Dr. Waite's condition seemed much improved today.

"Why am I here? Why don't they take me out and have it over with?" physicians quoted him as saying.

Intimations were made that the authorities are now trying to learn whether Dr. Waite was solely responsible for the poisoning of the aged druggist, or whether one or more persons had engaged with him in a plot to murder Peck and possibly others.

NO CHANGE, REPORTS TURK HEADQUARTERS

Constantinople, March 27, via London.—The following official statement was given out at military headquarters:

"Irak front: Conditions unchanged.

"Caucasian front: On March 25 an advance reconnaissance by a small body of enemy cavalry and infantry forces was repulsed with losses to them.

"Dardanelles: Our coast batteries drove off some enemy destroyers which were cruising before the Dardanelles. Three hostile aeroplanes flew over Gallipoli, but retreated toward the island of Imbros when our battle planes appeared on the scene."

FOR TARIFF COMMISSION

Bill for Permanent Non-Partisan Board Introduced in House.

Measure Provides for the Appointment of Six Members.

Washington, March 27.—A revised bill for a permanent non-partisan tariff commission on lines suggested by President Wilson, and which, it is said, has received his full approval, was introduced in the house today by Representative Rainey of Illinois, ranking Democratic member of the ways and means committee.

"The bill in its present form has the approval of the administration and will be the administration measure on this subject," Mr. Rainey said.

"It will be supported by all the Democratic members of the ways and means committee and it is hoped it will receive the support of the Republican members of that committee. The bill is as nearly non-partisan as it is possible to make it."

The bill would provide for the appointment of six commissioners at $10,000 a year each, no more than three of whom can belong to the same political party. The first appointments are to be made for two, four, six, eight, ten and twelve years, after which the

DRUG CLERK NOW CHANGES AFFIDAVIT

Declares He Did Not Sell Glass Container to William Orpet.

Chicago, March 27.—A new obstacle has developed to thwart the efforts of State's Attorney Dady to prove that William H. Orpet bought at Madison, Wis., the glass container of the poison which killed Marian Lambert, the high school girl, with the murder of whom young Orpet, a University of Wisconsin student, is charged.

This became evident here today when it was learned that a drug clerk of Madison had made affidavit that he did not sell the medicine bottle to Orpet. Attorney Dady claimed that he had an affidavit signed by the same clerk admitting that he had sold such a bottle to Orpet.

ENTRAP VILLA IN MOUNTAINS IS NOW OBJECT

When Outlets Are Barred, Infantry Will Comb Country.

Three Columns of Cavalry Hot on Trail of Fleeing Bandits.

Pershing Thinks It Will Take Months to Capture Villa.

VILLA PREPARING TO RESIST.

Field Headquarters, American Expeditionary Forces, Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, Mex., March 26, by aeroplan to Columbus, N. Mex., March 27. — Evidence that Francisco Villa is preparing to resist the American pursuing columns and that the Mexican people are not as yet rallying to him has been collected by the officers and the scouts of the American troops.

HAS NEW BASE.

Field Headquarters, American Expeditionary Forces, Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, by aeroplane to Columbus, N. Mex., March 27.—Gen. J. J. Pershing announced last night the establishment of a new base in the pursuit of Villa. The second base is much nearer the location where the bandit is reported in precipitate retreat than the other base field headquarters.

El Paso, Tex., March 27.—Flying columns of American cavalry are seeking today to entrap Pancho Villa and his band by sealing up all the trails and passes in the mountainous district south of El Valle. Once the outlets are barred, squadrons of cavalry and detachments of infantry, operating from the base near Casas Grandes will comb the country and endeavor to flush their quarry into the open.

Villa and his band are moving rapidly among the foothills of Sierra Tarahumares, hotly pursued by three columns of American cavalry. Col. George A. Dodd is directing the cavalry movement.

This information confirms reports of American travelers from the Casas Grandes district last Saturday that Villa had escaped through the lines of the Carranza troops. Mexican Consul Garcia does not believe the Carranza forces permitted the bandit to escape.

Band Scattered.

Villa scattered his command in his flight southward and at one time, it was learned today, led only a small force of fifteen or twenty men. The army censor at Columbus has permitted the information to pass that Villa increased his command at El Valle by forcing thirty-five young men and boys to accompany him.

Military men here say this indicates that Villa now believes he has successfully eluded his pursuers and is in po-

GROCER IS CONVICTED

John Freeman Is Found Guilty of Immoral Traffic.

Faces Prison Term for White Slavery—Two Other Cases Pending.

District court jurors who tried John Freeman, Garfield avenue grocer, on a charge of white slavery, weighed his word against the testimony of three women of the underworld for one hour this morning and then returned a verdict of conviction. He was found guilty of the charge of receiving the earnings of a prostitute, the punishment for which is from one to three years in the state penitentiary.

Freeman was indicted on three counts by the March grand jury. On March 4, while the grand jury was in session, the police swooped down on Freeman's place at 1002 Garfield avenue and arrested Freeman, three women and two other men. The women admitted to the authorities that they were engaged in prostitution and declared that they were dividing their earnings with Freeman, who was conducting a small grocery store and who had furnished rooms for rent above the store.

Immediately after the jury retired to consider the first case, County Attorney Greene moved for trial on another count against Freeman. By the time that six jurors for the second case had been chosen, the first jury brought in its verdict.

The charge upon which Freeman was convicted was that of having received the earnings of one Gladys Haling, a prostitute, between Feb. 27 and March 4, last. The woman was arrested in the raid with one John Varianno, to whom she was married two days later. The authorities dropped the prosecution against her and her newly acquired husband, but she was required to appear and testify against Freeman.

Second Case on Trial.

The case which is now being tried is one in which Freeman is charged with having shared in the earnings of one Mrs. Anna Pronovost, who rented rooms at Freeman's place and who testified at the first trial that she received men that Freeman sent to her and that she paid him a certain percentage of her earnings.

The third indictment which is pending against Freeman charges that he also received the earnings of one Gertrude Riley, who also admitted at the first trial that she was engaged in prostitution at Freeman's place and that she paid the defendant a portion of her earnings. She was one of the three women arrested in the raid on Freeman's place on March 4 last.

The Riley woman testified that she had been employed by Freeman for more than two years, and that he had been engaged in the same kind of business in Superior before moving to Duluth a year ago last February. He also ran a grocery and confectionery store there and had furnished rooms for rent, she said.

Freeman took the stand this morning and attempted to explain. He denied that he had received anything from the women except what had been paid him for room rent, and that he had no arrangement with them as to receiving a share of their earnings while engaged in immoral traffic. He also denied all knowledge that the women "roomers" at his place were prostitutes.

John H. Norton, former county attorney, defended Freeman, and County Attorney Greene conducted the prosecution. The same attorneys are appearing in the second case. The jury for the second trial was completed shortly before noon today.

Weather—Cloudy and warmer tonight and Tuesday.

PUBLICITY FOR DULUTH

Commercial Club Committee Gets Some Unsought Assistance.

Considerable publicity for the benefit of the city as a whole has been planned by the publicity committee of the Duluth Commercial club for the coming summer season, but several matters have come up of late which were unlooked for and which give promise of wide publicity, unsought but not unwelcome.

One is the revising of the Duluth section of the Encyclopedia Americana. Some years ago an extensive article on Duluth was written for this work by the late Col. A. M. Flagg, one of the then leading newspaper men of this part of the country. As there is to be a new and revised edition of the encyclopedia, its publishers have written, asking that the Duluth section be revised; and the matter has been turned over to the publicity committee of the club, where it will receive immediate attention.

The information booth which is maintained during each summer tourist season at the corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street by the publicity committee, has received a good deal of publicity among nationally-known journals, for instance, extensive writeups and favorable comment being given in Town Development and the Countryside Monthly. Now, the club has been notified, that the American City desires an article on the booth, its uses and results.

Another journal which is asking the club for assistance in giving Duluth wide publicity, is the Boot & Shoe Record of Boston, Mass. This journal, in a letter sent the club, says that it is planning a series of articles dealing with "the great centers of the United States," and is particularly anxious to get a good article, well illustrated, from Duluth. The publicity committee will comply forthwith, as no chances of this kind are overlooked.

The publicity committee is also sending a series of lantern slides to H. Van Rensselear Chase of the city development bureau of San Francisco. Mr. Chase requested them for he wishes to include Duluth in a list of twenty-five cities on which he will lecture on "The Development of the American City," during a tour he proposes to take through the United States this coming summer.

SOME SIGNS OF SPRING

Here are some signs of spring, carefully collected by members of The Herald staff yesterday and today:

City workmen clearing the ice and snow from gutters and sewer openings.

Three boys playing marbles.

Chalk marks on the sidewalks for hop-skotch.

A fat man in his shirt sleeves, wielding an ax and shovel, in an attempt to drain the water from his front walk.

Garden seeds in store windows.

Seed catalogues and more seed catalogues.

Three crows headed north.

An excited telephone message to The Herald office that a robin had been seen. (Probably a grosbeak, and, anyway, it is said several robins stayed here all winter.)

Bock beer.

A young man who had shed his overcoat to show his new spring suit.

A saucy sparrow with a straw in his beak, intent on "owning his own home."

Strawberry shortcake on a bill of fare.

An energetic housewife presiding over a backyard bonfire.

Sunday afternoon house hunters in flocks, and battalions.

A truant officer scouting up an alley.

Woodsmen draped over the railing near the union station.

Automobiles shedding their limousine tops.

The sudden realization that one's clothes are terribly bedraggled.

A general indisposition to work.

Window displays of "spring tonics."

The stores and new clothes.

A sleigh being drawn behind a wagon.

Christmas jewelry turning green.

Cheap grapefruit.

The reappearance of the members of the B. V. D. Marching club on their way to work.

Jitneys.

The realization that at least two new suits of "them" will be needed to last through the summer.

A man wearing a sweater under a spring overcoat, to get used to doing without his fur-lined garment.

The society department kicks in with the following:

Snappy vestees and collars to make winter suits masquerade as new ones.

Silk gloves taking their place with the chamoisette variety.

Those who have gone without rubbers all winter buying them for wading purposes; those who have old rubbers trying to make them hang on a few more weeks.

Brisk sale of ribbons and flowers to make last year's straws do service until the prices come down.

NEWSIES BATTLE FOR CASH PRIZES

Herald Circulation Manager Stages Entertainment While Awaiting "Extra."

While the "newsies" were waiting for The Herald fight extra on Saturday night, they had an entertainment in the circulation rooms of The Herald building, furnished by George Hunter, circulation manager. It almost took the force that was getting out the extra away from work.

Following peanut scrambles and other things of the kind, four four-round bouts with well padded gloves were staged, and proved a bigger hit with the boys and adult onlookers than the returns from the Willard-Moran battle for which they were waiting. R. C. Berini was matchmaker, timekeeper and referee and handled his trinity of official positions with grace, firmness and aplomb. Four cash prizes were given.

The rounds, pulled off in regulation style, were two minutes each in duration and some lively encounters resulted, for the newsies have many "handy guys wid their dukes." The best bout of the evening was that between Ben Levinson and Abe Fagel, which was won by the latter. Harry Ostrov and Mike Litman battled a whirlwind draw; Smiley Popkin outpointed Kid Morris and Helmie Gallop won in a gallop over Sam Litman.

LAKE CARRIERS' NIGHT CLASSES TO GRADUATE

This evening at 8 o'clock the night school classes of the Lake Carriers' association will be "graduated" at the rooms of the association, foot of Fifth avenue west. The school has been conducted with an added curriculum since Jan. 3 and has been more largely attended than in any of the three previous winters it has been in operation. Miss Anna Meinhardt, principal of the Madison school, who has been in charge of the work at the association rooms, has had a most successful winter.

This evening at 8 o'clock Robert McFarlane, commissioner of lake carriers at this point, will be host at a supper to the members of the classes, the teachers and invited friends as a closing event of the winter's work.

ELEVEN KILLED ON MINNEAPOLIS

Steamer Formerly in Atlantic Service Torpedoed in Mediterranean Sea.

London, March 27.—It is announced that eleven persons were killed when the British steamship Minneapolis, formerly in the New York-London service, was sunk last week in the Mediterranean.

Sunk in Mediterranean.

Marseilles, March 27.—The British liner Minneapolis was sunk in the Mediterranean last Wednesday by a submarine, according to Capt. Bibby of the British steamer Leicestershire, which has arrived here from Rangoon.

Capt. Bibby reports that while in the Mediterranean last Wednesday he received a wireless call for help from the Minneapolis, which said that the steamer had just been torpedoed and was sinking.

The Leicestershire went at full speed to the assistance of the Minneapolis, but arrived too late, the vessel having sunk. The fate of the crew was not known to Capt. Bibby.

The Minneapolis was a steamer of 13,543 tons gross. She was built in 1900 at Belfast and was owned by the Atlantic Transport company. Late shipping records do not give the movements of the vessel, which probably was in the British government service. Prior to the war, the Minneapolis plied between American ports and London.

St. Cecelia Sunk.

London, March 27.—The British steamer St. Cecelia, from Portland, Me., March 11, for London, has been sunk, according to a dispatch to Lloyds from Dover. The crew was saved.

COMPLICATIONS IN SENATE AVOIDED

Republicans Accept Assurances That Border Is Well Protected.

Washington, March 27.—Threatened complications in the Mexican situation disappeared today when the senate Republicans decided to accept the administration's assurances that sufficient troops were on the border for protection of American interests and determined not to carry the agitation for more troops further at this time.

Maj. Gen. Funston's dispatches revealed no new developments in the pursuit of Villa and reports from naval vessels on both coasts of Mexico disclosed nothing disquieting.

Elesio Arredondo, Gen. Carranza's ambassador, presented to Secretary Lansing some proposals, to broaden the protocol covering the joint pursuit of Villa bandits. The proposals will be studied by Secretary Lansing before he again confers with the ambassador.

The only effect of the new proposals, Mexican officials here believe, will be to delay the formal ratification.

ANNUAL LADIES' NIGHT.

Men's League of First M. E. Church Will Entertain on Wednesday Night.

The annual "ladies' night" of the Men's League of the First Methodist church will take place at the church parlors next Wednesday night, and a special program is being prepared for the occasion. It is expected that this will be the most largely attended banquet and meeting of the year, for already close to 300 tickets have been accepted.

Speakers arranged for are: Prof. W. H. Wood of Hamline university, who will talk on "The Twentieth Century Knight," and H. C. Fulton of Duluth, whose subject will be "The Genius of Methodism."

RUGBY, N. D., BURGLARY.

Postoffice and Jewelry Store Rifled of About $650.

Rugby, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Burglars who forced their way through a back door, stole about $600 in jewelry from J. G. Johnson's store here. The postoffice also was entered and about $60 in stamps and money taken. The burglars entered the latter place through a back window. In the jewelry store no cash was taken, but the showcases were almost completely cleaned. The police have no clue.

Devils Lake Club Absorbed.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Queen City Gun club passed from existence yesterday when that well known organization of sportsmen was absorbed by the Devils Lake Yacht and Boat club.

TAPS SOUND FOR VETERAN

Warren Lucore, Formerly of Duluth, Dies at Soldiers' Home.

Fourth Member of Culver Post to Pass Away Since Dec. 10.

One more gap in the thinning line of Civil war veterans was reported yesterday morning from the Old Soldiers' home near Fort Snelling, Minn., when Warren Lucore, for years a Duluthian, responded to the call "taps."

Mr. Lucore left Duluth about six months ago, although previous to that time he had made his home here. He was 80 years old, and his death was due to the infirmities of old age. He leaves a son, George Lucore, 118 East Fourth street, who is the proprietor of the Rex hotel.

He was a member of the Joshua B.

Mr. Lucore was born Sept. 22, 1836. He enlisted July 27, 1862, in Company I, Twentieth Iowa Volunteer infantry. He was mustered out July 29, 1865, when the war closed.

Funeral services will be held at Central Point, Iowa, his old family home, where the body has been taken by the son.

MILL CITY WELFARE WORKER IS CALLED

Minneapolis, Minn., March 27.—Miss Mary Davis, Minneapolis welfare worker and for fourteen years a member of the advisory board of the International Sunshine society, died at her home here Saturday. She built the Mary Davis Sunshine lodge at Forest Lake and presented to the society. The lodge is a summer home and recuperative resort for women and children.

Miss Davis was born in Indiana and came to Minneapolis from Milwaukee twenty-five years ago.

For years Miss Davis had been giving to charity.

BYLAWS COMMITTEE NAMED FOR CLUB

Owing to the fact that the officers of the Duluth Commercial club have found some deficiencies of the by-laws, President Cotton of the club recently appointed a committee to make such amendments as are found necessary or advisable, to be reported on hereafter. A number of new features will probably be introduced in the club's plans. The committee so appointed consists of the following:

J. R. McGiffert, chairman, Frank Crassweller, R. B. Knox, C. P. Craig and E. A. Silberstein.

Row at Dinner Table Ends in Attack By Tom Taylor, Negro.

A chicken dinner without the chicken, resulted in a street shooting affray between Percy Shackleford, negro waiter, and Tom Taylor, negro porter, yesterday afternoon.

Taylor fired five shots point blank at Shackleford. Two bullets pierced his hat, two others went through his left arm, and the fifth struck Shackleford's only coat button, glanced and struck a vest button beneath, grazed his abdomen and passed through the left side of his coat.

Several hundred persons, attracted by the shots, saw Patrolman Stans Nesgoda pursue Taylor along the viaduct near South First avenue east and Michigan street, where the shooting occurred. The policeman finally captured him and took him to headquarters. Shackleford was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Taylor and his wife occupy upstairs rooms in the Shackleford residence at 227 South First avenue east. The four planned an unusually sumptuous repast for Sunday noon, with a menu including chicken, cranberries, and other fixin's.

When dinner time came, Taylor appeared with Harry Beard, a negro waiter, and a woman friend of Beard's. Shackleford didn't like the guests, and said so.

"If yo'all don't like mah friends," announced Taylor "yo can eat downstairs, and we uns'll eat up heah."

This was satisfactory, but when Taylor entered the Shackleford rooms a minute later, carrying a dish of cranberries, Shackleford asked for chicken. Enraged because it was missing, he threw the dish of sauce at Taylor's head. Then the Shacklefords went out to dinner.

Later the four met near the Michigan street corner, and Taylor said:

"Has yo'all been down to the station to repo't us?"

"We jus' been taking a walk," said Shackleford.

This reply didn't suit Taylor, for he drew his "cannon" and began firing. All five shots were emptied before Shackleford could turn to run, and then Taylor hot-footed it in the direction of the viaduct, leaving his victim where he stood.

In a sworn statement which Taylor gave police today, he said that Shackleford drew a knife and attacked him when he entered the Shackleford rooms, carrying the dish of cranberries.

"Then I threw it at his head to stop him. When I met him on the street," Taylor continued, "he drew a knife, or at least put his hand in his pocket and drew out something that I thought was a knife, before I began to shoot."

When arraigned before Judge W. H. Smallwood on a charge of first-degree assault he asked for a hearing and was held without bail until this afternoon.

U. S. CAVALRY SEALING UP TRAILS AND PASSES

sition to move a larger body of men without fear of capture.

Brig.-Gen. Pershing expects it will take months to capture Villa.

Returning American refugees are unanimous in the belief that Villa never will be taken.

Pursuit Now a Race.

El Paso, Tex., March 27.—Pursuit of Francisco Villa has developed today into a race between cavalrymen of the United States and the fleeing bandits mounted on the wonderful Mexican ponies.

According to dispatches from the front, Villa has completely broken through the Carrancistas line and is fleeing southward with the American troopers straining every nerve to catch up with him before he reaches the grim and forbidding mountain wastes in his ancient haunts in the Guerrero district.

The one hope of a speedy termination to the chase is that the flight of the bandits will be checked by starvation and the exhaustion of their ponies. It is known that Villa is almost destitute of both supplies and ammunition.

Supply Question a Problem.

San Antonio, Tex., March 27.—With Villa known to be fleeing toward his stronghold in the Guerrero district, closely followed by troops of Gen. Pershing's command, the problem of supplying field forces without the use of a railroad south of the border is becoming increasingly difficult. This question is causing Gen. Funston more anxiety than any feature of the expedition. The advanced forces penetrated more than 250 miles into the interior of Chihuahua.

Desires Use of Mexican Central.

Gen. Funston desires use of the Mexican Central line from El Paso to Chihuahua, but he has delayed asking for it pending Carranza's answer to Washington's request for permission to transport supplies over the Mexican Northwestern. No intimation of any change in the railroad situation was given at department headquarters early today.

Many officers are convinced that the success of operation depends on the use of railroads in the territory. They declare the matter is one of imperative military necessity.

The long distance from Gen. Pershing telling of operations in the vicinity of Namiquipa gives basis for belief that in the future he will keep headquarters more closely advised of developments.

Gunboat Ordered to Tampico.

Washington, March 27.—The gunboat Marietta has been ordered from Vera Cruz to Tampico to aid in protecting American interests. Today's report from Tampico said conditions were unchanged with quiet prevailing, but that it was desired to have light draft navy vessels at that point which can go up the river to the town. The battleship Kentucky, now off Tampico, will proceed to Vera Cruz. Americans in the Tampico oil regions are still apprehensive. There are some 2,000 Americans in the vicinity.

At the war department the only announcement today was that fifty-four additional motor trucks asked for by Gen. Funston had been ordered.

Gen. Funston's message reporting American troops were pressing farther to the south in pursuit of Villa reached the department today. The message gives the exact location of the troops now in Mexico. Published reports that six American troopers had been wounded had no official verification.

INTENSE BOMBARDING BY GERMANS INDICATES NEW ATTACK AT HAND

engagements with bombs in the sector of Courtes Chausses.

"West of the River Meuse the night was relatively calm. East of the river there has been uninterrupted artillery firing along the Douamont-Vaux front.

"In the Woevre district there has been a fairly spirited bombardment, particularly in the region of Moulainville and Chatillon, but no infantry actions.

"On the remainder of the front the night was quiet."

British Blow Up German Trenches.

Berlin, March 27, via London, 3:45 p. m.—More than 100 yards of German trenches near St. Eloi have been blown up by the British, German army headquarters announced today.

West Prussian regiments were successful in recapturing the artillery observation positions lost by the Germans on March 20 near Mokrzyce near Narocz lake on the Russian front, today's announcement also states.

Lightning Strikes Camp.

Berlin, March 27, wireless to Sayville.—Constantinople has received reports from Irak front (Mesopotamia) to the effect that during heavy storms the principal British camp at Bedreh was struck by lightning, says an Overseas News agency item today. Extensive damage was done the camp, according to the advices. The number of victims is not yet known.

part in the attack are missing. The destroyer Medusa was in collision with the destroyer Laverock, and it is feared that in the stormy weather which prevailed last night the Medusa may have been lost, but no misgivings are felt as to the safety of the crew. Two German armed patrol vessels were sunk by our destroyers.

"No detailed report has yet been received, but from Danish press messages it would appear that this operation, which was carried out within the enemy's waters, achieved its object."

The Laverock, 260 feet long, was built in 1914 and displaced 965 tons. She was armed with three 4-inch guns and two torpedo tubes. Her normal complement was 100 men. The latest available British navy records give no destroyer Medusa.

German Statement.

Berlin, wireless to Sayville, March 27.—Not less than three British hydroaeroplanes, among them a fighting aeroplane, were brought down yesterday by German guns on and about the island of Sylt, during an air raid on Northern Schleswig, according to a German official communication last night. The crews were taken prisoner. Bombs dropped in the Hoyer Water Gate did no damage, says the statement.

TEUTON FORCES ARE ACTIVE AT SALONIKI

Frontier Movements Now Assuming General Attack on Allies' Forces.

Athens, March 27, via Paris.—Dispatches from Saloniki say that the frontier actions which had hitherto been considered merely trying-out operations on the part of the Bulgarians and Germans, are now assuming the character of a general attack against the advanced line of the allies. Considerable vigor is being displayed and heavy artillery is being employed on both sides. It is said that in both military and diplomatic circles of the Teutonic allies there is a belief that the long-prophesied effort to drive the allies into the sea has begun, but it is pointed out that these circles, in Athens at least, are not in a position to be accurately informed. In Entente circles here, while the importance of the increasing activity of the Bulgarians and Germans is not minimized, there is a general conviction that they do not seriously intend to attempt to capture Saloniki.

THOMAS J. PENCE IS DEAD AT WASHINGTON

Secretary of Democratic National Committee Succumbs After Long Illness.

Washington, March 27.—Thomas J. Pence, secretary of the Democrat national committee, who has been ill for several months as a result of pneumonia, died at his home here early today.

President Wilson was deeply shocked when told of Mr. Pence's death and expressed deep regret. With Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary Tumulty, Mr. Pence had directed all of the detailed political work of the administration since the president took office.

Mr. Pence probably had as extensive acquaintance among Democratic politicians throughout the country as any man who ever occupied an official position with the national committee. He was one of the "original Wilson men," and after the last election was offered several important government posts. He declined them all, however, and became assistant to the chairman of the national committee in charge of permanent headquarters here. At the meeting of the national committee here last December, Mr. Pence was chosen its secretary.

Mr. Pence was a friend of President Wilson and was the daily companion of his secretary, J. P. Tumulty, and of several prominent administration senators. For many years he was Washington correspondent of the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, which is owned by Secretary Daniels of the navy department.

Because of Mr. Pence's protracted illness, W. H. Hollister, secretary of Senator Stone, recently was appointed as assistant secretary of the national committee and was designated by Mr. Pence as acting secretary.

BADGER OFFICERS URGED TO PREPARE

Minnesota Militia Men Not So Warned for Developments.

Appleton, Wis., March 27.—All mounted officers in the Wisconsin National Guard have received word from the adjutant general to get options on mounts for their personal use, according to announcement today. It says in part:

"Each officer required to be mounted is advised and urged to locate a suitable mount for his personal use and if possible to secure option of purchase thereof. This advice is made a standing one. Officers are advised to notify the chief quartermaster at Camp Douglas whenever they have located suitable mounts and made arrangements for same."

According to an officer here, the letter seems significant, following the orders to recruit companies to war strength. Recruiting campaigns have been opened in the various companies of the Second infantry. Mounts for the mounted orderlies, hospital corps, machine gun companies, supply company (mules), troop and battery, for enlisted men, will be drawn from the government.

Evidently the adjutant general of Minnesota has not thought it advisable or necessary to take similar steps; at least, regimental, battalion or company officers here have received no such orders.

The private opinion among the officers stationed in Duluth is that the Wisconsin authorities are taking the right view of the matter. They refuse to be quoted, however.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN CONFERENCE HERE

Duluth District Churches Will Meet Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Duluth district of the Minnesota conference of Swedish Lutheran churches, which includes the churches of the city and those of the range towns, Moose Lake, Carlton, Cloquet and International Falls, will hold its annual meeting tomorrow and Wednesday at the First Swedish Lutheran church of Duluth, Sixth avenue east and Third street, of which Rev. Carl O. Swan is pastor.

All of the pastors of the district, about fifteen in number, will be present at the meetings. On Tuesday evening, Rev. J. A. Krantz of Elim church, West Duluth, and Rev. F. F. Olson of Cloquet will give addresses. A business session will be held Wednesday morning and at the afternoon service, Rev. P. O. Hanson of International Falls will deliver an address. The speakers at the evening service will be Rev. A. Sloreen of Bovey and Rev. N. Sloreen of Virginia. United choirs of the Swedish Lutheran churches of the city, under the leadership of Prof. A. F. Lundholm, will sing Wednesday evening.

TWO CHAPTERS TO CONFER DEGREES

Keystone at Temple and Duluth at West Duluth Wednesday.

Keystone chapter No. 20, Royal Arch Masons, will confer the Mark Master degree on a class of nine candidates Wednesday evening at the Masonic temple. The degree work will be followed by a lunch and social session. Those who will be in charge of the ritualistic work are: E. H. Pfeifer, Thorwald Hansen, C. B. Cannon, D. S. Horak, C. F. Almy, William B. Arper, W. E. Mentzer, John D. Jenswold and Caleb H. Ives.

Duluth chapter No. 59, R. A. M., will confer the Mark Master degree on a class of candidates at the West Duluth Masonic hall on Wednesday evening, April 5. Those who will take part in the work will be: Stanley H. Gilpin, F. C. Dudley, V. R. Sterling, A. L. Ledin, M. R. Zack, Amon Reed, Ray Abbott, John Smith and A. Dunleavy.

To Rebuild Bayfield Church.

Bayfield, Wis., March 27.—The society of the First Presbyterian church reached a decision to build a new church edifice to replace the one destroyed by fire on the morning of Jan. 9. H. Jn Wachsmuth, Edward Carver, Harvey Nourse, O. Flanders and J. J. Fisher were named a building committee to have in charge all future proceedings relative to this building proposition. They expect to effect organization soon and the hope is that all preliminaries up to the actual starting of work may be started early in April.

Collars Are Growing Larger—Witness the Latest Comers

Already some of the new cape collars cover half the blouses, and they have developed double and triple capes, sometimes finished off with tiny ruffles on the edge.

They are made of sheer crepe, chiffon and organdie, and it is easy to see that they will gloriously transform any blouse they are worn with.

But if you do not care for cape collars, there are some long panel collars, reaching almost to the waist, collars going to a point, square sailor collars and smaller ones that roll.

Also in this new shipment are the daintiest vestees, collars and sets of colored organdie or white with color. Plenty of variety, even at 50c, and many other prices up to $12.50, for the cape collars.

to reports from there today, and the flood conditions are said to be not as bad as obtained last fall.

Monticello and Albany report high water, but no particular damage.

Another Man Drowned.

Freeport, Ill., March 27.—The village of Winslow, Ill, near the Wisconsin line, was inundated today by the rising waters of the Pecatonica river, swollen by heavy rains. Stores and shops were closed, and in the lower sections of the village the water reached the second floors. The flood was a foot higher than recorded high water.

Near Browntown, Wis., a few miles north of Winslow, William Horr, station agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad at South Wayne, Wis., was drowned. He and a friend, Cecil Schlosser, while walking on the track, stepped into deep water where a bridge had been washed out.

Rivers Still Rising.

Janesville, Wis., March 27.—The Pecantonica and Sugar rivers are still rising, the rains of yesterday causing the water to rise considerably during the night. At South Wayne the water is two feet above the station platform, which has never happened before and a good portion of the city is flooded. A man named Owen, who lived in South Wayne, was drowned.

The Rock river has risen considerably and flooded basements in the downtown districts along the river district. This is the third time this spring that the water is high here and fears are felt that it will rise even higher before night. There is no possibility of an ice jam as the river is clear of ice.

High Water in Ohio.

Marion, Ohio, March 27.—With the Columbus, Delaware & Marion traction line inundated between Marion and Prospect, and with streams in this section rising rapidly, floods threatened Marion county today.

Residents of Prospect and Larue early today were seeking places of safety.

Cold Helps Conditions.

Appleton, Wis., March 27.—The drop in temperature has relieved flood conditions in this vicinity. While there is no danger on the river, the country is flooded.

The Oshkosh-Neenah interurban railway has resumed business. Interurban employes say the water was higher along the Alton-Kaukauna line than at any time during the ten years that the road has been in operation.

terms of office of all are to be for twelve years. The chairman and vice chairman must be appointed biennially, according to the terms of the bill.

Duties of Commission.

The duties of the commission are to investigate the administrative and fiscal effects of the customs laws of this country, relations between the rates of duty on raw materials and finished products, effects of ad valorem and of schedules and classification of articles in the law and to put all information in its possession at the disposal of the president, the house ways and means committee and the senate committee on finance.

The bill would give the commission full power to investigate the tariff relations between the United States and foreign countries, commercial treaties, preferential provisions, the effect of export bounties, preferential transportation, the volume of importations compared with domestic production and of conditions, causes and effects relating to competition of foreign industries, including cost of production and dumping.

Protecting Trade Secrets.

The need of protecting trade secrets and process is recognized in a provision of $1,000 fine or imprisonment for one year for any member or employe of the commission who divulges any secrets of the commission.

Representative Rainey said the bill would not be submitted to a party caucus, although to save time it probably would be added to the omnibus revenue bill. Because it is hoped to make the commission permanent, he declared, the bill provides for an annual appropriation of $300,000 to meet its expenses.

"The measure, in my judgment, insures in the future tariff stability and whenever revisions appear to be necessary, it will make it possible to make them intelligently," said Mr. Rainey. "If enacted into law it will come as near removing from the tariff, unfair and unreasonable partisan action as any measure yet conceived."

The measure would give the commission full power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and give them access to and the right to copy any document of any individual or business concerned in the production or sale of any article under investigation.

No person could be appointed to the commission who has been elected or served either in the house or senate. All employes except a secretary to the commission and a clerk to each commissioner would be placed in the classified service under the terms of the bill.

ger, and that many persons were thrown into the sea, that some were killed and some wounded, that he saw bodies on the bridge of the Sussex, and that while being rescued he saw two persons drown.

"These depositions are confirmed by the American men and American women who took passage aboard the Sussex."

Baldwins Saved.

Paris, March 27.—Prof. James Mark Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin were saved, it is authoritatively announced. They are at Wimereux, near Boulogne. Miss Elizabeth Baldwin, their daughter, was badly injured on the Sussex and is now in a hospital at the same place.

Joshua Dickinson Armitage of New York is in a hospital at Dover, according to a disptach from there. He is badly injured, but will probably recover.

Not Seriously Injured.

London, March 27.—Of the three American survivors of the Sussex who are in a hospital at Dover, Joshua D. Armitage of New York and Wilder Penfield of Hudson, Wis., are suffering from shock and bruises but are not seriously injured.

Only one, George Crocker, of Fitchburg, Mass., is in a serious condition. His skull was fractured by a falling mast. He regained consciousness this morning and his physician believes he will recover.

Resemble Part of Torpedo.

Washington, March 27.—Consular Agent Whitman at Boulogne reported today that he was informed by French officials that a piece of bronze, resembling a part of a torpedo, had been found on the channel liner Sussex.

State department officials said they had no information that any other than German submarines were operating in the vicinity in which the Sussex was attacked. All agents in the vicinity were being urged today to gather conclusive evidence from all possible agencies.

WARMER WEATHER HITS ICE AND SNOW

Sunday Second Warmest Day of 1916; Wind Shift Expected.

Sunday ran second as the warmest day of 1916, so far. Feb. 17 was the warmest, when the temperature reached a maximum height of 45 deg. and a minimum of 19 deg. Yesterday the maximum was 40 deg. and the minimum 18. Yesterday was disastrous to ice and snow and the streets were veritable streams.

Today promises to do further damage to the habiliments of winter, although the temperature will not be so high as that of yesterday. At 7 o'clock this morning the temperature was 26 deg. above zero, and at 10 o'clock this morning it had not changed. But Weather Forecaster Richardson says that he expects this northeasterly wind to switch to southerly tonight, in which event the thawing weather will be further increased.

The cold wave predicted on Saturday for yesterday did not hit Duluth, but it did hit the ranges and interior points. Duluth simply played in luck, while the prediction held good for the rest of the territory involved.

And Some LISTERINE!

Your toilet cabinet is not complete without Listerine—the safe antiseptic. Prescribed by physicians and surgeons for 35 years.

Use Listerine to promote personal hygiene. We recommend it for use after shaving, as a dressing for cuts, burns, wounds, prickly heat, etc. It's the best mouth wash after brushing the teeth. Removes the cause of "acid mouth," keeps the gums healthy and retards decay.

$1 bottle, 69c—50c bottle, 39c—25c bottle, 21c.

Millions Use Pompeian Massage Cream

Complete Relief From Perspiration Annoyance

Excessive perspiration of the armpits, feet, hands, etc., need never again cause you annoyance!

ODO-RO-NO
THE TOILET WATER FOR EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION

will prove especially useful if you dance! It's unscented and harmless! One application not only does away with all perspiration odor for many days, but leaves the part to which it is applied normally dry and dainty. Daily baths do not lessen the effect. Two or three applications a week thereafter are all that are needed to free you completely from perspiration annoyance and embarrassment. Many women find no other protection for the armpits necessary.

Society • Women's Clubs • Music • Drama

"Which are you going to tonight, 'Van der Decken' or Prof. Moulton's lecture on 'The Wonderful Heavens'?" and "Which are you going to tomorrow night, 'Van der Decken' or the New York orchestra?" is the way to salute one's friends today.

Music, drama and science are keeping Duluthians busy this week, after several weeks of more than Lenten quiet, and are eagerly accepted as a bridge between the winter and the spring gaieties. Two David Warfield appearances, a program by one of the great orchestras of the country and a lecture by one of the foremost astronomers are rare treats to be crowded into forty-eight hours.

EVENTS OF TONIGHT AND TOMORROW.

The Business and Professional Women's club will meet at 7 o'clock tonight at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Anna Upham will talk on Alaska.

Prof. Forest Ray Moulton of the University of Chicago will lecture on "The Wonderful Heavens" at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

The Ladies' Literature class will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. S. J. Colter of 2521 East Fifth street. The Nibelungen Ring is being studied by the class.

Events of Interest.

The Young Men's Bible class of the First Swedish Baptist church gave a hiking party Saturday night to the Burquist cabin, near Hermantown. There were twenty-six in the party, chaperoned by Rev. and Mrs. Swaney Nelson.

Miss Mabel Wallace of 124 North Fifty-eighth avenue west will entertain the Needlecraft club at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

* * *

The engagement of Miss Anna Erickson and Rudolph Nordland was announced at a birthday party that was given last night at the home of Mrs. B. Wedholm, 123 Twenty-third avenue west. There were twenty-five guests.

* * *

The engagement of Miss Marion Feldin and Elof Nordin was announced at an affair that was given last night at Woodman hall by Miss Feldin's sister, Mrs. Neass of 2723 West Third street. There were 150 guests. The bride and bridegroom-elect are members of North Star lodge, No. 11, of the Good Templars. Dancing and a musical program were enjoyed.

* * *

Mrs. O. T. Haley, 424 East Superior street will entertain the La Belle Sewing club Thursday afternoon.

* * *

Miss Edna Z. Harris of 4107 East Superior street entertained sixteen guests at an eight-course dinner last night. Pale pink and white carnations were used in the dining room and the color scheme was carried out by the dishes and the menu. Yellow and white daffodils were the decorations in the parlor. After dinner cards and music were enjoyed. Piano numbers were given by Mrs. Charles Ellisson and the hostess.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Bruce Ter Bush, 1514 East Fourth street, and infant daughter are visiting Mrs. Ter Bush's mother at Geneva, Ill., for several weeks.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Henriette D Grauel

Uses For Ammonia

THE first thing a good housekeeper of my acquaintance does when preparing for her spring cleaning is to have a large bottle filled with spirits of ammonia. I agree when she says it is the most helpful cleaner of all the long list we women know so well.

Purchased from the druggist ammonia costs a trifle more than when bought at the store, but it is stronger. A pint is usually 25 cents. One tablespoonful is put into a quart of hot water for cleaning. There is nothing else so good for looking-glasses, silver and for paint. Lace or embroidery, silk and wool may be washed with the solution and require no rubbing to come clean.

A light soapsuds with a few drops of ammonia added give sparkle to ordinary pressed glass and china impossible to secure without it.

As a time-saver it is unequaled when washing woodwork and windows. It is grand for cleaning carpets on the floor. They should be swept well and the broom washed. Then brush again with the broom dipped in ammonia water. They will look much brighter, and if there is a lurking moth in the carpet this treatment will destroy it. Ammonia sets color, removes stains and grease; it softens fabrics.

Nothing is nicer in the bath when one is warm or tired. It cleans, freshens and rests one. A teaspoon of ammonia, a teaspoon of bay rum and a quart of warm water makes an excellent cleaner for the children's hair, leaving it fluffy. It is said hair cleaned with this will never have dandruff in it. This may not be true, but it is good in the bathroom for cleaning the brushes that are so often neglected. It may be used, too, for individual hair brushes and combs, for it cuts the oil from them without hurting the bristles or the rubber.

A valuable trifle I call it and think no one should try to keep house without a well-filled ammonia bottle.

Questions and Answers.

Kindly give directions for cleaning furs preparatory to packing them away for summer.—Mrs. Thom.

Reply—For dark furs moisten cedar sawdust with benzine or gasoline and rub this thoroughly into the fur. Let this rest until all odor of the cleaner has left the fur, then beat with rattan sticks or a little whip until sawdust is out. This work must be done out of doors, as explosive agents are dangerous to use anywhere else. After they are cleaned and beaten seal the furs in an air-tight bag.

White furs should be sent to a professional furrier, as they are too delicate to clean at home. If they are only slightly soiled, rub them gently with clean, dry bran made hot in the oven. This cannot harm them and will remove slight soils.

Where can I learn to do stenciling? Does it require much knowledge of drawing and what is the cost of a course?—Fredrika.

Reply—You had better buy a stenciling set from your nearest art dealer and practice with it. You will find complete directions for its use come in the box. The prices range from 50 cents to several dollars, according to range of colors, stencils and number of brushes in set.

Checks and Stripes Very Popular in New Materials for Spring

Checks or stripes—you may select whichever you prefer and be in the swim—are featured alike in silken, wool, linen and cotton fabrics this spring.

Beginning with the cottons the variety displayed is nothing short of wonderful. The sport suit and separate skirt for sport wear are receiving attention and a most varied and attractive line of heavy cottons suitable for sport wear is shown. Wide awning stripes in two colors are good. Among the prominent combinations are brown and tons, gray and blue, a silvery gray and bluish green, white and grayish green, white and black, white and coral, white and brown.

These cottons are also shown in half-inch and one-inch stripes. The multi-colored striped cottons are especially suitable for youthful wearers. Particularly fetching is one striped in a one-inch line of pale blue, gold and black; each color line being separated by a narrow stripe of white. A separate skirt of this fabric could do service with a variety of sport coats of silk and wool jersey in plain colors. Then there are some lovely white cottons striped in a solid and narrow separated lines of color. These are shown in lavender, pale blue, a bright blue, tan, coral and brown. Decidedly smart is a putty-colored cotton striped in a broad band of grayish green, which is figured in a haphazard soft of a design in black, white and red and is outlined on each edge with a narrow black line. The coats worn with skirts fashioned from the above mentioned materials are, in the majority, of silk or wool jersey in plain colors. These coats are made in full loose lines below the waist and when of silk jersey are held in at the waist line with a sash of the silk finished on the ends with silk fringe. When of wool jersey they are loosely belted and fastened with buttons and buttonholes.

Black and White Popular.

Checked buttons are shown in a variety of charming color combinations, but white-and-black is apparently favorite. This combination is frequently noted in the called "star" check, broken plaided effect and large block design. Skirts of heavy white cotton, pique, corduroy and cotton gabardine are worn with coats of striped silk or woolen jersey, flannel or thin velours doe lathe. White flannel stripes in black is much favored for the separate sport coat. Nothwithstanding the oft-quoted statement that heavy lines in solid colors are rather scarce, the best shops are showing quite a variety in all the modish colors. Handkerchief linens, in plain, checked and striped effects, appear to be unusually plentiful. Charmingly dainty are the new striped and flowered dimities. Voiles are as sands of the sea, and are featured from the 25-cent quality up to those which exceed in price many of the handsome silks.

Among the practical silks there are khaki-kool, tussah, pongee, la Jerz, and the twilled foulards. A charming example of khaki-kool in white ground striped in a broad line of dark blue figured in white is shown.

For Hot Weather.

Among the light-weight fabrics offered for hot weather wear is the old-time favorite "Lansdowne" with its closely-woven silken finish. This dainty fabric will without doubt, receive a flattering reception, as notwithstanding its extreme lightness, it possesses admirable wearing qualities. For summer slips some of the shops are offering "Tiffany silks" (which very closely resemble silk mull). These silks are offered at an extremely low price, and can be had in white and all prevailing colors.

In wools—jersey, checked suitings, jersette, Scotch homespuns, silk and cashmere velours, serge and gabardine are all featured. New and most attractive are the gabardines striped in a hair-line of silk.

Mohair fabrics are much in evidence this season. Plain white and cream are frequently used in the fashioning of sport suits, skirts, coats, etc. On some of the models the only attempt at ornamentation is rows and rows of machine stitching in colored silks; others are effectively trimmed with bands of Roman striped ribbons or silks.

Jacks Frost's Bluff Fails

"I've decided that we will have a very late spring this year," said Jack Frost in his most pompous fashion.

"That so?" asked the trees in the forest.

"Just so," replied Jack Frost. "I'm tired of rushing off to the North Pole simply because April has arrived. This year I intend to stay just as long as I please, which will be into June at least."

"That so?" asked a tiny violet plant that was hidden so far under the leaves and rubbish of the winter, one would have thought its words would never be heard.

"Just so," replied Jack Frost positively. "And moreover there's no use in your planning to bloom for many a week. There are still a whole package of storms and blizzards and freezes and blows that I have in reserve. You'll have no chance to bloom; the leaves will not dare to bud these many weeks." And he whistled and sang through the trees to prove that he knew what he was talking about.

"That so?" asked the tiny leaf buds at the ends of the twigs and branches.

"Just so," replied Jack Frost fiercely, for it must be admitted that he did not fancy the tone of voice in which all these questions were asked. "Moreover, if you start swelling and growing one tiny bit, I'll freeze you so tight that you can't grow again this whole summer—so there!"

And he thought that would settle all talk.

But it didn't—no sir!

For all the time Jack Frost was talking, Old Mr. Sun was climbing higher and higher to the sky. And Old Mother Wind was blowing the clouds faster and faster out of the way so that he could shine his hardest. And the air was getting warmer and warmer and warmer, till at last, by noon, even fierce Jack Frost felt the heat and began to grow sleepy.

"Of course I have no idea of going away for good," he explained to everybody. "But I really am tired and I think before I start that fine set of storms I was telling you about, I will slip away for a nice little rest."

So he tiptoed away toward the north.

And the sun shone hotter and hotter and all the violets and the leafbuds and the grasses and green things looked around to see if he had gone.

And they didn't see him.

"Of course he may come back," said the violet. "But I'm not afraid," and she started growing.

"We're not afraid, either," sang the leafbuds. "We'll grow when we can," and before night the forest began to look like spring.

Tri-State Delegation Will Have Special to Biennial Convention

The Minnesota and North and South Dakota Federations of Women's Clubs have announced the plans that have been made for transportation to the biennial convention that will be held in New York May 23 to June 2.

The Tri-state Federation special will leave Minneapolis at 10:30 p. m. May 19, and arrive in Chicago 11:40 a. m. There will be a stop of a few hours there before the train leaves for Niagara Falls, where an all day stop will be made. The special will leave the Falls at 6:40 p. m. May 21, and will arrive in Albany, N. Y., the following morning just in time to connect with the Hudson Day line steamer, which will arrive in New York at 5:30 p. m. on Monday, May 22.

The Hotel Astor will be the tri-state headquarters, but for those who do not wish to stay at the hotel there will be a list of boarding houses, within walking distance of the armory, where prices range from $10 a week up.

The official return route for the North Dakota delegation is by water from New York to Norfolk and Norfolk to Baltimore, from which point they will make the rail trip to Chicago by way of Washington and Pittsburgh.

The rate for the trip as outlined will be approximately $57 from the Twin Cities. The committee in charge of arrangements asks that those who expect to go notify the federation secretary, Mrs. Edgar H. Loyhed of Faribault, as early as possible so that all arrangements may be completed.

The New York and New Jersey club women are planning so many social affairs that will be sandwiched in between general and division meetings that it will be, without the least doubt, "gay New York" for all the visitors.

After the first meeting of the directors of the general federation there will be a luncheon at the Hotel Astor. The East Orange club of New Jersey will have open house Tuesday, May 23, and will give a luncheon in honor of the federation board of directors, the local biennial board and the out-of-town delegates who have arrived.

The state presidents will be the honor guests at an early luncheon Wednesday, May 24, after the credentials committee has made its report of what is expected to be the heaviest registration in biennial history. The luncheon will be given by the local biennial board.

The home economics department will give a dinner of 300 covers before the large reception at the Metropolitan Museum of Art Thursday, May 25.

A luncheon by the art department will be given Friday, May 26. The seating limit for the luncheon is 300. Two luncheons will be given Saturday, May 27. The conservation department will have 250 guests, and the music department will have a luncheon.

The public health committee is arranging a gala dinner for Tuesday, May 30.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Seeing Man

"The seeing man goes about his business confident and self-dependent. He does his share of the work of the world in mine, in quarry and factory, in counting room, asking of others no boon, save the opportunity to do a man's part and to receive the laborer's guerdon." So writes the deaf and blind and altogether wonderful Helen Kellar.

What she has written is full of surprising sentiment considering that she has never known what to be able to see means to a human being. She feels the blessing sight, speech and hearing are to a person, and from her sad predicament, fondly believes that this entire world of men and women who have all senses and rugged health combined are deeply grateful and appreciative of the fortune that is theirs.

But are we grateful and appreciative? Is there one of us at close of day who counts his blessings in these wonderful gifts and thanks God that they are spared to him intact for another day? It is rarely that the most thoughtful stop to consider what the loss of sight would mean to them; how drear the world would be if the voices of those dear to them and other joyful sounds were forever hushed for them. What a pleasure would be taken from them if they could no longer join their voices in a merry exchange of conversation, and how dismal would be their outlook if they spent day and night in the confines of one small room and perhaps on one narrow bed.

The seeing man goes about his business confident and self-defendent, but too often he grumbles about the duties he has to perform, the fate that keeps him out of the shoes that some other man is wearing and the hard fortune that dogs his footsteps and keeps him ever at the grindstone. Such men, and there are women, too, are never at a loss to cover their shortcomings.

They are never for a moment impressed with the fact that to be born with one's faculties and physical organism in perfect condition is all that God intended to endow any one of us with. It is ample endowment; with it the very world may be conquered. Happy is the man who has such a heritage, who preserves it to the best of his power, who learns its priceless value and takes advantage of all its wonders and possibilities before it is too late.

Twentieth Century Club Holds Its Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Twentieth Century club, which was held this afternoon, Mrs. J. H. C. Engel, as chairman, gave her report for the literature department, which held its last meeting Friday. The report was in part as follows:

"Contemporary drama is the subject to which the literature department of the Twentieth Century club has given its attention at the morning study hour, semi-monthly, during the club year just closing. These morning meetings have been supplemented by afternoon meetings, at which symposia have been held on subjects of current interest.

"The first dramatist studied was Granville Barker, his play, 'The Marrying of Ann Lette,' being the one which was read and discussed.

"The next subject claiming the attention of the department was 'The Irish Theater Movement.' Synge, Yeats, Lady Gregory and Padraic Colum were studied.

Continental Drama.

"From the land of Erin the department next directed its attention to Europe in the consideration of plays by German, Italian and Dutch writers, as well as the work of Germany in promoting the educational work of the theater and in subsidizing the stage. The work of Hugo von Hofmanstahl was taken as an example of German dramatists, Giacosa's 'Falling Leaves' as an example of modern Italian drama and Herman Heijermans as representative of the Dutch school.

"One of the most pleasant and profitable mornings of the year was the one on which Mrs. E. J. Bardwell read in an easy and delightful manner one of the best plays which has grown out of the war, 'The Unseen Empire.' The most heroic figure in this play is the American ambassador, who very bluntly shows up to the European diplomatists how petty and unworthy are the motives underlying the great struggle.

"The Russian drama, 'Anathema,' by one of the most promising of contemporary writers, Andreyev, was the subject for study during February.

"Oriental philosophy, Chinese drama, plays and poems were the subjects at one of the March meetings.

"The talk on 'Japanese Drama' has been deferred to a later date, when Mrs. E. F. Barker will give it in her Japanese tea house.

"The above outline work on the drama was supplemented by three symposia which were held as afternoon meetings, at which topics of current interest were discussed. At the first of these, held at the home of Mrs. Gustaf Flaaten, Mrs. R. Spiegel gave a highly instructive talk on 'Modern Educational Tendencies.' At the second symposium, held at the Spalding, Mrs. J. W. Nagle gave a very interesting dissertation on the subject of 'World Peace.' Mrs. Spiegel spoke on 'The Psychology of the Movies,' and Mrs. J. C. H. Engel on 'Military Training in the Public Schools.' At the third and last symposium, which also took the form of a luncheon at the Spalding, Mrs. M. Cook held the interest of her audience in a very able presentation of the subject, 'The Bible as Literature.' Mrs. Spiegel gave an analysis of 'Philosophy as Applied to Practical Life,' and Mrs. Engel's subject was, 'Contemporary Poetry.'

"The social side of the work has been promoted through these afternoon meetings, at which there was a good opportunity for the members to get better acquainted with each other."

Never Another Cross Word

THE girl in the easy chair laid down her book as the clock struck eight, and looked up at it, frowning.

"Where can mother be?" she was thinking. "She said she was coming home early tonight because she was tired, and here it is eight o'clock and she's usually home by half past seven. I should think sister would know better than to keep her so late!"

With a final frown she went back to her book. Ten minutes later she threw it down, restlessly.

She went to the telephone. Her line was busy.

She went back to her book, promising herself to read two pages before she tried again.

She Put Her Nervousness Into Her Tone.

This time her own line was vacant and she gave the number in that tone of suppressed impatience which we all use so often and which must add to the nervous strain upon the operator. A moment of waiting, then "The line is busy."

She slammed on the receiver and went back to read two more pages, stopping at intervals when she thought she heard footsteps. The third time never falls. Her call went through and her sister's voice came on the line. "Where's mother? Why, she started an hour ago. Hasn't got there yet? Well, she's probably been delayed. You know what those cars are!"

The girl went back to her book after an anxious glance at the clock. Quarter of nine. Mother had never been so late. Suppose she were sick and had been taken to a hospital unconscious and nobody knew who she was!

And It Was Only the Tailor's Boy.

The doorbell rang. The girl rushed to the door. It was the tailor's boy with her father's suit.

Surely something must have happened. Ought she to telephone the newspaper or the police station? Poor little mother! She did altogether too much. Why hadn't they been more careful of her?

Ready to scream with nervousness, the girl took up her book again. The first thing her eyes fell upon was a quotation from Carlyle: "If you have brothers, sisters, a father, a mother, weigh earnestly what claim does lie upon you in behalf of each, and consider it as the one thing needful, to pay them more and more honestly and nobly what you owe." The paragraph sprang out at the girl accusingly. A sick feeling came at her heart. How had she paid these claims, especially to her mother?

Instead of waiting on her mother, how often she had let herself be waited upon. And how often when she came home from work had she vented the day's pentup irritation in a burst of ill temper at the uncomplaining little mother—the one she loved best in the world and treated the worst. Why hadn't she done more for her, taken her about more, brought her more little gifts? Oh, if only mother were all right she would never speak another cross word, she would——

How She Put Her Resolutions Into Practice.

The door bell. This time it was mother. She came in smiling. A machine was whirring away from the door. All this worry for nothing! It was too bad! It had tired her all out. "Where have you been, mother?" she asked, sharply.

The smile died away. "Why, I met the Rogers on the way to the car and they offered to bring me home," she explained, hurriedly.

"But all this time?"

"They stopped to take me in to see Aunt Sue."

"You might have telephoned."

"Aunt Sue hasn't any telephone."

"You might have found some way to let me know."

"Why, I'm sorry, dear," said the little mother with an anxious sigh. The smile was quite gone now. She looked frightened. Queer that mothers never get used to being scolded when they get so much of it.

But not any queerer than some other things. I'll leave you to guess what.

Duluth Bids Au Revoir to Its Orchestra With Sincere Regret

Duluth bade au revoir to its orchestra with sincere regret yesterday.

The final concert given yesterday deserves to rank as one of the most delightful offerings Mr. Bradbury has yet given Duluth. Being a request program, it met with great popular approval, and was heard by an audience of fully 2,300, the largest of the season.

The opening number, overture to "William Tell" (Rossini), was given a spirited interpretation, the flute episode being especially well handled. This was followed by Halvorsen's artistically barbaric "Entrance of the Bojars," which aroused insistent applause, forcing Mr. Bradbury to repeat the final movement.

Grieg's ever popular "Peer Gynt" suite, two movements of which were given—"Anitra's Dance" and "In the Hall of the Mountain King"—showed the result of Mr. Bradbury's painstaking care, the work of every department showing a fine precision and color. The interpretation of this number might well invite comparison with any orchestra that Duluth has heard.

The impressive largo movement from Dvorak's "New World" symphony was given a consistent, poetic reading, which again earned lavish applause, while Sibelius' "Valse Triste," with its atmosphere of mystery, was read with telling effect. The Hungarian Ithapsody No. 6, while given at a tempo much faster than is usual, was performed dramatically, and appealed strongly to the audience, as did Tschaikowsky's stirring "March Slav," which closed the program.

Mrs. Finkelson gave the difficult "Ziguenerweisen" number (Sarasate) with brilliancy and responded to insistent applause with Kreisler's "Liebesfreud."

The concerts have been a source of much pleasure to many this winter, and it is with a feeling of sincere regret that the regular patrons heard the close of the last program.

Dry Streets and Special Car Service for Orchestra Patrons

Men with picks, shovels and perhaps sponges are out today clearing the walks that lead to the Armory, while even the streets are going to come in for a clean up as far as the street cars will be standing, in preparation for the concert by the New York orchestra tomorrow night.

Acetelyene lights will be placed at dark and gloomy corners, and traffic policemen will be on duty.

A very complete car schedule has been worked out by the traction company for the convenience of those attending. The concert will begin at 8:15, and nobody will be seated during any of the numbers.

That a variety of opinions exist as to location of seats affording greatest advantage to listeners at a symphony concert is demonstrated by the discrimination patrons have shown thus far in their selection. Some prefer the string side, others the brasses. There are those who enjoy studying the detail of the orchestra, their methods of handling their instruments, and where there may seem to be a more intimate touch with the great conductor and the band of musicians who make up his orchestra.

Then there are those who choose their seats further back in order to enjoy the blending of the instruments and the finer musical effects and the ensemble. This difference of choice has distributed the sale of tickets in such a way as to leave opportunity for those who have not yet purchased their tickets to receive good seats with equal discrimination.

Special street car service arranged for Tuesday evening, follows:

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—David Warfield in "Van Der Decken."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and photoplay.
ORPHEUM-STRAND—Sarah Bernhardt in "Jeanne Dore," photoplay.
REX—Bessie Love in "The Flying Torpedo," photoplay.
LYRIC—Theda Bara in "GOLD and the Woman," photoplay.
ZELDA—Mme. Petrova in "The Soul Market," photoplay.

LAST CHANCE TO SEE BERNHARDT IN FILMS

Sarah Bernhardt, the greatest tragedienne of the modern stage, will be seen in the tragedy "Jeanne Dore," at the Orpheum-Strand for the last time tonight. This is the play in which she was acting at her theater in Paris at the time she was forced to leave the stage to undergo the operation that no doubt has ended her remarkable stage career. This picture has truly been called "the picture for the eyes of posterity."

The camera has translated the Bernhardt facial expressions at close range.

SARAH BERNHARDT
In "Jeanne Dore."

In the score of scenes in which the sublime tragedienne is concerned there is not an expression lost. From the heights of joy to the depths of Jeanne Dore's agonizing grief the Bernhardt command of the art of pantomime reflects, better than most actresses could speak in words, the changing emotion as it unfolds.

The camera has been able to show the glories of Bernhardt's artistry.

Commencing Thursday, for four days only, Henry B. Walthal, who created a furore as the "little colonel" in the "Birth of a Nation," will be shown in the strong picture feature, "The Birth of a Man," a story that has afforded him the utmost opportunity to display his ability as a screen star.

WILL BOOK BIG ACTS.

Representatives of Grand Theater Will Go East.

Manager Frank N. Phelps and M. S. Cook of the New Grand theater will leave for the East this afternoon, and will be gone several days booking new acts and consulting architects concerning plans for the theater proposed for Superior. It is the intention of the Messrs. Cook and Phelps to have work begun on the new theater as quickly as possible.

Manager Phelps and Mr. Cook will go to Chicago first to consult architects, and from there they will go East. Manager Phelps said today that his bookings for the summer would be of a high class.

"Many of the theaters on the big-time vaudeville circuits will soon close for the summer," said Manager Phelps, "and we expect to book many of the biggest acts obtainable so as to insure excellent shows all summer."

Theater Gossip.

David Warfield will come to the Lyceum theater for an engagement of two nights, beginning tonight, in the latest Belasco drama, "Van Der Decken," which is described as a romantic play founded on the immortal legend of the Flying Dutchman. The tale has to do with a ship captain, half man and half apparition, who haunts the seas in expiation of the curse that has been put upon him. While attempting to round the Cape of Good Hope in a fearful storm he has defied the Almighty and is thereby fated to eternal wandering.

DAVID WARFIELD AT THE LYCEUM

It is readily apparent that the role of the penitent and despairing wanderer of the seas calls for an expression of talent that presents Mr. Warfield in an entirely new light. As the victim of youth everlasting, who must lift his voice to the void, crying his distress to the fog that enshrouds him and shrieking his prayers to the God who has doomed him to perpetual struggle with the elements, Mr. Warfield is said to give an exhibition of acting that is profoundly moving and impressive. In fact, "Van Der Decken" is said to denote more emphatically than ever before the superb qualities of the Warfield talent.

In the cast supporting him will be Marie Bates, Jane Cooper, Ernest Stallard, Fritz Lieber, William Boag, Frederick Graham, Harold Russell, Horace Braham and others.

Music, singing and dancing are the three features of the New Grand bill for the first half of this week, as with the exception of the opening number, each act uses one, two or all three of these. As this kind of entertainment is what appeals particularly to Grand audiences, the bill should be a favorite one.

NEW SHOW AT THE GRAND.

Toplining the program is the Symphonic Sextet, instrumentalists and vocalists. Selections of medleys of popular airs, gems from grand opera, and ragtime all have a place in the repertoire of this sextet and, backed up as they are with an attractive appearance, the act is extremely popular.

One of the big laughing hits of the bill is Ben Smith, blackface comedian. Smith is "different" in his style of work and declared to be an artist in every sense of the word, who knows how to get laughs out of his audiences.

Adelaide Boothby, with Charles Everdeen at the piano, offers a novelty song revue.

The Three Westons—two women and a man—offer a posing act much above the ordinary. Famous art subjects are featured in a highly artistic manner.

"The Master Smiles" is a three-reel subject of extraordinary interest. It tells a dramatic story and relates the history of a young girl, the child of wealthy parents, who neglect her to follow their selfish pleasures, which results in her coming to a bad end.

Sis Hopkins is again on the program in "A Flock of Skeletons," a comedy, and "The Uncut Diamond," a drama, make up the remainder of the charming entertainment.

"THE FLYING TORPEDO" AT THE REX.

It is a foregone conclusion that hereafter, the mere announcement of a William S. Hart play, will draw a capacity star in his Western drama "Hell's Hinges," made so many new friends last week, that a return engagement of the same play, is talked of.

"The Flying Torpedo" at the Rex today and tonight, offers something new as a thriller. With John Emerson and Bessie Love, the latter suggesting Mary Pickford in her work, the seriousness of the play is saved by a dash of comedy by Miss Love, the Swedish maid. The story has to do with a supposed invasion of the United States in 1920, and through it runs a plot with a detective part that is plausible and decidedly interesting.

Bessie Barriscale will return tomorrow for two days in "Bullets and Brown Eyes," a Thomas H. Ince picture. Patrons of the Rex have learned to look forward to a Bessie Barriscale picture with keen interest.

She is Countess Olga in the new photoplay, the story of which is laid in a mythical foreign country. The staging is elaborate, the costuming rich and beautiful, and the plot interesting. Better than all this is the delightful star and her strong supporters, who do excellent work.

THEDA BARA WILL CAST IN LYRIC FILM.

William Fox, one of the master minds of motion picture production, is said never to limit the talents of a star he employs nor allow his playwrights and directors to hamper their achievements. For this reason when he discovered Theda Bara he saw to it that she was supplied with plays that suited her gifts and then gave her free rein in her parts.

"Gold and the Woman," seen yesterday and to be continued for two more days at the Lyric, with Theda Bara in the leading role, proves that Mr. Fox did restrain this talented actress. The story is laid in old Mexico and has to do with the adventures, Juliet de Cordova.

The intrigue is concerned with the title and ownership of a tract of valuable coal land, known as "The Valley of Shadow." It formerly belonged to the native Indians. For this land, Juliet and others plot, and this charming adventuress, with her personal magnetism over men, sways the others at her will.

CROWDS TURNED AWAY AT ZELDA.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a photo play at the Zelda saw Mme. Petrova in her sensational picture, "The Soul Market," Sunday. Hundreds were turned away last evening, as every available seat from parquet to balcony was taken. This picture is one in which the star is at her very best. Mme. Petrova wears some stunning gowns and furs in this feature. The story tells of a beautiful stage star on Broadway, who tires of the life that surrounds her, and comes to regard the "Great White Way" as a veritable soul market. An all-star cast is in support of Mme. Petrova. It includes Wilmuth Merkyl and Arthur Hoopes, who was formerly in support of Theda Bara.

SILK WORKERS TO BE GIVEN NINE-HOUR DAY

Paterson, N. J., March 27.—Formal announcement was made here today that the silk manufacturers' association will grant the demand of the workers for a nine-hour day effective April 3. The employes, now working ten hours, recently threatened to strike if the concession was not made.

About 175 firms are affiliated with the association, and a majority of some 100 smaller plants also are expected to yield.

Devoted to the HEALTH, COMFORT and BEAUTY of WOMEN

Trade in the "Self-Help" Nemo Wonderlift Corset flourishes like a green bay tree.

In less than a year, the number of delighted wearers has run into hundreds of thousands.

As a hygienic adjunct, the Nemo Wonderlift Bandlet has been endorsed, we believe, by every physician who has seen it.

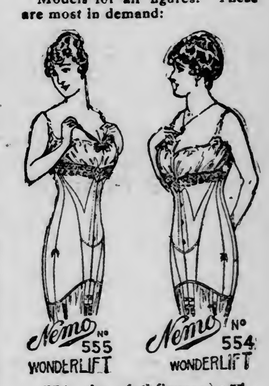
No corsets ever had finer fashion-lines.

This diagram roughly shows the position and action of the Bandlet after adjustment:

The adjustment, by the inside lacing, LIFTS UP a saggingabdomen; restores the internal organs to proper place; gives firm and comfortable support; prevents, relieves and often cures many of the painful and dangerous disorders of womankind.

This "Self-Help" Corset enables every woman to HELP HERSELF to health and good looks. It is an effective aid in many cases that medicine cannot reach, as any doctor will tell you.

Models for all figures. These are most in demand:



554—short full figures
555—tall, full figures } $5

One model, No. 998, is for very large women with heavy, hanging abdomen—the only ready-made corset for women of that type. Large sizes only—30 to 44. A great value at $10.00.

Another, No. 557, is for slim women with concave abdomen; novel supporting pads. Nothing like it—$5.00.

A PREDICTION

In due time, nearly all women who wear corsets will wear a Nemo Wonderlift.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Florida discovered by Ponce de Leon, 1513.

Juan Ponce de Leon came to America in 1493 with the second Columbus expedition, and in 1510 conquered and became governor of Porto Rico, where with the traditional thrift of Spanish governors he quickly became very rich. March 3, 1513, he started out to find a marvelous healing spring the Indians told about—though there seems no authority for the "perpetual youth" fable—and sighted the Florida coast March 27, taking possession of the country for Spain, supposing it to be an island. He died in 1521 from a wound received when the Indians defeated his attempt to found a settlement in Florida.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—E. G. Bourne, "Spain in America" (very good treatment of the Spanish discoveries).

STYLE SHOW WEEK.

Villa the bandit may maraud and murder; Roosevelt may return from peaceful West Indies to sound out the nation to see if it is in the "heroic mood" fitted to go with his acceptance by the Republicans as their candidate for president; European kaiser and czar and president and kings may wax never so desperately and frantically bound to fight and kill and win; von Tirpitz may signify German humanity by ceasing to lead submarines, retiring in a cloud of royal praise and high insignia; war may show its darkest—perhaps its "darkest just before the dawn;" the presidential campaign may unlimber its great guns of argument and debate, reason and unreason, praise and mud—all these may eventuate and darken the world and fill it with clamor and confusion, but—

Still spring styles bloom, and my lady will deck herself out in them, to the gratification of the eye and the pleasant stirring of the heart.

It is a gleam of light in a darkened world, a touch of sanity and normality in a chaos of madness and abnormality; and it is good to look forward to, good to rest the eyes and heart and mind.

All of which is by way of announcing that the week beginning April 3 will be the annual spring style show week in Duluth, and that Duluth's admirably enterprising and abundantly equipped merchants will then have in proud array the beauties of color and form and fashion that they have had gathered for them from around the world.

This may seem a feminine occasion purely, but it isn't. Men may affect to deride fashion and womankind's habit of decking herself out in gay apparel, changing with the seasons; but they cannot deny that they like to look on at it, that it is a great relief from the drabness that incessantly and insidiously seems to crowd itself into and color life with its monotony, and that by so decking herself out in changing kaleidoscopic beauties my lady is doing us a vast kindness.

Properly to treat the subject one should drop into poetry, for woman herself is an epic, a proper gown is a poem, and a hat is a sonnet.

Nevertheless, leaving woman and the gowns and the hats and the rest to express themselves in their own poetry, The Herald joins the merchants in inviting all Duluth to forget for awhile the sordid and ugly things of life, and in a spirit of calmness and appreciation of the artistic fitted to the occasion, to prepare to regale itself in the glories and splendors of Style Show Week.

There seems to be more discussion than usual as to whether March's designation is a lamb, a lion or a dove; but most of us don't get so excited over the spring zoo as we do over the spring ooze.

WEEDS AND THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

The city of New Orleans tried an interesting experiment last year, and according to a report on the experiment in the Journal of the American Medical association it was a marked success.

The experiment was to clear the city of noxious weeds of the type that aggravates if it does not cause hay fever.

In the summer, before the pollen-bearing period, a gang of twenty convicts, under the direction of the municipality, was sent out, and the entire city, including immediate suburbs, was cleared of these weeds, particularly of ragweed, which in its several varieties is a prolific distributer of the nostril-irritating pollen.

As a result, hay fever in New Orleans disappeared several weeks before its usual time. Only those who are afflicted with hay fever can realize what it meant for the sufferers to be relieved several weeks sooner than usual. It meant several weeks of happiness substituted for several weeks of torture.

Duluth, with its cool summer climate and its clean, fresh lake breezes, is a haven of refuge for hay fever sufferers. Yet Duluth lets its weeds grow, scatter their pollen, go to seed and multiply every year—a strange folly.

The city has made some attempt to conquer this problem, but it has not succeeded. Some such method as New Orleans tried, perhaps coupled with a state law or city ordinance providing punishment for those who let weeds grow on their property, would be more efficient.

And if there is a city anywhere that ought not to let the weeds continue their busy propagation of suffering for hay fever victims, it is Duluth.

Eight hundred thousand French children have been made fatherless by the glorious war—and not one of them is the child of a man even partly responsible for the war.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY, TOO, CAN BE MADE WORKABLE.

Come now complaints and criticisms of the presidential preference primary, tried out the other day for the first time in the history of the state. These complaints are amazingly widespread, too, and many of them come from newspapers that will, on second thought, agree that they have been hasty.

On what score is this criticism made? First, mainly, because there was—or it is generally said that there was—a light vote. There was, in fact, considering everything, a surprisingly big vote. Though the Socialists with their nearly thirty thousand votes did not participate, though those members of no party were not concerned in this party business, though in neither of the great parties was there rivalry between candidates to bring out a large vote, fifty-five per cent of the voters who participated in the 1914 election turned out just to vote on candidates for delegateships—an astounding large proportion, considering all.

The second note of criticism is more to the point: that no real choice of presidential candidates was offered to Republican voters. Root, Roosevelt and Hughes are the only candidates seriously considered, and none would permit his name to go on the ballot. Instead, appeared the names of Cummins, an improbability, and Estabrook and Webster, utter impossibilities. Of course there was no choice—Republican party managers, bent on destroying this primary plan that threatens the life business of political managers, well saw to it that there was no choice. They are reaping the fruits of their endeavors in this harvest of thoughtless criticism of the primary law.

The real point of failure in the primary law, then, was the lack of a real opportunity to choose between possible and tolerable candidates.

That, too, can easily be fixed, so that in that respect the presidential primary can be made workable and efficient. It should be fixed by the legislature before another presidential year rolls around. How fix it? With ridiculous ease.

There was no choice because party managers and prospective candidates dodging the primary issue and preferring the wire-pulling of the convention, saw to it that there was no choice.

Well, make it impossible for party managers and candidates fearing the primary issue, fearing to put their cause to the test of public approval or rejection, to prevent there being a choice.

The law now provides that, by petition, names of presidential candidates can be put on the ballot. But it does not provide for keeping them there. It lets candidates and party managers take these names off the ballot.

Let the law further provide that, once on the ballot, no candidate can take his name off or have his name taken off unless he file this formal statement with the secretary of state: "This is to notify you that I am not a candidate for the Republican nomination for president; that I shall not be a candidate; and that I shall not, if nominated, under any circumstances accept the nomination." That would take care of such a case as that of Justice Hughes, who is—or who ought to be—so jealous of the sanctity of the supreme court that he will not allow it to be used as a foothold for intrigue—by himself or others—for the presidency. All others should be willing to submit their fate to the test of popular approval or disapproval, and the law should make it so they must, if candidates, whether they are willing or unwilling to go before the people.

Make that slight amendment to the presidential preference primary law, and there will be no further complaints, either of light votes or of no chance for a real choice.

Prof. Taft's assertion that the United States has been especially favored by Providence no doubt includes full recognition of the fact that he was defeated in 1912.

Fritzie as a Fighting Man.

James Norman Hall in the Atlantic: One thing that we learned during our first night in the trenches was of the very first importance. And that was respect for our enemies. We came from England full of absurd newspaper tales of the German soldier's inferiority as a fighting man. We had read that he was a wretched marksman; that he fired his rifle blindly; that he would not stand up to the bayonet; and that when opportunity offered he crept over and gave himself up. We thought him almost beneath contempt. We were convinced in a night that we had greatly underestimated his abilities as a marksman. And as for his all-around inferiority as a fighting man, one of the Gloucesters put it pretty well.

"Ere! If the Germans is so bloomin' rotten, 'ow is it we ain't a-fighting' 'em sommers along the Rhine or in Austry-Hungry? No, they ain't a-firin' wild, I give you my word. Not around this part o' France, they ain't. Wot do you sy, Jerry?"

All Right So Far.

Boston Transcript: Husband—"That is the limit! You've ordered two new dresses—don't you know that we are already head over ears in debt?"

Wife—"Oh, yes, I know—but the dressmaker doesn't."

The Wilson Administration

Moorfield Storey in the April Yale Review.

In considering how well President Wilson has succeeded, we should begin by asking what he was elected to do and it must be borne in mind that during the campaign of 1912 the attention of the people was directed wholly to questions of domestic policy.

No thought of foreign war clouded our horizon, and the Democratic platform contained no allusion to our relations with other countries save an expression of satisfaction that our treaty with Russia had been terminated, and an approval of exempting American vessels engaged in the coastwise trade from the payment of Panama canal tolls. There was, to be sure, an assertion that "the constitutional rights of American citizens should go with them throughout the world," and the apparent corollary that every American residing anywhere "must be given the full protection of the United States government both for himself and his property."

This proposition gives to our Constitution an extra-territorial effect never before suggested and need not seriously be considered. Indeed, it is in striking contrast with the declaration prepared by Secretary Lansing, ex-Secretary Root and Dr. James Brown Scott, which was recently adopted by the Pan-American congress, from which the following passage is quoted: "Every nation has the right to territory within defined boundaries, and to exercise exclusive jurisdiction over this territory, and all persons, whether native or foreign, found therein."

Mr. Wilson came before the country as the apostle of the "new freedom," demanding equal opportunity for every citizen, and such changes in our laws as would restore that equality of rights which our government was formed to secure.

In his inaugural address, he stated what the Democratic party was pledged to do when he said: "We have itemized with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered, and here are some of the chief items: A tariff which cuts us off from our proper part in the commerce of the world, violates the just principles of taxation, and makes the government a facile instrument in the hands of private interests; a banking and currency system * * * perfectly adapted to concentrating cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all sides, financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restricts the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings, or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm, or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs."

This was in substance the program of his administration; and, thanks largely to his direct personal influence, it has been carried out faithfully.

Submarines Must Be Outlawed

The New Republic: Organized sea power will be obliged to outlaw submarines as commerce destroyers. Their continued use in such capacity would produce a condition of terrorism on the seas during war not dissimilar to that which prevailed in the Seventeenth century. The Germans would be willing to give up the submarine attacks on commerce and restore order on the seas, but only on condition of getting rid by these means of any organized system of marine control. They are offering to neutrals the choice between anarchy on the ocean during war, and a legal system that would make the peaceful trading nations the accomplices of a land empire, no matter what the cause for which it was fighting.

Neutrals should reject both alternatives, and look for a way out in a different direction. Organized sea power will be obliged eventually to propose the outlawing of submarines as commerce destroyers. The proposal cannot be adopted without neutral assistance, and the necessary assistance should be furnished by the United States. Organized sea power possessing an effective control of the seas constitutes an indispensable agency of an ultimate international settlement. The American people could not help to break it up without betraying their own most precious national interests and ideals. They should be willing even to increase its authority and permit their own fleet to cooperate in consolidating the control, provided their government can reach some understanding with Great Britain as to the system of law for the benefit of which the control should be exercised.

One Mexican Town That Knows Us.

New York World: One town in Mexico within recent time has known occupation by United States forces, in actual warfare with Mexicans; warfare which in a few days cost the lives of nineteen Americans and probably several hundred Mexicans.

The town is the most important port in the country. Through it pour endless streams of men hearing and telling news, as well as the ebb and flood of commerce, making it politically scarcely second to the capital in influence. There on April 21, 1914, Admiral Fletcher sent ashore the marines, forestalling the receipt by Huerta of the Ypiranga's 10,000 German rifles and 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

Yet this town, with its vivid recollection of battle in the streets and campaigning in the suburbs, elaborately celebrated the arrangements between the United States and Mexico for the arrest of Villa. In street parade and fiesta "Tio Sam" was lauded; in formal speeches President Wilson was praised, his good faith and that of his nation frankly accepted.

Vera Cruz knows that the Yankees speak as straight as they shoot; that if they say friendship they mean friendship, and the services of friends. Would that all Mexico knew us as well.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Processional.

The tumult and the shouting rise from Europe's red and harried shore; the kings and captains, to their eyes, are wading in a flood of gore; so let's talk peace, already yet, lest we regret, lest we regret. The nation's honor we'll defend, whenever there shall rise the need; but to this country he's no friend who always wants to die and bleed; let's flaunt no sword or bayonet, lest we regret, lest we regret. The jingo fierce will never cease berating people safe and sane, who'd rather have the boon of peace than see the landscape strewn with slain; let's gently drown him in his sweat, lest we regret, lest we regret. Build up the army, if you will, and make the navy great and strong; but don't confess a lust to kill, or talk of bloodshed all day long; don't claim that war's the one best bet, lest we regret, lest we regret. Don't be too eager that our sons shall seek the sodden fields of gore, to furnish targets for the guns of men they never saw before; don't whoop for death and dearth and debt, lest we regret, lest we regret.

Nominate Roosevelt

Editorial in the New York World.

Describing the sinking of the Lusitania as the greatest insult to which American citizens had ever been subjected, Joseph H. Choate told the chamber of commerce yesterday that "if Mr. Roosevelt were president no foreign nation would dare insult the American flag or American citizens."

Mr. Choate might have said with equal impressiveness that if Mr. Roosevelt were queen of Holland the Tubantia would not have been sunk. Or that if Mr. Roosevelt had been president during the Civil war the British government would not have permitted the Alabama to be built by the Lairds.

All these assertions are equally susceptible of proof.

But if Mr. Choate and the members of the chamber of commerce who applauded his speech are confident that Mr. Roosevelt's fiat would dominate the world at a time when half a dozen great nations are fighting for their very lives, we respectfully suggest that they use their commanding influence with the Republican national convention to bring about Mr. Roosevelt's nomination for president. They represent an element in American affairs that has never failed in the past to sway Republican national conventions, and it cannot fail now if they employ it in the way that they best know how to use it.

There are many reasons why Mr. Roosevelt ought to be the Republican candidate. The chief reason is that his nomination would make a clean-cut issue between two schools of foreign policy and two vital principles of government. Mr. Roosevelt wants war with Germany and Mexico, which is the most direct method of settling all our differences with those countries, whatever else may be said about it. He also wants to put the United States on a militaristic basis both in respect to the army and navy and in respect to its industries. A Prussianized state is Mr. Roosevelt's ideal of government, and he is the most consistent advocate in the United States of the Prussian theory.

It is possible that the American people want a war lord in the White House and want him to do for them what the kaiser has done for the Germans. It is possible that they want the Republic militarized and want its industries Prussianized. It is possible that they are tired of their old free, swinging gait and long for the goosestep and the drill sergeant. It is possible that they want war for war's sake and are eager for the trenches at any cost.

The way to determine all that is to submit it to a referendum of the American people in an election in which the policies, the character and record of the two candidates cannot be obscured; an election in which every citizen must know precisely what he is voting for. Mr. Roosevelt is the one Republican candidate who would make such a campaign possible. He is the one answer the Republicans can honestly make to President Wilson.

Mr. Choate and the gentlemen of the chamber of commerce cannot fairly criticize Woodrow Wilson for not being like Theodore Roosevelt unless they are prepared in good faith to use all their political influence to make Mr. Roosevelt the Republican candidate for president.

Marriage on a Cash Basis

Toledo Blade: Most of the young women students of the University of Minnesota will not consent to marry unless the prospective husband earns at least $1,600 a year.

This is an average figure. The range is from $800 to $10,000. Through the college newspaper, the women students recently were asked: "How much salary must a man receive before you would consent to marry?"

One girl wrote: "What is money to me? Give me a true, loving husband and a cottage!" The majority, however, entertained no such romantic views.

Statistics show that the average man wage earner's income is not more than $15 a week, which is less than half of $1,600. Many earn less. So, apparently, while these Minnesota girls may not marry just for money, it is evident that they are going to act upon the suggestion of the canny Scot, that the possession of money at least would 'na harm them.

In addition to the cash requirement, it is reported, a majority of the college girls insisted that their husbands must be good dancers. But never a word said they about educational or moral qualifications.

"Show us the cash and a good time," they demanded, in effect.

The Gopher Eleven.

New York Times: The Minnesota delegation in congress consists of eleven kaiserists and one American, and a mighty fine one, Senator Knute Nelson, born in Norway. Ten Minnesota representatives in congress, eight Republicans, one Democrat, one Progressive, and the other Minnesota senator, Moses Clapp, voted against the president, against the upholding of American rights. The German-American Alliance of Minnesota, urged or bullied these eleven weaklings to the course they followed. Knute Nelson is the only man, the sole American, Minnesota has in congress.

What do the voters of Minnesota think of their eleven? They see in the changed attitude of Germany what a little courage will do for the country. "We still believe," says the Minneapolis Journal, "that Minnesota is an American state." It will prove itself one when it sends Americans to congress.

Just Plain "Friend."

Was ever there a sweeter word
Than just plain "friend?"
Was ever there a greater word
Than just plain "friend?"
To cheer, and lift, and guide us on,
A helping hand to lend,
Was ever there more loving word
Than just plain "friend?"

Let's pick it all to pieces
And see what it contains,
And lo, we find it spells to us
All other precious names.
This one word "friend" is like the cask
That holds our treasures rare,
For in its sacred depths we find
All our beloved ones there.

The first dear name that speaks to us
From out this treasure cask,
The one that bears and lifts us up
And loves us to the last.
The sacred name of Mother dear,
The one whom God did send,
To be our faithful loving guide,
Our best and truest "friend."

What does the name of Father mean
But true and loving "friend?"
Our sister and our brother, too,
But just plain "friend?"
And so our dear ones all abide
In this one charm-ed word,
The name of wife and husband, too,
In its pure depths are heard.

And first of all, and last of all,
And best of all dear names,
The name that thrills our very souls
To high and lofty aims.
The "friend" that mother led us to
Our lives with His to blend,
The rarest jewel in the cask,
Our Lord—divinest "friend."

Political Straws in the Minnesota Breezes

Campaign Subjects Discussed by Minnesota Editors.

Watch the Somber Steed!

That old political favorite, the dark horse, will be on parade in Chisholm a little later, if the Mesaba Miner is right when it says: "The next on the program is the coming primaries in June. It is hinted that surprises will be sprung in this legislative district."

"Looks Good and Speaks Well."

Something worth thinking about is the situation described thus by the Hokah Chief: "A good many Republicans called for Democratic votes in the primaries in order to show their appreciation of President Wilson. In Houston county Wilson received more than half as many votes as Cummins, and he polled 40 per cent of the entire vote. This is a good record for a Democrat to make in this overwhelmingly strong Republican county. It looks good for Wilson and speaks well for the people."

You Know the Slogan.

"T. R. has intimated that he might be induced to help the Republican party out of a hole, if there is sufficient demand for his candidacy," says the Mahnomen Pioneer. "This is in reference to the same party that he tried so hard and came so near succeeding in wrecking a few short years ago. And it really looks as though they would accept his proffered aid." Naturally, when their campaign slogan is "Anything to beat Wilson."

Frank's Tip to Teddy.

Roosevelt might as well give up now, if Frank Day is any judge. He says in the Fairmont Sentinel: "The one overshadowing reason why Roosevelt cannot be elected is that people believe he is a trouble maker—an unsafe man to be in charge of the government in critical times. Then there are thousands of men in the good Republican class who will never—no never!—forgive him for disrupting the party in 1912. Teddy, old boy, you never can make it. Your vaulting ambition will be your ruination."

"Wilson Is Good Enough."

Anybody in doubt as to the significance of the primary returns in Minnesota should read the following from the Williams Northern Light: "In the Minnesota presidential preference primary, held Tuesday, one fact stands out bold and startling—Woodrow Wilson polled more votes than all Republican candidates combined and that Republicans were lukewarm and did not go the polls will not stand as an explanation, at least so far as this part of the state is concerned.

"If the election for president was held tomorrow Woodrow Wilson would sweep the country, but things may happen between now and next fall to cause a complete reversal of conditions. The opposition to Cummins in these two townships, in the Republican votes, consisted of two for Estabrook in Zippel and one in McDougald, and the result is pretty nearly as one-sided throughout the state, according to early returns. A solid Cummins delegation was chosen, Estabrook and Webster not even getting into the 'also ran' class.

"In both McDougald and Zippel townships, where only a scattering vote has been given to the Democratic tickets occasionally, the same men usually voting went to the primary and called for Democratic tickets, saying, 'Wilson's good enough for me.'"

North Dakota Notions

Various Views Expressed by Newspapers of That State.

He's Elected.

Valley City Times-Record: Villa has put himself in line for extermination, and the sooner such a pest is wiped out the better.

Brandeis' Case.

Bathgate Pink Paper: The nomination of Louis Brandeis to the supreme bench of this country speaks plainer than words that the president is not influenced by the monied interests more than is justly due to property, always and everywhere. Mr. Brandeis had the active opposition of the large interests which he had followed up and taken from many things which they had secured without the formality of proper compensation. The people are certain to have an able representative and friend on the third branch of government. The tendency has been too much to appoint to the supreme bench lawyers who had served corporations, largely. They could not help being influenced by their surroundings and associations, and while honest men were inclined to regard property before humanity, a very serious error and not in consonance with the true spirit of our institutions.

It Happens in the Best Circles.

Fargo Forum: Duluth business men were recently swindled out of $1,500 by a bogus check artist who made good his escape.

In Philadelphia eight men have just been indicted for the fraudulent use of the mails by working a swindle by which they are reported to have cleaned up a half million dollars.

It is always well to be cautious in business. The clever swindler is continually on the alert to take advantage of the confidence that business men must have in the great majority of the people with whom they deal. Confidence in the other fellow is an absolute necessity in business, but it is well to be sure of the other fellow.

The man who is swindled should not be termed an "easy mark" in any offhand manner. Ofter a shrewd and careful business man will be taken in by these despicable human sharks.

A Good Indication.

Grand Forks Herald: The care which the people of a nation devote to their infants is a pretty fair index of the character of that nation's citizenship. Where the infant is neglected and the child abused the adult citizens of the country are almost certain to be lacking in progressiveness in every form. Where a high estimate is placed on the lives and happiness of children there exists in the community a high estimate of everything that pertains to sound manhood and womanhood. It is a good indication that the people of the United States are devoting themselves to a special effort during the greater part of one whole week in this year to a consideration of the baby.

So Keep the Change.

Valley City Times-Record: In regard to changing human nature—it can't be done.

Wilson and His Critics.

Jamestown Democrat: Mr. Wilson is experiencing to the full injustice and bitterness with which all presidents of the United States who were destined to hold office during the critical periods of our history have been assailed by extremists of all shades of opinion. Washington when president was denounced as a coward because he saved the youthful nation from being embroiled in Europe's affairs. Lincoln was abused most shamefully by men of his own party because their freak ideas of carrying on the war and the affairs of government were not taken up.

The fact that President Wilson is so bitterly assailed by the partisans of the nations at war, each element accusing him of injustice to their side and favoritism to the other, is all the proof that well-balanced citizens, whose first thoughts are for the United States and not for some land across the sea, need of the correctness and absolute neutrality of the president's foreign policies. When neither pro-German nor pro-British are satisfied, he must be holding the scales pretty evenly.

Seven Wonders, New and Old

Editorial in the Kansas City Star.

Digging into the ruins of ancient Babylon, German archaeologists have uncovered the "Hanging Gardens" that were listed as one of the seven wonders of the world. Dr. Robert Koldeway, in charge of the expedition, describes them unromantically as "cruelly disappointing and upsetting to the visions of one's fancy. Those hanging gardens, a 'wonder of the world,' were roof gardens, or terraces, surmounting a one-story windowless house. Almost any modern hotel roof garden would outshine the most lovely 'hanging garden' of Babylon."

In this matter-of-fact way is one of the seven wonders disposed of. One cannot put out of mind a belief in the magnitude and glory of the seven ancient wonders without a wrench at the heart strings, but the truth is that only one of the seven, the Pyramids of Egypt, would be a wonder today.

When Antipater, epigrammatist of Sidon, wrote a guidebook for Western travelers in the Eastern country, about two centuries before Christ, he prefaced it with a list of the Seven Wonders of the World, which no sightseer could afford to miss. The Pyramids constitute the only one of the seven wonders that exist today. They are yet one of the greatest wonders of the world, and thousands of travelers go each year to see them. But the other six, if they existed today, would not be classed with "wonders."

The Temple of Diana at Ephesus was not so large as our own union station. The Colossus of Rhodes, a brass statue of Apollo, at the entrance of the harbor of Rhodes, was only a little more than one-half as large as the statue, Liberty Enlightening the World, at the entrance of New York harbor. The Mausoleum at Halicarnassus lacked thirty feet of being as high as Grant's tomb on Riverside drive. Pharos Watch Tower, at the entrance to the harbor of Alexandria, was not so high as Washington's monument, and there are several buildings in New York city much higher. The statue of the Olympian Jove is surpassed in size by several colossal statues today.

Only one of the seven wonders of the ancient world was of practical utility. It was the Pharos lighthouse, 400 feet high, with a fire playing on its top as a guide to sailors. The other six were of no practical benefit.

The publishers of Popular Mechanics sent 1,000 letters, several years ago, to eminent scentists in this country and Europe, asking them to name the seven greatest wonders of the modern world. The majority of votes were given to: Wireless, telephone, aeroplane, radium, antiseptics and antitoxins, spectrum analysis and X-ray.

Not all would agree with that choice, for it excludes the Panama canal, the telegraph, the submarine, the automobile, moving pictures, the printing press, the steam engine, compressed air, steel, the telescope, microscope, textile machinery and many other wonders, including those of chemistry, such as the taking of nitrogen from the air.

The most wonderful achievements of today are all for the help and betterment of mankind.

Room for the Saplings.

"Children crying in the temple, saying Hosanna!"—Matthew xxi, 1-16.

Children's voices mingling in the sounds of holy praise! A little child can share in the consecrated life. Young hearts can offer love pure as a limpid spring. Their sympathy is as responsive as the most sensitive harp, and yields to the touch of the tenderest joy and grief. No wonder the Lord "called little children unto Him!" They were unto Him as gracious streams, and as flowers of the field.

Let the loving Savior have our children. Let there be no waiting for maturer years. Maturity may bring the impaired faculty and the embittered emotion. Let Him have things in their beginnings, the seeds and the saplings. Let Him have life before it is formed, before it is "set" in foolish molds. Let us consecrate the cradle, and the good Lord will grow and nourish His saints.—J. H. Jowett.

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock."—Rev. iii, 20.

O Thou Divine Spirit, who in all the events of life art knocking at the door of my heart, help me to respond to Thee. I would not be made to work out Thy will unwillingly, to obey Thy mandates unsympathetically. I would have my heart open at all times to receive Thee. Whether Thou comest in sunshine or rain, I would take Thee into my heart joyfully. It is Thee and not Thy gifts I crave; knock, and I shall open unto Thee.—From "Day Unto Day."

It is announced that the Weyerhaeuser syndicate has closed a deal for the purchase of the C. N. Nelson Lumber company's interests at and in the vicinity of Cloquet. The consideration is said to be about $4,000,000 cash or its equivalent. The possessions of the C. N. Nelson company in St. Louis and Carlton counties include two very large and modern mills at Cloquet, capable of cutting from 100,000,000 to 125,000,000 feet in a season; vast tracts of standing pine along the St. Louis river and tributaries estimated to contain several hundred millions of timber; a new standard gauge railway twenty-six miles long, and now being extended into the iron and pine regions of the Mesaba range; valuable iron mines on the range leased to the Minnesota Iron company, as well as undeveloped iron lands. The Weyerhaeuser interests already control one sawmill concern at Cloquet, with two mills, and has other interests along the St. Louis and in the Mesaba country at about the same as those of the C. N. Nelson Lumber company.

"ADS" IN THE MOVIES PEEVE A PICTURE FAN

To the Editor of The Herald:

We know how it feels to have something sold us we don't want. No one likes to take something that is disagreeable and does him no good. Things that bore make idlers of us all, and idleness leads to crime.

Why can't a movie house be content to give excellent moving pictures without ramming a "three-minute advertising program" down one's throat? It is bad enough, and perhaps permissible, for a man to perspire through five minutes of slides containing press agent bunk relative to the future weeks' attractions, but a seeming three weeks of moving pictures that jump and twitch to an eye-rending degree are the last straw.

This "program" is enough to make one swear—never to use the article advertised therein again or to attend the same theater more—and consists of unappetizing displays of "Stick Glueit's Candy, It Clings to Your Ribs," "Try Skindy's Glasses for That Bored Feeling," "Takenbach Rubberless Heels; You Can Lose One But You Still Have the Other," "Suckernut Insultment Company Will Get You Yet," "Slimton Coal Makes the Coalman Wealthy," "Overrated Autos: Maximum Upkeep," "Dishonor Coffee Will Make Your Temper Worse," "Neverwear Shoes Keep Up Expenses" and "Swamplands, the Home of the Malaria Fiend," together with anything from "El Cusso Cigars" to "Slickman's Furs."

The proprietor should realize that he is offending his best friends, his most regular customers, and those who attend movies often and make his business a success. I feel sure that if he could put down his desire for the "velvet" obtained by allowing these pictures to run, he would be rewarded in increased attendance. For the pleasure of my kindred I hope they are discontinued, because we all like good pictures. Anyway, my 20 cents per week will not be spent where they exhibit "three-minute advertising programs."

MUST WE SUPPORT ALL POSSIBLE PRESIDENTS?

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Herald asks all to "support the president." Correct. Every man, who is a real American, will, regardless of whether he believes that his policy has been to the best interest of the nation or not—no one doubts his sincerity.

Now, Mr. Herald, be a little more generous in your editorial treatment of Col. Roosevelt, as it is not impossible that on March 4, 1917, you will be called to "support the president," in the person of T. R.

Every true American will choose whom he believes it is to the best interest of our country to have for president. Many thousands such believe that "The Colonel" is the man best fitted to untangle the snarl we are in.

Yours. M. E. WITHROW.

PRUNELLA IS ASKED FOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been a reader of The Herald a good many years and cannot speak too highly of it. It is the one pleasure I look for at the end of my day's work. I read and enjoy every item from the first page, with the latest war news, to the want ads.

But what gives me most pleasure in your paper are Scoop, the Reporter, and the Open Court. One thing I miss from the paper is that we have not seen Mrs. Scoop for a long time. What became of her I don't know, but why don't you, Mr. Editor, encourage "Mr. Hop" in some way to give us a few more demonstrations of her doings? I certainly enjoyed the way she once handled Boss and Scoop. Yours truly,

ANOTHER ADMIRER OF MRS. SCOOP.

WOULD HAVE ORPHEUM OPEN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With this city full to the eyebrows with cheap vaudeville, I should think the Orpheum people would wake up to the fact that the time was ripe to give the Duluth theatergoers some high class vaudeville.

I earnestly believe that I voice the opinion of others, that, with conditions as they are now, it would pay, provided we received good shows, and not half good, as we did before. Sincerely,

A LOVER OF GOOD VAUDEVILLE.

THE FIREMEN'S PETITION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That the firemen are petitioning the people for the two-platoon system is evidence that there does exist a great wrong. This wrong has been noticed a number of times by observers. The moral and physical wastage that is resultant from this wrong is evident to many. The city should correct this evil at the earliest possible moment; it should not tolerate such a condition among the firemen, while on the other hand spending large sums of money that is used in the so-called "department of sanitation," looking after the welfare of horses and cattle, tracing the activities of the little microbes under the microscope to ascertain the physical harm they may do in order to safeguard the people from their invisible attacks.

The firemen are men—just common everyday men—who perform useful service at the risk of their lives. They answer the call and they know that danger hides behind the smoke and flames, but in they go at their superior's command, and they grapple with the demon foe. Their thoughts flit home to the wife and children, and then for the moment they become thoughtless of all except staying the hand of the ruthless destroyer; and when their task is done, they may well ask, "And what do I receive for my services but the paltry $85 and twenty-four hours per day?"

We make laws to protect the birds, dogs, cattle and horses. We say that you may do this or you may do that, but you must not abuse them; you must not overwork them; and their treatment from organized society is much more humane than is the treatment that the firemen receive from the law-making body of the city.

If the commissioners will follow the old axioms, "Thou shalt eat thy bread in the sweat of thy brow," and "The laborer is worthy of his hire," they will find it is easy to introduce the two-platoon system.

DEFENDS BURLESQUE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Now that the women of Duluth and a few of the moral men have taken up "burlesque" as an issue, maybe a few lines in regard to same will be in order. Considering the fact that W. L. Smithies, Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell and Rev. W. W. Lawrence consider Manager Morrissey capable of selecting high class attractions, do they think his judgment inferior in selecting the best of burlesque? Do the burlesque agents come to the homes of W. L. Smithies and Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell, or to the pulpit of Rev. W. W. Lawrence, and ask them to send their families, and also the reverend gentleman's congregation? Or do they canvass from house to house, soliciting patronage?

If a local girl pulls some of these "modern" and "classical" dances at the "Little theater," she is highly praised by the "art critics" and considered as having a bright future as a dancer; but let a pretty show girl from a burlesque show come out and dance, she is criticized as being vulgar and the dance suggestive. Now the local girl comes out bare-limbed and the show-girl wears tights, evidently displaying more modesty than our home talent girl.

If the "Mothers of Duluth" would stay home and watch their own families, they wouldn't have time to start a disturbance in the papers. If ignorance is the cause of people attending a burlesque show, then some of our most prominent citizens are the most ignorant. Now I do not believe the Lyceum will miss the few dollars they do not receive from the "art critics." Shakespeare said: "Nothing is wrong but thinking makes it so." This seems to reflect on the thoughts of the self-appointed "Duluth mothers" or "Guardians."

Commissioner Silberstein is a level-headed person, and realizes that only those who want to see a burlesque show will attend one. Is it not advisable for the Y. M. C. A. to keep its hands out of the show game? Its hands have never been tainted, to the best of some people's knowledge, and it would be a shame to get them "soiled" now.

Hoping that Duluth has a regular and steady burlesque show to provide the Zenith City with entertainment for the theatergoers, and gossip for the notoriety-loving few, I remain,

"BURLESQUE PATRON."

Duluth, March 24.

"LAMBASTE ALL BURLESQUE, NOT PART OF IT; PLAY FAIR"

To the Editor of The Herald:

So the departments of public safety and of public welfare are going to censor the burlesque shows and tell them what they can say and can do. There is no doubt of their capability in this direction; the burlesque at the city hall is ample evidence. Burlesque at the playhouse should be a hot one from now on.

The burlesquers are naughty. They shock the refined sensibilities of the "respectable." But one thing is certain—those that enjoy that sort of entertainment will not be made any better by the "censor," and they will not be made any worse by what they see and hear. They pay for what they want, and get it. Interference by the public officials will not raise the moral tone of the audience to whom the risqueness of the burlesque appeals.

Why hop onto the burlesque? Look at the movies. There is scarcely a drawing film today but what caters to the sordid sense. The popular picture reeks with lewdness and voluptuousness, and carries a direct appeal to sensuality. The advertisements of the 'steen-reel features carry subtle and suggestive promise of spicy stuff to come.

We see nude figures and half-nude figures. One film features a female displaying her figure in pajamas and galloping around doing the highland fling for fifteen or twenty minutes.

Humorous (?) pictures portray old men carried away into mischief by the intentional display of feminine limbs clad in attractive sheer silk hosiery.

Interlopers, minus trousers, are found by irate husbands in the company of wives—"just a humorous situation?"—oh yes, but rotten.

And drama!—pure girls are wronged, poor things; wives steal the other women's husbands, and women who are not wives seduce the faithful spouse; the respected citizen has a mistress—in the movies. If you want to learn things go to the movies.

Ah, but these pictures always point a moral lesson—sure, the transgressor gets it in the neck—but the moral only serves as a vehicle to put the slush across.

The movies are burlesque.

Lambaste the burlesque, all of it, not part of it; play fair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

"A Reader," Brookston, Minn.: (1) When and where is government land in Minnesota and Wisconsin to be open for homesteaders? (2) What railroad runs near by? (3) Where can I get a map of the land?

Ans.: (1) Lands will be open for application on April 26 in the districts of Duluth, Cass Lake and Crookston, in Minnesota. That in the Duluth district will be in the Nett Lake and Pigeon River reservation country. For information about Wisconsin lands write to the United States land office at Wausau, Wis. (2) The Canadian Northern is near the Nett Lake lands. (3) No maps are supplied, but by writing to the United States land office in Duluth you can get full information about the land in this district and its location. For data on other land in this state, write to the Cass Lake or Crookston land office.

Arthur B., Duluth: Your question is not clear. State it more definitely and we will be pleased to try to answer it.

"F. W. B.," Donnybrook, N. D.: Mr. Gray moved from Canada to North Dakota when his son George was 3 years old. Mr. Gray has never taken out citizenship papers. Will his son be a citizen when he becomes of age?

Ans.: No.

"Tenant:" Can a good tenant be ordered out of a house after living in it for years and never behind with rent, because they don't like the idea of leasing it by the year?

Ans.: Generally lack of a lease leaves either tenant or landlord free to stop the tenancy on thirty days' notice. Any particular case, however, should be referred to an attorney.

"T. K.," Duluth: Would you please state in your paper the address and name of some large postcard company?

Ans.: We cannot give business addresses in this column.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following: "In the Valley of the Moon," from "A Subscriber," Duluth.

"My Dad's Dinner Pail," from Mrs. J. L. Young of Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following: "Cure O'Hara" and "Habitant," from "X. Y. Z." of Duluth.

In the Valley of the Moon."

I heard you calling me—
I heard you sigh;
I've been worrying—we'll be hurrying
Somewhere bye-and-bye.
Night shades are gathering;
Can't come too soon.
Let's go strolling, dearie, you and I,
In the valley of the moon.

Chorus.

In the valley of the moon,
Where I met you one night in June,
When I passed you by,
Thought I heard you sigh,
While the night birds were in tune.
I was lonesome—so were you.
There was nothing for us to do
But to lose our hearts, both you and I,
In the valley of the moon.

Hark to the nightingale
Singing his song
To his lady-love in her nest above.
It won't be so long
Till you'll be warbling,
Love's old, sweet tune
To the only one you ever loved
In the valley of the moon.
Chorus.

WILSON'S POPULARITY REACHES PROPORTIONS ALARMING TO G. O. P.

Vote in Minnesota Astonishing Even to His Own Party; Test Poll By the Nation Indicates Remarkable Strength of President; Tory Papers Roasting Primary; Senatorial Fight.

The fact that circumstances and events the country over are emphasizing what the impartial political writers and investigators of the nation have been asserting for some time, that President Wilson is closer to the people than any other man in public life at this time, is having the effect on the Old Guard of the Republican party of scaring them worse than they were when the Wilson strength was more theory than demonstrated fact, and they are busily shifting back and forth between Former President Roosevelt and Supreme Court Justice Hughes, as to which would be the stronger candidate. The party affection has been very fickle of late. First Hughes was talked strongly, with Roosevelt as a second consideration; then Roosevelt became the chief idol; then T. R. went away to the British West Indies, and Hughes came to the fore again; now the former president is back from the West Indies, and his stock is looming up again. Who it will be by June is a problem that nothing but time can solve.

Showing in Minnesota.

Concerning the strength of President Wilson, his run in Minnesota was phenomenal. In a state acknowledgedly Republican to an overwhelming degree, and in which the Democrats make no pretensions of strength in a presidential way, the fact that he got a total of 45,136 against a total of 68,617 cast for all Republican candidates not only is something for the Republicans to worry about but is astonishing and pleasing to the members of his own party. There was a contest on in the Republican party, which induced the casting of presidential preferential votes, but none existed in the Democratic party, and the vote given the president was wholly complimentary.

Here's another thing that does not sound well for the G. O. P., coming in the form of a telegram from New York on Friday last:

President Wilson, Supreme Court Justice C. E. Hughes, Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Elihu Root are leaders in a poll taken by The Nation in an attempt to learn who is the favorite candidate for the presidency.

Of 2,479 votes cast, 1,085 were for President Wilson. Of this number 1,008 cast their votes for him at the election of 1912, although only 477 recorded themselves as usually voting the Democratic ticket. Justice Hughes stands second with 734, Col. Roosevelt third with 263, and Senator Root fourth with 247. The president comes within 209 votes of having one-half of the total vote cast.

The Wilson popularity is growing, the nation over, and the Republican politicians are feeling baffled in their labor of talking it down. It is a hard job when there is nothing to sneer about except that the president has kept the nation out of war—and it is not very safe to sneer about that to people who have sons, brothers, or other male relatives who might be sent, or might have to go themselves. It's most discouraging.

Since the presidential primary, that part of the state press which has been "with" the Old Guard right along, is taking whacks at the primary system. It is unnecessary to advertise that they do not want it, for that is known. The old bossism, with its possibilities for if not actual presence of corruption, does not want progress, and especially such progress as takes out of its hands the control of office-holders, and places that control directly in the hands of the people.

And other editors have, parrotlike, been echoing the sentiments of the fellows who have axes to grind. The fact is that the primary is the right idea, even though it may need amending here and there. Were it perfect at birth or just after it learned to walk, it would, indeed, be a wonderful child, the like of which has never before been seen.

Reasonless Reasons.

The attack of the Minneapolis Journal on The Herald's proposal to amend the general primary law, so that a man's name could be put on the ticket by petition, making unnecessary his self-seeking—in other words drafting men fit for the office instead of leaving it open merely for the men who would like to hold office anyway, regardless of ability—was surprising. The surprise was in the fact that the Journal, usually astute, clear, and consistent, voices a reason for its opposition which was absolutely devoid of reason, namely, that such a plan would not prevent the selfseeker from filing. Of course it wouldn't; every American citizen has a right to file for whatever office he darn pleases, and there should be no law that will prevent his exercising that privilege; but it will give the opportunity of making a man a candidate who is fit in every way, but who will not take the initiative in going after the office himself. Every part of the state, at some time or other, has found itself in a position where such an opportunity to draft some good man would have been a godsend. The northern part of Minnesota, or, at least, the northeastern part, finds itself in that position now in the matter of getting desirable legislative candidates. There are good men here whom St. Louis county, for instance, would like to see go to the state legislature, but they won't make the try. If they could be drafted under some such plan as that proposed the other night by The Herald, the state could obtain their services and they would do honor to themselves and the communities they would represent.

The Journal needs a much better reason than it has scraped up before it can afford to risk its reputation in sneering at such a proposal.

Much ado has been made about defects in the presidential primary. The same observation as to lack of perfection will apply here as to the general primary. But as a matter of fact, the vote cast, 191,531 in the whole state, was a remarkable one, for it was confined virtually to two parties, that of the Prohibitionists being hardly countable, and the Socialists not voting at all. Complaint has been made that there was no chance for choice, which is true, and which could be cured by amending the law so that a name of a candidate for the presidency could not be withdrawn simply by request, after having been legally filed.

Editorially, The Herald is making the suggestion that when such a name is filed, the candidate could have his name taken off only by making oath that he is not a candidate, will not be one, and will not accept the nomination even if it is tendered to him.

Such a declaration would have more virtues than appear on the surface. For instance, it would have cleared up the present uncertainty concerning Justice Hughes and his much-mooted candidacy. Had such a law been in effect, and the justice's name filed, he would have had to fish or cut bait, tacitly agree to accept the nomination if tendered or emphatically declare he would not. See what anguish and anxiety it would have saved the Republicans of the nation to have such a declaration forced from the justice!

As already mentioned in the columns of The Herald, Former Governor Eberhart announced himself last Tuesday as a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator. Frank B. Kellogg had already done himself the same honor, and the state is now awaiting the announcement of Senator Clapp; also, maybe, that of Congressman Lindbergh. When all the candidates have gotten into the field, the campaign will be squared away for the final stretch.

The state press is commenting quite generally on the candidacies and are sidestepping predictions of Mr. Eberhart's failure, for they are talking a lot about the "luck." It's too early to make predictions anyway. Talk of Eberhart's strength is based on his large vote, which was a very carefully engineered bit of political tactics.

* * *

That the clean and unmistakable victory of the Cummins wing of the Republican party in the presidential primary, is a feather in the chapeau of Irving A. Caswell, there is no denying. Mr. Caswell managed the Cummins campaign excellently and left little chance for anybody else, making such an impression from the start that those who thought some of entering the race stayed out. Mr. Caswell's victory, on top of that of four years ago in carrying the state for Roosevelt, has stamped him as a manager of exceptional ability. He is believed to be slated for the office of national committeeman, which he resigned to take the management of the Roosevelt campaign.

Replying to comment in the Morris Tribune to the effect that the men on the Cummins ticket were simply in luck, Sam Y. Gordon, editor of the Browns Valley Tribune, says in a recent issue:

We presume it has not occurred to the editor of the Tribune that due to the organization ability and firm Republicanism of Irving A. Caswell, more than anything else, brought about the condition that united all leading Republicans as well as the rank and file of the party under one banner in the recent primary election. Prior to the time that Mr. Caswell took charge of Senator Cummins' campaign in this state, there were several other candidates for president intending to file their names in Minnesota. Among the number were Root, Burton, Fairbanks, Weeks and Sherman, and some of the candidates for delegates to Chicago had openly declared for some of the candidates, but after Mr. Caswell got down to business and got the Cummins movement well under way, they changed their views and filed under the Cummins banner, and as a result the various factions of the party were pretty well united. Mr. Caswell, it is true, worked diligently to secure a Cummins delegation to the national convention, but in doing so he recognized all factions, and is deserving of no little amount of credit for the tactful manner in which he handled the matter.

Mr. Caswell is a Republican of the progressive type; Minnesota is a progressive Republican state, and Mr. Caswell paved the way for the standpatters to join hands with the majority in the easiest possible way.

The Elk River Star News says:

It is reported that I. A. Caswell is slated for the position of Republican national committeeman for Minnesota. Caswell is a representative of the younger element in the party and his selection for that important position will be generally approved.

Minnesota as a whole is disgusted with the eleven members of congress from this state who voted against the president recently, and it seems safe to say that should the present feeling in the matter be crystalized into action, most of them would be retired. The feeling in the First district against Representative Sydney Anderson is expressed as openly hostile, and the following from the Rochester Post-Record is a fair sample:

General disgust is expressed in the First district that Congressman Sydney Anderson voted against President Wilson. In Winona the indignation is so strong that steps are being taken to find a candidate to run against Anderson, and some who have been his strongest friends are now opposed to him. George P. Tawney, former postmaster at Winona, and F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia are mentioned as available candidates. Either would get strong support in Olmstead county.

Browns Valley Tribune: Since ex-Governor Eberhart leads the ticket in the race for delegates-at-large, he certainly has received a lot of encouragement to make the run for United States senator, and in case he does, it must be admitted that his opponents, whoever they may be, will have no easy time of it. Editor Gordon first doubted the former governor's sincerity as a Cummins man, then apologized when Mr. Eberhart protested, and now seems almost on the point of indorsing him. But it seems unlikely that such a thing will happen in view of past events.

* * *

Elk River Star-News: Probably the best thing yet happening to the Kellogg candidacy for the United States senate, is the prodding he is beginning to get from the old crowd of politicians who resent the advent of any new blood getting to the front without consulting them. However, they have not yet pronounced him a horse thief or murderer but there is lots of time for such pleasantries.

Yes, they do say that some hot stuff is cookin'.

The reason given in the following by the Elk River Star-News for the vote given O. J. Larson in the recent primary is probably true in part, but the trouble is that it did not extend far enough. Mr. Larson got a good vote at home because his fellow townsmen know him and like him and realize that he was sincerely a Progressive and a thoroughly representative man:

O. L. Larson of Duluth may well feel proud of the vote he received at the recent primary. Larson was unknown to the voters outside of Duluth and it was largely due to geographical conditions, he being the only candidate from that section. The voters evidently concluded that Duluth was entitled to some representation, and there you are.

All Agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Wonderfully Relieves Woman's Suffering.

From all parts of this country the clearest evidence is constantly coming to the office of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., proving the wonderful power shown by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in controlling ills peculiar to women. Here are letters from Vermont, Arkansas and New Jersey:

It Cured Me!

Roxbury, Vt.—"A year ago last December I was taken with a female trouble and doctored for it but did not get any help until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back troubled me a good deal and these troubles lasted so long that I grew terribly poor and I felt a great deal easier lying down. No one knows what I suffered. I did not dare consult another doctor I was so afraid he would say I had got to have an operation. I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a god-send to me for after suffering about eight months this wonderful medicine cured me."—Mrs. Nellie E. French.

Her Best Friend.

Weehawken, N. J.—"I must call you my best friend for what your remedies have done for me. I am 50, and am passing through the Change of Life and for some time I felt bad but since I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel fine and will recommend it to every woman who suffers as I did."—Mrs. Kathie Leonhardt, 419 7th St., Weehawken, N. J.

Had Awful Pains in Side.

Branch, Ark.—"Every month I suffered with cramping pains and I had awful pains in my left side. I was very irregular. I had a tired feeling all the time and did not sleep good at night. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in three months I was well."—Mrs. Mae Gattis, Branch, Ark.

ENGLISH CITIES WANT TARIFF LAW

Feeling Against German Competition Is the Chief Incentive.

London, March 27.—The recent revolt of Manchester, the home of Cobden, against the cherished British tradition of open markets for the goods of all the world, was only the start in a movement which has gone steadily forward in the great industrial centers of the country, Birmingham, Sheffield, Edinburgh, Leeds, and practically all of the important trade centers joining in the move for a straight-out tariff law. It is not a political movement, as tariff controversies in the United States have been; this is essentially an economic movement, spontaneous in trade and agricultural quarters, with the war and the feeling against German competition as the chief incentive to a change.

"It has reached the point," said an American official who has been closely studying the movement, "that any opponent of a tariff is now denounced as a German sympathizer, so that the old Cobden men and Free Traders are obliged to keep silent for fear of losing their reputation by being classed as Germans."

All the large commercial cities without exception came out definitely for a tariff law at the recent gathering here of commercial bodies from all parts of the kingdom. Manchester, the second city in the country, had already shown its position by retiring its board of directors who proposed a free trade resolution and sought to send free trade delegates to London. So Manchester was not represented at the London conference, for the significant reason that it had refused to approve the presence of free trade delegates. But Birmingham, Sheffield and all the other great centers were represented in an impressive gathering of the men who run the big industries of the country; a gathering of hard-headed business men, each one of them looking like the typical John Bull, and all of them imbued with the idea that the old traditions must go and new tariff laws take their place. The resolutions of these different cities show the varying shades of view, but all in the same general direction of a tariff.

FIREMEN TO HAVE HEARING

Council Looks With Favor on Movement for Double Platoon System.

May Include Change in 1917 Budget—Petition Filed Saturday.

City commissioners will this afternoon take the first official step toward the consideration of the proposed double platoon system desired by the firemen of the city.

Admitting that the demands of the firemen are just and that the plan of establishing the double platoon system at a cost of but $30,600 for the first year might be worked out satisfactorily in making out the budget for 1917, the members of the council are looking with favor on the proposal and at the meeting this afternoon will adopt a resolution inviting the firemen to appoint a committee for the purpose of taking the matter up with the commissioners.

On Saturday morning a petition, signed by ninety-four firemen, the entire department with the exception of Chief Randall and the two assistant chiefs, was filed with the commissioners and at the council meeting today Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, will introduce the resolution inviting the firemen to a conference some time this week. The petition was published in The Herald Saturday.

This proposed action by the council indicates that they are not entirely opposed to the request of the firemen, and those behind the campaign for a double platoon system believe that the move is a good omen for the members of the department. If the plan can be included in the 1917 budget, it is generally admitted at the city hall that the increase of $30,600 in the department payroll will be authorized.

It is understood that if the commissioners authorize the double platoon system, the initiative ordinance now in circulation and already signed by 8,000 voters will be withdrawn. In the petition filed Saturday the firemen ask for the double platoon, providing for but twelve hours' work in any one day, no salary reductions, and a vacation of two weeks with pay each year. If their requests are granted, the firemen agree to install telephones in their houses, so that they can be called for emergencies.

According to figures obtained by Chief Randall at the request of the council, the double platoon system proposed would require thirty-four additional men at a total salary of $30,600 the first year.

"YOU CAN'T PREACH TO PEOPLE IN THE THEATER," SAYS DAVID WARFIELD

David Warfield does not entertain any illusions regarding the theater of today. He was asked if the drama was getting better—if the people were demanding better plays?

"That's nonsense," returned the actor. "The plays that survive, whether they are good or bad, are the plays that please. You can't preach to the people in a theater. Use your common sense and reason it out yourself. The people go to the theater to be entertained. If you can manage to get some instruction into the play, so much the better; but this talk of whether the drama is getting better is a subject that I have little time for. The people have always gone to the plays they liked, even if they were the sheerest nonsense. Get something that strikes the public fancy, and you will find the house filled at every performance. On the other hand, you may have the best play in the world from many standpoints—a drama teaching a great moral lesson and one that meets with the approbation of the critics, and it will fail utterly to please.

"That has been the case for ages and it will continue to be the case. How do I know whether the drama is getting better, or whether the people are going to demand better drama? I would be foolish to even attempt to say. I am neither a seer nor prophet. I believe there is considerable foolishness written about the drama. It all comes down to giving the people what they want. All the great and successful plays have been great and successful because they pleased those who went to see them. A play that fails is seldom considered great by anyone, save its author. That's the answer."

ASSEMBLY OF WORKERS

Federation Issues Call for Labor's World Peace Congress.

To Be Held When Belligerents Meet to Discuss Peace.

Washington, March 27.—The American Federation of Labor's call for Labor's World Peace congress, to be assembled at the same time and place the belligerents meet to make the terms which end the world war, was sent out yesterday to the organized labor movement of all countries.

Proposed first by the executive council of the American federation, and approved at the national convention in San Francisco last year, Labor's World Peace congress would be an assembly of workers to demand that the peace delegates of the warring nations determine nothing touching the lives of the workers without taking counsel with them. Such an assembly of representatives of wage earners close by the deliberations of the peace delegates is expected to have a large effect on the spirit and determination of the latter.

Plans Suggested.

The plan approved by the American Federation of Labor contains the following general suggestions:

"Let every national center affiliated to the International Federation of Trade Unions send not more than two delegates to the conference. The labor movement of any country, even though not affiliated, could send one delegate. If ther is no one general labor movement in a country, let the representatives of the organizations of that country agree to send one delegate. Then it should also be understood that representatives of this congress must be either officials or duly accredited representatives of economic organizations of wage-earners. The delegates to this international conference before leaving their home countries should make provisions for publicity through the labor and reform press of their countries for the deliberations and the decisions of the labor conference so that the wage-earners of the whole world would be in possession of the truth in regard to what transpires.

"You will note these suggestions are to facilitate the holding of such a congress. This communication to you constitutes the necessary official invitation and notification to participate in that congress. And additional announcement through the press that the general World Peace congress will be convened in a certain place at a certain time, will constitute the only notification necessary for sending your representatives to the Labor Peace congress.

Movement of the People.

"The proposed plan for the labor congress is formulated for the purpose of securing the representative thought and conviction of the organized labor movement of the world. It is well known that the labor movements in every country are a power for democracy, and insistently and fearlessly urge in every relation the paramount importance of the human element. There are no other organizations that are concerned wholly and purely with human welfare—the protection and the conservation of human life. The labor movement everywhere is a movement of the people, in the interest of the people and for the rights of the people. In all other world congresses and general conferences for considering national affairs, it has not been the custom to have representatives who stood for human rights and for human interests. Political, commercial, industrial, legal interests have always been represented, but despite the fact that nations and civilization exist for human beings, human beings as human beings, and principles of human welfare, have never been represented in these councils. It is this wider and broader concept that we wish to bring into the next world congress and so to humanize and elevate the thought and the decisions.

No Program Offered.

"The plan of the American labor movement for this Labor Peace congress has to do solely with the organization of that congress. We do not offer any program or any theory as to what the members of that Labor Peace congress shall do. It seems best to leave representatives free and unhampered to use whatever opportunity shall be available and to take advantage of any opportunity to promote the interests of the workers in accord with their best judgment. We recognize full well that no conventional agencies or plans or devices for the maintenance of peace can be of any use if there does not exist in each nation the will and the understanding to maintain justice, which is the basis of all real peace. It is this thought that was the ultimate purpose of the proposed Labor Peace congress—that by securing for the wage-earners of the world consideration and hearing of their demands, of their grievances, there would be brought about a better understanding of true national welfare and progress and that the principles that must underlie relations between nations should be in accord with justice."

WILL INSIST ON USE OF SUBMARINE

Progressive People's Party of Germany Approve Such Warfare.

Amsterdam, Holland, March 27, via London.—The Tageblatt of Berlin says that at the annual meeting of the Progressive People's party in Berlin, Dr. Otto Wiener made a statement in regard to the attitude taken by members of the party in the reichstag and the Prussian diet on the submarine question. He announced the party had sent a telegram to Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, under-secretary for foreign affairs, stating that it would never admit the illegality of submarine warfare and that in negotiations with other powers "we cannot allow the submarine weapon to be snatched from our hands."

Discussing recent differences of opinion concerning the use of submarines and the ultimate effect of a conflict with the United States, Dr. Wiener said: "We are not afraid and we shall regard new dangers with calm confidence, but we wish to live in peace with America and avoid a rupture. Who, wantonly, by thoughtless action, brings about a rupture, sins against the fatherland."

Alluding to the political agitation in Germany, he said it was directed against the imperial government, and continued:

"From the beginning we have demanded increased and accelerated construction of submarines. If the building of submarines had been carried out earlier and at a more rapid rate, their employment in war possibly might have increased considerably. We shall not allow the submarine weapon to slip out of our hands."

RESERVE BANK IS BOON TO FARMERS

Tides Over Difficulties for Them; Develops Credit Report System.

Bankers concede that the Ninth district Federal reserve bank at Minneapolis has been a boon to the farming community. It is estimated that 90 per cent of its $6,161,000 rediscounts during the past sixteen months has been for country banks, and the great bulk of the collateral given on loans has been farmers' paper.

This result, reserve bank officers point out, has been the natural outgrowth of the conditions of 1915, and those which have so far prevailed in 1916, says the Minneapolis Tribune. The pressure on banks in commercial and manufacturing centers has been light. Few situations have developed that local banks, carrying heavy deposits and large excess reserves, could not readily meet. In the country, conditions have been different. The foot and mouth quarantine, planting and harvesting demands, and the failure of the corn crop have been the flaws in an otherwise unusually favorable agricultural record, and, in the localities affected, have compelled farmers to borrow freely and created a considerable demand on country banks. The resulting paper, specifically provided for by the liberal agricultural provisions of the law, has constituted by far the larger part of the average of $410,000 per month taken by the reserve bank of Minneapolis since organization. The average rate has been lower than that at which farmers' paper has been discounted in any previous year.

An incidental result of this unexpected development of business with the agricultural sections, and one which will be immensely valuable in time to both farmers and country banks, has been a slow but gradual movement toward the establishment of customers' credit files in the rural banks. The reserve bank requires, with each farmer's note presented for rediscount, a statement showing the assets, liabilities and net worth of the farmer who made it.

As the use of signed statements gradually extended, farmers were quick to see the advantage of having a sure and substantial foundation for their bank credit, and the practice of making statements regularly, similar to those required of commercial enterprises, is rapidly growing. No paper is now rediscounted without such a statement, the practice having been more widely adopted in this than in any other reserve district.

The 1916 outlook is for light rediscounting by banks in commercial and manufacturing centers. Liberal orders and good collections have placed business concerns and industrial activity on a very solid basis. In the country there promises a somewhat different situation. Over the grain territory there is a considerable shortage of fall plowing. Sound seed corn is scarce. There will be great activity as soon as spring opens up, and in the western portion of the district a more active demand for funds for farm operations than a year ago. The stock situation through the central part of the district is uncertain. Poor feed and good prices have made heavy inroads upon the cattle and hogs on the farm, and it is predicted that the coming season will force a movement to replenish livestock.

Buy Iron River Store.

Crystal Falls, Mich., March 27.—Jacob brothers bought the Chero stock of jewelry at Iron River from its owner, Mr. Wooster, and took hold of the business. It is their intention to maintain both stores, one here and one at Iron River, for a time at least.

SEEK FIRST HAND FACTS

Operation Conditions Under Seaman's Act to Be Investigated.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assistant Secretary of Commerce Edwin F. Sweet started today on a trip of inspection to Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit to ascertain actual conditions regarding Great Lakes traffic under the operation of the new seaman's act.

It is possible the trip will be extended to Chicago and Duluth.

The vessel owners claim that it has been impossible to get enough certified seamen to operate their boats. This is denied by officers of the labor organizations. Mr. Sweet has arranged for interviews with representatives of both sides.

The prediction is made that next season will be the most active in years on the Great Lakes. The congestion of freight cars at Eastern terminals and the embargo on shipments by rail has resulted in a demand for vessels in which all sorts of commodities in addition to the traffic in grain and ore will be shipped to Buffalo and thence down the Erie canal to New York if the railroad situation remains as it is now.

LITERACY TEST KEPT IN IMMIGRATION BILL

All Minnesota Members Will Vote for It on Final Roll Call.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 27.—The literacy test was kept in the immigration bill by the house working in committee of the whole today by a vote of 225 to 82, which defeated a motion by Representative Sabath of Illinois to strike it out. The question comes up again when the house votes on the bill as a whole.

When the members of the Minnesota delegation passed between the tellers in committee of the whole today, Representative George R. Smith voted against the literacy test for immigrants. Representatives Schall, Ellsworth, Van Dyke, Miller, Anderson, Volstead and Lindbergh voted for the literacy test. Representative Davis was attending a meeting of the appropriations committee and did not vote. He is counted as being opposed to the test, and is expected to vote against it when a record vote is taken in the house.

All the Minnesota members will vote for the bill on the final roll call.

PAVING CASE WILL BE COMPLETED

Either late this afternoon or tomorrow morning, presentation of arguments in the Ninth street paving case brought by the city of Duluth against the Duluth Street Railway company to secure judicial interpretation of city charter provisions relating to the company's obligations in the matter of paving costs, will be resumed.

The first of the arguments were made a week ago last Saturday and it is expected that the case will be finally submitted sometime tomorrow. F. W. Sullivan, special counsel for the city, and Oscar Mitchell of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell attorneys for the traction company, are arguing the case.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER IS RISING FAST

Up a Foot at St. Paul and Further Advance Is Expected.

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mississippi river is rising fast and owners of property along the river front in St. Paul were today making all movable property fast to the bank. Since Saturday the river has advanced one foot in height and a further rise is looked for.

According to engineers, the sudden rise is due to the amount of water that is being poured into it by the Minnesota river. That river is on a rampage and has been running bankfull for the past two days.

Big blocks of ice were seen today in the river below St. Paul. It is feared that an ice jam would result, but the engineers are on the lookout and the moment it piles up they will use dynamite. Much of the ice comes from the Minnesota river.

No anxiety is being exhibited by United States engineers for the safety of the high dam near the Soldiers' home, which was partly demolished by high water a year ago. They say they have everything well in hand.

PLAN BRANCH OF JEWISH CONGRESS

Organization Will Be Perfected at Meeting on April 23.

Preliminary plans for the organization of a Duluth branch of the American Jewish congress were made at a meeting of representatives of fourteen Jewish organizations held yesterday afternoon at the Hebrew Institute, Third avenue east and Third street.

It was decided yesterday to hold another meeting on Sunday, April 23, when the organization will be perfected, officers elected and plans made to participate in the next gathering of the American congress. This nation-wide organization, which has for its aim the representation of the Jew when peace negotiations are begun at the close of the present European war, is now in session at Philadelphia, the first meetings having been held yesterday.

Those who attended the meeting yesterday afternoon were invited by leaders of the movement in Duluth.

CLAIMS ASSESSOR EVADES REGULATIONS

Former Building Appraiser Asks to Be Reinstated.

Charges that the city assessor is evading the civil service regulations are made by W. F. Markus, former employe of the department, in a communication filed with City Clerk Borgen this morning. It will be read at the council meeting this afternoon.

Mr. Markus, who was laid off as the building appraiser for the assessor's office on May 31, 1913, because of a reduction in the force, claims that since then Archie McLean has been hired in violation of the civil service regulations. He states that he is entitled to resume his duties, in view of the fact that the position is again open. According to Mr. Markus, Deputy McLean was hired on Jan. 1, 1914, and is still in the employ of the department.

"I want to direct the attention of the commissioners to the fact that there is a desire on the part of the assessor to evade the civil service regulations," states Mr. Markus.

The complainant asks in his communication that the council reinstate him as building appraiser in the assessor's office.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CURLING CLUB

President and Three Directors Are to Be Voted Upon.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Curling club will be held Monday evening, April 3, in the rooms of the curling club. There will be a banquet held in connection with the meeting. Hans Haroldson, chairman of the entertainment committee, is in charge of the banquet.

Club president and three directors will come up for election. Frank Crasweller, R. J. MacLeod and W. H. Kitchill are the retiring members of the board of directors. D. B. McDonald, J. W. Lyder, H. S. McGregor, E. A. Forsyth, E. N. Whyte and J. E. MacGregor, holding over.

It is expected plans for the coming year will be considered at this meeting.

BODY OF NURSE IS FOUND ON CAMPUS

Dallas, Tex., March 27.—The body of Miss Z. M. Cramer, aged 24, a trained nurse, was found early today on the high school campus at Oak Cliff, a suburb. She had been strangled to death. Disarranged clothing indicated she had made a desperate struggle for her life. The contents of her suitcase were scattered over the lawn.

Miss Cramer had been on a case at Edom, Tex. She returned Sunday night and was probably attacked while en route from the railway station to her home. Police were unable to assign a motive for the crime.

RUSSIAN LOSSES SAID TO BE HEAVY

Berlin Dispatch Declares Men Are Brutally Driven Into Battle.

Berlin, March 27, wireless to Sayville.—"War correspondents on the Russian front state unanimously that the losses of the Russians in their new offensive are appalling," says the Overseas News agency. "On several occasions Russian artillery directed a curtain of fire behind the Russian troops in order to push them forward. "The correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung forwards declarations of Russian prisoners of war who state that their officers employed brutal methods to compel them to move to the fighting lines. Of one regiment barely 250 men returned from the attack. The first Siberian corps may be said to have ceased to exist."

Loses Life Saving Friend.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 27.—Edward Davis, a workman at the plant of the Aetna Chemical company, today saw his friend, James Dougherty, another workman, overcome by gas as he entered an empty tank. Davis fell over dead from the fumes as he rescued Dougherty, who, physicians said, will recover.

WORKERS TO BE ORGANIZED

Labor Assembly Will Unite Unskilled Laborers at Meeting Wednesday.

President Hall to Speak—Union May Ask for Schedule Revision.

The organization of all common laborers in the city is the aim of the Duluth Labor assembly, and for that purpose it has called a mass meeting of all workers for next Wednesday night at the Bricklayers' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street. President E. G. Hall of the Minnesota Federation of Labor and other labor leaders will give addresses.

Labor leaders point out that virtually all the trades are now bound together in a strong union while many men doing common labor are unprotected and working for small wages. In this way they are unable to compete with their fellow workers who are protected and drawing perhaps double their wages.

President Hall has been in Duluth most of the time for several weeks, and has met every union in the city and discussed the Labor Forward Movement, which is one of education, teaching the principles of efficiency and progress. President Hall has met with a hearty welcome here, and has been warmly supported in all his work for better labor conditions.

The organization of the common workers is somewhat new to labor organizers and entirely new in Duluth. For this reason and the wide influence it will have throughout the country, the success of the meeting on next Wednesday night will be looked forward to with interest by both employers and employes.

Owing to the increasing demands for labor there is a wide discussion now as to what the unions will do regarding their wage schedules for the coming season. It is said some will seek a higher schedule, and with all lines of business enjoying great activity, it is expected that their requests will be carefully considered. Common laborers are now dictating terms as to employment and wages, and union labor stands in a much stronger position.

PLEADS ALIBI TO PROVE INNOCENCE

Disberry Says He Was in Prison When Erickson Was Murdered.

Although Minneapolis police thought that Clifford Disberry, alias Clifford Dwyer, former Duluth man, aged 28, whose career of crime has already landed him in two state penitentiaries, was responsible for the murder of John E. Erickson on June 27, 1914, Disberry pleads an alibi. He says that he was in Stillwater prison at the time and could not have committed the crime charged against him.

In a letter written from San Quentin penitentiary to his mother who lives in Duluth, Disberry among other things says:

"Just another line to let you know I am well. I hope you are well and getting along nicely. I am getting along nicely here. I have been here one year April 1. I am playing in the band now and have been six months. Next month I will be playing in the orchestra.

"I can apply for a parole this coming January, but I am afraid I will have to go back to Stillwater for eleven months. I want my Stillwater papers to show that I was in Stillwater June 30, 1914.

"The Minneapolis police telegraphed here and asked if I was here. They said I was wanted in Minneapolis for something done June 30, 1914, and at that time I was in Stillwater. Hence the reason for parole papers to prove it was not me.

"Don't worry, for it is nothing to worry over, but send the parole papers right away. Well I will close, with love and kisses to you. Your loving son who thinks of you.

"CLIFFORD DISBERRY."

SOCIAL AND SMOKER FOR COMPANY C

Ex-Members and Possible Recruits Have Been Invited.

Company C, Third infantry, M. N. G., will hold a smoker and social session Wednesday evening at the new armory. The affair will be held in the assembly room instead of the clubrooms and all ex-members and possible recruits are cordially invited to attend. The program will consist of musical and variety numbers. The Alpha Omega quartet will sing and other musical numbers will be contributed by Privates Thorstad, Sherwood and Hargraves. Privates Merkle and Bowman will do a ten-minute vaudeville skit and Private F. Simpson will give an exhibition of charcoal drawing. A boxing match in barrels will be staged by Privates Verden and Shogran. Boxing matches will also be staged between M. Bugle and A. A. Adams, and M. Bugle and Joe Porter. Hargraves and Porter will put on a wrestling bout. The program will be followed by short talks by some of the officers, after which there will be coffee and lunch. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Lieut. Roy K. Carpenter, Sergt. A. W. Gasper, Corp. Carl Haglund and Corp. Martin Bugle. No drill is scheduled for Wednesday evening. The smoker will begin at 8 o'clock.

U. C. T. ACTIVITIES.

Zenith Council Getting Ready for Very Busy Season.

Members of Zenith council, No. 40, U. C. T., are very busy these days getting ready for events planned for the coming year, notably the convention of the grand council of the Wisconsin branch of the order, to be held in Superior on June 1, 2 and 3. On the second day, the baseball experts of Zenith council will play a picked team of U. C. T. men from Wisconsin at Hislop park, and on Saturday, the Duluth men will parade up Tower avenue in full uniform, headed by a band.

Zenith council will have an initiation on the evening of April 8, and it is expected that at that time twenty new members will be given the boosts and bumps attendant upon such events.

The council gave a dance last Saturday evening at its hall, 112 West Superior street, which was largely attended and evidently very much enjoyed.

DULUTH'S SCHOOL SYSTEM

Being a Review of Some Facts About the Community's Most Important Business—No. 1, the Educational "Plant."

Recently the Woman's Council of Duluth brought to the city C. A. Prosser of Minneapolis to talk on the value of a school survey. Mr. Prosser gave a most interesting and enlightening talk about the biggest and most important business the American people have—educating their children.

As a result of this lecture, The Herald has assigned a member of its staff to make a study of the school system of Duluth, and present the facts in a series of articles in The Herald, the first of which is published herewith. It does not at all pretend to be a survey in the sense which Mr. Prosser means. It should not under any circumstances be mistaken for an attempted substitute for a survey. Nor is it an attempt to muckrake the schools. It is simply an effort to put before the parents of Duluth, some facts they should know about the school system including the buildings, the grounds, the finances, the teachers, the courses of study, and the results the courses show. The Herald hopes that its survey will be followed by one of the type contemplated by Mr. Prosser and the Woman's Council.—The Editor.

Duluth's educational "plant" consists of thirty-seven buildings, representing an outlay of $3,500,000 in real estate and improvements. Of this total about $500,000 has been spent for sites and playgrounds adjoining the buildings proper.

Two of the buildings, small ones, were abandoned this year and five of the remaining thirty-five are small frame structures. Virtually all of the thirty remaining ones are modern and in a good state of repair.

The independent school district of the city is controlled by a board of education consisting of nine directors and Supt. R. E. Denfeld. Three directors are elected each year for a term of three years.

In addition to the regular public schools within the city proper, the district has supervision over the Colbyville, Kenwood, Kruger and Smithville schools. The Colbyville and Kruger are the two which have been discontinued.

Adopting New System.

The so-called "six-three-and-three" system now is being installed in Duluth. It calls for six years of grade work, three years of junior high school work and three years of senior high school work, instead of the old "eight-and-four" system.

Two senior high schools and three junior high schools now are being operated. A fourth junior high is being planned for the East end district, completing the system.

Central high school, the largest building in the city, represents an investment of $600,000, of which $120,000 was spent for the site. The foundation for the building was laid in 1890 and class work began two years later. There are now fifty-two rooms and 1,386 pupils were enrolled at last reports. It is steam-heated and ventilated by five fans.

The Denfeld high school was built in 1914 at a cost of about $163,000 on part of the site occupied by the Ely grade building. Three hundred and seventy-five graduates of West Duluth and New Duluth grade schools now are taking advanced work in that building. The structure is steam-heated, well ventilated and strictly modern.

All of the three junior high schools are well equipped, modern buildings. The Washington junior high building, located within half a block of Central high school, is the second largest school building in the city and cost $375,000, of which $37,400 was expended for the site.

The structure also houses the Washington grade school and the manual training school. It has forty rooms and was built in 1910-1911.

The Irving junior high school, in West Duluth, is in the building originally known as the Irving school, which contains both the grade and junior high sclasses. It has thirty-one rooms and cost $125,000 in 1894-1895, when it was erected. Extensive improvements have been made since that time. It is steam-heated and in fairly good condition.

Twelve of the grade schools have been built since 1900 and are in excellent condition. The following table shows when they were built, the cost of site and total cost:

School—	When Built.	Site.	Total Cost.
Edwin R. Cobb..	1913	$ 2,000	$ 45,000
Ely	1907	9,250	66,750
Ensign	1909	2,000	42,000
Fairmont	1910	6,400	74,600
Lester Park ...	1913	5,500	92,000
Madison	1908	6,000	45,200
Monroe	1900	15,000	54,200
Munger	1914	5,000	31,400
Salter	1909	7,200	75,500
Washburn ...	1905	2,000	55,800
Washington .	1910-11	37,400	337,800

The Lester Park school and the Whittier school, the latter on Minnesota Point, are frame buildings, but the only two of any size which are classified in this way. The Oneota, Radisson, Smithville, Kenwood and Fond du Lac are smaller schools. The Oneota has an enrollment of eight-eight pupils, that being the highest of the five.

The Endion, Lincoln and Franklin grade school buildings are the oldest in the city's system, having been erected in 1888 or 1889. The Adams school, another large grade building, was built in 1885, but has been improved from time to time.

The Jefferson, with twenty-three rooms, is the largest grade school. It was erected in 1893. The Bryant, another large one, was built in 1894-95.

Red Lake County Court.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—District court, Judge William Watts presiding, convened her today for the March general term. There are no criminal cases on the calendar and it is not probable that the fourteen civil cases on the calendar will make the session a long one.

HANNA NOT TO QUIT FEDERAL BANK JOB

Bismarck, N. D., March 27.—Governor L. B. Hanna will not resign his post as a director of the Federal reserve bank of Minneapolis. Mr. Hanna makes positive statement to that effect.

The report that Mr. Hanna contemplated resigning was published in Minneapolis, but the executive denies it.

"There is absolutely no foundation for the report. I have not even considered quitting the position," said Mr. Hanna.

Buy Pine Lumber Yards.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Lumber company, operated by W. N. Nortz of Devils Lake and A. G. Nortz of Breckenridge, Minn., has purchased lumber yards located at Lakota, Tolna, Anota, Walcott and Breckenridge. The company operated nine yards previously, which, with the recent acquisition, makes it one of the largest in this section of the Northwest.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—E. J. Moore, for twenty years grand recorder of the North Dakota grand lodge A. O. U. W., has been appointed supreme recorder of the order, and the headquarters of the supreme lodge will be removed from Meadville, Pa., to Fargo.

WASHBURN IS BOOMING.

New Concerns Being Established in Northern Wisconsin City.

Washburn, Wis., March 27.—Every day sees something done here indicative of the improved business conditions. New buildings, new concerns and other indications of better times are self evident. This community has not been in such flourishing condition in years, due, many say, to the big boom in war munitions and the prosperity of the big Dupont powder plant at Barksdale near here, where nearly 2,000 men are employed.

The plans and specifications for the seven new residences to be built by the Dupont people in this city this spring have been completed and the architect is going over them, figuring out the details regarding the material to be used. Bids will be called for this week and work commenced on their construction within a short time. It is not yet definitely known but it is thought that two more residences will be built by the company, making in all nine modern homes to be put up here by this company.

Messrs. Edward P. Pederson and R. W. Smith have purchased the Walker building, opposite Hotel Washburn, and have men rebuilding the property and will fit it up in neat modern style. When completed within a couple of weeks, Yep Gin of Iron Mountain, Mich., will open a laundry therein.

Postmaster O'Sullivan and son John recently purchased the Nygaard building on West Bayfield street, and within a few weeks the latter will open a first-class plumbing shop therein.

C. E. Patterson of Bayfield has purchased the Bell building, two doors west of the Temple theater, now occupied by the Proell bowling alleys, and will take possession within a few weeks. He will make some extensive repairs and put the building in first-class shape and when completed will open a modern and thoroughly first-class day and night restaurant.

New Minot Trust Company.

Minot, N. D., March 27.—Incorporation papers have been issued by the secretary of state to the Bankers' Trust company of Minot. The capital stock is $100,000. Among the incorporators are the following well-known Minot business men: H. J. Halvorsen, E. A. Long, H. E. Shearn, Fred L. Anderson, Newell R. Olson and G. W. McWilliams.

Right Now Every Woman

In This Section Should Start Final Preparations for a Complete Dress-up for Spring!

The new season is here—the spring styles are fixed and stocks are at their fullest and best right now.

Now come the days when stylish women most enjoy the wearing of new apparel.

New styles are most effective at the moment when they are NEW—when they give prestige and distinction to their wearers.

A New Gown for Tuesday's Symphony Concert

Certainly! Why not? Yours is ready—a beauty, too. Yet us have your order for tomorrow.

To lose the enjoyment of possession during the early spring days is also to lose a large part of the service that garments should give.

Even during the disagreeable weather of the past few weeks the selling of spring things has been so brisk that the whole city will soon be newly apparaled as the correct spring dress-up requires. The woman who delays securing the new styles will pay a big price in her loss of self-esteem in being behind her friends and neighbors in wearing the season's new fashions.

Millinery Was Never More Alluring and Never Were Our Stocks More Admirably Selected

Gray hats are hats of refinement and distinction and modest prices make them doubly attractive. Never mind the weather—come in and try on some of them.

The Easter Garments Are Charming

The new suits for women have the freshness and charm that will make you eager to appear in style that is most becoming to you.

The New Coats

Spring coats embrace smartness and character that has rarely been equaled in past seasons.

They give a finish to the outfit that will be most gratifying to their fortunate possessors.

The New Blouses

The Easter blouses command the interested inspection of every tasteful woman.

You will find models of unusual loveliness—some of them daintily simple—others elaborately elegant.

DOERS BETTER THAN MARTYRS

Many Will Die for Truth But Not Live for It, Says Dr. Gebauer.

Poetry of Good Life Must Be Transformed Into Deeds.

Living for a cause is better than dying for it according to Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, in his sermon yesterday morning on "The Martyrdom of Life." Martyrdom, he declared, was noble, but as truth stands for the highest and best in life, it is better to continue to bear witness for the truth. He said in part:

"Not only Christionity, but all religions worth the name, have had their martyrs— men and women ready to die for what they held true. That readiness and eagerness to die for a great cause is indeed noble, and it would be a sad day for the world when men would prize life more than truth. But after all that truth stands but for the highest and best in life; hence there is such a thing as bearing witness to the life by the truth and the light that is in us. It has been said by a wise thinker 'That men will fight and burn and die for their religion, all, but live for it.' And is it not exactly this martyrdom of life for which Jesus stood? The great mass of his teaching does not concern itself with dying for truth, but with living in the truth. Unfortunately for Christianity through issues of life have been largely overshadowed by considerations of death. The regard for self and the fear for self have driven men to seek their salvation in doctrines for which they were ready to die, while they overlooked the earthly life which alone gives reason for such doctrines.

Life and Salvation One.

Only the fewest despite all the teachings of the master, will see, that life and salvation are one. Not that men and women in Christendom were altogether without the true life of love, but that to them it was not aim and end of their religious endeavor. The good life seemed to them rather a by-product than the main product of their faith. Only gradually we begin to see, that Christian discipleship is nothing but the endeavor to live the Christly life. We begin to realize that love of God is love of good, as Whittier puts it. That to be saved is only this—salvation from our selfishness. And this thought of life has become embodied in our hymns, which we sing every Sunday morning, especially in the liberal churches. But after all a sad mistake would make the man, who would judge our Christianity by our hymnology. If we are honest with ourselves, we will confess, that in spite of better knowledge, we have not attained to the life of love, of God. Too much is our truth like the dead candle in a lantern. It testifies against us rather than for us. No, the most expensive wax candle has no practical value except it is lighted. Beautiful theories of a life of love are in themselves dead and worthless. Truth must not merely be believed in but must be lived in.

"The sweet poetry of the good life must be transformed into the glorious prose of noble living. One little word of kindness outweighs all the hymnals of love we may sing about, a single act of love is in the sight of God worth more than all the preachments of self-sacrifice. The things a man will do in the spirit of love proclaim largely what his religion is. The self-forgetting, loving soul is the one which lives in God, though it never utter a single word of prayer and praise, for God is love. Religion is life and living means loving and loving means doing. And profession of love which remains unrelated to life, sneers at itself and discredits itself. We must try to be what we believe in, we must try to live the love we hold as true. This is the way of salvation and there is no other. Only he who loves the eternal goodness and meets in that love his fellows, has entered into the kingdom of heaven."

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR CLAN STEWART

Dr. Brewer Preaches on "The Betrayal" at First Presbyterian.

A special program was given last night at the First Presbyterian church in honor of Clan Stewart, the members of which marched eighty-five strong, headed by Chief Dan Cameron, to the church. Dr. George Brewer, the pastor, preached a sermon on "The Betrayal," using as his text "But woe unto that man through whom the son of man is betrayed."

In his discourse Dr. Brewer gave an outline of the life of Judas, showing how he was a man of keen intellect and preserving character, but how he had served his master as treasurer of the band of disciples, not for the good of the cause, but rather for selfish interests, expecting that Christ would become ruler of the world in a temporal sense and that his treasury would be filled with fabulous riches. When he found his plans could not be realized, he sold his master for fourteen dollars. Then when it was too late to prevent the consequences of his deed, he repented and hanged himself.

"Betrayers of our day are many," said the speaker, "men and women who have felt the charm of Christ's personality—who have seen His saving power upon the multitudes and who have felt the claims upon their lives—but secretly are betraying Him by the passion of lust and sin."

"I make bold the assertion that practically every sin of the decalogue is represented right here in this congregation," he asserted. "You may not be a murderer, but Jesus says he that is angry is a murderer. You may not be an adulterer, but Jesus said: 'He that lookest to lust after hath committed adultery in his own heart.' Knowing your guilt will you pass the opportunity for confession and repentance and go out like Judas into darkness on through sin to your place in judgment and in hell?"

ALL SHOULD WAIT FOR THE VISION

Right Course in Life Is Pointed Out, Says Dr. Ryan.

"All should wait for the vision which is to come," said Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church in a sermon on "Jacob's Vision" at the regular services yesterday morning. "The vision may come early or late, but it is bound to come. Only it would be a pity to have committed ourselves before its destiny was sure and we fail to enter upon our greatest in life. The vision holds us up to our best.

"Jacob, a fugitive, had driven himself out of his father's house and from his natural heritage by his trickery. The tricks had returned on his own head and he was now just leaving his own land for a distant home of his mother's relatives. Night time has come and tired and weary he lays his head down and for pillow has nothing but a stone.

"Then the dream comes, there is a vast stairway from earth to heaven, the angels are coming and going theron and at top is Jehovah himself. 'Jehovah speaks to Jacob in the only language which he can grasp. It is of earthly things that the promise is concerned. Jacob is sick and weary and needs just the consolation that God gives. But that is all encouragement and assurance. And Jacob goes in that strength for twenty years and until he learns that all he has and hopes to be are his because committed to his stewardship, for God.

"So all along the way of life are visions given to us, that we may take up our burden and go on in our experience and development. Just now we are having a vision of world-wide relationship, mostly of a business character. Even if we do not like it, we must size up ourselves with Europe, with Asia and the more remote parts of the earth. Commerce calls us and offers vast gain.

"For marriage, for life's business, for our life's work, it would be well to wait until the God-sent vision comes, however uncertain we might have been, henceforth we are sure whither our course lies and how high our destiny is."

DID GOD REGRET CREATION OF MAN?

Woodland M. E. Pastor Advances Such Reason for the Deluge.

It is not unreasonable to suppose that God, as recorded in Genesis, literally came to repent that he had made man, according to Rev. R. E. Miller of Woodland M. E. church, who preached yesterday on "The Deluge." He said in part:

"Through all the rude anthropomorphisms of God that are contained in the book of Genesis, we can nevertheless recognize the reality of Deity. To be sure, we face some problems in this question of God's repentance that he made man, for the question arises whether God did not know from the first that man would sin; and if this is true, then why did He create man, only to destroy him?

"But we do not have to believe that God knew in advance that man would sin. What is certain is that He knew of the possibility of man's sinning, and yet, since He gave man the power of will, He did not necessarily know how man would choose. God orders no man to do evil. That is determined by the man himself. Judas made his own choice, as have other men. And why should God not repent when He saw man, whom He had created in His own image, deserting Him through the exercise of this wonderful freedom of the will, and running after sin and evil?

"And so we have this narration of the mighty flood. That there was a flood is undoubtedly true, for it is told of in almost every language of that time. But the other narrations are not so good as that of the Jews, for the pagan writers attributed the flood to strife among the gods, while this one shows us Jehovah, the mighty God, father of all mankind, whose heart was breaking because of the sin of his children.

"It all goes back to the same lesson that was taught in the Garden of Eden —that disobedience to the will of God means death."

PREDICTS TURKEY'S EXIT FROM EUROPE

Will Be Wiped Out at Armageddon, Says Pastor Stemple White.

Pastor Stemple White spoke to a large audience last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Tenth avenue east and First street, on the subject, "Turkey's Exit From Europe." Reading the second Psalm, and illustrating from the Daniel prophecy, he paved the way for a discussion of the present situation of the great Eastern question in which Turkey holds the key to the situation among the present warring "toe kingdoms" of Europe.

He said in part: "Great nations have been mentioned in Bible prophecy only in proportion as they have come in contact with the work of God in the earth, oftentimes setting up and enforcing their own law in direct opposition to the law of God. They are always prophetically symbolized in the Bible as ravenous, blood-thirsty beasts, and to apply the term 'Christian' to any nation of earth today is contradictory to the Scriptures of divine truth, and false to everyday fact. The work of the gospel can never be advanced through worldly federation and religious legislation; in fact, this has ever proved to be a drag and curse to the gospel of Jesus Christ; but it is through individual conversion and regeneration through Jesus Christ that believers step out from worldly snares to be followers of the meek and lowly Nazarene.

"According to the Revelation prophecy of 'an hour and a day and a month and a year,' on Aug. 11, 1840, the Turkish empire as an independent power was to end. On that selfsame day the powers of Europe placed their ultimatum in the hands of the ruler of Egypt, thus saving the 'sick man of the East' from European expulsion. Since then the very life of Turkey in Europe is a matter of European treaty.

"But Turkey's exit from Europe is only the matter of a little time, and following that soon-coming event, according to Daniel xii, there will be 'such a time of trouble as was not since there was a nation.' Human probation will have closed. The gospel will have been preached to all the world as a witness. The Spirit of God will have been grieved from the earth, save the 'little flock' who obey the word of God. The seven last plagues will be doing their work among the masses who have often turned a deaf ear to Bible prophecy, and under the sixth plague, as per Revelation xvi, the Turkish 'Euphrates river' power will come to her final end in Palestine.

"Then comes the climax of human history in this present evil world. Amidst the last rites and dirge of the 'Sick Man of the East' the kings from the East and the whole world are finally gathered by the spirits of devils to Armageddon, where the final results of the present world-wide preparedness program will be seen. When all the holy angels accompany Jesus to this world to reap the harvest of the earth and to reward the people of God, the unbelieving world will realize, when too late, that the holy angels are more real and personal than to be the supposed 'spirits' of our departed friends. On the complete ruins of a revolted world Jesus will set up His eternal kingdom of peace, joy and happiness, and whose loyal subjects will be the obedient redeemed of earth."

WOULD INCREASE PENSION FUND

Episcopal Churches Would Raise $5,000,000 This Year.

Members of the Protestant Episcopal churches of America have instituted a campaign to increase the church pension fund for its clergy during 1916. A total of $5,000,000 to be raised this year is the aim of those behind the movement.

Duluth members of the church have received copies of the appeal, which is being sent to all communicants of the Protestant Episcopal church. The appeal follows, in part:

"The Episcopal churchmen of the United States have the responsibility laid upon them in 1916 of raising $5,000,000 before the church pension system can be started. They also have the great privilege of making a really serious effort and sacrifice for the sake of the clergy of the church, because this sum, having once been raised will never have to be done again.

"In the future the clergy will be taken care of in a modest, but thoroughly adequate way by such a small percentage falling upon the parishes that no individual churchman will notice the increase in the amount of his contributions to the church.

"The loyal communicants of the Episcopal church should rise and embrace this opportunity of starting the pension fund, because the sacrifice they make will have two large results, either one of them sufficient to arouse enthusiasm. One, that it gives our church the undisputed leadership in a very important social field. The other, that they are thereby enhancing in a very effective way the spread of the gospel of Christ. The power of the gospel depends primarily upon the spiritual force behind it, but it is also considerably dependent upon the effective organization of the material things necessary even in a spiritual organization. The church has always stood for such effective material organization as well as for the spiritual verities.

"And now, in this campaign, the problem of a pension system is squarely presented to churchmen. When the church realizes that there is a problem before it and sits down to that problem, it is, of course, the most efficient of organizations.

"Is it not now, in 1916, once for all, to settle the pension problem by starting a really effective pension system?"

POLK COUNTY CASES.

RANGE MEN TO VOLUNTEER

Spanish War Veterans Will Organize Northern Minnesota Battalion.

Commander Bradley Receives Message From Chisholm and Virginia.

Spanish war veterans will form a Northwestern Minnesota volunteer battalion, for service in Mexico, instead of two companies in Duluth, as originally planned.

Commander Frank L. Bradley of the Camp McEwen post, who was elected captain of the company now being formed of Spanish-American war veterans, received letters from Virginia and Chisholm, stating that the range camps wanted to affiliate with the Duluth organization.

Inasmuch as Duluth has about 300 veterans, the co-operation of the range camps caused a change in plans. A battalion consists of three companies of 106 men each.

The special recruiting committee, consisting of Capt. Bradley, First Lieut. L. G. Andrews and Second Lieut. George J. Sherman, met yesterday to perfect details for a vigorous campaign, and established headquarters at 213 First National bank building.

Advertisements have been inserted in newspapers calling for men to enlist who have previously served in either branch of the United States military or naval service with honorable discharge of the United Spanish War veterans, "with anticipations of serving in Mexico."

H. M. Hutchings, adjutant of the Camp McEwen post, was designated adjutant of the battalion to be formed. Adjutant Hutchings has had eight years' service with the marines and had been in charge of the United States marine recruiting station in Duluth for nearly four years until 1908.

RED CROSS FAIR WILL BE CLOSED

Interesting Program Will Be Given on Last Day.

Today at midnight the Red Cross and war relief bazar and fair, which has been in progress at the Duluth Auditorium for the last four days, will come to a close. The fair will be open from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight. The admission will be 10 cents. Lunches will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. in the main dining room, while the refreshment room will be open in the afternoon and in the evening.

Manager M. Binheim said last night that he was more than satisfied with the results of the event, and that all the committees had worked hard in order to bring about such a great success.

Yesterday's attendance was good and an excellent program was rendered during the evening.

SIX LOSE LIVES WHEN CLUBHOUSE IS BURNED

Prominent Persons Among Victims of Fire at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., March 27.—Six persons lost their lives early yesterday in the burning of the fashionable San Antonio country clubhouse. Five of the victims were guests at the club, which was the scene Saturday night of several week-end parties, bringing together a large number of persons prominent in social and business circles of the Southwest.

The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. James B. Walthall, San Antonio; Judge J. E. Webb, San Antonio; Homer Jones, San Antonio; Mrs. Mace Stewart, Galveston; Helen Cockrell, maid at the club.

The fire had its origin in a collection of paints used for painting a new grill, stored in the basement of the three-story frame clubhouse. It spread quickly to a stairway leading to the first floor, and rapidly communicated to the other two floors above. About fifteen guests asleep in the building had narrow escapes, many jumping from the second story windows, so quickly did the fire spread. Mrs. Stewart, who was spending the first night at the club as the guest of Mrs. Cora Ogden, had escaped from the burning building, but, with Homer Jones, started back to rescue Judge Webb, whose hearing was affected and who, they feared, would not hear the alarm. The three were caught in the dense smoke and went to their death together.

James Walthall, 45 years old, was formerly attorney general of Texas. His wife was a bride of twelve months, formerly Miss Mary Carson of Indianapolis.

Judge Webb was a prominent member of the bar.

Mrs. Stewart was the wife of Mace Stewart, president of the Title Guaranty company of Texas, whose home was in Galveston. She came here for a week's visit with friends. Mr. Stewart arrived here yesterday afternoon by special train.

SECRETARY HELD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

William L. Anderson Denies Taking Funds of Modern Samaritans.

William L. Anderson, financial secretary of the order of Modern Samaritans in this city, was arrested Saturday afternoon and arraigned before Judge Cant of the district court, under two indictments charging him with grand larceny in the second degree. He is accused of embezzling from the funds of Beta council, No. 2. One count charges the theft of $53.40 and the other $85.31.

Anderson was indicted during the fall of 1913, but left the city at the time. Recently he returned for a visit. The bench warrant issued against him was then produced and he was taken into custody. He pleaded not guilty and upon furnishing a bond for $300 was released pending trial. His surety bond was furnished by August Lofgren.

William John Cairncross, accused of embezzling $75 from L. D. Goldberg in a horse trade, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Cant Saturday afternoon under an indictment charging him with grand larceny in the second degree. N. H. Wilson was appointed by the court to defend the case.

PRESIDENT WILSON HAS ANOTHER GRANDCHILD

Philadelphia, March 27.—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowes Sayre here yesterday. She is the second granddaughter of President Wilson and will be named Eleanor Axson Sayre, for Mrs. Sayre's mother. Mrs. Sayre has been in this city visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. W. Howe, a sister of the president, for several weeks. The president wired his congratulations.

PREDICTS HOT SUMMER AFTER SEVERE WINTER

Little Falls, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers who have studied weather conditions for many years state that 1916 should be a good corn year and one says that he is going to go in mostly for corn this season. He bases his prediction of this being a good corn year on the fact that this section has had a real old-fashioned winter with plenty of snow and low temperature. He says this condition is always followed by a very warm summer.

RAISING TOBACCO AROUND ST. CLOUD

St. Colud, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tobacco raising has been begun on a considerable scale by a number of farmers in the neighborhood of St. Cloud, and last week a carload was shipped from this city. The farmers raising it received 9 cents per pound for the raw product and state that it proved very profitable. They realized from $75 to $126 per acre at this price.

THIRD DECISION IN OLD DIVORCE ACTION

Cando, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third decision of the state supreme court has been issued in the Borgen-McWilliams breach of promise case, which is now so old that the plaintiff has married another man and resides at Egeland. The court holds that a $10,000 verdict is very proper considering the fact the defendant is rated as worth $70,000. The action was started here six years ago.

JESS WILLARD SAYS "TAKE NUXATED IRON"

If you want plenty of 'stay there' Strength and Endurance and Health and Muscles like mine"

A hitherto untold Secret of his Great Victory over Jack Johnson

Ordinary nuxated iron will often increase the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent in two weeks' time.

I consider that plenty of iron in my blood is the secret of my great strength, power and endurance.

Jess Willard

SPECIAL NOTE.—Dr. E. Sauer, a well known physician of this city, has been specially employed to make a thorough investigation into the real secret of the great strength, power and endurance of Jess Willard, and the marvelous value of organic iron as a strength builder.

NEW YORK.—Upon being interviewed at his apartment in the Colonial hotel, Mr. Willard said: "Yes, I have a chemist with me to study the value of different foods and products as to their power to produce great strength and endurance, both of which are so necessary in the prize ring. On his recommendation I have often taken iron and I have particularly advocated the free use of iron by all those who wish to obtain great physical and mental power. Without it I am sure that I should never have been able to whip Jack Johnson so completely and easily as I did, and while now training for my fight with Frank Moran, I am regularly taking nuxated iron." Continuing, Dr. Sauer said, "Mr. Willard's case is only one of hundreds which I could cite from my own personal experience which proves conclusively the astonishing power of iron to restore strength and vitality even in most complicated chronic conditions."

Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old, and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46 careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly, looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless.

Many an athlete or prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M. D.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Boyce Drug store and all other druggists.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PRIMARY LAW NOT POPULAR

Many North Dakotans Displeased With First Trial of System.

In One Voting Precinct It Cost $20 for Every Vote.

Bismarck, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lack of interest in the statewide presidential preference primaries, as indicated by the light vote, and the enormity of expense are causing many North Dakotans to criticize the primary system and to insist on its repeal. That the most recent experience with the primaries was a fiasco is admitted even by those who have been most ardent in their support of the system for years.

The Democrats cast less than 10,000 votes for the presidency although there was a three-cornered fight for national committeeman and factional differences were bitter.

The Republicans, with two candidates seeking their votes for presidential indorsement, cast less than 30,000 votes. The vote of the recent primaries was less than 40 per cent of the total vote of the state and it is claimed indicated the weakness of the system as a proper means of registering the wishes of the voters.

A remarkable feature is that even the election officials did not all vote. In some precincts only one vote was recorded when it requires the presence of three officials to make the election legal. In many only three or four votes were recorded.

Cost $20 a Vote.

The expense of the primaries is indicated in one instance in Morton county. There was a precinct in which three votes were cast. It was about forty miles from the county seat. The expense of the election officials, the cost of advertising the election, the ballots for that precinct and the transmission of the votes to the office of the county auditor totaled $61, or making each vote cost over $20. The voters and taxpayers, who have to foot these bills, are clamoring for a return to the old caucus and convention system, which they insist was just as fair a method of expressing the will of the voters and far less expensive.

In addition to showing the lack of interest in the primary system, its unpopularity and its expense, last week's experience also demonstrated the lack of foundation for the claims of the Non-Partisan league to control the politics of the state. Indorsement had been given the candidates for national committeeman of each party. Olson of Valley City, one of the three men seeking the Democratic position, received less than 20 per cent of the total vote cast for national committeeman by the Democrats.

Lempke, one of the candidates for Republican national committeeman, indorsed by the Non-Partisan league and Equity organization, also had the indorsement of the Insurgent Republicans. He was beaten between 3,000 and 4,000 by a candidate approved by the regular Republicans, which would indicate that the power of the new organization is not as great as claimed.

To Ignore Primary.

The Non-Partisan league is to show this week, at a two days' convention to be held in Fargo, how utterly inadequate it regards the primary law by ignoring it entirely. It is planned, the leaders claim, to indorse at this meeting of the league candidates for state offices and not to wait for the primaries. The league leaders claim they intend to name the state officials and the members of the legislature and that candidates for the legislature have already been indorsed in many districts.

They have formerly insisted that only farmers would be indorsed, but among those seeking the position of governor before that organization are said to be J. H. Worst of Fargo and U. L. Burdick of Williston. If the leaguers run true to their early predictions these men will have to take a back seat for some real farmer candidates.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is Tongue Coated, Breath Feverish and Stomach Sour?

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has the grip or sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

HOUGHTON COUNTY COURT.

Murder Case Among Those That Are to Be Tried.

Houghton, Mich., Marcvh 27.—Among the cases to be tried at the April term of circuit court, which opens here April 3, will be that against Sebastino Steffini, charged with killing Eugenio Pizzi of the Franklin last week. Friends of the accused have engaged Attorney Carlos Jolly of South Range to defend Steffini. Attorney Joseph Hambitzer will aid Mr. Jolly. The developments in the case will depend a great deal upon the outcome of the inquest to be held tonight.

Judge P. H. O'Brien has issued an injunction against Ella Foiles, forbidding her from conducting a house of questionable character and ordering the place, now occupied by her, locked up. The charge was brought by Prosecuting Attorney Galbraith and is another step in his county cleanup campaign. Officers of the village of Houghton appeared on the stand as witnesses.

TWO MEN ENTOMBED; SAVED FROM DEATH

Crystal Falls, Mich., March 27.—Entombed in the Carpenter mine a few days ago by a fall of ground, a Finn and an Italian, whose names were not made public, were rescued after several hours' hard work by their companions.

As soon as the accident occurred every available man was set at work removing the dirt, and Capt. Creer took active charge of the rescue. The men worked like beavers, the common method being to work in relays in such cases, so that a man for the few hours that he is shoveling is right at top peak end of his energy every second.

The two imprisoned men's fears were quieted as soon as they learned that their comrades were working to rescue them, and when communication was established they felt better still, but their fears were not wholly allayed until they were brought to the surface.

FARGOAN IS ACQUITTED.

Jury Decides He Did Not Set Fire to His Home.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—John Wyman, prominent local real estate operator, accused of firing his own residence, was shortly before 1 p. m. Sunday declared not guilty. The jury had considered the case since 10 a. m. Saturday.

Wyman's prominence made the case of special interest here and throughout the state. It was charged that he had burned the residence to secure $14,000 insurance.

GONE TO HIGHER COURT.

Indicted North Dakota Farmer Killed Near Devils Lake.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harvey Alderson, a well known farmer of Ramsey county, who is under indictment in district court charged with attempted murder, was killed Saturday afternoon when a grain bin on his farm collapsed, breaking his back.

STUDENTS' RIGHT TO VOTE NOW IN COURT

Madison, Wis., March 27.—The question of students voting in municipal elections is due for immediate settlement, as the four students, who were turned away by the election commissioners at the primaries last Tuesday, have brought damage suits in circuit court against the election commissioners and the cause will be brought to the supreme court as soon as possible.

The four students, representing the different classes of university voters in dispute are Ralph L. Wadsworth, Fort Thomas, Ky.; Alfred Asbahr, Fred Siebolt and John W. Gross, who register from Madison.

POTASH BEING MADE AT MUNISING, MICH.

Munising, Mich., March 27.—Wm. C. Burley of Escanaba has established a potash factory here which is producing several barrels of potash each week. The potash is made from ashes and is used in the manufacture of explosives and for various other uses. It is expected that another factory similar to the one now being operated here will be started at Baraga, Mich., in the near future.

BAUDETTE RESIDENT SUDDENLY CALLED

Baudette, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Robie, a well-known resident of this place, died Saturday. He was taken sick Friday and gradually grew weaker. Besides a widow he leaves six children—Albert, Walter and Mildred of this place, William of La Path, Man., Mrs. Louis Whipper of Bergen, N. D., Mrs. Andrew Spotswood of Cavalier, N. D., and Mrs. Robert Smithson of Port Arthur, Ont. Mr. Roble was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, sixty-one years ago. The funeral will be held at the Congregational church Tuesday. Mr. Roble had just made final proof on a homestead for his son, who died two years ago.

WASHBURN MAN IS ROBBED OF $70

Washburn, Wis., March 27.—Max Cordts, a local butcher, on returning from Ashland two nights ago was held up and robbed of $70 he had realized from the sale of some hides to a Chicago buyer. As he was starting from Ashland to come home a stranger asked for a ride and Mr. Cordts told him to get in. Between Ashland and Nash the stranger produced a gun and proceeded to relieve Mr. Cordts of his $70 then "beat it" in the most approved fashion.

Montana Murderer Sentenced.

Philipsburg, Mont., March 27.—District Judge Winston sentenced Michael Lonergan, convicted of murder in the second degree, for the killing of Former State Senator James C. Duffy, to less than thirty years and not more than forty years in the penitentiary. Lonergan shot and killed Duffy, who was a deputy state game warden, in front of the local postoffice, Jan. 8, claiming self-defense and alleging that Duffy had threatened his life.

WASHBURN TO HAVE BOTTLING PLANT

Washburn, Wis., March 27.—Washburn is to have a new bottling works as soon as a suitable building can be located. Otto Beaumie of Ashland was here last week looking up a location and several places are now being considered.

The boxes for the new works have already arrived, but for the time being are being filled at the Ashland plant. It is expected that the new bottling works here will be in operation before the spring is far advanced.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY HAS RAISED MONEY

Milwaukee, Wis., March 27.—Marquette university's ten-day campaign came to a close Saturday night, when the leaders announced that $503,471 had been raised as an endowment fund for the institution. At the start of the movement a mark of $500,000 was set as the fondest hope of the hundreds of workers.

Of the total $100,000 was donated by one man whose name was not revealed. Chairman John H. Puelicher said that this sum was deposited at the Marshall & Ilsley bank. The identity of the donor may be made public this week.

TWO RAINY RIVER BOATS TO BE SOLD

Baudette, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamers Kenora and Agwinda, which have been used by the Rainy River Navigation company, operating between Kenora, Ont., Baudette, Rainy River and Fort Frances, will be sold at a sheriff sale today at Toronto, Ont., to satisfy a judgment held by the Imperial Bank of Canada.

BAUDETTE DISTRICT HAS VOTED BONDS

Baudette, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 298 to 46 the Independent District No. 111 of this village voted to bond the district $40,000 for fifteen years to cover indebtedness on the new school building. Nearly half of the votes cast were by the women, which shows their eagerness to be able to decide school questions.

STANTON, N. D., MAN IS ON CONTROL BOARD

Bismarck, N. D., March 27.—Governor Hanna has appointed Sylvan L. Oleson, cashier of the German State bank of Stanton, Mercer county, to the place on the board of control, made vacant by the resignation of J. W. Jackson of Williston.

Mr. Oleson was born at Forrest City, Iowa, thirty years ago and after having been graduated from the Cornell college, Iowa, and the law department of Ann Arbor, went to New Salem ten years ago to practice law. Later he went to Stanton, where he has been cashier of the German State bank for the last five years. He is married and has two children.

Since the resignation of Mr. Jackson and the death of Mr. Brewster, the work of the board has fallen upon Mr. Lewis of Fargo and Secretary Wanner.

LA POINTE YOUTH IS NEARLY DROWNED

Bayfield, Wis., March 27.—Leon Russell of La Point, son of Mrs. Ernest Cuff, had a close call from drowning a few days ago. He had been fishing through the ice off the southeast shore of Madeline and on the homeward journey lagged behind most of the other fishermen. He was alone when he reached an ice fissure, which opened suddenly and engulfed him. His cries fortunately were heard by Alfred Nelson, who happened to be not so very far away, and he came to the rescue. His efforts to save young Russell were finally successful, but the lad was in the ice water over an hour and was thoroughly benumbed when rescued.

HANCOCK BOWLING TOURNEY APRIL 24-29

Hancock, Mich., March 27.—Arrangements have been completed for a bowling tournament to be held at the Mitchell alleys April 24 to 29, open to all bowlers and held under the A. B. C. rules and regulations, the foul line included. The tournament will in charge of the following officers: President Fred M. Penniston, Vice President Henry R. Nikkila, Secretary Carl J. Handicaps will be based on the averages in both leagues.

HURT BY PARK DEER ASKS FOR COMPENSATION.

Madsion, Wis., March 27.—Felix Legard, Chippewa Falls, asks compensation from the city for injuries he suffered when a deer in the city park attacked him as he was at work. Legard, an aged man, was so seriously hurt that he has been unable to work since.

Calumet Miner Bankrupt.

Marquette, Mich., March 27.—Fred W. Kauppi of Calumet has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court. Mr. Kauppi is a miner and names his assets, including exemptions, at $1,230, and liabilities at $709.45.

NORTH DAKOTA WILL FEEL "DRY" MANITOBA

Hansboro, N. D., March 27.—((Special to The Herald.)—The border country of North Dakota will be affected when the saloons of Manitoba are closed, as a result of the recent election. For years Deloraine, White Water, Cartwright, Marden, Emerson and other Manitoba towns, close to the North Dakota line, have enjoyed a thriving business for the sale of liquor to patrons a few miles to the south, who lived in prohibition North Dakota. They say that wine cellars are now being stocked.

For Greater Bottineau.

Bottineau, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—"A bigger and better Bottineau" was the slogan when 140 men and women joined in the biggest banquet ever held here, given by the Commercial club. Among other things the club has a campaign on for a new Great Northern depot.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Janesville — Rock county representatives who were delegates at the state convention held in Madison Jan. 27 met here and elected A. E. Matheson and Thomas S. Nolan delegates to the Republican senatorial convention representing Rock county to be held the latter part of April. A senatorial preference indicated practically an even division between John M. Whitehead and Malcolm Jeffris, both of Rock county.

Madison—During the last year the total resources of the state banks of Wisconsin have increased $22,580,467. This increase is viewed as remarkable by Banking Commissioner E. E. Kneeli and shows the steady financial progress of the state. Fully one-half of this total increase in resources came within the last three months.

La Crosse—W. P. Roseman, for five years chief of the University Extension division in La Crosse, has been elected superintendent of the public schools of Sheboygan, Wis.

Ashland—Five men were caught in a raid of W. D. Kuhn's country store for gambling. W. D. Kuhn and the others were arraigned in municipal court on the charge of running a gambling house. He was found guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Dug Miller, James Stone, Peter Godin and J. W. Castro all pleaded guilty to the charge against them; that of gambling, and were fined $10 and costs. All paid their fine with the exception of Castro.

Eau Claire—A meeting of the board of directors of the Civic and Commerce association will be held at the association office next Tuesday evening.

Ashland—City Treasurer W. G. Nohl has made his returns to County Treasurer H. D. Klein, turning over $71,991.95. All the towns in the country settled with the county treasurer this week. The delinquent roll for the city of Ashland at this time is the smallest in years.

Oshkosh—With five high school pupils suffering from smallpox and an order given that all pupils be vaccinated, under penalty of suspension, parents are demanding that the school be fumigated.

Grand Rapids—The Rib Lake Lumber company's new sawmill at Rib Lake will have a capacity of 30,000,000 feet a year. The company's timber interests in Northern Wisconsin are said to be heavy enough to run the mill twenty-five years.

Oshkosh—Alfred A. Bachler, former steward at the Northern State Hospital for the Insane, was bound over to municipal court for appearance today on a charge of embezzlement and larceny as bailee of about $1,000 of state property. It is reported that attorneys for Bachler will file an affidavit of prejudice and move for a change of venue.

Madison—A reduction of nearly 1,000 deaths in the state in February from the January figure is the striking feature of the monthly mortality report by the state board of health. The total in February was 2,580, against 3,566 in January.

Monroe—William Long, aged 30, 6 feet 4 inches in height, made an unsuccessful attempt at suicide by cutting his throat with a razor at Brownton, near here. Long carried the mail from the train to the postoffice, for which he received $2 per month. He lost the job several days ago and became despondent.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Deadwood, S. D.—Injuries suffered in a logging camp in Washington two months ago resulted in the death here of Walter Titus of Central City.

Pringle, S. D.—Another state tuberculosis sanatorium will be opened in the Black hills as a result of the success of the state sanatorium at Custer. It will be located here and will be known as the Black Hills Tuberculosis sanatorium. It is expected to be in operation July 1.

Bismarck, N. D.—The contract for the printing of the catalogues of the normal schools at Valley City, Mayville and Minot, the agricultural college at Fargo, science school at Wahpeton, Ellendale industrial school and the forestry school at Bottineau was given to the Bismarck Tribune. There were nine bids.

Mott, N. D.—The 320-acre farm of F. W. Schmuttle near here was purchased Thursday by Peter Kramer, wealthy farmer of Wilmot, Minn., for $10,000. Mr. Kramer's two sons will run the farm. The $31.25 per acre paid for the farm is many times the original cost of the land.

Fargo, N. D.—The board of education has spent nearly $500 on gymnasium supplies, most of which has gone into the Horace Mann school.

Bismarck, N. D.—Charles Larke and Sidenham Weller of Ripon, Wis., have paid to State Treasurer John Steen $1,802 as inheritance tax on the estate of J. C. Weller. Larke and Weller were administrators of Weller's estate and contested the right of the state to collect an inheritance tax on this estate.

Minot, N. D.—Joe Gray, a transient, was held to the district court after he had waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of grand larceny, and in default of $500 bail required was turned over to the sheriff, who lodged him in jail. Shoplifting is alleged.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Thomas Gunderson, 29 years old, who tried to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a safety razor blade, is resting easily and is in no immediate danger. Gunderson, who has been employed as a postal mail clerk for the past eight years, is believed to have attempted suicide because of illness and financial worries.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—J. E. Branlund, who is remodeling the Calvary Baptist church property, which he purchased last fall, will have two very neat flats, each with eight rooms, when the work, now being done by Louis Erickson & Son, is completed.

Marquette—William Harrington of Diorite is in the ring as a candidate for the office of Marquette county sheriff. It had been rumored for some weeks that Mr. Harrington was a seeker of the position, and last week he definitely decided to enter the race.

Houghton — The Congregational churches throughout Michigan are to engage in a "Friendship and Efficiency Campaign" during the week beginning March 26.

Calumet—The latest candidate for the office of sheriff of Houghton county is Murdock Mac Duff, for the last twenty-five years a resident of the Calumet district. Mr. Mac Duff has been employed at the Trimountain, Centennial and Calumet & Hecla Mining company. At the present time he is shift boss in No. 14 shaft.

Houghton—Acting Sheriff MacDonald, County Clerk Kaiser, Justice Prince of Lake Linden and Rouleau of Hancock Friday drew the list of petit jurors for the April term of circuit court.

Hancock—Giuseppi Paoli, a single man, was killed at the Quincy mine Friday, when he fell in No. 7 shaft.

Calumet—After the jury deliberated 15 minutes in the trial of Edmond Guilbault, a Fifth street jeweler, who was charged with having received and purchased stolen silver from a former employe of the Mohawk Mining company, a verdict of not guilty was returned.

Ishpeming—A number of the employes of the Lake Angeline Mining company of Negaunee are making a strong bid to move the local offices to that city.

Negaunee — The Negaunee public schools have one of the best standings of any school throughout the county in regard to handwriting and penmanship, according to Miss Dickson of Chicago, who recently visited the Negaunee schools from the home office of the Palmer company, whose system the Negaunee schools are at present working under.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—County Auditor Henry J. Welte let the contract for the construction of County Ditch No. 95 to George Castle of Crookston for $7,240.85. Castle was the only bidder.

Roseau—The articles of incorporation of the Citizens' Realty company have been filed. The company is organized by the stockholders of the Citizens' State bank and the primary work of the company will be to erect a new bank building for the Citizens' bank.

Perham—The second annual declamatory contest between the high schools of Detroit, Frazee, Audubon and Perham will be held in the opera house here Friday, March 31. Each school will have two contestants.

Crookston—Leo Baer has closed the Boston store and schedules are being prepared for filing a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. One creditor began pushing and this led to Mr. Baer's action.

Red Lake Falls—On April 1 County Auditor George Dupont will let the contract for digging County Ditch No. 57, a big ditch in Eastern Red Lake county established by the county commissioners Feb. 23. The ditch system will be an extensive one and will drain a vast area of valuable lands. The engineer's estimate of the total cost of the work is $25,673.63.

Bluffton—A parochial school of a size sufficient to care for the needs of this community for some time to come, will be erected this spring and several new residences will also be built. There is promise of a large department store, and a barber shop has been doing business here for some time.

Fosston—In the past few days several families arrived here from the southern part of the state to occupy farms purchased last fall in this district.

Little Falls—Edward Lavoie has men at work at Belle Prairie getting the wanigans, tug, battcaus and other equipment used by the upper drive in shape for the opening of the driving season. There are four wanigans, besides the steam tug used for towing.

St. Cloud—Minnesota will demand the return of Walter A. Sadler, who violated his parole from St. Cloud reformatory by leaving the state. Governor Burnquist has asked Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris of Michigan to send Sadler to Minnesota. Sadler was sent to the reformatory from St. Paul Feb. 8, 1912, after pleading guilty to drawing a worthless draft on the Chatham National bank of New York.

East Grand Forks—Hugh Thompson of this city, for the past forty-three years a resident of Polk county, left last week for Denver, Colo., where he will make his home. He was first postmaster of Fisher, member of the state board of equalization, having received his first appointment from Governor Hubbard and Governor McGill; was surveyor general from which he resigned to take the office of receiver of the United States land office at Crookston, receiving his appointment from President Harrison.

Minneapolis—Dr. W. C. Hanscom, for more than thirty years a physician of Minneapolis, died Thursday, after an illness of five years. His wife, four brothers and two sisters survive him. Service at the house will be private. The funeral will be held today.

Milaca—Sheriff Shockley returned from North Dakota with L. E. Brown, who was arrested there on complaint of having cashed a forged check on J. J. Alrick & Son July 5 for $31.75. A hearing was held before Justice Goebel and he waived preliminary examination, being bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Bonds were placed at $2,000.

ARCHIE COMMENTS ON AND REVIEWS THE BIG FIGHT

Declares That the Fact That Many Women Were There in Bare Shoulders May Account for Different Stories of the Fight; Virginia Basket Ball Team Wins State Interscholastic Title.

BY BRUCE.

VIRGINIA, Minn., March 25.—Dear Bill: Well I seen where Jess Willard is complainin' cause he busted the knuckle on his right hand. Me and some of the gang here got the operator to get us specials from New York. It cost us 75 cents and a package of peerless, but we was curious. Well, Bill, I have knowed some men who would fall down in front of a street car for $47,500 and never complain in the ante-mortem statement and this here big stiff is trying to get sympathy from that mob cause he busts the knuckle on his right hand.

I suppose you was gettin' the returns too Bill. What do you think of the fight? I seen where Geraldine Farrar was there in a lowneck. Ain't it funny, Bill, how times is changed. In the old days the men folks used to go to fights in low necks and now the women folks goes to fights in low necks and the male populace is clothed in chokers. I seen where Jess Willard got $47,500 and Moran over $23,000. In a couple of days the police will know how much the pickpockets' end was.

Willard Too Delicate.

From what I read I imagined Willard would have an awful right if he hadn't broke that index finger on his right hand. I think he's got too delicate a constitution to hold the championship. Once old Bob Fitzsimmons had the lumbago, was threatened with pneumonia, had cramps of the legs and stomach complaint and was threatened by the doctors and he went in the ring and knocked out Gus Ruhlin in six rounds. But them was the days when a fighter was raised on dog food and treated natural.

Well, Bill, I am sittin' up late this night and tomorrow morning so as you will get this letter by Monday. Art O'Dea tried to get some prisoner to take down to New York four days ago, but they wasn't no one to take, so there wasn't no chance for me to see the fight. I never did care much for society anyway and I don't think I would have knowed how to act. It must have been a great fight to see all them women folks in bare shoulders.

I'll bet a lot of the newspaper accounts of the fight will be different. Did you read where Charley Murphy was at the fight, Bill? I had the operator look it up and it wasn't Charley Murphy of the Cubs. No; it was Charley Murphy the other politician. Only a few passes was given out.

New Form Changed.

In the old days they used to give a big account of the fight and then in a little corner of the page after all else has been written they would say that "One-Eyed" Connelly, Butch Logan, Young Kid Curray, the cat-em-up kid, Jake Kilrain, the ex-champion and others was present. Now it is different, Bill. The fights starts off with Reggie Vander Bilt, J. P. Morgan, Diamond Jim Brady, Geraldine Farrar, and others of them plutocrats and then down in the corner you can ascertain, if you are quick at figures, that Jess Willard has the best of Frank Moran. Artie O'Dea says the only difference between sportin't editors and society editors is personal inclinations and the hours they keep.

Well I gotta close, Bill. I think Willard won from what the operator here got over the wire. I ain't had time to get Moran's statement as yet. Course that may change everything. I read Jess Willard's stuff before the fight and what Frank Moran write. I think the fellow getting paid for writing what Jess Willard signs isn't as good as the fellow who is writing what Frank Moran has to say. Maybe Frank can get the popular decision yet.

Well I gotta close. I seed where Bob Fitzsimmons wore a dress suit. I wonder what he did with his hands. I seed where John L. Sullivan got the loudest hand. They was never strong for probation in New York.

I will see you next Sunday.

Your lovin' Pal, Archie.

Virginia's Great Showing.

Virginia's high school basket ball team won the state championship at Northfield Saturday. This is the first time the honor has been brought to this section of the state. As representative teams from every section of Minnesota were represented in the play, the honor of capturing the title is one that the good people of Virginia may well be proud of.

During the present season, the city of Virginia has had an abundance of excellent basket ball. The city team has not lost a game during the entire season, and now comes the strong high school team and wins the state high school title.

In acquiring the interscholastic title Virginia met and defeated the crack Twin City teams as well as the very strongest of the smaller town quints. In the dope, the Northern Minnesota team was but slightly considered. The victory came as a great surprise to many of the followers of play.

Or the Hippo, Even.

After reading that Jess Willard and Frank A. Gotch are to travel with the same circus during the coming season, one wonders where the elephants are to come in.

This Goes to Prove It.

Willie Ritchie may fight in St. Paul this spring. This statement, together with the bank clearings, goes to indicate that there must be lots of money in the Saintly city.

Track Reopening Postponed.

San Diego, Cal., March 27.—Racing will be resumed at the Tijuana track, just south of the Mexican border, April 16, the Lower California Jockey club announced yesterday. Plans had been made to reopen April 9, but the task of repairing damage to the track caused by recent floods could not be finished by that time.

BILL WENDLANDT STILL WINNING

Duluth Handball Champion Defeats Lavine in Straight Games.

William Wendlandt, Duluth's handball champion, defeated Axel Lavine in two straight games Saturday afternoon by the scores of 21 to 16 and 21 to 6. Both of the games were more interesting than the score would indicate. Wendlandt was forced to extend himself to the limit to win both games.

Tonight Fred Hanson will meet Wendlandt, and Hayden is scheduled to play Foster. Strong is also down on the card for a game with Whitehead. Kichlli, Carney and Driesbach, old-time stars, are in the game again. It is expected that these fellows will give the younger men some great games.

New York, March 27.—Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, outpointed Frank Moran of Pittsburgh here Saturday night in a 10-round bout. More than 12,000 people saw Willard take seven of the ten rounds.

Moran won the third on points and the eighth and ninth were even.

Moran deserves much more credit for his game showing than appears in the description of the fight by rounds. He was outweighed, but not outgeneraled; outpointed but not outgamed, and the mere fact that he stayed ten rounds with the champion after taking heavy punishment denotes his staying qualities.

While Moran was quite severely punished by Willard, he in turn inflicted his mark on the countenance of the Kansas farmer. Despite the utmost that Willard could do—as instanced in round seven—the Pittsburgh scrapper, despite his battering, was up and fighting at the sound of the gong.

The doors of Madison Square Garden opened late. A jostling crowd, impatient at the delay, poured through the runways in single file, tickets in hand.

The big hall filled slowly. The galleries, so close to the roof that a tall man standing on tip toes could have touched the rafters with his finger tips, were packed tight long before the bare spots on the floor began to disappear.

No Interest in Preliminaries.

The preliminaries began, but for all the crowd cared, the boxers might as well have been pummeling each other in their own back yards. The spectators were interested only in the big bout and were willing to wait. John L. Sullivan, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Corbett—all one-time holders of the heavyweight championship, had seats close to the ring.

Among those holding box seat tickets were J. P. Morgan, Reginald C. Vanderbilt, "Diamond Jim" Brady, David Belasco, Enrico Caruso, Lindley M. Garrison, Gen. T. Coleman Du Pont and Mayor Curley of Boston.

There were scores of women in the great throng. Some sat in the arena boxes, but mostly they were in the balconies.

The garden never held a larger crowd.

Seats All Sold.

Carpenters worked till the last minute building seats on the floor. That way why the doors did not open on time, Promoter Tex Rickard explained. He was sorry, he said, but his sorrow was of the cheerful order, for every one of the 13,000 seats was filled. A few $25 tickets were in the box office when the doors opened, but they were soon sold. Speculators found it easy to get four times the original price of tickets.

Jess Willard was the first to enter the ring. He was accompanied by his manager and chief second, Tom Jones, Walter Monahan, Jack Hemple and Ray Archer. Willard appeared to be exceptionally cool and at ease and stepped across the ring to shake hands with Frank Moran, who arrived three minutes later. Moran was seconded by Willie Lewis, Frank Kendall, Bill McKinnon and Joe Keally. The timekeepers were: For Moran, George Considine; for Willard, Harry Weiss, and for the club, Dr. Muth. Willard entered the ring at 9:30.

Willard wore soft bandages which were wrapped tightly around his knuckles. Moran's bandages, in sharp contrast, extended well above his wrists.

Willard was clad around the loins by heavy red worsted tights, while Moran wore dark green trunks of a similar texture. While the two heavyweights sat in their corners, Bob Fitzsimmons, J. J. Corbett, Kid McCoy and John L. Sullivan were introduced in turn, the last of the quartet being given a tremendous ovation.

In the semi-final bout, Battling Levinsky of New York outpointed Jim Savage of Orange. Then the crowd settled back for the real show.

Men Differ Widely.

There seemed no point of similarity between the champion and his opponent. Willard, smilingly, sat upright in his corner, a green robe over his shoulders, his head topping the ropes by two inches. Moran, chin in hand, slouched down in his seat.

The first ceremony was the introduction of notables of the ring—Bob Fitzsimmons, Corbett, Kid McCoy. All were applauded, but the appearance of John L. Sullivan made the rafters ring with cheers.

The gong rang violently and the announcer said something that ended with Frank Moran, and there was a roar from the throng. Then he told the crowd the man in the other corner was Jess Willard. Again the garden rocked with cheers.

Gloves were adjusted, the fighters shook hands, the announcer said the final words and the fight was on.

First Round.

Willard jabbed Moran in the face and the latter retaliated with three blows to the body, while Willard blocked. Moran hooked a left to Willard's jaw and took three left jabs to the face in return. Moran swung right and left to Willard's neck and received a hard right in the body. Moran missed a right and went into a clinch, and Willard tore loose and landed a right and left to the head. Willard smashed him a terrific left in the face, dazing the challenger. Moran swung wildly with right and left, but Willard laughed as he blocked carefully. Willard's round.

Second Round.

Willard took the aggressive. Moran came back, the pair exchanging blow for blow. Moran broke and backed away. Willard followed Moran around the ring and drove a right hook to Moran's eye and battered him in the body. Moran was helpless against Willard in clinches. The champion staggered Moran with a left to the face as the bell rang. Willard's round.

Third Round.

Willard smashed a right into Moran's body, doubling Moran up. Moran's savage swings could not reach Willard's jaw. Willard jabbed Moran with his left almost at will. Moran grew shaky under the punching. Willard ducked two right swings and laughed. Moran swung a left to the body as the bell rang. Willard's round.

Fourth Round.

Willard stabbed Moran in the face with two lefts and uppercut Moran in the body with a right and left. Moran hooked a left to the body and a left to Willard's jaw. Willard kept stabbing Moran with his long left and jarred him with a right to the jaw. A terrific left to Willard's body never jarred him. Willard split Moran's eye wide open with a right. Willard's round.

Fifth Round.

Willard battered Moran with right and left uppercuts to the jaw, and the latter tried to penetrate Willard's guard with body blows. Moran rushed Willard to the ropes, but the latter closed Moran's left eye with his jabs. Moran kept backing away. Willard followed, using his left steadily. Willard's round.

Sixth Round.

Willard tore into Moran, battering

RESULTS OF BASEBALL TRAINING GAMES

Giants Beat Tigers.

Dallas, Texas, March 27.—The New York National league club and the Detroit Americans divided their two-game pre-season series here. New York won yesterday 5 to 2 by bunching hits in the eighth inning when the score was tied. In the third inning Kauff's homer sent Doyle ahead of him for two scores, the first of the game. Three singles and a wild pitch enabled Detroit to tie in the sixth. In the eighth New York hit Boehler for three two-base hits, which combined with a passed ball, netted three runs.

Dodgers Win From Athletics.

Daytona, Fla., March 27.—The Brooklyn Nationals encamped here beat a team of the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 8 to 0. Pfeffer was in great form for Brooklyn and allowed two hits in five innings. Marquard yielded four hits in four innings. Crowell, the former Brown university pitcher went five innings for the Athletics. Four hits, his wildness and his confusion on quick plays, gave Brooklyn's six runs in the third inning. Sheehan held the Brooklyns to one hit in three innings.

Cards Trim Browns.

St. Louis, Mo., March 27.—Batting Davenport out of the box in the second inning, and aided by Pratt's wild throw to the plate to catch Betzel, and a fumble by Austin, the St. Louis Nationals made three runs, defeating the St. Louis Americans yesterday 4 to 1. Steele held the Americans to four hits in the first game of the spring series.

Nationals 030000001	4	9	1
Americans 000100000	1	4	3

Batteries—Steele and Snyder; Davenport, Wellman, Koob and Hartley.

White Sox, 12; Houston, 9.

Houston, Texas, March 27.—Three times the score was tied in yesterday's game here between the Chicago Americans and the Houston Texas leaguers, before the visitors scored three runs in the eleventh inning and won 12 to 9. A high wind made good fielding impossible and both teams hit safely many times. Schalk knocked three doubles and two singles. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Houston ...301000021200	9	14	4
Chicago 000132021030	12	17	4

Batteries—Kriss, Rose and Jenkins; Allen, Scott, Wolfgang and Schalk.

Reds, 6; Indians, 4.

New Orleans, La., March 27.—Yesterday's results:

Cincinnati Nationals	6	11	2
Cleveland Americans	4	9	0

Batteries—Toney, Schneider and Wingo; Morton, Bagby and O'Neil.

Play a Tie.

Memphis, Tenn., March 27.—Yesterday's result: Minneapolis, 8; Memphis, 8; twelve innings; darkness.

him with right and left. Moran smashed Willard with right and left to the jaw. Willard uppercut Moran and opened his eye again with a left jab. Willard jarred Moran with a right to the jaw and uppercut him until he wavered on his feet. Willard's round.

Seventh Round.

Willard started after Moran like a wild man and beat him all over the ring. Under the fusillade of blows Moran was helpless, clinging to Willard blindly as the blood poured down his chest. Willard fought coolly, picking his openings. White warned Moran against fouling. Moran swung wildly and, catching Willard on the jaw, dazed him for a moment. The pair were fighting like wild men at the bell. Willard's round.

Eighth Round.

Willard kept jabbing Moran in the face with his left, and the latter was bleeding from a number of cuts. Moran swung two rights to Willard's jaw, and the champion appeared winded as he went to his corner. Honors even this round.

Ninth Round.

Moran rushed from his corner, landing right and left on Willard's neck. Willard used his left steadily. Moran scored two swings to the jaw and repeated. Willard jabbed again and hooked a right to Moran's ribs. A left upper cut lifted the challenger off his feet. Moran swung to the jaw and Willard uppercut. They were clinched at the bell. Round even.

Tenth Round.

They shook hands. Willard used his left jab almost exclusively. Moran swung a right to the jaw and left to the body. Willard battered Moran with rights and lefts, but the latter came back gamely. Willard uppercut Moran to the face and body. Moran swung right and left to the jaw and Willard retaliated. Willard battered Moran hard. Willard's round.

Willard battered Moran. Willard caught Moran in a clinch, and on the break was uppercutting with rights and lefts as the bell rang, terminating the bout. Willard, according to his seconds, broke his hand in the third round.

"SHOW DOWN" MEETING OF OARSMEN HAS BEEN CALLED

Coaches Desire to Ascertain Just Where They Are at and Just What Material Can Be Counted on —No Senior Crew Candidates Will Be Accepted After Meeting—Rowing Squad Reduced.

After Wednesday no seniors need apply—unless, you know, they have been out regularly previous to that day.

Rowing is a serious business with Jim and Ned Ten Eyck. It appears as if the huge task of preparing for the 1916 national regatta is going to be handled in a serious and decisive fashion. There has been a hanging back and dilly-dallying upon the part of prospective crew candidates. There will be a meeting Wednesday evening in the rooms of the Commercial club for the purpose of a showdown. The coaches want to know what material they can count on and what material cannot be counted on. That's the object of the meeting. Senior oarsmen intending to row will give notice to that effect by Wednesday or the coaches will be obliged to worry along without their services.

A. R. Kent, F. Hall, J. Harney, T. Emmons, A. G. Grant, M. J. Forrestal, Walter Hoover, L. Arons, F. Williams, G. Whiteside and B. Hagberg are the seniors who are now rowing. These few men, if they can stand a lot of hard work, can, Jim Ten Eyck believes, win the sweep and sculling events on the program of the coming national. The task can be accomplished much easier, Jimmy points out, with more seniors out. That's just what the meeting scheduled for Wednesday evening is called for—to ascertain definitely and once for all just what men can be counted on. Preparation must begin with real earnestness, both Jim and Ned point out, and the coaches must know what men they can depend on and shape their plans accordingly.

More men Are Needed.

More junior material is needed. The first crew cut of the season has been made. The reduction of the squad leaves just thirty-four eligible juniors. If Duluth expects to win junior events during the coming season, more junior material will be needed. More men between the ages of 18 and 35 years and weighing from 150 to 190 pounds are sorely needed by the coaches. The question of material has reached an acute stage.

The cut was made because of the lightness and youthfulness of some of the crew candidates. It was found quite impossible to use some of the material. Both of the coaches declared they heartily appreciated the spirit of those who came out for the crew, even though they failed to be retained on the rowing squad. The enthusiasm displayed by some of these recruits has been in marked contrast to the lack of enthusiasm displayed by some of the older men.

Both Jim and Ned Ten Eyck wish it to be understood that the list for crew candidates is still open. If Duluth is to win, win in a year when the national regatta is to be contested on home waters, it is pointed out that more material will be needed.

Tickets Being Reserved.

Here it is but March—and the regatta is scheduled for August—and yet reservations are coming in for seats. If that can be taken as an augury of interest, then the big aquatic event is going to be an immense success.

Ticket reservations will be handled in the order in which they are received. The very fact that requests for tickets are being made months ahead of the date for holding the regatta indicates a remarkable interest.

Following will be found a list of junior and bantam candidates retained on the rowing squad:

Junior Candidates.

Ted Meagher, Vic Eva, Phil Mars, Shores Walker, S. O'Brien, H. Haley, Thomas Little, J. Hagberg, B. F. Porter, W. Hammerback, Wm. William Grant, Fred Johnson, J. Rowland, Arthur Olson, A. Arneson, W. Flink, A. Tobin, V. J. Vincent, J. A. Miller, A. Brende, S. S. Miller, Robert Johnson, C. Hakes, P. J. Barry, G. Atchley, I. F. Peterson, M. Black, C. J. Larson, Dave Wisted, F. Gogins, C. Henneberry, W. Hoffstrand, S. Gilleland, R. Lundstrom.

Bantam Candidates.

Robert Wichert, G. Hokanson, J. A. Shepherdson, O. W. Olson, O. Thorstenson, E. Emerson, C. Rust, F. Arsenault, E. Brander, John Lynam, J. O. Shields, R. Hall, C. Bernecho, L. G. Brown, F. J. Klein, E. Bevis, J. McPhail.

SPORT NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Gossip of the Baseball Training Camps and Brief Dispatches Telling of College Athletics.

Urbana, Ill.—Conference colleges have been asked by Northwestern to follow its lead in adopting a two-sport rule. Illinois was a pioneer in proposing its general adoption some time ago and George Huff, athletic director, is said to favor it, but independent action may not find such strong support.

* * *

Louisville, Ky.—Wilbur (Roxey) Roach, star shortstop, and last year a member of the Federal league, this year will be Manager William Clymer's first lieutenant in attempting to land the American association pennant for Louisville. Roach formerly played under Clymer in the International league and has made such an impression at the colonel's Columbia, Tenn., training camp that he has been chosen captain.

* * *

Detroit, Mich.—It is understood from dispatches from the training camp of the Detroit Americans, at Waxahachie, Texas, that Manager Jennings will ask Coveleskie to pitch the opening game of the season in Chicago.

* * *

Lawrence, Kan.—An official at the dual indoor meet between Missouri and Kansas at Kansas City, by mistake added an extra lap to the mile run, and probably took away from Herriott, the Jayhawker miler, a new record for the event. As it was, the time was announced as 4:58 and it is believed here that without the extra lap, Herriott would have broken the old mark of 4:34, which he made last year by a full second.

* * *

Louisville, Ky.—Announcement that the sprinting champion Panzareta, famous for her ability to score over high-class thoroughbreds with high weight up, will be sent to the Texas ranch of her owner, H. S. Newman, after the present Hot Springs meeting, has caused disappointment to Kentucky and Eastern racegoers. "The Queen of the Turf," however, had a gruelling season at New Orleans, where she won a number of events.

* * *

Evanston, Ill.—Football coaches and some of the more prominent officials in the Central states will gather here soon to discuss the new rules. Some differences of opinion as to effect of certain regulations have arisen and the conference is expected to act as a court in their interpretation. Officials will be appointed at the meeting for some of next fall's games.

Chicago—Postponement of the proposed abolition of intercollegiate baseball in the conference for another year at least has found diamond coaches in the Big Nine prepared for the campaign and warm weather has brought some of the teams outdoors after preliminary work in gymnasiums. Here and at Urbana, fans believe the championship will go either to Illinois or to Chicago and a hard fight for the title between the ancient rivals is expected.

Both Maroons and Illini are to have veteran teams in the field. Nine members of last year's champions, including Capt. Jack Bradley, the catcher, form the nucleus about which Coach Huff will build up his team, and eight "C" men are among the squad Coach Page is drilling at Chicago.

The Illinois veterans, besides Bradley, are Styles, Arbuckle and Clark, outfielders; Koptik, shortstop; Krebs, third base, and Gunkle, Halas and Dvis, pitchers. Capt. Shull heads the pitching staff at the Midway and the outlook on the slab is otherwise not any too bright, though in Gerdes and Larkin, sophomores, the Maroon coaches believe they see possibilities. The veterans are Bill McConnell, first base; Hart, catcher; Cavin, an outfielder, likely to be moved to the infield; Wah Kai Chang, the Chinese player, and George. The sophomores include Bobbie Cahn, the speedy halfback, and Rudolph, who got a batting average of .368 on the Maroons' tour of the Orient.

Chicago—The American Automobile association is working out the details of a plan on which to base the individual racing championship. The method likely to be adopted is a comparison based on point scores, and separate records for each car and each driver are to be kept, according to plans proposed. The association's contest board will designate which of the races may be considered "championship award" events, granting this designation where the list of entrants and qualifications warrant.

* * *

Chicago—The first athletic event, between teams of women, ever sanctioned by the Central A. A. U. will be the swimming meet between the Woman's Aquatic club of Detroit and a girls' team representing the Indianapolis Turners. The meet will be held April 1 in Detroit.

* * *

St. Louis, Mo.—A hint that he will use his old tactics of swiftly changing pitchers in crises was given by Fielder Jones, new manager of the Browns, at the training camp. Somebody suggested, noting that George Sisler was being worked as a pitcher in addition to first baseman, outfielder and pinch hitter, that the squad was overburdened with southpaws.

"You can't have too many of any kind," said Jones. "Did you ever stop to think that the elimination of one dangerous batter in a pinch may win a ball game for you! If, as you say, I am overloaded with left handers, I may revive the practice of using certain pitchers for certain batters. The worry of having too many good southpaws never will turn my hair gray."

Cincinnati, Ohio—The Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. has developed an athlete in F. Stormer, who may make his mark in national events if he decides to compete in them. At the Louisville A. A. F. meet, Stormer won the 80-yard dash, taking a preliminary heat in 8 1-5 seconds; made a gallant run as anchor man in the mile relay, which his team won in 3:35 4-5, and was second in the shot put.

* * *

Detroit, Mich.—Duke P. Kahanmoku, the speedy swimmer from Honolulu, has been matched to meet Perry McGillivray, the Chicago star, in a 50-yard match, at the Detroit Athletic club, April 15. The latter recently starred in an A. A. U. meet which brought together several famous swimmers in the D. A. C. tank.

* * *

Ann Arbor, Mich.—It is understood that the University of Michigan will not enter a four-mile relay team, in the annual athletic meet of the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, this spring. Trainer Farroll has a long distance relay team of veterans but is said to believe his flyers would be more successful in a two-mile event. Recently the two-mile team, with three of the four-mile relay champions in action, defeated Cornell at Buffalo and made a new record of 7 minutes 56 3-5 seconds.

* * *

Chicago—Manager Rowland of the White Sox has a heavy job on his hands in choosing his catching staff, say reports from Mineral Wells, Tex., Ray Schalk, of course is sure of his job, and it seems likely that Jack Lapp, because of his great experience, will be retained, but the manager wants only three. This means that Walter Mayor, Ray Shook and Byrd Lynn, will have to battle between themselves. Lynn and Shook are youngsters, and have shown a great deal of class at the training camp. The veteran pitchers on the club say that Lynn is almost sure of becoming a regular. Mayer who has been Schalk's understudy for the past few years, also has shown himself to be a backstop of some class, and may deprive the youngsters of their chances of becoming regulars.

* * *

Waxahachie, Tex.—A majority of the members of the Detroit American league baseball club do not approve the plan of establishing a home for retired ball players. Several of the Tiger players have declared that under present salary conditions any capable player who does not become incapacitated by injury, should be able to save at least a modest fortune during his diamond career. Some were inclined to think that players who were not of a saving disposition, but who were clever performers on the ball field, would not be helped and might be harmed by the proposed plan.

East Lansing, Mich.—George E. Gauthier, one of the best all-around athletes M. A. C. ever had, is in temporary charge of athletics at the Michigan Agricultural college, since the resignation of Coach John F. Macklin. Gauthier may be appointed track coach, as he has been given full charge of that squad. He starred on the eleven, under Macklin, and played basket ball and baseball.

Chicago—Since the winter of 1915-16 has been a normal one with plenty of snow, an early spring should result, and anglers who desire to get the cream of the 1916 brook trout fishing should go early in the season, before the trout become wise to the wiles of the resident anglers, say fishing experts here.

Early in the spring, where the waters are a bit off color from rains, many anglers find worms the best bait. But as soon as the waters begin to lower and clear up the trout will rise to the artificial fly, it is said.

Mexico, Mo.—The Missouri section of the Missouri-Kansas Grand Fair circuit has been organized. The dates for the fairs follow:

Moberly, week of July 24; Columbia, July 31; Mexico, Aug. 8; Marshall, Aug. 14. The Griggsville, Ill., and Bowling Green, Mo., fairs will be in another circuit.

Purses for six pacing and five trotting events for four days of each fair will aggregate $4,400. The 3-year-old events, not included in the $4,400, each has a purse of $800.

A Typical Case of Paresis

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

Mr. XYZ has been "treating with a nerve specialist," a friend states. "His symptoms are (1) stubbornness—he never was so before this trouble began. The trouble started suddenly a year ago—he ran away with some funds belonging to his employer, and though he went only ten miles from home, he insisted he was never coming back. (2) He has taken a marked antipathy for his family and all his old friends. (3) He refuses to take medicine, declaring that he is as sound as a dollar. (4) He deceives everybody, and without reason, about the most trivial things.

"He is 44 years old, has always been a man of good health, but drank considerably all his life, and is a heavy smoker.

"He doesn't want to mix with people he has always mixed with. He has spells of despondency and crying, but usually is planning stupendous affairs and seems to think he has control of some mysterious but unlimited resources. He declares he can buy and sell Rockefeller, for instance. His eyes look glassy, and he looks down all the time. He is inclined to say and do indecent, shocking things (though he has always been a clean-minded man) and is easily influenced by a despicable class of people who tell him they will do great things for him—people whose only desire is to get control of his business.

"His hobby is divorce—he talks continually of getting a divorce from his wife, the truest woman in the world. He declares he will commit suicide rather than live with her, and he accuses her of the foulest and most inconceivable crimes. He is squandering his resources, disgracing his family and driving his wife to the grave. For God's sake, what can be done?"

A better description of paresis, or "softening of the brain," as it is vulgarly known, could scarcely be written. There is but one thing to do, in the man's own interest and in the interest of his family. His wife should apply to the judge of a court of record for a commission in lunacy to examine the man. Then he may be committed to a hospital and properly treated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Neuritis of Facial Nerve.

Please describe facial neuritis. I have had it in my system for three years, but have never had the facial part.

Answer—Inflammation of the nerve supplying one side of the face. It is characterized by weakness or paralysis of the muscles on one side of the face, comes on suddenly as a rule, and the patient may be unaware of it until some one remarks about the "swelling" of one side of the face—really absence of the usual folds and wrinkles of expression. With electricity and general treatment recovery occurs after several weeks. If you haven't had the facial part you are probably mixed on your terms.

Myxoedema.

What is myxoedema? What are the symptoms? Is it curable?

Answer—The result of absence or inadequacy of secretion of the thyroid gland. Symptoms are mental hebetude, physical laziness, overweight, lack of perspiration, dry, thick skin, puffy eyes, pads of fat on collar bones, slow pulse, subnormal temperature, sensitiveness to cold, drowsiness, thick lips, scanty or absent menstruation in women. It is curable by glandular therapy.

GREAT YEAR FOR CURLERS

Season Just Closed Has Eclipsed All Others in Interest and Games Played.

A review of the curling season just closed shows that it was one of the most successful in the history of the club. During the season that came to a close Saturday, 939 games were played. Also during the season the local club inaugurated an innovation in the Blaze of Glory event. Curlers outside the club were allowed to participate in the event. This practice has already been followed by range clubs and will probably be later taken up by other clubs throughout the country.

According to officials of the club, not even a short breathing spell will be taken before preparations are made for next year. It is planned to make the 1916-17 season even greater than the one just closed, and with that end in view, plans will be worked on during the summer months.

Following is a summary of the season:

Herald event — Sixty-two games played, won by William Dinham.

Manley McLennon event—Forty-nine games played, won by Walter Hall, Duluth.

Universal event—Sixty-three games played, won by Sam Cleveland.

Bagley event — Sixty-two games played, won by C. D. Brewer.

Head of the Lakes championship—Forty-nine games won by Clough Gates Superior. Consolation won by Dr. Catterson.

State championship — Fifty-three games, won by C. Brewer, Duluth. Consolation won by Strickland or Manheimer, St. Paul.

Pinzon event—Forty-two games, won by W. Dinham.

Blaze of Glory—Ninety-two games, won by Walter Hall. Consolation won by E. Deetz.

HOW THEY FEEL AFTER THE BATTLE

Willard Says Hand Injury Prevented K. O.; Moran Not Discouraged.

New York, March 27.—With his right hand bandaged, owing to an injury to a knuckle of the index finger, and nearly $40,000 in big bills carefully stowed somewhere about his person, Jess Willard, the world's heavyweight champion, left here yesterday afternoon. He expects to join his family at Chicago some time today and he will rest until the last week of April, when he will begin a six months' tour with a circus.

Speaking of his bout with Frank Moran at Madison Square Garden, Willard said:

"Moran is a great, strong fellow, both clever and full of courage, but I think I would have knocked him out last night had it not injured my right hand early in the fight. The doctor says I will not be able to use my right hand for at least two weeks.

"As to fighting Moran again, or Fulton, or any other challenger, my manager will have to attend to that matter. I am willing at any time to defend my title and will be ready whenever arrangements are made."

Walter Monahan, one of Willard's trainers, accompanied the champion, who did not show a mark from last night's contest.

Moran was up early yesterday morning, and received many callers at his hotel. The Pittsburgh man's face was puffed and his eyes discolored from Willard's left jabs, but he was cheerful. He was unwilling to admit that Willard beat him.

TEAM LOOKS PROMISING

Magnate Blume and Darby O'Brien Enthusiastic Over Sox Recruits.

President Blume of the Duluth Baseball club announced yesterday that Pitcher Herb Posten has been turned back to the Duluth club by the Detroit management. Hughey Jennings and assistant coaches declared that the Palisade, Minn., youth is in need of more seasoning before being ripe for big league company.

Magnate Blume and Darby O'Brien believe that their pitching staff is large enough without the addition of Posten, therefore the speed boy may be passed on to other hands.

"We have what looks like a great pitching staff right now," said Blume. "I don't know whether we will be able to use Posten. If all the hurlers we have signed live up to expectations, there will scarcely be room for additions to the staff."

If Posten fold, the Fort William youth, lives up to expectations, Duluth is going to have a star hurler. This kid has been a sensation in Fort William. He has always refused to go on the road, because of his position. Darby O'Brien in some manner persuaded Penfold that he was quite promising enough to give his undivided attention to baseball. If this youngster pitches with the same brilliancy he displayed last season, he should make a decided impression here.

Webb Looks Great.

Infielder Webb, the lad coming from the Indianapolis club, looks like a star. As in the case of Penfold, if this boy lives up to the dope, he will prove a bright star in the White Sox first wall of defense.

In addition to his ability to cover ground on the infield, Webb is said to be a willow wielder of ability—a hard and timely hitter.

Darby is also pinning faith to some of the excessive praise that has been lavished on young Jack Paull. This kid played in Hurley, Wis., last year and swatted the spheroid to the lilting tune of .428. It is said that the brand of baseball played up that way was far from slow, too. If Faull lives up to advance dope, both in regard to fielding and hitting, he will prove a sensation in the league and will fill a long felt want on the initial sack—a place that has been long missing, the familiar and sensational figure of Red Bluhm.

If many of the youngsters in the Blume stronghold come through, the Sox will take the field May 4 with a fast and scrappy aggregation.

FRANK RUSSELL IS HIGH MAN

A rifle target contest between the secretary's and treasurer's teams was held yesterday on the grounds of the Northwestern Gun club. The contest was won by the former team by a margin of 25 points. Some very good scores were turned in. Ideal weather conditions greeted the shooters, a large number turning out.

Frank Russell was high man with a score of 42 out of a possible 50.

HEADLOCK IS WORKING

Fred Beell Says Famous Hold Is All Ready for Stecher.

It is expected Fred Beell will arrive in Duluth the latter part of this week or the first part of next week, in order to put on the finishing touches for his finish wrestling contest with Joe Stecher, the Nebraska scissors grinder, which will be decided in the big Auditorium arena Tuesday evening, April 4.

Beell is plugging away down on his Marshfield, Wis. farm. The quick and decisive win the little Badger sprung on huge Paul Schultz just one week ago has filled the little Dutchman brim full of confidence.

"I wanted to see if I was there—if the old time speed and strength were left in my system," wrote Freddy. "I actually surprised myself by the way I defeated Schultz. The old headlock seemed to work just as in the days of old. I wonder if I can slip that hold on Stecher? They tell me he is easy to go behind, but that you can't do much when you do go behind. I have never gone behind a man as yet that I couldn't do something to."

Beell Defeated Lewis.

Ed "Strangler" Lewis drove Joe Stecher to a two-hour battle before the infuriated farmer from Nebraska hurled the Kentucky college giant over the ropes and onto his head. In doping Beell's chances against the sensational scissors grinder, it might be well to state that Freddy Beell is one of the few wrestlers in the United States who holds a victory over this same Lewis. Beell defeated the "Strangler" in Chicago, headlocking the giant to the point of complete exhaustion.

Interest in the approaching contest is so great here that a huge crowd is assured. Not only are Duluth fans aroused over the prospect of seeing little Freddy Beell, the most popular wrestler who ever showed here, meet the great Joe Stecher, but indications point to a huge crowd coming down from the ranges.

In many respects, Promoter La Joy has succeeded in getting the most interesting contest of the entire season. Stecher has defeated Cutler, Joe Rogers, Yussiff Hussane, the original "Masked Marvel" and other huge fellows. The "Boy in the Overalls" has proved conclusively that he can take the measure of big fellows. It remains to be seen what the fastest man in the game, a master of every move, can do against a wrestler who has been leaving a trail of defeated opponents from coast to coast.

JUST MISSES TITLE.

Toledo, Ohio, March 27.—Failure to get but one pin of a 5-9 leave on his final shot lost Sam Schliman of Toronto, Ont., the lead in the singles of the American bowling congress tournament here yesterday. Schliman got 685 and tied with Ben Huesman and Frank Shaw of Cincinnati and Chicago, respectively, for the high singles. High mark in the doubles was 1,202 by C. Shlery and C. Washerman of Toledo.

No man ever had a better chance for the national title than Schliman as he opened with 239. In the middle game he totaled 256, and he nursed his lead along carefully until the fatal split showed up on his second shot in the last frame, forcing him into the roll-off.

TRI-STATE BOWLING TOURNEY AT LA CROSSE

La Crosse, Wis., March 27.—The second annual tournament of the Tri-State Bowling association opened here last night with bowlers in attendance from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. High scores for the first day were:

Five-man teams—Kapital Kids, Madison, Wis., 2,430.

Doubles—Gullikson-Diekroger, West Salem, Wis., 1,050.

Singles—Powers, Winona, Minn., 606.

High score, in one game—Powers, Winona, 274.

The tournament will continue throughout the week.

Leaders' Team Wins.

The Leaders' Athletic club, one of the boys' department basket ball teams, played a fast game of ball Saturday with the News Tribune team. Both teams were about the same weight, but the boys' department soon showed its superiority, and the score climbed up to 20 to 3. Ballus Anderson and Ben Walt starred for the boys' department team. The line-ups were:

Boys' department — Roy Anderson, center; Ballus Anderson and John Bennett, forwards; Ben Walt and Ray Bartholdin, guards.

News Tribune team—Jake Fishman and John Gronseth, forwards; Louis Fishman and Jake Tulman, guards; B. Walt, center.

Electricity for Farmers.

Forest River, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local business men and farmers are furnishing the capital for an electric light plant for this city, which will eventually supply current for farm homes of this section, according to plans now on foot. Farmers propose to light their homes and operate light machinery by electricity instead of gasoline.

VIRGINIA WINNERS ARE WELCOMED HOME

Range City Greets Basket Ball Team That Won Championship.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—More than 2,500 people including a large number from the student body of the high school joined last evening in an enthusiastic welcome to the basket ball team of the Virginia high school, returning from Northfield with the high school basket ball championship of Minnesota.

The great crowd was a spontaneous tribute to the high school athletes. It had not been announced that there would be an ovation in their honor, although Mayor Boylan had ordered the Military band to meet the train. People came from all sections of the city to meet the team. The players were hoisted upon the shoulders of the crowd and carried down Chestnut street to the Ormonde hotel headed by the band. There were cheers for each individual player, for Coach Jackson and for members of the high school faculty.

Were Well Treated.

The twelve Virginians who accompanied the team were unanimous in their praise of the hospitality extended them at the Northfield tournament and declare that Virginia's hardest game was with the Austin quint, which held the Virginians to even terms and were only defeated in five minutes of extra play. The team traveled in a special car to Northfield and the Virginia Commercial club made the most of the opportunity to advertise Virginia and Northern St. Louis county. More than 2,000 pamphlets descriptive of Virginia were given away at towns enroute from Northfield.

The local team won the state championship at Northfield Saturday night by defeating the Mechanics Art five of St. Paul, 20 to 9.

EVELETH BANK TO ASSIST FARMERS

Will Help Them Purchase High Grade Cows to Improve Herds.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Miners' National bank in this city has decided on a policy which will result in a marked improvement and increase in the herds of settlers in this vicinity. The bank's officers have been studying the conditions of the farmers, and have decided that they are worthy of assistance in the way of limited credit with the bank.

The plan is to ship high-grade cows here and turn them over to the settlers, taking notes wherever a farmer is unable to make full cash payment and where he is worthy of credit. The bank, after advising with agricultural experts, has decided that the best of cows for the purpose are not full-bloods, but a good grade animal.

When the roads become fit for automobile travel, C. B. Hoel, cashier of the bank, will make a trip through the settlements south and west of Eveleth, and find how many settlers want cows on these conditions.

SOUGHT BY POLICE; HIBBING MAN BACK

Promptly Arrested on the Charge of Shooting Companion Some Time Ago.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Mongal, wanted here on a serious charge, returned yesterday after an absence of six months and was immediately arrested. Later he was released on $300 bonds.

Mongal figured in a shooting affray in the rear of a saloon in which it is said he shot a companion and then escaped. Mongal will be given a hearing Wednesday by Judge Brady.

EVELETH SOCIETY PURCHASES BUILDING

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Marche Umbria society has purchased the building at the corner of Adams avenue and Pierce street, now occupied by a bakery and billiard hall, for lodge purposes.

The building was purchased from Matt Anderson. The bakery salesroom on the first floor will be left in its present quarters, but the second floor will be vacted and remodeled for lodge purposes. A new floor will be laid and the room refinished. Later the lodge plans to make extensive improvements to the building.

Louis Perlante is president of the society and Primo Chiodini is secretary. The lodge meetings have hitherto been held in the Stipetich hall.

JUDGE BRADY RE-ELECTED.

Hibbing Fans Again Select Him to Manage Baseball Club.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Thomas Brady was re-elected manager of the local independent baseball club yesterday at a meeting of baseball fans and players. Victor L. Power was chosen president of the baseball association. The board of directors consists of Mayor Power, Trustee John Curran, Judge Thomas Brady, Village Treasurer Robert Geiselman and Capt. Jerry Edmonds.

Manager Brady will also be secretary. James Withers was elected treasurer. Manager Brady stated that he would get started early and endeavor to arrange dates with North Dakota nines, Michigan teams and Southern Minnesota aggregations.

It was decided that the treasurer of the baseball club be required to furnish $1,000 bonds. Darby O'Brien's Duluth team will play Hibbing this year in exhibition games at the local park and will also play return games at the Zenith City diamond. Judge Brady wrote to the management of the Virginia team seeking games.

CHISHOLM HAS NO PARK BOARD

Council Decides Men Named for Jobs Cannot Hold Positions.

Chisholm, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Acting on the advice of Village Attorney G. K. Trask that the park board had never been legally appointed through failure of the former village president to sign the resolution, the council at a special meeting Saturday night voted unanimously to nullify the appointments.

The bill of the law firm of Abbott, MacPherran, Lewis & Gilbert of Duluth for $300 for defending the village in the suit instituted by Frank G. Harris was not allowed, because the village attorney claimed the records failed to show where the firm had been engaged by the village.

Appointed to Jobs.

The following appointments were made: S. E. Greenthal, night sergeant; Joe Glogukar, sexton; Lee Rell, juvenile officer, and W. E. Talboys, poor commissioner.

Jack Rice, secretary of the Firemen's Relief association, spoke about the relief fund belonging to the association, which is being held in trust by the village. Mr. Rice explained that the association was organized and chartered in conformation to all legal requirements and the treasurer of the association was bonded for $4,000. According to Mr. Rice, there was no longer any excuse for the village refusing to give the relief association custody of the funds belonging to it. Recorder Graham explained that the same demand had been made upon the old council and the village attorney had advised against recognizing the relief association. On motion of Trustee Munro the council again referred the matter to the village attorney, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

Applications for positions were received from George Bichanich for patrolman and George Taro for engineer's assistant. The applications were ordered placed on file.

TENDER THEIR SERVICES.

Range Spanish-American War Veterans Anxious to Fight.

Chisholm, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of Camp Maj. Wilkinson, No. 15, United Spanish War Veterans, in response to orders received from the national commander, met on Saturday night to determine who would be willing to pledge themselves to enter army service.

The local camp has only fifteen members, but all who were present siginified their desire to again enter the government service if the occasion should demand and members not in attendance sent in word to enter their names. In addition to the members of the local camp there were seventeen others from this village or places nearby who have had military training and who stated their desire to join with the veterans if any call for service was issued.

"On the range alone," it was stated by an officer of the Maj. Wilkinson camp, "a company made up of veterans and persons having had military training, exclusive of the militia, could be recruited in less than twenty-four hours."

OLIVER CLUB AFFAIR.

Eastern Fight Returns and Several Stunts Enliven Evening.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Oliver club kept open house Saturday evening. The place was crowded. The Willard-Moran fight bulletins were read as well as returns from the Virginia basket ball contest at Northfield.

E. Mattie and Con Peterson, Davenport and E. A. Wagner and Felix Brown and Fred Hubbila wrestled.

There were boxing matches between George Brown and Beden, J. Beasey and Calujura and Harry Brown and Tingstad. Kaiser and Kearney also gave an exhibition. Pal Brown refereed.

L. O. Kirby gave a vocal selection, Dr. Wring sang several solos, Paul Chamberlain, president of the Mohami club of Virginia, gave several readings and told several dialect stories.

The Eccentric trio, Messrs. Carey, Brigold and Williams, sang several selections.

A supper followed. Virginia was represented by many mining engineers, members of the Mohami club.

EVELETH SECURES LARGE CONVENTION

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—President George Kotze of the Nardoni Nom chapter of this city has been notified by George Brozich of Ely, supreme secretary of the South Slovenian Catholic Union of America, that the 1916 convention of the organization will be held here, commencing Sept. 3, and continuing eight days.

Eveleth won by a large vote in competition with Joliet, Ill., and Lorain, Ohio. The societies of the range will be asked to assist in the entertainment of the convention. Many matters of importance are to be decided at this meeting.

The local lodge will rush work on its new building, or National Home, so that it will be ready for use for the national convention. Several hundred members will be in attendance and the convention will be one of the largest ever entertained on the range.

The Eveleth order has more than 130 members and a large number of candidates will be initiated during the next few weeks. The local officers, besides Mr. Kotze, are: Louis Jouze, secretary; Anton Fritz, treasurer.

VIRGINIA MERCHANTS PLAN STYLE SHOW

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia merchants are making elaborate arrangements for their second style show, which will open next Friday and continue for one week. Local stores are preparing elaborate window displays and new spring goods will be displayed in every show window on Chestnut street. Virginia is enjoying a constantly increasing trade in dry goods and clothing from over the range.

COMMITS SUICIDE BY HANGING SELF

Despondent Woodsman Ends His Worldly Troubles Near Aurora.

Aurora, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Janiker, a Slovenian woodsman, committed suicide by hanging some time Saturday night at a camp on the Partridge river, near here. Other men who were at the camp discovered his body in the woods near the camp Sunday morning and came to Aurora at once. Dr. Edward Darrow, deputy county coroner, and Undertaker Louis Rochevar went out after the body.

Janiker had tied a small rope to a log on which clothing had been dried and, slipping a noose about his neck, he fell back in the snow, strangling himself. There was only one track to the place and there could be no doubt that it was a plain case of suicide. Janiker had a son living here and two daughters who live at Eveleth. He was about 60 years old. Ill-health is given as the cause for the act.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL MATTER COMING UP

State Inspector of High Schools to Meet With Board.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education is expected tonight to reach a decision in regard to the Roosevelt high school, whether to build an addition and alter the main building in conformity with plans prepared by Architect Nystrom of Duluth, or to build a new building along plans submitted by the same architect.

State High School Inspector F. A. Challman is here today to meet with the board tonight and help solve a problem that is the subject of wide difference of opinion among taxpayers and school patrons.

All agree more school room is needed, but whether to enlarge the Roosevelt school or build a new high is the question.

EVELETH GYM SHOW.

School Gymnastic Exercises to Be Given in Auditorium Friday.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A gymnasium exhibition will be given at the city auditorium Friday, by the classes of Earl C. Ford, director of physical education in the schools.

The exhibition will be given on the main floor of the auditorium and bleechers and seats will be placed around the walls.

The program follows: Grand march, music by High School band; the unique dance, high school girls' gym class; wand exercise, high school boys; Spanish dance, high school girls; dance, Lincoln school girls; free hand drill, grade school boys; The Beauty of the Alps, a Tyrolean waltz, high school girls; Laces and Graces dance, high school grade girls; dance, Fayal school grade girls; Indian club exercises, high school boys and girls classes; spring board exercises, high school boys classes; Greek solo dance, "Baccarole," Eleanor Shea; "America," six dances from Indian dances to modern steps.

DEER KILLER FINED.

Andy Sethler, Shacker Living at Cramer, Mulcted $50 and Costs.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Game Warden August E. Tabor arrested Andy Sethler and John Anderson Saturday on a charge of killing deer out of season. They are shackers and live at Cramer, mile 62, on the Alger line. Fresh deer meat was found in their possession. They were arraigned before Justice if the Peace E. P. Kroberger. Sethler pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs. John Anderson was released as there was no evidence to connect him with the killing.

DATES NOT CHANGED.

Firemen's Gathering at Chisholm to Be as Originally Fixed.

Chisholm, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Transportation and accommodations for delegates to the state firemen's convention to be held here on June 13, 14, 15 were discussed at a meeting of the convention committee.

Passenger agents of the Great Northern and Soo railroads and S. M. Roberts, local agent for the D. M. & N. railroad, outlined what the roads would do in regard to furnishing sleeping cars and parking them in local yards for the accommodation of delegates.

A. C. Myler, secretary of the State Firemen's association, James Stickney of Virginia and Henry Gelderman of Proctor, members of the executive committee of the association, were present and discussed with the local committee the changing of the convention time to some date later in June which would avoid confliction with conventions to be held in Duluth about the middle of June. After considerable discussion it was decided to be impossible to better the conditions any by changing the dates at all and unless something unexpected arises the convention will be held on those dates outlined in the by laws.

J. I. Anderson of Buhl, S. S. Whittier of Virginia and C. E. French of the Monroe, representing the volunteer fire departments of those localities attended the meeting to prepare arrangements for the Range Volunteer Firemen's annual meeting which is to be held here at the same time as the state convention.

WON MANY GAMES.

Two Harbors Quint Finishes Successful Season By Beating Denfelds.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school basket ball team returned Saturday night from Duluth, where they closed a very successful season by defeating the Denfield high school five, 26 to 17.

The locals have won from Ely, Nelson-Dewey of Superior and two games from Denfeld of Duluth. William Claffy, who has played a fine game at forward, Allen Rock, captain and guard, expect to enter Macalaster college next year and will be lost to the locals.

Strand, star forward of the locals, has developed into an excellent basket shooter. Other members of the team are: Fortman, Stein, Haugsten, Falk and Share. A great deal of credit is being given to Coach Brigham.

VIRGINIA BOWLERS WIN.

Defeat Other Entrants in the Queen City Bowling Tourney.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—After eight days of lively games the Queen city bowling tournament closed here last night with Virginia holding the high score. The scores: Rivers & Nurmi, Virginia, 2,649; Rex, Hibbing, 2,619; Winslows, Chisholm, 2,545; Ideals, Hibbing, 2,529; Gilbert city, 2,492. Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three old locomotives purchased on the range by the Carnegie Steel company will be taken east by P. D. Salmon, a veteran engineer, who will steam up one and haul the other two, making one of the most novel trains that ever left this section.

Evelethian Gets Damages.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A verdict of $100 in favor of the plaintiff was rendered by a jury in municipal court in the case of John Rozinka vs. Matt Dolence, in which Rozinka asked for $475 for damages received by his little son when he was kicked by a horse owned by the defendant three years ago.

Lawler to Leave Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—Secretary J. Earl Lawler of the Commercial club has decided to accept the position of secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Piqua, Ohio, offered him some time ago and has resigned the local job.

ITCHING BLISTERS ON BOY'S HEAD

Got Worse. Affected Ears, Neck and Face. Scratched Day and Night. Terribly Disfigured.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"When four months old my boy suffered with blisters and a kind of scaly skin on his head. I got some salve and he didn't seem to improve but got worse and his ears, neck, and face were affected. He scratched day and night the itching was so intense, and we had to keep his hands pinned the whole time. The skin was sore and inflamed, and he didn't have a hair on his head. It was just a cap of sore eruptions, and his face was terribly disfigured.

"He got so bad we had to keep a mask on his face. The trouble lasted for months, when a lady told my husband about Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and we got them. The third day I noticed a big improvement and in two weeks my boy was healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. A. Thiele, 348 6th St., Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail

With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

LOOKING FOR WORK

Everywhere men complain about work; even boys and girls in school or business find work tedious and irksome, but it isn't the work half so much as their own lack of physical strength that makes it hard.

Rich blood, strong lungs and healthful digestion make work pleasurable in business, in school or even housework, and if those who are easily tired—who are not sick, but weak and nervous—would just take Scott's Emulsion for one month and let its pure concentrated food create richer blood to pulsate through every artery and vein—let it build a structure of healthy tissue and give you vigorous strength—you would find work easy and would look for more. Insist on Scott's.

WARMER

After dealing out a delightful and ice-wrecking Sunday, the weather department has shipped along another fine day today. Also the promise is for still warmer weather Tuesday, which should do a lot of damage to snow and ice and put the streets and avenues in better condition.

A year ago today was raw. The sun rose this morning at 5:55 and will set this evening at 6:31, giving twelve hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light to heavy snow or rain fell during Sunday or last night over the lake region, Ohio, upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and Tennessee in connection with the barometric depression centered over the Ohio valley states. Rain also fell over North Pacific districts as a result of the Alberta disturbance. Temperatures have risen throughout the Northwest and have fallen over the Middle West and Southwest. Conditions apparently favor a shift to southerly winds at the head of Lake Superior tonight."

General Forecast.

Chicago, March 27.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight and in east portion Tuesday; cooler in northwest portion Tuesday.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; warmer Tuesday.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler Tuesday and in extreme west portion tonight.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight in east portion; cooler Tuesday in west and north portions.

Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight east of the divide.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer Tuesday and in east portions tonight.

Lower Michigan—Local rains or snows tonight; slightly colder; Tuesday partly cloudy; slightly warmer in west and north portions.

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight; colder in east portion; Tuesday partly cloudy and slightly warmer.

LOCAL FORECAST

Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Partly cloudy and warmer weather tonight and Tuesday. Lowest temperature tonight about 30 deg. at and near Duluth-Superior and along the north shore and 20 to 30 deg. on the iron ranges. Moderate northeast winds, shifting to fresh southerly tonight.

Winton Lawless Act.

Winton, Minn., March 27.—The authorities are trying to arrest the man who entered the room of a maid at the Walsh hotel and attempted to strangle her but was frightened away by her screams also to catch the thief who stole some food from the St. Croix clubhouse.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.—Advertisement.

ARE YOU LIKE THIS?

If you are irritable you may be the last person to realize it unless you honestly examine yourself. Are you?

Are you subject to headaches? Do you forget easily? Is it difficult for you to keep your mind on your work? Do you have a sense of weakness in arms and legs and get tired easily?

If this description fits your case you need a non-alcoholic tonic, for these are the symptoms of neurasthenia. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. for the free booklet on "Diseases of the Nervous System" and get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from the nearest drug store. Begin the treatment at once. You can tell when the tonic action of the pills is helping you because your appetite will pick up and what you eat will not distress you. As the rich, red blood reaches every part of the body the feeling of weakness and depression disappears and you know that you are taking the right treatment.

Some people can hardly avoid neurasthenia. They are born with a tendency to it. But, by building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this tendency may be overcome and the condition corrected. Pin your faith to this treatment and stop worrying. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be sent by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50.

WEST END

SMALL DISHONESTY LEADS TO GREATER

Rev. Milton Fish Warns Against Departure From Honor's Path.

The greatest tragedy of dishonesty occurs in the first departure from the paths of honesty whether it is in the matter of a few marbles won by gambling or the stealing of a car ride, said Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, in a sermon on "Stealing" last night. He said that while a thief may gain wealth he loses in self-respect, contentment, friends and honor.

Small thefts in early life, he said, often led to gambling and borrowing money with false promises, and led to more stealing later on. The pastor said that God champions property rights, not to spare financial loss but to deter from the loss of honor.

MASONS' LADIES' NIGHT.

Trinity Lodge Will Give Banquet, Program and Dance.

An elaborate banquet, musical program and dancing will feature a "ladies' night" entertainment this evening by Trinity lodge No. 282, A. F. & A. M., at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Arrangements have been made to seat 250 guests.

E. H. Pfeiffer, master of the lodge, will be toastmaster. The general committee in charge of the arrangements consists of A. W. Erickson, chairman; George C. Sterling, John P. Geistman, H. A. Anderson and Mr. Pfeiffer.

MRS. MOLANDER, OLD RESIDENT, IS DEAD

Mrs. Annie Molander, 80, a pioneer resident of the West end, died this morning at the St. Anne's home, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. Mrs. Molander had been at the home for the past four years. She had resided in this end of the city for over thirty years. She leaves only some distant relatives who reside in the city. Arrangements for the funeral will be made by friends this afternoon.

Swedish Mission Notes.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will meet this evening and Friday evening for rehearsal. The newly organized string band will also meet this evening and next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Parthenoe society will meet in the church tomorrow evening. A musical and literary program will be given. Miss Ruth Berne will be hostess.

Midweek services will be conducted Wednesday evening by Rev. J. J. Daniels. On Thursday evening the midweek services will be held at the East End mission.

The Young Peoples' society will entertain Thursday evening at its annual "spring festival" in the church. Rev. A. E. Smedberg of the West Duluth church will speak, and Prof. A. H. Oberg of St. Paul will give musical numbers.

Special song service has been planned for next Sunday evening's service.

Patrolman's Son Dies.

Reinhold, the 1-year-old son of Patrolman and Mrs. Victor G. Fagelberg, 2609 West Second street, died yesterday afternoon of pneumonia. No arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet.

Services at St. Peter's.

English and Swedish Lenten services will be held, respectively, Thursday afternoon and evening at St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street. A social hour will follow each service. In the afternoon St. Luke's guild will have charge, the hostesses being Mrs. Carl E. Lonegren and Mrs. Fred Slocum. Rebekah guild will have charge of the social hour in the evening.

Adams Mothers' Club.

The Mothers' Club of Adams school will hold its first monthly meeting on Monday afternoon, April 3. Action on proposed by-laws will be taken. The committee in charge of drafting the by-laws consists of Mrs. Robert Rankin, Mrs. George Huey and Mrs. W. S. Kearns.

Rehearse for Cantata.

The choir of Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, is making preparations to present an Easter cantata, "The First Easter," by Ira D. Wilson. The first rehearsal will take place Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. J. Emmett Porter, 310 North Twenty-second avenue west. Mrs. Porter will direct the rehearsals.

West End Briefs.

Miss Minnie White of Toledo, Ohio, is a guest at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Whalen, 114 North Twenty-fifth avenue west.

Miss Myrtle McKenzie, 617 Twenty-fifth avenue west, will entertain tomorrow evening for members of the choir of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Max Gottschald, 6 South Thirteenth avenue west, has returned from a short visit to Brainerd, Minn.

Mrs. William Welle, 1901 West Superior street, and her daughter, Mrs. M. Hayden, have returned from a short visit to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klosowsky, 333 North Twenty-first avenue west, left Saturday for Peoria, Ill., where they will spend two weeks visiting relatives.

ISHPEMING MINING MAN IS PROMOTED

Ishpeming, Mich., March 27.—The officials of the Cleveland Cliffs company announce the promotion of Carl Brewer of this city to the position of assistant chief mining engineer of the Ishpeming mine.

Carl Brewer came to this city from Yale in 1906 to take a position as mining engineer with that company. He worked in that capacity for more than a year when he decided he needed more training and took special work at school for a year. He then worked at the Ashland mine in the Gogebic range for a short time and in 1911 he returned to the employ of the Cleveland-Cliffs company, taking a position on the iron-range. In 1914 he was given a position with the headquarters here.

He will serve as the assistant chief engineer.

MONTANA GRAYLING FOR MICHIGAN STREAM

Houghton, Mich., March 27.—John C. Mann, the Upper Peninsula member of the Michigan Fish commission, says that it has been decided to restock the Otter river with grayling. He says 100,000 grayling spawn from Montana will be planted in this river this summer. Mr. Mann also says that the entire fish commission will be in Houghton some time during August to decide upon a location for a new fish hatchery.

To Locate High School.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mass meeting of citizens will be held at the Commercial club this evening when the question of a location for the new high school will be taken up, some opposition having arisen to the board's plan.

GEORGE F. LANGE IS SUMMONED

George F. Lange, for twenty-seven years a Duluth resident, died at St. Mary's hospital Saturday. He was 71 years old.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Crawford & Sons chapel and at 2:30 p. m. from the German Lutheran church, Tenth avenue east and Third street. Rev. Paul Bretzell will officiate and interment will be at Park Hill cemetery.

Mr. Lange lived for many years at 410 East Fourth street, and was prominent among Duluth's German-Americans. He was a member of the Sons of Herman.

He leaves a son, Julius Lange, who is a resident of this city.

Minister Taps Trees.

Crystal Falls, Mich., March 27.—Rev. Poyseor has commenced to tap trees in his maple syrup grove. He will tap 2,800 trees and thinks that this year is going to be a good one. The sap is running in a small way. Mr. Poyseor says that he has orders on hand now for over 300 gallons of syrup and that they come from fourteen different states.

DULUTH PEOPLE GET INSTANT ACTION

Those who have used it in Duluth are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ika. Because it acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, ONE SPOONFUL Adler-ika relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. W. A. Abbett, druggist.

PLAN MORE COKE OVENS

Zenith Furnace Company Will Enlarge This Department of Plant.

An additional fifteen coke ovens which will increase the capacity of this department 30 per cent will be constructed by the Zenith Furnace company.

Fred C. Harris, general superintendent of the company, was out of the city today, and confirmation of the improvement could not be secured although it was admitted that such plans were being considered.

The company has now in operation forty-eight ovens with a daily capacity of about 500 tons of coke. The additional ovens will increase the production about 30 per cent.

At present the company has under construction an addition to the coal dock which will increase its capacity one-fourth. This will cost the company about $100,000. Included in the improvement will be an additional unloading bridge with unloading apparatus.

The company has been handling about 400,000 tons of coal at its dock yearly. A large part of this coal is being shipped to the Northwest, the dust and screenings being utilized in the manufacture of coke. With the additional coal which it is expected to handle here, will be required the addition to the coke plant.

TO SUGGEST PLANS FOR EXTENSION

New Duluth Commercial Club Would Persuade Traction Company.

Members of the New Duluth Commercial club will discuss the proposed extension of the street railway lines to New Duluth at their meeting at the Stowe school tomorrow evening. Plans for a campaign to induce the company to make the desired extension will be brought up.

The street railway company will begin building its extension to Morgan Park as soon as the frost is out of the ground. This line will be in operation, according to officials of the company, some time in May. The New Duluth people wish the company to have the extension to New Duluth included in the work this year.

The club members will also discuss a new name for the club, the present name not being satisfactory to many of the members. Several new names will be suggested such as the Western Improvement club, New Duluth-Gary Commercial club and Suburban Commercial club.

WITH THE CURLERS.

Mallory Rink Wins Bonspiel Given in Honor of Skip's Birthday.

The Mallory rink celebrated George J. Mallory's birthday by winning the box of cigars put up in honor of the occasion at the Western Curling club Saturday night. Only five of the eight rinks drawn showed up owing to the warm weather, but the games were played down to the finals.

In the finals the Mallory rink won from R. F. Wade by a score of 7 to 6. Only six ends were played in each game. The following was the play:

T. F. Olsen	Wade
F. H. Wade		R. F. Wade
R. F. Wade	Wade
T. Quinn	(forfeit)		Mallory
G. J. Mallory	Mallory
A. Donald	(forfeit)	Mallory
E. J. Zaulft	Zaulft
M. Olson	(forfeit)

This practically closed the season at the club. The finals in the club championship buttons, between A. Donald and Ernest Anderson, may be played this evening if the ice is in condition, or on the first occasion possible. It is the only remaining game unplayed.

The club will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday evening, April 11, at which time officers will be elected and reports of the past season given out. The various trophy winners will also be given their trophies.

DEBATE ON MISSIONS.

Young People's Societies of Presbyterian Churches Take Part.

A debate of the question, "Resolved, That Home Missions Are More Important Than Foreign Missions," resulted in victory last night for the negative at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor societies at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue and Ramsey street. The affirmative was upheld by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church, while members of the Westminster society debated the negative.

The judges were Cecil J. Hockin of the First Baptist church, John Cooper of the First Presbyterian, and Leo E. Streeter of the Grace Methodist church.

Funeral of Mrs. Thompson.

The funeral of Mrs. Marie Thompson, aged 76, wife of Thomas Thompson, 17 North Sixty-second avenue west, who died Friday night, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Bell Bros.' undertaking rooms. Interment was in Oneota cemetery. Rev. B. L. Opdahl had charge of the service.

MORGAN PARK TO HAVE STRONG NINE

Employes at the Steel Plant Have Good Material for Team.

Morgan Park will have one of the strongest amateur baseball teams in the city, if the plans of some of the baseball fans of that suburb carry. Men eligible to play are now being listed, and as soon as the ice and snow have left the ground, teams will be organized among the employes of the Steel company which promise to give any other aggregation a hard game.

Among the employes at the steel plant who have arrived at the suburbs in the last year are some ex-baseball players who have won fame in the East for their prowess in stick and field work. These men are being "tabbed" as possibilities of the Morgan Park nine.

A large field just south of the suburbs will be available for use probably late this spring for practice. This place was set aside in the original plat of the suburb for such sport and comprises several acres.

According to present plans, challenges will be issued to any organized teams in the city for games. It may be possible that the team will seek to be admitted to membership in one of the city amateur leagues.

Surprised By Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ek, 22 South Sixty-fourth avenue west, were pleasantly surprised by a number of their friends Saturday evening. Games and music and dancing featured the entertainment. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames Hans Malmrose, Ernest Liljedahl, Maurit z Ek, Nels Tingvall, John Ohman, A. Bergquist, Emil Danielson, Charles Johnson, A. Skarman, Oscar Gulbrandson, Nels Skarman, Mrs. Gust Torsvald, Misses Augusta Johnson, Christina Jacobson, Gerda Edwinson, Hildeberg Ek and Messrs. Peter Burns, Albert Johnson, Oscar Jorganson, Axel Jorganson and Emil Carlson.

PAVING BIDS OPENED.

Contract for Central Avenue Job Will Now Be Let.

Bids on paving Central avenue, from Cody street to the D., M. & N. tracks, were opened by Commissioner Farrell this morning. Figures will not be available until late this afternoon, it was announced.

The proposals were made on paving the street with one-course concrete and McGilvray "non-slip," a patented pavement prepared by a local man. It is concrete, but contains a sandstone mixture in place of trap rock used ordinarily. The pavement will cost approximately $30,000, according to estimates prepared by the city engineer.

The bidders follow: Nyhus & Frederickson, D. H. Clough & Co., A. N. Nelson, Olson & Johnson, E. A. Dahl, A. D. Bodin & Son, Eklund, Hedberg & Co. and Rogers & McLean.

"Sleep-Walker" Found With Hands in Roommate's Pockets.

Hjalmar Mattila, 23, is a dreamer. That's his explanation of an affair in which police accuse him of stealing $60 from Lauri Mattila.

The two Mattilas, with two friends, slept in a single room at the Liberty hotel, West Michigan street, Friday night, and during the night Lauri Mattila lost three $20 bills.

The two friends said they awoke between 1 and 2 a. m. and saw Hjalmar, with his hands in the other Mattila's pockets. They held him a prisoner until Detectives Roberg and Barber appeared, and placed him under arrest.

Hjalmar Mattila now says he must have been dreaming, and that if he had his hands in any one else's pockets, he did it while he was sound asleep. The only feature of the case that baffles police is the fact that they cannot find the $60.

Mattila pleaded not guilty to a charge of second degree grand larceny and will be given a preliminary hearing this afternoon in municipal court.

CELESTIAL DISOWNED.

John Hor Non Is Again Sent to Work Farm for Vagrancy.

Duluth Celestials have disowned John Hor Non, a mild-mannered, indolent young Chinaman, who dislikes the thought of work, and refuses to do anything that corresponds to hard labor.

For many weeks Hor Non lived by appealing to first one and then another of loyal countrymen. Finally they grew tired of supporting him and threw him out on the world.

Hor Non likes to wander forth at night, when everyone else is asleep, and to stand on a downtown street corner watching the flickering lights and the traffic. The fact that there is little, if any, traffic at that hour does not seem to bother him.

On March 2 he was sent to the work farm as a vagrant, with the distinction of being the first Chinaman ever to be sentenced in a Duluth court on that charge.

Today he was "in" again, and this time the judge made it sixty days. Hor Non was arrester by Officer Wanvick.

THREE TAKEN IN RAIDS.

Police Dragnet Takes in Victims at Local Hotels.

Three persons were caught in a police drag-net Saturday night and Sunday morning, when hotels and rooming houses were inspected.

John Walters, 26, and Margaret Allison, 27, were arrested for disorderly conduct by Patrolmen Wanvick and Youngstrom, in a West Superior street hotel. They forfeited $15 bail by non-appearance in court today.

Earnest McClennon, 33 was brought in by Humane Agent J. G. Ross on a similar charge, and was held in $50 bail after pleading not guilty. A more serious charge may be substituted for the one now against McClennon, police intimated. He will be tried Thursday.

ONLY ROUTINE FOR COUNCIL

Appropriations for Improvements and Purchase of Supplies to Be Considered.

Today's council meeting promises to be a tame one in comparison to the sessions of the last month.

Only routine matters are scheduled to come up, including the awarding of several contracts and the reading of ordinances, making appropriations for improvements, the purchase of supplies and the payment for special legal service authorized by the city. Last Monday the commissioners held the longest meeting since commission government went into power three years ago.

Mayor Prince will introduce the ordinances appropriating $2,500 to pay Francis W. Sullivan, who is assisting City Attorney Samuelson in fighting the street car paving case, and $250 to pay Frank Crassweller, special counsel, selected by the commissioners last week to assist in appealing the armory referendum case.

H. O. Nyhus will be awarded the contract to lay fifty-three plank walks, recently authorized by the council, on his bid of $12,934.

A resolution designating the fifty-two streets to be sprinkled with oil this year, as outlined in The Herald last week, will be introduced by Commissioner Farrell.

Sanitary sewers will be ordered in Second street, from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-sixth avenue east, and in Third alley, from Twenty-ninth avenue east to lot 5, block 4, Harrison's division.

Mayor Prince will introduce resolutions authorizing him to advertise for bids on furnishing the city with apparatus for the seven new playgrounds and for a ventilating system to be installed in the basement of the city hall.

JESS CHARITABLE TO FIGHTING GAME

Gives New Reason for Not Knocking Out Moran.

Chicago, March 27.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, arrived in Chicago today from New York. The champion showed no ill effects of the fight other than that his right hand was bandaged.

According to announcements, Willard will remain in Chicago for several weeks, getting his hand back in shape. He has a contract to appear with a circus during the summer, the opening date for the engagement being April 29. He will give exhibition bouts with Walter Monahan, his trainer, at each performance, and it is reported his end of the summer's purse amounts to approximately $150,000.

The big fighter bowed and smiled to the crowd which greeted him at the station. He was accompanied by two sparring partners, Walter Monahan and Jack Hemple. Before taking a taxicab to his home, Willard denied that he intended to retire.

"I did not knock out Moran because a knockout would have a bad effect on the fighting game in New York, and there is enough feeling against it now," said Willard.

VISITS BIG PORTS OF GREAT LAKES

Simon Clark Back From East—Looks for Remarkable Season.

Simon Clark returned Saturday evening from a trip to all of the principal ports of the Great Lakes in the interest of the ship chandlery business and says that the prospect for the greatest year in the history of the lakes has every vessel owner hurrying with the work of making ready.

"The season, it is feared, will open late," said Mr. Clark today, "but it will be one of hustle as long as it is open. It is too bad that the opening could not be made earlier, for it would relieve a congested condition, and there is business for twelve months of shipping if it could be obtained. Everything floatable is chartered and at good prices. It will be a wonderful year."

Mr. Clark went as far east as Buffalo, N. Y.

PROTEST AGAINST DITCH.

Black River Settlers Claim Its Establishment Would Be Confiscatory.

International Falls, Minn., March 27.—Carl Murray, Ole Scheie, Mr. Snidgrass and other settlers of the Black river country went to Bemidji to attend the hearing in the matter of Judicial Ditch No. 24 in the interest of the property owners of that section. They claim that the establishing of some parts of the ditch will be confiscatory to the settlers and that on the other hand the benefits assessed the government lands will make the liens so high that the land will never be taken under the Volstead or any other act, in which case the county would have to bear the burden of the cost of building that part of the ditch.

EXPECT HIGHER PRICES.

Coffee Believed Certain to Advance But Not to Consumer Yet.

Higher prices for coffee in this country are regarded as certain. Some experts in the trade predict that the quotation in the product will go to 12 cents a pound on the New York coffee exchange. As there is, however, a wide difference between quotations in raw and roasted coffees, it is pointed out that it would take a very considerable bulge in the price of coffee contracts to justify an advance in quotations to the consumer.

The wholesale coffee market is recovering after the slump occasioned by the false report that Brazil had seized the interned German ships, circulated a week ago.

When the war broke out Germany seized the coffee that had been stored in that country by the valorization syndicate. This coffee was really the property of the state of Sao Paulo, although control of it had been turned over to an international syndicate of bankers. The state of Sao Paulo never has been paid for this coffee, some $25,000,000 worth, and it was claimed that because of this, Brazil would take over the German boats. Germany, however, claims that the money to pay for this coffee is on deposit in Germany, but cannot be paid to the bankers' syndicate because to do so it would have to be remitted to England. The Brazilian national government never had any interest in this coffee. That the ships will be seized is very doubtful and it looks as if it was going to be more difficult to move coffee in the future than it has been in the past.

IMPRESSED BY DULUTH.

Chicago Collector of Customs Here to See New Grandson.

Rivers McNeill, collector of customs for the city of Chicago, is spending a few days visiting in Duluth. Mr. McNeill is here on a pleasure trip, the visit being made especially to see his grandson, who is a recent arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams of the Berkshire apartments.

Mr. McNeill was spending the day visiting Harris Bennett, local collector of customs, and various points of interest about the city. He was much impressed with the apparent progressiveness of Duluth, its stores, banks and industries.

"You have a wonderful city here," said Mr. McNeill. "Its beauty and the scenery as seen from the heights is wonderful. I have heard a great deal about Duluth and have been impressed, but after seeing a part of it, I have been far more greatly impressed by the possibilities of this becoming one of the greatest cities of the country."

AMERICANS ALLOWED TO USE MEXICAN WIRES

El Paso, Tex., March 27—The American forces have been allowed the privilege of using the Mexican telegraph wires between Madera and Juarez, it was announced here today by Gen. Two Small Fires.

Two families were driven out when an overheated stove pipe set fire to woodwork at the home of H. Hauck, 407 East Seventh street, shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. V. Pulford lives in apartments on the second floor. The flames made but little headway and firemen made short work of it. Damage was nominal.

An overheated motor on a woodsawing machine in a yard near the corner of Third avenue west and Second street, set fire to the wooden frame work at 6:35 p. m. Sunday. Damage was estimated at $75.

"COMING OUT ALL RIGHT"

Walter Smith Visits Duluth; Is Confident of Being Cleared.

Walter J. Smith, former state treasurer, now facing a charge of embezzlement, is in Duluth today.

Looking thin and pale and bearing traces of the strain under which he has been laboring, the former state official nevertheless bore the familiar smile that has made him hundreds of friends throughout the state, as he greeted old acquaintances.

"I think it will all come out all right," said Mr. Smith in answer to a question concerning his trial. "Politics is peculiar," he continued, "and many funny frameups occur. It is my belief that in the trial all will be straightened out and that it will be shown that I am innocent of the charges brought against me."

In speaking of the attitude of his friends, Mr. Smith declared that he had received hundreds of letter from friends and acquaintances over the state, expressing their confidence in him and assuring him of their faith. "This has surely proved a blessing to me," he said. "It has been a hard game, but I think I am coming out all right."

The former state treasurer stated that he is just recovering from his illness. "I thought it was good-by," he said. "I did not believe I was going to live. I guess some of the others held my belief. I am feeling better, though I must get some meat on my bones. It sure does seem good to see some of these Duluth people. It also seems good to have friends come along and shake you by the hand."

WOULD CLOSE IN BAD ODORS

Farrell Will Submit Plan for Covering Up Brewery Creek.

Culvert From Superior Street to Mesaba Avenue to Cost $32,169.

At the council meeting this afternoon Commissioner Farrell, head of the works division, will submit a complete survey and preliminary study of a plan to cover up Brewery creek, from Eighth avenue east and the lake to Fourth avenue east and Mesaba avenue.

Because of the stench coming from the creek during the spring and summer months, and as culverts now cover the stream underneath streets and sidewalks, a plan to close it in entirely has been discussed from time to time. Ever since taking office last April, the works head has considered the proposition and recently he ordered City Engineer Ayres to prepare a complete survey, showing the culverts necessary and the exact cost of the improvement.

Accompanying the drawings and survey, which will be submitted to the council this afternoon, will be a statement from Commissioner Farrell, showing that the total cost of the culvert from Superior street to Mesaba avenue is estimated at $32,169.50. If the Duluth Heights sewer, which extends to Fourth avenue east and Tenth street, is connected to the culvert at that point, the total cost will be but $19,508.50, according to the statement.

In case the sewer is connected with the culvert at Fourth avenue east and Tenth street, it is the plan of Commissioner Farrell to construct several septic tanks at the end of the creek, so that the stench would be removed before the water and sewage enter the lake.

Residents living along the creek are in favor of the plan to cover the stream and it is generally believed that such an improvement will be indorsed by the property owners. Sewers directly east and west of the stream will be connected with the culvert, making it an outlet for that end of the city.

These figures and the survey will be kept by the city in case the improvement should be authorized within the next year or two.

Tenth street, it is the plan of Commissioner Farrell to construct several septic tanks at the end of the creek, so that the stench would be removed before the water and sewage enter the lake.

Residents living along the creek are in favor of the plan to cover the stream and it is generally believed that such an improvement will be indorsed by the property owners. Sewers directly east and west of the stream will be connected with the culvert, making it an outlet for that end of the city.

These figures and the survey will be kept by the city in case the improvement should be authorized within the next year or two.

COMPROMISE ON BRIDGE

Minnesota Approach to Interstate Structure Is Agreed On.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 27.—Announcement was made today that the controversy over the Minnesota approach to the Interstate Transfer railway bridge had been adjusted.

The plan, as agreed upon, contemplates the use by vehicles and street cars each way, the route from the present eastern terminus of McCuen street in New Duluth, crossing the Northern Pacific railway by a viaduct to the west end of the present steel approach and along that approach across the draw span to the Wisconsin side. The present ramp near the west end of the draw span will not be utilized in connection with this proposition.

The highway to be constructed will be part earth and part trestle. Where earth is used in the construction of the road the plan contemplates a roadway, twenty feet wide, for the use of the street cars, and an additional twenty feet for the use of vehicles.

Where wooden trestle is necessary the trestle will be uniform in width with the present draw span and steel approach. The highway, wherever built upon earth embankment, will have a wearing surface of gravel properly compacted and oiled, and will be not less than twelve feet above the level.

It is understood that work will begin at once and be finished within six months. It will be conducted under the supervision of the local army engineer.

Maj. E. D. Peek, United States engineer in charge of this district, is in St. Paul today, and W. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, is in the East. Nobody else seems to be able to say just how much of a compromise took place in adjusting the bridge matter.

Yeomen Will Dance.
Duluth Homestead, No. 3131, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, will entertain at an informal dance for its members Wednesday evening at Maccabee hall, 21 Lake avenue south. Cards will be provided for those who do not wish to dance. The evening will be given over entirely to social purposes.

Noted Royal Arcanum Lectures.
At a special meeting of Duluth council, No. 1483, Royal Arcanum, tomorrow evening, Austin J. Wall, past regent of the W. S. Hancock council, No. 952 of New York city, one of the foremost lecturers of the order, will be a guest of honor. He will talk on "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man, and Preparedness in the Home." Grand Regent S. A. Ekelund of St. Paul, and Grand Secretary Sam Horton, will also be present and will give talks.

Owls Will Initiate.
Duluth nest, No. 1200, Order of Owls, will initiate a class of sixty members at its meeting Wednesday evening at the lodge rooms, 416 West Superior street. A vaudeville entertainment and supper will follow the ceremonies. Plans will also be made for the purchasing of a site for a new lodge home.

Convention May Come.
Recently the Duluth Commercial club extended invitations to a number of national associations to hold their annual conventions here this year, among them being the Glass Manufacturers' association, which is to meet in July. Secretary H. V. Eva of the club has just received replies from some of the directors, expressing themselves very much in favor of the suggestion, and promising to keep Duluth in mind when the convention city is being decided upon.

Watch Found in Snow.
A woman's gold Swiss watch, which evidently lay in the snow and ice all winter, was found yesterday near Tenth avenue east and First street by F. E. Fregeau, 1009 East First street. Police now are trying to find the owner of the timepiece, which is much the worse for wear. Although evidently a good watch, its crystal is missing, and the hands are gone. The case has been warped and bent.

Married By Judge.
Judge S. W. Gilpin of the probate court officiated Saturday afternoon at the marriage of William Donaski and Amanda Peterson. Both of the contracting parties are residents of St. Louis county.

R. N. A. Meeting Tuesday.
Dewey Camp No. 1255, Royal Neighbors of America, will meet in regular session tomorrow evening at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street. The business meeting will be followed by refreshments and a social hour.

Sportsmen Will Meet.
The Duluth branch of the Minnesota Game Protective league will meet Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The first annual convention of the state league will be held in August in this city, and the local branch will arrange its end of the program. Much other business will be brought up.

PERSONALS

Manager Kelly of the local office of the Western Union is in Virginia today.

John Pearson has returned from Chicago, where he went a few days ago on legal business.

STOCK MARKET IN STRONGER POSITION

Declines Shake Out Weak Holders; General Advance Expected.

Experts consider that the technical position of the New York stock market has been strengthened materially as a result of the declines that materialized in many of the leading securities during the last week. Weak holders are thought to have been largely eliminated and market authorities consider that all the indications point to advances in quotations from their present levels.

"The earnings of the large industrial corporations are keeping up to expectations, and with the prospects for the continuation of the war for at least a year longer, there can be nothing but an optimistic sentiment regarding the value of securities for the long pull," comment Renskorf, Lyon & Co., New York, brokers, in their weekly market review. "We will have temporary halts in the advance of prices, due to technical market conditions and other minor causes, but if the tremendous earnings continue, the price of securities will surely respond.

"Some of the largest corporations listed on the New York stock exchange, and owned exclusively by Americans, have tremendous investments in Mexico. The American Smelting company is one that will be greatly benefited by the capture of Villa, and the annihilation of his band of outlaws. The earnings of this company will show a large increase as soon as their plants in Mexico can be operated to their full capacity. Another property in this section is Mexican Petroleum, which ranks today as one of the largest single producers of crude oil in the world. Its oil fields are of inestimable value, and under normal conditions the shares of this corporation would show a large appreciation from their present market value. Conditions there will eventually improve, and when that improvement comes we look for a considerable advance in the shares of both of these corporations."

SUPERIOR

THREE ROBBERIES IN ONE NIGHT

Three daring robberies in which highwaymen obtained about $100 in cash took place in Superior Saturday night. The three robberies were committed within a half hour by two men, one of whom is described as large and the other small.

The first robbery was that of Anson Alguire, grocer, at 1702 Twelfth street, where the robbers held up the grocer and his wife while they rifled the till of $75 cash and relieved the grocer of a gold watch valued at $50. The larger of the two men held the pistols while the other took the cash.

The police had just arrived at the grocery when the second call came, telling of the robbery of George Ness' shoe shop where Mr. Ness was shot and robbed of $20 in cash. Mr. Ness raised a hammer to throw at the men, and a bullet from the automatic gun struck his wrist.

The third place entered was Irish & Larson's saloon where the robbers obtained $60. When the two men entered the place and Mr. Irish asked what they wanted, he looked into the barrels of the two automatic revolvers. Six customers in the place were lined up against the back of the saloon while the small man went through the till.

The police are of the opinion that the robbery was committed Saturday evening by the same persons who robbed Waterson's candy store and Holmberg's drug store Tuesday evening. The police so far have failed to find the men.

Plan "Dry" Parade.
A big "dry" parade is planned for Saturday night at Superior. Every temperance organization and Sunday school and leaders of the dry movement will be in line, according to plans being made. The parade will be the final feature of the campaign which will come to an end next Monday evening.

MISSABE ROAD AGENTS AND OFFICIALS MEET

J. W. Kreitter, general superintendent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, is conducting a meeting of agents of the company from all over the line in the assembly room of the Commercial club today. The meeting began about 11 o'clock this morning and will last all afternoon. Luncheon was served at noon.

About forty are present, including the officers and sub-officers of the company. They are taking up for discussion whatever points the agents and others bring up, with a desire to have a clear interpretation or adjustment.

ARCANUM LECTURER ARRIVES IN CITY

Austin J. Wall, one of the foremost lecturers of the Royal Arcanum and past regent of W. S. Hancock council, No. 952, of New York city, is a guest at the Hotel Holland. Mr. Wall is in the city to attend the celebration to be held tomorrow evening by Duluth council, No. 1483, which will be held at Maccabee hall.

Mr. Hall is called the "Billy Sunday" of the Royal Arcanum. He will speak tomorrow evening on "Fatherhood of God and Brotherhood of Man, or Preparedness in the Home."

Among the other speakers who will be present at the celebration will be G. A. Ekelund, grand regent; George Leigh, grand vice regent, and S. C. Horton, grand secretary.

D. C. H. S. DEBATERS LOSE TO GRAND RAPIDS TEAM

The Duluth Central high school debating team was defeated Saturday by the Grand Rapids high school team at Grand Rapids by a 2-to-1 decision. The question debated was, "Resolved, That the Armament of the United States Should Be Materially Increased."

The local debators supported the affirmative side of the question. They were Max Goldberg, Emanuel Cook and Jacob Garon.

The Central visitors were given a cordial welcome. Following the debate a party and dance was given in their honor.

Rate Hearing Opens.
Madison, Wis., March 27.—Further hearing in the Tittemore case for lower freight rates in Wisconsin and for a complete readjustment of the freight rate schedule was opened today before the Wisconsin railroad commission. J. N. Tittemore, Oshkosh, presented a suggested tariff which would bring about the readjustment of the rates planned.

Taggart Takes Oath of Office.
Washington, March 27.—Thomas Taggart, Democratic national committeeman from Indiana, appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Shively, today took the oath of office.

TELLS OF NIGHT WITH EDWARDS

Miss Cox Begins Story in Trial of St. Paul Lumberman.

Defense Wins First Skirmish on Introduction of Evidence.

Chicago, March 27—The defense won the first skirmish in the trial of William Rufus Edwards, wealthy lumberman of St. Paul, who is charged with having transported Miss Ada Cox, stenographer, from Chicago to Minneapolis and St. Paul and also into Canada in violation of the Mann act. Against the arguments of the district attorney, Judge A. B. Anderson ruled that the defense would be permitted to introduce evidence as to the character and habits of Miss Cox, the government's principal witness.

Little time was spent in obtaining a jury. A brief opening statement was made by the prosecutor and Miss Cox was called to the witness stand after counsel for the defendant told the jury that Mr. Edwards merely accompanied Miss Cox to get what information he could from her.

Miss Cox told of her first meeting with Mr. Edwards in 1910 while she was a stenographer in Chicago.

Sent Her Tickets.

"Mr. Edwards made arrangements for me to meet him in St. Paul," said Miss Cox. "He wrote me two letters making arrangements to meet me and sent me the tickets."

Miss Cox said that she went to St. Paul and that Mr. Edwards met her at the train. She said they rode around the city until noon, had lunch at the Commercial club and went driving again in the evening and dined in Minneapolis.

Counsel for the defendant objected to further testimony, urging that it did not show any intent as to violation of the law, but was overruled by the court and the questioning continued.

The government attorney questioned the witness concerning details of the events of the day. Miss Cox told of being taken to a rooming house before dinner, of changing her garments and of dining at a cafe where she drank "cocktails and wine."

"How did Mr. Edwards treat you on the trip to the cafes where you had the drinks?" she was asked.

"He was very friendly and made a fuss over me," replied the witness.

"When you left the last cafe what was your condition as to sobriety?"

Not Very Comfortable.

"Well, I was very uncomfortable," the witness replied.

From this point Miss Cox began to hesitate in her answers and spoke so low that the attorney urged her to speak so the jury could hear.

Telling of her experiences in the rooming house after the trip to the cafe, Miss Cox said:

"Mr. Edwards followed me into the room, and when I told him he must go, he laughed and said the landlady would let him stay in another room all night. Then I noticed another suitcase in my room. He told me that the landlady must have put it there by mistake. I could not understand it, but he hushed me up and began talking of other things. By that time I was very sick. Mr. Edwards started to take off my shoes, and when I objected, he said he merely wanted to help me."

"All right. What happened next?" the prosecutor asked, when the witness stopped.

"I don't remember much."

"What do you remember?"

"I don't just know. I fell asleep. I guess, for I know I woke up after a while."

"What was the situation when you woke up?"

"Well, Mr. Edwards was there and he was holding his hand over my mouth and keeping me from struggling."

At this point the court ordered an adjournment until the afternoon session.

FIRST ANIMALS FOR DULUTH ZOO

Two red foxes have arrived for Duluth's new zoo at Lester park.

Commissioner Farrell, head of the works division, has received the animals from a friend near the city, and they are being kept at the old armory until warm weather permits the completion and opening of the zoo, work on which began last fall.

In addition to the foxes, Commissioner Farrell has received word from State Game Commissioner Avery that he will send several deer here some time this spring, while two beaver and two fishers have also been promised by trappers in the vicinity of Duluth.

Negotiations are still under way with the authorities at Seattle and with the department of interior at Washington, and indications are that at least two pair of elk will be presented to the city some time during the early part of this summer.

Last fall, when two elk were offered to the city free of charge, while a wire fence and posts for the construction of a zoo were donated to the city by the Elks' lodge and local business men, the council authorized the clearing of some land in the park and the expenditure of about $100 to pay for the freight of the animals. Later it was learned that the animals had been given away, but the authorities at Seattle promised to obtain two more and send them here this spring.

LA FOLLETTE BEATS ESTABROOK BY 412

Minot, N. D., March 27.—With the returns complete from every township, Robert M. La Follette carried Ward county by a majority of 412 over Henry D. Estabrook for the Republican indorsement as a candidate for president. President Wilson received the entire Democratic vote.

The vote follows: Democratic presidential candidate, Wilson 505; Republican presidential candidate, Estabrook 257, La Follette 69; Republican national committeeman, Lemke 371, G. Olson 405; Democratic national committeeman, William Olson 52, Perry 423, Bruegger 139.

QUARANTINED ONES MUST BEAR EXPENSE

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Bracken of the state board of health ruled today that persons quarantined because of an infective disease must bear the expenses resulting from the quarantine and the expense of disinfection after quarantine.

Egbert Johnson, Verndale, Minn., with his family, was quarantined for thirty-eight days with diptheria. His butter and egg business suffered as a result of the quarantine placed on his home and business. Today he asked to be reimbursed and the ruling by Dr. Bracken followed.

Demand Eight-Hour Day.
Appleton, Wis., March 27.—By a unanimous vote the union papermakers decided yesterday to demand an eight-hour day of three shifts.

OBITUARY

J. E. Wheelan, one of the pioneer printers of Minneapolis, who had worked on various newspapers of Minnesota and other states, died March 27 after several hours' illness. He was widely known among members of the craft who traveled about freely over the country when linotype machines were scarce and hand composition general.

Mrs. Charlotte B. Chamberlain, fifty-eight years a resident of Hennepin county and a sister of the late Bishop David B. Knickerbacker of Indiana, is dead at Excelsior at the age of 84.

Mrs. Catherine Miller died March 27 at Appleton, Wis., leaving 9 children, 53 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

FRENCH TRANSPORT SAID TO HAVE SUNK

Berlin, March 24, wireless to Sayville.—Reports have been received from Athens that a French transport with troops on board from Saloniki had struck a mine and sunk, seventy-three persons being rescued, says the Overseas News agency.

The foregoing may refer to the sinking of the British liner Minneapolis in the Mediterranean, reported yesterday from Marseilles.

ONE FRENCH AND TWO BRITISH SHIPS SUNK

London, March 27.—The French steamship Hebe, 1,494 tons, the British steamship Cerne and the British fish carrier Khartoum of Hull have been sunk. The crews of the Hebe and Cerne have been landed. Two members of the crew of the Khartoum have been saved, but it is feared the remaining nine men were drowned.

"CATCHING A COLD" NOT AN ACCIDENT

Madison, Wis., March 27.—"Catching a cold," the cause of which cannot be determined, is not an accident within the meaning of the workmen's compensation act in a decision handed down today. Because of its novel features of the case, it has attracted wide attention.

On Dec. 4, 1915, Elmer Knudson employed by an Oshkosh firm was taken sick with a cold in his head. An infection developed necessitating a mastoid operation, as the result of which Knudson was disabled for several weeks. He sought compensation but the commission could not find that the "cold" was the direct result of his employment.

MARKET HAS GOOD UPTURN

Wheat Bulges With Buying on Generally Bullish Crop News.

Crushers Bidders for Flaxseed and Prices Are Slightly Advanced.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 27.—The market was strong around the close with a continuance of active bidding. The close was at the top.

May wheat closed 1⅞ up and July 1⅝c up.

May durum closed 1¼c up and July 1⅜c up.

Oats closed ½c at 39¾@40¼c for on the track; rye unchanged at 88@89c; barley 1@2c off at from 61 to 68c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c up at 41⅝@42c bid.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.06½, and July at $1.04¾.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.01¾, and July at $1.00⅝ asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.10⅝, and calls at $1.14 asked.

Predictions that a considerably reduced area will be sown to spring wheat in both the American and Canadian Northwest this season, and bullish reports from over the winter wheat territory, led to an advance extending to over 1c in the market during the first three hours' trading today. The selling pressure that had been in evidence for several days appeared to have been removed, and considerable short covering was noted.

The general news, however, was bearish. While receipts at Duluth came to only 34 cars of wheat, they had 726 cars at Minneapolis, compared with 310 cars last year, and Winnipeg reported 491 cars against 287 a year ago. This was taken to indicate a movement from the farms prior to starting spring work. With this rush out of the way, it is predicted that marketings will be light during the next month.

Apart from the workings of a small tonnage to go out from Philadelphia, there was nothing doing in export trade, according to all accounts. New York reported that bids were out of line, and the lack of ocean freight space was a controlling factor. Liverpool was lower today on expectations of larger Argentine shipments and easier ocean freight rates from that country.

It is estimated that there is not more than 2,000,000 bu storage space remaining in Duluth elevators, and operators are doing some figuring upon how they are going to pull through between now and the opening of navigation. A year ago today 688,000 bu of wheat was loaded out from the elevators into steamers, the movement of boats having been rendered possible through the ice having become honeycombed. The ice in the slips at present is thirty-five inches thick, and it is thought it will require at least two weeks of warm weather to make much impression upon it.

May wheat opened ⅜c off at $1.10, and advanced to $1.11½ up to the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.11⅛ and gained ⅞c. Operations in durum were quiet in the absence of foreign inquiry. May durum opened unchanged at $1.05⅜ and gained ⅞c. July opened ¼c up at $1.06⅜ and advanced ⅞c more.

Flaxseed Braces Up.

Better support from crushers appeared in the flaxseed market and quotations were advanced fractionally. It was the general impression that the bear drive in the seed inaugurated a week ago is now over and that linseed oil men will enter the market more freely at the lower level now established.

Cables were better today. Buenos Aires closed unchanged at $1.27¼, and London unchanged at $2.45⅜.

May flax opened ⅜c off at $2.16, and closed ¼c up at $2.17 asked. July opened ⅛c off at $2.16, and closed unchanged at $2.16¾ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¼c up at $1.94½ asked.

Broomhall's weekly linseed review says: "Market has ruled with resellers pressing offers and shippers offering freely. Arrivals at Hull are very heavy and apparently all cargo orders are coming to the United Kingdom. Stocks are moderate, but prospects point to liberal supplies as Plate and Indian seed are both offering freely, and freights are easier."

A letter received by Chas. E. Lewis & Co. from Zackle, N. D., dated March 24 says: "We have had a bad snow and sleet storm up here, and it looks like a late spring. Only 10 per cent of the fall plowing has been done in these parts."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was weak, spot unchanged to 2d lower with pressure of Argentine grades. Cargo market opened dull, Manitobas nominally unchanged; winters 3d lower and later the entire list became easier with free Plate offers. Shipments to the United Kingdom were slightly under expectations, but this was offset by free native offers. Argentine offers were liberal and Australian likewise. Indian weather and crop advices are favorable."

World's shipments: Wheat, total, 15,142,000 bu against 13,439,000 bu last year; corn, 2,193,000 bu against 2,499,000 bu last year; oats, 2,928,000 bu against 4,390,000 bu last year.

The president of the Saskatchewan Grain Dealers' association says that on account of lack of fall plowing and scarcity of labor the grain acreage for this year will be much less than last year in that province.

At Minneapolis there was a fair demand for cash wheat with local and outside millers the buyers. No. 1 northern sold at 1@4c over May and No. 2 northern at 2c to ½c over May. No. 2 hard sold at 1c under to May price.

B. W. Snow of Chicago says: "Portions of Kansas and Oklahoma have received needed moisture, but there are still some sections in the Western belt where more rain is wanted. Reports that the crop is greening up under the influence of warmer weather are to be expected over the whole wheat belt, but a careful study of current reports, both my own as well as general public advices, leads to the conclusion that the winter wheat prospect is poor and to the caution that too much weight be not given to reports of improvement based upon the fact that fields begin to show green. There has been much winter killing and, while favorable weather conditions will much improve the appearance of the remaining area, my advices indicate a low wheat prospect."

On April 7 a government report will be issued on the condition of winter wheat, but that report will be of little aid in determining the final yield. A month later there will be a report showing how much of the area will be abandoned. There is every indication that this will be far above normal, but the ground will be planted in other crops, which perhaps will yield as great return as the wheat.

In the Northwest where a third of the wheat is produced, precipitation has been more abundant than man's efforts to prepare the ground. There has been fear that seeding would be delayed by a late spring, but already there are reports of seeding operations in South Dakota, where the ground is in excellent condition, and it is predicted that if weather continues favorable seeding will be general in a week.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, March 27.—Wheat hardened in value today helped by contradiction of reports that American lives had been lost by the torpedoing of the Sussex. At first, however, the market showed weakness as a result of lower quotations from Liverpool and because of further rains in the domestic winter crop belt. The bears had some advantage, too, for a time owing to prediction of larger receipts at country elevators during the next thirty days. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c to ½@⅝c lower, with May at $1.07⅞ to $1.08 and July at $1.05¾ to $1.06, were followed by an upturn to well above Saturday's finish.

Subsequently increasing fear of a reduction of acreage in Canada led to an additional advance. Besides, the United States visible supply total diminished and a leading expert here issued a statement that, despite favorable weather, the prospect for the domestic winter crop was not good. Prices closed firm, 1⅜c to 1¾c net higher, with May at $1.09⅜ and July at $1.07⅝.

Corn rallied with wheat. Stormy weather tended also to strengthen prices. After opening ⅛c to ⅜@¼c down, the market scored moderate gains.

Improved shipping demand was more or less responsible for a further rise. The close was steady at ⅝c to ⅝@¾c net advance.

Oats were dominated by the action of other grain. Offerings were well absorbed because of resting orders to buy at a decline.

Higher prices on hogs carried provisions up-grade. The receipts of hogs here today were less plentiful than expected.

London Money.

London, March 27.—Money was in good demand and discount rates were quiet today. With the commencement of the scheme to borrow American securities on the stock exchange the treasury omitted buying prices of ordinary American shares, but owing to the shortage of stock dealers do not anticipate much increase in business.

FLAX MARKET IS UNCERTAIN

Question Is: Has Raid of Last Week Reached End?

The wreck that happened in the flax market during last week was so stunning to a lot of traders and speculators that they are still in a daze and wondering just what happened. The crash came, or, rather, began on Wednesday and on Thursday and Friday the skids were still greased. The seed slumped 7 cents in about ten minutes on Wednesday, just before the close, when tired holders of the seed began to throw it overboard. A large amount of it was given the Jonah treatment, and still more followed on the next two days. Predictions were made that when the $2.15 mark was reached another large load would be dumped, but this failed to materialize, for the price went almost to $2.14, with no more fireworks.

The raid was just about what the crushers wanted and they bought freely all the way down. At the low levels they bought rather feverishly and many have convinced themselves, at least, that the raid is practically over. However, time alone will tell that. There are bears who declare that it will sell down to $1.75, but the figures on conditions would hardly warrant such a slide as that. Some of the most careful flax traders are holding for considerably above the $2.30 levels.

The closing prices for the past six trading days, compared with the same period a year ago, were:

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Stocks Are Depressed Early Under Steady Flow of Liquidation.

Sprinkling of Net Gains Recorded in the Final Dealings.

New York, March 27.—Developments over the week end, especially the sinking of the Sussex, involving probable further loss of American lives, accounted in a measure for the heavy tone of today's early trading. Declines of 1 to 2 points were registered by Mercantile Marine preferred, leading motors, Crucible Steel, the petroleums and some other shares of less prominence. Rails receded fractionally with pressure against the Harrimans, Northern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and Western Maryland.

Dealings were light and orderly, most transactions being in small lots.

There was a steady flow of liquidation throughout the first hour of the stock market today, United States and Crucible Steel, Mexican Petroleum, Marine preferred and Baldwin Locomotive leading the decline. Specialties of all descriptions particularly oils, motors, metals and the shipping shares supplemented early losses. Rails were under the additional handicap imposed by the forthcoming demands of the union trainmen, but little pressure was manifested in that quarter. Prices improved slightly and trading abated materially towards midday. Bonds were lower with some large sales of Anglo-French 5s at concessions.

Automobile shares together with Goodrich, the sugars, American Hide & Leather preferred and Mexican Petroleum, were stronger in the dull trading of the afternoon. Cuban-American Sugar rose 11 to 229 and International Agricultural Chemical preferred 4 to 60½.

Losses were generally recovered in the final dealings with a sprinkling of net gains. The closing was irregular.

SALE OF SCHOOL AND OTHER STATE LANDS

State of Minnesota,
State Auditor's Office,
St. Paul, Minn., March 23, 1916.

Notice is hereby given, That on May 17, 1916, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the State Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands, and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

TERMS OF SALE.

Fifteen per cent of the purchase price is payable to the County Treasurer at the time of sale. The unpaid balance is payable at any time, in whole or in part, on or before forty years from the date of sale, at an interest rate of four per cent per annum, due on June first of each year; provided, that the interest can be paid at any time within the interest year without penalty. In effect, this means that the interest money may be paid at any time between June first and May thirty-first without penalty.

Appraised value of timber, when so stated, must be paid for in full at the time of sale.

All mineral rights are reserved to the State by the laws of the State.

All lands are sold subject to any and all ditch taxes thereon.

Lands on which interest has become delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale, to the actual purchaser. Such lands are listed under the caption: "Delinquent Lands."

No person can purchase more than 320 acres of land, as provided by the General Laws, 1905; provided, however, that State lands purchased previous to 1905 is not charged against such purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority.

Appraisers' report showing quality and kind of soil are on file in this office.

Lists giving legal descriptions of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the Immigration Commissioner at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

D. H., March 27; April 3, 10, 17, 1916.

ABSENT-MINDED ABNER—A Stranger Makes a Crack That Is Interesting

By Walt McDougall

I FEEL LIKE A HOBO! I CANT STAY HERE ALL NIGHT WITHOUT GETTING PNEUMONIA, EITHER!
DO YOU WANT A JOB, YOUNG FELLER? I'M LOOKIN' FOR A HELPER
WHAT SORT OF A JOB IS IT?
A LITTLE HOUSE-CRACKIN' JOB OVER ON ASPARAGUS STREET.
WHOSE HOUSE IS IT?
BELONGS TO AN OLD GUY NAMED ABNER
I'VE BEEN TRYING TO GET INTO THAT HOUSE SINCE SIX O'CLOCK!
IT'S ABNER!

GETTING SUPPLIES TO UNITED STATES TROOPS IN MEXICO IS NOW BECOMING SERIOUS QUESTION WITH GEN. FUNSTON

U. S. ASKS GERMANY IF SUSSEX WAS TORPEDOED BY TEUTON SUBMARINE

Inquiry Made Following Meeting of President and Cabinet.

Matter Will Probably Be Taken Before Congress Before Action.

Additional Evidence Indicates Channel Steamer Was Torpedoed.

Washington, March 28.—The United States has inquired of Germany, through Ambassador Gerard, whether any of its submarines torpedoed the British channel steamer Sussex.

The decision was reached at the cabinet meeting. The president and cabinet members were furnished with all reports concerning the disaster which had reached the state department from diplomatic and consular representatives in France and England.

Members of the cabinet said that evidence in possession of the United States was not conclusive enough to warrant decisive action at this time. For this reason it was decided to make inquiry of Germany. A majority of the cabinet members, however, believed preliminary reports clearly indicated the Sussex was torpedoed.

May Go Before Congress.

It is known that the president is seriously considering going before congress and laying the entire question of submarine warfare before the members of the senate and house. Certainly he will communicate the situation fully to congress before taking definite steps which might lead to the severance of relations.

Official expression of the attitude of the administration was avoided, but high officials made no attempt to minimize the gravity of the situation which will confront the United States if it is established conclusively that a German submarine sank the Sussex—an unarmed, peaceful passenger-carrying vessel, in violation of the rights of humanity, the principles of international law, and the solemn assurances regarding the conduct of submarine warfare which have been given to the United States by the Central powers.

NEW EVIDENCE IN WAITE CASE

Findings of Grand Jury Delayed Pending Investigation.

Believed Dentist Planned for Extensive Criminal Campaign.

New York, March 28.—Findings by the grand jury investigating the case of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, have been delayed by the continuous discovery day after day of new evidence. It may be the end of the week or even later, the district attorney said today, before the jury reaches a decision. The prosecutor has declared that he is satisfied with all the evidence connecting Waite with the alleged murder of his millionaire father-in-law, John E. Peck of Grand Rapids. Efforts are being made now to prove that the young dentist planned and perhaps executed a more extensive criminal campaign.

Reports that Dr. Waite has made a further "confession" to his brother, Frank Waite, are confirmed by the brother, but the latter says that any announcement must come from the district attorney.

Will Refuse Plea of Insanity.

Assistant District Attorney Francis K. Mancuso, who went to Grand Rapids to investigate the case, is authority for the statement that the state will refuse to take a plea of insanity.

If Waite is brought to trial it is evident that the state will depend largely upon the testimony of chemical and bacteriological experts. Detectives today sought to find what if any use the accused man made of disease germs which they say he purchased prior to the death of John E. Peck. Mr. Peck's vital organs will be subjected to further analysis and it is possible that an attempt will be made to find traces of poison through a chemical analysis of the ashes of Mrs. Peck, Dr. Waite's mother-in-law, whose body was cremated after her death, which preceded her husband by about six weeks.

TWO DEAD IN MORNING FIRE

Blaze in Cleveland Apartments of Incendiary Origin.

Outcome of White Slave Investigation Few Days Ago.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 28.—One unidentified man and one woman, Mrs. Ethel Seaman, were burned to death and fully a score of people were injured this morning at 2 o'clock when flames swept through the third floor of the Foster apartments, 1117 Prospect avenue, and destroyed the upper section of the building.

Police are searching for a masked man, who, according to the story told by Miss Bessie Reimer, a waitress, entered her room on the third floor, bound and gagged her and set fire to the building.

Most of those injured were hurt by jumping from the third floor windows. Of these Mrs. Albert Melchoir, Dwight Emistage and an unidentified man are fatally injured. Fireman Ross and Lieut. Thomas Nestor were also injured so badly in attempting to rescue occupants of the building that they may die. Both fell from third floor windows.

Of Incendiary Origin.

The fire was of incendiary origin, according to police and detectives. Police early today were holding three men and one woman at headquarters and had established a police guard at the bedside of Bessie Reimer at Huron road hospital.

"The Reimer girl is as much under arrest as any of the other four," said Detective Farrell. "We are convinced that she knows who started last night's fire as well as the fire yesterday morning in her rooms."

Nearly all of the five were involved in a white slave investigation a few days ago following which one woman was sent to the work house. In this case the Reimer girl was the alleged victim.

COMES TO TESTIFY OF CONSPIRACIES

Man, Sentenced to Death as Spy in England, Reaches United States.

New York, March 28.—Herst von der Goltz, alias Bridgman Taylor, who is said to have been sentenced to death in England as a spy, arrived here today on the steamship Finland from Liverpool to give evidence to the government concerning alleged conspiracies to provide German warships at sea with coal and provisions. He was brought here by two detectives from Scotland Yard, who handed him over to Federal agents.

According to the Scotland Yard men, von der Goltz was a prisoner for some time in the Tower of London awaiting execution, but was promised that his life would be spared if he would come to this country and tell this government what he knew concerning the alleged conspiracies to commit unneutral acts. After giving his testimony, his custodians said, he is to be returned to England and from there is to be sent to South America under his promise that he will not attempt again to enter either England, Germany or the United States.

DISASTROUS FLOODS THREATEN MANY CITIES IN SEVERAL STATES

Rains and Melting Snow Cause Rapid Rise of Rivers.

Several Miles of Buffalo Suburbs Are Partially Submerged.

Cities in Central Lower Michigan in Danger From Waters.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 28.—With several miles of the city in the Kensington and South Buffalo sections partially submerged by the flood waters of the Cazenovia and Buffalo creeks, this city is threatened with one of the most disastrous floods in its history. Continued mild weather today causing the rapid condensation of huge masses of snow aggravated the situation, which hourly became more serious.

Fire tugs were helpless to relieve the situation and dynamite was used to break the ice jams. The property loss will be large.

Menaced in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., March 28.—The central part of Lower Michigan today was menaced by flood conditions which in some sections were the most serious in a dozen years. For two days rain coming immediately after a snow fall, which averaged nearly a foot in depth,

NORWAY HAS LOST 96 SHIPS DURING WAR

Twenty Destroyed By German Submarines; Only Four Paid for.

Copenhagen, via London, March 28.—Ninety-six Norwegian ships have been lost during the war through submarines or mines, according to a newspaper statement published here. It has been established that 20 Norwegian steamers have been destroyed by German submarines, 77 Norwegian subjects thereby losing their lives. But Germany has compensated Norway for only four steamers.

The total Norwegian tonnage lost amounts to 125,000, valued at 28,000,000 kroner, while the cargoes were valued at 90,000,000 kroner.

In addition, German prize courts have seized a large number of Norwegian vessels.

Sweden in the same way has lost 40 vessels of a tonnage of 50,000, valued at 10,000,000 kroner. One hundred and twenty-eight Swedes have lost their lives.

TESTIMONY CONTINUED

Miss Cox Resumes Story of Her Relations With Edwards.

Also Tells of Trips She Made With Various Other Men.

Chicago, March 28.—The trial of William Rufus Edwards, wealthy St. Paul lumberman, on charges of violation of the Mann act, was resumed here today with the reading of letters from Miss Ada M. Cox to the defendant, begun yesterday by attorneys for Edwards.

Miss Cox was the only witness yesterday. Her testimony began after Federal Judge A. B. Anderson had ruled that the past lives of Miss Cox and Edwards might be fully inquired into during the trial.

Miss Cox's testimony dealt for the most part with trips she said she made with Edwards to St. Paul and other place across state lines. Attorney for the defendant by questioning Miss Cox sought to show that she had illegal relations with other men, and the names of John Ganzel, a ball player, a "booking agent named Nash," W. S. Meers of Indianapolis and W. G. Carmichael, Milwaukee, were brought into the record. Miss Cox testified that her rela-

MRS. H. M. HORTON.

Margaret Horton, the wife of H. M. Horton, an inventor, was occupying a room at the Plaza hotel with Dr. A. W. Waite at the time he was living with his wife in their Riverside Drive apartment and slowly poisoning his wife's family. Mrs. Horton, who is a singer, says she was studying at a language school where she met Waite and that they took the room at the Plaza to continue their study of French. They were registered at the hotel as man and wife.

AMERICAN ARMY IS NOW OVER 200 MILES BEYOND THE BORDER

Pursuit of Villa May Have to Stop If Mexican Railroads Are Not Available for Use of Department.

Army Circles on the Border Are Pessimistic Over the Prospect of Capturing Villa and His Bandits.

TROOPS TO CLOSE IN ON VILLA.

Field Headquarters, American Expeditionary Force, Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, March 28, by wireless to Columbus, N. Mex.—Preparations for closing in on Francisco Villa in a quick, thoroughly prepared cavalry drive, were being pushed forward rapidly today at the field headquarters of Brig. Gen. J. J. Pershing, expeditionary commander.

El Paso, Tex., March 28.—The pursuit of Francisco Villa may be hampered, if not actually halted, unless Mexican railroads are made available as the main line of communication with the American army now advancing into Mexico over 200 miles from the border. Military men expressed that view today after studying dispatches from the front that Villa was still in full flight southward and meeting with little, if any, opposition.

DIFFICULTIES INCREASE.

Every mile that the Mexican bandit advanves into the interior increases the difficulties of maintaining the already attenuated line of American communication. Motor trucks are being rushed to the army base at Columbus, N. Mex., to help in keeping up the necessary movement of supplies to the field headquarters at a point near Casas Grandes.

There is much pessimism in army circles over the prospects of capturing Villa and it is felt that unless he is cornered within the week the bandit will have outrun his pursuers. Dispatches from the advance flying columns pressing Villa closely make no mention of having come in contact with any of the bandit's men and the American troops probably have yet to fire their first shot.

KAISER TO PRESENT SULTAN WITH SWORD

Prince Eitel to Go to Constantinople to Convey Honor to Ruler.

London, March 28.—A dispatch to the Exchange agency from Amsterdam says Emperor William is sending Prince Eitel Frederick to Constantinople to present a sword of honor to the sultan on the commemoration of the bravery of the Turkish army.

"The prince is expected to arrive at the end of this week," the dispatch adds. "Two hundred special police have left Berlin to take precautionary measures for the safety of the prince, who will also visit Mesopotamia."

QUASH INDICTMENTS OF FIVE COMPANIES

U. S. Steel and Gary Not Included; Service Not Made.

Youngstown, Ohio, March 28.—Judge W. S. Anderson today granted the motion to quash the indictments recently returned here against five steel companies, charging them with conspiring to fix the price of labor and steel products. The indictments against the United States Steel corporation and E. H. Gary, head of the corporation, still stood, as the motion to quash did not include these two defendants, on whom service has not been secured. The steel company attorneys attacked the indictments as being too indefinite and uncertain, depriving the defendants of their constitutional rights.

NO CHANGE AT VERDUN

East of Meuse All Is Calm, Says French Official Report.

Lively Fighting on Franco-Belgian Front Near St. Eloi.

Paris, March 28.—The French official statement given out this morning says there was no change in the Verdun region during the night. East of the Meuse all was calm and to the west of the river there were some artillery squalls.

Lively Fighting Near St. Eloi.

Berlin, March 28, via London, 3:44 p. m.—The development of lively fighting on the Franco-Belgian front south of St. Eloi and also adjacent lines is reported by German army headquarters in today's official statement.

According to the announcement, a German flying squadron made a raid on Saloniki yesterday, dropping bombs on the new harbor and petroleum depot and on the camps of the Entente allies north of the town.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The infantry continues inactive before Verdun and even the artillery fire in the Vaux-Douaumont region has slackened.

The German guns have resumed a heavy fire to the west of the river, however, shelling the French lines south of Malancourt from which a new attempt to debouch may now be preparing.

A surprise attack by the French in the forest of Parroy in Lorrain is reported by Paris, a German trench being blown up.

Bitter fighting is taking place along the Austro-Italian front. The Austrians launched an attack on Valpiccolo, taking a trench, but in counterattacks the Italian forces not only succeeded in reconquering the position but took Austrian trenches elsewhere on the front, according to the current Rome headquarters report. Vienna declares that Russian activity in Galicia has slackened.

British airmen have made a successful raid on the Turkish advanced base at Bir-El-Hassanah, 100 miles east of the Suez canal, according to reports from Suez, the aviators dropping forty bombs and doing extensive damage.

The sinking of the British steamer Empress of Midland of 2,224 tons, is reported. The crew was saved.

Casualties from the explosion which damaged the cross channel steamer Sussex are not expected to exceed fifty.

Berlin dispatches give total subscriptions to the fourth German war loan as 10,667,000,000 marks.

FIGHT LIKE CHAS. CHAPLIN

Negroes Begin With Cranberry Sauce and End With Revolver.

Percy Shackleford Grins as "Red Tom" Taylor Is Bound Over.

A fight between two men, wherein a pan of cranberry sauce first was used as a weapon, then fists, and then a knife and a revolver, was re-enacted in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

"Red Tom" Taylor, 28, negro porter, was held to the grand jury without bail on a charge of first degree assault, following the hearing, while Percy Shackleford, also colored, grinned his satisfaction with the turn affairs had taken.

Shackleford, the victim of the shooting, was shot twice through the arm, once through his hat, and once in the abdomen, but he left a bed at St. Luke's hospital to testify against Taylor.

Shackleford and his bride of a week live at 227 South First avenue east, where Taylor and his wife also reside. The argument started when Shackleford disapproved of guests invited to Sunday dinner by Taylor.

Whereupon Taylor gave him a retort discourteous. Shackleford drew a knife and Taylor hurled the pan of cranberries. Two hours later Shackleford accosted Mr. and Mrs. Taylor at the corner of First avenue west and Michigan street.

Shackleford made a pass at Taylor, the latter thought he saw a knife, so he drew his revolver and emptied the chambers, firing pointblank at his antagonist. Patrolman Stans Nesgoda caught Taylor at Lake avenue and Superior street, while several hundred spectators watched the chase.

A crowded courtroom heard Taylor's attorney grill Shackleford for two hours in an attempt to lay a foundation for a self-defense plea. Both negroes have reputations as "gun men."

sent rivers and creeks out of their banks in practically the whole state south of the Straits of Mackinac.

The situation in the Saginaw river valley probably was the most dangerous. Bay City, at the mouth of the river, and Saginaw, about fifteen miles upstream, were threatened with further inundation by the flood waters pouring into the Saginaw from a dozen tributaries. In some of these ice gorges were being dynamited in an effort to let loose the backed up water.

At Flint the Flint river and Thread creek continued to rise and several manufacturing plants were compelled to shut down.

Unable to Run Trains.

The Michigan Central and Detroit & Mackinaw railroad were unable to run trains north of Bay City, their tracks being washed out in numerous places. Similiar conditions prevailed on the Grand Rapids-Bay City division of the Pere Marquette, on which through traffic was suspended yesterday. At Lansing the Grand river was spreading out and crippling industrial plants. The Kalamazoo river and Battle Creek at Battle Creek were slowly rising.

Several persons have had narrow escapes from drowning but so far no loss of life has been reported.

Crest Passes Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, March 28.—Flood conditions throughout Central and Northern Ohio this morning had not improved sufficiently to allay all fear of serious damage resulting from torrential rains which fell over these sections during the last forty-eight hours.

Many rivers and creeks overflowed their banks yesterday and last night, inundating thousands of acres of low lands and driving hundreds of families from their homes. Property damage, however, was not high and so far as known no lives were lost.

Frightened citizens of the West side of Columbus, who fled from their homes to higher sections of the city when a flood warning was issued yesterday began to return today, having been assured by weather bureau officials that the crest of the flood had passed. A possible break in the levees was the only source of apprehension, and a large squad of police and hundreds of workmen were on hand to prevent this.

Conditions in the northern part of the state were still threatening, according to reports from Findlay, Tiffin, Freemont and smaller towns in flooded districts. Many streams had reached the danger mark and it was believed that further rainfall would result in a recurrence of the disastrous floods of 1913.

U. S. ASKS GERMANY IF SUSSEX WAS TORPEDOED BY TEUTON SUBMARINE

ments of metal aboard the Sussex, including a large piece of bronze, found by a French naval officer, has been reported by Ambassador Sharp at Paris. The naval officer, according to state department dispatches, says the piece of bronze is a part of a torpedo.

The state department, however, withheld much of the information received from diplomatic and consular representatives on the ground that it was confidential. The department allowed it to become known that the regular course of diplomatic procedure would be followed in the case of the Sussex and the Englishman. Much, it was said, probably will depend upon the nature of a statement it is expected the German government shortly will make. If the statement denies that a German submarine was concerned, the burden of proof will rest upon the United States. In such an event, if the evidence in hand warrants it, the first action of the United States would be to ask the German government for an explanation. If, however, the facts were not deemed to be sufficiently conclusive, it is quite probable that the United States would be forced to accept a German disclaimer and allow the case of the Sussex to take its place with that of the British steamer Persia, destroyed by some mysterious agent.

Mines or Torpedoes?

Chicago, March 28.—John Callan O'Laughlin wires to The Herald from Washington: "In German quarters here there is confidence expressed that a thorough investigation will establish that the Englishman and Sussex were destroyed by mines—not torpedoes.

"All the reports concerning the Sussex agree that her prow was blown off, and this gives currency to the German view that the vessel ran upon a mine. Nobody appears to have sighted the periscope of a submarine, though affidavits received by the state department swear that passengers saw the wake of the torpedo which struck the Sussex and that the master of the steamer swerved from his course in an effort to avoid the missile.

Must Determine Facts.

"There remains to be determined first, whether a submarine actually fired explosives which sank the two steamers, and secondly, the nationality of the craft in case it should be established that the vessels were torpedoed.

"The salvage of the Sussex will enable the experts, including the American naval attaches in France, to examine such fragments of the weapon that destroyed the vessel and thus determine whether a torpedo or a mine were responsible.

"If it should be established that a torpedo struck the ship the circumstantial evidence will be considered sufficient for drastic action, such as the dismissal of the German ambassador. If neither of the questions can be answered the state department says there can be no redress exacted.

Wake of Torpedo Seen.

"It will be recalled that in the case of the steamer Persia, which was sent to the bottom of the Mediterranean with an American consular officer, testimony was offered that the wake of a torpedo was seen.

"The central powers, however, denied that any of their submarines was responsible for the disaster, and the president decided he could take no action under the circumstances. Ambassador Gerard has been directed to inquire of the German foreign office if any German submarine caused the destruction of the Englishman and Sussex. If the ambassador should be assured that no German submarine was in the vicinity where the two steamers went down it is probable that Mr. Wilson will refrain from presenting demands for reparation.

Sea Rights Menaced.

"But the administration realizes that something must be done to put an end to warfare which imperils American life. There is no stronger right than that of the freedom of the high seas for neutrals. For any or all of the belligerents to set mines adrift is to imperil that right.

"There is some talk in official circles of sending a circular to all those belligerents denouncing the use of mines upon the high seas. This is hardly likely to lead to any result, however, for both the allies and Germany have denied that anything of the kind has been done by their vessels.

"The incidents will be taken advantage of, however, to address another note to Germany dealing with the entire subject of submarine warfare. The administration does not want to write any more notes, but what can it do if conclusive proof be not obtained? If is prepared to point, if it can do nothing else, that as a result of the issuance of the 'sink on sight' decree by that government, suspicion inevitably points to it as the responsible author of every such disaster, and that it is therefore in the intcrest of the German nation and of its relations with neutral powers that it should announce an intention to respect established principles of international law.

U. S. Must Take Action.

"So far as the United States is concerned, it cannot remain silent and thereby indicate its acquiescence in a condition repugnant alike to humanity and the law of nations. Therefore, without reference to the word of Germany, it must determine, upon the evidence it is able to gather, the line of action it shall take in cases where American life is destroyed.

"Until it has been determined whether a submarine sank the Englishman and the Sussex and the nationality of the vessel has been fixed, the crisis with the Central powers will continue. Germany's diplomats are aware of this fact. They understand their government has instituted an investigation and they have no hesitancy in stating that if a German submarine destroyed the two ships its commander will be punished, his action will be disavowed and a money indemnity paid. This will be satisfactory as far as it goes; but what the administration wants is assurances which will guarantee safety for American travel upon the high seas, assurances which will be lived up to.

Trade Protest Pressed.

"The administration is pressing the allies for an answer to the protest made last November against restrictions upon American trade. The British government finished a draft of the reply two months ago, and it has since then been receiving the scrutiny of the French authorities. The note is expected to be transmitted to the state department this week. There will be no important concessions made, according to the advance information received. As a matter of fact, it is stated the Asquith government dares not go too far. The latest reports are that it is hanging by a thread and that compliance with the American demands would lead to its overthrow."

GETTING SUPPLIES TO UNITED STATES TROOPS IN MEXICO

shadow all other matters having to do with the punitive expedition in Mexico. Indications from Washington today were that railroads will not be made available in the immediate future.

With the railroads closed to him, Gen. Funston faces the big problem of supplying Gen. Pershing's force for a considerable period by means of motor transportation and wagon trains. This means he must send great quantities of supplies a distance of 250 miles south of the border in trucks and wagons—through a country that is a barren waste of sand.

In order to meet the situation to the best of his ability he has asked for additional motor trucks. Four companies—a total of 107 trucks—are already in operation and two additional companies will be added as quickly as cars can be purchased and sent to the border.

Quiet Acquiescence by Mexicans.

Washington, March 28.—State department advices from all parts of Mexico today gave renewed evidence of quiet acquiescence in the pursuit of Villa by American troops. The governor of Chihuahua has issued a proclamation explaining the American expedition after the bandits. It urges that no uneasiness be felt by the Mexicans.

The war department is proceeding with arrangements to buy additional aeroplanes for use on the border.

A dozen Indian chiefs from Arizona are to be enlisted as guides and scouts for the American columns in Mexico. Maj.-Gen. Funston asked for the services of the warriors.

Twenty Miles Behind Villa.

San Antonio, Tex., March 28.—According to unofficial reports received here American cavalrymen are twenty miles behind Villa and his bandits. Gen. Funston is expecting a dispatch today from Gen. Pershing giving the latest information concerning the pursuit of Villa.

Francisco Villa's escape from the region about Namiquipa was preceded by a sharp defeat administered by him to a part of the Mexican government troops and was unopposed by other detachments of the de facto government forces, according to unofficial but creditable reports reaching here. The cordon of Mexican troops that the Mexican authorities announced should have been drawn across his path, gave way, according to these reports, with a willingness that indicated their co-operation with him rather than with the American forces.

Army men at department headquarters were inclined to believe reports of inefficiency and half-hearted co-operation, and contemplated with speculative eye the probable future of the second phase of operations just inaugurated by the commander of the punitive expedition. With their knowledge of the country and with the assistance they can obtain along the route, Villa and his followers, it is feared, will have no difficulty in keeping ahead of the pursuing Americans. Their hope for an early ending of the chase is that Carranza's troops finally check Villa's flight, or that Villa himself, after joining one or more of his wandering bands, in Southern Chihuahua or from Northern Durango, may decide to fight it out with the steadily advancing cavalry of the punitive force.

general headquarters was issued yesterday:

"Western (Russian) front:

"The fighting continues to the west and south of the Augustinholf front in the Jacobstadt region.

"German aeroplanes are making more frequent flights along the entire Dvinsk front. Twenty bombs have been thrown into Dvinsk. Our troops captured two lines of enemy trenches after desperate fighting in the region to the northwest of Poslavy. Our offensive in the district of Lakes Karosez and Vichnevskole has encountered obstinate resistance.

"The enemy bombarded Stolbtzi station and Koidonavo, southwest of Minsk. Along the remainder of the front, hostilities are developing.

"In the Black sea, one of our submarines under fire of the Zunguldak batteries, sank a steamer towing some loaded coal barges which was approaching shore.

"On the Caucasus front in the seacoast region, our troops dislodged the Turks and crossed to the left bank of the river, Baltatchi-Daoszi which falls into the Black sea near the village of Baltatchi.

"In othe other regions we continue to progress."

RUSS VICTORIES NOT GREAT, SAYS VIENNA

Declares Only Outpost Skirmishes Have Occurred in Galicia.

Berlin, March 28, wireless to Sayville.—Only outpost skirmishes have occurred in Galicia in the last few days, and the victories reported by the Russians on the Dniester were not gained over large bodies of Austrian troops, says an official report from the war office at Vienna. The statement, under date of March 26, follows:

"The engagements near Latatche on the Dniester, described in Russian reports, were merely vanguard skirmishes. Austro-Hungarian reconnoitering detachments withdrew to the main positions when strong Russian forces advanced. During the last week the Russians have attempted to attack against the main army of Gen. Pflanger.

"Italian front: Italian artillery shelled Doberdo heights and the Fella district and points on the Tyrol front. East of Ploecken pass, Austro-Hungarian troops entered an Italian position. Attacks of the enemy in the Sugana valley were repulsed."

tions with these men had never exceeded the bounds of morality.

Clashes With Attorney.

Miss Cox clashed with Attorney Hobart P. Young when he resumed reading letters which she wrote to Edwards in 1911.

"You didn't read all there was in the letter you read yesterday," she flared.

"I omitted nothing," said the lawyer.

"You certainly did,' insisted Miss Cox.

"Well, I'm willing to let you or Attorney Igoe or anyone else read it over my shoulder," said Mr. Young.

Assistant District Attorney Michael Igoe then took his place by the defendant's attorney and the reading continued.

In place of the assertions of love which filled the letters written in the fall of 1910, read in court yesterday, there were frequent expressions of doubt in those read today. One part of one read:

"I don't love you any more; I think I almost hate you, but you have been so much to me that I cannot forget you."

Another said in part:

"Almost any girl is too good for a man like you."

In response to questions concerning Lawrence E. Bacon, whom she met in Kansas City, Miss Cox admitted that her relations with him had been intimate, but she denied that she had been unduly friendly with him in Kansas City, Milwaukee or Boston, though she had met him at those cities.

"Did you ever threaten to take Mr. Bacon's life?" she was asked.

"Well, I am very sensitive and I was pretty angry. I may have said that, but, of course, I didn't mean it," she replied.

"When did you break off your relations with Mr. Bacon?" asked the attorney.

"We're still friendly," the witness replied.

Tells of Several Trips.

Miss Cox yesterday testified as to several trips between Chicago and St. Paul, sometimes with Edwards, sometimes to meet him, but always on money provided by him. He paid her expenses on several occasions, she said, when she was ill.

"Once he took me to Dr. Paul Campbell of St. Paul," said Miss Cox. "He examined me, but did not give treatment. I obtained relief in a hospital. After I started suit against him, he said that he still cared for me and asked me to withdraw the case. On another occasion he threatened to use all his wealth and influence to discredit me if I did not quash the case."

William S. Forrest, attorney for Edwards, asked the witness as to her relations with a "booking agent named Nash."

"I was sent to Indianapolis by Nash to act as his secretary in a branch booking office," said the witness.

"At Indianapolis did you meet Willard S. Meers?"

"Yes."

"Did you have improper relations?"

"No."

"How many times?"

"Never."

The next year, 1908, the witness said, she was again living in Chicago at the home of Mrs. Alice Herwig.

Introduced to Ganzel.

"She introduced me to John Ganzel," said Miss Cox. "He was a ball player on one of the New York teams. He owned the team at Rochester, I think. Mr. Meers visited Mr. and Mrs. Ganzel at Rochester at the same time I did."

"Didn't you and Meers have adjoining rooms at the hotel there?"

"They were on the same floor, but there was a room between them, I think."

"Do you know who paid your expenses on that trip?"

"I saw no money handed over, but I understand that the Ganzels paid for my room."

"Didn't you go to New York with Meers and Ganzel."

"Yes, on the same train."

"Was Mrs. Ganzel along?"

"No."

"Who paid your way?"

"I did."

A letter to her, addressed to Meers' New York address was introduced.

"Did you live with Meers in New York?"

"I certainly did not. I had some of my mail sent there, though."

Questioned as to Carmichael, witness said she met him when he called on her hostess there.

"He didn't come to see me," said the witness.

In the course of testimony as to her relations with Edwards, several letters were introduced. They spoke of good times together, and in one from her to Edwards, she asked if he was familiar with this verse:

"Though I know that we are happy,
When under the cloud of sin,
I know the day approaches
When chastisement must begin."

Additional Testimony.

Resuming the witness stand yesterday afternoon, Miss Cox said:

"Mr. Edwards woke me in the morning by kissing me on the forehead. I knew that something had happened. He told me he would marry me, if not on that day then shortly after. Then the woman at whose house we were staying came into the room. He boasted about what he had done and she asked him not to talk about it."

In answer to a question by the prosecutor the witness said:

"That conversation took place in bed. I was wearing a sleeping gown and I think Mr. Edwards wore pajamas, but I am not sure. The next day was Sunday. We went out to dinner, then to the theater and after the theater we went to bed again in the same room.

"We were there three nights and then I returned to Chicago."

"Did you see Edwards after that in Chicago?"

"Yes, many times in Chicago," replied Miss Cox.

"When did you next go away with him?"

Ill in November.

"In November," replied Miss Cox, "I told him I was ill. He offered to take me to a doctor at St. Paul. We went in a stateroom on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad on that trip. The doctor examined me but he did not do anything for me. On another occasion I went with Mr. Edwards to Milwaukee and in the spring I was sick again and I went to French Lick for ten days. On all these trips Mr. Edwards either paid my expenses or gave me money for them."

"I gained relief from my sickness in St. Joseph's hospital and after I had started suit against Mr. Edwards I saw him in his office. He told me that even though I had brought suit against him he still cared for me and asked me to give up the suit.

"On another occasion he threatened me; told me he could get my lawyer away from me and said that with his wealth and influence he could run me out of town."

On cross-examination counsel for Mr. Edwards began questioning Miss Cox regarding her relations with other men. The prosecutor objected and Judge Anderson overruled the objections.

"In this case," the court said, "it is largely a matter of whether the jury will believe this witness or the defense, as they must both testify about things which no one else can tell about. I think the lawyers should be permitted to find out everything they can about her life, so that the jury can tell which one is telling the truth."

ASHLAND WILL VOTE ON LICENSE APRIL 14

Ashland, Wis., March 28.—City Clerk W. C. Morris has formally ordered the question of liquor license or no license presented to the electors on April 4. City Clerk Morris announced that he found the petitions contained a sufficient number of names, 10 per cent of the vote for governor at the last state election and that the documents were otherwise correct. There were 206 signers on the petitions, over forty more than necessary to bring a vote on the question. One name which appeared to be that of a woman was struck off.

As yet no one has challenged any of the names on the petitions and it is not believed that they will be questioned.

RAISE CHICKENS!

START NOW

COME IN AND SEE THE "PRAIRIE STATE" INCUBATORS AND THE "UNIVERSAL" HOVERS

If you are going to hatch chickens this summer, we advise you to use a "Prairie State" Incubator. These hatch the most chicks that live. We have incubators in all sizes. They are equipped with the now famous Prairie State Sand Tray. Four sizes, viz., 100, 150, 240 and 390 eggs. These incubators are indorsed by the largest poultry raisers in the United States.

The Universal Hoover, of which we have a complete line of, is considered by experts to be absolutely the best and safest way to care for the chicks after leaving the incubator. It's the real "mother" for the motherless chicks.

WILL CONFER WITH FIREMEN

Council Asks Discussion of the Double Platoon System.

Contracts for Sidewalks, Street Sprinkling and Other Work Let.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Adopted a resolution inviting the firemen to appoint a committee to confer with the commissioners on the proposed double-platoon system.

Awarded to Herman O. Nyhus the contract for laying fifty-three plank walks during this year on his bid of $12,934.

Designated fifty-two streets to be sprinkled with oil during the coming summer.

Authorized Mayor Prince to advertise for bids on equipment for the seven new playgrounds and for the installation of a ventilating system in the city hall basement.

Awarded the Greer Printing company the contract to print the annual reports of the city officers on its bid of $868.

Heard first reading of the ordinances appropriating $2,750 for special legal services, $1,100 for the purchase of an electrical centrifugal pump to be used at the New Duluth water station and $400 to change the partitions in the water and light department.

Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted by the city commissioners at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

After the reading of the firemen's petition for a double platoon system, Commissioner Silberstein introduced a resolution inviting the members of the department to appoint a committee to take the matter up with the city commissioners at an early date. The measure was adopted by a unanimous vote of the council. It is expected that a conference will be held the latter part of this week.

H. O. Nyhus was awarded the contract to lay the fifty-three plank walks recently designated by the commissioners. His bid was $12,934.

J. C. Armstrong, R. F. Berdie, Adam Schaeffer, J. W. Shepherdson and W. M. Miller were appointed appraisers in the condemnation proceedings authorized by the council last week to acquire easements for slopes and fills in connection with the plan to fill underneath all the old wooden bridges in the city.

Forty-fourth avenue east was ordered paved from Superior street to McCulloch street. The improvement will cost approximately $14,000, according to the estimates of the city engineer.

Playground Equipment.

Mayor Prince was authorized to advertise for bids to furnish the city with equipment for the seven new playgrounds and to install a ventilating system in the assessor's office and the health department.

The Greer Printing company was awarded the contract to print all the annual reports on its bid of $868.

Gustave Collatz was awarded the contract to change the office partitions in the water and light department on his bid of $315. On May 1, Commissioner Merritt and Manager Reed will move out of the corner office into the main quarters and removal of the partitions has been authorized. Commissioner Merritt will occupy offices in the city hall building after May 1, it was recently announced.

On motion of Commissioner Farrell, the council designated the fifty-two streets to be sprinkled with oil during the coming summer. This will cost approximately $15,000, including $10,000 for the oil.

The Austin Western Machinery company was awarded the contract to supply the works division with a one-horse street sweeper on its bid of $385.

Sanitary Sewers Ordered.

Sanitary sewers were ordered in Second street, from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-sixth avenue east, and in Third alley, from Twenty-ninth avenue east to lot 5, block 4, Harrison's division.

First reading was given the ordinances appropriating $2,500 to pay Francis W. Sullivan, special council in the street paving case; $250 for Frank Crassweller, special counsel in the armory referendum appeal; $1,100 to purchase an electrical pump for the New Duluth water station, replacing the present gasoline engine, and $400 to change the partitions in the water and light department. Second reading was given the measures appropriating $9,000 for a bridge over Tischer's creek, $868 to print the annual reports, $196 for the purchase of steel filing cases for the municipal court and $126 to purchase caps for the police department.

Licenses were granted to the following: Saloon renewals—James Smith, 214 Central avenue; Gust Peterson, 2011 West Superior street; William Duvall, 322 Central avenue; Hans Johnson, 613 West Superior street. Cigarettes—P. W. La Panta, 1131 West Michigan street; John H. Altman, 507 West Michigan street, being a transfer from W. Simon & Co., 125 East Superior street. Second-hand stores—Northwestern Iron & Metal company, 376 South First avenue east, being a transfer from 17 East First street, and plumbers, Peter H. Dryke, 118 Owatonna street.

THAW DAYTIMES; FREEZE AT NIGHT

Weather Forecast Gives Gist of Conditions to Be Expected.

"Thaws in daytime and frosts at night" will be the program for some days at least, according to Weather Forecaster Richardson.

At 10:30 this morning the temperature had risen to 34 degs. above zero and the sun's job of thawing was well under way. Particularly where the sun's rays hit, is the thawing most pronounced, but with the temperature above the freezing point, it becomes quite general.

Mr. Richardson expected the temperature to get as high as 40 or more degs. before the day is out. Asked as to prospects he said:

"It will get down to about 20 degs. above tonight. In short it will thaw in daytime and freeze at night for some time."

PENNINGTON FARMERS TO RECEIVE SEED CORN

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Land men of Pennington county have volunteered to distribute their seed corn, used as exhibits, among the farmers to relieve the dearth of native seed corn. A limited amount will be given each grower and the agricultural department of the high school and the Commercial club will assist in the distribution. A quantity of seed corn used by the Commercial club in winter exhibits will be given the boys of the county to be used in their corn growing contests, this action having been authorized by the board of directors, and the details are being worked out by Prof. Henry Werner of the high school.

THIEF RIVER FALLS FAMILY HARD HIT

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three times within six weeks death visited one Thief River Falls family, Peter Romness of Lancaster dying suddenly of heart failure being the third victim. Six weeks previously Mrs. J. Ellenson of this city, his sister, died of diabetes, and two weeks ago, Mrs. J. Linde of Thief River Falls, another sister, died of typhoid. Two months ago all were in apparently good health. All three bodies were interred in a local cemetery.

"CASEY" CAME BACK.

But Thief River Falls Judge Ordered Him to Leave Again.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Norman La Jambie, known in this section as "Casey Jones," did a "comeback" stunt before Municipal Judge Tarrant after just a year's absence, and as a result is on his way for another 365 days. A year ago he was ordered out of town for a year. On the day the year expired, "Casey" returned, full of good cheer as the result of a day's visit at Red Lake Falls.

Brought before Judge Tarrant, he was banished from his kingdom again for a year. "I kin cum back thin, judge?" queried Casey. "Yes, but come back sober or it will be ten years next time," replied the court.

GERMAN AEROPLANES BOMBARD SALONIKI

London, March 28.—A dispatch from Saloniki says that five German aeroplanes bombarded Saloniki early Monday. As a result of the raid eighteen civilians were killed and twenty-one wounded, the latter including a Greek official attached to the finance department.

The Germans lost two aeroplines, one being brought down near Lake Omotova.

CANADA FAILS TO GET MANY FARMERS

Chicago, March 28.—Efforts of the Canadian government to obtain 30,000 farmhands in the United States have met with a very limited success, according to W. J. White, inspector of Canadian government agencies in the United States. Mr. White returned to Chicago yesterday after a trip to agencies in Illinois and other Central Western states.

"Owing to the late spring, farm laborers are already employed in their own localities for the most part," said Mr. White, "and as their wages are high, we have been able to obtain only a few thousand of the large number needed."

COUNTIES MAY APPEAL.

May Further Resist Paying Fees Claimed By Former Treasurers.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the counties of Pennington, Beltrami, Roseau and Marshall may carry their case against ex-county treasurers to the state supreme court is indicated as the result of a decision by Judge Grindeland, who ruled that Andrew Trovator, former treasurer of Pennington county, was entitled to $78.76 additional fees for work performed in connection with the collection of ditch taxes. Trovator contended that inasmuch as the work was of a special nature and came in the fall of the year necessitating the hiring of an extra clerk, he was entitled to the additional money. Other former county treasurers of the counties above mentioned are also interested and quite a sum is involved.

WILL OPEN LAND TRACTS

Thousands of Acres Will Be Ready for Settlers in April.

Full Descriptions Are Available at Land Office in Duluth.

Full information has just been received from Washington, D. C., by the register and receiver of the United States land office in Duluth concerning several thousand acres of government lands which will be opened to settlement, part at 9 a. m. on April 12, and another allotment at the same hour on April 26. The total amount of land to be thrown on the market for settlers is 56,175.62. A large part of this will not be opened this spring, but will be held until after the timber has been removed.

The large tracts of government lands on the Fond du Lac reservation near Duluth are not yet to be included in the lands to bois opened. A good share of the lands are cut-over and some are included in the state drainage districts. Entries may be made at Duluth, Cass Lake and Crookston. The tracts are situated on the Pigeon River, Deer Creek, White Earth, Red Lake and Bois Fort Indian reservations. Estimates and descriptions of the various lands have been made, and may be had at the office of the receiver and register at the Federal building.

DINNER AND PROGRAM FOR PASSENGER MEN

Arrangments have been made by a committee of the Duluth Passenger Agents' association for an outing and party at the Lakewood chateau next Saturday night, and forty will have dinner there. There will also be vaudeville, cards and dancing. The dinner will take place at 6 o'clock and members of the association, famous for their stunt ability, will put on the vaudeville program that will follow.

Some special features have been prepared and rehearsed, and they will be put on during and after the dinner. A four-piece orchestra has been engaged and dancing will take place from 8 o'clock until midnight. For those who do not dance, bridge will be available.

The committee having charge of the affair consists of M. M. Hanna, chairman; F. R. Smalley and James W. Lydon.

ASK MODERN CONVENIENCES

Crosley Park Wants Street Car Extension and School House.

Lakeview Club Will Ask City Commissioners Their Support.

Crosley Park residents want a schoolhouse and street car line extensions to their district. Members of the Lakeview Improvement club held a meeting at the old Lakeside fire hall on Fifty-first avenue east last night and decided to take steps to obtain these improvements.

After members had urged the necessity of better school facilities, the entire membership of the organization was appointed a committee to wait on the board of education and petition for the construction of a small school building in the district.

Children now are forced to walk from twelve to eighteen blocks to school, speakers said. They will present their oral petition at the next meeting of the board of education, April 7.

City commissioners will be asked to co-operate with the club in its efforts to obtain a street car line extension to Crosley Park. A committee reported that this question had been placed before officials of the Duluth Street Railway company, and they had given hope of favorable consideration in 1917.

Works Commissioner Farrell will be asked to discuss the city's snow-removal problem at the next meeting of the club, after members complained of slush and ice at street and avenue intersections.

Cameron, Wis., Fire.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 28.—Fire breaking out in the oil room of Bartlett's hardware store at Cameron Monday destroyed that building and the general clothing store of Mossett & Rowe company. The loss totals $8,000, all covered by insurance.

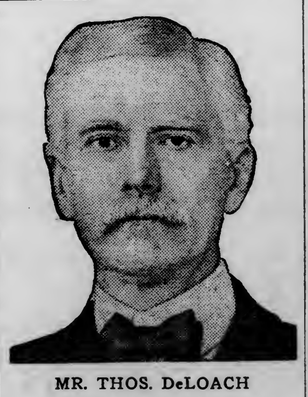
Well Known Remedy Relieves Chronic Case

Important to dispose of Waste from the Stomach With Regularity.

People frequently attribute to failure of the digestive organs conditions that are primarily due to inactive bowels, and apply remedies that from their very nature are more apt to aggravate than to relieve the disorder.

When the bowels act regularly the stomach is in better shape to perform its allotted tasks and can usually be depended upon. To keep the bowels in condition there is no more effective remedy than the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell has prescribed this remedy in his practice for over a quarter of a century and it is today the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. Mr. Thos. De Loach, with the Department of the Interior, Office of Indian Affairs, at Washington, wrote Dr. Caldwell recently that "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best laxative I have any knowledge of and the cleaning up guaranteed by its use relieves every organ."



MR. THOS. DeLOACH

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be on hand in every home for use when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

GET RID OF HUMORS

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Medicine to Take—Makes Pure Blood.

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, pimples, boils, and other eruptions come from humors, which may be either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable medicine, helps the system to discharge the humors, and improves the digestion and assimilation.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla from your druggist. It may be confidently relied upon to do its work. It purifies the blood, tones the stomach, and builds up the whole system. It goes to the roots of diseases, and its beneficial results are permanent. It sets things to rights in the system. Remember to ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla, because nothing else acts like it and nothing else can take its place.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do for You

Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention The Duluth Herald. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

A KIDNEY MEDICINE THAT HEALS AND STRENGTHENS

Several years ago I had charge of a plantation in the canebrake swamps on the lower Mississippi River. While there I contracted a severe case of Swamp Fever, getting so bad that I had hemorrhages of the bladder. I was under a doctor's care for about sixty days with very little hope of my recovery. I did not find relief from the doctor's medicine and Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root being recommended to me, I tried some and got almost immediate relief. After taking seven fifty-cent bottles, I was able to resume my duties. Have not been obliged to take any medicine since that time.

Yours very truly,

FISHERMAN FINED.

Must Pay for Having Set Lines Through the Ice.

Another fisherman paid dearly for using set lines, when brought before Municipal Judge W. H. Smallwood this morning. He was Joseph Cook, 22, one of a score of fishermen arrested by Game Wardens J. E. Kreager and August Tabor on Feb. 20.

The game wardens made a tour of lakes near Duluth on Sunday, Feb. 20, and have been bringing fishermen in to court ever since that day.

Cook was fined $10 and costs, in default of which he will be required to spend fifteen days at the work farm.

HELD ON OLD CHARGE.

Frank Martin Is Arrested After Eluding Police Since 1914.

Like the man who had to pay for a dead horse is Frank Martin, 39, who was brought to police headquarters today as a result of a fight with a street car conductor on June 11, 1914.

Martin and a friend, it is alleged, had some trouble with N. Nyberg, conductor, nearly two years ago, while they were en route home on an eastbound hillside car.

Since that time a warrant, signed by John G. Ross, former clerk of court, and W. L. Windom, former judge, has been on file at police headquarters.

Detective E. H. Barber located Martin yesterday and identified him as the man who had the fight on the street car. He was arraigned before Judge W. H. Smallwood on a charge of assault this morning, pleaded not guilty and was released on $15 bail. He will be tried tomorrow afternoon.

PEEPER SENT TO FARM.

When you live in a hotel, don't peep over the transom of the room next to yours.

"Forty-five days at the work farm," said a municipal court judge yesterday afternoon in the case of Matt Johnson, whom police found standing on a chair in the hallway of the New York hotel, West Superior street, looking over the transom.

Johnson's room was on the second floor, and he was "investigating" on the third floor. Police also found Victor Laine and "Billy" Miller, friends of Johnson's, in the hotel.

A complete set of skeleton keys was found in their room, as was a revolver. This proved enough to bring them each a thirty-day sentence for trespass.

All three were burglary suspects.

A Little Blossom To Delight the Home

When it is known that in the near future the home is to be blessed with a new arrival the first thought should be "Mother's Friend." This is an external remedy gently applied over the stomach muscles. It makes them firm and pliant, they expand naturally without undue strain. It removes from the nerves those influences which are responsible for much of the pain incident to the period of expectancy. It is for this reason that much of the distress such as morning sickness is avoided. All prospective fathers should see to it that the expectant mother is provided with a bottle of "Mother's Friend."

The directions are simple. Get it at any drug store. It is applied by the expectant mother herself, it penetrates deeply and affords quick and splendid relief in a most gratifying manner and reflects a physical betterment to the nervous disposition of the baby. Don't fail to get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today and then write Bradfield Regulator Co., 413 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a pretty little book brimful of information for expectant mothers. It is a delight to read it.

AAD ANSWERS CRASSWELLER

Shriners' Attorney Declares Desired Ruling May Be Obtained.

Will Fight Any Attempts to Harass or Delay Armory Sale.

Declaring that the armory referendum case can be reviewed in the supreme court on all the questions involved, John Jenswold, Jr., attorney for the Aad Temple Building association, replies to the statement of Frank Crassweller, special counsel for the city, in an answer given out this morning. The former insists that, if the lower court is wrong in its interpretation of the charter, that a referendum may be had.

Mr. Jenswold declares that the employment of Mr. Crassweller by the interests opposed to the sale of the armory will make the appeal more difficult, if "his employment is for the purpose of harassing, annoying and delaying the Shriners in obtaining use of the property."

Mr. Jenswold's answer to Mr. Crassweller's statement, filed with the city council yesterday, follows:

Jenswold's Reply.

"Responsive to Mr. Crassweller's disappointment occasioned by his employment on the armory appeal, please note the following:

"Section 4365, general statutes, 1913, as amended by chapter 474, general laws, 1913, provides that:

"'An appeal may be taken from a judgment, and upon such appeal the court may review any intermediate order involving the merits, or necessarily effecting the judgment appealed from.'

"The order overruling the demurrer interposed by the city, was such an order. The correctness of this is raised by the appeal to the supreme court. The order necessarily involves the question whether after the expiration of thirty days from the publication of the ordinance, an insufficient petition for a referendum may be amended.

"By the same statute no appeal can be taken direct from an order overruling a demurrer, unless the court shall certify that the question presented thereby is, in his opinion, important and doubtful. The lower court did not deem the question to be at all doubtful, but after the order was filed he did, upon suggestions made, make such certificate so that an appeal might be taken direct without answer.

Council Refused to Appeal.

"The city council did not deem it wise to take an appeal, and so concluded and so announced.

"The city attorney put in an answer. Where a complaint is sworn to, the rules require that the answer be likewise sworn to. The complaint in this case was sworn to. It set forth nothing but facts which were of record with the city, and which were of such nature that they could not be denied. No city officer, whether attorney or otherwise, could upon oath say that they were not true without committing perjury. No city officer or city attorney could therefore upon oath deny the essential facts pleaded or set forth in the complaint. The answer filed was as full and complete as it could be. It denied the legal results claimed by plaintiff; it could deny nothing else. It pleaded no good faith of the petitioners, but 'good faith' whether present or absent, was not material to any issue.

"Upon plaintiff's motion for judgment a hearing was had. It involved the exact questions which were involved in the demurrer. It necessarily resulted in the judgment being granted.

Wanted Decision for Guide.

"Parties in sympathy with the charter provisions on the subject of the referendum, desired and requested that an appeal be taken that the superior court might, by its decision, furnish a guide for proceedings on subsequent referendums. The city council then ordered an appeal.

"As the case now stands, every question touching the sufficiency of the petition for the referendum, as well as the question whether a defective petition filed within thirty days can properly be amended by filing additional petitions after the expiration of the thirty days can be reviewed.

"If the answer to these questions is the one purpose sought by the employment of Mr. Crassweller, that opportunity is here; if his employment is for the purpose of harassing, and annoying and delaying the Shriners in obtaining the possession, use and improvement of the property, it will be more difficult. If the lower court was wrong, a referendum may be had."

WILL DOUBLE THE BATHING FACILITIES

Duluth's municipal bathing beach at Indian Point, Fairmont park, will be doubled in size this year, according to an announcement made today by Mayor Prince.

So popular was the beach last summer that Mayor Prince has instructed Park Manager Cleveland to double the number of bathing houses and to supply twice the facilities available to bathers last year. There will be forty-eight portable bathhouses installed and a much larger tent erected for the pavilion, Mayor Prince said.

As soon as weather will permit arrangements will be made for the opening of the beach and a man and a woman will be put in charge for the summer. During the summer it is the plan of the mayor to improve the beach and the roads leading into that end of Fairmont park.

Should the beach prove popular this year and the expenditure warrants it an attractive pavilion will be erected in time for the opening of the beach in 1917.

The beach was opened to the public last spring and is the only one in the city operated under the supervision of the municipality.

FORMER DULUTHIAN UNDER ARREST

Attorney Callow Charged With Grand Larceny at Butte.

Albert A. Callow, former Duluth attorney and now located in Butte, Mont., is under arrest on charges of grand larceny, preferred by Miss Effie Arve of Butte, according to dispatches today.

Miss Arve, in her complaint, alleges that she was left a legacy upon the death of a relative in Finland last fall. She went to Attorney Callow, she says, and placed the matter in his hands. The legacy, amounting to $482.75, was paid through the Finland Steamship company, she alleges.

Although Attorney Callow is said to have received the money on or about Nov. 1, 1915, he has refused to pay Miss Arve, the girl says, and has put her off with promises.

He has been a practicing attorney in Butte for two years, and enjoyed a monopoly of the legal business done by the Finnish people of Butte. He came to Duluth about five years ago after leaving college at Valparaiso, Ind., and was associated with Attorney Victor Gran of this city for some time.

From Duluth he went West. Mr. Callow is married and has a young son and a little daughter.

DULUTH ENGINEER HIGHLY HONORED

E. P. Alexander Offered Lieutenancy in Corps of U. S. Army Engineers.

E. Porter Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Alexander of this city, and a member of the firm of Alexander & Farrell, civil engineers, has been signally honored. According to word which has been received from Washington, the adjutant general has appointed him second lieutenant in the corps of engineers in the United States army, a position which is eagerly sought annually by the graduates of West Point.

Mr. Alexander is a graduate of Boston Institute of Technology. The lieutenancy in the engineering corps of the army is regarded as the pick of the appointments that are made each year to the army. A singular circumstance is that just fifty-nine years ago, Mr. Alexander's grandfather, Porter Alexander, was graduated from West Point and was appointed by the president to the same position in the army corps. Mr. Alexander has five years in which to accept the appointment made by President Wilson. He has not yet decided as to what he will do in the matter, but will accept if volunteers are called for for service in Mexico.

JANNUS VIEWED WAR FROM AIR

Aviator, Known in Duluth, Studied Czar's Aerial Fighting Craft.

Russia is excellently equipped with aircraft, according to Anthony Jannus of Washington, D. C., known to Duluthians as "Tony" Jannus of "Lark of the Lake" fame.

Mr. Jannus has just returned to his Washington home after studying the aviation problem in the czar's domain and from his observations there is able to judge of the lack of flying machine equipment in the United States.

He made many flights in Russia, not as a military aviator, but as a representative of the Curtiss Aeroplane Manufacturing company of the United States and as a specialist in hydro-aeroplanes.

Mr. Jannus, as is well known in Duluth, was trained at College Park, Md., and applied for battle service with the Russian aero fleet, but was refused.

"In one of my flights over the Black sea," said Mr. Jannus, "I witnessed four torpedo boat destroyers emptying ammunition pretty fast at something I could not make out, but which was probably a submarine." He also told of an exciting bombardment of the town of Sangoeack by a portion of the Russ fleet.

COX DOES NOT EXPECT FLOODS IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the snow in the Northern woods is the heaviest in years, State Forester Fox does not expect flood conditions this year. In some places, he says, the snow is between 3 and 4 feet on the level, but because of the soft ground much of it will be absorbed. The logging concerns have so far not been interfered with by melting snow.

GEN. CARRANZA URGED FOR REPLY

United States Exceedingly Anxious to Use Mexican Roads.

Washington, March 28.—A memorandum to Gen. Carranza pressing for an immediate reply to the request for permission to use Mexican railroads in supplying American troops in pursuit of Villa, was prepared today at the state department. It will be forwarded to Queretaro probably late today.

The memorandum points out that the problem of supplying troops now more than 200 miles from the border is a pressing one and need not be delayed for the protocol covering the general subject.

The American government will urge that the immediate question of the use of the Mexican northwestern lines be considered separately and at once.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to Boyce Drug store, 331 West Superior St., or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.—Advertisement.

PETTY THEFTS ARE COMMON

Merchants Are Much Annoyed at Attempts to Steal.

Two Women Caught With the Goods But Not Prosecuted.

Petty thefts have been annoying storekeepers in West Duluth for some time recently, and one manager of a department store yesterday caught a woman in the act of stealing a coat for her small daughter. She was allowed her freedom on the promise not to attempt any further thefts.

The woman had just purchased a hat for the girl and this was in a large paper sack. She went into the cloak department and was looking at dresses and coats for small girls when the attention of one of the young women clerks was called to the rustling of paper. Suspecting something was wrong, she called the attention of the manager, who on investigating found one of the spring coats in the hat sack. The girl was carrying the sack, and had been handed the coat by her mother to put away. When the clerk approached, the mother tried to attract the clerk's attention away from the child by making inquiries about the cost of some dresses.

Made a "Mistake."

Another woman was caught recently in the act of taking some dress goods, but when she discovered that she had been detected and followed by the proprietor, who stopped to tell of the theft to a policeman, she returned and told the owner that she had made a mistake.

"We have lost a number of small articles recently," said the owner of the store, "but the attempted theft yesterday was bolder than usual. If these thefts are kept up, I propose to prosecute if the shoplifters are caught."

BOWLERS PLAN TOURNEY IN APRIL

Five-Men Teams Will Compete; Play Will Begin Saturday.

A bowling tournament for West Duluth bowlers will be a feature during the first part of April at the Central Bowling alleys. The events to take place will be competition between five-man teams, doubles and singles. The tournament is to begin on Saturday.

Five teams have entered in the events organized by young men of this end of the city. Ten doubles and fifteen singles are so far admitted. The closing date for entries has been set for Thursday.

Russell Kiltin yesterday broke all former high score records for the Central alleys, spilling 255 pins. A bad split in the latter part of the game prevented him from making a clean score.

Last evening the Club Centrals lost three straight games to the Zenith bowlers, who won out by a margin of 311 pins in the three games. The score follows:

DENFELD BOYS TO DON BURNT CORK

Second Annual Minstrel Show Slated for Friday Night.

The second annual minstrel show to be given by the Boys' club of the Robert E. Denfeld high school on Friday evening promises to be the best effort of that organization. Rehearsals have been held during the last two months and a stock of new jokes is promised, which will be adaptable to local conditions.

The first part of the program will be vaudeville and the second part of the minstrel type. In the vaudeville a short sketch, "An Extra Guest," by Stanley Lamb and Laurence Duby, a specialty by Dwight Heistand, a violin solo by Gustaf Jackson, selections by the high school orchestra and an accordeon solo will be given.

A trip to Camp Miller, with all expenses paid, is being offered to the boy who sells the largest number of tickets to the show. This is creating a strong rivalry among the students in disposing of the pasteboards.

TO GIVE THIRD DEGREE.

Lakeside and Trinity Lodges Will Put on Work.

The third degree will be given at a special meeting of Euclid lodge, No. 198, A. F. & A. M., at the West Duluth Masonic hall, 615 North Central avenue, Saturday evening. The work will be put on by members of Lakeside and Trinity lodges.

The Lakeside lodge will have charge of the work of the first half of the degree and the Trinity lodge will have charge of the second half. Following the ceremony a smoker will be given.

FARES WORSE ON NEW TRIAL.

John H. Brigham Gets No Damages After Refusing to Take $216.

A jury in Judge Dancer's division of the district court yesterday afternoon found a verdict for the city of Duluth in the second trial of the suit brought by John H. Brigham to recover $1,170 damages to his property by reason of the flooding of Mission creek during May, 1914. Last October a jury awarded the plaintiff $216, but the court set it aside and granted a new trial. The second verdict was for the defendant.

LOW BIDDERS ON CENTRAL PAVING

A. N. Nelson and August A. Bodin & Son are the low bidders on the Central avenue pavement from Cody street to the D., M. & N. tracks, according to figures given out this morning by Secretary Culver of the works division. The bids were opened yesterday by Commissioner Farrell.

Mr. Nelson's proposal of $28,654.69 is the lowest for a one-course concrete pavement, while A. A. Bodin & Son submitted the lowest bid of $29,753.25 for a McGilvray patented non-skid pavement. The latter is concrete with a patented mixture of sandstone in place of trap rock.

The bids submitted on a concrete and a McGilvray pavement, respectively, follow: Olson & Johnson, $30,516.70 and $31,933.30; E. A. Dahl, $28,980 and $30,165.50; A. A. Bodin & Son, $28,923.40 and $29,753.25; Eklund, Hedberg & Co., $29,764.10 and $31,542.35; Rogers & McLean, $31,852.55 and $33,038.05; Nyhus & Frederickson, $29,999.65 and $30,555.30; D. H. Clough & Co., $28,827.80 and $30,250.40, and A. N. Nelson, $28,654.69 and $30,551.49.

MANY HATS IN RING.

County Commissionership Race In Fifth District Interesting.

The county commissionership race in the Fifth district of St. Louis county, which includes all of West Duluth west of Central avenue, Proctor and a large part of the southwestern part of the county, will be the most interesting in many years. Four men have already filed for the office and at least five more and probably six will yet file.

John L. Seymour is the latest man to file for the nomination. The others who have filed are Warren A. Pond, Joseph Becks and James A. Webber.

Charles Kauppi is the incumbent and will get into the race for re-election. Others who have announced their intention of becoming candidates are Al Overton, who was defeated by Mr. Kauppi four years ago; Andrew Myles, Ed Erickson, former president of the village of Proctor; G. A. Rakowsky and Frank E. Watson.

Two of the candidates will be nominated at the June primaries and will be in the race for the November election.

ALUMNI MAY ORGANIZE.

Graduates of Industrial and Denfeld Highs Will Talk Over Project.

Graduates of the Duluth Industrial high school, which formerly was located at the Irving school, and those of the Robert E. Denfeld high school will discuss the matter of forming an alumni association, at a meeting called for tomorrow evening. The meeting will be held at the Denfeld high school.

About 150 young people of West Duluth are eligible to membership in the proposed organization. Only one class so far has been graduated from the Denfeld school, but six classes were graduated from the high school in West Duluth while it was located at the Irving building.

GOVERNOR WILL ANSWER LA FOLLETTE

Governor E. L. Philipp of Wisconsin will speak tomorrow evening at the Broadway theater and is expected to refute charges made against him in a recent speech by Senator R. M. La Follette. The governor is expected to arrive tomorrow morning and will be the guest of the Superior Rotary club at its weekly dinner, where he will also speak.

Bandits Still at Large.

No clews to the whereabouts of the two bandits who held up and robbed three business places Saturday evening, shooting one man, have so far been found by the police. Descriptions of the two men have been sent broadcast, but so far have failed to reveal their identity. The men were successful in the robberies, the police believe, because of the boldness with which the holdups took place and the rapidity with which the men worked.

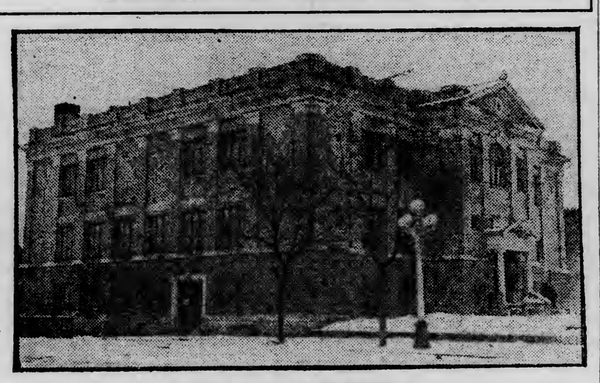
DEVILS LAKE MASONS WILL DEDICATE TEMPLE MAY 18



NEW $50,000 STRUCTURE.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnewaukan lodge, No. 21, A. F. & A. M., of Devils Lake, will be host to every blue lodge man in Northern North Dakota on May 18, the occasion for the formal dedication of the handsome new $50,000 temple, which is looked upon as one of the finest lodge homes in the Northwest, and easily the most complete structure to be found in a city the size of Devils Lake.

The dedicatory address will be delivered by Walter L. Stockwell of Fargo, grand secretary of the grand lodge of North Dakota and an orator of note.

The building was planned by Architect J. A. Shannon of this city. So acceptable has been the work that Mr. Shannon was last month awarded the contract to draw plans for a temple for Jamestown, which so far as the general ideas are concerned follow the building just completed. Fjelseth & Johnson of Devils Lake had the general contract for the building, and despite a very severe winter, excellent progress was made.

Two stories above the ground, a basement and sub-basement furnish plenty of room. The heating equipment is housed in the sub-basement. The basement, or better the ground floor contains a spacious ball and banquet room, capable of seating 600 at tables; a kitchen, fully equipped; a smaller dining room, and cloak rooms. The main floor contains an elegant lodge room with a 22-foot ceiling, set off with a large dome in the center, and balcony at the west. Suitable wardrobe, ante rooms and closets for paraphernalia, a handsome ladies' parlor, made pleasant by a large fire place, and a smoking room are found on the ground floor. The Red Cross room, Knight Templar room and other lodge rooms are found on the top floor at the front.

The building will be occupied in April. Devils Lake has five active Masonic bodies: blue lodge, chapter, commandery, lodge of perfection and Eastern Star.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

Dr. J. W. Carhart of San Antonio, Tex., says: "Since lime salts constitute three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural starvation ensues, with tuberculosis unchecked. The spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to decalcified (lime lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

Since lime is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alterative, much of its success doubtless is due to its combination in such a way as to render it easily assimilable.

Eckman's Alterative has effected remarkable results in tuberculosis, which, in many instances, apparently has yielded to it, and since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

GOOD PALS UNTIL "ROLL" IS TAKEN

Mike Zavis Has Mike Smith Arrested for Lifting Earnings.

Up to the time that Mike Smith became self-appointed custodian of the $205 "roll" which Mike Zavis had succeeded in accumulating after a season's work in the woods, the two men were bosom friends. They ate, drank and slept together until—

One morning, Zavis awoke and found his bed partner missing. He then reached for his "roll" and found that it had also disappeared. Left penniless, he appealed to the police who later located Smith in Superior.

Smith had more than $200 on his person when arrested and at first claimed that it all belonged to him. Finally he admitted that he had taken money belonging to Zavis, but he declared that he had taken it only for safe-keeping.

Zavis told his story this morning to a jury in Judge Ensign's division of the district court where Smith was put on trial charged with theft. He said that he and Smith had been good friends and that he had no reason to distrust him until after he had missed the money.

The two men came to Duluth from Bemidji on Jan. 21 last, and the theft is alleged to have taken place in a rooming house at 1021 West Michigan street on that evening. After they had retired for the night, Smith waited until Zavis had fallen asleep and then arose and left the hotel, taking Zavis' money with him, it is claimed.

County Attorney Warren E. Greene is prosecuting the case and Robert Mayo is defending Smith. The prisoner was indicted by the March grand jury. It is expected that the case will go to the jury late this afternoon.

TEST CASE BEING ARGUED.

Attorneys Are Summing Up Ninth Street Paving Action.

Concluding arguments will be presented this afternoon to Judge Dancer in district court on the Ninth street paving case, a test suit brought to determine the liability of the Duluth Street Railway company under its franchise for paving costs. Oscar Mitchell of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell of the counsel for the street railway began his argument this morning. It is expected that the case will be finally submitted this afternoon.

THE twenty-eighth day of March, the New York Symphony orchestra and Walter Damrosch are all here today. They've been planning to arrive simultaneously for some time, and anyone who happened to be near the union station around 2:05 today would have been perplexed to know just what foreign host was invading the city, until a few scores of instruments appeared on the scene and were hustled into the waiting vans.

Mr Damrosch played in Minneapolis last night.

A telephone message from Minneapolis is to the effect that they played to a capacity audience at the Auditorium and to a most enthusiastic audience. Duluth is expected to do its share as to size and enthusiasm, too.

In case any small rivers or mud may have escaped the searching eyes of those who have been clearing walks leading to the Armory, large carbic lights will be used on the corner of Thirteenth avenue and at the London road entrances.

The street car company has also worked out a most complete schedule for the convenience of its patrons.

Events of Interest.

Lakeside Club Will Entertain for Women

Members of the Lakeside Brotherhood club will entertain their wives at a dinner in the parlors of the Lakeside Presbyterian church next Friday evening.

This is an annual event of the club and one of the most popular entertainments of the year, as the members of the organization prepare the meal themselves. The dinner will be served by twenty young men living in Lakeside.

Throughout the year the ladies serve the dinners to the club members, preceding the business meetings of the latter, but this time the reverse will be the rule and the women will be the guests. In addition to the dinner there will be a program of addresses and musical numbers during the evening.

William A. Hicken, former commissioner of safety, is president of the club, and he will preside during the evening. The committee in charge consists of Frank Crassweller, chairman; Frank Russell, John Green, W. W. Wells, C. A. Pond and Ruben Johnson.

The men will serve the dinner at 6:30 o'clock, following which the program will be rendered.

Johnson-Carlson Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Mamie Victoria Johnson and Walter Carl Carlson will take place at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, 2705½ West Second street. Rev. Swaney Nelson of the First Swedish Baptist church will perform the ceremony. Miss Ida Carlson, sister of the bridegroom, and Arnold W. Johnson, brother of the bride, will be the attendants. The bridal music will be played by the bride's sister, Miss Mildred Johnson. Following the ceremony there will be a supper and reception for the immediate relatives and a few friends. Mr. Carlson and his bride will be at home in the West end after May 1.

Personal Mention

Among those returning tomorrow from St. Mary's hall, Faribault, for their Easter holidays, will be Miss Isabel Jacobi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jacobi, 1510 East Superior street; Miss Mary Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Weiss, 1615 East Superior street; Miss Mary Fitzsimmons, 1419 East First street, and Miss Helen Kirkwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Twentieth Century Club Members Elect New Head for Coming Year

Mrs. N. F. Hugo was elected president of the Twentieth Century club, to succeed Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst, who declined renomination, at the eighteenth annual meeting that was held yesterday afternoon in the library clubroom. The other officers are: Mrs. O. A. Oredson, re-elected first vice president; Mrs. John H. Norton, second vice president; Mrs. L. K. Daugherty, re-elected third vice president; Miss Olive Kreitter, recording secretary; Mrs. H. P. Bjorge, re-elected corresponding secretary; Mrs. John E. Samuelson, re-elected federation secretary; Mrs. T. A. Armstrong, re-elected treasurer; Mrs. M. F. Jamar, Sr., re-elected historian; Miss Mary B. Statham, founder of the club, honorary officer; Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst, Mrs. R. C. Dryer, Mrs. F. Mondshine, Mrs. H. L. Gage and Mrs. J. H. Crowley, honorary vice presidents; Mrs. M. Cook, Miss Grace Colby, Mrs. John Carson and Miss Tillie Thorn, members-at-large of membership committee.

Mrs. Hugo was president one year, preceding Mrs. Brocklehurst, who held the office two years. During the season just preceding her presidency Mrs. Hugo was first vice president, serving with Mrs. J. H. Crowley, who was president.

At the meeting yesterday annual reports were given by the officers and the chairmen of departments and standing committees. Mrs. H. P. Bjorge, the corresponding secretary, and Mrs. T. A. Armstrong, the treasurer, gave the reports of their work; Mrs. M. F. Jamar, Sr., historian, gave a comprehensive review of the activities of the club season; Mrs. R. C. Dryer reported for the membership committee; Mrs. L. K. Daugherty, the work of the Shakespeare class; Mrs. J. C. H. Engel, literature department; Mrs. J. H. Crowley, department of education and home; Mrs. R. A. Webster, philanthropy, and Mrs. J. W. Nagle, the art history class, in the place of Miss Gertrude Carey.

The retiring president gave an outline of the year's work and reported the following expenditures: $30 to equipment for Bryant school gymnasium; $10 to pay for shoes for children in open-air school; $10 to state fair committee for fund for payment of labor on model farm home; $14.01 for material for layette in booth at baby week exhibit (articles made by members); $22.68 for Red Cross supplies, bought supplies for forty-nine bags, which have been packed and given into the care of the secretary of the Commercial club for shipment to the American Red Cross society for distribution; making a total of $86.59 for philanthropies. It was voted to give the layette to the Bethel Rescue Home for Women.

Astronomer Delights Audience With Talk on "The Wonderful Heavens"

"He must make his classes intensely interesting," was the comment made by one who heard Prof. Forest Ray Moulton of the University of Chicago lecture on "The Wonderful Heavens" at the First Methodist church last night. This was the third number of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae course and was quite freely acclaimed the best of the series.

Prof. Moulton showed wonderful pictures of the moon, sun, stars and some of the most famous observatories of the world for two thoroughly enjoyable hours. He was introduced by Mad. J. H. Darling.

Realizing that time and distances relative to astronomy are beyond the grasp of the average person, the lecturer made his statements clear by comparisons. "It takes the light from these stars 300 years to travel to the earth," he said of one slide. "The light by which this picture was taken started on its way fifty years before photography was invented, about the time Capt. John Smith and Pocahontas were having their little flirtation."

Explains Telescope.

Prof. Moulton introduced his subject with slides of the great Yerkes and Lick observatories and by showing the construction of a high power telescope and explaining its manipulation. These were followed by views of the earth's near neighbor, the moon, shown as a whole and by sections; views of the sun and the titanic storms that race across its surface and, finally, the stars, members of that world of 1,500,000,000 bodies, compared to one of which this world is a dot.

Craters of the Moon.

Views of sections of the moon showed great craters, some 1,000 miles across, which were caused, as the lecturer explained, either by meteorites, which were hurled against it without resistance, as there is no atmosphere there, or by the bursting of gases imprisoned in the sphere.

Disturbances on the sun were among the most interesting phenomena that were explained. Views of upheavals on that body, taken ten minutes apart, showed the terrific force behind them almost beyond belief in so short a time. Material is thrown from the surface to a height of 80,000 miles in a mild disturbance and to a height of more than 100,000 in a great one. The lecturer reminded his audience again and again that he was speak of miles, not of feet.

He showed the nebulae of Orion, which is forming what he believes is a new world, or, more correctly, new worlds, so far away from the earth that the distance is measured by spheres instead of the small unit of miles.

Life on Mars.

After explaining that the moon is a dead body, incapable of supporting life because it has no water and because its lack of atmosphere causes it to have a temperature ranging from the boiling point to many degrees below zero, Prof. Moulton took up the question of Mars being inhabited.

Canals thousands of feet wide, straight and in many cases parallel, have led to the supposition that they are strips that are cultivated by irrigation. The most dependable astronomers dispute this, saying that water would be soaked up before it could travel such distances and that it would not be practical to cultivate the soil in straight lines, regardless of obstructions. Allowing for the supposition that Mars is inhabited, the lecturer said: "We have no reason to believe the creatures there resemble us even remotely. We are adapted to certain conditions on earth; as there are widely different conditions on the planet Mars, life there must be differently organized. Perhaps on the planet Mars they have passed through the stage of development we are in 100,000 years ago; perhaps they will come up to where we are now 100,000 years hence. This is mere speculation outside the realm of astronomy."

Part of Great Order.

In conclusion, Prof. Moulton said: "To me the inspiration of looking out at the wonderful heavens is the proof of the reign of law: a satisfying knowledge that there is no chaos, but a great force that holds all things in place, and we are a part of this great order."

Added to the lecturer's excellent collection of slides and his fund of information was his ability to get this information across in a clear voice and with a pleasant manner.

Cabaret Show Is the Feature of Ionic Lodge "Bohemian Night"

More than 200 members of Ionic lodge, No. 186, A. F. & A. M., and their women guests dined, danced and frolicked last evening at the "Bohemian night" show, staged a the "Cafe Ionique" in the banquet room of the Masonic temple.

It was Ionic's annual "ladies' night" and the cabaret form of entertainment was novel, original and scored a great success.

The banquet hall was decorated in appropriate style. Long streamers festooned the walls and ceilings everywhere. The lights were subdued—the effect being produced by enclosing the chandeliers in clothes baskets. Tables for four were scattered about the room.

The program was light and airy. Uniformed waiters, all selected from the lodge, served refreshments throughout the entire program. The menu cards were also cleverly arranged.

The Temple band played the opening selection, after which Don E. Cole, styled on the program as "The Human Lark," warbled two songs. This was followed by a terpischorean effort in which ten couples one-stepped and fox-trotted for prizes. It all ended in the presentation of a head of cabbage to the winner. The women dancers were presented with boxes of candy.

"Mutt and Jeff in Turkey" was the skit staged by Miss Myrtle Hobbs and Miss Alta Hallock. Certain members of the lodge were scored during this act. Then Miss Daisy Mackaskill executed a sword dance and later she appeared with Miss Ruth Loucks in a singing and dancing number entitled "Two Little Girls in Blue," which proved to be one of the hits of the evening. Miss Myrtle Hobbs also kept the audience laughing with a sketch which was staged under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance.

Dr. W. J. Works, worshipful master of Ionic lodge, was in general charge of the arrangements. George L. Hargraves was "head waiter" and William B. Arper and Charles B. Cannon stewards. The Temple band played a number of selections during the evening.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Church and the Hat

While church attendance on the part of the goodly proportion of women has been from time immemorial attributed to other than deep religious motives, women have stoutly maintained that it is things spiritual that draw them, and not matters material. Therefore if they go to hear the Word of God the wearing of hats and bonnets by those seated in front of them should have no disturbing effect upon them. And no more should the absence of a top-piece create dissension in the ranks of women churchgoers, unless it is that a portion attend primarily to look upon the millinery of their sisters.

You go to church to hear and be instructed. Yet they make churches artistically beautiful both outside and in. I can well imagine that really devout persons might be seriously annoyed if their view of the clergyman was obstructed while he was conducting the service. They obtain more spiritual benefit when they are seated where they can watch the expression of the clergyman's face and fairly see the words drop from his tongue.

The idea of women removing their hats in church is not one that I ever gave a moment's consideration. Undoubtedly because it is not customary, and, because, of course, I always go to church to use my ears and not my eyes. But I can conceive that a solid row of big hats might be aggravating to those who were forced to sit behind them. In theaters those in attendance found their view so obstructed that legislation finally become necessary to compel women to remove their hats.

It is far more difficult to see in a church where all the seats are upon the same level than in most theaters. In a church if a person desires to see a preacher and that part of the service that may be obscured, I do not think the privilege should be denied him, for undeniably many cannot pin their mind to what is said unless they can see what is being done at the same time.

In order to avoid the too festive and undignified appearance that some might see in a church full of women with heads bare, women could adopt a sort of headgear adapted for church wear. Few would object to a small or averaged sized hat from over which they could occasionally get a view of the pulpit. There is no use denying that women should be forced to be more considerate of those who sit behind them in church.

The Garden's Lessons

IN THE SPRING our fancy turns to thoughts of gardening, Lord Tennyson, if you please. One can think of love any time of the year, you know; but "when proud-pied April" puts youth's spirit in everything, one wants to get out on the mellow soil and have a hand and spade contest with the sparrows and cutworms.

When the garden fever attacks, be sure it will last well into June, until the skin feels a warm moisture and the sun's kisses leave golden scars called freckles. But before you melt, thaw and resolve into tiredness, it is wonderful what a great amount of digging, planting and hoeing you can do in the back lot. It would astonish Father Adam himself. Suppose you don't raise more than 10 cents' worth of lettuce, that is enough for the canary. The little German girls will come to the back doors soon with it at 5 cents a peck, and your loving relatives will forget to say, "I told you so!" they will be so busy enjoying it.

To work in a garden is a wonderful privilege. The warmth of the soft brown earth, lately so hard and frozen, the swelling and bursting of the seeds, the saucy green tips peeping out, make you "look through nature, up to nature's God." Sometimes the seedlings wear a cap of the very same seed you planted; it is empty and withered now, but it proves your work was good.

If you have room for only one garden, resolve to buy your vegetables this year and use your space for an old-fashioned flower bed. In the center have a mass of scarlet geraniums, and around them rows of red and of white phlox or of varicolored verbenas, with snowy white candytuft bordering it.

In a corner or against a wall have clumps of hollyhocks and of sunflowers. When the children play in the yard they can make doll dresses from the bell flowers of the one, and use the others for sunshades as they frolic in the fairyland youngsters enter when they have half a chance.

In the very center of the flower bed you may put a pole or post with a birdhouse on it. The inmates will not mind it being covered with a morning glory or cypress vine. Verbenas, phlox, candytuft, tiny French Marigolds and lady-slippers grow easily. There are various pinks that come quickly from seed and bloom constantly, and florists have new varieties of plants we are accustomed to think of as "hard to raise" that are so improved they blossom abundantly and grow swiftly.

If there is an unsightly fence on your place, a hop vine, a balsam, apple or gourd vine will transform it into a green spot swiftly. The tall nasturtiums and balloon vines are delicate and lovely; they grow well together and grow almost anywhere.

Sweet peas are fairy flowers; the oftener you pick them, the more there are to pick. They like wire netting better than strings to run on, and should be planted in rows, north and south, so the sun can shine on them all day long, from the east in the morning and the west in the afternoon.

Some More or Less Valuable Information About the Retail Markets.

Florida celery, 3 for 25 cents.
Peppers, 40 cents per dozen.
Grapefruit, $3.40 per box of 46.
Home-grown parsley, 5 cents per bunch.
New potatoes, 3 lbs. for 25 cents.
Cottage cheese, 18 cents per lb., package.
Fresh green onions, 2 bunches for 5 cents.
Small navel oranges, 15 cents per dozen.

It is seldom one is at one's best when feeling cheapest, but grapefruit is an exception to the general rule just now, and forty-six nice fat juicy ones may be lured from almost any of our leading or misleading grocers (no offense meant), for the paltry sum of $3.40.

Navel oranges are quoted at 15 cents per dozen, due, no doubt, to our foreign policy with Florida, or the war, or the tariff or some such foolish reason.

Fresh green onions are strong on the market—very.

New potatoes, which are guaranteed never to have been used before, have put in an appearance and while 3 lbs. for a quarter seems a bit high, you must realize that one person seldom eats more than three pounds and for a dinner of 18 or 20 people, it would only amount to $5 or $6. They're surely worth it.

Cottage cheese, raised in a real cottage not far from town, is put up in the cutest little waxed fiber boxes, which can be painted and used for flower pots, or painted and thrown away after the cheese is used up. A little booklet comes along with the cheese (and the box, too), telling you how you may know that it is cottage cheese and what to do with it in case you like it or don't like it.

According to the book of recipes it can be used for anything from salad to helping you do your spring housecleaning—especially good for renewing your youth or your faded carpets.

Only 18 cents and really most tempting.

News of the Hunters' Camp Spreads

FOR TWO days after the white mice found the hunters' camp they hid close by; and for two nights they had the grandest feast of their whole lives. Such corn meal! Such cheese! Such crackers and oatmeal they had never tasted! They ate and they ate, till they were so full and so sleepy that they could hardly swallow another morsel.

And still there was more food. For you see, the hunters had foolishly neglected to bring traps to catch the clever little mice. The mice of course slept all day, and the hunters, being very tired with their day's sport, slept all night. So quite naturally the mice were not caught.

"I can't eat any more," said father White-mouse, at the beginning of the first evening. "And just look at all this good food. It's a shame!"

"I can't eat, either," said Mother White-mouse, with a sorrowful shake of her head; no wonder she grieved—she could not help thinking of all the hungry days that might be coming when they would want food. It was a shame they could not eat every scrap—but evidently they could not.

"I can't eat any more either," said Milly, with a shake of her head. "But I'll tell you what we can do."

"What's that?" asked the mice, with all the eagerness mice could possibly feel when they had eaten about ten times as much as they should.

"Let's carry some away as the squirrels and beavers do," said Milly. "Then when we want some, we will know where to find it."

"That's a good idea," said Father White-mouse. "But I do hope we will not have to carry anything very far for I feel lazy."

"We won't," Milly assured him, "for I have noticed a hole in that tree over there. It will be no work at all to carry stuff that far."

So they set to work.

And while the hunters slept, the mice carried food, and carried food, to the tree nearby.

And while they were working Billy Raccoon happened along.

And while the hunters slept, the mice carried food.

"Hello there," he said gaily. "What's up?"

"Hush!" said Mother White-mouse in a whisper, "don't wake up the hunters! We're taking their food."

And before Billy Raccoon could answer, Bushy Beaver crept by.

"Hello, there," said he. "What's up?"

"Hush!" said Father White-mouse. "Don't wake up the hunters! We're taking their food to the tree nearby."

And before Bushy Beaver could answer, Wizzy Owl called out, "Who's there?" And that waked up the hunters and they ran out with their guns and chased everybody away.

Thieves and Thieves

"See that man? He is a thief," someone said to me the other day.

I saw a rather good-looking, decidedly well-dressed young man, talking to a group of men of his own type.

"He's not at all my conception of the part," I said. "Do you mean that man has actually been in prison?"

"Oh, no!" said my companion. "He hasn't been and isn't likely to be, more's the pity, but he is a thief just the same."

And then he went on to explain that the man and his wife are a pair of those social vampires who suck the financial life-blood of tradesmen and all others from whom they can get credit.

This man formerly lived in our town, but he has moved. He had to. He had exhausted his credit and could get no more. He left town owing the doctor $300, the provision man $400, and the grocer $1,000.

They Didn't Hesitate to Call the Doctor in the Night.

The doctor had carried his two children through several infantile illnesses. The social vampires were not sparing of their calls upon him (why should they be, when they did not intend it should cost them anything?) they had him come every day even for minor illnesses, they called him several times in the middle of the night. When the doctor presented his bill they paid no attention to it, and when, being in need of money, he came to the vampire's office and demanded that he pay something, the he-vampire lit a cigarette, laughed in the doctor's face and said: "Sue me if you want to; you won't get anything out of it, for I haven't anything."

The biggest bills I have mentioned first because they are the most striking, but I doubt if they meant any more tragedy to the creditors than a bill of $87 which the vampires owed the fruit peddler. Eighty-seven dollars isn't such a big sum, but as it happens, the loss of it means a small tragedy to him and his family.

They Have Moved On to Do It Again.

Now the vampires have gone to another city where their record is not known, to live on the tradesmen there until they have exhausted their credit and must move again.

The man who steals a few dollars goes to jail and is branded as a thief for the rest of his life.

And this man lives on the fat of the land, dwells in an attractive house and mingles with "good society."

Society Suffers, Let Society Punish Them.

I don't know enough about law to know whether there are laws that could be enforced against him, or whether a law could be formed that would punish him without punishing men who are unfortunate rather than blameworthy, but this I know. Society itself could punish him if it would. Social ostracism is the sort of thing these vampires would mind most. Why not get together and ostracize them?

Perhaps if people realized more clearly that it is they themselves who pay the dead beat's bills they might be less complaisant. To be sure the doctor or the tradesman is the primary sufferer, but he has to make up for his losses in higher charges. And the ultimate consumer pays—as usual.

For the man who is unwillingly pushed into debt by an unfairly small wage, by illness, by misfortunes of one sort or another, I have the deepest sympathy. But for the social vampire I have a hatred which it is hard indeed to confine to the sin instead of to the sinner.

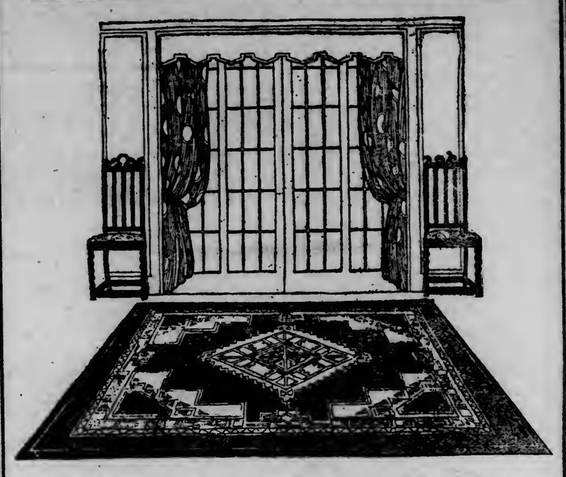
Spring Decoration



Suggestions From the Rug Dept.

The recent warm weather and other appearing signs of spring naturally turn the housewife's thoughts to home decoration. After our long winter a spring rejuvenation brightens up your home wonderfully. The rug should be the basis of the decorative scheme—from it the color of the walls, the hangings and furnishings are selected, thus you are assured of perfect harmony.

Our display of rugs is very complete and comprises all the weaves and textures known in modern rug weaving. The ever durable WILTON RUGS in soft Oriental colors and fine textures are as usual popular for the HALL, LIBRARY, LIVING ROOM and DINING ROOM.

If your home requires special treatment we advocate the justly famous CHENILLE RUGS, which may be had in any shade or design and your choice of different qualities.

The rugs for the SLEEPING ROOMS are stunning this year. They include imported Scotch Sundour Rugs, Body Brussels Rugs, Dedham Rugs and a variety of the always popular Rag Rugs in novel effects.

KLEAR FLAX RUGS, suitable for any room in the home.

Timely Hints on Spring Styles for Women Too Busy to "Shop"

On Fifth avenue the smartest women are wearing semi-tailored suits cut on rather fanciful lines in both the jacket and the full skirt. Of the two, the coat is usually the simpler, for the skirt is almost broken by a flounce, an overskirt, or a new arrangement of tucks or plaits or fly-away wing pockets. One sees less of the exaggerated short skirt and women are now following the French fashion of wearing skirts as short or as long as found becoming, though, of course, the full skirt should never be very long. Six or seven inches from the floor is a safe, conservative length that almost any woman can wear unless she is really stout.

The yoke craze has somewhat abated and on the spring skirts the yoke is either omitted or appears as a half yoke between box plaits or at each side of a group of plaits. The pocket, however, is still epidemic, especially on the simpler suits of the country club and hacking order. The wing pockets are extremely popular because they give the new hip-widened silhouette for a suit that is carried out by the farthingale in afternoon and evening dresses.

Happy Medium.

The new suit coats are of that happy character that is not too plain to be pretty and not too pretty to be practical. The newest jackets are short and the best houses recommend them strongly except for very tall or very stout women. For them the New York tailors keep the coat as short as the woman can wear it, but make it long enough to be becoming. All the new coats flare below the waist and many of them have belts, or half belts, or belts cut in one with part of the coat, adding a little interest to the design and at the same time emphasizing the normal waist line. The vest is very new.

The new coat collars are usually arranged so that they can be worn open when the sun shines and closed high at the throat when the thermometer relapses unexpectedly. The open neck is, of course, the most becoming.

The newest coat sleeve is full, and a coat scarcely looks new unless the sleeve is full. The bell shape flaring at the wrist, the new deep, flaring cuff, the sleeve plaited in above the wrist or drawn in to cuff are all newer and smarter than the plain sleeve, which however, is not without its lovable constituents.

The suits, at present are made almost altogether of serge, gabardine, wool poplin, checks and soft worsteds. One sees an occasional suit of wool Jersey, and the Ottoman weaves and whip-cords are quite smart. A little later the same type of suit that is being worn now will be made of satin, taffeta, faille, silk poplin, and the other colored silks. Silk jersey cloth is new, but gros de Londres, faille, etc., more body and flare to them.

Cape Is Popular.

The sphere of the cape is spreading every day. It is now even on separate blouses, looking like a very large and demure collar in Georgette crepe or chiffon. It is wonderfully becoming and preserves the balance between the upper part of the figure and the fulness that is used so generally in the new sleeves, the flaring peplums and the wide skirts. Big cape collars are being shown on the first lingerie dresses, jumpers are cut in one with a shoulder cape, the cape is slipped under the panels of the new princess frocks and is almost as important as the deep Spanish flounce on the new smocked dresses. Of course it is used on coats and jackets, but it seemed particularly suited to the silk frock for afternoon dances, teas, etc. In flowered silks trimmed with ribbon, in crisp white taffeta bordered with black velvet, in faille, gros de Londres and satin, it makes as quaint and en-

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

gaging a picture dress as one could possibly desire. When the cape is made of Georgette crepe, etc., it is usually finished with picot edging or cut hemstitching. The silk capes are sometimes trimmed with little box-plaited ruches or ruches made of frayed-edge silk.

DAVID WARFIELD AT THE LYCEUM

Welcomed in New Vehicle By Big and Enthusiastic Audience.

Assigning David Warfield to play Van Der Decken seems like wasting rare acting ability, and perhaps the most unusual gift for subtle characterization that the American stage boasts.

He proved that he could do it at the Lyceum last evening, before an audience that attained that often advertised but rarely realized proportions of "standing room only," but when he had finished the audience was merely convinced and not reduced to a mass of mere quivering emotion as a Warfield audience should be, and expects to be. It was moved, but not quiveringly, ecstatically lachrymose. There wasn't a red eye or a swollen nose when the lights went up, but it was enthusiastic on the whole, which is the tribute Mr. Warfield never fails to get.

But one suspects that if almost anybody but Mr. Warfield had been playing the part of Van Der Decken, that actor would have had the audience thoroughly, unequivocally and enthusiastically en rapport with the spirit of the hero expressed in his oft repeated words—"I want to go ho-ome."

"Van Der Decken" is based on the old legend of the Flying Dutchman which dates from the early part of the Sixteenth century. The idea is first found in the Odyssey of Homer, and received another expression in the story of the Wandering Jew. The legend has been used by many writers. "The Flying Dutchman" was the name of a vessel which sailed from Amsterdam. The captain's name was Van Der Decken. The vessel met many adverse gales, and the legend goes that Van Der Decken swore that he would be eternally damned if he did not continue to beat against the adverse winds until he rounded The Cape, if it took until "the crack of doom." The legend has it that the Creator took him at his word, and that the mariner is still sailing the seas, and that his appearance is always the sign of foul weather. For the purposes of the play, Mr. Belasco has the phantom mariner make port once every nine years, with one hope of redemption. If some woman will, of her free will, accompany him on one of his nine years' cruises, he will be granted the boon of death.

The scene of the play is laid in a little portfin Holland.

"Van Der Decken" is staged with all of Mr. Belasco's wonderful realism. When the hero protests to Heaven against further suffering, and extends his arms claiming he has been crucified, Mr. Belasco doesn't ask his audience to take it on faith. He proves it. He shows them the cross, even to two crosses, formed by the shadow of the hero's arms and body on the floor and the wall.

Again Mr. Belasco's "touch" is evidenced by the uncanny opening of the gate which always precedes the appearance of the Dutchman. He is a wraith, and none of Mr. Belasco's wraiths are ever forced to prosaically turn a doorknob or lift a gate latch. Their gates swing open before them at an unseen touch, if it is necessary to install an electric switchboard to accomplish the feat.

Peace and contentment constitute the picture striven for in the last act, in the cottage in Amsterdam. What animal is the epitome of contentment? Of course it is, and Mr. Belasco has one, a large one, with a curiously, fascinating prehensile caudal appendage that hypnotizes with its serpentine twistings. Words may be spoken while that cat is on the stage, but no actor has ever been able to "take a scene" away from a cat suddenly introduced in the picture. It can't be done.

And that motley crew of 2-century-old sailors! Surely an open-hearted, generous captain like Van Der Decken might have given them some new clothes from all the loot he acquired, but age was the alm in the Belasco touch and the picture of senility was meticulously perfect in detail.

Mr. Warfield plays Van Der Decken, the terror of the seas, the nightmare of sailors, as a world-weary, heartsick skipper, whose quiet, gentle manner is shaken at times by fits of horror as he recalls the tragedies he has caused and witnessed, and by fits of passion at the cruel fate which has engulfed him. The supernatural aspect of the story is left largely in the hands of Mr. Belasco, and right royally does he tackle the job.

Several possible interpretations of the part suggest themselves. It might be played with all the ghostliness accentuated, a gibbering, unearthly spirit. Again, Van Der Decken might be something of a Lucifer, who in his pride defied even the Creator. On the whole, however, Mr. Warfield's conception of the part seems the most plausible—that of the utterly tired little skipper.

This utter weariness is accentuated even at the cost of the love theme. The audience feels that Van Der Decken's chief desire is death and release, and that this desire overtops even his love for his former wife.

It is a most unusual piece of work.

The company is, of course, adequate. Miss Jane Cooper as Trintie Stants, makes a charming and natural young girl and later gives the right touch to the wife and mother.

Fritz Leiber gives a startling and unusual interpretation of the part of the boatswain and Frederick Graham and Harold Russell contribute some excellent character bits as the two sailors.

"Van Der Decken" will be repeated tonight at the Lyceum. Any admirer of Warfield, and that classification includes virtually every theater-goer, will be interested and entertained by "Van Der Decken," even if the play fails to arouse the emotion of "The Music Master."—J. E. R.

MUSIC FEATURES GRAND BILL.

One of Most Entertaining Shows of Season Begins Engagement.

While music is the leading feature of the new show at the Grand, which began an engagement at that popular playhouse yesterday, there are other qualities that help to round out one of the most interesting bills of the season. The vaudeville acts are exceptionally strong, and the large crowds present yesterday gave the players a hearty welcome.

The Symphonic Sextet, with five skilled instrumentalists and a gifted soprano soloist, is one of the best musical acts seen at the Grand this year. They play a great variety of instruments in concert, including different winds and xylophones, and the harp soloist played herself into favor from the beginning. The soprano soloist has a well trained voice of great range and fits into the group perfectly.

Ben Smith made good the announcement that he was "different" from the average blackface comedian. One wonders why he appears "blackface" at all, as his good tenor voice and pleasing personality are sufficient to make his act a big hit without the aid of his comedy.

Miss Adelaide Boothby and Charles Everdeen, two jolly and musical joy dispensers, have an act of real class. Mr. Everdeen confines himself to playing accompaniments for his charming partner, who has good looks, a good voice, style and marked dramatic talent. One of her best stunts is the impersonation of a shop girl at a picture show while Mr. Everdeen plays. She also imitates a parrot singing a popular song.

Weston's Models, three in number, consisting of two "modern Venuses" and an "Apollo," represent great art groups in several poses. The act is well staged and is enhanced with beautiful scenery.

"The Master Smiles," a strong dramatic film in three parts, and Sis Hopkins in a rollicking comedy photoplay, entitled "A Flock of Skeletons," are among the leading photoplays.

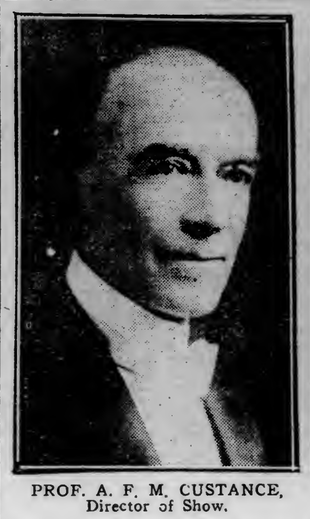
ARAB PATROL WILL STAGE VAUDEVILLE SHOW AT ORPHEUM



PROF. A. F. M. CUSTANCE, Director of Show.

ALBERT H. PAUL, Captain of Patrol.

Arab patrol of Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will stage a vaudeville show at the Orpheum-Strand theater Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6, featuring the Shrine girls as the headliners of the entertainmehnt. The proceeds of the show will go to pay the expenses of the patrol to the imperial council meeting at Buffalo next July.

Announcement of the plans was made this morning by Charles C. Jones, second lieutenant of the patrol, who is chairman of the executive committee of the show. Prof. A. F. M. Custance, musical director for the Shriners, will be in charge of the entire production of nine acts, according to Lieut. Jones.

This will be the first public appearance of the Shrine girls, who have entertained semi-annually at the ceremonials of Aad temple for several years and who were last year officially designated as the "Imperial Shrine Girls of North America" by Dr. Frederick B. Smith, past imperial potentate of shrinedom. There are fifty girls in the organization and their act will close the show. In addition, a crack squad has been organized by Capt. A. H. Paul, head of the patrol, from among its membership and a silent fifteen-minute double-time drill will be staged as one of the chief attractions of the show. The other seven acts will be announced later, the attractions including the best amateur talent in Duluth, Superior, the Twin Cities and Chicago.

Rehearsals for the Shrine girls will begin next week, Prof. Custance announced today. The patrol will hold its first practice at the Masonic temple tomorrow evening.

The executive committee consists of Lieut. Jones, chairman; Carl E. Lonegren, A. B. Kapplin, Harvey C. Buchanan, E. J. Carland and J. T. Lundquist.

The personnel of the crack patrol squad includes the following: A. H. Paul, captain; Wallace Welbanks, first lieutenant; Charles C. Jones, second lieutenant; Claude F. Haney, sergeant; James O. Wanzer, Fred L. Koehler, Theodore C. Larson, R. M. Funck, E. J. Carland, Frank H. Farrell, C. E. Lonegren, J. A. MacInnis, Ray M. Williams, W. E. Mentzer, A. B. Kapplin, Ralph W. Pond, George T. What is it a tootsietherm?

Don't ask a dentist, or a musician, or a chemist, for it is none of those things.

Ask a policeman—a traffic policeman—and he will enlighten you, provided he is a real up-to-date honest-to-goodness traffic "cop."

For a tootsietherm is a 1917 device for keeping traffic "cops" from getting cold feet while they are on duty. It is a metal plate 18½ inches square and one and one-half inches thick, that works on the same plan as an electric flatiron, only not so much so.

A flexible armored cable connects the tootsietherm with the electric light pole near the traffic corner, and when the "cop" gets cold feet, literally or physically, all he has to do is to plug in the switch and start the electric current through the metal plate on which he stands.

The tootsietherm can be worked at four different speeds, depending upon the severity of the weather, only it never gets hot enough to burn the policeman's shoes.

Several cities in the northern part of the United States have provided their traffic cops with tootsietherms, and Duluth officials, not to be outdone, are considering the purchase of one for the Third avenue west and Superior street corner, which is the coldest corner in captivity, according to Traffic Officer George Wood.

"THRILLER" AT ORPHEUM

Henry Walthall Will Appear Beginning Thursday in "Birth of a Man."

For four days beginning Thursday, Henry B. Walthall, who gained wide favor as the star in "The Birth of a Nation," will be featured in "The Birth of a Man," a strong photoplay drama that will be presented at the Orpheum-Strand. Mr. Walthall is said to appear at his best in this film, which speaks much for its dramatic strength and artistic finish.

The story deals with a young and idle millionaire, who receives a cablegram advising him to leave for Paris at once in order to seize the opportunity of purchasing a greatly coveted rare canvas.

Before he leaves he calls to see the girl he loves, but his appeal for an immediate marriage is rejected, because the girl realizes that money is the only god he worships. By a matter of seconds he misses his train. A taxi-driver in league with a gang of crooks offers to take him to the next station, and instead drives him to a tramps' retreat, where he is held up, knocked insensible, his clothes taken from him and a tramp's dirty suit substituted. A lighted cigarette carelessly thrown away sets the place on fire. A fight to get out of the blazing shack follows, in which scene Walthall's acting is tremendous.

Disfigured and exhausted by the fire and his fight with the thieves, his hair turned gray from the shock, he finally escapes and wanders for three days in the bleak hills. He manages to get back to his home town, but transfigured, no one recognizes him.

The final scenes are replete with interest, leading through climax after climax, dramatically showing a series of powerful incidents.

Theater Gossip.

Triangle Fine Arts plays were so named because of the three great producers who form the company — Griffith, Ince and Sennet. They choose their actors not in a haphazard way, but with the careful aim to get men and women of talent, like Bessie Barriscale, who comes today to the Rex in "Bullets and Brown Eyes."

BESSIE BARRISCALE AT THE LYRIC.

Bessie Barriscale may be seen this time for three days only, because of the change of program thrice a week at the Rex. She has a personality all her own, and is both lovable and beloved by picture fans. This picture is a story of a mythical country and Miss Barriscale in the play is Countess Olga.

Like all stars who assume vampire parts, Theda Bara, appearing today and tonight at the Lyric in "Gold and the Woman," has some strong adverse comment made about her. She is extremely realistic, and realism in sex plays, however freed from objectionable features, calls forth some denunciation. And criticize as some may—Theda Bara draws her big crowds daily.

THEDA BARA DRAWS CROWDS TO THE LYRIC.

Marie Doro, who recently married Elliott Dexter, is a Jesse L. Lasky star, appearing in Paramount programs, and comes to the Lyric tomorrow in "Diplomacy."

Marie Doro has her own particular following. In "Diplomacy" she is given the part of an accused woman in the theft of certain war plans, and her own husband believes in her guilt. The story is built up carefully, with an aim at correctness and faithfulness to facts as they could be, and is quite attractive, and more so because of Marie Doro's particular power.

Lyric patrons have come to look upon Wednesday and Thursday dates with particular interest each week on account of the Burton Holmes Travel Pictures on those days.

Mme. Petrova, the gifted emotional actress, who is appearing in a sensational five-part Metro wonder play, "The Soul Market," will close her engagement at the Zelda theater with tonight's performance. This film is one of the most striking ever shown at this popular playhouse.

MME. PETROVA IN STRIKING FILM AT THE ZELDA.

The story depicts life behind the scenes of a Broadway theater, and along "The Great White Way." It tells of how a prima donna becomes tired of the gay life that surrounds her and comes to regard Broadway and its environments as a veritable "soul market." In the role of Elaine Elton, Mme. Petrova is allowed unlimited opportunity to display her emotional and dramatic gifts. Wilmuth Merkyl and Arthur Hoopes, who was formerly leading man for Theda Bara, are also featured in this production.

Coming tomorrow for three days, Virginia Pearson and Joseph Kilgour will be featured in a Big Four masterpiece, "The Writing on the Wall." This is a sermon-drama, showing the horrors of criminal neglect in the matter of adequate fire protection. It is a fervid plea for "fire preparedness." This plays was a big success on Broadway with Olga Nethersole in the leading role. The picture production is said to be even a greater sensation.

ELECTRICAL LINE SHOWS PROSPERITY

Manufacturing Companies Are Glutted With Orders; Away Behind.

General prosperity over the country is regarded as being reflected in the large volume of business being placed with companies manufacturing electrical supplies and equipment.

Despite four months of a deluge of orders, the American General Electric company is reported to be booking new business at the rate of $3,000,000 weekly. This was a volume that the most sanguine among its directors had not hoped for.

Should business continue on the present basis, it is conceded that General Electric will wind up the year 1916 with the greatest volume of unfilled orders in its history. At the most, the company's capacity is estimated at not more than $10,000,000 monthly, so that with $20,000,000 unfilled contracts carried over from 1915, it is computed that it will have at least $25,000,000 unfilled orders standing on its books at the close of the present year.

General Electric's previous best year was 1913, when it filled orders amounting to approximately $166,500,000, while its bookings were nearly $5,500,000 higher than that.

It is estimated that the company should earn 17 per cent this year on its $101,000,000 common stock outstanding without allowing for profits on its war orders, which will amount up into a large aggregate.

The Westinghouse Electric company is also said to be glutted with orders, and it is showing huge profits on account of its enormous war contracts.

RELIEF FAIR NETS BIG SUM

About $5,000 Will Be Available for Red Cross Fund.

Teutons Close Five-Day Bazar and Award Prizes.

About $5,000 will go to the Red Cross and war relief fund from the Red Cross fair and bazar given during the last five days at the Auditorium under the auspices of the German-Austro-Hungarian Relief association. Manager Binheim of the bazar announced today the net receipts amounted to just about $5,000, which was greatly in excess of the profits expected.

"About two months ago," said Manager Binheim this morning, "I told the women that they should make $2,500. Later on, when I saw how hard they worked, I told them they would make more than $3,000. Now we have cleared in the neighborhood of $5,000 and everybody is more than pleased. I wish to thank all the women on the committees, all other co-workers and the public in general for the splendid and liberal support. All workers did splendid work and were so pleased last night that they wanted me to continue the fair for another two days. I refused to do this, thinking it inexpedient."

Manager Binheim states that all the prizes that have not been called for within sixty days will go to the second choice. Holders of prizes must present tickets when they call for awards. Prizes should be called for today and tomorrow at the Duluth Auditorium. After that they may be called for at the offices of the relief association, 200 American Exchange Bank building.

The bazar came to a close last night with a concert musical program, dancing and prize contests. Among the soloists who rendered numbers were Mrs. E. P. Kreimer, Mr. Kreimer and George Thom, who sang and played. Among other attractions was the high school quartet. The Stone-Ordean-Wells company furnished and prepared the Empress coffee during the five days of the bazar.

All articles were sold last night and the general auction took place during the late hours of the evening. President M. Binheim closed the fair at midnight.

The final success of the event has been great, and the financial committee will make a report to the general committee which will meet in the near future.

The following prizes were awarded last night:

Chiffonier, first choice, F. A. Richardson.

Rug, first choice, John Oreck, 510 Lake avenue north; second choice, Miss Dorothy Tessman, 2718 West Fourth street.

Cap, first choice, Miss E. Dieter, 410 East Michigan street; second choice, Mrs. Ledeele, 725½ Minnesota Point.

Hall clock and tree, first choice, Ethel Krantz, 1615 East Sixth street; second choice, Mueller, 114 Fourth avenue east.

Basket, given by Mrs. L. A. Perl, first choice, Carl Wirt, Superior, Wis.; second choice, Miss A. Meining.

Doll, donated by Mrs. L. A. Perl, first choice, Alfred B. Muhlethaler, 1820 East Fifth street; second choice, Hilda Schlamm, 1625 East Fourth street.

Silk waist, first and second choices. The five-passenger touring car was awarded to F. S. Dalowitz, Proctor, Minn.

Other prizes awarded were:

Flower chair, first choice, J. R. Young; second choice, Paul Khann.

Fruit chair, first choice, Peter Makonich, 332 Fifty-seventh avenue west; second choice, Esterbelle Frerker.

Center piece, first choice, Mrs. L. Frerker, 126 Tenth avenue east; second choice, Willmar Fritzbec.

Hardanger piece, first choice, M. J. Attcelle, New Duluth; second choice, Witke Bellic, 120 East Tenth street.

Buffet scarf, first choice, Auguste Egner; second choice, Mrs. J. Gonska.

Tea set, first choice, Mrs. Reichert, 2315 East Fourth street; second choice, Miss E. Wieland, 1127 East Third street.

This tea set was donated by the Austro-Hungarian consul of St. Paul.

La Crosse Complaint Dismissed.

Washington, March 28.—Complaint that interstate class freight rates from La Crosse, Wis., to points in the southern half of Minnesota were unjust and discriminatory, was dismissed today by the interstate commerce commission.

A Never Failing Way to Banish Ugly Hairs

(Aids to Beauty)

No woman is immune to superfluous growths, and because these are likely to appear at any time, it is advisable to always have some delatone powder handy to use when the occasion arises. A paste is made with some of the powder and water and spread upon the hairy surface; in about 2 minutes this is carefully removed and the skin washed. You will then find that your skin is entirely free from hair or fuzz. Be sure, however, to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

WOLF BOUNTY CLAIMS AMOUNT TO $75,000

Next Legislature Will Be Confronted With Large Deficit.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the next legislature meets the members will be confronted with claims totaling nearly $75,000 for unpaid wolf bounties now being prepared by the various counties of the state. There is already on file in the office of the state auditor claims amounting to more than $35,000. Bounties of $7.50 are paid for grown wolves and $3 for cubs.

The last legislature appropriated only $10,000 for 1915 and this amount was in a short time exhausted. When the money became available claims totaling over $21,000 had piled up, but Attorney General Smith, in a ruling, held that the money could not be used to clean up a deficiency. Since then no money has been paid out.

In St. Louis county alone it is said that claims amounting to $10,000 are on file. These are being held pending the meeting of the legislature and the appropriation of sufficient money to meet the demand.

Two-and-Half-Cent Rate Ordered.

Nashville, Tenn., March 28.—The Tennessee railroad commission has ordered the Illinois Central railroad to put in a two-and-a-half-cent passenger rate on intrastate business within thirty days.

For Freckled, Rough or Spotty Complexions

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.—Advertisement.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Peg Woffington died, 1760.

This celebrated Irish actress was born about 1714 in Dublin, where as a child she sold salad on College Green. At 10, she appeared in a "Lilliputian" production of "The Beggar's Opera," the first comic opera. She was an instant success in London, where she went at 26, and played many parts at Drury Lane and Covent Garden theaters. Though frail as well as fair, she ended in respectable retirement and left much of her property to charity.

STRANGE!

On its face, the sinking of the Sussex is a peculiarly atrocious and inexcusable affair. The Sussex was a peaceable passenger vessel. It was unarmed. It was sunk without warning. That the loss of life was not greater is no fault of the submarine—if a submarine sank the vessel.

But Germany hastens to say that if it develops that a German submarine did this hellish work, it will disavow the act, make reparation and punish the commander. Moreover, with this promise comes word that the retirement of von Tirpitz, the gracefulest thing Germany has yet done, and a thing done in opposition to a very strong public sentiment at home, was done on the advice of von Bernstorff, the German ambassador—who has, by the way, done more than any other man except President Wilson to preserve peace between the two countries.

This is obviously a set effort to promote good feeling, to win American tolerance.

Germany evidently is not impressed with the abject weakness of the United States.

Germany should read what Col. Roosevelt, the Chicago Tribune and their lesser echoes are saying of the craven feebleness of the United States and of its president and its armament.

Or maybe it has read and, like other sensible beings, gives this talk its proper weight—which isn't very much.

Don't grieve too severely over the going of the snow. Its disappearance will reveal a lot of things that you'd forgotten ever existed.

NO CENSORSHIPS.

Commissioner Silberstein has declared his opposition to the proposal to have a local board of censorship to pass on film and stage amusement and say what we shall see and what we shall not see.

Commissioner Silberstein's position is correct. While in its marvelously boisterous youth the motion picture industry has been guilty of some excesses, these will be trimmed off—are being trimmed off from time to time. When enthusiasm over movies declines—as it inevitably must decline from the point where it has pretty nearly driven the legitimate drama out of business—these excesses will disappear.

In the meantime, there are laws against indecency which are ample to cover anything that ought to be covered in the amusement field. If these laws are not strong enough, it is easy enough to make them strong. As the Saturday Evening Post says, such laws provide all the censorship there should be in a democracy.

It is true that, misused, the motion picture can become a vicious and corrupting influence. Should we, therefore, set up a board of censorship, empowered by law to screen all films through its very human meshes before they reach the public?

Books, too, can be vicious and corrupting influences—and are. Shall we have a censorship for books?

Magazines, newspapers, pictures—all, misused, can become vicious and corrupting influences. Shall we have censorships for them, too?

If for one, why not for all? Laws against indecency have been considered well enough for plays, books, magazines, newspapers, pictures. They are well enough for movies, too.

Censorships almost invariably are stupid. Britain's dramatic censorship is a world's joke. Europe's military censorship has proved incredibly stupid.

Anyway, this thing of making the public a limp and impotent thing by surrounding it with absurd "protections" of sumptuary laws instead of educating it to tell the false from the true and cultivating good taste is all wrong. Much "movie" stuff is in hopelessly bad taste, grossly inferior, claptrap of the worst kind. So it will be till taste improves, as it will, and demands better. It is in that way that improvements will come, not through censorships.

The city government should not consider creating a censorship in Duluth. It should refrain not in the interests of the movies, but in the interests of the public, of democracy.

Congress, too, which is asked to create a national censorship of movies, should also refrain. Well enforced laws against the indecent and an improvement by education of popular taste, are censorship enough for this country. Moreover, utterly no reason is advanced for movie censorships that does not apply with equal force to the stage, to books, to magazines, to newspapers. The censorship habit once established, a censorship that would rule out Charley Chaplin—which could be forgiven—might rule out the Cosmopolitan magazine, Carmen, Tess of the d'Urbervilles and Billy Sunday.

Englishmen seem to have entered upon a spirited competition over whose turn it isn't to enlist next.

ROOSEVELT, HUGHES, OR —— ?

If the Republican party were true to its traditions and had the courage of its convictions, it would nominate Elihu Root, its ablest member by far and the man above all men who typifies its traditional policies—especially its policies of the last forty years.

But probably the Republican party will not nominate Root. It is afraid it can't elect him, and it wants to win—it wants so much to win that the only question it asks as to any candidate is not what he stands for but whether he is the "strongest" candidate. Probably if the Republicans can't win with Root they cannot win with anybody; but as yet they do not appear to see that.

So Republican sentiment seems to oscillate between Hughes on the supreme bench and Roosevelt ever at hand to save his country. First Hughes is up, then Roosevelt; then Roosevelt retires for a West Indian vacation, and Hughes comes to the top again; next Roosevelt returns, and indignantly crowds Hughes back into second place.

It is a curious situation. Men who are at heart for Roosevelt have talked Hughes as a possibility, thinking him unavailable. Men at heart bitterly against Roosevelt have talked Hughes, thinking he can be used to beat Roosevelt; though in reality they are as greatly horrified by the Hughes possibility as by the Roosevelt menace.

There is an odd disappearance, though, of the Old Guard opposition to Roosevelt. There was the Gary dinner, where Roosevelt was paraded before owners of billions, apparently to see whether they couldn't get together. There is a complete vanishing from his talk of the "social justice" of 1912, which so alarmed the beneficiaries and satellites of Privilege. That vanishing is reassuring, and sounds as though Roosevelt were promising to "be good." Yet, down in their hearts, they must have fears; a man who would achieve "recall of judicial decisions" may temporarily have his thought distracted by the glitters of militarism, but when that craze is over, may he not return to ideas still more alarming?

Still, stories like this come: A man in his travels met a friend who is district chieftain for a great corporation. "I have had the toughest dose offered me in many a day," moans the chieftain. "Orders have come from headquarters to be for Teddy! What do you know about that?" So the chieftain is now for Roosevelt.

The apparent Hughes strength is artificially multiplied by those who talk him with Roosevelt in mind, and by those who talk him with beating Roosevelt in mind. There are other artificial aids to the Hughes strength.

Nobody knows where he stands, and that's an asset. During the five years he has been shelved and silent on the supreme bench, new issues have crowded to the front. Nobody knows what he thinks about any of them. This helps keep his name to the fore. Those who are opposed to much preparedness hear that Roosevelt is for a prodigious amount of it, so they say "Let's try Hughes"—though for all they know Hughes may want more of it than Roosevelt. The preparedness advocates, not knowing where he stands, seem willing to take a chance with him—though for all they know he may be more pacifist than Bryan. His opinions hidden, he catches them coming and going; where if he were out in the open with his opinions known he would catch only those of the same opinions.

Roosevelt is a candidate. Is Hughes? He says not, but he does not say the word necessary to keep him from being a candidate. In his present position he is getting the advantage of his silence, for disclosure of his opinions would surely lose him votes. Not seeking the presidency, yet knowing that many consider him most available, he remains in a position to catch the ball if it finally goes his way. All this is much to the distaste of the crew of favorite sons, who have to come out in the open.

However, he has to reckon—if at heart he likes this presidential talk—with Roosevelt, a consummate politician and not a delicate one, full of shrewd political craftsmanship and entering a field so distracted that it lends itself readily to such manipulation as he—through his friends—is capable of. It is a pretty situation, big with possibilities, and not to become lacking in interest till the convention is ended.

Maybe the next political job Yuan Shi Kai tackles will be that of ex-president.

Indiana of course is not necessarily unneutral just because it contains a place named "French Lick."

One stipulation that might be made is this: In case of acquisition by this country of any part of Mexico, all oil, mineral and other natural resources shall become the exclusive property of the government, without power of alienation except by the unanimous vote of congress.

Judging An Administration

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

Senator Lodge took a firm grip on himself Thursday night, and delivered himself of the following judicial pronouncement: "In my own opinion, with the exception of the administration of Buchanan, there has been no administration in power which has been so injurious to the United States, both at home and abroad, as that now in control at Washington." He also announced himself as a candidate for re-election. The wonderful restraint which an admitted partisan thus put upon himself is evident when we think of the lengths to which an unbridled Republican campaign orator, not a scholar in politics, would have gone. Doubtless there are Progressives of prominence who would be as sweeping. On the other side, we may expect to hear the highest laudation of the president in increasing measure as the 7th of November draws nigh. Members of congress who in the cloakrooms have expressed themselves in terms not loud but deep will be acclaiming their leader as worthy to sit beside Washington and Lincoln, and painting terrible pictures of what will happen if the whole ticket, including themselves, is not indorsed at the polls.

The country knows how to discount these pleas. If its native sense had not been sufficient to place it upon its guard, long experience with perspiring patriots shouting themselves hoarse in behalf of this party or that would have quickened its suspicions. Yet we have made some progress here. It is seldom that one has to listen to the diatribes that were the common stock of campaigners a decade or two ago. For one thing, there are so many independent voters nowadays that it is not safe to be as ferocious as you can against the enemy. Your hearers may be in sympathy with your cause, but four years ago they may have been on the other side. This growing independence in the rank and file is reflected in a growing tolerance in the leaders. A Taft or a Hughes, a Wilson, an Underwood, would be ridiculously out of character in attempting the part that fitted a Conkling and that survives picturesquely in Uncle Joe. It is becoming the fashion to concede something to your opponent, if only to prove your fairness and show how sure you are of victory.

In this group of the unpartisan-minded belongs Moorfield Storey, whose article, "President Wilson's Administration," in the April Yale Review, is an indication that Massachusetts is not represented in all respects by her senior senator. Mr. Storey's memory is better than Elihu Root's. He can go back as far as 1912, when the president was elected. What was he elected to do? asks Mr. Storey. Well, in particular, as his inaugural address recognized, he was elected to oversee a revision of the tariff, and a reform of our banking and currency system. "Here was in substance the program of his administration; and, thanks largely to his direct personal influence, it has been carried out faithfully." Mr. Storey would not do for a Republican speaker at all, we fear, for he can write: "According to the standards of previous congresses, enough had been done for one session when the tariff bill had become a law, but the president was not satisfied. Against much grumbling, he held congress in session" and forced it to pass the measure which constitutes its and its party's chief claim to the confidence of the country. As for the trusts, "the Clayton act has gone apparently to the limit of regulation against unfair competition and like abuses," and "the drastic provisions of the trade commission * * * certainly do all that is possible to punish unfair competition," even if "in the judgment of conservative men" they "clothe an extra-judicial body with dangerous power over all engaged in business."

But the president's Boston judge is not all praise. In both the foreign and the domestic policy of the administration, he finds matter for disapproval. Highly commending the president's abandonment of "dollar diplomacy" and characterizing his analysis of the canal tolls affair as "an admirable statement of what should always be the policy of the United States," Mr. Storey is unable to agree with the demand that Huerta should bind himself not to be a candidate for president of Mexico or with the Vera Cruz expedition. He is much more severe upon the president's attitude towards equal rights for the negro, the merit system, the ship purchase bills and preparedness. Upon the last question he has a clear-headed paragraph:

> Let us, on the one hand, remember that a strait only twenty-two miles wide has protected England from invasion for nearly a thousand years, and that the mightiest fleet that ever floated does not dare to venture into the waters about Helgoland, or to force the Dardanelles, because of mines and submarines. Let us ask how many men England has been able to ferry across the channel in a day where both ends of the ferry are in friendly hands, and then inquire how many ships it will take to carry an army with all its equipment 3,000 miles, and what nation will dare to expose a force large enough to threaten our safety to the risks of such an ocean voyage, the attacks of fleets above and below the surface or floating in air, and the perils of landing under hostile fire.

Neither in approval nor in disapproval does Mr. Storey lose his balance. Whether one accept his conclusions or not, there is no question of the calmness of the temper in which he reaches them. In this respect, the country can do no better than to follow his example during the coming months of partisan activity.

Wrong Diagnosis.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Get my kit quick," boomed the doctor. "Some fellow telephones in a dying voice that he can't live without me."

"Just a moment," interposed his wife. "That call is for daughter, dear."

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Putting It Off.

Procrastination is the thief of time, remarked the ancient seer; it is the nursery of grief, the origin of sigh and tear. My impulse is to wait a while, before I do the useful chore; and that is why I have no pile, when others have their stacks of ore. When comes the bitter winter dawn, with blizzards shrieking as they pass, my aunt remarks, "Go, mow the lawn, and plant all kinds of garden sass." I say, "I'd rather wait till spring before I do such jobs as those; I'll sit before the fire and sing, and thaw the chilblains from my toes." And when the summer breezes blow, my aunt remarks, "Go, get a spade, and from the walks remove the snow, instead of sitting in the shade." But I reply, "When winter comes I'll shovel snow to beat the band; I'm busy eating pears and plums, and there's no shovel close at hand." Thus all my labors I postpone; I always have some thin excuse; while others chase the shining bone, I sit here saying, "What's the use?"

What of Hughes?

By Savoyard.

Washington, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Possibly it is in Don Quixote that it is written: "Say not to the fountain, 'I will never again drink of thy waters.'" Col. Roosevelt delivered himself of that defiance which he addressed to a certain G. O. P. in 1912, and now he regrets his haste. Exceeding thirsty, he would again drink of and lave in the fountain that he found so refreshing and exhilarating in 1904, and so nauseating and so foul in 1912. He draws nigh and courts reconciliation. He lays down but one condition, heroics, and proclaims himself a hero. Mr. Gussie Gardner is the Meg Merrilies of the play and quotes: "The hour is come, and the man."

To all seeming there is just one figure who stands between the colonel and the fountain—Charles E. Hughes—though Sam McCall is a dangerous quantity, and the fountain may fill his cup. Mr. Justice Hughes has not said the final word or refusal, but if he should ultimately consent it would inevitably recall a certain Spanish lady, Donna Julia, of whom we read in Byron. He could settle the matter by a single sentence writ to the present governor of New York, who thinks there is safety in Hughes—for Whitman.

There is much speculation as to Hughes. It is generally conceded that he can have the nomination if he will take it. It is the consensus that he is the strongest man who could be named. It is proclaimed from the housetops that no man has ever declined the presidency. But then a nomination is not always an election, and it is almighty doubtful if even Hughes can beat Wilson. Indeed, the preponderance of opinion among the sanest observers is that Wilson will be triumphantly re-elected even if Hughes should be his competitor.

At present Hughes' strength, most of it, is due to the ignorance of the public as to his impressions of things political. In some quarters it is surmised that he indorses the course pursued by President Wilson in the White House. If that be true, his nomination is out of the question. Some of his boomers have dug up an old tariff speech he made years ago in which he advocated protection; but we are going to hear precious little about the tariff in the campaign this year. The country is enormously prosperous, and that being so, this is no time to make a tariff that would necessitate a vacation for business for an indefinite period—many months, at least.

But how does Hughes stand on foreign questions. Is he for war? If the Republican party is going to challenge Germany, Teddy is the man they want, and it would be an outrage to pass him by. Is Hughes for strict neutrality? So is Wilson, who stands midway between Roosevelt and Bryan. Is Hughes a pro-German? Cummins, Sherman, Borah and La Follette have all forestalled him there. This, however, is left him—tote water on both shoulders, pro-German in the Middle West and pro-ally in New York and New England. That is what a big slice of his party is for.

If Hughes should accept the Republican nomination and be defeated he would be a deplorably discredited man, and if he should be elected he will have visited upon the supreme court an irreparable injury. Once take a president from that tribunal, and scores of ambitious politicians will accept that court as a place of call on the voyage to the White House. That is inevitable. That is a fact patent to every mind entitled to the slightest degree of respect. No man should resign the supreme bench except to enter private station, as did Benjamin R. Curtis. Even the case of David Davis is pathetic and a warning. He had the presidential bee in his bonnet, was nominated for that great place by the Labor party, and was prominent in the balloting of the Liberal Republican convention that named Horace Greeley against Grant in 1872. Had Davis been the choice of that convention he would have made the race, and not unlikely he would have been elected, for Greeley lost out because hundreds of thousands of Democrats would not vote for him. They would have voted for Davis. Subsequently Davis resigned from the bench to be senator in congress, where he was a failure; but his resignation cost Samuel J. Tilden the presidency, to which the people had elected him.

But if not Hughes, whom are the Republican irreconcilable standpatters going to take up to beat Teddy with? Weeks? As well nominate a national bank. Root? Too old in the first place, and his famous "key note" speech is as warlike as Teddy himself. Knox? He's only proxy for Penrose. Burton? Able and respectable, but far from available. Fairbanks? Ye gods! Cummins? A voice from New England says he, Borah, Sherman and La Follette all took themselves out of the race when they manifested their pro-German sentiments.

All these are lively and frisky "favorite sons," and some of them, perhaps, think they are real candidates for president of the United States.

* * *

There is Samuel W. McCall, the governor of Massachusetts. He is presidential timber. A man of powerful intellect, superior culture, and lofty character, he would adorn the office and make a president of whom no American would be ashamed. His politics are abominable. Is he not a Republican? But his views are broad, and he has that rare quality in an American statesman—he can think. Like James G. Blaine, he is a native of Pennsylvania located in New England, and like Woodrow Wilson and James G. Blaine, he is Scotch-Irish to the marrow of his bones and it is pretty nearly the clotted cream of American citizenship—your Scotch-Irish.

So if Hughes eliminates himself look out for the contest in the "regular" convention at Chicago to narrow down between Teddy the Testy and Samuel the Sedate.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, out of weakness were made strong.—Heb. xi, 33-34.

As to what may befall us outwardly, in this confused state of things, shall we not trust our tender Father, and rest satisfied in His will? Shall anything hurt us? Can tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril, or sword, come between the love of the Father to the child, or the child's rest, content, and delight in His love? And doth not the love, the rest, the peace, the joy felt, swallow up all the bitterness and sorrow of the outward condition?—I. Penington.

She met the hosts of Sorrow with a look
That altered not beneath the frown they wore,
And soon the lowering brood were tamed, and took,
Meekly, her gentle rule, and frowned no more.
Her soft hand put aside the assaults of wrath,
And calmly broke in twain
The fiery shafts of pain,
And rent the nets of passion from her path.
By that victorious hand despair was slain;
With love she vanquished hate, and overcame
Evil with good, in her great Master's name.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments By and About Newspapers In the Gopher State.

This Should Be Discouraged.

If there's any one thing that ought to be discouraged it is tampering needlessly with our system of education. The Jordan Independent gives this example of such pernicious activity in which the tamperer got his: "A neighboring paper commented upon the resignation of a certain young lady school teacher with many kind words for 'excellent reputation for teaching she bears.' When last seen the editor was doing a mile a minute clip, just two jumps ahead of the irate young lady, who screamingly informed him that she never taught a she bear in her life and if she ever caught him she'd teach him something about writing news."

Be Reasonable!

There's no use of being unreasonable, so the Isle Advance ought to be ashamed of itself for springing this: "Have a lot of those fellows, who denounce the president's watchful waiting policy, feet of sufficient size to fill presidential boots? We merely ask." Such a question, asked of such people, is bound to be embarrassing, you know.

"Sane" Is a Mild Word.

There are things a lot stronger and more effective than mere sanity, and it needs one of the strongest of these to describe what the Kenyon Leader put altogether too mildly: "One of the sanest ideas that has struck the West in recent years is that which involves a closer co-operation between the cities and towns and the farmers of a country."

Try This on Your Back Yard.

If you've ever done this, you'll repeat without urging; if you've never done it, this year is a bully time to begin, with this from the Albert Lea Tribune as a text: "One of the greatest tonics to be used to prevent spring fever is an hour's work in the garden each day. Have a garden this year and cut the high cost of living at the same time."

Getting at the Plain Truth.

Getting at the plain truth of a matter is always worth while. Here's the way the Hokah Chief applies this principle to the primary proposition: "Argument is being used against the presidential primaries that they are a failure because of being poorly attended. Be it remembered that the percentage of primary voters to the total voting population is fully as great as was that in the old-time party conventions. And the most eminently successful conventions were those in which the attendance of the common people was the least."

"The Profit-Line."

There are pleasanter places than "the firing line," if we infer correctly from the following, from the Hinckley Herald: "'Patriotism' is the subject of a pamphet sent out by Chester A. Congdon of Duluth, who is a multi-millionaire and very much interested in imperialism and preparedness—of course. Mr. Congdon, we are led to believe, has valuable interests in Mexico. It seems that Mr. Congdon's place at present ought to be down in Mexico marching through the sandy deserts helping our soldier boys capture Villa—if he means what he is preaching. The fact of the matter is this—our capitalistic patriots are never on the firing line at the front, but are to be found at home sitting tight on the 'profit line,' out of danger, but ready to take the profits."

Or Paste It in Your Hat.

If you're looking for a new desk motto, try this from the St. Charles Union: "One way to make tomorrow better than today is to make today better than yesterday."

Taking the "Yell" Out of "Yellow."

Does anybody feel inclined to dispute the Baudette Region's statement? Here it is: "Some of those who have been yelling for this country to go down and clean up Mexico will probably hide under the barn if a call for men is made."

Jibes at Lawyers' Expense.

Winnipeg Free Press: In the latest of the remarkable series of articles by H. G. Wells on what is coming after the war, he goes after the lawyers pretty savagely. And other writers have been doing the same thing, notably in recent issues of the English Review. But, indeed, have not rough sayings about lawyers been commonplaces of English literature for centuries!

It would be easy to pick jibes against lawyers from Shakespeare and from many a writer down to Dickens (with his immortal picture of the foxy firm of Dodson & Fogg in the Pickwick Papers), and since Dickens. * * * Next to our favorite quotation from Swift we like best the remark made on a certain occasion by Dr. Johnson. "I do not wish to speak evil of any man behind his back," said the great Samuel, as it is recorded by Boswell, "but I believe that the gentleman who has just left the room is an attorney."

The Game of Life.

This life is but a game of cards,
Which mortals have to learn;
Each shuffles, cuts and deals the pack,
And each a trump doth turn.

Some bring a high card to the top,
And others bring a low,
Some hold a hand quite flush of trumps,
While others none can show.

Some shuffle with a practiced hand,
And pack the cards with care,
And so they know that they are dealt
Where all the leaders are.

Thus fools are made the dupes of rogues,
While rogues each other cheat,
And he is very wise indeed
Who never meets defeat.

When playing, some throw out the ace,
The counting cards to save,
Some play the deuce and some the ten,
But many play the knave.

Some play for money—some for fun—
And some for worldly fame,
But not until the game's played out
Can they count upon their gain.

When hearts are trumps we play for love,
And pleasure rules the hour,
No thoughts of sorrow check our joy
In beauty's rosy bower.

We sing, we dance, sweet verses make,
Our cards at random play,
And while one trump remains at top
Our game's a holiday.

When diamonds chance to crown the top,
The players stake their gold,
And heavy sums are bet and won
By gamblers young and old.

Intent on winning each his game
Both watch with eager eye,
How he may see his neighbor's cards,
And beat them on the sly.

When clubs are trumps, look out for war,
On ocean and on land,
For bloody horrors always come
When clubs are held in hand.

Then lives are staked, instead of gold,
The dogs of war are freed
In our dear country, and we see
That clubs have got the lead.

Last game of all, is when the spade
Is turned by hand of time,
He always deals the closing game
In every age and clime.

No matter how much each man wins,
Or how much each man saves,
The spade will finish up the game
And dig the gamblers' graves.

President Wilson's Acts in the War

Moorfield Storey in the April Yale Review.

The president's course with the nations engaged in the European war is the subject of more heated discussion. The bulk of the American people favor the Allies and for the best of reasons. Germany's claim that she has the right to rob her neighbors if she can conquer them, that treaties do not bind her, that she may carry on war as she has done, sparing nothing and treating noncombatants, old men, women and children, with the extremity of cruelty in order to overcome resistance by inspiring terror, her approval of such barbarism as the sinking of the Lusitania and other great ships loaded with innocent passengers, her wanton destruction of historic monuments that in all previous wars have been spared, have excited our horror and profound indignation, while our reason has been affronted by what her professors and historians have written in defense of her course, and by her absurd claim in face of all the facts that she, though alone of all the combatants prepared for war, has been fighting in self-defense. We believe that her victory would mean the substitution of ruthless and brutal autocracy for the free government of Europe, and that it could hardly fail to mean an eventual war with us, even if we abandon the Monroe Doctrine, as now interpreted, with all its possibilities of trouble.

If the policy of the country was to preserve peace, it was clearly not the president's duty to sit in judgment on the belligerents. He might have endeavored to throw the moral weight of this country into the scale by protesting against the invasion of Belgium and the brutalities which were committed there; but to do so he would have had to assume what many then were unwilling to believe, that the charges of cruelty against Germany were true and that her counter-allegations were false.

He could not try such questions as these, nor decide between the conflicting statements of the two sides without any adequate knowledge of the facts. To do so at the time when these things happened and Germany was flushed with insolent triumph, would have done no good. Germany knows well and complains bitterly that the American people condemn her, but this knowledge has not changed her course. We should have had the idle pleasure of speaking our minds, we should have added fuel to her flame, but we should not have affected her action.

Moreover, had the president taken this attitude our neutrality would have been a mere form, and as the war went on and the Lusitania sank, we could hardly have helped joining in the conflict. There are many who would have approved this course and faced the result gladly, but they were only a fraction of our people; and had we done so, what would have been the practical result? Had we gone to war, there would have been no strong neutral power behind the ships carrying food, cotton and everything that Europe needs, no neutral passengers to be respected, but every ship that crossed the sea would have been at the mercy of submarines. There is no disguising the facts—our ships were not needed; we had no army, and we should have helped no one. The practical situation must be regarded, and with this in mind it is clear that a policy of peace was best both for ourselves and Europe, and for the welfare of the world.

A Political Fact

Springfield Republican: The split in the Democratic party must hurry along faster if it is to arrive in time for this year's presidential contest. Representative Warren Worth Bailey, Mr. Bryan's spokesman in the house, after an active campaign against any increase whatever in the army, voted for the bill that was passed Thursday. Inasmuch as not a single Democrat was in opposition on the final roll call, the Wilson administration would appear to have the whole Bryan wing of the party handily rolled up in a "preparedness" napkin.

It is high time this schoolmaster president received credit for being the coolest, cleverest and most adroit party leader the Democrats have had since Samuel J. Tilden passed away. The Republicans have had no such opponent for a generation. Do they realize the fact?

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

FINDS BROTHER BY MEANS OF AN OPEN COURT LETTER

To the Editor of The Herald:

Replying to the request of Leo Lenz of Car Forks, Bingham Canyon, Utah, regarding his brother, which was published through your Open Court, am glad to state that he is this day writing to him. Yours, T. W. HANSON.

THE GUILTY ONLOOKER PLEADS FOR METHOD

To the Editor of The Herald:

In view of the wide interest in peace and war, it may be worth while to bring to a focus the difference between "The Innocent Bystander" and "The Guilty Onlooker."

"Guilty" believes people generally are for peace. Inculcate them with a practical method for enforcing peace, and, to a man, they will be for it.

"Innocent," refusing on request to set forth ways and means, shows forth a preaching crusade. He would proselyte the public to peace before giving them a method for peace. What has seemed obscure in his writing was merely the obvious.

Admitting "Innocent" entitled to his opinion, it is here suggested that he would gain more converts by making his sermons those of method; showing the means to the end. Where one believer can be procured by teaching the glory and justice of his cause, a score might be obtained by demonstrating its practicability and attainability.

"Innocent" believes that, "through the ages one increasing purpose runs." The successive union of individuals into clans, tribes and nations, proves this purpose. But did the "purpose" work by magic? Were not these systems built up along lines laid down by human minds? This is the issue. If they were not, why does "Innocent" proselyte? 'Twere a thankless task, better performed by fate.

William the Conquerer put an end to petty feudal wars and founded the British state by compelling a transfer of vassals' allegiance from barons to crown. This was method.

The American fathers stopped wartending quarrels of the Confederation and established the United States by constructing a Federal government with authority to enforce its laws. This was method.

Leonardo da Vinci, Galileo, Newton, Bacon, fearless for truth, ended the age long subjection of man to superstition and bequeathed to him control over nature by experimentally testing for facts. This was method and is scientific civilization.

It avails nothing for peace advocates to run in circles and cry to high heaven, Peace! Peace! when there is no peace. Their efforts somehow remind one of the man who was looking for work and praying to God not to get it.

To cure disease, find the cause. To stop war, organize the instigating commercial, together with all other, interests, into such a representative international government that they will be forced, through the necessity of maintaining their equilibrium, to both check and enforce each other against war. This will be method and the beginning of social civilization.

REGARDS MR. HOLMES AS HIS BEST TEACHER

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would be very much pleased if you would allow me space enough in the Open Court to state my views and opinions on the article in the Duluth News Tribune for March 25, 1916, entitled "Holmes Makes His Side Public."

I wish to state that I am a student of the Duluth Central high school, and was also one of Mr. Holmes' students during the year of 1913 and 1914, and will assure the honorable board of education that for the time spent in Mr. Holmes' class I received at least 50 per cent more knowledge of English than in any other class in the high school. It would be a big mistake for the board of education to let such a valuable man as Mr. Holmes go, and the board of education would be doing more justice to the student body if they would ask such teachers in the high school to resign as show partiality and "fail" a student who has only been called on three times during the year, and those three times made good recitations. Furthermore, by retaining such teachers as the latter, the Duluth Central high school will never become a first-class institution or be rated as such—which it has been for some years in the past, but lately has been classed by Eastern colleges as a second and third-class institution.

Taxpayers of Duluth, which teacher would you rather employ for your sons and daughters?

It seems to me there is reason for suspicion of lack of good faith in the mere fact that Mr. Young of the Duluth Central high school refuses to discuss the matter or furnish reasons for not retaining Mr. Holmes.

I also wish to state that I can honestly say without exaggeration that Mr. Holmes is as honest and square a man as ever taught in the Duluth Central high school in the past four years. Thanking you in advance, I am, respectfully yours,

A FIRM BELIEVER IN JUSTICE.

WRITES OF THE RANGES AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please tell me what interest the county officials of St. Louis county had in postponing "The Raid on Hibbing" (as our newspapers here call it) from March 8 to March 18?

It was stated in the Hibbing newspapers that it was done so that it would not be made public until after election here, for fear of hurting the Power ticket. Why should county officials, elected by the people of the county, favor one faction of Hibbing so much that it would interfere in any way with their duties?

Our paper here also made the statement that those people that were behind this move of cleaning up Hibbing of vice and immorality (or words to that effect) would be exposed in the near future, just as though it were a crime to do for our town what our officials have failed to do.

And why are they bragging now that those cases were transferred to the ranges? Why should that be an advantage to those accused of keeping immoral places and the illegal sale of intoxicants? Is not justice upheld on the ranges as well as in other places?

Why is an attack made on ministers and church people of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches? Surely a minister has a right to fight vice and crime, and I am only surprised that ministers of all churches do not make a united stand in fighting it openly in our town. Usually a man shows a little respect for the church where his family worships. I am not a Methodist, nor a Presbyterian; but if I were, I should be tempted to use a horsewhip. And that would be wasting the cost of a whip; and in Hibbing, under the present administration, we do not believe in wasting.

Neither am I connected in any way with the mining companies; I am even sore at them, for if they did their duty by the people of Hibbing they would see to it that we had a newspaper in this town where the people had a voice. We all think that neither of our newspapers dares print a line unless it has been approved by "Headquarters." SPERO MELIORA.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.

ASKS BY WHAT RIGHT THE POLICE EXPEL MEN

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to find out if there is legality in the present system the police have been using in regard to ordering out of town American citizens who are unfortunate enough to be down and out, even some who have lived here most of their lives or have blown their winter stake here, helping to make this a bigger Duluth. This being a sea port it will always be a flooded labor market, and Northern Minnesota is very fortunate to be able to get any amount of laborers wanted, and you cannot blame the men for sticking around waiting for better working conditions or for the lakes to open. Can you show me a law giving them authority to drive the real empire builders from place to place? Is it not a direct violation of the principles of the Constitution, which guarantees us personal liberty and protection from abusive police power which is misused so as to become a big stick to force men to go back to the woods to work under the worst conditions in the labor world? Last week I overheard a policeman give two men orders to get out of town. They had money in their jeans and were paying their own way and were born and raised in Duluth. How long is this thing going to keep up? If a man has a dollar in his pocket and is within the law, can't he stay here if he wants to?

FOR ALL A FAIR SHAKE.

Duluth, March 27.

ASKS THAT MR. DENFELD APOLOGIZE TO MR. HOLMES

To the Editor of The Herald:

Few people realize the great value of the Open Court until a time comes in which a wrong needs correction and nothing else is open for said correction.

The great wrong which I refer to is the statement which Supt. R. E. Denfeld of the Duluth public schools made to a Herald reporter in reference to the petition being circulated by the high school pupils in behalf of Roy J. Holmes. He (Mr. Denfeld) knows so much about the high school affairs from his twenty and more years of service (?) over it that he took for granted that we all would just naturally swallow anything he said about them.

As a matter of fact it was absolutely wrong and the accuser knew Mr. Holmes did not instigate the petition in his behalf, as was stated by Supt. Denfeld; and, furthermore, Mr. Holmes is too honorable a man to tell an untruth for his own selfish advancement.

There have been plenty of political investigations with disastrous results to corrupt officials in the last year. Duluth had better follow Terre Haute's example by making an investigation and clean-out in its educational department. There is such a thing as growing so stale by a long term in office that removal is best for all concerned.

I ask that Mr. Denfeld apologize openly in the Open Court for his false statement against Mr. Holmes.

A HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT.

"CYRANO DE BERGERAC" WRITES OF BURLESQUE

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your paper of yesterday appeared an article under the heading, "Will Modify Burlesque." It seems to me that after a show has run the better part of a week, it is rather late to start in modifying for the last performance. If the morals of the city are so close to the heart of the safety commissioner as he would make it appear, he should have seen that the show was "modified" before it was put on at all.

It seems as though the Lyceum comes in for a great deal of criticism. This last avalanche was evidently precipitated by The Herald's write-ups on the show, but I seem to remember when The Herald took special pains to recommend a film show shown at one of the local houses in which "Audrey Munson, the world famous model, poses unashamed in the nude." And I did not see any criticism of the "Oriental Danseuse" appearing at the only local vaudeville theater the fore part of the week.

This partisanship on the part of The Herald is ill advised. The Lyceum is standing empty about eight months out of the twelve, and when they now, at last, have found a form of entertainment that packs the house twice a day, The Herald thinks too much money is being made in the show business, and starts knocking. It cannot be denied that anyone looking for "rottenness" can find it in most any show, but it ought to be put up to the audiences whether they want to see a show or not. But it appears that only one complaint to the safety head is needed to start an investigation. And then the 50,000 good little children, citizens of Duluth, will see only what Papa Silberstein wants them to see.

Let's cut out this business of appearing to the world like a tank-town of 400, where the First ——— church and the Weekly Bugle have the only say-so. Let us make it known that "It is cool in Duluth" does not interfere with "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight." Yours truly.

CYRANO DE BERGERAC.

Poison Ivy

WILLIAM BRADY M.D

Some persons are immune to the skin irritation and inflammation caused by poison ivy. Some persons are more susceptible at one season of the year than at another, by reason of the varying amount of toxin in the plant.

Poison ivy (rhus toxicodendron), and swamp sumach (rhus venenata) and primrose are all capable of causing skin inflammation by contact.

Poison ivy, also called poison oak, is a shrub from one to three feet high, or in some places it is a woody vine, with long, three-pointed leaves, downy, inodorous.

The skin irritation caused by poison ivy is characterized by great swelling and redness, blebs, and much irritation and itching. There may be pains in the abdomen, nausea or diarrhea. Sometimes fever and pains in the joints occur. The swelling and irritation extend over a large surface of the body, and perhaps invade the mucous membranes as well. It lasts for a week or more. It is followed by free desquamation or peeling of skin.

If the skin is thoroughly bathed with soap and hot water immediately after exposure the poisoning may be prevented. If just one spot has been touched by poison ivy it may be painted with tincture of iodine, which will destroy the poison. But this would be obviously dangerous over a very large surface. If the skin is meared with some fat or oil before going in the vicinity of poison ivy, that will protect against irritation. Since the irritant may remain in clothing it is well to change as soon as possible after exposure.

As a local application for the skin irritated or inflamed by poison ivy compresses wet with a solution of about a pound of epsom salts in a gallon of water may be freely applied. This dressing may be kept up until the inflammation subsides. Then plain talcum powder is best.

The same treatment applies to primrose or sumach poisoning.

As in most acute skin troubles, catharsis and a diet limited to milk, rice or other cereals, and bread and butter is generally helpful.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Pyorrhea and Intestinal Indigestion.

1. Is it necessary to have a doctor or dentist administer the emetin treatment for pyorrhea? 2. Can you tell me what causes intestinal indigestion and rundown condition? There is much flatulency and some pain at times. At night I often awake with a parched, burning sensation from the stomach up into the mouth.

Answer—1. Yes, the remedy must be given by hypodermic injections into the skin. But you may use a toothwash or tooth paste of 1 per cent ipecac regularly at home. 2. One cause of such troubles, and a frequent cause, is pyorrhea.

Men More Often Paralyzed.

Short of old age, are men more often subject to paralysis than women? If so, why?

Answer—Yes. Men more often poison their arteries with tobacco, alcohol and other excesses. Women are cleaner living and more sane than men.

Chilblains.

There have appeared in this department from time to time articles or answers to correspondents about chilblains. Those interested, who ask for further information, should write, enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes. We shall be glad to supply them with our monograph upon the subject.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address, Dr. William Brady, care of this newspaper. Protected by The Adams Newspaper Service.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Arthur L. Beyer, Duluth: I am a boy of 14 years old and wish to know if a boy my age, with a wireless apparatus, is allowed to catch messages from the boats. If so, is there a fee, and how much is it?

Ans.: That is something under control of the Federal government, and Minnesota is in the district directed from Chicago. Write to "United States Wireless Service, Federal building, Chicago, Ill.," and you will get full information.

"D. M.," Duluth: (1) What is the horizontal distance of the top of the Incline from Superior street? (2) What is the vertical height of the same, above Superior street? (3) What are the lengths of the hands on the high school clock?

Ans.: (1) 3,000 feet. (2) 500 feet. (3) Minute hand, 5 feet 3 inches; hour hand, 4 feet.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Cyclone of Louisville.

Kind friends, I have a sorrowful tale to tell.
It is of the cyclone of Louisville.
It was on March 27, so I have heard say;
It was at the hour of eight, when death opened its space.
It claimed its own, and quickly passed away.

Many hearts were light and gay
And were happy all that day,
Not dreaming of sorrow and pain.
But the great tornado came,
Stretched out its powerful arms,
Killed our friends, and tore away their homes.

Five poor laundry girls were killed at the Louisville hotel
While preparing to retire for the night,
But the cyclone struck the house,
Crushing all beneath its ruins,
And but one young man escaped,
Virgil Wright.

But when death on those did call who were at Falls City hotel,
They not knowing that danger was so near,
The cyclone struck the house, crushing all beneath its ruins,
And the sad news was soon spread far and near.

You could hear the piteous groans of those who lay a dying,
How they suffered no human tongue can tell,
Mothers for their loved ones crying; to rescue them men were trying;
There were fathers, sisters, brothers almost wild.

But an old man with silvery hair who had claimed a loved one there,
Asked if his child had sunk with the rest;
And when they told him she was dead,
He gently bowed his head and whispered low, "Oh, God, Thou knowest best."

So kind friends, it may be so that there is someone here tonight
Who has lost a father, mother or some friend;
So remember what I say; there will be a coming day
When each life here tonight will have its end.

Now, kind friends, I must away, for I can no longer stay,
And may God pity those who met their death;
For you know we cannot say the minute nor the day
That we may be united with the rest.

So all you who have lost a loved one,
Father, son, or companion too,
Go and tell it all to Jesus
As his disciples once did do.

STREET FLUSHERS APPEAR.

Begin Removal of Debris; Plows Used to Break Ice.

Street flushers made their first appearance of the year yesterday afternoon.

Following instructions issued by Commissioner Farrell, works head, the machines operated along Superior street removing the winter's accumulation of dirt from the top of the ice still remaining on the thoroughfare. Later small plows were used to break up the ice so that it will melt faster during the next day or two.

The flushers will be used regularly along the business streets from now on, it was announced yesterday.

HARGADINE WILL FORCE COMPLIANCE

State Fire Marshal to Check Up Buildings Ordered Razed.

Fire Marshal Robert Hargadine will take immediate action against property owners who have not complied with condemnation or repair orders issued since March 15, 1915.

A deputy from the state fire marshal's office will visit Duluth and examine the various structures, to determine the exact status of those which have been ordered razed or improved.

Since March 15, 1915, forty-seven structures have been condemned and ordered torn down by the state fire marshal. Of these, twenty-two buildings already have been razed and seven have been repaired in accordance with orders of the department.

No work has been done on nine buildings which were on the fire marshal's list, and repairs on three others have not been begun. The time limit has not expired in these cases.

Of the buildings ordered razed or repaired, upon which the time of the orders has expired two have been partly wrecked, and four remain as they were.

ZEALOUS GUARDIAN OF CITY'S LAWS

Frank Crotteau Again Informs Council of Bill Posting Violation.

Frank Crotteau yesterday afternoon made another protest to the city commissioners.

Shortly after the meeting opened, Mr. Crotteau appeared for the third time in the last two months, protesting against the lax enforcement of the bill posting ordinance. Supplied with samples of breakfast food and condensed milk, Mr. Crotteau declared that these are being distributed throughout the city by unlicensed distributors.

Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, said that he has been advised by the attorney that the bill posting ordinance relates only to advertising pamphlets and not samples. As a result, the commissioners agreed to investigate the matter and prepare an amendment to the ordinance covering this phase of the distribution business.

On each appearance before the commissioners, Mr. Crotteau has complained about the enforcement of the ordinance.

CIVIL SERVICE IS VIOLATED, CLAIM

The communication by W. F. Markus, former employe in the city assessor's office, who asked the council to reinstate him in the employ of the city, was referred to the civil service commission yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Markus claims that the civil service rules are being violated, in view of the fact that he was dropped from the rolls and never re-engaged, although the position has since been filled.

City Assessor Scott said yesterday afternoon that the present employe is more competent, but that he never realized the regulations were being violated. Any orders or suggestions by the civil service board will be complied with, he said.

District Judge Sprains Ankle.

Brainerd, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge W. S. McClenahan of the district court, who opened the spring term in Aitkin, March 21, sprained his ankle here while walking through Gregory park, and is now confined to his home. Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji will finish the term at Aitkin.

RAILROADS ARE TO REJECT WAGE DEMAND

Northwestern Systems to Tell Trainmen Increase Is Denied.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—Managers of railroads in the Northwest were notified Monday by leaders of the trainmen brotherhoods that demands for wage increases will formally be presented to them March 30. Although thirty days in which to comply probably will be given, it is stated on high authority that the railroads will not await that time, but will flatly reject the demands.

"The railroads could not, if they desired, grant the trainmen's demands," said a high official of one railroad. "It would be unfair to stockholders and to the public."

It is believed here that renewed efforts will be made to have the dispute submitted to arbitration. It is felt in business circles that neither the trainmen nor the railways could refuse to have the controversy settled by such a method as has been provided by Federal statutes.

ROCHESTER TO HEAR KELLOGG'S OPENER

Rochester, Minn., March 28.—Frank B. Kellogg has accepted the invitation of Rochester citizens to open his campaign for United States senator here, and party lines are being forgotten in the preparation for a big political rally in honor of the St. Paul attorney.

BRAINERD MAN ON EVE OF OPERATION

E. A. Spohn Finds Relief With First Dose of Remarkable Remedy for Stomach.

E. A. Spohn of Brainerd, Minn., R. F. D. No. 2, was so dangerously ill that his physician declared he could not live unless he was operated upon.

He feared an operation and in seeking a way out he tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It succeeded.

After he had gained back his strength he wrote:

"I thought I would let you know how I was benefited by Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I took it some time ago. It did all that you claimed it would do. I was so bad that the doctors told me I could not live without an operation, but I did not have one and I don't think I shall ever need one now. I have felt no signs of gallstones since I took your treatment."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.—Advertisement.

Your Child's Health is Safe with SAWTAY

The scientists have demonstrated that hog-fats stunt the growth of children. Creamery butter stimulates it—provided it be free from harmful bacteria. Prof. Rosenau (Harvard) found 9½% of cow-butter tainted with bacteria of tuberculosis.

SAWTAY

100% Pure Butter-of-Nuts

For Baking, Shortening, Frying & Candy-Making

has a greater growth-stimulating food-value than the finest creamery butter. Since it is 100% pure butter-of-nuts, it is wholly free from bacterial taint and easy to digest.

A child's craving for sweets is natural. Satisfy it with goodies made of or with SAWTAY. Then you will contribute to the vitality, energy and well-being of your child.

SAWTAY SPREAD FOR CRACKERS, BISCUIT OR BREAD

½ cupful of SAWTAY, 1 cupful powdered sugar, white of one egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, cream the SAWTAY and sugar, add white of egg unbeaten and the vanilla, beat together thoroughly, then spread on cracker, ginger snaps, saltines, biscuits or bread.

STUFFED DATES

Cream together one cup of confectioner's sugar with 2 tablespoonfuls SAWTAY. Add ¼ teaspoon vanilla and beat until a creamy consistency. Wash dates and cut the entire length, removing stones. Fill cavities with above mixture. Garnish each date with a long slice of candied cherry or a small nut.

SAWTAY FUDGE

2 sq. chocolate
¼ cup Sawtay
2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
pinch salt
1 teaspoonful vanilla

Melt chocolate and SAWTAY carefully. Add sugar, milk and salt. Stir over a low heat until sugar is completely dissolved. Then boil until a drop in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from fire and set fudge in a pan of cold water. When bottom of pan is cold, beat until creamy. Pour on a buttered pan. Garnish with walnuts. Mark in squares.

SAWTAY is Economical—
Use one-fifth less
and over and over.

LONGYEAR SELLS HIS ARCTIC MINE

Russian Government Buys Spitzenbergen Coal Mine for $20,000,000.

Washington, March 28.—John M. Longyear, the Marquette, Mich., millionaire, has realized on his investment in the coal fields of Spitzenbergen islands, in the Arctic ocean. He and his colleagues have sold their coal mines there to the Russian government for $20,000,000.

A good many years ago, when the attempt to develop this coal mine was announced, much doubt was expressed by those familiar with the difficulties of the job. Longyear and his friends, however, stuck to it, and, while it is not known that they ever made any money out of the project, it is conceded that the announced sale is a fit finale to one of the most romantic coal mining projects ever conceived.

The Spitzenbergen group, isolated among the polar bears in the frozen solitudes of the Arctic ocean, has been regarded as a "joke" for anything except a starting place for parties trying to reach the North Pole over the ice by balloon or airship.

ATTEMPT TO OUST THE VANDERBILT CLIQUE

New York, March 28.—A legal attempt to oust the Vanderbilt interests from control of the management of the New York Central railroad was begun in the supreme coure here yesterday, when an order was granted directing certain members of the board of directors of the railroad to appear next Monday and show cause why their tenure of office should not be declared unlawful.

The petitioner is James Pollitz of this city, who asserts he owns 120 shares of stock of the company.

The defendants, who on Jan. 25 last were declared by the tellers at the annual meeting here to have been elected to the company's directorate, are: William K. Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew, Frederick Vanderbilt, William Rockefeller, William H. Newman, George F. Baker, Marvin Hughitt, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Alfred H. Smith, Harold S. Vanderbilt, Ogden Mills, Robert S. Lovett, Leonard J. Hackney, Frank J. Jerome and Horace Andrews.

They received a total of 1,545,255 votes.

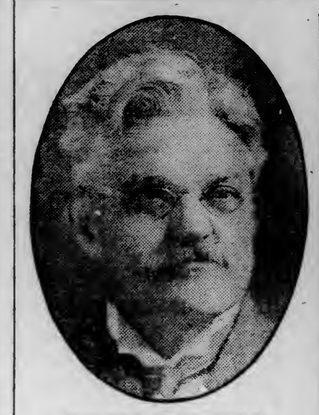
TRINITY LODGE BANQUET FOR WOMEN DRAWS BIG CROWD



ROBERT E. DENFELD.

CARL E. LONEGREN.

Trinity lodge, No. 282, A. F. & A. M., entertained for 250 guests at a banquet last evening at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The affair was one of the most enjoyable given by the fraternity in honor of the women since its organization three years ago.

Following the banquet, which was served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church, a short program of music and speeches was given. At the close of the program the guests danced until 1 o'clock.

E. H. Pfeiffer, master of the lodge, was toastmaster. The invocation was given by Rev. W. E. Harmann, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church. A toast to "The Ladies" was given by Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, and talks on "Fraternalism" were given by Carl E. Lonegren, R. E. Denfeld and E. K. Coe. A cornet solo was given by Charles Helmer, and Helmer's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing and during the banquet.

PREPARING FOR SPRING OPENING

Committee Urges Merchants to Decorate Their Stores.

West end business men are making preparations for special displays and the decorating of their stores for Style week, which will be observed in the city next week. A committee, consisting of Ben F. Schweiger, Matt Konecny, A. O. Anderson, Alfred Moe and Victor Juten, is making a canvass of the business men to get all merchants in line with the idea.

The windows will be trimmed with the best and latest goods. On Monday evening the spring opening will be observed by each merchant and the stores will be open until 9 o'clock. This will be the only evening that the stores will be open until a late hour.

AT CENTRAL BAPTIST.

Dr. Brewer Will Address Mothers' Club; Other Church Society Plans.

"Home Making and Home Breaking," will be the subject of an address to be given by Rev. George Brewer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, tomorrow afternoon at the meeting of the Mothers' club of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. The Mothers' club will be entertained at the social hour by the Argonaut Girls' club.

The young men of the Baptist Young People's union of the church will entertain at a banquet in honor of the young women of the society Friday evening. The banquet will be served at 8 o'clock.

The choir will meet in the church tomorrow evening for rehearsal of Easter music.

The Baptist Brotherhood will be entertained next Monday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Milton Fish, 502 North Twenty-fifth avenue west.

Molander Funeral Thursday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna C. Molander, 80, who died yesterday after a short illness at the St. Anne's home, will be held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Olson & Hoppenyan's undertaking rooms, and at 2 o'clock from Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. A. Eckstrom will officiate. Interment will be in Park Hill cemetery.

Pastor Will Lecture.

Rev. Hardy A. Ingham, pastor of the Endion Methodist church, will give a lecture Thursday evening at the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Rev. Mr. Ingham will lecture on "The Man Next Door."

Surprised By Friends.

Mrs. C. F. Hoffman, 408 North Twenty-second avenue west, was pleasantly sprprised at her home by many of her friends in honor of her birthday anniversary Saturday evening. Mrs. Hoffman was presented with a number of handsome presents in honor of the occasion. Games and music featured the entertainment.

The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames: S. A. Nelson, Charles Ullberg, Joseph Beck, John Mattson, O. T. Lind, Otto Gafvert, H. Franzen, J. E. A. Anderson, Gust Anderson, Magnus Olson, Peter Olson; Misses Florence Mattson, Ethel Mattson, Hildur Beck, Margaret Peterson, Lydia Peterson, Florence Anderson and Elmer Nelson and John A. Anderson.

"Life Worth Living."

"The Life That Is Worth Living" will be the subject of an address to be given tomorrow evening by Rev. J. Emmett Porter, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, at the midweek services to be held at the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church. A special musical program will be given.

West End Briefs.

Rev. K. B. Vaaler, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church, returned last evening from Culver, Minn., where he conducted services.

BIG SUCCESS LOOKED FOR

Style Week Being Elaborately Prepared for By Stores.

Next Monday Style week will begin, and Duluth merchants are making plans for the spring fashion show on a scale which indicates that it will surpass all previous efforts. With the continuation of the excellent brand of weather that has been the rule for some time now, it is felt that the week's success will be assured.

The fashion show will open on Monday evening on the same terms as in the past, which means that while the stores will be open, there will be no sales; the goods will simply be on display so that prospective patrons may get an idea of what is proper and what they will be expected to wear during the spring and summer seasons. Fully as big a crowd as usual is expected out that evening, and the more optimistic expect a much larger one, for the reason that the unusual "panic of prosperity" which has fallen on the country is likely to make people more inclined to look closely into the matter of styles with a view of buying heavily.

CODE WILL SOON BE READY FOR DRAFT

Sub-Committees Whipping Different Features of Act Into Form.

Building code sub-committees are meeting regularly and indications are that before long the proposed combined building, plumbing and electrical code will be ready for its draft and the consideration of the general committee.

Yesterday afternoon sub-committee No. 2, of which F. H. Fitzgerald is chairman, met at the organization's headquarters, 314 Palladio building, and will meet again Friday afternoon. No. 3 will meet this evening and No. 4 and No. 7 at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, according to Edward Semple, clerk for the general committee.

An Easy Way To Get Fat And Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to the starved, broken-down cells and tissues of your body. You can readily picture what result this amazing transformation should produce as, with increased weight, the cheeks fill out, hollows about neck, shoulders and bust disappear and from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists of this vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

NO ADEQUATE DEFENSE MADE

Special Counsel Crassweller Informs Council on Armory Case.

Declares Procedure Will Prevent Decision on Merits of Case.

In a lengthy statement to the city commissioners, filed just before the council meeting yesterday afternoon, Frank Crassweller, who last week was appointed special counsel to assist City Attorney Samuelson in appealing the armory referendum case to the supreme court, declared that "It is useless to attempt to obtain a decision by the supreme court upon the merits, with the record as it now stands."

Mr. Crassweller states that the appeal should have been taken following the judge's decision overruling the demurrer and before the city's answer to the complaint of the Aad Temple Building association was filed. The case now stands, according to Mr. Crassweller, as if no demurrer had been interposed, as the answer filed by the city waives the city's right to any exception to the decision on the demurrer. The answer, he declares, fails to contain adequate allegations of facts, so that, all in all, the case in the supreme court is in the same situation as if the city had failed to answer, but had allowed judgment to be taken by default.

Necessary Procedure.

In order to obtain a decision in the supreme court on the merits of the case, Mr. Crassweller states that it will be necessary to dismiss the present appeal, move the vacation of the judgment already entered in district court, allow the withdrawal of the city's answer and serve a new answer altogether. John Jenswold, Jr., attorney for the Aad Temple Building association, refuses to consent to such a proceeding, according to the communication.

City Attorney Samuelson is busy today in district court, and Mayor Prince announced this morning that a conference of the city commissioners and the attorneys will be held tomorrow for the purpose of deciding on the course to be taken by the city.

Excerpts from Mr. Crassweller's statement follow:

Crassweller's Statement.

"If an appeal had been taken directly from the demurrer, it is possible that the question of the petitioners' right to file an amended petition might have been raised on the appeal. The filing of an answer precludes the raising of this question, as by answering after the demurrer had been overruled, the city waived any exception to the demurrer.

"The Aad Temple has alleged all allegations necessary to show an invalid attempt to obtain a referendum. The answer of the city admits these allegations, and does not set up other facts to raise the question of the right to file an amended petition.

"In other words this case in supreme court is in the same situation as if the city had filed no answer, but had permitted judgment to be taken by default. In order to obtain a decision on the merits of the case, it is necessary to dismiss the present appeal, and move the district court to vacate judgment and allow the withdrawal of the answer and the serving of a new answer. Unless this is done, it is useless, in my opinion, to prosecute the appeal.

"In view of the public importance of the matter and the certification of Judge Dancer that, in the opinion of the court, the questions presented are important and doubtful, it would seem probable that the district court might grant the relief suggested above."

PLAN MARKET DAY FOR DULUTH

List of Farmers With Produce and Implements for Sale Mailed Out.

In line with suggestions made at the last meeting of the St. Louis County club, bulletins containing the list of farmers with produce and implements for sale and the names of farmers in the market for various commodities will be mailed out today throughout the county from the office of H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent.

"If the farmers take to this idea," said A. B. Hostetter, district supervisor of agricultural agents, yesterday, "we propose to have one of the biggest market days—once a month or oftener in Duluth, that this or any other city ever had. It will be both a medium of exchange on the ground and a market for buying and selling between farmers and outsiders."

GOVERNOR COMMUTES TOUGH TONY'S SENTENCE

Albany, N. Y., March 28.—The prison sentence of Anthony Mareno, known at Sing Sing as "Tough Tony," was commuted by Governor Whitman yesterday, so that he is eligible for release immediately. Mareno, a member of the Mutual Welfare league, gained notoriety recently by escaping from the prison and later surrendering to the authorities. He was convicted of first degree robbery in New York in April, 1908, and sentenced to not less than twelve and one-half years, nor more than sixteen and one-half years. Mareno is said to be suffering from advanced stages of an infectious disease.

Sacred Concerts Allowed.

Bismarck, N. D., March 28.—Sacred concerts do not come within the provisions of the North Dakota anti-Sunday "theatrical performance" law, under the opinion of H. J. Linde, attorney general. The opinion was given in response to a request by local lodge officials, whose Sunday afternoon sacred concert was interrupted by the police.

LIMIT TO BE DOUBLED.

Maximum for Postal Savings Likely to Be Increased.

Postmaster William E. McEwen is expecting the postal savings limit at the Duluth office to be doubled this year by the passage of the bill raising the maximum of postal savings from $500 to $1,000. The bill, which was framed in the house, has been passed by the senate according to announcements.

The Duluth postal savings bank now has $230,000 deposited in Duluth banks, and Mr. McEwen declares that fully half or more of the depositors have already deposited their maximum sum.

He said today that when this law went into effect that there would be another big drain on the "Old Stocking" banks where many a family has its earnings hoarded.

A Columbia Symphony

If you like the tune of "Twenty is plenty," listen to our music.

* *

We play the first violin in the Duluth Clothes Concert and joyously sound our horn in praise of these new $20 suits for young men.

* *

We've struck the right note — the twenty dollar note in providing this special line. They are wonders of fabric, style, make and fit.

* *

Some leads in the Brass Choir prefer to play this melody to the tune of "Twenty-five" and are not much out of harmony in doing so. Most people, of course, like the Columbia Twenty Dollar version.

* *

A gay and loud note is heard in the light checks and bold white stripes of the latest composition, in strange contrast to the more sombre themes of the older element; the latter, however, retain the youthful lines in vogue.

Fedora's gray, green and brown hat rhapsodies are more popular than ever.

* *

The Cravat Waltz runs in the gayest coloring and is played on a Shirt background not far behind in intense fortissimo.

* *

The finale is a Shoe March by Hanan in a movement of marvelous excellence.

MOTHER DIES IN RUSSIAN WAR ZONE; LITTLE BROTHERS HOMELESS ORPHANS

MRS. IDA BURGEN AND TWO SONS.
From a Photograph Taken in Russia Five Years Ago.

After waiting eight months to hear from his mother and two brothers, who were driven from their home in Nalat, province of Riga, Russia, Samuel Burgen, a local tailor, yesterday received a postcard stating that his mother died on Feb. 18 at a hospital in Petrosk, as a result of injuries sustained in a railroad accident that happened shortly before Thanksgiving and that his two brothers, 10 and 8 years of age, are now in the care of authorities and will be placed shortly in a home for orphan children. The card was sent by the military officials in Petrosk and contains nothing but the bare facts relating to the tragic fate of his mother and the circumstances of the two boys.

Anxious to keep his two brothers out of a children's home, Burgen will make every effort to bring them to America. He plans to get into communication with Congressman Miller and the American Jewish Relief committee of New York, with the hope that they will secure permission from the Russian authorities allowing his brothers to come to America. Burgen has been a resident here since 1912 and is part owner of a farm at Simon, Wis.

"I don't want these boys in an orphans' home," said Burgen this morning. "If they can come here, I will give them an education and bring them up to be good honest American citizens."

Tells Pathetic Story.

Heartbroken over the news, Burgen this morning told a story of suffering that dates back to 1909, when his father died, leaving him as the sole support of his mother and two baby brothers. Shortly after Burgen came to America and up to last August sent a remittance home each month.

During August he received word from his mother that everything was well in Nalat, but it was later invaded by the Teutonic forces. Shortly after a check he had mailed for the care of the little family was returned to him as unclaimed. In October he sent another check with the same result. For five months he mailed money home, each time to have it returned.

In January Burgen accidentally read an article in a New York Jewish paper telling of the attack on towns in the province of Riga, including Nalat. Where the people were driven to, or what their fate was, the article did not state, and every effort made by Burgen since that time to locate his family was of no avail.

Two weeks ago Burgen received a letter from his mother's sister telling him of the accident and the plight of the two brothers. The communication told how Mrs. Burgen was fleeing from Nalat in the fall and that while at the Tombov station, she went out on the platform for a walk. The train started suddenly and in an effort to catch it she fell underneath the wheels. The train, with the two boys on board, continued to Petrosk, their destination, while the mother was removed to a hospital in Tombov, where the amputation of her legs was necessary.

About six weeks ago the mother, anxious to see her sons, was removed to a hospital at Petrosk, where she died on Feb. 18.

Burgen makes his home at 312 Lake avenue north.

OYSTERS

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Oysters furnished food for prehistoric man as demonstrated in the great Indian mounds of oyster and clam shells in which are found ancient implements of war and industries. Oysters have continued to be an article of food much sought after by man and beast. The oyster, however, has become so high in price that on the basis of food values it cannot be listed as of economic importance.

Through its geographical range at home and abroad this bivalve has become fraught with danger from the sewage polluted waters which now reach many of the oyster beds from our large municipalities. The thickly populated communities are mostly along the streams owing to the fact that man has always settled near waterways and in the early days of our history the industries depended entirely upon water power for their mills. As these centers of population increased the disposal of waste became a great problem, resulting in the building of conduits to lead into the pure waters nature had given us. These flowing streams carried the wastes away from the doors of one community only to poison the waters for those living down stream, and at the same time polluting the waters covering our oyster and clam beds as well as driving away from our streams valuable fish.

The raw oyster today is to be looked upon with suspicion. Great care should be observed in purchasing them. The seller should be known to be reliable and he should know from what beds he gets his supply.

It is hard to explain why the oyster furnishes a fashionable dish when it has become the custom to supply the culls, which a few years ago would have been thrown back into their beds as being unfit for the market. The food value of four or five of these culls is almost nil and the taste so insipid that they are flavored with strong condiments that entirely destroy what little natural flavor the culls had; therefore, it can hardly be said that these culls thrown out from the cookable oysters from various beds are palatable. They are, however, dangerous, as they can and do sometimes carry the germs of typhoid fever.

Why, therefore, eat raw culls containing little or no nourishment with little or no taste and yet not infrequently carrying germs of disease?

ASKS HEAVY DAMAGES OF NEWLY-WED WIFE

MRS MALCOLM STRAUSS.

Mrs. Malcolm Strauss, wife of the well-known artist, has sued Mrs. Arthur R. Seligman for $100,000 for alienating her husband's affections. The most interesting feature of the matter is that Mrs. Seligman, who was a Miss Snellenburg of Philadelphia, has just been married and is on her way to Japan on her honeymoon. A divorce case against Strauss is also pending. Mrs. Strauss was a chorus girl and is a frequent exhibitor at dog shows.

DRILL HIT WOOD AT 1,900 FEET.

United States Geological Survey Bulletin: One of the first deep wells drilled in the West was put down near Huxley, Nev., by the Central Pacific railway in 1881, in a search for good water. The boring reached a depth of 2,750 feet, but the water obtained was of unsatisfactory quality. At 1,700 feet the drill encountered a bed of "petrified clams," and the record states that at 1,900 feet well-preserved "redwood timber" was found.

DAMROSCH PRAISES MILL CITY ORCHESTRA

Says It Has Done Much to Develop Musical Taste.

"This is my first visit to Duluth," said Walter Damrosch today at the Spalding.

"You know," he continued, "that I have been a conductor for thirty-one years, and during all that time I have never visited this city. I don't think that speaks so badly for Duluth as it does for me. Now that I have seen your city, I know what I have missed."

The eminent conductor declared that appreciation for better music is rapidly growing among the people of the United States and gave it as his opinion that much credit for the decided desire for good music that has been shown by the people of the Northwest is due to the efforts of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra.

"We are going on a tour to the Pacific coast," said Mr. Damrosch. "The greater appreciation for good music that is everywhere manifested makes such a tour a pleasure. There is no doubt in the world but that the taste for real music has grown in a remarkable manner."

FOUR MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN MINE

Five Seriously Burned and 100 Others Trapped at Kimball, W. Va.

Bluefield, W. Va., March 28.—Four men were killed, five were seriously burned and no less than 100 others were trapped in the mine of the King Coal & Coke company at Kimball, W. Va., by an explosion at 9 o'clock today. Scores of volunteers, under the direction of C. H. Boardman, the general manager, are working to reach the imprisoned men, while mine rescue car No. 8 of the bureau of mines is speeding from Montgomery with a crew of skilled mining engineers, but cannot reach the scene of the accident before midnight.

BOMBS DROPPED ON TURKISH CAMP

London, March 28, 1:05 p. m.—A successful aerial raid on the Turkish advance base at Bir-el-Hassatah, 100 miles east of the Suez canal, is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Suez. The raid was made by British airmen on March 24. Forty bombs were dropped on the Turkish camp, which was set on fire. All the aeroplanes returned in safety.

On Thursday evening of this week, Zenith council of Kadosh, Scottish Rite, will confer the thirtieth degree on a large class at the Masonic temple. This will close the Kadosh series of the present degree award, and a large attendance of Scottish Rite members is urged by the officers. The work will be conducted by the commander, C. W. Stilson.

Iron Ore Lecture Delayed.
The lecture on "Undiscovered Iron Ore in Northern Minnesota," by Prof. Hotchkiss, state geologist of Wisconsin, which was to have been given at the rooms of the Superior Commercial club tomorrow evening, has been postponed for about two weeks, owing to the lecturer's inability to be present on the night agreed upon. Many Duluthians, it is said, were planning on going, and Secretary Cross of the Superior Commercial club said today that he will announce the future date of the lecture as soon as it is set.

Christian Endeavor Rally.
The quarterly rally of the Duluth Christian Endeavor union will be held Friday evening of this week at the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and First street. The annual election of officers will also take place. W. H. Hancock will provide pipe organ music and Miss Lillian Bergman, soloist of the First Baptist choir, will sing. Societies from all parts of the city will attend, including Morgan Park, Smithville and Proctor. Arthur Manthey, president of the union, will preside.

David Mullin of Ottawa, Ont., Can., a brother of Mrs. A. W. Torrence of 502 Thirteenth avenue east, died at his home in that city on Saturday morning. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death, according to information received by Mrs. Torrence. In addition to Mrs. Torrence, Mr. Mullin leaves two other sisters, Mrs. W. P. Waste and Mrs. N. Connelley, both of this city.

Factions to Settle Troubles.
It is expected that the trouble existing among the chiropractors of Minnesota will be settled at a meeting to be held at the West hotel, Minneapolis, next Saturday. The meeting will be attended by members of the Minnesota Chiropractic association and the Minnesota Chiropractors' association. The controversy was begun at a convention of the chiropractors last January. The opposing factions hope to unite on constitutional differences and to work together for favorable legislation.

Injury Case to Jury.
Shortly before noon today, the case of Joseph Catena against the Rust Parker company and its sureties to recover $5,000 for alleged personal injuries was given to the jury by District Judge Cant. Catena claims that on Nov. 26 last while he was crossing Lake avenue at Superior street, an auto truck owned by the defendant company and operated by one of its drivers ran him down. Catena was crossing the street to board a trolley car. His right foot was badly crippled and he charges the company with responsibility for the accident.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

Duluth Ad Club Will Hold Annual Meeting at Commercial Club.

The Duluth Ad club will hold its annual meeting this evening, following dinner at the Commercial club, and will elect officers for the ensuing year. It is expected that the meeting will be brief, as most of the members have other engagements for the evening and will hurry through the business. It is not expected that the proposed four delegates to the Philadelphia meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, to be held June 25 to 28, will be elected until the next regular meeting in April.

The retiring officers of the club are: President, Charles H. Mackintosh; vice president, Richard Close; secretary, Walter F. Eberhardt, and treasurer, Thomas Clark.

Nervous Periodical Headaches

This trouble commonly called "sick headache, is said to be due to the retention of urea in the system. Often it is stated that a poor condition of the blood is a cause of these headaches, or that it is a nervous condition; and in certain cases, no doubt this is true.

Where treatment is demanded, it is more for the pain than anything else, and Dr. A. F. Schellschmidt of Louisville, has found anti-kamnia tablets to give prompt and satisfactory relief. "Rest should be insisted upon," he says, "and the patient should go to bed, darken the room, and all the attendants and family should be as quiet as possible. An emetic will sometimes shorten the attack, the bowels should be kept open with "Actolds"; a hot bath and a thorough rub-down with a coarse towel, often give grateful relief. Two anti-kamnia tablets when the first signs appear, will usually prevent the attack. During an attack, one tablet every hour or two will shorten the attack and relieve the usual nausea and vomiting." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for nervous headaches, neuralgia and all pains.

LITTLE SONGSTER IS SENT BY PARCEL POST

Workers at the Duluth postoffice today were given a free "concert." It all came about because the railway mail clerks permitted a canary bird to be shipped to Duluth from Ewen, Mich.

The feathered singer was taken to Postmaster McEwen's office and allowed to take a bath. Then he started to sing and until the owner called there was a flood of harmony emanating from the P. M.'s office.

Birds are one of the things that Uncle Sam has barred from the parcel post service.

LANGINESSE CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Plaintiff Asks $5,000 Damage in Action Charging False Arrest.

The jury in Judge Martin Hughes' division of the district court this morning at 10:40, o'clock took the case of John Langinesse against the Duluth Log company, and up to a late hour this afternoon no verdict had been reached. The action is one in which Langinesse is demanding $5,000 damages from the defendant company for an alleged false arrest on Oct. 12 last, when he was charged with obtaining goods and merchandise at one of the company's camps under false pretenses. He was held a prisoner for twenty-four hours before being released by the justice of the peace, who dismissed the case against him. Finlayson & Watts represented the plaintiff and Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes the log company.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

DEFAULTING SECRETARY IS PLACED ON PAROLE

Judge Cant, in district court this afternoon, placed on parole William L. Anderson, former secretary of Beta council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, who yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling from the lodge funds. The court was informed that all shortages had been covered by the defendant.

The case was continued for sentence until Jan. 3, 1917 and Anderson was put on his good behavior.

No Change in Bowling Leads.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MUCH WORK IS PLANNED

This to Be Lively Building Year in Thief River Falls.

Roughly Estimated About $200,000 Will Be Spent in Building Way.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Approximately $200,000 for the construction of modern buildings here will be expended this year, according to plans now in the hands of Joseph C. Lutz, local architect.

Of this sum, $136,000 has already been contracted for or the deals will have been closed this week.

The buildings and improvements definitely planned, follow: New grade school and remodeling Central building, $62,000; First National bank, remodeling, $25,000; Dr. O. F. Mellby, residence (stucco), $5,000; Ollie Thile, residence (brick), $6,000; M. Myhrum, residence (brick), $6,000; Rasmusson garage, brick, $10,000; McFarland garage, brick, $7,000; E. O. Englestad, brick (farm residence), $5,000; contemplated office and business block (not given out), $15,000; total, $136,000.

City and Farm Homes.

The other buildings and improvements embrace residences costing from $2,500 to $4,500 in the city and farm residences in the county and tributory to Thief River Falls and do not include the many modern barns and silos to be erected in the county.

A modern flat building to cost $40,000 is being considered by local capitalists and the owner of property recently gutted by fire is said to have already made plans for a brick building, not included in these figures. Lower rentals for residences and the improvement of resides now being used for rental is anticipated.

PIONEER ST. PAUL UNDERTAKER DIES

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—W. J. Sleppy, one of the oldest undertakers in St. Paul, dropped dead while opening his mail in his office Monday of heart disease. Mr. Sleppy is survived by one daughter, Katherine S. Sleppy. Mrs. Sleppy was buried New Year's day.

Born at Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 6, 1843, Mr. Sleppy came to St. Paul in 1871. He was married Aug. 23, 1865, to Mary Stees at Philadelphia. In 1861 Mr. Sleppy enlisted in the Fifty-second Pennsylvania Volunteer infantry, later joining the One Hundred and Ninety-ninth Pennsylvania regiment.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Hair Becomes Charming, Wavy, Lustrous and Thick in Few Moments.

Every Bit of Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out.

For 25 cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Advertisement.

WOULD ENJOIN LICENSE REFUND

Bemidji Man Seeks to Prevent Council From Paying Money.

Bemidji, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—An injunction preventing the city of Bemidji from refunding the unused portions of liquor licenses granted before the Indian treaty was enforced in the fall of 1914, and which were annulled by the government in December, 1914, by the enforcement of the Indian treaty, is requested by E. C. McGregor through his attorney, Montreville J. Brown of this city.

At a meeting held at the city hall on Sept. 27 it was decided by the members of the city council that the money due to former saloon keepers, amounting to about $5,000, should be returned to them as soon as the money was available.

Amounts Now Claimed.

The amounts asked are as follows: Thomas A. McCarthy, $144.99; George A. Tanner, $37.53; Matt Thone, $378.57; E. K. Anderson, $490; Andrew Dahl, $695; F. E. Brinkman, $861.91; J. E. Malloy, $397.39; Harry Gunsalus, $397.39; John Bye, $163.33; J. E. Croon, $144.99.

The hearing of the case will be held in district court here before Judge C. W. Stanton on April 17.

DRASTIC ACTION AGAINST PIGGERS

Clay County and Moorhead Officials Seek to Stop Practice.

Moorhead, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—To put a stop to all bootlegging in this city, County Attorney C. G. Dosland, City Attorney Grafield H. Rustad and Chief of Police P. E. Malvey announce that in the future all violations of the liquor laws will be punished with not only a fine, but with a jail sentence in addition.

This decision is the result of the numerous cases that have come to light recently. City Attorney Rustad has prepared a new ordinance, to be presented at the April meeting of the city council, which, if passed, will make it unlawful to give, sell or barter any intoxicating liquor within the city of Moorhead and providing for the punishment of all violations with a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 or a jail sentence of not less than thirty days or more than ninety days in the county jail or both. Having in possession liquor intended for sale, or to give away or barter will be punished with the same fine and jail sentence.

FARMERS ANXIOUS FOR ELECTRICAL POWER

Minot, N. D., March 28.—The proposition of extending the electrical line from Burlington to Foxholm and taking in the Des Lacs and Berthold country, was taken up here by Assistant General Manager Cummings of the Northern States Power company of Minneapolis. The experiment of running a line to Burlington has proved a great success. Farmers now want lines run past their homes that power and light may be secured.

PREPARING PROGRAM FOR BANKERS' MEETING

Fargo, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary W. C. Macfadden of the North Dakota Bankers' association is working on the program for the annual convention of the organization to be held in Minot on June 15 and 16. Secretary Macfadden states that arrangements are being made with some of the officers of the national association to have some of the most noted financial experts of the country address the meeting.

FOUR IN ONE FAMILY ARE VICTIMS OF GAS

Adams, N. D., March 28.—John Steenerson, a prominent farmer who has lived two miles south of here for years, is dead, making the fourth victim of Thursday night's asphyxiation tragedy. His wife and daughters, Edna and Amy, also are dead. The latter died Saturday. Three other children are in a critical condition, but hopes are now entertained for their recovery. All four bodies were buried today.

MILL CITY BANDIT CHOKES OLD WOMAN

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—Choked and beaten by a robber who sought to force her to reveal the hiding place of diamonds which he thought she owned, Mrs. Dora M. Dugbee, 76 years old, wealthy recluse, sat terror stricken all of Sunday night in a chair in her home.

Both eyes were bruised by the robber's blows and the aged woman, who lives alone in the house, could barely see when she was found by a neighbor Monday. The robber, when he left, had said he would remain outside the door and shoot Mrs. Dughee if she moved from the chair. She did not move.

The police have found no trace of the bandit.

AVERY IN COOK COUNTY:

Executive Agent of Game and Fish Commission Makes Rough Trip.

Grand Marais, Minn., March 28.—Carlos Avery, executive agent of the state game and fish commission, was here last week, having come in by stage, and left for the northern part of Cook county with Charles Johnson, whose guest he was while here. He spent a few days with trappers on North lake, getting there by means of dogsleds and snowshoes, and then went on to Port Arthur, Ont., returning to St. Paul by rail. While here, Mr. Avery conferred with local people who are desirous of securing trout fry for local streams. Mr. Avery promised to send an experienced man, together with seines and trap nets, to try the experiment of stocking the streams above the falls where the falls are too high for the fish to climb. The fish will be seined at the mouths of the streams and will be transferred to points above the falls. Another project is the gathering of steelhead spawn. At the present time the state receives all of its steelhead fry from the Federal government, and if found practicable, this will prove a great help to the commission in restocking streams with that fry.

The question of permitting licensed trappers to operate on the game reserve was also discussed and legislation will be sought at the next session of the legislature to permit this together with other needed changes in the laws.

MAIL CLERK BLAMES STOCKS FOR DOWNFALL

Butte, Mont., March 28.—Claiming that he used the money to "play" the stock market, George R. Holderman, aged 24, married, a railway mail clerk running out of Butte to Spokane on the Milwaukee road, arrested here, has confessed to postoffice inspectors that he rifled letters and secured $1,918. He is said to have admitted his thefts covered three or four years while employed in different parts of the West. Several decoy letters were used before he was caught. He signed a long confession, giving a detailed list of his peculations from the mails. His case will be laid before the next Federal grand jury.

PRIEST SLAYER'S TRIAL HAS BEEN POSTPONED

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—The trial of Mrs. Aniela Dudek, confessed slayer of Father Henry Jejeski, was continued yesterday to April 4.

The case was set for trial Monday, but County Attorney R. D. O'Brien made no objection to the request for a postponement by Mrs. Dudek's attorney. Judge F. N. Dickson ordered the case called immediately after that of Walter J. Smith, former state treasurer, whose trial is set for next Monday at 10 a. m.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out in a Bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire. —Advertisement.

MAY MAKE POWDER FOR MEXICAN USE

Ashland, Wis., March 28.—T. A. Kimberley, lieutenant-commander of the United States navy, with H. E. Lackey and H. A. Lindsey, officials of the Du Pont Powder company, Delaware, visited the Du Pont plant at Barksdale. It is reported that the visit was made for the purpose of investigating the brand of explosives manufactured at Barksdale for possible use by the United States in any untoward situation that might occur in Mexico.

"MY BABY GIRL IS A PICTURE OF HEALTH"

"Brought Up" on Father John's Medicine, which Cured Her of a Terrible Cough and Built Her Up.

Her father in a recent letter said: "My little daughter is certainly a picture of health. She was very much run down and had a terrible cough. After trying a doctor's medicine, which did very little good, we gave her Father John's Medicine, with the pleasing result that she was soon well, and we know that Father John's Medicine will keep her well." (Signed) G. O. Krogstad, Lanesboro, Minn.

Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for children as well as older folks, because it contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form, but strengthens and builds up the whole system because it is made of pure and wholesome nourishing ingredients.

OLD FOLKS NEED 'CASCARETS' FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10c per box at any drug store.—Advertisement.

TO GET INTO SOCIETY GO TO A NEW YORK PRIZE FIGHT

Bill, Replying to Archie, Declares the Rough-Neck Fight Reporter Is Out of Place at a Big Boxing Contest; What Middleweight Is There to Take the Place of Gibbons?

BY BRUCE.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., March 27.—Dear Archie: Your letter received and contents noted. In your letter you mention an Artie O'Dea. Are he and a baseball player who used to play on the Pacific coast thirty-four years ago the same? Kindly inquire. Regarding the fight, Arch, I think it was the greatest society function since the Bradley-Martin ball. I see by the paper today that Jess said he did not want to knock Frank out, cause it would hurt the game. Well, Arch, why didn't Doc Williams think of that excuse when Wisconsin beat us by the score of 18 to 0? There will never be another heavyweight champion like Jim Corbett. He could make the best excuses I ever heard.

There was great excitement here Saturday night, more so than usual. Bill Hart delivered a lecture on the different blows and then a couple of lumberjacks started giving a free exhibition. Most of them present agreed that the lumberjacks had it on Jess and Frank. But when we heard later on that Jess had hurt his index finger, we all felt mighty sorry. Some of the boys was for taking up a subscription. It's tough, Arch, to get wounded like that when you are fighting for glory.

I see where old Irv Cobb was one of the writers present at the function. I guess some of them New York papers had their financial editors down in the press row. Society was out, too, Arch, and I guess the society editors and the assistant society editoresses was on hand. Say, Arch, a rough neck sporting editor has about as much show of getting into the press row of one of them big fights as a Mexican has of joining the Elks lodge in El Paso, Tex.

If a file neck fight reporter was to go up to the promoter of the show or to the managing editor of the paper he was working on and say, "Give me my tickets to cover the fight." Why the promoter would say, "What to ——— are you going to do? The society editor and his assistants and the special humorous writer and the stock market reporter has already got theirn. What to, Bill?"

Well, Arch, the roughneck fight reporter would then go to the managing editor, sore and mad, and say, "Boss, I want my tickets to cover this here fight."

Well, the M. E. would say, "Sorry, Bill, but the society editor, the novelist engaged for the occasion, the financial editor, have got all the tickets. There won't be anything to the fight anyway Bill. A story a couple of days after it is over will do. It's the society end we are going to play up."

It was a great fight though, Arch. That's one way of getting into society—go to a prize fight.

Well, so long, Arch, old pal. I wish I hadn't read about this fight, at all. It was too brutal. Everytime I think about that bruised and sore index finger that Jess got, why I feel sorry for the poor fellow. But great big men will be rough, Arch. I wonder what kept T. R. away; he's so fond of gore.

Your Old College Chum, Bill.

The Last of the Mohicans.

WHEN Mike Gibbons passes out of the ring game, his going will mark the going of the last of a long line of great middleweights. There were Kid McCoy and Tommy Ryan, surely two of the greatest of their time, and Bob Fitzsimmons before them. There was a lapse in middleweight activity for several years. Then up sprang Stanley Ketchel and Billy Papke, it being a trick of fate that two such great boys should arrive at nearly precisely the same time. After Papke and Ketchel trailed along McGoorty; Clabby, and Gibbons.

Fitzsimmons is but a grinning caricature of the greatest fighter of all time. Kid McCoy is a connecting link between the modern days and the glorious nights of the old Horton law. Ryan, too, is but a memory. Ketchel is dead; Papke is a has been, a memory clinging man, like the dying oak. McGoorty is through—so is Clabby. Of the great ones, Gibbons alone is left in this country.

There is no one left for the tailor-made St. Paul pugilist to fight. He has gayly galloped through the present fighters, using the ten-round route as the medium of extinguishing the lights of many sections of the country. It won't be many years before Gibbons will be only a memory. Who will take his place? Who has taken the place of Fitzsimmons? No one. Aye, correct. And of Stanley Ketchel? Again, his chair is empty. As for Gibbons—well it is too early as yet to answer that query.

Still, They Don't Believe.

One of the reasons lots of people don't believe Bennie Kauff will ever take the place of Ty Cobb, is because he says he will.

In a Way, Yes.

Verbally, Bennie Kauff, it must be admitted, is the greatest baseball player in the world.

ATHLETES AT CENTRAL BUSY

Baseball Is Center of Interest; Team Will Be Formed.

Coach Blake Gets Line on Men and Will Arrange Schedule.

With the coming of spring, students of Central high school are beginning to look forward to the forms of athletics that will occupy their attention during the next two or three months.

Baseball is expected to attract considerably more attention at the local institution this spring than has been the custom for several years. For some seasons the national game at Central has been confined merely to the interclass games. These games attracted a little attention, but the interest which is aroused in a school nine was missing.

This year, however, plans are already being made for the formation of a school team, and in the next few days the more promising candidates will probably be busy at indoor work limbering up their stiff joints. There is a good deal of excellent material at Central, and with a little coaching and some earnest training a strong representative nine should be placed in the field.

Several years ago Central turned out some good school baseball teams. One spring the local diamond stars won the championship of the Head of the Lakes High School league, and in other seasons they also made good records. Coach Blake is beginning to get a line on his men, and he will be busy in the next few weeks arranging for games with other Northwestern schools. The local nine will probably take several long trips, and some of the best teams in this part of the country will be brought here to meet the Centralites.

"JACK" MACGREGOR IS REGATTA PILLAR

JOHN E. MacGREGOR.

"Jack" MacGregor is one of the live wires of the rowing game here. A large amount of the work of promoting the national regatta will fall upon his capable shoulders. As chairman of the committee on hotels and entertainment and general information a large share of the responsibility of making a success of the regatta will fall to the lot of this hustler.

CAN BEELL GET HIS OLD HEADLOCK HOLD?

Fans Eagerly Speculating as to Dutchman and Stecher.

BY BRUCE.

Never before in the history of Duluth wrestling has there been the interest manifested in a contest as that being shown in the approaching encounter between Joe Stecher, the scissors grinder, and Fred Beell, the greatest headlocker the game has ever known.

The interest in one of the biggest contests that has been scheduled this year is not confined to Duluth alone. From the ranges, Copper country and down in Wisconsin fans are displaying interest in the coming meeting between the wrestler who has created a sensation by throwing scores of opponents on their ears, and Fred Beell, the giant killer, a wrestler who has caused more upsets in the grappling world than any man in its history.

Fans are speculating as to what Beell, the master of every hold, every turn and every leverage, will do against a youngster who appeared on the dim horizon of the Nebraska prairies and by sheer ability wrestled his way to a place where he is being compared to the immortal Frank Gotch.

What can Stecher, the greenhorn, the 22-year-old marvel with the most wonderful leg scissors hold that has ever been invented, do with Frank Gotch? Literally thousands of persons are asking that. But a partial answer to that buzzing query will come in what Joe Stecher, deliberate and coldly calculating on the mat, will be able to accomplish to the lightning-like Beell, who knows more of the wrestling game than most of the others have ever heard of.

Stecher Is Confident.

Confidence is one of the most remarkable assets of Joe Stecher. The farmer boy believes that he will treat Beel in much the same manner as he has treated other opponents. Stecher has beaten the big and ponderous wrestlers, the ones with nothing save brute strength to recommend them—now he faces the most interesting problem of his career—that's Beell.

"Strangler" Lewis, the herculean Kentucky college wrestler, stayed Stecher off for two hours because he employed every trick known to the game. It is figured that Beell is faster and more scientific than Lewis ever was. What will the little Badger demon be able to accomplish against the man with an even more wonderful pair of legs than those owned by Yussiff Mahmout?

This is the query Duluth fans are busily discussing; a query that is being interestedly talked of all over the Northwest.

Big Crowd Likely.

Interest in the approaching contest is so great that it looks as if the greatest crowd that has witnessed a wrestling match here in years will greet the two men when they walk from their corners to receive final instructions.

For the first time in years an attempt was made to gobble up tickets in bunches. Promoter Frank La Joy declared last evening that regular patrons of the sport would be protected and that all efforts to hold choice seats for speculative purposes would be prevented.

CHAPMAN LEADS BILLIARD PLAY

But Two Games Remain in Hatley Trophy Balk Line Tourney.

Charles Chapman is leading the amateurs in the amateur billiard tournament for the Hatley cup. Chapman has won five games and lost but one. Dr. Chapman being his closest competitor.

Chapman has also the high run 33, to his credit. Dr. Chapman has the best single average, competing his run of 150 in 37 innings.

There are but two more games to be played: Hankins vs. Bachand, and Charles Chapman vs. Ursin. If Ursin wins there will be a four-cornered tie.

COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS MADE FOR THE REGATTA

Wallace Quimby, Harris Trux, Walker Jamar, John E. MacGregor and G. Roy Hall Are Named as Division Heads—Some Promising Junior Material Is Secured—Senior Four Members Hold Out—Oarsmen's Meeting Scheduled.

Committee appointments were made today for the national regatta that is scheduled to be held on the St. Louis bay course Aug. 11 and 12. While here it is but the fleeting end of drear March, there is a vast amount of work to do and it will be begun immediately.

Wallace L. Quimby, captain of the boat club, has been appointed corresponding secretary for solicitation of entries, and will also be chairman of the committee for reception and departure of oarsmen and distribution of prizes.

Harris Trux has been appointed clerk of the course.

Walker Jamar will act as physical director.

John E. MacGregor has been appointed chairman of the committee on hotels and entertainment and general information.

On the publicity committee will be representatives of the press of the city.

G. Roy Hall has been made chairman of the transportation committee. No ticket committee has been appointed as yet.

The magnitude of the task of preparing for a national regatta is becoming more apparent as the details of the work are unfolded. At present the ground work of the plans is being laid out.

Blue prints of the building plans of grandstand, locker room, dining room, etc., were completed yesterday. It is expected that construction work will be begun within the next ten days.

Big Men Are Reporting.

Yesterday was one of the most encouraging days of the preliminary training period. A number of big men reported—so many, in fact, that the two Ten Eycks wore broad smiles.

The manager of one large Duluth wholesale house, it is stated, gave his men a talk and stated that every strong young fellow should get out for the crew. As a result of this statement several crew candidates appeared from that firm.

For some reason or other—a reason that followers of the game are endeavoring to puzzle out—the members of the Duluth senior four remain obdurate in their refusal to come out this season. Of all years to choose for quitting the game, the year that Duluth is to hold the national regatta is the most shockingly inappropriate.

Urging, pleading and requests have alike failed to move two of the holdouts—two, because it is stated that Dave Horak and Phil Moore are willing to row and may, in the end, come out.

If Dug Moore and Max Rheinberger stick by their determination not to row this year it may develop that an attempt will be made to combine Phil Moore and Horak with senior material in a new senior four.

The Final Call Ready.

There will be a meeting for oarsmen tomorrow evening in the Commercial club rooms. That will tell the story, insofar as senior material is concerned. Seniors failing to report by tomorrow evening will not be used during the present season, according to an announcement made by the coaches.

Harney, Moore, Arrans and other seniors reported yesterday, in addition to some good looking junior material. It was the best day of the season. The roster of rowing candidates is around the sixty mark, which is not what was expected.

Big Men Are Reporting.

Plans for the rowing season will be discussed tomorrow evening, and it is intimated that a very important announcement will be made. It is desired that every oarsman in the city attend the meeting.

TRACK BOYS IN WORKOUT

Central Cinder Men Make First Sprint of Year on Street.

Capt. Hrutfiord and Other Fast Athletes Are Available.

Central high school track athletes made their first appearance this year on the street yesterday, when, responding to Coach Blake's call for candidates, several prospective cinder and field men took their initial hard workout outside.

Prospects this year are exceptionally bright for the formation of one of the most formidable track teams ever turned out at the local institution. Last year the local athletes cleaned up in grand shape everything in this part of the country and they feel that they have an unusually good chance of repeating again this year.

Capt. Hrutfiord, one of the best men ever developed at Central, is also one of the very best men in the state on the cinder path. He was also captain of the local team last year, which easily carried off the majority of points in the big Northwestern track meet. Following his great showing at the Head of the Lakes, Hrutfiord journeyed down to the state meet and carried off two firsts and a second in three entries.

There are also a number of other good men at Central. The recent interclass meet, barring the "D" men, brought out some promising material and these men, together with the veterans, started training yesterday for the spring work. The big Northwestern meet will again be held this year with even a larger representation than last year and several other Duluth and Superior dual meets will take place. It is quite probable that an entire team will represent Duluth Central at the state meet this year and they are expected to make a great showing.

The final indoor meet of the season will take place April 14 when the Central and Y. M. C. A. track athletes meet in their annual indoor dual affair. Last year the meet resulted in a tie and it is expected that it will be every bit as close again this year. Both teams are bent on winning and some classy work should be brought out.

BOWLERS IN CLOSE RACE

Schneiders Pressing Emeralds in Grand League; But Six Games Remain.

Last evening in the Grand Bowling league race the Emeralds, league leaders, won two out of three games from the Duluth, Missabe & Northern team while the Schneiders, safely anchored in second place, won three straight games from the Staggs. Capt. Schneider of the Schneiders got the high score of the evening, turning in a count of 616. There are but six remaining games on the schedule of the Grand league.

CHICAGO BOWLERS SEEM TO HAVE LEAD CINCHED

Toledo, Ohio, March 28.—Toledo shot almost its last bolt in the American Bowling Congress tournament here yesterday in the minor events when it tried futilely to dislodge the two leaders. A total of big marks were chopped off in both the doubles and singles with the best total showing up in the doubles where F. Wilson and E. Nitzke shot 1,245 for eighth place. Two railroads and two errors, evenly divided between the men, stopped them from passing the mark of Thoma and Marion, the Chicago men who will win tonight at 2 o'clock unless nipped in the final hours.

A year ago at Peoria, Ill., the club won under the name of the Barry-Kettelers with two pins more. Their score was made a week ago last night, when the Meinie Riehls of Columbus who had led for a week, were displaced.

Anton Pickl, another Toledo player, ran up the tall mark in the doubles during the day with 636.

The totals of the five-men in the series were: Edward Kelly, 551; Joe Russell, 545; Sam Murray, 597; "Ted" Syoma, 596; "Bill" Carey, 618.

ST. PAUL OARSMEN ON TRAIL OF DULUTH

Minnesota Boat Club Crew Candidates Are Going to Make Determined Effort to Defeat the Local Men.

Oarsmen of the Minnesota Boat club of St. Paul are lustily preparing for the coming season. It is a compliment to the prowess of the Duluth oarsmen that St. Paul men admit that the local boys are the ones most feared in the rowing game. St. Paul expects to have a great season and to make a determined effort to give Duluth a set back.

The following article is taken from a St. Paul paper and indicates what the Minnesota Boat club boys are doing:

"The present officers of the club are: N. P. Langford, Jr., president; James D. Denegre, vice president; E. P. Davis, second vice president; Charles Sommers, treasurer, and B. Ware, secretary.

"The present rivals include nearly every crew of all the big clubs in the country. But the particular rival crew is that of Duluth. If you are a reader of the sporting news you will know that the Duluth club left a bitter taste in the mouths of the St. Paul aggregation last year by cleaning them up at the national regatta at Springfield, Mass.

"That explains the strenuous efforts which have been witnessed at the Knights of Columbus gym and the Y. M. C. A. for the past few weeks. Strangers have been somewhat surprised to see a bunch of husky young men tearing away at the rowing machines until the seats broke under them. Duluth is said to have won last year because of its hard, early training. The Minnesota Boat club doesn't intend to let such a situation exist this year. Lawrence Stickney is in charge of the team at the Knights of Columbus gym, and the rival squad at the Y. M. C. A. is under the tutelage of Dan Connelly. Theoretically they are all preparing for the spring regatta which comes about the same time as the big outdoor water carnival. But actually that will be sort of an elimination contest for the men, and the big thing they are looking forward to is cleaning up Duluth good and proper. The club oarsmen are hoping that the high dam will be finished this year so that the new four-mile slack water course above it can be used. This likely would induce the University of Minnesota to put on a crew, and considerable more local interest would at once develop.

"To assure themselves of all conditions tending toward success, the club has signed up James Wray, former Harvard coach, to take charge of the Minnesota club crew early in the season."

PHILLIES TAKE SIX FROM CUBS

National League Champions Too Much for Tinker's Men.

Two Title Bouts in London.

London, March 28.—Wick Smith, the English light heavyweight champion, was defeated on points by Harry Reeve in a twenty-round bout held here last night.

London, March 28.—Jimmy Wilde, the English flyweight champion, knocked out Sid Smith, former flyweight champion, in the third round of a fifteen-round match here yesterday afternoon.

DES MOINES COUNCIL IS EVENLY DIVIDED

"Open Town" Policy Leading Question at Iowa City Election.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 28.—John McVicar, one of the founders of the Des Moines plan of commission government, was elected mayor of Des Moines yesterday by an overwhelming majority over Lewis E. Royal. The chief issue revolved about an "open town" policy. The council is divided evenly between the so-called liquor and dry candidates.

According to word reaching Des Moines, Parley Sheldon, who has been mayor of Ames, Iowa, for twenty-two years, was defeated yesterday by George Baker, 384 votes to 470. Baker made his fight on the police department, charging lax methods.

From Alton, Iowa, it was reported that John Meyer was elected mayor by a majority of one vote.

Other results reported here are as follow:

Waterloo, W. R. Law defeated Mayor R. C. Thompson; Cedar Rapids, Mayor Roth defeated J. F. Rall; Burlington, James M. Bell, elected by 400 majority; Keokuk, E. P. Lofton elected by 150; Council Bluffs, M. B. Snyder, Republican, re-elected on straight party ticket.

Politicians here who espoused the so-called liberal cause claimed that the election was a liberal victory, but conservatives insisted that their opponents had gained no advantage.

Freed of Arson Charge.

Hillsboro, N. D., March 28.—George Lee of Clifford, merchant, who was accused of burning his store to collect insurance, was found not guilty in district court here, the jury reporting after being out eleven hours. Lee was accused of firing his store in 1913 and the state relied almost entirely upon circumstantial evidence in its attempt to convict him. Lee was returned to this city from Spokane, Wash., to face the charge.

DULUTH'S SCHOOL SYSTEM

Being a Review of Some Facts About the Community's Most Important Business—No. 2, The Junior High Schools.

The junior high school system, or the "six-three-and-three" system, which was instituted in Duluth at the beginning of the September term of school in 1913, is generally recognized by educators as an improvement over the old "eight-and-four" system.

Beginning in Berkeley, Cal., but a few years ago, it has gained in popularity until at the last meeting of school superintendents who are members of the National Educational association, in Detroit, Mich., early in March, it provided one of the principal topics of discussion.

Detroit has installed the system, or is installing it, but it has been worked out more completely in Duluth than in the Michigan city, according to Supt. R. E. Denfeld.

It is based on the assumption that the physiological and psychological time to enter upon secondary school work is at the beginning of the seventh grade, rather than at the beginning of the ninth. The reasons have come to be generally recognized by school administrators as legitimate.

Briefly, they may be stated as follows:

Six years of work in the elementary schools have enabled the pupil to acquire the "tools of knowledge." He can read ordinary English understandingly, can write legibly, and can add, subtract, multiply and divide. He is 12 years old.

Period of Readjustment.

For most pupils this is the beginning of adolescence. It is the time of readjustment. Individuality asserts itself, and the child begins to reason for himself.

The function of the junior high school is to meet this new situation and to give the pupil a maximum amount of knowledge and training in a minimum of time. The work is new—there is no rehash of work already gone over. It is considered vital because it is what the pupil wishes to do or is able to master.

Each subject is taught by a specialist. The department idea, which is followed in senior high schools, colleges and universities, is taken up here for the first time.

Promotion is by subject, not by grade. If a boy fails in English, he may take it over next semester, without repeating the whole grade. This holds pupils in school, because once started upon the three-year course, they are disposed to finish, whereas formerly many stopped at the compulsory limit.

Many more, also, go on with the senior high work, because the jump is not so great. The plan also saves time. If the pupil expects to go to college this plan will enable him to enter from a half to a full year earlier than formerly. If he must drop out of school, he has profited by training along a particular, specific line, and is somewhat better prepared to earn a living.

When the Duluth board of education started work upon the junior high plan in 1913, they rebuilt a portion of the Washington grade and manual training school, at Lake avenue north and Third street. That was the first unit.

Later the Irving school, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Nicollet street, was fitted out with manual training and domestic science departments, as the second unit.

Third Unit Established.

In February, 1916, when the last semester of the 1915-16 school year began, the third unit, supplying the West end, was begun at the Lincoln school, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Fifth street, upon the completion of a sixteen-room addition.

A fourth unit, completing the system, remains to be established. It will be located in the East end, probably in a central position between Sixteenth avenue east and Lakeside.

The Irving Junior high school now cares for pupils who have finished elementary work at the Fairmont, Longfellow, Ely, Irving grade, and Oneota schools. Pupils who attended the Merritt, and who live west of Fortieth avenue west, may attend also if they wish.

Fortieth avenue west is the dividing line. Pupils living between Fortieth avenue west and Sixteenth avenue west attend the Lincoln junior high. This includes the output of the Merritt, Bryant, Monroe, Adams, Madison and Ensign schools.

The Washington junior high takes all territory east of Sixteenth avenue west, or as much of it as equipment and space permit. The original plan was to have pupils from the Emerson, Jackson, Whittier, Webster, Washington grade, Radisson, Nettleton and Franklin schools attend class there.

As it has worked out, the list does not include the Emerson and Jackson, and takes in the Munger. It also includes the ninth grade pupils from East end schools. When the fourth junior high is ready, the original plan will be adopted.

Manual training, domestic science and commercial departments, under instructors who are specialists, have been established in the junior high schools. The equipment thus can be centralized with less expense, than if a smattering of equipment and a mediocre instructor were installed at each ward school.

Four courses are offered in the junior high school. Three are destgned for the pupil who expects to enter the senior high school and graduate, and the fourth for the student who does not expect to enter high school.

Course IV is to include elective courses in stenography, printing, typewriting and bookkeeping, as well as the usual amount of manual training for boys, and sewing, cooking, etc., for the girls.—R. D. McC.

CLAIM LARGEST PROPORTIONAL VOTE

Minnesota Prohibition Party's Returns Virtually All Tabulated.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—Virtually complete returns of the Prohibition vote in Minnesota presidential primary are tabulated and they show the following results:

For president—
William Sulzer	3,334
Eugene N. Foss	2,465
Totals	5,799
For vice president—
F. C. Hendrickson	1,728
Ben B. Lindsey	2,316
F. F. Wheeler	1,128
Totals	5,171

The above totals do not represent nearly the entire Prohibition vote as many ballots were marked only for delegates to the national convention, and not for president or vice president. The Prohibitionists polled a much larger percentage of their normal vote than any other party, is the claim made.

The present returns indicate the nomination of the following delegates to the Prohibition national convention to be held in St. Paul, July 19-21. The returns may possibly be changed by later figures, but the following are in the main correct:

Delegates at large—John Lind, E. E. Lobeck, William J. Bryan, James Larson, J. P. Nygaard, W. G. Calderwood, O. Lokkensgard, O. O. Stageberg, Lou W. Martin, W. A. Stromme and I. M. Kalnes.

First district—L. P. Lawson, H. D. Clarke, W. G. Elliott and A. H. Utzinger.

Second district—A. A. Johnson, J. R. Lee, George H. Andrews and A. D. Nelson.

Third district—K. J. Jacobson, C. B. Whittier and William Hokanson.

Fourth district—F. R. McManigal.

Fifth district—Stanley B. Roberts and George D. Haggard.

Sixth district—T. J. Anderson, Ira D. Alvord and E. L. Gilmore.

Seventh district—C. A. Fjelstad, A. N. Thorstad, Eva E. Wold, H. L. Quist and E. F. Barsness.

Eighth district—Elected without contest: Frank Mattson, John Helmer and Bert N. Wheeler.

Ninth district—J. F. Helberg, Thomas Vollom, Erick Ellingson, C. H. Carlson and H. P. Nygaard.

Tenth district—C. L. Johnson and George W. Harden.

Thirty-one are for Sulzer and thirteen against. Under the law of the state all delegates elected are pledged to use their influence for the presidential nominee selected by the voters, regardless of their pre-primary preferences, until such time as it appear that there is no chance of the candidate thus selected being nominated in the national convention.

SCHOLARSHIP GETS BETTER

Monthly Honor Roll at Central for March Best of Year.

Report Shows 154 Students Did Exceptionally Good Work.

Central high school students are improving in their school work, according to the monthly reports which were issued at the local institution yesterday.

The monthly honor role, which was announced yesterday morning by Principal Young, showed that 154 students did especially good work in their studies during the month of March, which closed with the beginning of this week. This total is considerably better than this year's average, although it does not approach the high record.

Requirements for Honor.

The A honor roll is made up of the persons who gained marks of 90 or above in at least four studies, while the B list contains the names of persons who received marks of 90 or above in at least three studies. There was a total of sixty-one students on the A list, while ninety-three persons received classification in the less distinguishing role. The freshmen, with eighteen representatives, took first honors in the A division, while the first year's pupils were tied with the seniors for highest totals in the B department. In sum totals the freshmen had the advantage over the seniors.

A compilation of the number of pupils in each class in each list follows:

	A.	B.	Total.

FORMER LODGE TREASURER GUILTY

W. L. Anderson Changes Plea and Admits Charges of Embezzlement.

Changing his former plea of not guilty to that of guilty William L. Anderson, who was indicted on two counts by a grand jury in 1913 charging him with embezzlement from the funds of Beta council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans while acting as financial scribe for the order, yesterday afternoon threw himself upon the mercy of the court.

Judge Cant, before whom he was arraigned, continued the case for sentence in order to give Anderson an opportunity to make restitution. A bonding company has made good $250 of the alleged $300 shortage and Anderson and his friends have agreed to make good the balance.

Judge Cant stated that it would be necessary for Anderson to make a substantial showing that the money he had taken had been paid back before any leniency would be extended him. Anderson was conducting a grocery store at the time he got into trouble. He kept the funds of the lodge with that of his private business and when the grocery failed, the lodge funds disappeared. At least this was the way it was explained yesterday.

NO PANIC AFTER WAR, SAYS BAILEY

St. Paul Banker Sees J. P. Morgan—Peace Is Not in Sight.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—There will be no hard times or panic in the United States following the European war and there seems to be little prospect of peace in the opinion of E. H. Bailey, president of the First National bank, who returned to St. Paul from New York yesterday.

Mr. Bailey went East with James J. Hill, and while there met J. P. Morgan and other New York financiers. Mr. Morgan returned from Europe the day Mr. Hill and Mr. Bailey arrived in New York.

Gradual Reaction.

"There will be a reaction after the close of the war," said Mr. Bailey, "and the people should prepare for it, as it likely will be abrupt. But by looking forward the reaction will come without a shock. I do not believe the reaction will be of such a character as to bring about hard times.

"We may be confronted with the problem of the unemployed when the mills and factories now with large war orders are compelled to curtail their production. We in this great producing section, the Northwest, have little to worry about. But we should look ahead now.

Peace Not in Sight.

"There does not seem to be any immediate prospect of peace and I do not think there will be peace in Europe until there has been a great crisis. When that will be, no one seems able to forecast. It looks as though the war would last some time yet.

"The general business situation is good and it will remain good if people look ahead and prepare for the reaction that is bound to come.

"It looks as though the Northwest is in for another good year and we are well off now."

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

GOOD LOOKS REFLECT GOOD HEALTH

YOU can't have bright eyes and a smooth, clear skin if the fermenting waste products of constipation are poisoning your system.

Constipation is the chief cause not only of poor complexions, but of three quarters of the illnesses from which women suffer.

Heed the danger signals of pallid skin, poor eyesight, headaches—check constipation before it is too late. Not with laxative drugs which physic and irritate and later bring about reactions which make you regularly dependent upon them. Bring about natural conditions, Nature's way—with Nujol. Nujol is the highest form of the pure white mineral oil recommended by leading doctors the world over for constipation. Nujol does not act by irritation but by lubrication—by softening the intestinal contents and facilitating natural action in a purely mechanical way.

Nujol is colorless, odorless, tasteless. It can be taken by anyone, even the youngest child, in any quantity, without danger.

Write for booklet, "The Rational Treatment of Constipation." If your druggist hasn't it, we will send a pint bottle of Nujol prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SCHOOL CASE INTO COURT

Injunction May Be Sought to Prevent Razing Virginia Structure.

Opposition Develops to Tearing Down Roosevelt High School.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. A. Challman's report to the board of education last evening that the third floor of the Roosevelt school could not be used for auditorium purposes and should not be used for any school purposes for more than a limited period of years has aroused keenest interest.

Challman, in his report to the board last night, maintained the position he took originally. Plans for new school housing facilities are indefinite in the meantime. The razing of the Roosevelt school is being strongly opposed and it was rumored today that injunction proceedings would be instituted in case the board decided to take such action.

Considers Structure Unsafe.

Mr. Challman plainly told the board last night he considered the third and part of the second floors of the building unsafe and might cause a calamity in case of fire or undue strain. He said E. M. Phillips, state high school inspector, will come here next week to discuss with the board the proposed new high school to cost $406,000 for which Architect Nystrom of Duluth has drawn plans.

The board announced that a public reception would be given Saturday night to the members of the victorious Virginia high school quint who won the state basket ball championship on the Carleton college floor at Northfield Saturday night.

HIBBING COUNCIL TO HAND OUT PLUMS

Village Board Expected to Announce Who Are Lucky Ones.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight's meeting of the village council is expected to draw a throng to the council chamber as many matters of importance are scheduled to come up, notably the fillings of various village positions.

The petition of the Hibbing Concert band signed by 1,500 citizens asking that the council grant the band an appropriation which will carry the organization through this year will be considered.

Changes on the police force have already been made and it is rumored that this will also apply to the fire department.

Members for the park board, health board, athletic board and other village boards will be appointed while the other regular village positions will also be definitely decided upon.

No hint as to who will be the appointees is given out although hundreds of applications have been turned in and that there are more applicants then there are jobs.

The matter of an incinerator plant will also be taken up and the question of a new fire engine will be discussed.

The water and light board will also meet tonight in a regular meeting.

MOUNTAIN IRON NEWS.

Annual Congregational Meeting of Presbyterian Church to Be Held.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 28.—Special to The Herald.)—The regular annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church will be held tonight in the church at 7 o'clock. One trustee and one deacon will be elected and regular annual reports made by different officials. The present board of trustees consists of Dr. Parsons, three years; G. M. Cannon, two years; E. P. Ellertson, one year. These were elected a year ago. No deacon has been elected since the death of N. Ellertson. Mrs. E. P. Ellertson is church treasurer; Dr. Parsons superintendent of the Sunday school; Waino Apuli, secretary; and Mrs. D. A. Mitchell, treasurer; Rev. Mr. McCaslin, pastor. Weekly services are held at 7:30 p. m. Sundays; Sunday school at 11 a. m.

At a recent meeting of the school board teachers were re-elected for the coming year. At least three have already resigned and it is likely that three or four more will tender their resignations in a short time.

George Ellertson of Duluth visited his home here Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Iles of Virginia visited her sistr, Mrs. Frazer Saturday.

F. A. Wildes of Hibbing transacted business here Saturday.

Miss Flora Chisholm of Virginia visited Mrs. Mitchell Saturday.

Charles Walker, who has been seriously ill for several months is slowly improving.

Maj. Hocking is employed at the sawmill in Virginia.

Miss Amy Zachariasen of Gilbert, teacher in the schools there, visited with her sister, Mrs. Frazer Saturday and Sunday.

A victrola concert was given in the library Sunday afternoon between the hours of 5 and 6.

A regular meeting of the Commercial club will be held tonight in the village hall.

HIBBING MAN'S BROTHER BADLY WOUNDED IN WAR.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. L. Zuback, local insurance man, has received a letter from his brother, R. Zuback, an Austrian soldier, now in a hospital at Vienna, telling of being shot through the hand, having a collar bone broken and being wounded in the legs on the Austrian-Italian battle line. The letter, written Feb. 5 and closely censored, asks the Hibbing man to try and help locate their father, who is somewhere in Austria.

COMMITS SUICIDE BY SHOOTING SELF

Olaf Olander, Despondent Over Ill Health, Takes Life Near Fairbanks.

Biwabik, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olaf Olander, who has been living with his son, Charles Olander, on a farm one and one-half miles east of Fairbanks, committed suicide Sunday afternoon by shooting himself in the head with a Marlin .38-55 caliber rifle. He had been despondent for some time, owing to sickness, but at no time had he threatened suicide.

Hear Fatal Shot.

Sunday afternoon a friend from Fairbanks came to visit the younger Olander and as they sat visiting, the father, being in his room, was heard walking around. When the report of a gun was heard they rushed into the room and found he had shot himself through the head, dying instantly. Mr. Olander would have been 62 years of age May 22. He was a native of Sweden and is survived by his only son, Charles, with whom he had made his home for some years past. His wife died eighteen years ago. The remains were brought here on the evening train by Deputy Coroner Dr. C. W. Bray. Funeral arrangements have not been made, but interment will take place in the local Lakeside cemetery.

CHISHOLM ELKS ARE AFTER LODGE

Many Living There, Belonging Elsewhere, Have Taken Matter Up.

Chisholm, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Chisholm will have an Elks lodge soon is the belief of local Elks.

There are about sixty Elks in Chisholm, the majority of whom are members of the Hibbing lodge, and during the past two years several movements have been made to secure a charter for a local organization, none of which succeeded. The matter has been taken up again by E. L. Lockhart, and after diligent work and much correspondence it seems assured that a local lodge will be formed. At a recent meeting it developed that the names of fifty-five new applicants for admission to the order were balloted upon. These new applicants, if admitted to the order, will swell the membership of the local lodge to about 100 as soon as dispensation to operate is received from the grand lodge.

FOR SAFETY FIRST.

Another Iron Range Road Demonstration at Biwabik Wednesday.

Biwabik, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow afternoon and evening the Iron Range road will give one of its safety welfare shows at the Grand theater. These entertainments have always proved very entertaining. Glen S. Locker of Two Harbors will give a short talk of the good work the safety first movement is doing. There will be no charge.

SAYS HUNGRY WOLVES THREATEN SETTLERS

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wolves are bothering people living in the Little Swan district according to John Junka, Finnish farmer, who came here with the hides of three large timber wolves for the bounties.

He says farmers hope that the snow will soon leave so the wolves who are very hungry can forage enough to keep them away from settlers' homes. Junka has trapped six wolves this year.

STATE MINES WILL BE HEAVY SHIPPERS

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor J. A. O. Preuss was in the city this morning while returning from the land sale at Roseau. He spent the morning with State Mine Inspector Wildes in looking over the state mines in the Virginia district. Mr. Preus said the state would be a heavy shipper of iron ore this season and that shipments from the state mines would break all records.

ELY NEWS NOTES.

Ely, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. P. Schaefer on Friday broke her arm just above the wrist by falling on a slippery walk.

Mrs. Sonninen and Mrs. Markomich, who were operated on at the Shipman hospital, are able to leave this week.

Mr. Briggs, foreman for the head camps of the St. Croix Lumber company, who has been quite ill at the hospital for the past week, is improving. Mrs. Briggs of Eau Claire, Wis., a cousin, has been with him.

Mrs. H. E. Walbank slipped on an icy walk and sprained her ankle.

The funeral of Mrs. Sampson was held today from the Finnish Lutheran church, instead of Sunday, as relatives from Chicago were unable to reach here before.

James Dyer, who had his feet badly frozen at the lumber camps a year ago last December, is able to leave the hospital. He entered the hospital last September for treatment.

The annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be held on Wednesday evening in the church, to which the members and their friends are invited.

SEPTIC TANKS BIDS REJECTED; TOO HIGH

Former City Engineer Claims Bidders Bid Entirely Too High.

Ely, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following a speech that bristled with sensations by Supt. W. A. McCurdy of the Oliver Iron Mining company in this district last night, who, speaking as a former city engineer, declared the bids tendered for the proposed septic tank were too high by several thousand dollars the city council rejected all bids and will readvertise. The Lawrence-McCann company and the Bailey-Marsh company offered to furnish the tank for $28,920 and $29,500 respectively, figures that Mr. McCurdy declared were about $10,000 too high. Cheers rang through the council chamber as the former city engineer denounced the terms of the bids and intimated that the taxpayers would lose heavily if the bids were accepted. The council after his address promptly rejected all bids.

The fifteen members of the charter commission appointed in 1914 in accordance with the request of the Commercial club have all resigned as it became apparent that any document prepared by the commission would be rejected by the people.

EXPECT BIG OPEN PIT.

Development of Missabe Mountain Property Will Mean Much.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ten drills are now in operation on the Missabe Mountain and Sauntry mine surfaces, and indicate the development of these properties this year. Although no official announcemnts are made, it is expected these mines will be one of the biggest open pits on the range. Drilling operations are being pushed briskly.

WANT OVERSEERS NAMED BY BOARD

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—The county board will be asked on Friday by E. H. Griggs, president of the Sixth District Roads club, to appoint Robert Lindsay of Virginia, August Knuth of Aurora and Kirk Johnson of Biwabik road overseers for their respective districts. As more than $100,000 is to be spent on roads in this section, it is desired that competent overseers be appointed that better results be secured than it is claimed was the case last year.

Another meeting of the club will be held after the commissioners' meeting and detailed plans will be outlined so that each community will get its full share of good roads.

The club asked for an appropriation of $135,000 and apportioned this sum among the cities and villages of the district, but since the fund was cut to $100,000, a new apportionment will be necessary.

JUNIOR COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS MEETING

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Junior Commercial club held a very interesting meeting last evening.

Rev. Father Hogan addressed the young members on the qualities that go to make up a good citizen, and D. D. McEachin spoke on what goes to make up a successful young man.

J. E. Lanier, Commercial club secretary, talked on what is expected of the younger Commercial club this year.

BIWABIK PERSONALS.

Biwabik, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. D. A. Murray of Eveleth was the guest of Mrs. Walter Donnellan last week. Mrs. Murray attended the card club Friday afternoon, the club being entertained by Mrs. Donnellan.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cummings of Duluth called on Biwabik friends Monday.

Mrs. C. H. Morrill of Eveleth was the week-end guest of Mrs. H. E. Green.

Supt. Thomas Owens and General Freight and Passenger Agent H. Johnson of the Iron Range, were business callers Saturday.

David Quall of Duluth is here this week auditing the books of Village Clerk J. R. Gillpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Laux and Mrs. Frank Irwin of Two Harbors were the week-end guests of E. W. Glass and J. F. Hildebrand.

Joe Ahlin of McKinley was a business caller here Monday.

HIBBING LIBRARY WILL HAVE BRANCH

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing will have a branch library at the 220 Pine street, according to the librarian.

The reading room will be also a smoking room and will be in charge of D. Rodgers.

It will be open to the public on Saturday if definite arrangements can be made. The room will be equipped with tables and will contain newspapers and current magazines besides the regular list of current fiction.

VIRGINIA COURT TO OPEN APRIL 2

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The April term of district court here opens April 2, and the indications point to a busy term of civil and criminal business. There will be a grand jury.

BUHL APPOINTMENTS.

Buhl, Minn., March 28.—The village council last night appointed Edward Le Beau chief of police to succeed P. J. McGuire. John Anderson, Axel Aho and Tony Lavilla were appointed policemen.

Other appointments made were: Mrs. E. Henry, policewoman; Dr. S. M. Johnson, in charge of the health department; J. H. Grant, timekeeper; William Maliaro, sexton at the cemetery; Morse Anderson and Arthur Harper, members of the fire department.

Virginia Woman Visiting.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 28.—Mrs. Otto Poirier of Virginia, Minn., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, has gone to St. Paul for a short stay. Mrs. Poirier will be accompanied on her return by Mr. Poirier and together with their children will leave the latter part of the week for their home at Virginia.

To Consider White Way.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—Chairman Al G. Flournoy of the public welfare committee of the Commercial club has appointed the following special committee to confer with the village of Franklin board to have a white way provided between the Missabe and Iron Range depots on Chestnut street. Al G. Flournoy, Otto A. Poirier and R. G. Sherwood.

Two Virginia Funerals.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—The funeral of Antonia, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vaidic of the North side, who died Sunday of infantile paralysis, was held this afternoon from the Polish church. Interment was made in the Calvary cemetery. The funeral of Mike Cavanaugh, the Virginia & Rainy Lake woodsman who was killed in a railroad accident at Cusson recently, was held Sunday from the Graham & Eckes establishment. Efforts to find his relatives proved fruitless. Friends defrayed the burial expenses. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Writes First Policy.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Wisner of Chisholm yesterday wrote the first insurance policy in Minnesota in the Great Northern Insurance company, Minnesota's own fire insurance company. It was made out to a prominent Chisholm man. The Hibbing agency will be placed soon.

Hibbing Couple Wed.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—Hugo Martinson and Miss Esther Burge, both of Hibbing, were married Sunday at the Swedish Lutheran church parsonage, Rev. Mr. Idstrom officiating. Miss Elvira and Otis Burge, sister and brother of the bride, were attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Martinson will reside at the Hull location, where he has a position at the mine.

Dies in Biwabik Hospital.

Biwabik, Minn., March 28.—(Special to the Herald.)—Jennie Stromberg, age 20, who has been at the Biwabik hospital for some time, died Sunday morning. The remains were sent to Embarrass, where interment was made.

Badger Postmaster Sentenced.

Madison, Wis., March 28.—Franklin P. Brewster, formerly postmaster at State Line, Wis., will serve a year and a day in Fort Leavenworth for embezzling $1,400 in government funds. He was sentenced Monday by Judge Sanborn in Federal court.

CUT OUT MEATS IF KIDNEYS ARE TROUBLING YOU

Uric Acid in Meat Excites Kidneys and Irritates the Bladder.

Noted Authority Says We Must Flush Kidneys With Salts If Back Hurts.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. —Advertisement.

Ever Eat Grape-Nuts?

There's a vast army of physical and mental workers who do.

One reason—its delicious nut-like flavour.

Another—it is easily and quickly digested—generally in about one hour.

But the big reason is—Grape-Nuts, besides having delicious taste, supplies all the rich nutriment of whole wheat and malted barley, including the "vital" mineral salts necessary for building brain, nerve and muscle.

Always ready to eat direct from the package, Grape-Nuts with cream or good milk is a well balanced ration—the utmost in sound nourishment.

PARTLY CLOUDY

Duluth is enjoying today what is, perhaps, the most beautiful day of the year so far. The air is ideally balmy and yet not of the brand that makes one feel loggy. there is very little wind, the sun is shining with but few clouds to hinder it, and the ice and snow are going fast. It is almost a perfect spring day.

A year ago today was sunny but cold. The sun rose this morning at 5:53 and will set this evening at 6:33, giving twelve hours and forty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in the extreme Northwest, Montana, Northern Wyoming, and Atlantic states. Temperatures have risen over Manitoba and the Red River valley. Light frost occurred at Shreveport, La., Fort Smith, Ark., and Montgomery, Ala., and heavy frost at Spokane, Wash. Further rains occurred over the Southern and Eastern lake region, Ohio and Middle Mississipi valleys and Middle Atlantic states, and snow over Saskatchewan, Western Montana, Northwestern Wyoming and Idaho. Heavy rain occurred at Washington, D. C."

Restorative Treatment for Nervous Men

Coming from a source of unquestioned authority on the ailments of men, it is presumed to be infallible, while the profession generally endorse the ingredients and prescribe them in many different forms of various diseases. The following formula is highly efficient in quickly restoring in nervous exhaustion, melancholia, anxiety, timidity in venturing, dizziness, heart palpitation, trembling limbs, insomnia, thinness, cold extremities, tired-all-in feeling and general inability to do those natural and rational acts upon which depend a man's success and happiness in social and everyday life.

The instructions for obtaining in three-grain tablets are simple, as a physician's prescription is no longer necessary, because the tablets do not contain any opiates or habit-forming drugs. Just ask for three-grain cadomene tablets, in sealed tubes, with full directions for home use. Astounding nervous force and equilibrium follow the treatment, no matter how serious the case, and the joy of a healthy body and strong nerves is soon experienced.—Advertisement.

REPORT BIG TRAFFIC GAIN

Incoming and Outgoing Freight Increases in Remarkable Degree.

Great Impetus Expected When Lake Navigation Opens Up.

Duluth railroad officials aver that a remarkable increase is being shown in both the inward and outward freight traffic at this point. The operating departments of the road are looking forward to handling a record business for the season after the opening of navigation.

Shipments of all classes of hardware and grocery staples on the first upbound steamers from the East are expected to be heavy. The bulk of these commodities are on order for distribution to points in the West and as stocks being carried by retailers are generally low, considerable inconvenience will be felt should the opening of the navigation be unduly delayed through ice conditions.

"We have been handling a nice traffic during the last two months," said an official of the Soo road today. More freight crews are being employed for the spring season than at any time since the Soo opened its new lines radiating from the Head of the Lakes, and it is now taken for granted that traffic will be on a broad scale during the spring and summer months, he averred. The movement of forest products, which had been delayed on account of the deep snows in the camps, is now satisfactory in everything but pulpwood. Its output will be materially reduced, as the small operators were handicapped through the weather.

The movement of iron ore from over the Cuyuna range this season is expected to be the heaviest since the exploiting of that territory was taken up. Some of the companies are reported to have large tonnages on their dumps and shipments down to the docks here are expected to begin at an early date.

WILL DEVELOP WATER ROUTES

Canada Plans to Handle More of Its Grain From Northwest.

Will Push Work on Welland Canal; Millions for St. Lawrence.

The Canadian government is planning to handle a larger proportion of the grain traffic being developed in the Northwest over its own routes, and to that end a program for the development of the dominion's transportation facilities is being pushed through.

Good progress is being made in the construction of the new Welland ship canal. This work is divided into nine sections, five of which are under contract. The total work will cost about $50,000,000 and will permit of the passage of vessels drawing thirty feet. The object of the new Welland ship canal is to prevent the diversion of the Canadian grain trade via Buffalo to American ports. There are also being constructed on Lake Ontario two modern harbors at Toronto and Kingston, which will be completed about the same time as the new canal. The government also reports satisfactory progress being made on the harbor works at St. John and Halifax.

Following the Welland canal enlargement, it is proposed to enlarge the St. Lawrence canal system so as to admit of grain loaded on large freighters at the Head of the Lakes going through without reshipment. Announcement has been made to that effect by government officials at Ottawa, but it is admitted that nothing can be done until after the war is over.

The production of grain in the Northwest last season far exceeded the capacity of the present elevator facilities to move it. Experts now estimate that 100,000,000 bushels of wheat alone remain to be marketed from the three Western provinces. In a recent statement by George Bury, vice president of the Canadian Pacific railroad, he said that at the present every elevator in the Northwest, at the lake front and on the Atlantic is filled with grain. At Buffalo not only are all the elevators full, but there are a number of boats in the harbor loaded with grain. There are besides thousands of cars of grain in transit to Atlantic ports which are being held up on account of the great congestion at the seaboard.

As an emergency measure for the present season, Mr. Bury suggested that the government sell the balance of the wheat commandeered for Italy, estimated at between 6,000,000 and 8,000,000 bushels, still lying in elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur, and buy an equal amount in Western Saskatchewan and Alberta of the grain lying in open bins and on the ground and move it out via the Pacific coast. From Vancouver it could be shipped through to Europe by the Panama canal, he thinks.

In the opinion of the Canadian Pacific official, there is no possibility of a large tonnage of the grain remaining in the West being moved for some time. In the interim, he said, the wheat in open bins and on the ground is likely to be ruined unless prompt action is taken.

SEASON IS SHORTER.

Less Time Allowed Badger Fishermen to Take Game Fish.

Ashland, Wis., March 28.—Conservation Warden Arthur Childs announces that under a new law it is illegal to catch trout under seven inches. The same limit as to the number of trout which can be caught in a day still applies—forty-five. The new statute regarding the length of the fish is effective not only in the Upper Wisconsin counties but throughout the whole state. The season has been shortened about fifteen days. It opens this year on May 1 and closes on Sept. 1. These dates apply to only Ashland, Douglas, Bayfield and Iron counties. The open season for trout in other counties of the state is from April 15 to Aug. 31.

Mr. Childs said that the season for bass, pike and pickerel opens on May 30. The closed season for all game fish is now on.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MARKETS ARE STILL STRONG

Wheat Advances With Active Bidding on Bullish Crop Reports.

Flaxseed Firm on Moderate Crushers' Support and Light Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 28.—The market was strong at the close with a continuation of the bidding that had been in evidence through the session.

May wheat closed 2½c up, and July 2½c up.

May durum closed 2⅜c up, and July 2¼c.

Oats closed ½c up at 40¼@40¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at 88@89c, and barley unchanged at from 61c to 68c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¾@½c up at 42⅜c.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.00⅝ asked, and July at $1.06¾ bid.

At Kansas City May wheat closed at $1.05¼ bid, and July at $1.03¼@1.03⅝.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.12⅞, and calls at $1.16⅞.

The course of the wheat market was opposite to the "dope" again today. In spite of heavy primary receipts, light clearances and lack of export inquiry, substantial advances were recorded in quotations during the first three hours' trading. New York, for example, wired that there was little or no foreign inquiry today except for nearby Manitobas due, it is said, to expectations of a late opening of navigation and fears that the large purchases for opening shipment will be delayed in moving. With approximately 26,000,000 bu of grain now in store, Duluth elevators are becoming filled, and failing ability to move some boats over to them for loads within about ten days, acute congestion will develop.

Advices received from the Canadian Head of the Lakes are to the effect that two ice breakers are working in that harbor, and operators are hopeful that some steamers will be brought to the elevators for loads there within the next few days. At present the houses there are filled, and the Canadian Pacific has placed an embargo against more grain being routed from the West.

Operators attributed today's strength largely to short covering inspired by higher cables and expectations that the area seeded to spring wheat will be materially reduced this season. More bullish reports were also received regarding the conditions of winter wheat.

Reports from Australia and Argentina were bearish. The crops in both countries are large, but their shipment is being hampered by the scarcity of steamers. Broomhall now estimates the Australian wheat surplus at 116,000,000 bu, whereas last year it was necessary to import grain into that country.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.12¼ and advanced 1½c up till the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.12¾ and also gained 1½c. Durum did not share to the same extent in the strength of spring wheat. That was due to reported reselling by Italian exporters at the seaboard. The May durum future opened ⅝c up at $1.07 and gained ½c more. July opened ¼c up at $1.07⅜ and advanced ⅝c more.

Flaxseed Firm.

The liquidation in flaxseed appeared to be over, and with the relief of that pressure its market showed moderate strength. Crushers picked up any seed offering, but they did not bid up for anything.

Foreign markets were reactionary, however, today. Buenos Aires closed ⅝c up at $1.28, but London closed 6⅞c off at $2.38½.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.17 and closed ½c up at $2.17½ asked. July opened ¼c up at $2.17 and closed ¼c up at $2.17.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c up at $1.95½.

O. G. Griffiths of Fargo, N. D., was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade today. He said in the vicinity of Jamestown, N. D., and west of that point, the fields are now clear of snow and that in some places farmers have begun to do some spring work. The amount of wheat seeded this spring depends largely, he thinks, upon weather conditions in the next couple of weeks. The amount of plowing accomplished last fall showed a falling off in nearly all sections of the West, and will require to be made up this spring.

The extent of the tieup in grain-handling facilities at the Canadian Head of the Lakes and their seaports is attested in an embargo on all Western grain shipments from points on the McLeod and Aldersyde branches of the Canadian Pacific railway, being ordered into effect by the board of grain commissioners. This succeeds the embargo which forbade Eastern shipments from these points from which the Canadian Pacific railway offered special reduced rates via the Calgary terminal elevator combined with the free storage till May 1 offer of the grain commission. It means that no grain from points on these lines can be shipped to the Moose Jaw or lakehead elevators. While a lot of grain was shipped to Calgary under embargo that expired last week, it was found that ingenious shippers were billing their cars to intermediate points and then rebilling them to Moose Jaw or Fort William. The new embargo places an absolute prohibition on all shipments to Eastern points as the cars available are absolutely needed to clear congestion at points on the branches mentioned.

STOCKS HAVE GOOD GAINS

Market Opens With Uncertain Tendencies But Soon Has Rise.

New Channels Are Sought By Speculation; Closing Is Irregular.

New York, March 28.—Further uncertain tendencies were manifested at the opening of today's market, although advances outnumbered declines. Gains of 1 to 2 points were made by Continental Can, International Nickel, National Cloak & Suit and Philadelphia company, while Crucible Steel and American Beet Sugar rose fractionally. South Porto Rico Sugar scored a new high record on its rise of 5 to 195. Losses of a point were recorded by Mercantile Marine preferred and Maxwell Motors, while Studebaker and Baldwin and American Locomotives as well as Western Maryland were nominally lower.

Trading quickened and broadened at higher levels before the end of the first hour of the stock market today and speculation sought new channels. Such issues as Goodrich and a few relatively obscure specialties wrested leadership from United States Steel and other former favorites, Goodrich making a gain of 1¾ to 7⅞. Later, Crucible, American Locomotive and American Can assumed some of the recent prominence. Elsewhere noteworthy movements included United Fruit, up 3, and Cuban-American Sugar up 16 to 245. Wabash preferred "A" was the active feature of the rails and a general improvement was shown in that quarter. Bonds were steady.

Trading was more animated during the mid-season, but activity was restricted to munitions and equipments. Crucible making an extreme gain of 4 points. Bethlehem Steel was heavy, however, falling 20 to 475.

Motor shares added to early advances in the final hour but Marine issues were heavy. The closing was irregular.

STRICTER AUTO EXAMINATIONS

State Chauffers' Board Is Applying Rigid Requirements.

The Practical Driving Tests Pluck Many in St. Paul.

Stricter regulation of automobilists than ever before is predicted for the coming season by Walter H. Healy, member of the state chauffeurs' examining board.

Practial driving tests have been added to the written and oral examinations, according to Mr. Healy, and they have resulted in the weeding out of scores of applicants for chauffeur's licenses.

"Twelve out of more than 120 passed the 'exam' in St. Paul the other day," said Mr. Healy this morning, "and two of the twelve were given a conditional marking, dependent upon the showing they made in driving tests to be givn them later.

"It is easy to see from that that it will be be no snap to qualify for a license after this. The state board has been too lax in the past, but this is ended now. In order to obtain a passing grade in the driving test, a man must know the mechanics of the automobile pretty well, and he must know the road rules."

Chauffeurs or automobile drivers who have not obtained a license, will not find it so easy to qualify. Mr. Healy says. The two other members of the examining board are W. G. Milner and W. O. Larson, both Twin City men.

The next chauffeur's examination to be held in Duluth will be in the assembly room at police headquarters on April 12.

GREAT PROSPERITY FOR MIDDLE WEST

Former Duluthian Declares Record Boom Is in Sight.

W. P. Hurlbut of New York city, a former Duluthian, is registered at the Spalding today. Mr. Hurlbut left Duluth some seventeen years ago, and since that time has become somewhat prominent in the New York financial world.

"Business is enjoying an almost unprecedented boom right now," said Mr. Hurlbut. "The East is feeling its effects more than the West, just as the East would be the first to feel the effects of a panic. Prosperity and stringent times are generally reflected down around New York before they are reflected in the Middle West. I believe this part of the country will enjoy one of the most prosperous periods in the entire history of the United States. This, I realize, is a rather broad statement to make, but present conditions justify it.

"The urgent demand for American product abroad has naturally given the impetus for the extraordinary times the country is enjoying, but the condition of the country is sound, and a very large amount of the remarkable manufacturing output is being used right at home.

"It seems right good to get back here. New York is so large, you know, that one gets out of the habit of seeing a large number of friends. Duluth is a great city, one that has every advantage and one that has infinite possibilities. Even a slight investigation of business conditions here reveals the fact that Duluth is enjoying sound and solid prosperity and is progressing in a very consistent manner."

Mr. Hurlbut declared that the prosperity of the day was best reflected in the willingness of large financial interest to encourage legitimate speculative enterprises. By this he declared he meant enterprises that present concrete assets, not merely wildcat gambles.

M. N. G. OFFICER GIVEN BANQUET

Sergt. William Signer Honor Guest of Company E.

Sergeant William Signer, who has just completed his eighth year of service with Company E, M. N. G., was honor guest at a banquet and smoker last night at the new armory. Mr. Signer was recently promoted to the position of sergeant-major of the First battalion. Company E as a token of esteem presented him with a meerschaum pipe last night.

The banquet was attended by fifty members and fifteen former members of the company and two invited guests. The banquet was held in the large assembly hall and the smoker in the clubrooms.

The toastmaster was Capt. George Stiles, and the speakers were Albert Baumgartner and Albert Foster, former lieutenants of the company, and Capt. Roger M. Weaver. Lieut. George H. Kohrt of Company M, Hibbing, was the only other outside guest. The committee in charge of the arrangements comprised Sergeant E. G. Roble, Sergeant Duncan McDonald and Corporal Frank Bordilleaux.

ROAD WOULD HELP THE RESERVATION

Cloquet People Hope Government Will Assist on Highway Work.

Cloquet, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the approach of spring and the disappearance of the snow the good roads enthusiasts are beginning to wonder what will be done with the roads this year. The state has a law providing for the dragging of roads as an efficient method of road maintenance. Every township has a dragging fund by a direct tax on taxable property in the township for the purpose of road maintenance. With consistent work which is done in a systematic manner and at the time when the work is most needed, the road drag is one of the best known and inexpensive methods of road maintenance, which has been proven in different localities in the state, especially in the southern part.

Want Government to Help.

The question which is attracting attention of many Cloquet people at present is whether the government will assist on the Cloquet-Brookston road which is now partially built, which, if built, will traverse the Fond du Lac reservation practically the whole distance from north to south, and will make the distance from Cloquet to Brookston fifteen miles, and will also connect with a good road that St. Louis county built last year which connects at Culver with the Duluth-St. Vincent road for Floodwood, Grand Rapids and the west. The course of the Cloquet-Brookston road is west and north and runs through a section where there are many settlers and Indian allotments which have no road connections except in the winter, and if completed will greatly benefit those settlers.

It is the plan and the desire of the Indian department to get the Indians on their allotments, but this is naturally a difficult problem in a country devoid of roads, as the Indian can no more go on a piece of land and make a success of farming without an outlet than the white settlers, and the completion of this road will be a great boon to the settlers and Indians on the Fond du Lac reservation.

MARINE NEWS

SAILORS' NIGHT CLASS SMALLER BUT MORE EARNEST, SAYS TEACHER

MISS ANNA MEINHARDT.

The "graduation" of the members of the night school conducted since the first of the year at the rooms of the Lake Carriers' association at the foot of Fifth avenue west, took place last night, after a most successful season. Miss Anna Meinhardt, who has had charge of the school for three seasons, declared that she regards the class which finished its winter's course last night as the best in many respects, showing a more pronounced keenness to learn, and more concentration in studying.

In a short address, Miss Meinhardt complimented the class on its consistency and earnestness and declared that she has enjoyed the winter's work to a very great degree because of the attitude of the members of the class toward their work of acquiring knowledge. She outlined briefly a course of study for them to follow, in a continuation way, during the sailing season, and volunteered her help whenever they wanted it.

She declared that she will advocate to the Lake Carriers' officers in Cleveland some plan for continuation work in the education of the sailors during the summer months so that the knowledge gleaned during the winter in the night schools will not be lost through lack of review, and that also, the work may be advanced by individual study, so that when winter comes around again and the night schools are resumed, the sailor-student may find himself considerably in advance of where he was at the end of the previous school season, and may start in receiving instruction on an advanced basis.

Brief addresses were made by Robert Macfarlane, commissioner of Lake Carriers here, and R. H. McRostie, assistant commissioner, and J. A. Stuart.

The class was not so large as that of previous years, which was due to the fact that fewer boats laid up here for the winter than in any year of the last decade, and consequently, fewer sailors wintered at this port.

SOUTH SHORE ICE FOUND VERY THICK

Thinner Along Shore Where Snow Prevented Freezing Thickly.

Ashland, Wis., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ice has gone out of the east channel, east of Madeline Island, giving open water right up to Long Island, the entrance to Chequamegon bay. Inside the islands the ice is not only very hard, but it is much thicker, than was thought.

The curious fact is observed of the ice increasing in thickness the farther it is from land. While it is less than two feet thick near the Bayfield shore, it is a good two feet and a half, fifteen miles further out, along Outer Island.

The reason is that near shore snow from three to four feet thick covers the ice, which prevented it from getting its normal thickness, while several miles from the land the winds swept it bare giving the cold a chance to thicken the ice.

Two big loads of camp supplies left Bayfield Monday for Stockton island, and as large a surplus will be sent as is possible before the ice begins to break up, for while the Apostle islands are ideal for logging camps and lumbering operations every spring, and sometimes in the fall, there is a period during which the islands cannot be reached by boats on account of floating ice. Sometimes the islands are cut off from rest of the world for two weeks.

On Stockton island two lumber camps are in operation with about 200 men, the third camp having shut down. When the ice shows signs of weakening the lumber company hires a physician by the week, and sends him to the island to take care of the men until the ice fields have disappeared sufficiently to allow tugs to operate. As ice conditions now look this will not be before April 13, which is the date that the ice fields cleared the channels of the Apostles last spring sufficient to allow boats to reach Chequamegon bay.

DISTRICT ODD FELLOWS.

Several Lodges Represented at Gathering Held at Aitkin.

Aitkin, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Odd Fellows' hall was thronged with three-linkers yesterday afternoon and evening on the occasion of the district Odd Fellows' meeting here with local and nearby lodges represented among them, being Cloquet, Brainerd, Remer, Carlton, Palisade, Crosby, Deerwood, Motley, Staples and Little Falls. There was a banquet in the hall at 5 p. m., after which a regular session of the lodge was held under the direction of Grand Master F. M. Payne of Pipestone and Grand Secretary A. L. Bolton of St. Paul. A large class was initiated, as follows: Jerry G. Mulvihill, Roy Johnson, Carl R. Johnson, F. H. McGregor, Dr. C. C. Prosser, James R. McGregor, Ezra Calquhon, Edward C. Brenner, Claude Cline, Edward L. Erickson, Det Cue, J. L. Sanford, Baxter L. Collins, E. G. Hayberg, J. E. Seavey, Walter Eisenach and Richard Lundgren.

After the regular work of the lodge was completed addresses were given by the grand master and grand secretary.

FOUND GUILTY ON SECOND COUNT

John Freeman Twice Convicted By District Court Juries.

Fifteen minutes was all that was required by a jury in District Judge Ensign's court this morning to convict John Freeman, Garfield avenue grocer, under an indictment charging him with receiving earnings from a prostitute.

This is Freeman's second conviction on a similar charge. He was indicted on three counts by the March grand jury and was found guilty on one of the three charges by a jury in the same court room yesterday morning. Just what disposition will be made of the third indictment pending against him has not been announced, but it is not believed that it will be prosecuted in view of the two convictions which have been secured.

The crime proven against Freeman is punishable by a term of not less than one nor more than three years in the state penitentiary.

Studying Cement Making.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Boys of the manual training department of the local high school are learning to make cement products under the supervision of Prof. M. A. Schmidt. Blocks and panels now being cast by the boys will be utilized in the construction of the entrance to the Central school building when it is remodeled.

TWO AMERICANS WERE ON BOARD MANCHESTER

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Notice Is Hereby Given, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, containing a power of sale, executed by Wyatt Kutsi and Hilma Kutsi, Husband and wife, mortgagors, to Van Sant Company, mortgagee, dated the 4th day of June A. D., 1915, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of June A. D., 1915, at 1:35 p. m. in Book 338 of Mortgages on Pages 17 thereof, of the records of said office; and said mortgagee has exercised the option reserved to the holder of said note and mortgage by the terms thereof, and has declared the entire sum immediately due and payable, and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage and the debt thereby secured, the sum of Ninety-Nine and 40-100 Dollars ($99.40); and no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

And Therefore, That by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained which by reason of the facts aforesaid has become operative, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises described therein and covered thereby, situate, lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and described as follows:

The Northwest Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-four (24) in Township Sixty-one (61) of Range Nineteen (19), will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder therefor, for cash, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, to satisfy and pay the amount which shall then be due on said debt so secured by said mortgage, and the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25) stipulated in said mortgage as attorney's fees, and the costs and expenses of these foreclosure proceedings as allowed by law and taxes if any, and that the said sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in the City of Duluth, in said St. Louis County, at the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, on the 6th day of May, 1916.

Dated, Feb. 25, 1916.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $393.21, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Rudolf Erickson and Jennie Erickson, his wife, Mortgagors, to Amy Taylor, Mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of August, 1912, and with power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 12th day of September, 1912, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 308 of Mortgages, on page 97, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.: Lot No. Six (6), Block No. Eighty-six (86), Second Addition to Virginia, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, in his office in the courthouse in the City of Duluth, county and state aforesaid, on Saturday, the 29th day of April, 1916, at ten o'clock A. M. of said day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $393.21, and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises, and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 6, 1916.

Attorney for Mortgagee,
604 First National Bank Bldg.,
Duluth, Minnesota.

D. H., March 14, 21, 28, April 4, 11, 18, 1916.

WHEREAS, default has been made in the conditions of a certain note and mortgage securing the same, which mortgage was duly executed and delivered by Emile Peterson, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Toledo Investment company, a corporation, mortgagee, dated February 1, 1912 (and executed and acknowledged March 4, 1912), and with the power of sale therein contained, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis county, Minnesota, on March 25, 1912, at 11 o'clock a. m., in Book 240 of Mortgages on page 62; which mortgage, and the indebtedness thereby secured, were thereafter assigned by said mortgagee, The Toledo Investment company, to J. R. Myers, by an instrument in writing dated March 26, 1912, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on March 30, 1912, at 11 o'clock a. m., in Book 238 of Mortgages on page 588; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt remaining secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; and,

Whereas, such default consists in the failure of said mortgagor to pay the principal and interest of the note secured by said mortgage, and there is therefore claimed to be due, and is due at the date hereof on said note and mortgage, the sum of Fifteen thousand five hundred six and 65-100 ($15,506.65) Dollars;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by reason of such default, and under the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, to-wit: All the tracts or parcels of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot one (1), and the Easterly forty (40) feet of lot two (2) in block two (2), Myers Park, in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis county, together with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining, including all storm and screen windows and doors, steam, gas, electric and other heating and lighting apparatus and fixtures, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt and interest, $200 attorney's fee provided for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis county, at his office in the Court House in the city of Duluth, in said St. Louis county, on April 13, 1916, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption as provided by law within twelve months after such sale.

ABSENT-MINDED ABNER—For a Moment It Looked Like a Crisis!

By Walt McDougall

DEPEND UPON IT ABNER WILL HEAR FROM ME WHEN HE DOES COME HOME!
HA! PREPAREDNESS
HERE IT IS ELEVEN O'CLOCK AND NO SIGN OF HIM!
LETS CALL UP THE POLICE STATION, MA!
I WONDER IF HE COULD HAVE BEEN ARRESTED OR SOMETHING!
I'LL GO TO THIS CORNER AND YOU GO UP TO THE OTHER AND TAKE A GOOD LOOK I'LL MAKE IT!
WELL OF ALL THINGS! CAN YOU BEAT THAT?

About that silent piano you have in your home. He can arrange to take it, and in its place put a high-grade player piano at small additional cost, which can be paid on easy monthly payments. Our player pianos do not sound (mechanical) like some you have heard. With the simple control buttons you can play exactly like your favorite artist, and besides, you won't have to pay the long price, as we MANUFACTURE our own player pianos and sell them direct to you at an actual saving of $100.
